News Behind The News

THE NATIONAL Whirligig

Written by a group of the best informed newspapermen of Washington and New York. Opinions expressed are those of the writers and should not be interpreted as reflecting the editorial policy of this newspaper.

WASHINGTON BY GEORGE DURNO

Phlebitis

Most informally and privately house democrats are debating the necessity for electing a new majority floor leader to set in place of Rep. William B. Bankhead of Ala. Bankhead went to a hospital on the day the Democratic caucus agreed to his election nearly a month and a half ago. Official reports of his progress back to health have been encouraging but it is now understood he is suffering from phlebitis and may not be able to withstand the rigors of leading the unwieldy Democratic majority through the hot fights still in prospect.

Honest

A tour around the senate office building develops that constituents apparently don't think as hardy of Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes as do many members of congress. Senatorial secretaries say they have received a substantial lot of mail defending Ickes as an upright, honest citizen since he was no longer to administer public works.

Lacking

Newspaper men who have covered the house for some years say Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York could have a field day if he were back in congress this session as leader of his old progressive bloc.

Choosing

There should be nothing surprising in President Roosevelt's decision to retain Postmaster General Jim Farley as his campaign manager for reelection in 1936. For several reasons.

Tricks

As President Roosevelt's unofficial order worked out the exceptions have been interesting. Those who have watched the wedding-out process saw plainly it was designed to divorce picked men from the Democratic committee.

Farmers Prepare to Sharpen Plough Points In Advance Spring Ploughing

Farmers in the Big Spring area Tuesday prepared to sharpen plough points and ranchers breathed a sigh of relief as precious rain continued in the form of a steady drizzle throughout the day.

A few farmers making their way to Big Spring Tuesday morning from widely separated points said that enough moisture was in the ground from the Tuesday rain and week-end sleet and snow to start ploughing.

Ranchers said the fall assured a good weed crop and early spring grass, enough to pull their stuff through in good shape barring extremely cold weather.

At 3 p. m. the U. S. Weather Bureau at the airport reported .39 inches had been registered. At 1:30 p. m. the U. S. Experiment Farm gauge showed .20 and corresponded with the bureau gauge at that time, thus indicating a rainfall of more than an inch.

Vincent and Luther reported rain falling similar to that of Big Spring during Tuesday morning and afternoon. Coahoma had a similar amount of precipitation in slow rain. Colorado and Sweetwater also were receiving low rains. Abilene received light rain.

Among the country's outlying possessions the Philippines, with over twelve millions in 1930, take first rank, Alaska, one of the richest of our possessions, had only 59,278 in that year.

A calming note is creeping into the expressed opinions of leading statesmen and financiers regarding the likely effect of a supreme court decision adverse to the government in the gold clause cases.

Calves Play Colorado Jrs. Undeclared Junior Team To Clash With Jack-rabbits Today

Ben Daniels' junior Calves, undefeated in fifteen games this season, will play the Colorado Jack-rabbits here this afternoon.

County Cage Race Continues This Week

The junior boys and senior girls county basketball championships will be determined here in the high school gymnasium Friday and Saturday.

Any team not present at game time will be forced to forfeit, it was warned. Tournament officials have requested that teams be present at least thirty minutes before a scheduled game.

It is rumored that Coahoma, Sylvester, Bronte and several other small places are attempting to organize a Class C football league.

Horace White, Forsan coach, tells us that lack of stiff competition in basketball hurts worse than it does in football.

Unless the locals snap out of their lethargy in a hurry the basketball togs will be back among the mothballs within a week.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal says that Dutch Aultman, the German grappler, failed to register a pleasing impression in his debut there last week.

Our old friend "Tiny" Reed departed for New Mexico without stopping in to see us. They say he had a conference game to look after.

Ben Daniels says they won't let him enter his Calves in the junior boys county cage chase this week.

Hornbostel New 'Tops' For Track Fans

By JOHN STAHR (Associated Press Sports Writer) NEW YORK, (AP)—In tune with the current Big Town habit of inventing unofficial parodies for that Cole Porter song, track-minded New Yorkers these days are likely to be caught chanting:

Charles Hornbostel... But doubles are by no means new to this studious fellow who used to spend his summers clearing in a bank in his native Evansville and never scintillated as a high school athlete.

He's the top, like a tall corn-cob, "He's the top, he is Chuck Hornbostel."

He had been 23 years since a double of comparable importance and worth had been spread on the records, namely the feat of Abel Klviat in winning the 600 and 1,000-yard runs against, respectively, Ted Meredith and Mel Sheppard, two Pennsylvania all-time greats.

It would any young caddy, and this keen desire to smash the ball far remained Jug's greatest handicap in his path to fame and golfing riches.

Keep Away From Elements "What club?" Jug asked. Mathews told him.

Mathews pulled out a 7-iron. The strong wind carried the ball off to the left, several yards from the green.

Always A Socker "He'll make the Ryder cup team this year," Mathews predicted.

He won two titles and three 'half-titles' in Indiana state college meets.

He won the National Collegiate A.A. half-mile three straight years. This triumph in the last Millrose 1,000 was his third straight-in that event.

FRIENDLY INSULT WAS JOLT 'JUG' NEEDED

By CHARLES GRUMMICH (Associated Press Sports Writer) KANSAS CITY (AP)—Herald (Jug) McSpadden, the lanky Kansas youngster who is pacing the pro golfing clan along the winter money trails, had to be told, "Jug, you're dead from the ears up!" before he would play open under-clubbing with the irons carried little or no "pay-off."

It would any young caddy, and this keen desire to smash the ball far remained Jug's greatest handicap in his path to fame and golfing riches.

A WORD TO THE WIVES IS SUFFICIENT

The meals you serve help keep a family fit. In many homes, constipation develops as a result of insufficient "bulk" in the diet. This can be overcome by a nutritious cereal.

Research shows that Kellogg's Bran furnishes "bulk" in consistent form. ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin B and iron.

How much better it is to eat this natural food than to risk the use of patent medicines. Continued constipation does not lower its effectiveness. A tablespoonful daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with laxative pills, are not relieved, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. Appealing recipes on the red-and-green wrapper.

Bridal Shower For Mrs. T. A. Stephens Given By Friends

The members of the Elizabeth McDowell Sunday school class of the First Presbyterian church entertained for the ladies of the church and other friends of Mrs. T. A. Stephens recently with a lovely bridal shower at the home of Mrs. C. W. Cunningham. Mrs. Stephens-before her marriage was Miss Naomi Lee.

The Valentine colors were carried out in the floral decorations of the rooms which consisted of potted cyclamen, and in the refreshment plate.

After many games and contests had been played, a gypsy appeared on the scene to tell fortunes. She told the honoree that a treasure awaited her in the farthest room of the house. In this way Mrs. Stephens located the gifts brought by friends which were piled high in a container representing a huge Valentine. The gifts were taken into the living room to be opened and admired.

Refreshments consisted of heart-shaped sandwiches each holding a red candy heart in the center, cookies and tea and were passed with Valentine napkins.

About 40 guests attended the party and many who were unable to be present sent gifts.

COLLECTOR FOR BREWERY
WITNESSES AGAINST SALOONS

The following testimony as to conditions surrounding the saloons in pre-prohibition days has this merit, that the witness knew whereof he spoke. In an open letter to the New York Times he says he has had experience with saloons over many years as a collector for a brewery, and that "the saloon was totally worthless as a social center because of its past under-record."

"Several of the saloons on my old route were near big industrial centers, where they were visited by workers. At many saloons these men had a 'credit account' and I know from handling saloon finances, that their liquor bills often equaled 80 per cent of their earnings. I recall one weekly bill of $70 which a man declined to pay, with the result that he received the expected beating which caused his arrest and subsequent loss of his job. I recall the wives of workers pleading with saloonkeepers not to sell their husbands any more liquor, that they not only were bringing little money home but they were abusing their families. These people were largely Polish, Lithuanian, Ukrainian, Rumanian and Slovak, but Americanized in the sense that their children attended the schools near the saloons.

All Sorts and Conditions
"A writer in your paper says that 'nasty people used saloons.' I cannot begin to classify these people. They include in particular the hanger-on, now being found in bread line or being taken care of by sentimentalists. This particular breed of defective studied the routes of collectors and timed himself to be in a saloon when the collector came, because it was customary for collectors to treat the house. But the bums and hangers-on were not all of the 'nasty' people.

"I recall that inebriated men 'Ladies Entrance' I cannot say that all women who entered this entrance were not ladies, but I know that many of them were not ladies.

"Gentlemen there were who entered the saloon. I recall a prominent business man, the father of a family, who periodically went home drunk and finally fell dead in a well-known saloon after drinking a quart of whiskey to prove he could do it. I recall his beautiful daughters visiting the proprietor's home and pleading for their father, only to be told that 'We like him too much to insult him!'"

A RAPID-FIRE ROMANCE BY EVAN EVANS

Chapter 14 THE STRING Santos got up and stumped from the room.

"Shall I sleep here?" asked Montana. "If you dare," answered Miguel Santos.

After that, he went out, followed by the bow while Montana had risen to give to his host.

Now that he was perfectly alone, the Kid drew out of his pocket a small ball of very thin, hard wire.

"Rosita, why are you angry? Your good wishes I could never buy; but time and trouble and a little danger should be paid for."

"Besides, if he wants an extra reward after drawing the blood of the brains out of me, he can pick up the five hundred dollars from the table and the floor."

"How long have you known Rosita?" asked the Kid. "May the devil—" began Garza.

"How long have you known Rosita?" asked the Kid. "A year—two years—how can I tell? I don't know the time that counts in the knowing of a girl."

"That's true," answered Montana. "But you can see she told you the truth. There's the gold on the table. You can see some more of it on the floor."

"The Kid told you what she would tell me," said Rosita. "Not a word. But she had a look in her eye when she left me. Sit quietly, there. Be patient, Benito, and you'll see her again before long, I think."

Benito sat motionless. Now and then he raised his hand and smeared the blood on his face without knowing the small flow of it.

But the Kid was smoking his second cigar before the girl appeared in the open doorway. Her eyes were wide and blank with a vacant stare.

"Here is Benito. I kept him so that you could see that he is not very much hurt," said the Kid. She made no answer. Garza did not exist in her eyes.

"Now that she's here again," said Montana, "you can take your knife and run from the table, Garza, and leave us. Good fortune—the road and with the snort-horn."

must have paid him very well in times past, and he had put on a superior smile in the twist of his long mustaches.

There was only a dash too much of the brute in his face. Otherwise he was a good-looking fellow.

He had a good, new revolver as well as the knife. Montana took the weapons. Also he took a pin used at the throat of the man's shirt.

"Sit down, friend," said the Kid. "Rosita will want to see what you've done."

"Witchcraft!" said the stranger, with one hand on his bumped head and the other at his throat.

"Not witchcraft. Only a piece of string," said Montana. "There it is, from the door to the chair. What's your name?"

"Benito Garza," said the big man. "Untie the string and put it on the table. But don't try to bolt through the door. Because there's a real witchcraft inside this gun of mine."

Benito Garza, with a stupefied face, obediently untied the string and brought it to the table.

"How long have you known Rosita?" asked the Kid. "May the devil—" began Garza. "Hush!" said the Kid, and Garza was hushed.

"How long have you known Rosita?" asked the Kid. "A year—two years—how can I tell? I don't know the time that counts in the knowing of a girl."

"That's true," answered Montana. "But you can see she told you the truth. There's the gold on the table. You can see some more of it on the floor."

Two Girl Scouts demonstrate their idea of how to "show the way down." Thanks to the weather, the winter program of these hardy week-end campers is developing all sorts of new things this year.

Garza picked up his weapons, and as he stepped back from him, smiling, she exclaimed in a whisper, "El Keed!"

Perhaps it was the shock to his head and the more fatal blow to his vanity that made him turn with lowered head and leave the room, and pass, stumbling, down the stairs outside.

And still the girl was staring. "Come a little closer," said Montana. "Benito Garza is a gallant sort of a fellow, after all. He wouldn't leave without making some little offering to you, Rosita."

"The Kid told you what she would tell me," said Rosita. "Not a word. But she had a look in her eye when she left me. Sit quietly, there. Be patient, Benito, and you'll see her again before long, I think."

Farley has been building more than a Democratic organization across the country. He has been fashioning essentially a New Deal machine with FDR as its sole idol. The combination postmaster general and national chairman travels many miles weekly in every direction to build new fences and repair old ones.

Thus it becomes natural that the creator of this machine should stand by to control the throttle when it goes into high gear next year. Any movement congressmen may have over unattained patronage etc., will be forgotten then. They will all be too busy hopping on the bandwagon for a ride back to Washington themselves.

Lincoln Patented Apparatus To Save Boats From Shoals

WASHINGTON, CP.—As an inventor, Abraham Lincoln was like thousands of others whose patents take up space in the commerce department building.

Inventing something is an American habit, and the patent office for the most part confines itself to deciding whether the idea is new. Out-and-out avowals of perpetual motion devices don't get anywhere with the examiners, and Lincoln's steamboat apparatus scarcely seems of more practical use.

Fisher Well Reams Casing

With the Tide Water Oil Co. in charge of operations, the Fisher county discovery oil well six miles northeast of Rotan drilled in early last week by Merry Bros. & Perini of San Angelo on a "big" jointly owned by the two firms, was under-running 6 5/8-inch casing yesterday from 3,450 feet. An effort to shut off water will be made before the well is tested further.

Both banks in Big Spring were named as depositories for county funds with interest payments to amount to one-half of one per cent.

Lincoln's Life Subject Of Talk

By Jas. Brooks

A history of the life of Abraham Lincoln, sixteenth president of the United States, was related by Judge James T. Brooks at the Rotary club luncheon held Tuesday noon at the Settles on a program in charge of H. J. Cook. The address came on the 126th birthday anniversary of the late president, an event which is celebrated throughout the nation.

Scout Executive A. C. Williamson of Sweetwater presented the twenty-fourth charter of Troop No. 1 Boy Scouts, of which the Rotary club is sponsor, to the club. In addition a certificate was presented each committee member and chairman of the Boy Scout committee of the club, composed of T. W. Ashley, chairman; H. E. Howie, J. E. Kuykendall, W. C. Blankenship, G. B. Cunningham and E. V. Spence.

In making the presentation, Williamson declared that Troop 1 of Big Spring was one of the oldest scout troops in the nation, having been founded here in 1911 by the late C. S. Holmes. "This fact alone," said Williamson, "should inspire each Rotarian to do greater things in Scout work and especially for Troop 1, of which you are sponsor."

TEXAS TOPICS

By Raymond Brooks

Scores of letters are reaching state officials at the capitol urging J. R. Pennington of Abilene for appointment as member-chairman of the Texas highway commission.

The letters are going both to Gov. Allred and to West Texas members of the legislature. The Abilene friends' campaign for Mr. Pennington seems to indicate that Commr. W. R. Ely, whose time as president this month, is not trying to build up any concerted drive for his own reappointment.

NO. 8

Exemptions Allowed Couples Married During Taxable Year

Taxpayers should note that under the Revenue Act of 1934 the credit for dependents as well as the personal exemption is required to be prorated where a change of status occurs during the taxable year and that these credits are allowable not only for the purpose of computing the normal tax, but also the surtax. A fractional part of a month is to be disregarded unless it amounts to more than half a month, in which case it is considered a month.

For example, a single man and a single woman who were married on July 20, 1934, and were living together on the last day of the taxable year, may file a joint return. If they file their return or returns on the basis of the calendar year, they would be entitled to a personal exemption of $2,500.34, which is seven-twelfths of $1,500 for the husband while single, plus seven-twelfths of $1,000 for the wife while single, plus five-twelfths of

Humble Adds Howard Well

No. 9 Settles Rates 794 Barrels Daily On Pump At 2350

Humble No. 9 Settles in Howard county was completed last week at 2,350 feet, pumping 33 barrels of oil hourly for a daily potential of 794 barrels. It showed oil from 2,256-75 feet and had increases from 2,292-99 and from 2,340-48 feet. There was 1,500 feet of oil in the hole before 2,000 gallons of cold acid were run. Location is in the southwest quarter of section 131, block 29, W. & N. W. Ry. Co. survey. Humble No. 10 Settles had drilled to 2,890 feet in lime.

Continental No. 14 Settles, in the northeast corner of section 133, block 29, continued cleaning out from a 260-quart shot from 2,380 to 2,420 feet. Before shooting it plugged back from 2,517 to 2,420 feet. Continental No. 12-A Settles, in the northwest corner of section 134, $2,500 for the period during which they were married. If separate returns are filed, each is entitled to a personal exemption of $1,041.17, which is seven-twelfths of $1,000, plus one-half of five-twelfths of $2,500. If during the year 1934 the husband or the wife had the status of the head of a family prior to their marriage he or she would be entitled to his or her pro rata share of the personal exemption of $2,500 allowed the head of a family for the period prior to their marriage instead of merely that allowed a single person. However, for the period of their marriage any exemption to which either might be entitled as the head of a family would be merged in the joint personal exemption for that period. The joint personal exemption allowable in the case of a couple who were married and living together during the entire year may not exceed $2,500.

If a child under 18 years of age and dependent on the parent for support reaches the age of 18 years during the taxable year, the credit of $400 for a dependent is required to be prorated in the same manner as the personal exemption. For example, should the child's eighteenth birthday fall on June 30, the parent would be entitled to claim $200 credit for the dependent child—that is, one-half of $400. The same rule applies to other dependents where a change of status occurs during the taxable year.
