The Air Battles Continue Over jury found that Mrs. Eberley received $81,000 from the bank by signing notes and passing checks. However, the jury also found that Jim Tom, bank president, intended to pay off part of the debt of the Eberleys when he gave checks to the bank for the sum of $53,500. Editorial

Western Division Develops Key Men

Whether directly associated with the Texas & Pacific or not, most Big Spring neople take a measure of pride in that line's operations and particularly in the manner in which officials of the company have drawn, on this division for key per-

This often means that we love a good citizen and a respected family in the process, such as with W. C. Foster's pronotion as superintendent of the Eastern Division of the railroad. In his four years in Big Spring he quietly but firmly secured a place in the affection of the community. With a record of no mean proportions already established by his predecessor, Mr. Foster demonstrated a natural knack for further cementing the relations between the company and the community.

He encouraged others in the T&P family to be participating citizens. He seemed to possess a faculty, too, for bringing along his aides so that talents developed and capacities for responsibility grew. One of his assistant superintendents, Jimmie G. Tucker, was made superntendent of the Louisiana division at Alexandria, Another, A. C. LaCroix, has sucseeded him here as superintendent.

This is part of the pattern mentioned at the start, for it will be recalled that after the Western division offices were re-established here with W. T. Alexander as superintendent, the T&P pulled Mr. Alexander into Fort Worth to manage the Eastern division. And now that Mr. Alexander has moved on to the New York Central, the T&P has looked west again for a replacement. We're proud of that.

Short, Sharp Campaigns In Store

Often the runoff campaign for a major a very few weeks. office in Texas primaries generates more heat and excitement than the main event, as happened last year. The multitude of candidates in the first primary and the long lapse between start of the campaign and the voting tend to divide interest and onfuse the voter. In the runoff the candidates are down to two for each office, and the campaign is short and sharp.

Some candidates "get their feet wet" as early as January, when the first primary does not come until the last Saturday in July. The second primary falls on the last Saturday in August, and the survivors of the first really have to get a move on.

On the natoinal political scene, the two major parties have tumbled to the fact that long campaigns are needlessly expensive and time-killing. Fast airplanes, radie and television have made it possible for a candidate to show his face and his ignorance to tens of millions of people in

Accordingly the Democratic National Committee this year announced its national nominating convention would not be held until August 27, at a place not yet chosen, Republican bigwigs grumbled at this, mainly because for reasons of ecopomy the two parties have worked toward holding the conventions in the same city, using the same facilities, and the GOP leaders thought they should have had something to say about the dates.

However, there is nothing they can do about it; August 27 it is, for the Democrats; the GOP is believed to have some date in September in mind.

In any case, next year's campaign will be short and no doubt full of beans. Chi-cago and Philadelphia are the principal rivals for the 1956 site, but Atlantic City has put in a bid, without much hope because adequate television outlets are lacking there.

Wool Legislation Bad Precedent

So much legislation is passed by Congress that the significance of some measures is missed at the time of passage. The effects of the act only become apparent in time. And often there are clauses and paragraphs which, in practice, mean more than hits the eye as it wanders through the verblage of legislation, One such law is the National Wool Act of 1954, which opens the door to nefarious pro-

It is understood that the promoters of this act were L. M. Pexton of Denver and Robert Franklin who acted for the National Wool Growers Association.

The sheep industry, it is true, deteriorated before World War II, and during the war, with supplies cut off from Australia, there was a shortage which encoursheep. Wool was protected by the tariff in the normal manner. When it became clear that under the Eisenhower administration it would be impossible to raise the tariff on wool and mohair because the trend of tariff legislation would be downward on the general basis of a "trade not aid" program, the wool growers turned to other means to protect their industry.

The plan was evolved to get special legislation to benefit wool and this was done in a manner which opens the door wide for bad practices that require further investigation by Congress. For instance, the price support on shorn wool is fixed not to exceed 110 per cent of parity. Rigid price supports were generally regarded as high at 90 per cent of parity, and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson considered this too high and labored valiantly for flexible price supports. These wool growers over-reached themselves by demanding and getting 110 per cent of parity plus tariff protection. But they go further than that. Section

The Home Loan Bank Board says a record 7,200,000 homes will be built this year. Some of them will be almost as big as the car parked in the driveway.

Government statisticians say the earth is 4 500,000,000 years old. Any bets on whether it can make 4,500,000,005?

By FLETCHER KNEBEL

708 opens the door to a check-off to trade associations which, if it spreads, can be damaging to the American economy. Note the following:

"The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to enter into agreements with, or to approve agreements entered into between, marketing cooperatives, trade associations, or others engaged or whose members are engaged in the handling of wool, mohair. sheep, or goats or the products thereof for the purpose of developing and conducting on a national, state, or regional basis advertising and sales promotion programs for wool, mohair, sheep, or goats or the products thereof . . . "

This promotion fund can only be used after the Secretary of Agriculture has deproducers approve of such action. Now, I hear that turkey growers are after such a fund and it will not be long before those iterested in other commodities will be finding ways to do the same. It is bad legislation. In days before doles, checkoffs, welfare fund royalties and simflar devices were employed, this would be called "honest graft" for a trade associa-

The National Wool Growers Association in a pamphlet states, referring to ". . . a conference which President Ray W. Willoughby had with President Eisenhower' early in 1954 that "in that conference President Eisenhower made it very plain that the present administration would not sanction tariff increases. He stated that our nation could not afford to risk a possible misunderstanding over a matter of a few million dollars' increase in tariff which might nullify the billions now being spent for global defense of which no small part is international good will."

Several American industries find themselves in the same position as to wool growers. This is true of lead and sine of watches, ceramic wares, wallboards, electrical equipment, etc. Such industries are already suffering, some severely, from the tariff policies of this administration.

Each one of them followed the procedures of the National Wool Growers Association and went to Congress for a special act, providing not only price supports but a check-off for the trade association! We should have a National Zinc and Lead Act, a National Watches Act, etc., etc., and there would always be slick lawyers to add a novel clause which each would copy. It would not be long before price supports would not only be provided for agriculture but for industry as well. The entire economy would be on a dole with check-offs for trade associations.

It is surely time for Congress to study these problems with some idea to scientific investigation rather than partisan advan-

"I Am Proud To Present ... " Phooey! 8

Quite frequently after attending banquets I am convinced anew that most Master of Ceremonies need to apply for member-ship in our Toastmasters Club.

My reason is simple. The average MC is guilty of more forensic sins within a given space of time than almost any creature allowed to live.

Occasionally reference is made to a personal state of fright, which may be true or feigned but no longer of great humorous import. Then there is the approach by apology, one to which I stoop at the slight-est chance. For instance, "I'm sorry you have to put up with me, but I didn't know until two months ago I was going to have to do this," or "So-and-So didn't call me until 20 minutes ago." In the latter case it is a cruel crude dig at So-and-So, who may not be at fault at all; and if he were, what point is there of parading his shortcomings before the audience?

There is a feeling among MCs in general that they must crack a bunch of jokes (?) before considering the possibility of letting the program proceed. A lot of these stories old enough to be musty but not quite antiquated enough to be new again. It is only by the greatest of miracles that a story is told to illustrate a point or lead up to the next thing on the program. Done with discrection and skill, a good story can loosen the audience and make it more receptive. By the same token, a dull or off-shade one can pain the audience to the

Assuming that the MC has at last wrung

his listeners dry with his wit and cleverness, he now proceeds to the next stage, that of hackneyed phrases, and I quote:

"We have here this evening . . . "I am proud to present . . .

"A man who needs no introduction . . ." "I would like to say . . ." "In short, and in otherwords There also is the peril of introductions. Here the MC is in danger of exposing his ignorance or laziness, which is quite evident if he announces that "Mr. So-and-

So is on the program to address us this evening. I don't know much about him or what he wants to talk about, but I'm sure it's going to be good." Brother, it will have to be good to overcome such a wet towel as that. Perhaps the only thing worse than this sort of introduction is the proclivity to make a speech of equal length, commenting upon the points of the main talk and extolling its virtues. This is known as the climax Space forbids comment upon many major hazards of the uncomplex chore of keeping the program moving smoothly and steadily. There is one final one that I should like to mention. It is namely that point after the featured speaker has completed his talk .The MC rises and asks: 'Does anyone have anything to say?" Your darn right they do, and try and stop them once the bridle has been taken off. This is the slow death and the most horrible of all.

Long-Ago Junket Into Mexico

I had a lot of experience in a 10-day visit to Mexico City as a side tour in press-agentry. There was a lasting sense of frustration in finding out later I carried around for four days a news story of international significance without knowing it.

The state health officer, a young Dr. Beasley, was invited by the Mexican national ministry of health and sanitation, to visit the nation's capital to discuss border conditions. The Mexican government sent him a 4-person group roundtrip railroad pass, good from Laredo and back, and a single pass made to go along and publicize the trip. The newspaper let me make the junket.

In Mexico City, the cabinet member gave us a luncheon. It started promptly at 12 noon, ended a few minutes after 4 o'clock. Our interpreter remained silent. The Spanish spoken in the government was as strange to him as border Spanish was to us. Besides, the Mexican officials used English fluently.

Rumors were thick a revolution had budded out somewhere near Mexico City. There was a great excitement. I decided I liked Texas. I found out, just before a Saturday noon, those round-trip passes had to be signed, or validated, at the Ferrocarriles Nacionale. 1 got the group ticket and headed out for the railroad headquarters. Only vehicle I could get was a horse-drawn "cab." Passing the general postoffice, alongside which two streets dead-ended into the one I was on, w. saw a group of about 100 ragged prisoners, marched by about 25 soldiers, break and run toward me. The soldiers started shooting, but it wasn't important enough for my cabby to try to speedup his nag. It took about 10 minutes to pass that building. I got to the railroad building as everybody was leaving for the weekend, So Dr. Beasley gave me the ticket made out in the name of the doctor-interpreter, and I took off. As the 42-hour rail trip neared its end at Laredo, the conductor looked at my ticket, bearing a doctor's name, for about the third time, and remarked casually: "Doctor, as the only physician on this train, you have been subject to my call for any emergency medical services my passengers might have required." In Mexico City, I saw the payroll technique of the health department. A lot of employes went to the office one day a month, whatever they did the rest of the time, and received pay in the form of bags of coins weighing about a pound My former boss had stayed at the "Amhassador" Hotel in Mexico City, and I assumed that was where we would be. So I asked that my home mail be sent there. looked in the phone book, and there wasn't any such hotel. It wasn't until I started back that I learned in Mexico

Explosive Potential In Far East

WASHINGTON - While President Eisenhower's assurance that he alone would have responsibility for any action in the Formosa Straits other than self-defense quieted some of the doubts over the Eisenhower resolution, there is still an uneasy awareness that the explosive potentials of war are everywhere at hand in that area.

An important factor is public opinion. which has been deeply stirred by the action of the Chinese Communists in imprisoning 11 American filers as "spies." Another act involving the lives of Americans on duty in the area might set off an irresistible demand for action in reprisal. Presidents in the past have found themselves the victims rather than the masters of such tides of opinion. In connection with the current crisis the sparks that ignited one of America's "little wars" -

the Spanish-American War - are being

On Feb. 15, 1898, the battleship Maine was mysteriously blown up in Havana harbor with the loss of 266 lives. On March 21 a board of inquiry reported to the Navy Department that an exterior mine had caused the explosion. Opinion in this country had been inflamed by the outrages perpetrated against Cuban patriots fighting for their independence from dictatorial Spanish rule. This issue had been sensationally played up in the press for many months.

On April 20 President McKinley, who had tried to damp down war passions, approved a resolution demanding the withdrawal of Spain from Cuba and setting April 23 as the latest date for a reply. Two days later McKinley declared a block ade of Cuban ports and two days after that the Spanish government declared war on the United States, Spain was, of course, a weak and decadent power and the war ended four months later with a sweeping American victory. The casualties resulted chiefly from tropical disease.

Those who fear the ultimate consequences of the President's resolution are concerned that each vessel of the United States Seventh Fleet is a potential Maine. The destruction of an American warship would produce a violent reaction in this coun-

In the months leading up to the Spanish-American War there was an active "war party" anxious to start the fighting. Since 1949, when Chiang Kai-shek fled to Formosa with the remnants of his Nationalist armies, something like a "war party" has constantly agitated for bolder action to overthrow the Communist regime before it could consolidate its power on the Chinese mainland.

The leaders in this "war party" have in most instances been those with close connections with the Nationalists. One of the most-outspoken has been Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault (Ret.) who operated an airline in China with the close cooperation of the Nationalist regime. In an interview with the United Press while the Eisenhower resolution was before the Senate, Chennault called for an immediate showdown with Communist China. He said it would be much easier to defeat them today than a year from now, apparently on the theory that war is inevitable and had better come sooner rather than later.

Others have been less frank. Adm. Arthur W. Radford is generally credited with being the most-important official advocate of a policy that would prevent the Communists from consolidating their hold on the

The burden of restrait put on the President will not be very great. His predecessor, President Truman, was fiercely attacked for refusing to permit American bombers to operate against Chinese Communist bases during the Korean War.

Senate Ratifies SEATO Treaty

WASHINGTON UN-The Senate ratified by an 82-1 vote late yesterday the Southeast Asia Defense Treaty designed to combat either open aggression or subversion in the Far East.

Sen. Langer (R-ND) cast the lone dissenting vote, saying he thinks this country "ought to mind its own business and keep out of foreign entanglements all over Europe and Asia." Parties to the treaty, negotiated at Manila last fall, are the United States, Great Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Pakistan and Thailand. The treaty area specifically embraces three nonsigners: Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. Among the signers, only the Philippines has not yet ratified the treaty.

Prison Transfer

BLUM UP-Funeral services will be held today for Uncle Bud Rus-sell, 79, who for 40 years as transfer agent for the Texas Prison System took 115,000 convicts to the penitentiary and lost only one. Russell died Monday night at his ranch home in Hill County. Uncle Bud, who joined the prison system in 1905, retired 10 years

The colorful 6-footer was known as "One-Way Bud" by the prisoners who knew that once they were in his custody there wasn't much chance of getting away. The only convict he lost was one that escaped from the Waco jail where Russell left him overnight. His widow, one son and daughters survive. Uncle Bud was known as a careful man in his work. He always searched his prisoners and chained them up himself.

Then he would lead them to the prison truck and get them all inside the cage on wheels. It was said that he always could crowd in a couple more men when it seemed that the last six couldn't get in.

Story Is Corrected With Some Blushes

We blush to report this error, but something else was missing from an account carried in Monday's Herald about theft of clothing from the C. W. Mahoney clothes line at 1001 Stadium. As the copy was written it re counted that thieves had stolen "34 pairs of socks and eight panties " but the 34 fell at the end of one line and the next one with "pairs of socks and" was missing, making it read 34 panties. The compositors netwithstanding, Mrs. Mahoney insists the 34 pair were socks.

Martin Signs Five In Florida School

Three Hurlers Are In Group

The Daily Herald from Florida this morning, Bob (Pepper) Martin, owner-manager of the Big Spring Brones, announced he had signed five players out of the Fire Trucks School in Auburndale, Fla., and 'felt better about the team's pennant chances than any time since I returned to Big Spring."

Martin said the five were the 'cream of the crop' in the school and Pepper, in his short stay in Florida, was privileged to look at more than a hundred players.

The five are James Barr, a lefthanded pitcher; Tom Costello, a right-handed pitcher; Frank Billings, outfielder; Jack McMahon, infielder; and Artie DeCaesar, right-handed pitcher.

Barr, a native of Houston, Texas, attended McNeese State College in Lake Charles, La., and is a veteran of the Marine Corps. He is 21 years of age, 5-feet-11 and weighs 175 pounds. He will be a rookie.

Costello, 6'1" and 195 pounds, halls from Newcastle, Pa. He has no pro ball experience.

Billings, who lives in Washington, D. C., played with Bluefield Va., and Orlando, Fla., in 1953. He was not in pro ball in 1954. An outfielder who hits left and throws right. Frank weighs 185 and stands 6'2".

McMahon is a 'righthander all the way.' A resident of Duran, Ill., he stands 5'10" and weighs 160 and is 20 years of age.

He was originally signed by George Schepps, then of Corpus Christi, and later played briefly for Martin at Odessa. That was in 1951, when he wound up the season at Ada in the Sooner State League. He played high school baseball in

It's been nearly three decades since he saw a thousand variations a hook and a cross and tried to blink away a million stars in his championship bout in Philadelphia with a hungry young Marine named Gene Tunney, but the sports-reading gentry are legion who still regard Jack Dempsey as the greatest fisticuffer of them all, pound for pound or otherwise.

Baugh Assumes Post As HSU Head Mentor

By CLAYTON HICKERSON

ABILENE, Tex. th-Samuel Adrian Baugh, the "slingin' Sammy" old Washington Redskins, is coming back to football as a college

The gangling guy from Sweetwater, whose passing records with the old 'Skins may always be the goal of the youngsters, signed a 5-year contract Tuesday night to coach Hardin-Simmons University's Cowboys, an aggregation metimes strong and always col-

H-SU officials said they thought t was Baugh's great love of football, not any financial gain, that brought about his decision to take the job. Only pressure from the athletic committee persuaded him, Baugh said, adding that he had been offered better salaried coaching jobs in the past.

He succeeds Murray Evans who resigned Sunday under what he termed pressure from the athletic committee. Baugh then said he wouldn't take the head coach job but would continue to "help out"

It was Baugh, who made Southwest Conference football history at Texas Christian as a standout passer, who first brought capacity crowds to Washington Stadium. He did it with explosive touchdown passes thrown from every corner

And it was Baugh, following game here Tuesday night, such football greats as All-Amerisuch football greats as All-Americas Bobby Wilson of SMU and Harrison Stafford of Texas in the can clinch the South Half crown Odessa C team, starting at 6:30 Southwest Conference, who brought by stopping O'Donnell next Tues-Texas Christian up from an un-known denominational school to one of the nation's most widely known football powers.

For six of the 16 years he played at Washington he was the National cootball League's leading passer Marshall credited him with making an otherwise mediocre team feared professional outfit. Time and again the lean, frail-looking Baugh stood behind a wavering line and fired touchdown passes amazing distances. Often they turned what seemed certain defeat into Redskin victories. The Washington stands groaned as befty linesmen pile-drived Baugh into Griffith Stadium's turf. But the durable Texas cowhand usually bounced up first-to pass and pass again.

In 1947, after a decade in the rough pro game, Baugh enjoyed his finest hour. He set league records for throwing the most passes (354), making the most yards passing (an amazing 2,988 yards), and for completing the most passes (210). Of the 354 thrown, he had only 15 intercepted.

Hardin-Simmons is a Border Conference member with an enrollment of approximately 1,700 students. With Evans as head coach and Baugh as an associate coach, dividing time between his nearby ranch and the campus, the Cowboys won 4 and lost 6 is the
