Insull Found Aboard Greek Freighter; To Be Expelled To U.S.

OFFICERS TRAIL DILLINGER

Vessel With Insull Aboard Found At Sea

Captain Is Persuaded To Turn Back For Port With Fugitive

INSULL CHARTERS SHIP FOR $10,000

Greek Minister Of Interior Resigns Following Location Of Insull

ATHENS, (AP)—Samuel Insull, ex-located Friday aboard the Greek freighter Maloti, will be returned to Greek jurisdiction.

It was reported Insull paid $10,000 to charter the ship. It sailed at 4 p. m. Wednesday.

The ministry of marine contacted the fleeing fugitive's ship and persuaded its captain to turn back. Discovery of Insull marked the close of the most widespread police search in the history of the nation.

The freighter is expected to arrive Saturday at Piraeus, where Insull again will be on Greek soil.

John Metaxas, minister of interior and head of the police organization, resigned from cabinet. His resignation is regarded as a significant detail in Insull's escape from police surveillance.

TO BE EXPELLED TO UNITED STATES

ATHENS, (AP)—Samuel Insull will be expelled directly to United States, the Greek government said Friday. Angry because of his country's attempt to sneak away from Greece, the government decided to return him to America.

MARTIN INSULL TO BE RETURNED TO THIS COUNTRY

TORONTO, (AP)—Martin J. Insull, former Chicago utilities operator, a brother of Samuel, Friday was ordered extradited to the United States.

The action is regarded as ending Insull's fight against his return to Chicago to face trial on charges of "embezzlement" and grand larceny.

Postal Receipts On Increase Here

Big Spring has witnessed a sharp increase in postal receipts since the first of March.

From March 1 to 15, Postmaster Nat Shick said the increase in business was 51 per cent over that for a corresponding period last year.

Actual cash gain in receipts amounts to $637.43 for the first fifteen days of the month, he said.

The Weather

Big Spring and vicinity—Partly cloudy tonight. Saturday rain and colder.

West Texas—Partly cloudy, warmer in the south east portion, colder in the Panhandle tonight. Saturday partly cloudy in the south portion, with rain or snow in the north portion. Colder in the north and east central portions.

East Texas—Increasing cloudiness and warmer tonight. Saturday cloudy except rain and colder in the northwest and north central portions.

New Mexico—Fair tonight and Saturday. Colder in the north portion.

Negro Pal Of Dillinger Is Fatally Shot

Port Huron, Mich., Officers Engage Desperado In Gun Battle

NEGRO COMPANION TALKS BEFORE DEATH

Says Dillinger Seen In Port Huron Thursday Night

PORT HURON, Mich., (AP)—Herbert Youngblood died in a hospital Friday afternoon after telling officers he saw Dillinger here Thursday night. He was definitely identified by Indiana officers.

PORT HURON, Mich., (AP)—Officers frantically searched this city Friday for John Dillinger, after a man believed to be Herbert Youngblood, negro, his companion in his flight from an Indiana jail, was shot and critically wounded in a gun battle.

Youngblood, a suspect, near death in a hospital after a battle with four officers, reported that Dillinger was at South Port Huron, a suburb.

Youngblood, a suspect, met four officers at the door of a negro shack, and opened fire when they attempted to arrest him. Three officers were slightly wounded.

The negro admitted his identity. Officers blocked every exit from city and started a systematic search for Dillinger, believed to be hiding here disguised as a burnt cork negro.

News Behind The News

Whirligig

Written by a group of the best informed newspapermen of Washington and New York. Opinions expressed are those of the writers and should not be interpreted as reflecting the editorial policy of this newspaper.

NEW YORK

Mouse

New York conservatives sniff a mouse as big as an elephant in the President's tariff negotiation backyard. You can shortly expect it to be prodded forth and paraded around. Of course there's no guarantee the public will see it in the same dimensions.

The mouse is the potential relationship between a free hand with tariffs and sterner enforcement of NRA codes. "Suppose an industry gets balky about something," says the open shop," critics comment, "what could be simpler than a threat to abolish tariff protection on that industry's products? It would give the administration a brand new knockout weapon with not a chance for a comeback."

Republicans

This angle adds fresh fuel to local Republican flames which are burning brighter now than for a year and a half. New York's backstage Republicans are actually cheerful. At least they have an issue they can bite into with zest. They knew it was coming and are well heeled with arguments to be offered by spokesmen in Washington and elsewhere.

Don't underestimate these New York backstagers. They swing more weight in party councils than is generally realized. So far they have kept the rubber-bands on their bankrolls because G. O. P. gestures have been so futile. It might be different if the tariff issue takes with the public. It's certainly popular hereabouts.

Another weapon in their arsenal is that Presidential tariff dickering would be useless because so few countries would be interested. The point can't be proved yet either way but there's plenty of local opinion on the other side of the fence.

Dillinger's Pal Killed In Battle

Herbert Youngblood, above, negro of Gary, Indiana, who accompanied John Dillinger as the desperado began his flight from jail, at Crown Point, Indiana, recently, was shot and fatally wounded in a gun battle with officers at Port Huron, Mich., Friday. Before gasping his last breath, Youngblood told officers he saw Dillinger in Port Huron Thursday night.

Forsan Debate Team Wins In Contest Here

Decision Taken From Members Of Coahoma Debate Team

Forsan debaters won both boys and girls county championships this week.

Each time Forsan had to win a decision over Coahoma.

The Moore team coached by Miss Arab Phillips and composed of James Hoodenpyle and Bill Rowland lost a decision to the Forsan team, John Camp Adams and James Maddox, coached by Ira Watkins.

Coahoma's team, coached by A. E. Cook and composed of Wilford Lay and Lenton Hughes, drew a bye and met Forsan in the finals.

Knott's girl team, composed of Estelle Miller and Viola Sample and coached by V. W. Jackson, dropped a decision to the Coahoma girls, Verdine Hayworth and Stella Mae Adams.

In the semi-finals Coahoma defeated Highway girls, Ethel Mae McNew and Lucille Knight, coached by F. M. Simmons. Forsan's team, composed of Grace Tension and Lucille Wilson and coached by Watkins, defeated the Moore girls, Margaret Wheeler and Ella Ruth Thomas. Forsan then won from Coahoma.

The rural championship, resting between Moore and Knott, will be decided Monday.

$460 Is Taken Off Oil Man

A Midland oil man Friday appealed to the law to retrieve $460 taken from him sometime during the morning hours.

The Howard county sheriff's department was notified by Sheriff Audrey Francis of Midland county to be on the watch for a young woman and a man companion.

The woman, about 19 years of age, weight about 105 pounds, black hair, and the man, about 25 years of age, short, slightly crippled, are suspected of having "shaken the oil man down."

Midland Oil Man Appeals To Officers To Help Search

The co-operative program of the Oil Belt Educational association was born of dissension. When more than 1,000 teachers, school officials and trustees gather here today and Saturday, they will be working together, seeking to correlate their activities.

Little more than four years ago it was a different story. A small group of representatives from over the Oil Belt district was squabbling over eligibility of football players. It was every man for himself and the shrewdest man won.

Lindy Says Air Mail Companies Should Be Tried

(AN EDITORIAL)

Noted Airman Talks Before Senate Group

Says Army Mail Flying Not As Efficient As It Should Be

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charles Lindbergh told the senate committee Friday the administration should have tried air mail contractors before cancelling their contracts because of alleged fraud and collusion.

Lindbergh said the army flying of mail was "not as efficient" as it might have been. He said the air corps was not designed to meet such emergencies and did not have "adequate time to study the routes."

He branded as "unjust" the section of the bill which bans future mail bids by past operators unless they waive all claims against the government resulting from contract annulments.

Lindbergh said: "I feel these charges should have been definitely established before the contracts were cancelled and feel it is the right of the companies, public and my own; right to have them established. Nothing has ever been submitted for trial."

L. A. Woods, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will fill the pulpit of the First Baptist church Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev. R. E. Day, announced Friday.

Although known for his educational programs and reforms, Woods is also a well known layman of the church.

A graduate of Baylor university, Woods was elected county superintendent of McLennan county from which post he ascended to the office of state superintendent.

3 Negroes Are Hanged

Mississippi State Takes Lives Of Negroes In Assault Case

HERNANDO, Miss., (AP)—Three negroes, Isaac Howard, Ernest McGhee and Johnny Jones were hanged Friday for assaulting a 17-year-old Mississippi school girl.

Two hundred national guardsmen surrounded the jail to preserve order as the three figures in a sensational case went to their death. The crowd remained orderly.

Oil Belt Teachers Association, Born Of Dissension In 1930, Now Works For Educational Betterment

The co-operative program of the Oil Belt Educational association was born of dissension. When more than 1,000 teachers, school officials and trustees gather here today and Saturday, they will be working together, seeking to correlate their activities.

Little more than four years ago it was a different story. A small group of representatives from over the Oil Belt district was squabbling over eligibility of football players. It was every man for himself and the shrewdest man won.

"Why can't we come together in a meeting sometime when we won't be fighting over football," someone asked. The suggestion struck a responsive cord and in October 1930 a group of principals and superintendents convened in Cisco, elected an executive committee and formulated plans of a meeting of school officials in Abilene in November of the same year.

Eastland was named as the first convention site for the spring meeting when all teachers participate in the affair. W. C. Willingham, then of Albany, was elected to the presidency.

Hundreds of teachers, officials and laymen attended the Eastland meeting.

"A lot of good was accomplished," said O. G. Lanier, Ranger, who has served as secretary of the organization since its inception.

Over 1000 Are Expected For Oil Belt Meet

L. E. Dudley, principal of the Abilene high school, was elected to the presidency of the Oil Belt Educational Association last spring in Breckenridge.

An amiable man, Dudley has an unusual knack for perfecting organization within the association and getting the most out of his co-workers.

Although Dudley had not arrived Friday morning, everything was in order and his instructions were being followed much the same as if he had been here.

Madame Vice-President

Mrs. Pauline C. Brigham, Howard county superintendent, is an exception to the rule that men hold all important posts in the Oil Belt Educational Association.

Elected to the vice-presidency last year, Mrs. Brigham has had a large part in bringing the meeting here and in preparing for it.

Mrs. Brigham is also responsible for the new divisional meeting of the association. It was at her suggestion that the executive committee sanctioned a section for school boards. She is chairman of that section.

The officers of the association are: President, L. E. Dudley, Abilene; Vice-president, County Supt. Pauline C. Brigham, Big Spring; Secretary-treasurer, O. G. Lanier, Ranger.

Chairman of committees: Prin. L. E. Dudley, Abilene, Executive Committee; Supt. C. Wedgeworth, Snyder, Pr. — Committee; Supt. R. F. Holloway, Ranger, Resolutions Committee.

Executive committee: Prin. L. E. Dudley, Abilene, chairman; Supt. B. H. McLain, Sweetwater, past president; County Supt. Pauline C. Brigham, Big Spring; O. G. Lanier, Ranger.

Registration Of Delegates Made At Settles; Banquet At 7 P. M.

SESSIONS TO BE HELD IN CITY AUDITORIUM

Boy Scouts Enlisted To Aid And Direct Visitors While In City

Vanguard of hundreds of teachers who will attend the fourth annual session of the Oil Belt Educational Association here two days began its steady march on Big Spring Friday morning.

By 3 p. m. scores had arrived and were awaiting the opening session in the city auditorium, one hour later by L. E. Dudley, Abilene, president of the association.

From other cities also came high school students who will furnish entertainment for the teachers, school officials, trustees and interested citizens.

Most of the more than 1,000 teachers expected to attend here will likely arrive sometime Friday evening and participate in the Saturday sessions.

Registration of delegates was being accomplished in the Settles hotel and the city auditorium.

At 7 p. m. a banquet will be held from the Settles ballroom. Approximately 300 plates have been reserved.

Following the dinner, teachers have their choice of indulging in several different types of entertainment.

A meeting of all committees on arrangements, reception, entertainment, program, transportation convened for a short session Friday 1:30 p. m. in the Settles hotel. Boy Scouts were enlisted to aid and direct visitors.

Officers

The officers of the association are: President, L. E. Dudley, Abilene; Vice-president, County Supt. Pauline C. Brigham, Big Spring; Secretary-treasurer, O. G. Lanier, Ranger.

Chairman of committees: Prin. L. E. Dudley, Abilene, Executive Committee; Supt. C. Wedgeworth, Snyder, Pr. — Committee; Supt. R. F. Holloway, Ranger, Resolutions Committee.

St. Patrick's Day Saturday

Tomorrow will be Saint Patrick's to the those who are looking for an excuse for the wearing of the green or have a strong dash of Irish blood that they like to strut on appropriate occasions.

But to patriotic Americans, March 17th is more than just the anniversary of the natal day of an Irish saint—it is one of the most important dates connected with American history—the day the British evacuated Boston.

Every school boy and even memory-poor adults recall those two stirring events of the Revolutionary war, the Boston tea party and the battle of Bunker Hill; more important, if less thrilling, than these was the day of March 17, 1776 when the British fleet under General Howe sailed from Boston.

That event, according to historians, marked the beginning of George Washington's popularity. Washington had insisted to Congress that the British must be driven from Boston. What, cried Congress, drive out a fleet exported at a cost of five million dollars? But Washington set his jaw and instructed his soldiers.

So the costly fleet that had intended to use Boston as its base while it conquered all of New England sailed out, leaving behind in its land quarters, its cannon, its coal, its grain, horses, and even its supply of bedding. And was George Washington idolized after that?

Today descendants of those hardy Continentals can afford to do memory to a poor Irish Saint. They are independent enough of every British tie to celebrate any and every saint they chose. They will reverse Washington and St. Patrick.

Ferguson To Accept Post If Tendered

Says Will Take Democratic National Committee Job If Offered

AUSTIN, (AP)—Former Governor James Ferguson plainly indicated Friday he would accede to the importunities of friends, to accept the place of Democratic national committee man from Texas if it is offered him.

"There has not been any slate formed so far," he said, "but I'm still vain enough to have my name mentioned occasionally." Ferguson said Friday.

Six Coats Are Stolen From Car

Miss Anne Martin reported theft of six coats to the sheriff's department Friday.

The materials were stolen from a car parked in front of 511 Gregg Thursday evening.

Missing are a ladies tan sport coat, three black fur collared coats, and three sheep-lined boys coats.

IDAHO ICE CROP FAILURE

GOODING, Idaho, (AP)—Natural ice production in Idaho failed this season for the first time in 30 years. Two companies operating in this territory were forced to prepare artificial ice to supply commercial demand.

East Ward PTA Hears Health Talk

Re-Elect Most Of Former Officers To Post Good Program

The East-West P.T.A. met Thursday afternoon for an interesting meeting. Mrs. Thorpy's and Miss McClendon's rooms gave the program.

Dr. M. H. Bennett spoke on "The Effect of the Physical Condition Upon the Mind." He said that one did not have to be a doctor to see that the child must be sound in body to be sound in mind. When a child is physically handicapped and unable to enter into play with other children he misses the thrills and pleasures of childhood; as a result he becomes self-conscious and develops an inferiority complex that has a great effect on his life.

Positive Relief For Smarting Itch

To end smarting skin itch, remove rash, redness, pimples and foot-itch use Blue Star Ointment. It melts on the skin, soothing it with its germicidal and soothing properties. It does not burn, fumes, or discolor. (adv.)

He said also that nearsightedness caused children to avoid books and seek pleasure in books, and at making fun of children who cannot read. Grown people who suffer from inferiority complexes can usually trace these to unpleasant experiences in childhood that could have been avoided if their elders had been wiser of children.

The members of the P.T.A. also held a short business session and decided to send a note of thanks to City Manager E. V. Spence for his help in procuring playground equipment. See-saws have been ordered.

All members were reminded of the district convention at Abilene to be held on April 19 and 20; it was decided to postpone the April East-Ward meeting until the fourth Thursday on this account.

The election of officers was held and many of the old officers re-elected.

Mrs. A. E. Woods was re-elected president. Mrs. A. J. Cain, first vice-president; Mrs. Peyton, second vice-president; Mrs. F. G. Sholtz, third vice-president; Mrs. Tom Cantrell, secretary; Mrs. Tom Adams, treasurer; Mrs. Granville Glenn, publicity chairman.

Miss McClendon's room won the prize.

The program put on by Miss McClendon's room was as follows: Reading, "The Land of My Geography," "Welcome Martin," "The Dutch Children" by the high school and low school; "Holland Made" George Coats; "Holland Made" Walden Wright; "Three Little Kittens" Margaret Ann Price.

Eula Reese and La Verne Kennam; "Tulips," Lou Villa Cain and Betty Ann Bjork; "Windmills," John McIntosh and Thurman Cobb; "Knitting," John Anna Terry and Clara Belle Woods; "Dutch Pie," by Robert Adkins, Bobbie Moore and Cliff Prather; "Windmill Song" by the children.

Mrs. Thorpy's room gave the following program: reading, "I Gave Him Half of Mine" Mel Rust Thurman; reading, "Trouble in the Family" by Juan Nell Birmingham; "The Smiling Regiment," by Billie Bob Fallon, Charles Prather, Claude Cocran, Lee Myrick, De Gerald Thomas, Les Christian, Terrell Thompson, Marshall Yates; Juan Nell Birmingham, Ruby Joyce Blankenship, Carolyn Cantrell, Jerry Hodges, Irma Lee Glendon, Doris Jean Glenn, Francis Little, Mary Joyce Mims; song, "The Helpers" by the first grade.

The following members attended: Mmes. Tom Adams, Cobb, A. B. Rogers, J. M. Craig, W. P. Mims, J. N. Caudle, D. G. Thomas, J. H. Coats, Roy Percifield, L. B. Kinman, L. M. Gary, B. Weaver, P. G. Father, Son Night Held At Revival

Large Congregation Greeted Dr. Bickley As Meeting Nears End

A large and interested congregation greeted Rev. C. A. Bickley at Thursday night's revival meeting at the First Methodist church. The service was in honor of Fathers and Sons.

Rev. W. M. Culwell sang two solos, fitting for the occasion, "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" and "Tell Mother I'll Be There."

The scripture and text for the evening was taken from Mark 9:17: "And one of the multitude answered and said, I have brought unto thee my son."

Rev. Bickley said:

"These words were spoken by a father rather than by a consecrated mother. The Bible always puts the father first. Honor thy father and thy mother. Ely's son made himself vile and it was Ely who was held responsible for their sin. I would not take one bit of the glory or honor or sentiment from mother, perhaps the dearest of all earthly friends, but somehow I feel that the father does not always occupy the position he should. I appreciate also a father's responsibility.

"Here is a father who did the important thing of coming and bringing his son to Jesus. We do not even know the man's name, but somehow history has preserved this incident. I am sure that he was an affectionate father, and we know that he was a man of prayer for he knelt. One of the great blessings a boy can have is a devoted Christian father. But I wonder if this man would have come to Jesus had he not had the responsibility of fatherhood. How any man can face that responsibility without Christ is more than I can understand. This world needs to realize that Jesus is the only one who can give help today. Fathers, where would our boys go if they followed us? Are we leading them in paths of righteousness or are we leading them into a way from which we can never reclaim them? Lot led his family into Sodom but he was never able to lead them out, and we had better be careful where we are leading our boys.

"I believe we should look upon them as a trust, a trust far greater than any other that can come to us: the responsibility of a soul. How have we used that trust? While I was busy here and there, making money, acquiring leads, building up the business, perhaps that boy has gone. Do not get too busy and neglect him who has been given to you as a trust.

"Sometimes we want to commit our trust to the wives and moth-

Mrs. Tucker's Recipe of the Week

LEMON SPONGE PIE

2 Tsp. Mrs. Tucker's Shortening; 1/2 c. Granulated sugar; 2/3 Tsp. Egg separated; 1/2 Tsp. Lemon Juice; 1/4 c. 2-1/2 Tsp. Lemon rind; 1/2 c. milk.

Cream shortening thoroughly. Add sugar and beat gradually. Beat egg yolks well and add. Beat well; add lemon juice, rind, salt and milk. Whip egg whites in stiff froth and mix into the uncooked pastry with Mrs. Tucker's Shortening. Bake in hot oven (325 degrees) for 18 minutes; then in slow oven (225 degrees) for 20 to 25 minutes.

CREAMS EASILY

I think that was what David did with Absalom. David was king and busy with his royal duties. Then came a day when he awoke and cried out, "O Absalom, Absalom, would that I had died for thee."

"Over in John we find the question asked 'What manner of child will this be?' A child's character is not yet formed and his destiny is not yet determined, but every day he must face two roads, one of which leads to destruction. Which one will he take if he follows you? Whether he is ever great as the world calls greatness, he has the possibility of greatness in the sight of God with God's help. Are you helping him find the right way?"

"Boys are here worshippers. They want to go where father does and choose the things that father chooses. I believe they want to be true Christians, but they want us to come first. Can we say to Christ, 'I have brought unto thee my son?'"

Easter Egg Party Given Ace Hi Club

Mrs. Glen Gulkey entertained the members of the Ace High Bridge Club with a very attractive Easter party at her home Thursday afternoon.

When the guests arrived they engaged in an Easter egg hunt for their tallies, which they found tied to the eggs. At the refreshment hours, the refreshments were brought in in Easter baskets and consisted of picnic dishes.

The prizes were also in baskets. They were presented to Mrs. Lamb for making high plus, and to Mrs. King for making high minus.

Members were: Mmes. D. M. McKinney, Rance King, Alfred Collins, Allen Hodges, Roy Lamb, G. L. Browning, A. Swartz, Miss Elizabeth Northington. Also present were: Mmes. Ted Bishop, J. E. McGeath of Longview; Robert Riegel, Tommy Jordan, Jr.

Mrs. Hodges will be the next hostess.

Miss Maralee Hull Wins Hat By Offering Name For New Shop

More than three hundred persons attended the opening of Mrs. Roy Green's hat shop Wednesday afternoon and made suggestions for naming the shop.

The name that met with the most approval by the owners was the Otera-Mayfair Shop. The hyphenated name is made from the given names of Mrs. Green and Mrs. Hogue, her assistant. Miss Maralee Hull won a hat for suggesting the name.

The ivory and black trimming of the shop and its clever arrangement attracted many compliments.

Texas Day Is Observed By Big Spring Study Club Wednesday

Members of the Big Spring Study Club met at the Settles Hotel Wednesday afternoon to observe Texas Day. The answer to roll call was Texas poets.

Mrs. W. K. Edwards played several numbers from Texas composers. Mrs. Felton Smith talked on the "Progress of the State in Recent Years." Mrs. J. P. Dodge on "Texas State Parks."

The round table discussion was "How I Regard Texas."

The club voted to study Texas for its next year's study course, following the suggestion made by the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs; it will use its outline of several years ago, enlarging upon it.

The next program topic will be "Books."

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

WILL you ever forget the sulphur and molasses "spring tonic"? But times have changed. Today, we know that much of the listlessness of spring days results from common constipation.

This condition can be corrected by including plenty of "bulk" with meals. So today, instead of getting an unpleasant "spring tonic," you go to your grocer's for a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Two tablespoonfuls of this delicious cereal daily furnish the "bulk" needed to help promote regular habits.

ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin B, as well as a generous share of the iron you need in spring.

People who are really ill after the winter, of course, should consult their physicians. ALL-BRAN is simply recommended for common constipation—and is not a "cure-all."

The labels of bran cereals tell, now, whether they are all bran or only part bran. Get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—and avoid disappointment! At all grocers.

Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

CHAPTER 47

If voices may exist without visible, corporal authority, then these voices were undoubtedly disembodied.

This ethereal dialogue was in Spanish. One voice was smoothly cadenced, soft with the accent of one using his native tongue. The other ghost voice was harsher—undoubtedly masculine also—it spoke abruptly, extravagantly, accented like a foreigner's, and laden with bookish polysyllables.

The abrupt voice said, "Miracles, my young friend, are out of fashion. True, perhaps the Virgin did appear to the poor peon at Guadalupe. But that was nearly four hundred years ago. Today—as it did then—it takes two to make a miracle. One to perform it, and at least one, certainly, to believe it."

The voice coughed complacently, and continued, "That's sound philosophy. While it is not original with me, it might well have been. I have written cleverer things."

"No, miracles are unfashionable. The wisdom of the public is a terrible thing. Could I perform a miracle—and I do not say that I can not—what would be the result? The public would put its tongue in its cheek, it would slyly pull down the corner of its eye and say that publicly men should be confined to asylums." The voice ended upon a note of grievance.

The softer voice chuckled, "You seem hurt, senior, that people no longer are so stupid."

"But they are!" exclaimed the other voice with emphasis. "I have matters to write about—marvelous matters—that should astound the world. But will I ever be permitted to write about them as only I can write about them? No! Certainly not! I shall be told that they are too extraordinary. Nobody would believe me!"

A gust of wind, a sound like a spattering cascade of rain obliterated the voices for a moment. The blackness was split with a flare of lightning vividly sustained.

The figure of a man stirred in a corner of the dark enclosure. He seemed half buried in swaths of palm leaves. His clothing, a mass of wet rags, clung to his powerful frame. His hair was black and damp, beard stubble served but to accentuate the strength of his jaws and chin. He pushed himself to his hands and knees.

The voice with the foreign accent again took advantage of a lull in the thunder. "Juan, my boy, you should consider yourself lucky that you're not a genius. Believe me, I suffer more because of my talents than I do from my faults, although if I do say it myself—"

VICTIMS IN KANSAS BANK HOLDUP

Willard Liville (right), chief of police of Atchison, Kas., was shot and seriously wounded by a blast of machine gun fire, and Ed Iverson (left), cashier of the Exchange State bank at Atchison, was slugged and severely injured by four men who robbed the Exchange National and Exchange State banks of about $21,000. Nine employees were kidnaped temporarily by the robbers to shield their getaway. (Associated Press Photos)

During the following two days, Green kept up a continual rapid fire chatter. The little man, Frank realized, was on the verge of a breakdown. The hardships he had gone through were unaccustomed ones.

Moreover, he could see that the plight of his employer and the fate of the motion picture party was constantly on his mind and his inane chatter was more to keep his mind from the subject than for personal amusement.

One morning of the third day, Frank, sitting out at the end of a sandy promontory that jutted into the sea heard the sound of a motor. Visibility was bad. Suddenly, in the north he saw the outline of a plane against the mist. His shout brought his two companions running toward him. The three danced and waved upon the sand.

"He's got to see us!" screamed Greene. "It's the mail plane to Columbia! There won't be another for days!"

The plane droned on. The three castaways caught up palm fronds and waved them. Greene circled his ragged jacket about his head. The airship kept to its course.

Long after the ship disappeared into the southern mist they waved and shouted mechanically. Finally exhausted, they sat upon the sand and stared at each other miserably. They were too discouraged to hunt for the conch shell-fish that were exposed at low tide and which had provided them with scanty nourishment. Once, miles at sea, a white steamer passed north bound. They stared at it hungrily.

It was late in the afternoon when Frank lifted his head. There was an believing look in his eyes. Suddenly Juan imitated him. Greene scrambled to his feet.

"It's the plane! Hear it? It's—"

The plane—it looked like the one

(that had passed in the morning—was returning. It was flying lower and close inshore. Suddenly it dropped and zoomed. Banking in toward them the engine gave a series of staccato roars—as if it was signalling acknowledgment to the three wild men who danced upon the beach.

It swerved away back toward the south; then banking again it headed upwind toward them. Waves sprouted beneath its pontoon. With spinning propellers it drifted to a stop a few yards out from the beach.

Frank was already in the water swimming toward the craft. He hauled himself up over the pontoon. The helmeted pilot observed him quizzically.

"You three guys have been on my conscience all afternoon. But I was carrying mail. What's on your mind? Say . . . you speak English?"

Frank, gasping for breath, strove to answer. The pilot called out in a louder tone. "You hablo English, Hombre. What's—"

Greene splashed back toward them called. "Keep your shirt on, mister. Sure he speaks English. I invented it, and taught him how. That's Frank Graham a little out of breath!"

The pilot's jaw dropped. "Graham . . . my— Why . . . the whole United States is looking for you and—Where've you been, man?"

(To Be Continued)

Joy Stripling and Tom Davis went to Abilene Wednesday afternoon on business.

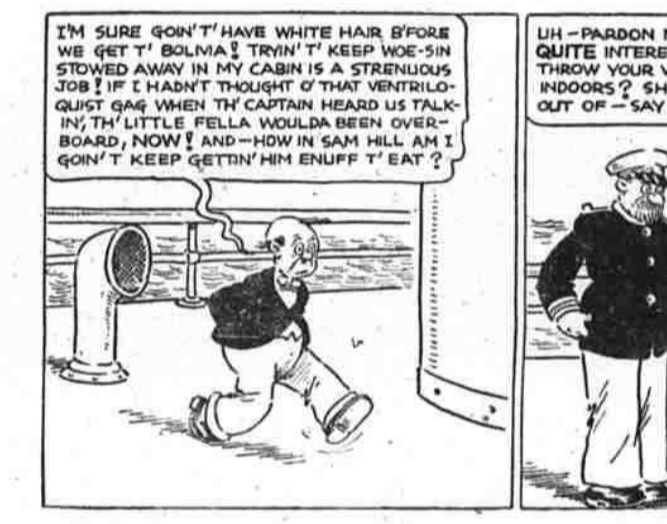

Mrs. R. A. Eubanks was confined to a local hospital Thursday suffering from a minor ailment.

Spring convention will be liberally sprinkled with such. Friday evening visiting teachers will frolic on the premise that "all work and no play" makes teacher a dull creature. Again Saturday afternoon the business and professional powwow will be interrupted for an hour of entertainment.

"One of the fine things about the Oil Belt Association is that it affords an opportunity for the tried and proven members of the profession to engage in intelligent, constructive conference," said Lanier.

"More important, however, the association is of great benefit to the new teacher. Veterans in the profession are able to give them the benefit of years of trying experience, to counsel with them, to cover pitfalls. In short it is a contributory force to the building up of a generation of improved teachers."

Theme of this year's meeting is co-operation of all divisions toward the end of bettering the educational system. General sessions will be devoted to men and women speakers who urge harmony between the superintendent, principal, teacher, trustee and patron.

Sectional meetings will deal with the curriculum. There are nine such meetings. In direct contrast to meetings of other years, there have been no publicity campaigns ballyhooing certain cities for the next convention site.

However, those who know believe that last minute show will be staged on the floor in an effort to win designation. Mineral Wells, it is understood, is regarded as a likely selection.

As for the presidency, that is as much in the dark now as it was six months ago. Those matters are fought out under cover and candidates have their support lined up before names are put in nomination from the floor.

These nominations will be heard in the business session just before noon Saturday. During the lunch hour delegates will vote by secret ballot on the president and vice-president. The secretary treasurer is appointed.

Unless he is tiring of the one position which has a real job attached, it is a safe bet that Lanier, a small keen-eyed efficient schoolman, will again be named to that post.

Phoenix
The Passamaquoddy power proponent in Maine—mentioned before in this column—is due to rise Phoenix like from its ashes. PWA took its sponsors to see if they could get power contracts from the New England utility companies. They drew a unanimous turn-down from Maine to Connecticut. Apparently that killed it.

Actually it aroused much livelier PWA interest than before. Official figures that if the utilities were so opposed to it must be O. K. So it has a chance again to be one of PWA's prize exhibits.

Encouragement
The tariff question also fits into the intricate jigsaw of how to encourage private industry. Most recent moves appear to have headed in the opposite direction. Tariff uncertainty—the compulsory short-term week—complaints from the Consumers' Advisory Board—the Wagner Bill to strengthen labor—salary disclosures—the air mail rumpus—the Fletcher-Rayburn bill have not exactly reassured timid capital.

Yet New York insiders remain confident that these are so much both to be blown off the beer once the more progressive element in Congress and Public is satisfied that the President's fundamental program is unchanged. They insist it's one more case of starting at the left and veering gradually to the right.

Predictions
They make the following predictions.
(a) The President will get limited authority to negotiate trade agreements but will be careful not to use it in an alarming manner.
(b) Industry will have to swallow the 26-hour pill but it will certainly be sweetened with other concessions.
(c) Mr. and Mrs. Consumer will get more verbal than actual relief from higher prices—at least for

Services Churches Topics

ST. MARY'S EPISCOPAL
Junior church begins at 9:45 with regular opening service. Harry Blomfield will enact the part of a representative from India who has received the aid of the Lenten mite-box.

The eleven o'clock hour will be consumed by the observance of "Passion Sunday." Rev. W. H. Martin, vicar, will carry out the suggestion prepared by Presiding Bishop James DeWolf Ferry that this be a service of "re-dedication."

The presiding bishop, James DeWolf Ferry, of the Protestant Episcopal church has made the suggestion that "It would seem to be a fitting time to bring together our people for the re-dedication of their lives to God's purpose, and for a reunited approach to the contemplation of our Lord's passion, and resurrection."

Bishop Ferry, who is also the Bishop of Rhode Island, has named March 18th and the eleven o'clock services as the proper time for this corporate meeting of all Episcopalians.

March 18th is named "Passion Sunday" in the church calendar, and will be observed in St. Mary's church in the manner suggested by the presiding bishop.

Mirrors
The keenest New York observers insist it was done with mirrors at that. They point out that the constitutional amendment required—because the federal government can't afford to abolish its exemption feature unless states and municipalities do likewise—would take at least a year or two to put over and the end would probably be smothered by local politics. So there's no chance of action soon. But once again Doc Psychology struts his stuff successfully.

Shock
The Treasury's restraint in merely covering maturities tomorrow instead of tacking on half a billion or so for recovery financing is also seen here as part of the paving scheme. This move took the banks completely by surprise. They had expected a large part of their ballooning excess reserves to absorb the expected new issue and there ain't no issue.

As a result of this shock the banks will (a) show more active interest in the open bond market and (b) be keener than ever for the next federal offering. A real boom for high-grade bonds is in prospect this spring.

Conspired
Even the weather conspired with the Treasury to help make the strategy possible. Blizzards have slowed PWA work to a crawl, hence the government didn't need as much money now as had been anticipated. By postponing the call for funds the subsequent demand from conservative sources will be notably increased.

Which goes to illustrate a phase of human nature as displayed by bankers. They're much more willing to lend if you aren't too eager to borrow.

Extension
The shift in PWA schedules caused by the hard winter will make a big difference in the government's contribution to purchasing power. Inside estimates show that PWA outlays will reach a peak in September instead of June as originally planned.

This means that PWA itself can absorb much of the Civil Works slack and help cushion the summer bumps. Therefore it's no longer so vitally urgent for private industry to fill the employment gap in such a rush.

There's more time now to work out constructive action under NRA guidance and smooth the wrinkles before a new emergency develops. Blizzards do have their uses after all.

Unscrambling
The President didn't mention holding companies in his message about restoring airmail contracts but their knell rang loud between the lines. It was plainly inferred that no transport line even indirectly affiliated with a manufacturing company would be eligible for a new award. That's a death sentence for the top corporations.

So the aviation folks are gloomily surveying the prospect of unscrambling their emblems and wondering how to start. Aviation corporation has the simplest setup of the big groups and should have the least trouble. It isn't so bad for United either—because subsidiary ownership are clean-cut. But the General Aviation—North American people may have to hire a squad of Einstein's to solve their problems.

Independents
Local experts look for large companies to get the transcontinental franchises but expect a number of small independent feeder lines to be built up. They also predict that possibly Amelia Earhart—will be prominent in commercial aviation circles.

A number of neutral New York observers believe the government is now a 10 to 1 shot to end up with more efficient and much less costly airmail service than ever before.

Relieve
New Yorkers interested in utility and railroad holding companies are drawing a few tentative breaths of relief. Talk about adjoining congress in May makes it unlikely they'll be heaped on this session. But even the optimistic see it as a reprieve—not a pardon.

Service
A bit of evidence at the Albany utility hearing to the effect that the average Westchester domestic consumer is overcharged $100 a year for his electricity caused the utilities to see scarlet. The average gross revenue per Westchester domestic consumer is only $45 a year. "What the heck do they want us to do, pay people $55 a year for the privilege of serving them juice?"

SPORTS
Coach White is trying to perfect a cleftstick relay team. He put Walter Schatz to throwing the discus the other day and told Earl Adkins to throw it back to him. On the first throw back, Earl threw the discus over their heads. Mr. White told Earl to come up to the ring and let Walter throw it back. Earl looked promising. He is also out for the shot putt and high jump. P. yford Liles who placed third in the 880 yard run at the district meet last year should beat his own time this year. He is also a dash and relay man. Edgar "Ward" Chambers looks promising as a sprinter. He needs to practice starts a great deal. Dan Yarbro looks good in the high and broad jump. Schultz, a veteran high jumper is out for the high jump, discus, 440 and relay. Marshall Scudday is running the low hurdles again. There are tracksters trying on certain events.

The girls volleyball team is having regular workouts and promise to represent the school in a fine way in this event.

OUR FAMILY ALBUM
By Alda Alston
Let us go, on one of those gloomy, rainy days, to the old attic of the house in which our ancestors lived. Rummaging through those old dusty trunks, we find the old family album. As there isn't enough light in the attic, we shall carry the album down to the parlor before we open it.

When we open the book to the first page, we find ourselves in the age of bustles and swallow tail coats. These ladies look as if they are laced up so tightly, they can hardly breathe. One wonders how they ever managed to walk, or to sit down. Strange to say, we can hardly believe that those gentlemen, dressed in such a dignified, stiff-necked manner, are our great grandfathers and great uncles.

Turning page after page of that old album, we discover more strange sights than before. A picture of one of the first automobiles causes one to laugh instantly, when placed beside a picture of our modern automobile. The old time carriage is there, with some grandparent sitting pompously on the front seat.

We have looked at many pictures and turned many pages in the old family album. We do not notice that it is almost twilight. Someone has slipped in and turned on the light, but we did not notice even that, so interested are we in the pictures before us. We have reached the year of 1924. We have witnessed the gradual rising of the skirts until they are just a fraction below the knees. Turning another page, we find that the skirts have really risen above the knees!

THE QUESTION BOX
Where was Audrey Chambers last Saturday night? asked by Marie Womack - It seems that Audrey went to the mid-night matinee with Ollie Ruth Reed.

Has Dorothy Mangel captured Bobby Asbury? asked by Grace Tennison - No, I think not. It is just a case of "puppy love".

Why are Minnie, Doris and Anita so popular? asked by Earl Adkins. - They write their own letters.

Why did Cynical Sid hit two body guards when he learned that the Crystal Gazer had a helper named Won Lung? asked by several - Well, Sid is a sly character and with a Chinese detective after him he is shaking in his boots.

Why is Thomas Yarbro trying to invent an air cooled shoe? asked by Henry Wilmoth - So his feet won't get hot when he walks over to Avie's.

The Brakes Must Stop The Wheels But The Tires Must Stop The Car

The chief cause of accidents, statistics show, is the inability to stop quickly due to ineffective brakes or smooth, thin-worn tires. Chas. W. Corley said today in discussing precautions car owners can take.

He pointed out that to get the right picture of tires, you should remember this, "Your brakes will stop the wheels but your tires must stop your car." If you ask the average car owner what starts his car he will say, "the engine." But the engine starts the wheels—and it is the gripping action of the tires on the road that really starts the car. More important from the safety standpoint, is the fact when the brakes are applied, the three clinging to the road stop the car.

The two front wheels are really steering wheels," he continued. Every car must have three good steering wheels—one in the hand and two on the road. Failure of any of them is likely to mean disaster.

The car also needs eight good brakes—four tires on the road and four brakes on the wheels. All eight of these have a direct relation to stopping the car, when the brakes are applied—and to whether it will swerve sideways.

"Driving on tires until they fall is the worst kind of false economy. The last 1000 miles in the average tire is worth only forty-one cents at today's tire prices. To use this last thousand miles is likely to involve much greater expense, and the possibility of an accident.

The greatest enemy of tire life is friction heat within the tire, and to minimize this was the chief purpose of the gum-dipping process developed by Firestone engineers. This is an interesting and patented process which insulates and surrounds every fiber of every high stretch cord with rubber.

The tread of a tire is of great importance to the motorist. It is interesting to note that the number of non-skid angles in contact with the road has the most to do with the amount of slipping action the tire provides. The Firestone tread has a far greater number of angles than ever before.
