

Exchange Of Prisoners Will Start On April 20

Red Officers Ask Truce Talk Renewal

By GEORGE A. MCARTHUR
MUNSAN, Sunday, April 12 (AP)—The U. N. Command and the Reds today agreed to start a pre-armistice exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war at Panmunjom April 20.

The agreement to exchange disabled POWs was signed at Panmunjom yesterday by liaison officers of both sides.

A successful exchange could be the first step toward resumption of full-scale armistice talks, suspended Oct. 8. The Red liaison officers yesterday proposed a renewal of the talks. The U. N. Command has not yet replied.

In the trade, 600 Allies, including 120 Americans, will be exchanged for 5,800 sick and wounded North Korean and Chinese Reds.

The Allies have announced they would be ready to start the transfer within 72 hours after the Reds acknowledge they are ready, indicating the trade could begin Wednesday at the earliest.

The Communist proposals for resumption of full-scale talks were under study in Tokyo by the U. N. Far East command, Gen. Mark Clark, and Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior armistice delegate.

Clark's public information officer in Tokyo said it was not known if the general would give his answer at the next meeting of high ranking liaison officers or hold it up several days. No liaison officer meeting was scheduled for today.

(The Communist Peiping radio, heard in Tokyo, said "the eyes of all peace-loving people in the world are on Panmunjom to see if the American government has good faith for an armistice in Korea.")

It added:

"The crucial test of this sincerity is the immediate resumption of the armistice negotiations to settle the entire POW question."

The quick agreement on sick and wounded and a new Red proposal submitted Friday appeared to meet the Allied requirement for resuming the big talks.

There were hopes that the negotiations, now in their 22nd month, might finally bring some Korean settlement.

The momentous agreement on sick and wounded was reached after only six days of short, businesslike meetings, devoid of personalities or invective. Once the exchange starts it will take the Reds six days to hand over the 120 Americans; 20 Britons, 15 Canadians, Turks, Greeks and Dutch and 445 South Koreans at the rate of 100 per day.

The U. N. Command will require 12 days to turn over 700 Chinese and 5,000 North Koreans at the rate of 500 per day.

"This is going to be a very ticklish and emotional situation," said Rear Adm. John C. Daniel, head of the Allied liaison group which signed the agreement. "We want to handle it as carefully as possible."

An Allied reception team of 300, including nurses, doctors, ambulance drivers, security officers and correspondents will oversee the exchange.

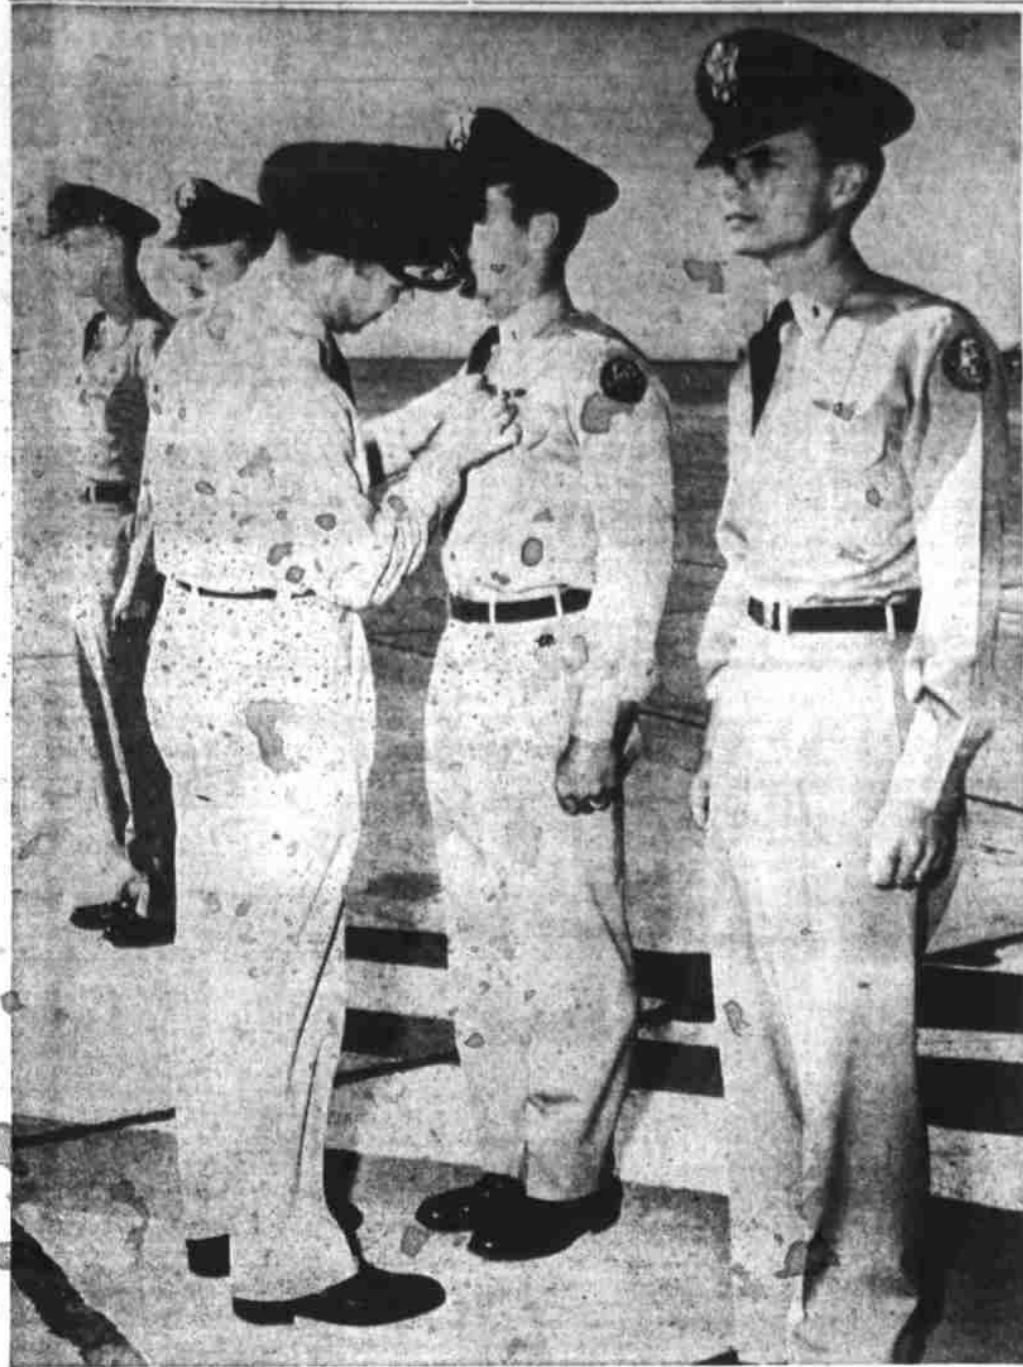

The actual reception will take place in Panmunjom tents. Communist ambulances will drive in from the north and halt and the sick and wounded will be turned over to Allied medical staffs. The Communists will be given a receipt for each prisoner received. U. S. ambulances on the south side of the tent will move the men received to Freedom Village, 14 miles down the road near Munsan, or they will be flown there by helicopter. From Freedom Village the returned men—some captives for nearly three years—will be flown to hospitals in Japan. When their health permits, they will be airlifted home.

The Red prisoners will be handled in the second tent in similar order.

The senior Communist liaison delegate, North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, emphasized the eagerness of the Reds to resume the over-all prisoner exchange question—an issue stalemated for at least a year. Said Lee:

"Inasmuch as both sides have signed the agreement for repatriation of sick and wounded captured personnel and our side has in addition put forth a new proposal for settling the entire question of repatriation of prisoners, our side considers that the plenary sessions should be resumed immediately."

Outpost Texas Changes Hands For 12th Time

By FORREST EDWARDS
SEOUL, Sunday, April 12 (AP)—Stubborn South Korean Infantrymen once more knocked Chinese Reds off bitterly-disputed Outpost Texas in savage fighting between midnight and dawn today.

It was the 12th time the Korean Central Front hill, has changed hands in bloody combat—much of it hand-to-hand—and down the shell-scarred slopes since the Reds first grabbed it from the Republic of Korea troops Easter Sunday.

The U. N. Command said the ROKs threw back three Red counterattacks by groups of 40 to 175 Chinese in storming the hill this morning. The Reds broke contact after each of their attacks, failed to stop the oncoming ROKs, the command said.

The command said the situation was "fluid" in the early morning hours "with both sides endeavoring to gain undisputed possession of the ground." It called the pre-dawn fighting "intense."

In the air action Saturday, U. S. Sabre jets shot three Red MIGs out of North Korean skies and an unidentified light plane, presumed Communist, dropped two small bombs and some leaflets on U. S. 10th Corps headquarters on the Eastern Front.

Contents of the leaflets were not disclosed.

A spokesman said no damage or casualties resulted when two 100-pound bombs were dropped about 9:45 p. m. at the corps headquarters. The Eighth Army said there was an alert, but a fifth Air Force spokesman said he knew nothing about the incident.

In addition to the three MIGs destroyed, the Air Force said pilots claimed three MIGs damaged.

Despite the signing of an agreement for the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners at Panmunjom both the air and ground war continued at a bitter pace.

Governors Called To Capital For Cold War Briefing Session

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower today summoned the 48 governors to an extraordinary briefing session at the White House, in a bid for national unity as the cold war enters a new phase.

He said the meeting, to be held May 4 and 5, will give the chief executives of the states a confidential, first-hand picture "of the present state of the world and the role of the United States in it."

Up for discussion will be "current developments in the field of international relations, the American defense effort, the problems of national security, and an analysis of our fiscal problems as related thereto."

The meeting, believed to be the first of its kind, comes at a moment in history when the new regime in Russia is embarked on a "peace offensive." It comes also at a time when the new U. S. administration is struggling with the task of resolving conflicting pressures generated by the free world's defense needs, and the attempts to balance the American budget.

While administration plans have not jelled with finality, there are indications that a limited slowdown in Western defense preparations may be in the making.

Indications are that high officials have decided the Western world should build its defenses for the long pull—say 20 or 30 years—instead of to meet a crisis in the next three or four years.

The governors' aid in explaining and supporting such alterations of policy could stand the administration in good stead.

For example there has been talk that, in recasting defense policies, military leaders might consider closing out some of the training divisions of the Army. Any move to close down, or curtail, military facilities always arouses some apprehension in the communities where they are located, because of the possible impact on local trade and business.

In announcing the invitations to the governors had gone out, the President said:

"I am firmly convinced that this conference will produce a better understanding of the need which I feel for the full co-operation of each of you in dealing with the variety of problems which confront unity as the cold war enters a new phase.

The governors have their own conference each year to discuss their own affairs and they have invited the President to address their annual meeting this year in June at Seattle. The President has the invitation under consideration.

While there have been numerous meetings of state officials called by the White House before on such matters as health and education, officials said today they could not recall one of the scope being arranged by Eisenhower.

Asked for background on the conference call, James C. Hargety, White House press secretary, said the meeting is simply "part of the President's philosophy of getting the governors to participate in their nation."

The President told the state heads that in these critical times the idea of national and state leaders working side by side to give the United States enlightened leadership warrants vigorous support.

Saying he was sure they would find the conference a "worthwhile occasion," the Chief Executive invited them to open session, then turn them over to members of his Cabinet and other administration officials. They will brief the state leaders.

Rocky Mt. Region Is Lashed By Blizzard

DENVER, April 11 (AP)—A snowstorm that started at spring battered the Rocky Mountain region today with a fury that at times reached the ferocity of a January blizzard.

The snowfall, beginning yesterday afternoon after nearly a week of lighter flurries and rain, was the heaviest to larrup the high country since the blizzard of mid-February.

With highways slippery and the wind stepping up ground blizzards that severely cut visibility, motorists were urged by the American Automobile Association branch here to keep their cars off country roads unless absolutely necessary.

This applied to mountain passes and flat land travel alike.

Paul Swisher, state agriculture commissioner, said peach and apricot trees in blossom in Western Colorado were damaged badly by below-freezing temperatures.

So far only one death has been caused by the storm. Mrs. Harriet Wilson, 65, of Tribune, Kan., was injured fatally last night in a two-car collision on an icy stretch east of Denver.

The snow began tapering off in Denver this afternoon after reaching 7 inches. It spread into the dry land area of Eastern Colorado, leaving more than 9 inches at Kit Carson and 5 inches at Lamar in the southeast.

Airline and bus schedules were knocked off beats last night and early today and planes operating in and out of the municipal airport here were flown on instruments. Air and bus traffic got back to normal today.

A plane carrying Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany to San Francisco had to circle the airport here for an hour last night before it could land on a snow-covered runway.

A mass of warm, moist air from the southeast, colliding with a cold overcast, led to the heavy April gale which advanced southward into New Mexico and eastward into Kansas and Southwest Nebraska.

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

If you're wondering what figure to quote on city population, you can use 25,000 with sound assurance. Based on formulae which were accurate on the 1950 decennial census, utility connections now indicate 24,967 people, not including the state hospital or Webb AFB. This is 17 per cent more than in 1950. Increase since the first year shows to be 1,300 plus.

Giving Awards

Col. Ernest F. Wackwitz Jr., Webb AFB commanding officer, pins the Distinguished Flying Cross to the chest of Lt. Robert L. Forrester in Wing Review ceremonies yesterday at Webb. Over 3,000 officers and airmen were on hand for the occasion, which was climaxed with a passing review by the squadrons.

4 Webb Officers Presented With DFCs At Review

Four USAF fighter pilots, all veterans of Korean combat, were awarded Distinguished Flying Crosses at Webb AFB Saturday in a colorful military review ceremony attended by more than 3,000 officers and airmen.

Crew chiefs worked far into Friday night to remove T-28 aircraft from the north end of the concrete parking apron to provide a space big enough for the large mass of troops to maneuver in the complex pageant.

Col. Henry S. Tyler Jr., base executive officer, commanded the officers, cadets and airmen as they marched in salute to Col. Ernest F. Wackwitz Jr., base commander, and to the four fighter pilots receiving the awards.

The hundreds of marching airmen were led through their paces by the martial music of Webb's 509th AF Band, in its first public appearance.

Several hundred civilian spectators and wives and children of the parading troops viewed the spectacle.

Fighter pilots receiving the honors were Capt. James D. Alexander, who received the fourth Oak Leaf Cluster to his Distinguished Flying Cross, and Lt. Jesse B. Williams, Lt. Robert L. Forrester, and Lt. Jackie R. Douglas.

The medals were presented by direction of the President of the United States for distinguished achievement in aerial flight while in Korean combat. Three of the officers were F-80 "Shooting Star" pilots, while the fourth flew the F-51 "Mustang." All the men are now Webb AFB flight instructors.

Lt. Col. Forrest E. Mears led Group One in the review. Group two was led by Cadeff Lt. Col. Paul Houle, and Lt. Col. John L. Campbell led Group Three. Captain John A. Thomas Jr. read the citations.

Major William C. Whalin, Webb base adjutant, served as wing adjutant for the review ceremonies.

Night Sessions Due To Get Senate Vote On Tidelands Bill

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today he will hold the Senate in night sessions next week in an effort to reach a vote on the tidelands bill.

Taft, the Republican leader, said Monday's session may be short but that senators can count on about eight hours of debate on Tuesday and Wednesday, with even more time devoted to the issue later in the week.

"I am hopeful we can get an agreement to limit the debate and to vote on the bill," Taft said. "I am going to do everything I can to bring it to a vote next week."

Lamesa Baby Drowns In Lake Brownwood

BROWNWOOD, April 11 (AP)—Jerry Smith, 19 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Smith of Lamesa, drowned in Lake Brownwood today.

The parents and friends had placed a motor on their boat and went into the cabin for equipment. They returned to find the boy had fallen in the water 10 to 15 minutes earlier.

George Mims, Civic Leader, Dies Here

Weldon George Mims, 61, veteran employe of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company and a community leader, died in a hospital here Saturday at 4:15 p. m.

Death was due to an heart involvement, but it came as a shock to his wide circle of friends. Mr. Mims had been treated a week ago but had returned home. Friday evening, however, he had to be removed from his home at 1804 Main to the hospital. This time he failed to rally as he had before.

Services are pending word from relatives, but the rites likely will be said Monday. The remains are at the Eberly-River Chapel.

Son of a pioneer, Big Spring couple, George Mims had been connected with the T&P for more than three score years. He started to work as a youth of 19 as a call boy, but shortly thereafter was given a job as locomotive foreman. He served in this capacity for 28 years and then was promoted to engineer. For approximately 25 years he has served in this capacity.

A week ago, Flex Jarratt had delivered a special pin to him at his hospital room. This denoted 40 years of continuous membership in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. He was, of course, a member of the B of L E and recently was elected first chief of the Engineers' lodge. Mr. Mims had served many years as recording secretary for the Firemen.

Interested and active in public affairs, he was elected to the city commission in 1946 and served two years as a member of that body. His record made him a natural choice in 1949 when the city commission appointed him one of four directors on the Colorado River Municipal Water District board.

Mr. Mims also was active in the Democratic party and had served a delegate from the 19th Congressional District on occasions. He served several terms as a member of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Mary Alice Mims, a step-son, Dr. H. B. Midland; three grandchildren, Sue Lewis Mills, 12, Lynda Frances Mills, 6, and Bobby

Riots Break Out In Minnesota Prison

STILLWATER, Minn., April 11 (AP)—Small fires burned in cell blocks at Stillwater prison tonight as 1,000 rioting convicts smashed windows and shouted profanities at prison officials.

The prisoners had been locked in their cells before the rioting started at 9:15 a. m.

Edwin T. Swenson, Maryland State Penitentiary warden who accepted the job of Stillwater warden and took command of the riot-ridden prison at noon, told newsmen:

"We're not going to be driven into a corner."

Swenson said the rioting was apparently being kept alive "by a hard core of about 100 anti-social inmates, mostly psychopathic cases and sexual deviates."

Prison officials indicated they planned to move the riot ringleaders, one by one, to solitary confinement.

Rioting broke out when the prisoners were told there would be no further negotiations on a list of "grievances" such as requests for a prison commissary, smoking after breakfast and baths twice a week.

Unrest began within the gray stone walls of the big prison on Tuesday, when the inmates refused to eat liver patties served at their noon meal. The men claimed the meat was "green and rotten," although the prison chief, Louis Gilles, said the meat mixture was "delicious."

The prisoners "sat down" on their jobs in prison shops Tuesday afternoon but agreed to return to work the next morning after Acting Warden Carl Jackson promised to meet with a committee of 65 prisoner representatives to hear their "grievances."

Jackson, warden at Minnesota's St. Cloud Reformatory, had taken over direction of Stillwater prison a few weeks earlier when Warden Leo Utecht quit. Utecht said he was "fed up with the way this institution is being pushed into state politics."

Duster Hits City, Snow In Panhandle

Although Big Spring and area got off with the temperature gauge in the high 40's last night, other parts of Texas didn't fare so well.

It was snowing in the Upper Panhandle region Saturday night, only a few hours after heat records were broken. Light snow was reported at Dalhart and other points.

A cold and dust-filled wind whipped Amarillo. Also dust was blowing about the Big Spring area at a fast clip Saturday evening, with a slight drop in temperature.

A heavy thunderstorm with hail stones the size of golf balls lashed Greenville in East Texas for about 20 minutes, damaging cars and some crops. Tyler was also reported in the center of a hail storm.

Legislative Hearing Set Monday On Changes In Court Districts

By MARTHA COLE
AUSTIN, April 11 (UP)—Longtime political foes of South Texas are expected here Monday for a legislative hearing on reshuffling the courts.

"I've heard that men who haven't spoken to each other in years will be up here," said Rep. Hulon Brown of Midland, chairman of the group conducting the hearing.

The controversy centers on the 79th District of Jim Wells, Duval, Brooks and Starr Counties, its judge is Woodrow Laughlin of Alice, a friend of South Texas political leader George Parr.

The bill proposes to leave Jim Wells, Brooks and Starr Counties in the 79th; take Duval out and put it into the 111th District Court with Webb County (Laredo).

That would separate Parr, who lives in Duval County, and Laughlin, who lives in Jim Wells County, as far as district court is concerned.

The re-shuffling is part of a judicial redistricting bill for the entire state, sponsored by Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen.

A subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee has been conducting hearings for two weeks, afternoon and night, on the bill, taking it up by areas.

They hope to have it ready for full committee action Tuesday, at 2:30 p. m.

"We've run into surprisingly little serious conflict so far," said Maury Maverick Jr., San Antonio, a subcommittee member. "We've had some good hearings, and a lot of credit should go to the good humor and patience of Hulon Brown."

The subcommittee includes Frank Owens of El Paso and Morris Cobb of Amarillo.

Texas' judicial system has grown up piecemeal. Never has there been a general judicial redistricting. Courts have been added, some combined, and fe. eliminated in piecemeal fashion.

The Constitution says there shall be a supreme court, courts of civil appeals, a court of criminal appeals, district courts, county courts, commissioners courts and courts of justices of the peace. It says the Legislature may establish all the recommendations of a committee of the Texas State Bar, who worked on the problem almost two years.

Small Teacher Group Revealed As Red Agents

WASHINGTON, April 11 (UP)—Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) said today the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has "overwhelming evidence that there is a small but dangerous group of teachers" who are Communist agents.

Jenner gave no estimate of the number in a statement announcing the subcommittee is making available for public distribution a volume of testimony taken recently in its probe for Red influence in schools and colleges.

In a preliminary report last January, the subcommittee said there are "many hundreds of teachers who are Communists."

Jenner said he hoped educators would study the latest volume of evidence and "keep the subcommittee's objectives in mind."

"The subcommittee is not concerned with telling the universities and colleges what to teach or how to teach," he said. "It is anxious that the principle of academic freedom be fully protected, both from without and from within."

Jenner said, however, that "official statements of leaders of the Communist conspiracy describe youth as a prime objective of their efforts at subversion and emphasize the high value placed on 'the professionals,' including educators, as party agents in this campaign."

Father-Son Team Complete One Link In Conservation Program

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Elmer Johnson and his son, Harold, co-operators with the Mitchell County Soil Conservation District in the North Lorraine area, have completed the first link in a long-time conservation program on their 220-acre farm, located just north and west of Lone Wolf Mountain, according to Palmer Wylie, work unit conservationist with the Colorado City unit of the Soil Conservation Service.

This father-son team of conservationists, Wylie says, have done considerable conservation work in the past which helped with their erosion problems but which did not as completely as they wished, eliminate the problem.

"So," says Wylie, "they have started all over again this year."

Wylie explains that the Johnsons had three ditches left open across their field to handle the outside water problem. This series of ditches had cut one of their fields into three smaller fields resulting in extra turn rows, short-rows and lots of extra turning with farm equipment. It was decided that these three ditches could be grouped together into one large waterway of sufficient size to handle the water without washing and wide enough to make a pasture strip. This waterway will handle the same water as the three ditches handled previously and will provide a larger field on either side of the waterway.

Wylie says the other ditches will be filled in and diverted into the waterway by diversion terraces after the new waterway is well grassed over to prevent washing. The area of cropland above the diversion terraces will be sowed to adapted grasses. All lower terraces will be corrected and rebuilt to SCS specifications. The present farmsteads will be moved to a new location on a proposed farm-to-market road and the small pasture areas around these farmsteads will be cleaned up and put into cultivation. These are only a few of the planned changes, according to the SCS specialist.

This past week the Johnsons completed the earth work on the new waterway, using one of the old ditches as a location and hiring maintainers to fill in and level up an area about 1,300 feet long, 120 feet wide and one and one-half feet deep. It was built with a slightly oval shaped bottom to keep runoff water near the center on small rains. The waterway is only about eight to 10 inches deep, or below the ground level, but the extra capacity comes from ridges along the sides. This waterway was seeded broadcast to Blue Panic Grass to furnish the needed protection and cover. It will be fenced and grazed, and both Wylie and the Johnsons believe it may become the most valuable piece of land on the entire farm.

About 100 feet of the outlet ends of the diversions have also been constructed and seeded to Blue Panic at the same time so that adequate cover can be obtained before turning outside water into the new channel.

Wylie says the Johnsons have carefully followed the proper sequence in performing these conservation operations by first building the waterway, and secondly by immediately seeding it. He says that as soon as this structure has sufficient Blue Panic cover the diversions will be built and also seeded, and the lower terraces will be corrected and rebuilt.

The SCS specialist says this is a waterway of the type that is needed on at least 200 farms in Mitchell County which have outside water problems.

Who got the most from our customer's dollar?

The employees?

NO! In wages, salaries and benefits, our employees received 14 3/4% out of every dollar paid in by Union Oil customers during 1952.

Our payroll, including benefits, totaled $50 1/2 million. Divided among our 8,766 employees, this amounted to an average of $5,810 per person.

The shareowners?

NO! Our profits in 1952 were $27 1/2 million, or 8 3/4% of each customer's dollar. Of this amount, our preferred and common shareowners received 3 3/4% per customer dollar. Total dividends paid to our 40,802 owners of common shares averaged $261.34 per person.

The remaining profits of 4 1/2% per customer dollar had to be returned to the business to help pay for replacement of worn-out equipment and necessary expansion required by the West's greatly accelerated demand for petroleum products.

The tax collectors?

YES! The federal, state and local tax collectors got 18 3/4% of every dollar paid in by Union Oil customers. In other words, they got more than five times as much as the owners of the business and one quarter more than Union Oil employees.

The remaining 58 1/4% of the customer's dollar was divided among the many costs of doing business: raw materials, transportation; interest on borrowed money; and wear and tear of facilities and exhaustion of oil and gas reserves.

To sum it up—1952 was the best sales year in our 62-year history. Yet the 40,802 owners of our business received only a fraction over 3% from every customer's dollar. That's far less than many people in this country believe goes to the owners of a big business.

E. Germany Due For Disastrous Food Shortage

BONN, Germany, April 11 (AP)—The West German government reported today that Communist-ruled East Germany is suffering from a food shortage which may become a disastrous famine by summer unless relief measures are undertaken soon.

The Federal Ministry for All-German Affairs said the Russian zone's 18 million population is seriously short of potatoes, grains and fats.

It said these shortages were due chiefly to three factors—poor harvests, failure of the East European Soviet satellite states to fulfill promised deliveries, and Communist collectivization measures which have caused thousands of farmers to flee to the West.

In addition, the zone has to make huge food deliveries to the Soviet occupation forces.

Bonn parliamentary sources said West Germany is prepared to make quick relief shipments to the East zone if the Russians will permit. They suggested that the Western Allies ask the Russians for the permission. West German citizens were urged to send as many private food parcels as possible.

Once a bread-basket of Germany, the Russian zone has experienced periodic food shortages since the war.

But the current shortage is regarded so serious that West Berlin organization with good information sources in the Russian zone recently made an urgent appeal for shipment of 9,000 tons of fats and 270,000 tons of potatoes to the East German population through May and June.

West German experts estimated that the Russian zone needs 1,400,000 pounds of potatoes to tide it over to the next harvest but has scarcely one-fifth of this amount on hand.

"And when the huge demands of the Soviet Army are considered," Bonn government sources said, "it is quite likely the civilian population won't get any potatoes at all."

West Texas Day Set At Dallas Fair Show

Next Sunday has been designated as West Texas Day at the Southwestern Sports and Vacation show at Fair Park, Dallas.

The all-West Texas display will be one of the largest and most complete presentations in the show, which is the largest of its kind in the U. S.

In this connection, Wendell Bedfiek, director of public information and tourist development for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, announced the beginning of an all-West Texas vacation and travel promotion service. This will include a special magazine, "West Texas," the exhibit in the sports and vacation show, an inquiry service through which information about recreational facilities, etc., may be answered systematically. It is advertising on travel pages; illustrated stories for travel pages.

Carrier Of Month

To Jimmy Holmes, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Holmes, 202 Lexington, has gone the Herald's award as Carrier of the Month. Jimmy, who is a B plus average student in the eighth grade, carries Route No. 45, the territory east of Owens and south of 16th. In amassing 320 merits for the month, he had few complaints; handled his route with businesslike dispatch and paid his paper bill promptly. With the Herald for 11 months, he has earned enough to buy a motor scooter. He likes his route because, by attending to business, he can get through quickly and have time left for other activities. His award earns a free meal and free picture show for his family and a $5 cash for himself as well as a trophy to keep for the month.

Mrs. Hobby Is Sworn In As A Cabinet Member

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—With President Eisenhower looking on, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby was sworn in today as the first secretary of health, education and welfare.

Her salary immediately went up $5,000, from $17,500 to $22,500 a year.

"Now your rank is no longer simulated," Eisenhower smiled as he handed his new Cabinet officer her commission. "Now you are a real secretary."

The 48-year-old Texas brunette had been attending Cabinet meetings as administrator of the Federal Security Agency. Under legislation effective today, the FSA disappeared and was replaced by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which could become known in the headlines as HEW.

Mrs. Hobby, World War II commandant of the Women's Army Corps, is the second woman ever to serve in the Cabinet. The first was Miss Frances Perkins, who was secretary of labor under the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The new secretary received the oath in Eisenhower's office from Frank K. Sanderson, White House administrative officer. Attending the ceremony were her husband, former Gov. William P. Hobby of Texas, and a group of senators, representatives, associates and friends.

Mrs. Hobby wore a navy blue wool suit and a small white hat. A former Houston newspaper publisher, she is a Democrat but she supported Eisenhower for President last fall.

Officials said there would be no immediate organizational changes in the old FSA setup.

Keese Re-Elected As Dean-Registrar At Junior College

B. M. Keese has been re-elected by the board of trustees of Howard County Junior College as dean-registrar.

Keese, a veteran West Texas educator, has been connected with HCJC since 1948 when he became an instructor. The following year he was made registrar and last year was named dean-registrar. In the period between the election of Dr. W. A. Hunt as president and the time he was able to report for duty, Keese served as acting administrator.

Since 1924 he has been connected in some way with teaching. It was not until 1932, however, that he completed work for his M. A. degree at West Texas State College. In 1938 he was awarded his M. A. in Education from Texas Tech. After accepting an instructional appointment with the Air Force, he took technical training at Indianapolis, Ind. in electronics in 1943. With the war over, he joined the Veterans Administration in vocational rehabilitation work in 1946, a post he held until joining the HCJC staff.

Shivers Says Texas Not Sure For Demos

PITTSBURGH, April 11 (AP)—Whether Texas returns to the Democratic fold is largely up to the national party leadership, Gov. Shivers of Texas said tonight.

The big state definitely can't be considered "in the bag" for the Democrats any longer, said Shivers, who successfully led the fight to carry Texas for Republican President Eisenhower in November.

It was the second time Texas had ever gone Republican, and Shivers became the first governor elected as the nominee of both parties.

He spoke on the Texas political outlook at the "Amen Corner" banquet for some 900 business, political and professional leaders from throughout the country.

Shivers deplored proposals to eliminate from the party all elements who do not think as he does.

"That is not the road to recovery for the Democratic Party; it is the road to oblivion," the governor declared.

"Unquestionably another effort will be made by certain elements of the party to purge all conservatives, with special emphasis upon the Southern wing," he predicted.

"Such an effort almost succeeded at Chicago last year. And already the president of the CIO has publicly called for a realignment of political parties that would, in effect, leave the Democratic Party in the hands of the extreme left-wingers."

"I do not believe that the Democrats of Texas will follow Walter Reuther (CIO president) in 1956," Shivers said.

Shivers said conservative Democrats all over the nation "are wondering if there is a place left for them in the party of their fathers."

"Unless the present leadership of the national Democratic Party recognizes and accepts that fact, we will see within the next decade the spectacle of a great political party deliberately committing suicide," he continued.

Shivers said the Texas victory for Eisenhower did not mean the state had gone Republican—"It went Eisenhower."

"Even more clearly, it went anti-Reuther," he said.

"Shivers also viewed the Texas presidential vote as a decision 'in favor of principle over party label.'"

"It would be a mistake to assume that by this simple but emotionally difficult action a million Texas Democrats turned themselves into Republicans," the speaker said.

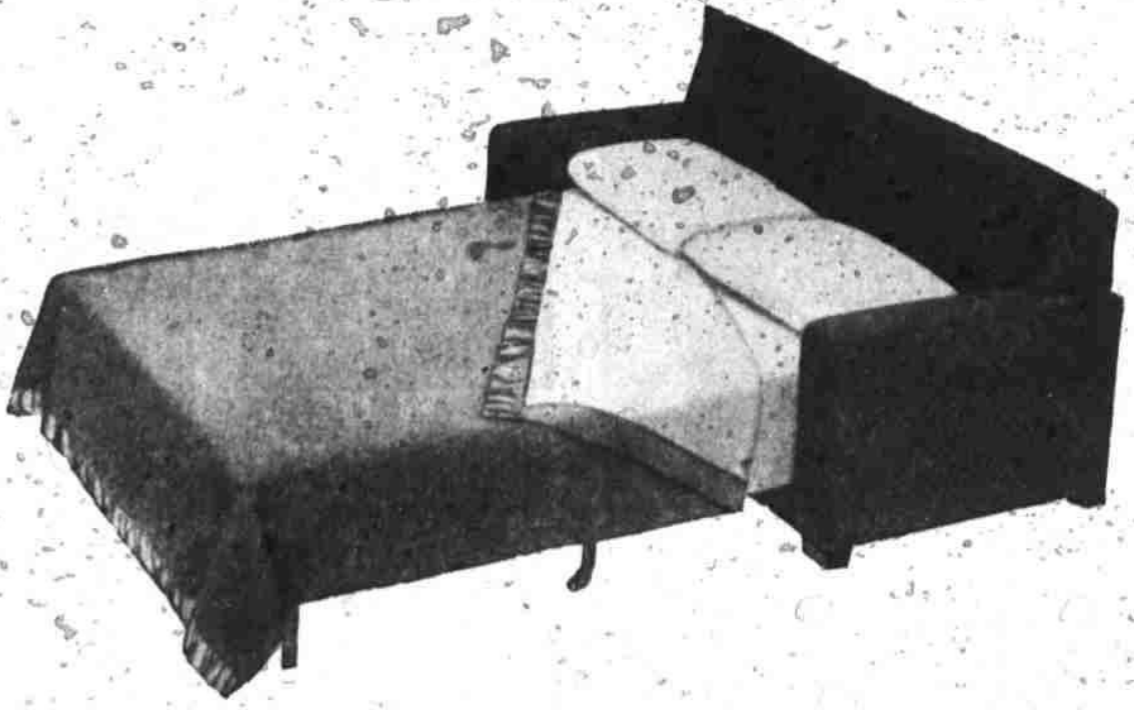

Shivers said he thought the general attitude of Texas toward the beginning efforts of the Eisenhower administration is this: "So far, so good. We're still waiting and watching."

5th Atom Blast Of 1953 Is Shot Off In Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 11 (AP)—The fifth atomic blast of 1953, apparently less powerful than some before, illuminated the pre-dawn desert sky today as the U. S. government continued its dramatic experiments with nuclear explosive power.

To observers this atomic blast seemed smaller than some of the other shots this spring. Viewed from here the flash was not as bright as some of the earlier ones. The explosion produced a relatively small white cloud, not visible in Las Vegas.

A sound wave reached this gambling town seven minutes after the orange-colored explosion and was heard in two separate low rumbles. But the jarring shock wave which often rattles Las Vegas was not felt.

By comparison, last Monday a shock wave—hottest of the current series—broke a plate glass window in a downtown store.

Today's experimental atomic device was detonated at 4:45 a. m. atop a 100-foot tower at Yucca Flat and the Atomic Energy Commission in its usual cautious announcement said "desired effects were obtained."

It was the first time the AEC has announced use of a 100-foot tower. In most previous tower shots the height has been given as 300 feet. The tower used today was completely destroyed. In the third test this spring a 300-foot tower was only partially vaporized.

Vital Election Set Wednesday In So. Africa

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, April 11 (AP)—White South Africans decide in a fateful election Wednesday whether they intend bossing the black man with the gloves on or off.

That choice has been posed before the country's 1,200,000 voters by Prime Minister Daniel Malan's party of determined Nationalists and the opposition led by Jacobus Gideon Nel Strauss.

Hinging on the outcome, is whether the tough ideas of the Dutch-descended Boer or middle-road British ideas will triumph in the future of this 43-year-old British Commonwealth state.

Despite slogans revolving around high living costs, housing shortages and the constitution, the election is being fought over race and color policies.

Malan's government and the United party, which the late Field Marshal Jan Smuts helped to create, agree that the white man must remain boss in South Africa. They differ on how this is to be done.

By word and deed the Nationalists have made it plain they are ready to cold storage traditional forms of parliamentary rule if this will insure white supremacy.

The opposition argues that the same objectives can be achieved by less drastic means, and has pledged to restore basic freedoms which Malan's men threaten.

The bitterness of the campaigning has caused all police leave to be stopped. Plainclothes detectives attend most political meetings. That has not stopped ugly brawling. Bricks, tomatoes and eggs have been heaved at opposition speakers, and more than once meetings have ended in riot amid cries of "Hell, Hitler."

Against this background the odds seem to be on the stern, crusading 78-year-old Malan narrowly winning back power over the country which is bigger than Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Airman Charged In DWI Case

Claude A. Skinner, airman at Webb Air Force Base, was charged with driving while intoxicated after arrest Friday night following an accident.

Skinner was driving toward the main gate at Webb when the accident occurred. Officers said his car hit another car parked on the side of the road just north of the base entrance.

The front of Skinner's car was caved in, and the back of the other automobile was damaged. Skinner was hospitalized at the base with a broken finger and cut hand.

Highway Patrolman Jack Taylor, who investigated, said that Skinner did not have a driver's license on him.

An accident in the 1000 block of East 8th Street Friday resulted in the arrest of another man. He was fined $150 in corporation court Saturday for driving without a license and leaving the scene of a wreck. Officers said he would be transferred to county authorities on charges of driving while intoxicated.

An accident was also reported about 2 a. m. Saturday on the Snyder highway. Details of the wreck were not reported as vehicles were moved before officials arrived.

IKE WATCHES AFFAIR

Government Brass Is Given A Ribbing

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—A State Department expedition, searching frantically for a Republican foreign policy, dug up only fossils of a leekass-Acheson vintage—to the anguish of "super" Secretary of State Joe McCarthy.

President Eisenhower's "millionaire" Cabinet, divested of business holdings to enter government, gathered in hobo rags around a sputtering campfire to sing, "brother, could you spare a dime?"

And the sage of all Washington, the "inside" source for all the insiders, turned out to be one Cemetery Potest, caddy for the golfer at a local country club.

Thus, with traditional gusto and lack of awe for the mighty, the

4th Floor Framework Will Be Pouted At Permian Building

Fourth floor framework for the Permian Building, second and Scurry, will be poured Tuesday of Wednesday, Henry Wyringer, construction superintendent, reported Saturday.

Brick work already has started on the six-story office building. Brick piers are being installed at corners and masons also are at work in the basement.

Steel floor joists are in place for third floor and a portion of the second, Wyringer said. Additional floor work will progress as quickly as steel is delivered.

Pouring of the fourth-floor framework this week will leave fifth and sixth floors and roof-supporting columns remaining in the task of erecting the structural portion of the building.

Gridiron Club tonight roasted the biggest names in politics at a dinner at the Statler Hotel.

Democrats and Republicans alike were seared in rough-and-tumble but good-natured humor as the 66-year-old organization of Washington correspondents held its first spring dinner since Republicans took control of the White House and Congress.

President Eisenhower was there to take his ribbing first-hand and make an off-the-record speech. Spokesman for "the loyal opposition" was Democratic Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

The traditional "speech in the dark" was given by Duke Shoop, Washington bureau chief of the Kansas City (Mo) Star who was inaugurated as the 1953 Gridiron president.

More than 500 Cabinet members, Supreme Court justices, foreign diplomats, congressional leaders and prominent figures in journalism and business were entertained by the series of skits and songs.

The caddy held forth in a simulated locker room of the Burning Tree Country Club, where he was breathlessly besieged by all those who really wanted to be in the know.

What does his most famed customer, Dwight D. Eisenhower, think about taxes?

"Why, he say he gonna gift the tidelands to Taxes," Cemetery pronounced.

And what about anti-trust suits?

"Why, dey ain't an ounce of anti in dat man. He trusts everybody."

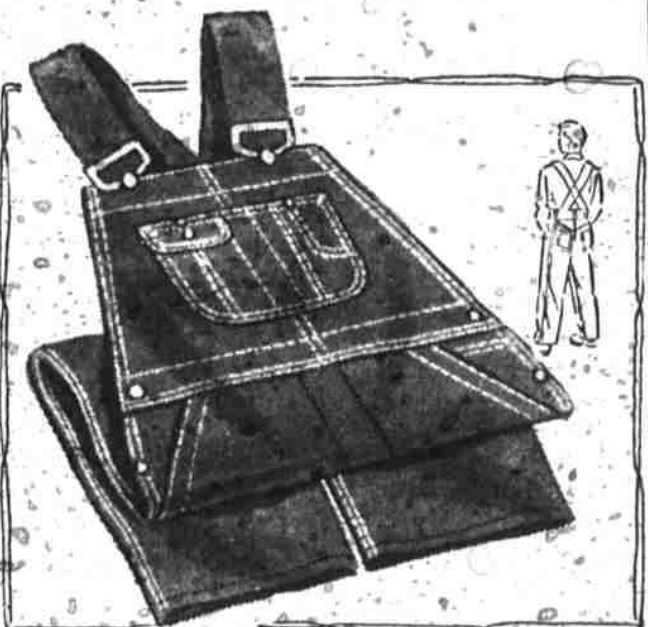

The political metamorphosis of the new President was traced in a series of songs revived from earlier Gridiron dinners.

McCarthy Calls On Stassen To Ask More Pacts With Shippers

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) called on Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen today to ask Greek shipowners in London to break off all trade with Red China and between other Communist ports.

In effect, McCarthy blamed statements by Stassen for the failure of the London group to make such an agreement and asked him to state that it would have been the government's whole-hearted approval.

McCarthy's request, made in a letter to Stassen, was a pointed sequel to the controversy that swelled up in the wake of the senator's original announcement on March 28 that the investigations subcommittee he heads had "negotiated" an agreement with Greek owners in New York of 242 ships to refrain from all trade with Red China and North Korea.

The senator also said the shipowners had agreed to refuse to carry any cargoes from one Communist port to another in any part of the world, although the agreement would not prevent them from hauling goods from free world nations to the Soviet bloc, or vice versa.

Two days later Stassen went before the McCarthy committee at a public hearing and said the senator had undermined the efforts of the State Department and other executive agencies to curb trade between the West and Iron Curtain countries.

Subsequently, however, President Eisenhower said he did not believe McCarthy was undermining government policy by obtaining

"A reconciliation? I can't say. I'll have to wait till I see him again."

Oil Needs On IPAA Agenda

Shell To Show Rancho Line

Some 2,000 state, county and city officials, as well as the landowners across whose property the line passes, are expected this week at open house and informal dedication ceremonies for the new 457-mile Rancho Pipe Line system.

The observance, to be held at each of the three newly-completed pump stations near McCombs, El Dorado and Austin, will feature an inspection tour of the stations and barbecue lunch. The Austin open house will be held on Friday afternoon and the other two on Saturday.

The 24-inch diameter pipe line has just been placed in full operation, initially delivering 210,000 barrels of crude oil daily from the prolific fields of West Texas and New Mexico to Houston area refining centers.

A multiple ownership project, participants in the Rancho System are Ashland Pipe Line Company, Crown-Rancho Pipe Line Corporation, Nantucket Pipe Line Company, Pan-American Pipe Line Company, Phillips Pipe Line Company, Shell Pipe Line Corporation, and Sinclair Pipe Line Company.

Shell Pipe Line Corporation handled design and construction and will operate the line.

All but Morris were already on the boards. Leatherwood, Yates and Box, Hill and Low were Cauble trustees.

The county board met Saturday at 1:30 p. m. Present were Bob Asbury, J. T. Hale, L. L. Underwood, H. D. Gilmore, Fred Roman, and Walker Bailey.

Several special transfers were authorized by the board for pupils living in school districts not teaching their classes. A pupil from Gay Hill and another from Center Point were authorized to attend classes at Big Spring, and three from Midway were officially transferred to Coahoma.

ately to discuss and settle the entire question so as to realize an armistice in Korea.

"I would like to know the views of your side on the date of resuming the plenary session."

Adm. Daniel replied that the Red proposal would be turned over to top U. N. commanders.

The final issue blocking a truce is the U. N. insistence that some 49,000 Communist prisoners not be forced to return to Red domination against their will.

Of the total 132,000 prisoners in Allied camps, about 83,000 have said they are willing to go back home, but the remainder balk.

The new Communist proposal ostensibly would permit prisoners refusing direct repatriation to be turned over to a neutral country.

The Communists have not spelled out what they might consider "neutral states," but Communist newsmen unofficially say the choice of a neutral will not be an obstacle if and when the big talks resume.

Col. Willard B. Carlock, senior U. N. staff officer, told the Communists 400 Red lifter patients will be delivered at the rate of 50 each day.

The U. N. Command was determined to be ready whenever the Communists hand over the Allied sick and wounded. Engineers working on the receiving site at Panmunjon were under orders to have accommodations ready by Monday when a practice drill will take place.

Furnace Explosion Results In Damage At Electric Plant

JOPLA, Ill., April 11 (AP)—An explosion inside a furnace jarred the Electric Energy Inc. plant here early today causing an estimated $50,000 damage. No one was injured.

About 200 workmen in the vicinity of the furnace were reportedly shaken up by the blast.

The steam electric plant is being built to supply power to an atomic energy project across the Ohio River at Paducah, Ky.

A company spokesman said the explosion occurred after one of the coil mills quit working. He said some raw coal worked its way into the furnace and ignited from the intense heat, causing an explosion.

The spokesman said there was no steam explosion in the boiler, located almost directly above the furnace.

Loyalty Probes Said To Be In 'Reverse'

HOUSTON, April 11 (AP)—Some loyalty investigations of college faculty members are going backward, the president of the University of Notre Dame asserted today.

The time to investigate is before the faculty member is placed, the Rev. Theodore Hesburg remarked.

He was here to perform the wedding rites of Miss Georganna Strake and Robert Parsley, Miss Strake is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Strake. Her father is a member of the lay board of Notre Dame.

AEC Says Two Firms To Study Nuclear Power

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that two private firms will conduct a year-long study to determine how soon nuclear power can be used in industry.

The announcement that negotiations for such a survey were completed was a big step forward in the AEC's policy of modifying its 10-year monopoly and inviting private enterprise into the atomic energy field.

President Eisenhower, soon after taking office in January, listed peacetime use of nuclear power as a goal of his administration.

The AEC said that, during 1953, the Pioneer Service and Engineering Company of Chicago and the Foster Wheeler Corp. of New York will conduct a study of ways and means of building nuclear power reactors, the so-called "atomic furnaces."

All costs, the AEC said, will be borne by the two companies, which will be given limited access to its secret files after "the necessary security clearance." At the end of the year they must report to the AEC, recommending:

1. What economic and technical steps are necessary for private industry to build the reactor "in the next few years."
2. What is the engineering feasibility of designing, constructing and operating the reactor.
3. What research and development work is needed before undertaking its construction.
4. What is industry's role in such a project.

Newsman Get Gibes On Moscow Reports

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—Seven newspaper and radio executives came back from a week's visit to Moscow today amid a flurry of gibes at accounts by some of them of a pleasant, friendly atmosphere in the Russian capital.

They said they still had more to tell.

"Our object now is to make a complete and honest report to the American people," said James I. Wick, of the Wick Newspapers in Ohio, North Carolina and Louisiana.

"So far we have told only part of the story. The rest remains for us to write."

Dispatches some sent back about visits to Moscow factories, subways and the university brought a comment today from the New York Daily News that Russia is trying "the same old Soviet sucker game on gullible Westerners."

The New York Post has been referring to the group as "the Rover Boys in Moscow," and Time magazine in its current issue said it appeared "from their fatuous findings, all of the traveling editors had fallen on their faces."

One of the group, John H. Biddle, of the Huntington, Pa., Daily News, said: "This again is the long, loose tongue of 'Time' running away."

He said the news magazine's "caustic criticism" was unfair and without foundation, because "the magazine had no way of knowing conditions in Moscow, or what the touring editors saw there."

Also awaiting the group was a telegram from John Chapple, Asst. Editor, declaring the tourists will be "known as the editorial jackasses of the century for falling for this Soviet peace trickery."

He said they reported "mush" instead of "exposing" what Stalin did and why. Malenkov "was slated for replacement by Beria, and warning us of the coming intensified attack upon our civilization."

The group arrived from Frankfurt aboard a Trans-World airliner. Most of them planned to spend the week end at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel here.

Bennett O. Knudson, owner of radio station KATE in Albert Lea, Minn., said he was surprised at the freedom of movement permitted in Moscow.

"I strolled around the city alone, through the main streets and even into back alleys and was not hindered," he said.

From talks with workers who spoke English, he said he was convinced "the Russian people do not want war," but he said he had no way to gauge the government leaders' attitude, since he had no contact with them.

Mrs. Jane S. McIlvaine, publisher of the Archivist, of Downingtown, Pa., said any working girl in the United States is better dressed "than the best dressed woman in Moscow."

She called Russian censorship "stupid," and said that when she telephoned stories to London, she was cut off when she mentioned Premier Malenkov's name.

Walton Service Held Saturday

Mrs. Danny Walton, 84, who devoted much of her lifetime to Christian service, died here Friday evening.

She had been seriously ill for several months. Mrs. Walton died at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Sain, 1000 E. 3rd.

Brief rites were held Saturday at 3 p. m. at the Valley Chapel by her pastor, Dr. P. D. O'Brien, minister of the First Baptist Church. The body was taken to the Cosier-Pierce Funeral Home in Cleburne, and graveside services were to be held there today in the Grandview Cemetery with the Rev. Charles Pitts Jr. officiating.

Mrs. Walton was born in Pontotoc, Miss. Always active in her church, Mrs. Walton began an association with the Young Women's Christian Association after the death of her husband in 1915. She was for 16 years resident secretary of the YWCA in Dallas and Beaumont. She gave up the latter post to come here 15 years ago and make her home with her daughter.

Mrs. Walton was a teacher and took an active part in First Baptist WMU activities so long as her health would permit. At home, she was an ardent horticulturist, and even after she had passed the four score mark, she delighted to work in her yard.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Walton leaves one granddaughter, Mrs. Arnold O'Neil, Midland; one great-grandchild, Sharon O'Neil. Also surviving are two brothers, Jot Smythe, Lubbock, and Olin T. Smythe, Cleburne; and two sisters, Miss Dixie Smythe and Miss Burdett Smythe, both of Port Arthur.

Roof Is Poured On Courthouse Project

Wooden forms should be taken off the roof level of the new Howard County Courthouse this week, according to Olin Puckett, architect.

Concrete has been poured over the roof in all but the area just over the district courtroom on the west side.

Window frames have been installed on the first and second floor, and plaster work is just about finished in the basement. Partitions are in throughout the first and second floors.

Also the elevators have been installed. There has been no progress on outside brickwork for the past two weeks, but workers should start up again this week, it was announced.

The only outside framework to be done is on the penthouse, which will house the elevator cable. Completion of the building is expected in September.

100 Local Scouts Go To Encampment

Approximately 100 Boy Scouts from the Big Spring area attended an encampment at the Roundup Grounds Friday night and Saturday.

Jimmie Hale, local field executive, stated that the outing was in preparation for the annual Buffalo Trail Council Roundup to be held April 23-25.

Approximately eight troops had attendance at the pre-Roundup outing. Scouts went out right after school Friday and stayed until Saturday noon.

The Scouts practiced pitching tents, camping, and cooking. Leaders oriented them on the coming Roundup. Approximately a thousand boys from a 17-county area are expected for the Roundup.

Eleven Added To Shell Old Timers

A total of 4,366 years of service with the company was represented by more than 230 employees of Shell Oil Company at the seventh annual banquet held Saturday night in the ballroom of the Schary Hotel in Midland honoring members of the Shell "10 and Over" club.

Personnel attending came from Shell locations throughout West Texas and New Mexico.

Similar banquets are held throughout the country each year to honor employees who have completed ten or more years of service with the company. The average service of Midland area employees attending this year includes 226 men and 9 women employees. Eleven new members were recognized.

Soldier Found Guilty In Death Of Texas GI

BERLIN, April 11 (AP)—An Army court martial found Cpl. Lamar Simpson Jr., of Ardmore, Pa., today guilty of the murder of Sgt. Gerald Smith, of Woodville, Tex., and sentenced him to life imprisonment, dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay.

Smith was of the 298th Army Band here. The slaying was discovered when a German police patrol checked Smith's car, which had stood at a curb for two hours with its motor running. The sergeant's body was slumped in the front seat.

Taft Says West Cannot Lower Military Guard

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today the free world must not be lulled into lowering its military guard by possibly false Russian peace moves or an unstable truce in Korea.

The Senate Republican leader said in an interview he does not believe a halt in hostilities in Korea will affect military spending substantially.

Without reference to what happens in Korea, he said he thinks four billion dollars in "fat" can be trimmed off the 46 billion dollar armed services spending budget sent to Congress by former President Truman. This can be done, Taft contended, without reducing the nation's combat strength.

The senator said he is not disposed to accept at face value present Russian peace gestures and does not believe any truce in Korea would be other than "continuously unstable," with a resumption of fighting possible at any time.

Taft said he doesn't believe the North Koreans and the Chinese Communists will agree to any truce in Korea except at the present battle line.

He said such a truce would be "continuously unstable, with the possibility that war might occur again at any time."

"I don't think such a truce would really contribute to the peace of the world, although it would stop the killing in Korea for a time."

Taft emphasized that he doesn't believe either economy advocates or those proposing an enlargement of military spending above the Truman figure will gain any advantage out of a Korean truce.

"They shouldn't use a Korean peace either as a means of letting up on military spending or increasing it," he said.

Openings In Air Force Are Noted

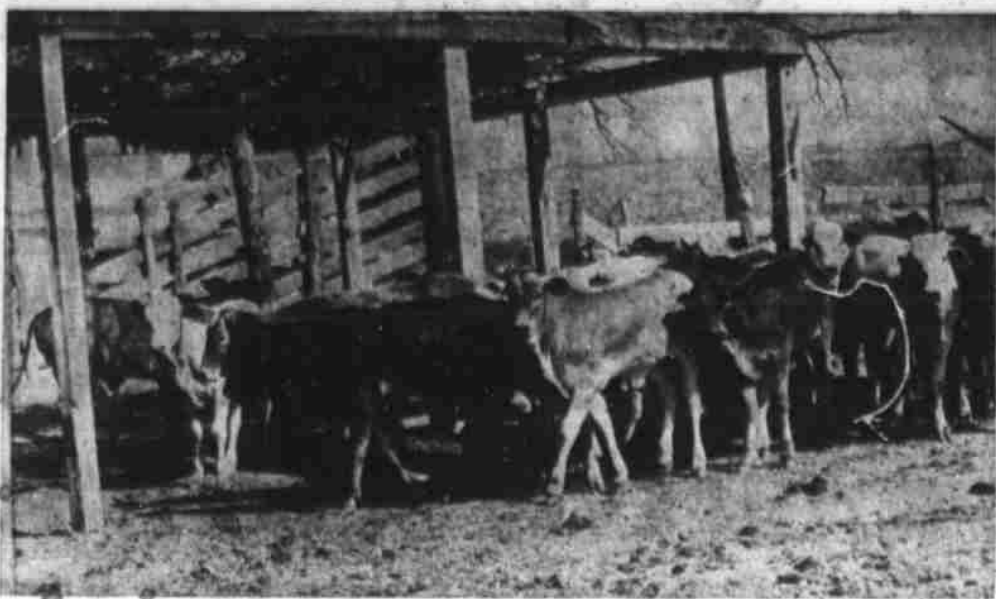

Pilot training and aircraft observers schools in the Air Force are wide open, it was announced Saturday by Sgt. A. M. Burt of the Big Spring Recruiting station.

Application blanks and complete information for entering either school can be obtained from Burt's office at 301 Scurry Street and is open on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays.

After completion of observer or pilot training, the enlistee becomes a commissioned officer, he said. Next classes in pilot training are open late in 1953.

Qualifications for both pilots and observers are: 60 semester hours at a college or university, citizenship, 18 to 26½ years of age, single, and physical fitness.

Burt pointed out that single officers on flying status received $438.58 per month plus uniform allowance and 30-day leave with pay.

The Best Thirty That Could Be Found

In rounding up the best Brahms calves that could be found in South Texas for the roping match at the Rodeo Bowl here next Sunday afternoon between Toots Mansfield of Big Spring and Shoot Webster of Oklahoma, the buyer for the Big Spring Cowboy Rodeo Association inspected several hundred.

Finally the top 60 calves were brought here, carefully looked over by old hands and the top 30 of them selected. From this bunch Toots and Shoot will each draw 10 calves. Following the match (and Toots has never been defeated in the hometown arena) there will be a jackpot roping open to the world. The calves are now being grain fed in preparation for the show which will start at 2:30 p.m. An old experienced hand, Buck Jackson of Pecos, will be the announcer. The Rodeo Bowl is located at the west edge of Big Spring and can be reached by taking the Air Base Road south of U. S. 80 at the new signal light. Some of the country's top ropers have indicated they will be here to contest for the jackpot.

More Warrants Out In Ticket Clean-Up

Judge William E. Greenlee issued 13 additional warrants Saturday for police to use in their drive to clear up a big backlog of traffic cases.

In all, about 90 warrants have been issued in the past few weeks for the arrest of persons who have refused to honor summons to appear in city court.

All but the last 13 were for offenses which occurred nearly a year ago. However, recent violations are enumerated in the "failure to appear" complaints resulting in the warrants issued Saturday.

Thus far, only two persons named in the warrants have been arrested. A 17-year-old driver Saturday was required to write a traffic slogan 10 times after he was found guilty of driving on the wrong side of the street.

The other 12 warrants are expected to be served in the next day or two. Offenses alleged in the complaints and resultant warrants are passing on a viaduct, following another motor vehicle too closely, breaking a funeral procession, driving without license, and speeding.

Traffic infractions highlighted Corporation Court activities of the past week.

One driver Saturday was fined a total of $10 when he was found guilty of driving without license and leaving the scene of an accident without giving necessary information. A $100 fine was assessed on the no-driver's-license charge, and the man was fined $50 for failure to stop after becoming involved in the accident.

The same motorist was transferred to County Court on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Another driver also was fined $35 for leaving the scene of a wreck during the week. Other traffic fines included levies of $25 and $35 for driving without license, $5 for running a stop sign, $10 for violation of a stop light, $15 for improper parking, and $2.50 for passing on the wrong side.

Thirty-one fines for a total of $597 were levied as a result of intoxication charges. Three fines of $25 each were assessed for gambling.

Other cases transferred were two involving charges of theft and one of burglary.

Man Fined $15 On Drunkenness Charge

A man who "fell on his face in the street" at Third and Gregg Friday afternoon was fined $15 when he pleaded guilty to drunkenness charges.

The man was taken to the hospital after he collapsed in the street. He was transferred to city jail following examination, however.

Adenauer Says Orient, Europe Issues Identical

By CARL HARTMAN
SAN FRANCISCO, April 11 (AP)—West German Chancellor Adenauer said today that European and Far Eastern questions must be settled together.

His statement was made in a speech prepared for delivery to the Commonwealth Club, one of the oldest businessmen's groups in this gateway to the Orient.

"I am a European and Europe is therefore my main concern," he said. "But all of us, you as well as we must be clear in our mind that in his period of world-wide tension between the East and the West the question of the Far East and of Europe are most closely interwoven and that the ones can not be settled without the others."

The speech followed a news conference in which Adenauer declared Germany never would give up her place in West European defense, even if the Russians should offer free elections in a united Germany on the condition that she remain disarmed.

This was a clear-cut challenge to one strong school of German thought. Many Germans believe their country could exist as a disarmed neutral between East and West.

Legislature Economy Bloc Sure State Budget Will Be Approved

AUSTIN, April 11 (AP)—Economy leaders were confident today their compromise general spending bill would overcome all opposition and win final approval in the Legislature next week.

The bulky $166,569,347 measure as asserted by House-Senate conferees includes many innovations, including an unprecedented grant of power to the governor in directing the flow of state expenditures on a quarterly basis.

For the first time it wraps into one package a total statement of Texas spending from all sources, including federal money. For the next two years, it would be $1,194,266,221 including the $166 million plus specifically appropriated from the general state revenue fund.

There were some criticisms of discontent from the liberal new tax legislative faction, but it had not taken definite form. Many members said they needed more time to study the bulky bill before commenting.

Rep. Max Smith, San Marcos, chairman of the House appropriations committee, said he would press for House debate on it Monday.

"I don't see why they shouldn't accept it. It is bigger than either of the original bills," Smith said. "If the measure is disposed of next week, it will clear the road for debate on the teachers pay raise question and taxation—the session's other two major issues. The conference committee bill would require no new taxes."

Rep. Otis Lock, Lufkin, chairman of the Senate finance committee, told reporters it was the first time in recent history that a general spending bill not requiring new taxes had emerged from a conference committee. He also said it was the earliest in recent years the joint committee on certain fund surpluses: "putting idle money to work wherever possible."

The bill is $335,739 greater than the Senate's original version and almost 6 million dollars more than the House bill. It was in the House that principal demands for greater spending were voiced when the original measures were debated. The measure includes various formulas for raising salaries of both state employees and college teachers. It grants numerous $600 a year raises for topflight state-employed technicians—such as engineers—and $180 a year across the board for all state employe salaries up to $10,000.

For college teachers, institutions may grant increases up to $300 a year on the basis of 18 students per teacher. It gives the colleges latitude in transferring certain other funds into teacher pay raise pools. State department heads are also given latitude to use savings for pay raises.

The bill also: 1. Permits the governor to use certain "unobligated balances" for capital outlay on civil defense in case of war; 2. Provides funds for the state hospital board reorganization plan; 3. Takes what Lock called the "first step" in permitting the state health nurse attends TB association meet.

Miss Jewell Barton, City-County Health Unit nurse, attended the annual meeting of the Texas Tuberculosis Association in Mineral Wells Friday and Saturday. Approximately 300 delegates from all over the state, attended the convention. Medical aspects of the disease and community control measures were discussed.

Outstanding Texas physicians were on the medical section panel. National authorities on tuberculosis control also spoke. They included Edward J. Walton, executive secretary of the Colorado TB association, and Sol F. Lifson and Miss Clarissa Boyd, both of New York, and members of the National Tuberculosis Association staff.

It was the first time a President's wife had taken part in this traditional spring ceremony in the capital.

Mrs. Eisenhower and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, received an ovation from the spectators, who appeared unmindful that the famous Japanese cherry blossoms had already passed the peak of bloom.

Fifteen thousand people attended, in perfect spring weather.

One out of every Four people does it!

says Richard Widmark

One out of every four men, women and children in America—people just like you and me—have found a wonderful and workable way toward real financial independence—with all the security and peace of mind it brings. By saving money regularly through United States Savings Bonds.

What's more, nobody has told us or forced us to do this. We've done it of our own free will! Not only because we have learned U. S. Savings Bonds are a foolproof method of saving money. But because we know they represent one way that you and I can do something about building peace and security for ourselves and our country—in a world where we have found peace is only for the strong!

Right this minute, you and I and millions of our friends and neighbors all over America own more than 49 billion dollars worth of our country's interest earning Bonds. And when you stop to think about that, it ought to make us proud! Because it's the greatest success story of its kind the world has ever known!

So, let's all of us keep on investing in Bonds. It's a great way to get where you want to go. A practical idea—and patriotic, too!

BIG SPRING HERALD

Bill Would Tax Motor Fuel At Refinery Level

AUSTIN, April 11 — An omnibus tax bill that, according to its author, would produce an additional $44 million dollars revenue annually is currently being discussed in public hearings here.

It would take the biggest bite out of motor fuel — $36,329,372. An increase tax on oil would bring in $24,253,000 and a beer tax boost would add another 17 million dollars.

All natural resources produced in any quantity in Texas come in for a share of the added taxes. In the original bill drilling clay was omitted but Rep. George R. Berry, of Rockwall, author of House Bill 552, said he planned to submit an amendment to the committee and tax it in the omnibus bill.

In addition to listing the sources to tax the bill provides for spending the new-found funds.

The lion's share is earmarked for state highways with their portion set out at 20 million dollars.

The available free school fund — raising teachers' salaries — would be given 25 million dollars.

Courtesy in West Texas will be affected by almost every grouping of items in the bill.

One grouping includes coal, lignite, peat, coke, asphaltic limestone, gypsum and salt. These are taxed at the rate of five cents a ton and will produce $15,363 revenue. Of these items salt deposits, according to the University of Texas, are found in all counties north and west of Iron, gypsum in Coke, Gillespie, Garza, Mitchell, Nolan and Fisher counties. Asphaltic limestone is in Uvalde. Coal in McCulloch, Coleman and Eastland.

The big revenue producer — motor fuel — will be taxed at the rate of one cent per gallon and will be collected at the refinery. This would be in addition to present gasoline taxes, Berry pointed out that this is a tax on the processor, not the producer.

The producer of oil comes in for his share, an increase of $24,253,000, with a levy of 24 cents per barrel of oil. Oil is currently assessed at the rate of 4.6 cents a barrel.

The tax on beer would be raised from the current $1.27 per barrel to $5.45 to produce an additional 17 million dollars.

Producers of natural gas would have their levy increased from the present 5.72 per cent of market value to 6.72 per cent. The additional revenue was set at $3,526,000.

Other items included in the bill and the amount of increased revenue are:

The chemical industry at the rate of 1 per cent on gross receipts to produce an estimated two million dollars.

Producers of sand, shell, gravel, clay, limestone, granite, marble and sandstone would be assessed at the rate of 2 1/2 cents a ton. Revenue would be $218,852.

Manufacturers of lumber would be taxed on a sliding scale ranging from 26 cents per 1,000-board feet on cypress timber down to 6 cents per cord on lumber made from pulp wood. Revenue estimated $216,428.

Lime to be taxed at the rate of 2 1/2 cents per 100 pounds bringing in $86,362 in revenue.

Bentonite, Fuller's earth, asphalt, pumice and pumilite to be taxed at 18 cents a ton and yield $23,211 revenue.

Berry and the co-authors, J. G. Gilliam of Brownfield, Leroy Sibley of Krens, Elbert Reeves of Matador and Jessie M. Osborn of Midland, also included a stipulation that any of these items being shipped into Texas shall be taxed at the rate they are first distributed, sold or used in Texas.

Car marking of the funds other than to schools and highways is basically set out as follows:

Forest Service — $50,000.
Department of Public Welfare — $60,000.

State employe salary increase of 10 per cent for those receiving below $3,000 and $300 annually for others. Also setting a minimum pay of $1,800 for employes of state hospitals, "special schools and eleemosynary agencies — $7,266,000.

Hospital Board for conducting special treatment — $2,100,000.

For construction of buildings at Southwestern Medical School at Dallas — $1,750,000.

Lamar State College of Technology — $150,000.

Texas Prison System — $1,500,000.

City Street Fund to be supervised by the State Highway Department — $5,000,000.

Institutions of higher learning — $5,000,000.

Texas Southern University — $250,000.

Provision is made in the bill to prorate these funds in the event the revenue that may be derived from the bill fluctuates.

Fag Races In Big Tent Open Monday

Turnouts Could Exceed 300,000

By JACK HEND
NEW YORK, April 11 (U.S.)—After six hectic weeks of spring exercises in smoky meeting rooms and sunny ballparks, the major leagues are ready to open the baseball season with the Braves safe in Milwaukee, Bill Veck's Browns still in St. Louis and the Yankees and Dodgers again favored to win the pennants.

Washington and Cincinnati will stage their traditional special opening Monday, preceding Tuesday's full eight-game schedule. The two-day program is expected to attract 300,000 fans.

Milwaukee's vest-popping pride in becoming a big league town will help swell the Tuesday totals with a sellout crowd of 36,011 jamming the new five million dollar county stadium. Thousands of disappointed ticket seekers will have their chance later to watch the displaced Braves as the new National League city aims at its goal of one million paid.

One new city, Milwaukee; one new owner, August Busch of the St. Louis Cardinals and one new manager, Fred Haney of Pittsburgh; add spice to the new season. The new season will be the sprinkling of rookies in the opening day lineups.

Here's the two-day opening schedule.

Monday
 American League
 New York at Washington
 National League
 Milwaukee at Cincinnati

Tuesday
 American League
 Philadelphia at New York
 Chicago at Cleveland
 Detroit at St. Louis (night)
 Washington at Boston.
 National League
 St. Louis at Milwaukee
 Pittsburgh at Brooklyn
 New York at Philadelphia
 Cincinnati at Chicago

The shift of the Boston Braves to Milwaukee, first change in the major league map in 50 years, caused frantic shuffling of the National League schedule. Pittsburgh became an "Eastern" team, taking over Boston's old schedule, and Milwaukee assumed Pittsburgh's dates in the "Western" half.

Similar problems in the American League were avoided when Veck lost out in his proposal to move the Browns to Baltimore.

The Milwaukee situation and the New York Yankees bid for an unprecedented fifth straight pennant command top attention at the moment.

Rookies like Junior Gilliam of Brooklyn, Billy Burton of Milwaukee, Rolly Hunter of the St. Louis Browns and Red Wilson of the Chicago White Sox now must meet the real test. Daryl Spencer, the New York Giant's publicized new infielder, will be out of action for two weeks because of a fractured cheekbone.

Several regulars will be sitting out the opening games because of injuries. Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs will miss the early weeks because of a broken finger. Washington will go to without left fielder Gil Coan, Boston without center fielder Don DiMaggio and Brooklyn without Billy Cox, just to name a few.

The Yanks will send a "set" club against Washington on Monday with Alia Reynolds, the dependable ace, facing ex-Yank, Bob Porterfield.

Brooklyn opens defense of its National League championship at home against Pittsburgh which finished a distant last in 1952. The arrival of Gilliam from Montreal to win the second-base job from Jackie Robinson was the big news of the Dodgers camp. Robinson has moved to third, bumping Cox into utility status before he came up with a bad back.

Lindell Knuckles Down

Johnny Lindell, 36, who failed with the Yankees as a pitcher but made the grade as a hitter, shows new Pittsburgh Manager Fred Haney how he holds his knuckle ball as if Haney doesn't know. Lindell won 24 games last year for Haney as the Hollywood Stars took the Pacific Coast League flag.

Jaguars, Etc, Race At Bergstrom AFB

AUSTIN, April 11 (U.S.)—Some of the nation's most skillful sports car drivers compete here tomorrow over the difficult 4.4 mile Bergstrom Air Force Base in a national championship competition.

Unique, high-powered automobiles like Jaguars, Ferraris, Siatas, Cadillac-Allards and Invictas will flaunt their three-figure speeds and road-holding features.

Winners in the four events will be judged on points in which speed is just one factor. Some cars can go 180 miles an hour on the straightaways, but drivers are also judged on how they take the sharp turns, how soon they can pick up speed, and generally how they handle their sleek, fast cars.

The races are sanctioned by the Sports Car Club of America. Points piled up here count on the national cumulative championship.

There will be four races tomorrow: two for 75 miles, one 150 and one 200 miles.

Entries include such nationally leading owners and drivers as Ernest Erickson, Chicago; Fred Cook, Dallas; Jacq Enslay, Indianapolis and James Kimberley, Chicago.

Lamesa Nips Steerettes, 27 To 20, In Title Match

ODESSA—Lamesa defeated Big Spring in the finals of the District girls' volleyball tournament here Saturday, 27-20.

Big Spring had moved into the finals with a 21-17 decision at the expense of Midland. Lamesa ran roughshod over Odessa, 41-14.

Big Spring trailed only by a 12-11 score at half time but the Lamesa team really began to click after the intermission.

The lead changed hands five different times during the title game. The contest closed out the eligibility of Rosemary Rige, Big Spring's star spiker. Eloise Carroll, Anna Mae Thorpe, Nita Anderson and Nell Glover, other starters, will be seniors in 1954. Louise Burchett, a junior, is over-all scoring in 155 points. Glover had 130, Thorpe 117, Anderson 112, Rice 94 and Burchett 78.

In all, the Big Springers counted 814 points to 490 for the opposition. They capped 21 decisions in 27 starts.

During the eight years Big Spring has sported a team, the Steerettes have won four district titles and were runners up on three other occasions.

Starting members of the team received miniature silver volley balls. The champions got miniature gold volley balls.

Babe To Undergo Major Operation At Beaumont

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
BEAUMONT, April 11 (U.S.)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias, who never was stopped on the athletic field, met her match today when physicians found she had a malignant condition, obviously cancer, and must undergo a major operation.

It may mean the end of the greatest athletic career of any woman—a career that spanned two decades and took her from teenage stardom in the Olympic Games to the pinnacle of golf and excellence in any sport she tried.

Mrs. Zaharias heard the fatal news at noon when the results of tests by five physicians were announced—that she has a malignancy of the lower rectum and must undergo surgery. The operation is to be performed in about five days and the physicians said they thought it would correct the condition but whether it will return is something else again.

The operation probably will be in Hotel Dieu here where the Babe has been for three days undergoing X-rays and tests to determine the malady that knocked her from the woman's golf tour.

"Tell everybody hello," was all Mrs. Zaharias said from her Cleveland room when told of the diagnosis.

It was a mighty blow to one of the greatest competitors of all time. The Babe had reached such perfection in sports that if she didn't win her fans considered it a calamity.

The brief announcement, made by the physicians who had conducted the tests—one in Fort Worth and four in Beaumont—read: "The examining physicians and X-ray and laboratory technicians agree that her condition is a malignancy and that she will undergo major surgery after the proper preparation."

The operation will be here if the proper specialists are obtained, the statement said.

Only Sunday, the Babe had won her second golf tournament of the year—the Babe Zaharias Open, named for her here. A native of Fort Arthur, the Babe came to Beaumont when 2 and lived here 15 years, developing into such a great basketball player that an insurance company in Dallas brought her to that city to play with its team. She was All-America twice and sparked the Dallas sextet—the Golden Cyclones—to the National AAU championship.

Mrs. Zaharias stopped off in Fort Worth for a checkup, explaining that she had been feeling weak and tired, and what the Fort Worth physicians found sent her back to Beaumont to enter the hospital.

The Babe was cheerful all the way and predicted she would return to sports soon but there was worry in her face despite the thimble smiles.

Gloria Ezell Wins San Angelo Title

SAN ANGELO—Gloria Ezell, former Big Spring resident and a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Strom of 501 Westover Road, Big Spring, won the 1953 version of the San Angelo Women's Invitational golf title here Saturday.

Mrs. Ezell made the turn in 36.

Braves Defeated In Boston, 4-1

BOSTON, April 11 (U.S.)—Milwaukee's transplanted Braves drew a cordial and prolonged reception from admirers today but, as is their wont at Fenway Park, dropped their third straight cross-country "city series" game to the Red Sox, 4-1.

From the sounds that reached the rooftop press box, the majority of the 9,000 crowd sympathized with the Braves but those diehard fans had few chances to become excited as right-handed Hector (Skinny) Brown turned back the Wisconsin Tribesmen with a neat four-hit performance.

Brown held the Braves scoreless until Andy Pafko hit the first pitch into the left field screen for a homer in the seventh.

Mayer And Metz In Colonial

FORT WORTH, April 11 (U.S.)—Dick Mayer and Dick Metz will play in the $25,000 Colonial Invitational Golf Tournament here May 20-24.

NAPLES, April 11 (U.S.)—Bernard Bartzten, San Angelo, Tex., and Budge Patty, Los Angeles, swept into the finals of the Naples International Tennis Tournament today, the young Texan with ease and the California veteran with some difficulty.

Bartzten's left-handed shots completely confused Gianni Cucelli of Italy as the sojourn breeze to a 6-3, 6-2 victory. The five games Bartzten did drop made a total of only 20 he's lost in the tourney thus far.

Patty battled through a grueling match with Wladislaw Skonecki, a self-exiled Pole now living in Spain, 6-0, 2-6, 8-6. The veteran internationalist does not have to meet Bartzten until Monday, however.

Mrs. Dorothy Head Knobe, Alameda, Calif., moved into the women's final with a 6-5, 6-2 victory over Pat Ward of England, and will meet Dotsa Zehden, Germany, tomorrow. The German player trounced Erica Vollmer of Germany, 6-3, 6-1.

The win was the first in two conference starts for Big Spring. Midland has now lost two in a row.

Rose set the Bulldogs down with seven hits and was at his best with runners on Midland but the third, but was held scoreless after the third.

Gilstrap powered one out of the park with Jimmy Fierro up front in the first. Fierro had reached first on a fielder's choice. Ronnie Wooten, who opened the inning with a triple, was thrown out at the plate.

Boyce McKenzie started on the mound for Midland.

After Midland knocked the rally with two runs in the third, Wayne Medlin put Big Spring ahead to stay in the fourth when he scooted home on a bad throw by Joe Bowman.

Three hits and a misplay gave the Steers another marker in the sixth. Three more safeties, coupled with a misplay and a passed ball, gave the Steers their final two runs in the seventh.

Mitchell Test Recovers Oil

Sun Oil Company No. 2 McCabe, diagonal northeast offset from the operator's discovery in the Strawn section in southeastern Mitchell County, recovered some new oil on testing Saturday.

The test was fractured through perforations from 5,900-5,910 with 2,000 gallons. In 17 hours of flowing through a 12-4 choke, the test flowed nine barrels of new oil and 150 barrels of load oil with no water. Tubing pressure was 675, casing pressure 150. Operator was continuing to press. No. 1 McCabe had, finished for 264.75 barrels of 45-gravity oil per day.

Sun Oil No. 1-A Beatrice Anderson, 660 from the north and 1,860 from the east lines, of section 230-1A, H&TC, drilled to 4,343 in sand and shale. This test is a southwest offset to the Sun No. 1 McCabe. Magnolia No. 1 J. B. Walker, 660 from the north and west lines of section 229-1A, H&TC, two miles northeast of Silver, flowed load oil for 24 hours after hydr-fracturing with 2,000 gallons in the Strawn sand. It is bottomed at 6,100. Operator is still testing.

Humble No. 1 Winnie Powell Cooper, 8 1/2 miles southwest of Westbrook and 1,980 from the north and west lines of section 25-19, LaVaca, had drilled below 6,776 in shale. This explorer is projected to 8,500 to test the Ellenburger.

Humble No. 1 Trulock, four miles west and one south of Westbrook, drilled to 1,145 in anhydrite and gypsum. This well is projected to the Clear Fork around 3,500 with rotary. Location is 650 from the north and west lines of section 6-29-1s, T&P.

In the Iatan-East Howard pool on the Mitchell County side, Magnolia No. 26 Mary Foster completed. The well pumped 24 hours to make 37.50 barrels of 29-gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio was too small to measure. Top of pay was 2,583, total depth 2,888, the 1 1/2-in. string set at 2,878. Operator had jarred the pay zone with 630 quarts of nitroglycerine. Location is 330 from the north and west lines of section 6-29-1s, T&P, which puts it six miles west and two north of Gall.

Borden Wildcat Has No Shows On Stem Test

Vickers No. 1 Orson, western Borden wildcat, got mud and no shows on a drillstem test in the Pennsylvanian at the end of the week.

The interval test was in red lime from 8,115-8,585, and the test was open for 30 minutes. Recovery was 30 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil, gas or water. Operator drilled ahead to 8,590 in chert and lime. Location is 660 from the north and east lines of section 11-33-5n, T&P, which is 14 miles west of Gall.

Charles C. Green, Jr., and Oceanic Oil Co. No. 1 Sue Alice Slaughter, one mile north and west of Vealmoor, and 1 1/2 miles west of the most-northwesterly producer in the Vealmoor pool, had progressed to 4,563 in lime. It is located 660 from the north and west lines of section 24-33-3n, T&P. Projected depth is 8,500 to test the reef.

EYE FOR BEAUTY

Slant Drilling Develops Leases In Congested Area

By HOWARD C. HEYN
WHITTIER, Calif., April 11 (AP)—Ever think of growing lemons on top of an oil well? A lot of people do it in La Habra Heights.

The citrus groves and avocado orchards were there first. The oil wells are a recent addition. Most were developed since 1951 through a new application of an old process: slant drilling.

Sixty-five wells have been drilled, and all are invisible.

The way when wide open spaces were so plentiful that nobody cared if the landscape featured oil derricks. Not now. Heavily planted, if not heavily populated land is precious. Suburbanites with $30,000 ranch homes and productive orchards don't want oil wells in their back yards.

The beautiful rolling hills of La Habra Heights, next to Whittier and near Los Angeles, comprise just such an area. Acreage is far too valuable to permit unsightly rigs.

But the Union Oil Co. found a way to exercise the mineral rights. It had held for 40 years, and at the same time preserve the beauty and the crops of a restricted rural area.

The company decreed that the rigs could tap these reserves if it confined operations to islands small areas here and there in the hills. Seven islands have been established, hidden in steep little canyons. In many as 25 wells have been drilled from one location in this field, known as the Sansienas.

These holes slant out and down in all directions, like an underground spiderweb. They are drilled by a whipstock, a tool which takes its name from the whip on the dashboard of an old-fashioned buggy.

The whipstock is a wedge-shaped casing, about 12 feet long, which deflects the drilling bit from its vertical course.

Whipstocks have been used for many years, with increasing skill. The hole for an oil well can be drilled straight down for 100 feet, then slanted off in any desired direction for almost any desired distance, and at angles up to 75 degrees—pretty close to the horizontal.

One of the earliest applications of slant drilling took place at nearby Huntington Beach, where wells originating on the shoreline angle out under the sea. This keeps derricks off the beaches and taps vast submerged oil pools. In the Long Beach-San Pedro harbor area, too, slant drilling is widely employed because land is at a premium.

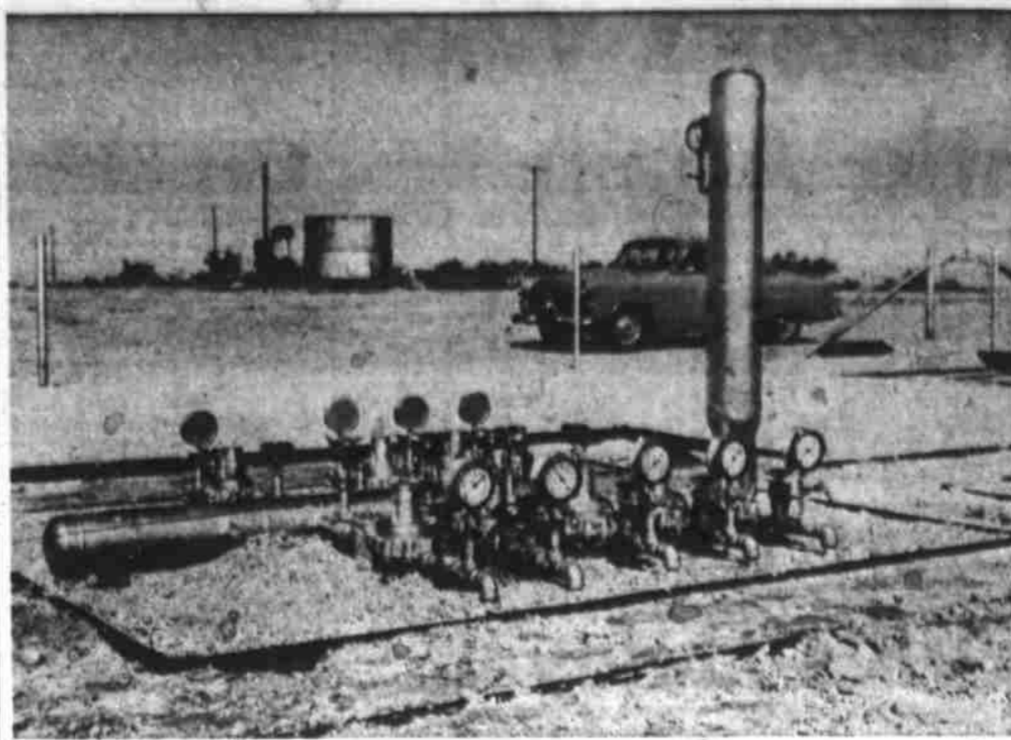

possible atomic, infrasonic and ultrasonic drilling, as well as up-to-the-minute trends in air drilling.

Here also will operate models of complete drilling rigs and refineries. All the industry's major divisions are represented—geology, geophysics, development and engineering, transportation, refining.

This year oil's latest offshoot, petrochemistry, has been added. Petrochemists' animated models will demonstrate the manufacture of common household articles through their science.

Industrial television used by the oil industry will be displayed. Cost of the individual exhibits varies from a few dollars for an oil publication's booth to nearly half a million for a drilling mast and its allied equipment.

To see all this, exposition Manager William B. Way estimates, will be a record half million persons, 20,000 of them visiting oilmen. This is about a fourth again the number that attended the exposition's silver anniversary show in 1948, when 43 foreign nations

Helping Make More Oil
Through repressuring, Sunray Oil Company has stepped up recovery on its celebrate Dora Roberts lease in southeastern Howard County to a remarkable degree. The gain has been so much, in fact, that this year the recovery may be more than in the peak year of 1929.

Peak Output Of A Quarter Of Century Ago May Be Exceeded

In 1929 Sunray Oil Company's Dora Roberts lease in the Howard-Glasscock field hit its peak production. This year—almost a quarter of a century later—this record may be surpassed.

Sunray can mark up modern secondary recovery methods by waterflood with a strong assist. During 1953 it is expected that production from all zones under this noted lease will average 4,500 barrels daily. This compares with only 1,300 barrels daily when Sunray took over the lease in 1943.

Sunray expects that by 1954 the 1929 peak of 5,000 barrels daily will be surpassed—and it could happen this year.

A total of 86 producing wells have been drilled on this 480-acre lease to develop production in the Yates Sand at 1,300 feet, Seven Rivers Sand at 1,800 feet, Sand Andres Lime at 2,600 feet, and Clear Fork Lime at 3,000 feet.

Seventy-nine of these wells are still producing. The lease has produced 15.5 million barrels of oil since development was begun in 1928, or 32,400 barrels per acre in the 24 years.

Sunray Oil Corporation acquired the property through a merger with the Superior Oil Corporation in 1943 and has recovered about 5.5 million barrels, or 11,600 barrels of oil per acre, since that date.

After acquiring the lease Sunray drilled 18 wells, most of which were completed in the Yates Sand with initial production averaging 35 barrels per day each. This additional development, plus reduced down time brought about by installation of new equipment caused annual production to gradually increase from an average of 1,350 barrels per day at the time of Sunray's acquisition to approximately 1,770 barrels per day in 1951.

Following detailed engineering studies of the Yates Sand by Sunray reservoir engineers, an 80-acre pilot water flood was installed and water injection started early in 1952, after the pilot proved flooding to be feasible and profitable. A 65-acre extension development was completed in December, 1952, making a total of 145 acres now developed. The system uses 16 injection wells, three of which were old producing wells converted in input. During 1953 Sunray plans to develop the remaining 115 acres.

Sunray Oil Corporation's Dora Roberts project is paralleled by the company's highly successful Fankhauser water flood in eastern Kansas which boosted the production rate from 34 to 1,797 barrels a day within 18 months after initial injection. In less than four years this flood has resulted in an oil recovery almost equal to that recovered by primary methods over a 23-year period. Current production rate is still nine times above normal.

Proposals Would Fix Import Limit

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Oil imports have spouted into top places among the domestic petroleum industry's worries.

This week brought these developments: 1. Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.) said he would press for Senate passage of his bill to limit imports to 10 per cent of domestic demand.

2. A hearing on a similar bill by Rep. Simpson (R-Pa.) was set for April 22.

Both bills would give the President authority to modify or suspend the import restriction in event of a shortage.

3. Ed Warren, deputy chief of the Petroleum Administration for Defense, said in Pittsburgh that the welfare of the industry and the nation alike is best served by a properly balanced relationship of imported supplies to domestic supplies.

Warren added: "I hope for that reason to see early announcements by all importing companies that will make it clear that they appreciate the problem and that each is taking steps to contribute to its solution."

He said he felt the import problem could best be solved by industry itself, not by legislation.

4. Russell Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPEA), told his organization that while administration leaders have proposed a one-year extension of the Reciprocity Trade Agreements Act, there are enough facts already known to establish the need for some improvement in the law now.

Brown added: "It may be that the men in Congress, with full information on these facts, are already convinced of the necessity to modify or suspend extension of the trade agreements law to safeguard industry and security pending further study."

"They can do this, and, given the urgency of the situation as facts reveal, in my judgment, they will."

5. A Senate Interior Subcommittee headed by Sen. Malone (R-Nev.) was reported considering a study of the question of oil imports as well as a national fuels policy.

A member of the subcommittee's staff said he is getting together information concerning critical and strategic minerals but that oil is "part of the program as soon as we can get to it." He added he did not know when that might be.

In its April "Facts and Forecasts," the IPEA says crude production in the United States has been reduced "substantially" in recent months.

"Further cuts in domestic production will be necessary during the coming months unless imports are restricted," it declared.

Dawson Prospector Pulling Drillstem To Check Recovery

Sun No. 1 Dean, northeastern Dawson County explorer, was pulling tool to check results of a drillstem test.

Operator had cored below 10,173 in lime. The interval for the test was from 10,173, and the tool was left open for one hour. There was no issue to the surface and the tool was being pulled.

Even With Science, You Have To Drill A Well To Find Oil

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Science comes increasingly to the aid of the man looking for oil—whether under dry land or under the ocean bed. It uses every device from the airplane to atomic gadgets to locate oil.

Oilmen say that in spite of all the aid science is giving them of late, there's still only one way to find oil—drill a hole and see if there's oil at the bottom of it.

And the chances still are that there won't be. Many more dry holes are drilled than producing wells, the American Petroleum Institute reports.

Oil prospecting tools and methods are constantly being improved, however. And this year the oil industry may spend another 2 1/2 billion dollars in drilling and producing. It spent just over two billion dollars last year, and found more new oil than the record amount of petroleum it pumped, so the nation's oil reserves are higher than ever.

Many sciences unite in helping the oil prospector decide whether it's worth while drilling a hole at a certain place. The Oil and Gas Journal lists some of them: Geology, geophysics, paleontology, mineralogy, chemistry, botany, mathematics, seismology, and nuclear physics. Oil prospectors are likely to use some or all of these in seeking new oil fields.

West Texans Qualify For Final Tests

A boy and a girl from Crane, a girl from Hobbs, N. M. and a boy from Fullerton are among finalists in the Phillips Petroleum scholarship contest.

They are Judy A. Mathis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mathis, and Tommy D. Guest, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Guest, Crane; Vivian F. Crump, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Boggs, Hobbs; and Bobby Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Ellis, Fullerton.

These young people qualified for the scholastic aptitude test of the college entrance examination board to be given May 16 in final selection of 50 winners. Children of Phillips employes are eligible to compete. The scholarship fund is supported entirely by contributions from the company. It was established by a grant of $66,000 from the Frank Phillips Foundation Inc. in 1939. Number of scholarships per year has grown from 12 to 50. Each award carries $500 annually during the four years of college attendance.

The airplane is used increasingly. Aerial photography speeds up mapping. Airborne magnetometers are used in prospecting over water covered areas. This instrument locates broad changes in underground formations.

Airborne scintillometers pick up radioactive radiations beneath the earth's surface. Low radiation is usually found over oil fields and high radiation around them.

The device works something like the atomic "eye" and "searchlight" sometimes used in wells, either completed ones or as they are being drilled.

The eye can see through the steel casing and record the radiation and the searchlight can tell whether the rock holding the oil is porous enough to let it flow out. This device aids the driller in telling whether he is bypassing a likely oil formation.

Oil drillers use many other scientific devices. Gravity meters measure the variation in gravity caused by changes in the rocks below and thus may find structures capable of bearing oil.

Seismographs—like those used to record earthquakes—plot the different rays of energy from a dynamite blast as they hit changing rock layers underground and bounce back to the surface. This shows the depths of various rock formations and how the layers are rising, falling or twisting far below.

aided by many different sciences, the prospector decides he has a likely place to drill. But the institute says the odds are still eight to one against getting a producing well where oil has never been found before.

The search will go on, however. Oilmen estimate that U. S. demand for oil and its producers will soon reach eight billion barrels daily. There is plenty of known oil fields now to supply this.

But the oilman always seeks more reserves to push back the distant day when all the oil might be used up.

And the U. S. Defense Department is urging that these reserves be built still higher as a safeguard in case of war. The vast U. S. holdings of oil overseas could be cut off and the nation would have to run a war on the oil within its borders.

Industry's Largest Displays Taking Shape At Tulsa, Okla.

By BILL SANSONG
TULSA, March 28 (AP)—What tomorrow's petroleum hunter and refiner will be buying and using in this atomic and electronic age will go on display for oilmen here May 14-23 in what is billed as the world's largest single industry show.

It's the International Petroleum Exposition, a spectacle begun three decades ago as an annual event but grown so vast it can be held now only every four or five years.

Although the show's opening is six weeks away, preparations started a year ago and a half ago and its exhibits have been going up for weeks at the 28-acre grounds. Eight acres had to be added this year to the exposition's 20 acres of permanent space to accommodate increased exhibition demand.

Crammed into that area without a wasted inch will be more than 100 million dollars worth of equipment showing by some 1,500 oil industry manufacturers, suppliers and service companies.

Some of it, because of its great size, will be displayed only in small working models. Nevertheless, numerous sky-scraping oil rigs dot the grounds.

One of the largest is a 147-foot, 64,000-pound jack-knife drilling mast, publicized as the biggest of its kind in the world.

possible atomic, infrasonic and ultrasonic drilling, as well as up-to-the-minute trends in air drilling.

Here also will operate models of complete drilling rigs and refineries. All the industry's major divisions are represented—geology, geophysics, development and engineering, transportation, refining.

Industrial television used by the oil industry will be displayed. Cost of the individual exhibits varies from a few dollars for an oil publication's booth to nearly half a million for a drilling mast and its allied equipment.

To see all this, exposition Manager William B. Way estimates, will be a record half million persons, 20,000 of them visiting oilmen. This is about a fourth again the number that attended the exposition's silver anniversary show in 1948, when 43 foreign nations and all 27 oil states were represented.

To advertise the "world's fair of the oil industry," Oklahoma's Spanish-speaking Gov. Johnston Murray toured Latin America for a month last fall, handing out official invitations to governments there.

Of 50 foreign nations expected to send representatives, 35 already have engaged reservations.

Although IPE is a non-profit organization owned and operated by the petroleum industry, its primary purpose is to sell equipment. Few men in the highly-competitive oil business feel they can afford to miss this extravaganza.

Millions of dollars worth of the displays are sold right on the grounds. In 1948, a 167-foot rig used later to drill the world's deepest well, a 20,000-foot plus venture in Wyoming, went for $750,000. It is operating now on a barge in the Gulf of Mexico.

IPE officials estimated then that within a year total sales stimulated by the exhibitions would top a billion dollars.

Farm Program May Depend On Weather

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—The nation is heading toward a showdown on its farm aid programs and the weather may exert more influence on deciding the issue than all the politicians and farm leaders combined.

The present farm program is running into trouble. Encouraged by favorable government price guarantees, farmers are producing more than can be sold. Foreign markets for farm products are falling off because buyers can get supplies cheaper elsewhere. The unsold portion of farm production is being acquired by the Agriculture Department to carry out price programs.

Unless there is a drastic change in the international situation—such as a change of the cold war into a hot one—the department faces heavy losses on its farm stocks, particularly perishable products.

Recent heavy government purchases of butter—with attendant public criticism—helped to point up the farm issue.

Congress has put off until next year the question of what to do about future farm programs. But battle lines are being drawn for what promises to be the hottest fight ever waged over agricultural legislation.

Roughly speaking, farm leaders in and out of Congress are dividing into two conflicting camps. The point at issue is this: How high should the government support farm prices?

One side says that the present high, rigid supports for such basic crops as corn, wheat, cotton, rice, tobacco, and peanuts should be made permanent rather than allowed to expire at the end of the 1954 crop marketing year. Some in this group would add other crops to the list, as well as cattle, hogs, milk, poultry, and eggs.

In this group are a number of Democrats and Republicans. They include former Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, Senators Ellender (D-La.), Young (R-Texas), and Eastland (D-Miss), perhaps a majority of the members of the House Agriculture Committee, and President James Patton of the National Farmers Union.

The opposing group has leaders of both major parties. They include Secretary of Agriculture Benson, Chairman Aiken (R-Vt.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee, Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM), a former secretary of agriculture, President Allan B. Kilns of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and Master Herschel Newsum of the National Grange.

This group favors flexible price supports. It would use price guarantees as a device to influence the pattern of farm production. That is, it would lower the supports when supplies were plentiful and there was need to produce less of an individual commodity. On the other hand, it would raise supports when a shortage threatened.

It is the theory of this group that farmers would adjust production in accordance with the varying price support levels. That is, they would cut down on commodities already available in large supply and produce more of the products in short supply.

Those fighting for retention of the high, rigid supports argue that flexible supports would bring lower farm prices and possible farm recessions.

This brief lineup of the conflicting forces leaves out one very important force—the general public.

Usually not very articulate on farm legislation, the public may well rise to its feet this time and demand a say in the price support question.

And this is where the weather fits into the picture. What it does this year in the way of affecting farm production could stir the public to action.

If weather conditions turn out to be favorable for crop production as well as for dairy and beef cattle pastures, farm output would be the largest of record. In fact, it would be far in excess of market demands. Because of the price support commitments, the government would have to take over the extra supplies and add them to an already heavy stockpile.

Long Walk
 "Peace Pilgrim," who is walking across the continent in a one-woman pilgrimage pleading for peace in the world, arrived in Big Spring on Saturday. She started her journey several weeks ago in California, will continue on US 80 to Dallas, then veer northward to hit Oklahoma City, St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit and Intermediate City. Suter and Anderson were the other two members of the Big Spring cast. Francis Walker was student director.

Eight Students Place In Interscholastic Contests

Eight Big Spring students won honors at the Interscholastic League literary contests in Lubbock Saturday.

They were Iva Hampton, Nina Fryar, Olivia Williams, James Harris, Jodie Miller, Ann Gray, M. E. Hyler, president and general manager of the line.

The proposal will be voted on by union members in San Antonio and McAllen with results expected to be known Sunday night. If approved, the new contract would allow service to begin immediately.

Union Bus Lines operates between San Antonio and Rio Grande Valley points, with one northbound run to Hamilton.

Provisions of the agreement were not revealed. The employees had asked a pay increase of one cent a mile for the drivers. The company had countered with an offer of a gradual pay boost which would amount to a half-cent per mile at the end of a year.

Taking part in today's meeting, besides Hyler, were A. F. Steele and John W. Connally, labor union international vice presidents Charles Hunter, secretary of the local; M. F. Rushing, local-president, and Francis Lyons, Exam Tarrant, and James Bullington, labor union committeemen and employees of Union-Bus Lines.

Sprayberry Oil Order Extended

AUSTIN, April 11 (AP)—A temporary restraining order to prevent enforcement of a Railroad Commission shut-down order in the 500,000-acre Sprayberry oil production area in West Texas was extended today for 10 days.

The order originally issued by Judge Charles O. Betts in 98th District Court April 1 was effective only 10 days. When he issued it, Judge Betts announced he would extend it for an additional 10 days to give both sides time to prepare their cases.

No testimony was taken today when the order was extended. The order was issued to prevent enforcement of the shut-down only on wells from which casinghead gas—that produce along with oil—is not flared.

The commission shut down the field to halt what it called wasteful flaring of gas.

Hearing to determine whether the injunctive proceedings will be continued has been set for April 22. Judge Betts said it was possible a full hearing on the merits of the case would also be gone into at that time.

Youth's Condition Satisfactory After Cycle-Car Mishap

Lloyd Logan Bales, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bales of 1600 Sycamore, Saturday was reported in a satisfactory condition at Big Spring Hospital where he is receiving treatment for a leg injury.

The youth was injured about noon Friday when his motorcycle and a car collided at 11th Place and Benton. Driver of the car involved was Bernadine May Reed, 1300 Pennsylvania, police said.

Lloyd suffered a minor fracture, and muscles and tendons of the leg were badly lacerated.

Two other accidents, neither resulting in personal injuries, occurred in Big Spring Friday.

Driver of one car involved in a wreck in the 1000-block of East Third was fined $10 in city court Saturday for driving without license and for leaving the scene of the accident. He also is charged in County Court with driving while intoxicated.

Police arrested the man in the 500 block of West Third shortly after his car collided with one driven by H. G. West, 1210 E. 4th.

The other mishap occurred at 19th and Burnett. Police said Gilham D. Tinsley, 1012 E. 20th, and Lala Olisha Page, 204 E. 22nd, were drivers of the cars.

$183,020 Collected In License Sales

A total of $183,020.38 was collected from the sale of 1953 automobile license tags in Howard County through April 1.

This is $11,985.07 more than was collected during the first three months of last year. Sales last year totaled $171,935.31.

Mrs. Viola Robinson, tax assessor-collector, stated Saturday that $18,425.73 of this year's collections went to Howard County.

The state got $66,549.65, she said. When licenses are sold, the first $50,000 collected goes to the county. All over $50,000 is split half-and-half between county and state.

If the county share reaches $175,000, then all the rest of the collections go to the state. Mrs. Robinson said.

Last year the county share was $157,725.80. Mrs. Robinson believes that the county share for this year will reach close to the maximum.

Total collection in 1952 were $229,268.45. $157,725.80 going to the county and $102,282.65 to the state.

Conservation, Travel Films To Be Shown

COAHOMA, (SC) — A two-hour showing of conservation and travel movies in color has been scheduled for 8 p. m. at the Coahoma High School Gym, April 16. The public is invited and there will not be any admission charge. A portion of the film, which has been prepared for one of the larger American manufacturers of farm implements, pictures the progress that has been made in agriculture in Yugoslavia since Marshal Tito broke off relations with Russia. The greater part of the film, however, is entitled "Rivers and the Soil," is the story of some of the principal rivers of America, and illustrates the part the rivers play in developing the nation's agricultural resources. It includes colorful scenes of places historically and scenically interesting along such rivers as the Mississippi, the Missouri, the Ohio, the Arkansas, the Rio Grande, the Colorado, the Columbia, the Hudson and the Potomac. Other scenes were photographed in France and in that part of the Austrian Alps where Mozart, the composer, was born.

Treaty-Making Plan Can Be Troublesome

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles may find themselves at odds with Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) if they fail to make peace on a proposed constitutional amendment limiting the President's treaty-making powers. Taft predicts there will be a compromise. Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) is sponsoring an amendment, backed by 63 other senators, which would declare ineffective any treaty abridging constitutional rights. It also would require legislation to make any treaty or agreement effective as domestic law in the United States. Legislation also is pending under which executive agreements made by the President with foreign governments would come under similar limitations. At present such agreements are not subject to congressional approval. All this adds up to legal technicalities in which the average American has little interest, but it may be packed with political dynamite. Backers of the proposals say they are necessary to prevent infringement on constitutional rights of Americans and to prevent international organizations from forcing unwanted social "reforms" on American states. Opponents say they would seriously hamper the President in carrying out foreign policy at a tense period in world affairs. Bricker, who classifies himself as a conservative, represents the group in the Senate who have always opposed the wide-ranging authority which has been assumed by recent Democratic presidents in the field of foreign affairs. Their contention is that Congress—and specifically the Senate with its treaty ratification powers—has more than a merely advisory role in such affairs. These Republicans had been expected by some party leaders to drop the treaty-restriction idea with the advent of a Republican President. But they have been unwilling to do so. Therein lies the political rub for the new administration. Secretary Dulles made a speech a year ago in Louisville, Ky., in which he practically endorsed the Bricker proposal. But since he has assumed the responsibility of the Cabinet job and taken a close look at the machinery from the inside, Dulles has changed his mind. Dulles told a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee that he had been sympathetic to the objectives of the Bricker resolution but now had come to the conclusion that it "may seriously weaken our government in the field of foreign relations in ways which I know the proponents of the resolution do not intend or desire." The subcommittee wound up hearings on the resolution today and planned to begin work Monday on its recommendations to the full judiciary committee. The final witness, Frank E. Holman of Seattle, Wash., a former president of the American Bar Association, urged a drop in one of the constitutional amendments. He called the United Nations Charter a "very dangerous treaty" under which the federal government could force unwanted social reforms on the states. Hoover's proposals came in an address prepared for delivery at the final session of a two-day diamond jubilee convocation of Case Institute of Technology.

Hoover Urges US Get Out Of Power Business

CLEVELAND, April 11 (AP)—Herbert Hoover tonight proposed three "first steps" to "get the federal government out of the business of generating and distributing power" as soon as possible. One of those steps, if followed, might result in a new and different Hoover Commission. The 78-year-old former Republican President declared that in the field of federal electric power "we have an example of 20 years of creeping socialism." Hoover said the federal government will have "about 12 per cent of the utility generating capacity for sale to the public" in 27 states by mid-1953. Generating plants in construction or authorized by Congress would bring that up to "somewhere from 20 to 25 per cent of the electric utility capacity of the nation," he added. As initial remedies, he urged that Congress stop providing money for plants "solely for power," and stop appropriating funds for multi-purpose projects "unless the electric power is first leased" to private industry, or to cities, states or state-managed regional authorities. His third proposal dealt with the creation of a commission. He specified four functions it would perform. He said Congress, "jointly with the President," should set up a "temporary commission on reorganization of this whole federal venture." He said his plan "would begin the end of federal bureaucratic regional control of the states and their people." Hoover's proposals came in an address prepared for delivery at the final session of a two-day diamond jubilee convocation of Case Institute of Technology.

Five Local Fliers End 'Solo' Fights

Five Big Spring men recently have completed "solo" flights toward their private pilots' licenses, Cecil Hamilton, instructor, reported Saturday. Bobby Atwood, who has received most of his training at night, also soloed at night. Hamilton said Atwood is his first night solo student. Others who have made the lonesome flight are Roger Brown, D. F. Wallace, Jimmie Jones and Tommy Gage. CARD OF THANKS I wish to thank Dr. Swift and all the nurses at Malone-Hogan Hospital for their unusual nice services shown me in making my stay more pleasant. Also, to those who have sent flowers, cards, gifts and words of encouragement. May I say again, Thanks for everything. Mrs. R. L. Bowman.

Servicemen's Center Is Popular

The Big Spring Servicemen's Center, although open only a few weeks, is finding favor with the personnel at Webb Air Force Base. The Center, with its hostesses and members of the Girls' Service Organization, serves as a liaison between the military and civilian citizens of Big Spring.

The Center, beginning almost from scratch with much of the materials and labor being donated by local people, has gained momentum as it has gone along.

Shown here are pictures of the servicemen and their hostesses enjoying the facilities found at the Center.

Married 14 years, the Herberts were childhood sweethearts in their native state. In fact, they graduated from high school in the same class. The family lived in Ashby, Ja-

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

If you have decided to reduce, here is a way to do it smoothly, easily, and safely. Just go to your drugstore and get a four-ounce bottle of Barocentrals. Pour into a pint bottle or jar and fill bottle with grapefruit juice. Then take two table-spoonfuls twice a day. The improved Barocentrals carton also contains appetite curb tablets which help to lessen the taste buds which lie on the surface of the tongue. Over four and a half million bottles of Barocentrals have been sold in Texas in nine years. There is no starvation diet or back-breaking exercises with the Barocentrals plan. If the very first box doesn't show you the sensible way to take off ungly weight and help you regain youthful slenderness, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 75 Pounds

"I have lost about 75 pounds and reduced my waist five inches, taking Barocentrals," writes Mrs. A. S. Henderson, 1509 Taylor Street, Paris, Texas. "I feel much better since I got rid of the excess weight."

11 Pounds Lost

Mrs. W. T. Burns, 124 Jackboro, Texas, writes as follows: "I think Barocentrals is a grand medicine. I have lost eleven pounds taking it."

Vivienne Boswell Becomes Bride Of Ensign Donald E. Williams Saturday

Vivienne Boswell became the bride of Ensign Donald Earle Williams in a formal, double ring ceremony Saturday at 8 p.m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Vivian W. Boswell of Fort Worth and Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Williams, 1605 Main.

The Rev. Gaston Foote, pastor, officiated at the ceremony at the First Methodist Church in Fort Worth.

The church aisles were lined with vigil lights draped with smilax and tied with white satin bows centered with white flowers. At the center of the altar was a large bouquet of white gladioli and white stock on a Grecian pedestal flanked by similar arrangements. Tall woodruff trees were used at each end of the rostrum and in the choir loft. The altar rail was decorated with greenery and tall cathedral tapers burned in candelabra inside the chancel rail.

The 50-voice vested choir sang "I Love Thee," "The Lord's Prayer" and the traditional wedding march from "Lohengrin." They were accompanied by Robert Clarke, organist.

Entering on the arm of her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. The moulded lace bodice was complimented by a white decollete neckline edged by scallops of lace and backed by a wide band of knife pleated tulle that extended around the shoulders and graduated to a deep V in the back. The long fitted lace sleeves tapered to petal points over her hands. The neckline and sleeves were accented by clusters of crystals and pearl tear drops. Tiny covered buttons extended down the back of the bodice to the deep V waistline. The extremely full gathered tulle skirt was enhanced on either side by a wide scalloped lace panel that extended to the floor in the front and swept into a wide, fan-shaped train.

Her fingertip tiered veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a Chantilly lace calot accented by a shirred lace front and outlined by tiny seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and gardenias centered by a white orchid.

Mrs. Eldor Conrad was matron of honor and Joan Webb was maid of honor, both are from Fort Worth.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Paul V. Sheedy of Big Spring, sister of the bridegroom, Jackie Garrison of Fort Worth, Mrs. F. Carroll Baird and Mrs. Marc B. Smith Jr. both of Fort Worth, Mrs. W. Henry Anthony of El Dorado, Ark. and Mrs. Don Kennard of Austin. Gayle Boswell of Fort Worth, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

The bridal attendants were identically attired in white length frocks of pale yellow nylon tulle over taffeta. Bands of matching Chantilly lace were set in the bouffant skirts and on the bodices. Softly draped stoles, finished in folds of tulle and lace, were attached to the shoulders of the fitted bodices.

The attendants wore small yellow calots with illusion veiling and carried cascade bouquets of yellow roses tied with white satin ribbon.

Bobby Hollis of Odessa served as best man. Groomsmen were Arthur D. Foster of Haskell, John T. Lewis, Ensor Puckett and Reed Collins of Big Spring, W. T. Morgan of San Diego, Calif., M. C. Bradford Jr. of Amarillo, Cesare Fumagalli of Texas, Jimmy R. Smith of Gatesville and Bruce Boswell of Fort Worth, brother of the bride.

Mr. Bradford and Mr. Fumagalli also lighted the candles.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Pajm Springs and Lake Arrowhead, Calif., Mrs. Williams wore a Paul Parnes suit of navy wool with a white pique collar and cuffs and large pearl buttons. Her shoes and bag were navy blue and white kid and her hat was of white pique. She wore a white orchid corsage.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Williams are graduates of the University of Texas.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Colonial Country Club.

The bride's table was laid with a white satin floor-length cloth and centered with a tall tiered all white wedding cake. The cake was decorated with hand-made white roses and valley lilies of the confession. The cake was topped with a white Dresden cupid.

Flanking the cake were low, crescent shaped Dresden vases filled with white roses, valley lilies and maidenhair fern. On either side of the cake were silver candelabra with white tapers. Smilax with white roses cascaded in front of the table from the candelabra.

Tall baskets of white flowers and greenery formed a background. Organ music was played throughout the evening.

Mrs. Russell Hinote of San Antonio presided at the guest register. Other members of the host party were Marilyn Mosley, Betty Brown, Sylvia Scagartenberg, Anabel Shotts, Diane Broiles, Ann Malone and Mrs. Joe Clingan.

Attending the wedding from Big Spring were the bridegroom's parents and Mr. and Mrs. D. Stanley. Mrs. Ensor Puckett, Mrs. O. L. Rush and Tommy, Mrs. Sophie Corcoran, Mrs. O. T. Arnold, Mrs. A. R. Collins and Mrs. and Mrs. James T. Morgan.

Other out-of-town guests included Mrs. Jimmy R. Smith of Gatesville, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Puckett of Floydada, Mrs. W. E. Bain of Sherman, Mrs. Marvin Livingston of Terrell, Mrs. J. W. Duncan of Edgewood, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Youngblood of Hillsboro, Mrs. Eva Jefferies of Childress, Mrs. Sadie Pruett of Wichita Falls, Mrs. J. H. Judd of Marshall.

She Gives Beauty Advice

Dinah Shore, star of her own NBC-TV television series, tells Lydia Lane that beauty is not a gift, but a habit worth cultivating.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

By Lydia Lane

HOLLYWOOD — Dinah Shore is one of the best loved personalities in Hollywood and her popularity with the public is rapidly earning her the title of "Mrs. Music."

"What is your formula for success?" I asked Dinah one day as we were lunching in the Brown Derby.

"I have no special formula," she said, "but I feel that all successful people have a few fundamentals in common. Desire or ambition isn't enough—you have to have something to sell, and this has to be able to stand up against the competition in your field. But getting to the top and staying on top are two different things."

"What has been most valuable in keeping you out in front?" I asked.

"Dinah considered this thoughtfully before she said, 'Two things come to my mind. The first is an ability to accept criticism. You can't listen to just the things you want to hear. You must be able to examine what you are doing objectively in order to develop. I've been fortunate in having people around me who have told me what I most needed to hear.'

"I think good manners play an important part in success. I mean by that—consideration of others. It may sound corny but I don't think you can do better than follow the golden rule. You are bound to have clashes with people—differences of opinion. But if you always listen to the other person's side and try to understand his point of view, you will be easy to work with and be well liked."

"You've said nothing about the importance of appearance," I commented.

"Appearance certainly cannot be neglected," Dinah confessed that she had learned this the hard way.

"I was auditioning to sing with Tommy Dorsey's band. This was my big opportunity but I lost out to Peggy Lee. They said they liked my voice but they wanted more glamour. I made the mistake of wearing saddle shoes and a sweater."

I asked what had made her dress that way.

"I never considered getting all dressed up in high heels and a low cut gown because the audition was early in the morning. But it taught me a lesson," Dinah began to laugh.

"In fact I let the pendulum swing too far in the other direction. I remember I had an appearance scheduled with Bing and Bob and I wore a black sequin dress with a black feather. They gave me a rough time and that costume was the end of my 'dresy' era."

A group of tourists came over to Dinah's table to ask for her autograph. Dinah chatted with each one individually. Ten minutes later she said, "I'm sorry but when I was in school I made a trip to Hollywood and I've never forgotten the stars who were polite to me and those who were rude."

"What compliment do you value the most?"

"I am so pleased when people tell me how natural I am because I think there is nothing more unattractive than affectation."

I noticed Dinah was avoiding bread and butter and I asked if she had a weight problem.

"I used to," Dinah confided, "but I never seem to gain anymore since I have trained myself not to eat too much. It helps a lot to leave the table always feeling that you could have eaten a little bit more. And when there is something you're especially fond of but that is terribly fattening, allow yourself one spoonful of it."

"That's good psychology," I commented, "especially if you pretend that it's the last spoonful."

I asked Dinah what she considered the top beauty secret she had learned in Hollywood.

"How completely possible it is for people to make themselves over. The studios experiment until they have you as photogenic as possible. I had no talent for doing my hair. It was straight as a poker and my permanents were always too curly, so I used to part it in the middle and bring it straight back. The studio taught me how to bleach it and wear it a different way and I think this change has been the most helpful."

"There is one other," Dinah added, "I had a big space between my two front teeth and I was self-conscious about smiling. But the dentist fixed me with caps and I recommend them to anyone who is unhappy about their teeth."

"What is your favorite cosmetic?"

"It's a cream which has done so much for my skin. I love 'hot weather and had always taken a lot of sun until I dried out my skin so that it looked like a cow-hide which had shrunk. My mother had warned me about this but I didn't listen. I was very discouraged until I admired the skin of a friend of mine and she told me not to give up but to use a lot of cream to restore the oils which the sun had dried out. I was very conscientious about doing this and after a short time I could see a difference."

I told Dinah I thought her skin was lovely now.

Cheese Makes Delicacy Out Of Potatoes

Cheese topping transforms "plain potatoes" into a gourmet's delicacy. This recipe is one of the all-time favorites of ORW readers.

To make cheese topped potatoes use 3 to 4 medium-sized potatoes, cooked and sliced, 1/4 cup pimento cut into strips, 1 cup water, 2 tablespoons flour, 1/4 cup nonfat dry milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley, 1/4-pound sharp cheese, sliced.

Arrange sliced potatoes and pimento strips in a shallow baking dish. Pour water into top of double boiler. Combine flour, dry-milk powder, salt and pepper and sprinkle over surface of water. Beat with rotary beater until just thickened. Cook over hot water until thickened. Add parsley over potatoes. Arrange cheese slices over potatoes. Broil until cheese has melted and is lightly browned—three to five minutes.

Extra Pork Flavor

Here's a way to add savory flavor to pork chops during cooking: Use a small amount of water as the liquid, and add rings of large sweet onion and uncooked prunes. You'll find unusual goodness in the resulting dish.

Under Sheer Blouses

Lingerie straps can be daintily aligned under camisoles and sheer, lacy blouses with gold-plated, sterling or enameled clasps.

Biscuits On The Shelf

Keep several tins of ready-made biscuits in the ice-box so that they will be handy in emergencies. These biscuits can be used in many ways—put them in the hot stew ten minutes before serving and you have some juicy dumplings, put them on top of the chicken casserole and you'll have a nice biscuit crust or cut them in half and wrap them around small sausages; anchovies, meats or fish and bake them in the oven for delectable hors-d'oeuvres.

Kitchen Wax

A new wax has been especially designed for the kitchen to remove greasy cooking film, food stains, smudges and fingermarks from woodwork, walls, enamel and other surfaces. The new product is a blend of waxes, solvents and other cleaning ingredients and is said to be safe and effective for both enamel and porcelain. It leaves a dry protective film which should help guard against dirt.

Find It Right Away

Every necessary implement can be found easily in the purse with a handy brass brinnet chain. To it are attached key, lipstick, lip brush, mirror, perfume dispenser, note pad and ball-point pen.

Little Acorns

Great Oaks from little acorns grow. Huge doors on small hinges turn, and unspeakable destruction from tiny bombs may come. The importance of little things depends on what's inside them. Moses' rod destroyed the power of Egypt; the jaw bone of an ass slew a thousand; a pebble killed Goliath, and an unknown mother's prayer turned a Prodigal Son into Saint Augustine.

Is your little acorn in a cradle? Feed and shelter that little body with utmost care. Teach it reverence for God and devotion to His church. Wesley, Luther, Peter the Hermit and Dr. Harvey Wiley, were once little acorns. Don't neglect your little acorn... God expects you to see it through. Your pastor and your church wait to help you.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace and ivory satin. Ivory lace fashioned the long, pointed sleeves. Peter Pan collar and bodice yoke, deeply ruffled in front and back. The lower part of the bodice, made of satin, was rounded at the low waistline.

The full skirt fell in folds over a hoop skirt and cascaded in back into a wide, circular cathedral-length train. Her fingertip veil of ivory illusion fell from a Dutch type cap of ivory satin covered with matching lace and embroidered with seed pearls in a floral pattern.

The maid of honor wore a bouffant gown of light spring leaf green fashioned with a fitted basque waist and a full floor-length skirt of layers of gathered net over satin.

A wide band of shirred net outlined the drop shoulder neckline and formed cap sleeves. A wide sash around the waist tied into a large bow at the back.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of darker sapphire green in net and faille taffeta, fashioned like the maid of honor's. The bridal attendants all wore Dutch caps and carried crescent bouquets of spring flowers.

Nella Mae Clanton, niece of the bride, of Ralls was flower girl and Lonnie Roy Clanton nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. LaNeva Ann Bishop, and Char-

Our crop of winter wheat is growing well. It is a part of a plan developed by the soil conservation district and the college agriculture department, to get the campus ready for a planting of buffalo grass. This is a native grass of West Texas and it is believed that it will provide a ground cover which will keep the soil in place until such time as an irrigation system can be installed and Bermuda grass can be planted.

A Bible Thought For Today -

If not then the Infinite has gone to unthinkable pains to build up a monumental failure. He who created the eye, the ear, the mind, the universe is not a fool. The universe is more than a child's sand pile. "If a man die shall he live again?" — Job 14:14.

Scholarships Can Be Declaration Of Faith In Our Young College

The other day we noticed an item announcing appropriation of funds by a women's club here for a scholarship to Howard County Junior College. This particular group (B&PW) along with a few others, has made this a practice for several years. It is a practice we think ought to be commended to more organizations.

A sound and eloquent declaration of faith in the college as an instrument of service to them. They are affirming that they seek in the school possibilities which can be realized only through the trained, challenged and inspired lives of people. Our college is young as colleges go. During the short span of years that it has functioned, it has not been free of tribulations. From some pitfalls and difficulties, lessons have been learned. The program and the staff have been steadily strengthened.

Washington Calling - Marquis Childs

Public Won't Forget Congress Assumption Of Too Much Power

WASHINGTON - Again and again this capital has been the arena of a struggle for power between the three branches of government: Legislative, executive and judicial. A phase of that struggle is going on today with the outcome still in doubt.

With the committee, he would become a sort of chief of staff of the Senate clique seeking a complete reversal of foreign and military policy in Asia. He could be at least as powerful as the chiefs of staff in the Pentagon. For these senators, by reason for their powerful committee positions, can determine the size and even to some degree the kind of forces that the chiefs in the Pentagon shall have at their disposal.

Ever since that challenge in 1937, with the exception of the war years, the balance has been shifting from the White House to the Capitol. Only the fact of bipartisanship due in large part to the leadership of the late Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, made it possible to take essential steps to hold the line against Communist aggression. These steps were often taken at the eleventh hour when it was almost too late to save this or that piece in the precarious structure of the free world.

There are those who believe Senator Joseph McCarthy is well on the way to creating his own Department of State. He announces "negotiations" with foreign interests. Members of his staff are in Europe investigating the conduct of foreign policy at the operational level. This dangerous blurring of the powers of the co-ordinate branches of government is evident in the continuing dispute over whether Congress shall get the executive department files. It took acute form in the controversy over confirmation of Charles E. Bohlen to be ambassador to Moscow.

Uncle Ray's Corner

Sunday Talk: First Civilization

A question about the oldest civilization has come to me from Roy Brown, who writes: "We have been debating on the oldest known civilization on earth. I say it is the Chinese. Am I right or wrong?"

Babylonia, known as Sumeria, contained people who were pioneers in writing and in using metal tools. If the Sumerians were behind the Egyptians, they were not very far behind. Among the people of eastern and southeastern Asia, the Chinese and the residents of India appear to have been the first to become civilized. The written records of China and India take us back more than 4,000 years.

"Medical Reports Show That You Don't Feel So Good"

Spotlighting A Week Of News

Reds Haven't Been Very Generous In Their Terms, But Maybe We Are Early

By FRED GREENE Communist sincerity was put to a test this week and the results are not yet conclusive enough to assert that the current peace offensive is completely serious one. The Red, meeting at Korea's truce site, Panmunjom, reached an accord with the United Nations Command to exchange sick and wounded prisoners. However, the UN was extremely disappointed by the Red figure of 600 to be released. This includes mostly prisoners from other Allied nations. About 125 Americans are expected to be freed.

him of violating the spirit of a state anti-lobbying act by accepting a fee in connection with a sale of a hospital. Former Secretary of the Army Frank Pace told a Senate committee he never saw reports from Gen. James Van Fleet that there was an ammunition shortage in Korea. Former Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett earlier had said he was so disgusted with Army handling of an ammunition shortage that he turned the problem over to a civilian assistant. As of now, however, the ammunition situation in Korea is sound. Nevertheless, senators are seeking names of people who can be held responsible so the probe will continue.

Civil action in an alleged oil cartel suit, initiated by the Democratic regime, will continue. President Eisenhower, fully aware of the fact that any truce in Korea may result in over-optimism, warned that a peace there will stay mean U. S. troops are needed in that country. Occupation duties and clean-up details will require troops. The CIO and AF of L opened talks this week aimed at a possible merger. Hopes, however, are not high that such an accomplishment will be realized. The negotiators are hopeful of at least cutting down "raiding" by each union.

What About Cancer?

Cancer Of Cervix Can Be Cleared Without Deaths

By CHARLES S. CAMERON, M.D. One does not have to die of cancer of the cervix.

cervix was made easy by development of the vaginal smear test, known as the Papanicolaou test. Cells are constantly shed from internal surface tissues. Malignant cells are shed in the secretions just as normal cells are. Suspected cells can be detected by expert microscopic study.

When a group of apparently healthy women are tested, about one out of 300 are found to have changes in the cell structure that suggest cancer. Laboratory examination of sample tissues will show whether cancer actually exists in an early stage. This is the time to find it—the time when it is most easily cured. It can be too late when a woman goes to her physician because she has discovered warning signs: unusual vaginal bleeding between periods or irregular, prolonged or heavy periods. Bleeding which occurs after the menopause also calls for immediate medical examination. But even in the more advanced cases, the cure rate is rising as the result of improved methods of surgery and radiation.

Early detection of cancer of the cervix may be expected in virtually all cases detected in this early microscopic stage, long before the patient is aware something is wrong. Early detection of cancer of the cervix may be expected in virtually all cases detected in this early microscopic stage, long before the patient is aware something is wrong. Early detection of cancer of the cervix may be expected in virtually all cases detected in this early microscopic stage, long before the patient is aware something is wrong.

Bible Words to Live by

My favorite verse of the Bible is John 3:16: "God so loved the world that he gave his only son that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life." R.S.V. To me this is the greatest sentence that ever fell from the lips of any being. It has been translated into more languages and dialects than any other sentence. It has been committed to memory by more people than any other sentence. It has been called the World's Golden Text, The Little Bible. For me it is the Great Gospel. It contains four gospel truths: The source of salvation: God so loved the world; the means of salvation: that he gave his only son; the condition of salvation: that whoever believes in him; and the blessing of salvation: should not perish but have eternal life. If all the rest of the Bible should be destroyed and this one verse remained I would have all the Gospel I need. Bishop C. H. Stauffer, The Evangelical United Brethren Church

If Speleologists Look For Smells, They've Got Themselves A Boy

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

A speleologist, in case this is vital to you, is a character who goes probing around into underground caverns to see what he can find. Probably nothing but fancy rocks or examples of pre-historic smoochy life, or dead fish or something. And possibly odors. If it's odors they are after, I can match talents with any speleologist, senior grade. It all goes like this: I come home in the evening, enter the kitchen, get a whiff of a strange smell and sniff hard a couple of times. "What's cooking, skunk cabbage?" I say to the Dream Girl. The look she gives me in reply is enough for me to know that there's no skunk cabbage in my kitchen. "But don't you smell something funny?" I ask. "Since you mention it, I do," she says.

So we start on a sniffing tour—you know, just like a couple of bloodhounds on a trail. This goes on for some time until imagination begins to out-distance tired nostrils and we are smelling everything from Lewisite gas to decayed mushrooms. "I believe it's in the kitchen," I volunteer. "Smells worse to me in the bathroom," the D. G. answers. More sniffing in unison and on separate paths. "You're sure some of these house plants haven't decayed," I suggest. We go sniffing at all the potted plants. Small healthy enough. We go bird-dogging into all the closets, all the bureau drawers. This is a most elusive kind of odor. It is always either right behind us or just ahead of us. "It's either gas or the plumbing," says the D. G., finally, with a positive attitude.

"Yeah, well I guess we could call a plumber," is my observation. "Look, Enchanted Boy," she says with some impatience, "you could stick your head under the house and try to arrive at something more positive before calling up a lot of people." "Oh—er, sure. But by George, I believe that smell is coming from the outside," I say, albeit weakly. I go outside, turn up my proboscis and take some deep breaths. No tangible results. We compromise by calling the gas company and ask them to check a leak. Hah, they'll find it, I say to myself. The mag comes and turns off the gadgets, puts his stethoscope to the meter, and all that sort of thing. He can't find a gas leak. The smell is still there. A little while passes, until the Dream Girl says we either eliminate the smell, or we move. Am I going under the house or not? OK, OK, I say. Now what happens is that porch added on to the house covers up the opening through the foundation. I have to go through a trap door in the floor of the porch, slither around under there until I find the foundation opening. Then I have to make a right-hand turn to get to a hole no bigger than one in the Dutch dike. All this, where the clearance must not be more than 10 inches of the ground. This is not easy for a man who is not as limsome as he once was. I start, with my trusty flashlight. Bugs and things seem to crawl on me. Cobwebs brush my eyes. I skin both elbows and both knees, and knock four big knots on the top of my head. All the time I am sniffing and whiffing like mad, and flashing my light in all directions, looking for a Stinky. The smell is still elusive, either just ahead of me or just behind me. I finally snake-bark out from under the house, emerge joyfully for medication and some bandaging. "Hasn't that smell gone yet?" I cry in desperation. "I could go find anything under there." This, I submit, qualifies me as a speleologist, and anytime they want a stupa to go probing with them into dark and dismal places, I have had my orientation. Makes a fellow feel good, to know that he could start right off speleologizing just anytime he feels like it. The smell? Oh, it left like it came, on the wings of a breeze or something. Do you suppose she might have been cooking skunk cabbage that day, after all? —BOB WHIPKEY

Today And Tomorrow - Walter Lippman

If Dulles Can Change Mind About Bricker Plan, So Can 63 Senators

The hearings on the Bricker resolution have shown that the immediate adoption of this amendment to the Constitution can do no good and that most probably it would do great harm. Sen. Bricker is proposing to change radically the constitutional system under which the foreign relations of the United States have been conducted since the first beginnings of the Republic. His amendment would change the respective powers of the President, the Senate and of the House of Representatives in the field of foreign relations. Because its far-reaching legal consequences cannot be foreseen, it would infect all the foreign relations of this country with radical uncertainty. It is a tremendous thing to introduce a radical uncertainty into the established order of powers and usages in a field where the stakes are war and peace, the security and vital interests of the nation, the lives of multitudes of men and women. There can be no warrant for acting hastily upon, or for tinkering and tampering impatiently with, the American system unless it can be shown that there is some overriding emergency, some clear and present and enormous danger which calls for quick action, regardless of the consequences.

Where then did the contrary notion arise? It arose, I think, from the fact that the Supreme Court held that the Federal government had the power to do what the Constitution forbids, but what the Constitution does not forbid. This, the Constitution does not forbid Congress to protect birds, which migrate every year from state and international frontiers. The Congress may protect them by law which is "supreme law" — that is to say enforceable throughout the Union. But Congress is expressly forbidden to make laws respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise of religion, or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press, etc. etc., and according to the Supreme Court in Missouri vs. Holland no treaty could give Congress the right to make such laws. Sen. Bricker would, I suppose, say that he does not agree with this reading of the Supreme Court opinion, and that it is conceivable that an Administration might find a legal loophole for employing the treaty power to subvert the constitutional liberties of the country.

There is, therefore, no reason at all why this radical alteration of the American system should not be examined and debated much more thoroughly than it has been. The hearings have shown beyond any doubt that the proposal, has not been adequately examined. On this, the crucial point, Secretary Dulles offered conclusive evidence when, as a result of longer study and reflection, he reversed his own legal opinion, made in his address last April at a regional meeting of the American Bar Association in Louisville. If Mr. Dulles, with all his legal experience in this very field, has changed his mind after further study, then there must surely be many among the sixty-three Senators who will feel that they may not have given this serious matter the full consideration it deserves. For the point on which Secretary Dulles reversed himself between April 1952 and April 1953 is the crux of the issue raised by the Bricker resolution. In April 1952 Mr. Dulles said "under our Constitution treaties become the supreme law of the land. They are, indeed, more supreme than ordinary laws, for Congressional laws are invalid if they do not conform to the Constitution, whereas treaty law can over-ride the Constitution." But on Monday, Secretary Dulles told the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee that "I do not believe that treaties should, or lawfully can, be used as a device to circumvent the constitutional procedures established in relation to what are essentially matters of domestic concern."

The difference between Mr. Dulles' first opinion and his second, between Sen. Bricker's and that of his opponents, is over whether "treaty law can over-ride the Constitution." The arguments that a treaty can over-ride the Constitution rests on an opinion, Missouri vs. Holland rendered by the Supreme Court in 1920. Con-

HI--TALK

By Margie McDougale

We'll kids this week starts us off on the last six weeks of this school year. It is the last six weeks of high school for the seniors, so we had better make the most of it.

Some of the highlights of the weeks ahead are the senior trip, shorthand trip to Ft. Worth, junior and senior prom, farewell dance for the seniors, senior play and last but not least the 1953 graduation.

If you notice the junior class extra happy it is because they will soon be ordering their senior rings. Mr. Ezell will be here the 14th and 15th to take the orders. Be sure to bring $3 for the deposits. This ring has been the standard ring for Big Spring since 1929.

The Corral staff has started working on the senior edition of the Corral. Copies will go on sale soon and they can be purchased from any Corral staff member.

A new event has been added to BSHS. On April 17, we will have Kid Day and theater party.

April 17 and 18 the Shorthand Club and El Rodeo staff will journey to Ft. Worth to tour the office buildings and attend the Ice Capades. They will leave at 1 p. m. Friday on chartered buses and return about 7 p. m. Sunday.

The junior class voted to have the annual junior-senior prom in the Settles ballroom. This is to be held on May 16. John Harvey Austin and his Merry Makers will furnish dance music for this event.

The annual election for student body officers of 1953-54 will be held April 13.

The Shorthand Club sponsored a Potato Dance in the Cafeteria Saturday night after the Track Meet. The idea was to see which couple could dance the longest with a potato between their heads. The winners of the contest were Charles Fox and Judy Douglas. Some of the kids seen dancing were Narel Dene Choate, Marvin Wise, Eunice Freeman, Wayne Tollett, Diana Farquhar, Moe Madison, Nanette Farquhar, Frank Long, Mary Ella Bigony, Oakley Hagood, Kay Bonafield, Robert Utley, Martha Johnson, Jeff Hanna, Casey Jones, Don Reed, Gerald Scott, Ronnie Sanders, Bud Whitney, Joyce Edwards, Sharon Choate, Joyce Hill, Donna Blu, Jimmy Lowke, Lila Turner, Robert Angel, Study Club and members of Epilon Sigma Alpha.

College girls who served as junior hostesses while they were home from school were Kitty Roberts, Susan Houser, Marilyn Miller, Jo Ann Smith and Janie Echols.

Others serving were Marie Brand, Luann Lovelace, Mildred Olive, Fayre Price, Minnie Ola Wood, Mrs. Essie Person, Mrs. C. E. Richardson, Avon Wilcke, Lenae Tynes, Marilyn Petty, Cleo Warren and Mrs. Billy Cook.

Besides the airmen from Webb Air Force Base, there have been visitors from Fort Bliss and Carswell Air Force Base.

Furnishings still needed at the center include a magazine rack, electric percolator, canasta cards, Chinese checkers, sheet music and long playing records. Anyone who would like to contribute any of these items should call Edith Gay Clark at 2669-K or 9781.

Troop Plans Camp

Girl Scout Troop 18 made plans for a troop camp at Colorado City Lake when they met at the Girl Scout Little House recently. Ten members and the leaders, Mrs. Jack Wilson and Mrs. J. D. Kendrick, were present. Joyce Partin was a visitor.

If you want to avoid curdling homemade tomato soup, add the tomatoes to the milk a little at a time, stirring as you do so. Don't add the milk to the tomatoes!

Junior Forum Makes Plans For Tea To Fete Mrs. Dudley

Plans were made for a tea to be held April 23 honoring Mrs. L. E. Dudley of Abilene when the Junior Woman's Forum met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. D. Elliott.

Mrs. W. E. Gibson Jr. was co-hostess.

The tea, from 7:30-9 p. m., will be held in the home of Mrs. Cecil McDonald. Guests will be members of the state federated clubs and personal friends of members. Mrs. Dudley, first vice president of the state Federation, will be presented earlier in the day in a book review at the Howard County Junior College auditorium.

Mrs. Jack Y. Smith, project chairman, distributed tickets for the review which will be sponsored by the Thursday Review Club. The tickets will be sold by members to persons who do not have a season's ticket.

It was announced that the club's press book won third place at the district convention held recently in Odessa. The constitution and by-laws were read during the meeting.

Mrs. Clyde Johnson spoke on "What Shall We Do About Displaced Persons?" She pointed out that if a displaced person should fall on the relief rolls in the United States during his first five years in America, he would be deported. "So far, none have been deported for this reason," she said. The largest majority of displaced persons are situated in New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Mrs. Willard Hendrick discussed "How Shall We Educate and Americanize Immigrants?" She told the group that the best way to educate the immigrants is to start their children in school and show interest in their work. "Take a part of their culture and blend it with yours," she concluded.

New officers will be installed at the meeting May 1. Fourteen attended.

Emergency Shelf Cure For Jitters

Have you got an emergency shelf in your kitchen?

A shelf you stock with staple items that can be whipped into a quickie meal?

It's a sure cure for last minute company jitters to have the makings of a whole meal ready to go into the oven on just a few minutes' notice.

A can of luncheon meat, a can of peach slices, a few whole cloves, a can of string beans and some brown sugar can turn the trick. Today's recipe centers the meal around glazed meat with the peach slices and uses buttered string beans as its accompaniment. To make Glazed Meat and Peaches use 1½ cups canned cling peach slices, one 12-ounce can luncheon meat, whole cloves, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, ¼ cup syrup from peaches.

Drain peaches. Cut meat part way through into three or four slices and stick with cloves. Spread meat apart slightly and fill each cut with two or three peach slices. Arrange remaining peaches around meat in shallow baking dish. Combine sugar and syrup and drizzle over meat and peaches. Bake in moderate oven—350 degrees—about 20 minutes until thoroughly heated. Serves four.

Public Buildings Considered Safe

Fire enveloped a one-story nursing home in Largo, Fla., trapping and burning to death 33 persons. Such a tragedy could happen in Big Spring, but it isn't expected to. Virtually all public buildings here are considered about as disaster-proof as they can be made, according to Fire Chief H. V. Crocker.

There are two or three public and semi-public buildings in Big Spring which could become fire traps, but they're all equipped with fire escapes, Crocker says. Outside of replacement with fire-resistant structures, there's little else that can be done to make them safer. Big Spring schools, hospitals, and similar institutions are free of fire hazards. Local schools are in the best shape they've been in for years, the fire chief reports. Crocker and Fire Marshall F. W. Bettie make semi-annual inspections of schools in search of fire hazards. They also look at hospitals and other public buildings. Several precautionary measures were recommended to school officials as a result of inspections in the past year. All corrections have been made, Crocker states. Improvements, from the fire-prevention standpoint, included installation of vents on all heating equipment and addition of fire extinguishers to facilities of all school buildings, including Howard County Junior College.

Pressure checks are made on all gas lines, fittings and equipment each time schools are inspected. Fire drills, conducted at the schools on regular schedule, also are staged for the benefit of the fire marshal and fire chief when they make fire-prevention visits.

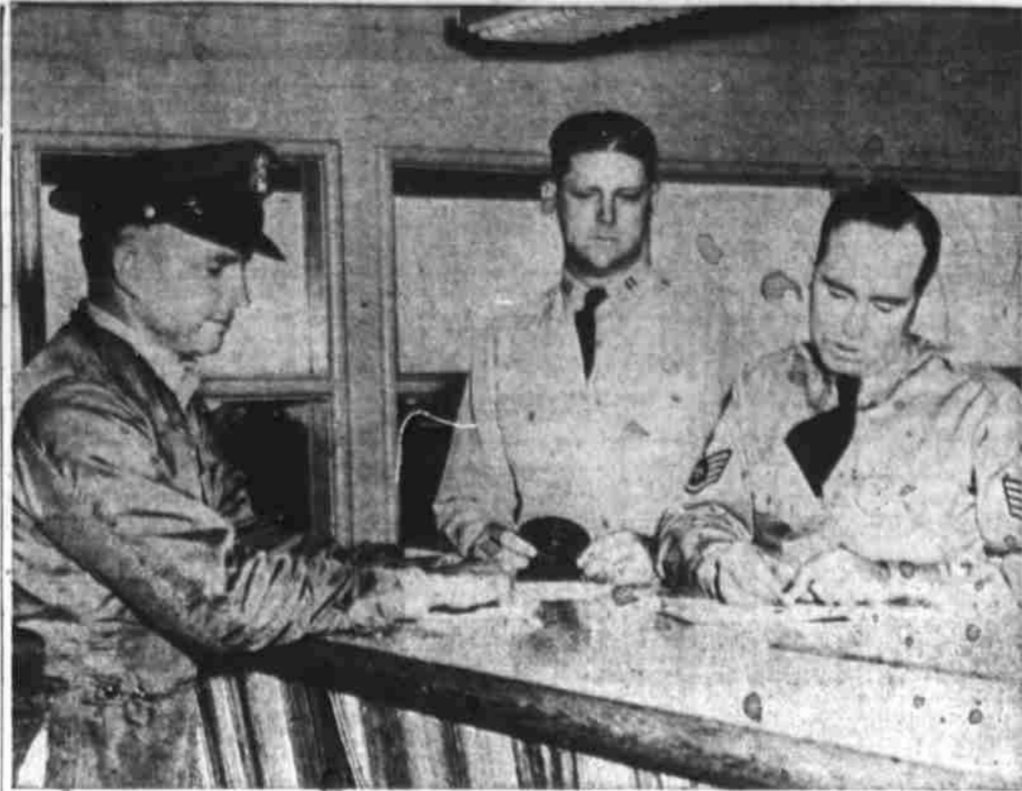

Openings Noted For Families Who Want To Move To Farms

These are still several openings for Latin-American families who want to move to farms to live, according to Leon M. Kinney, manager of the Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission.

The head of these families, Kinney explains, must have had some general farm experience. Persons who are interested, he said, can get further information at the TEC office at 213 West Third St. During the week, Kinney reported 46 persons filed claims for unemployment compensation, and 16 new applications for work were filed. Fifty persons were referred to jobs during the week and of these 35 were placed in employment.

Office visits during the week totaled 354, he said.

The planet Saturn was at least 3 satellites.

Gets A Helping Hand

Base Ops Has Job Of Keeping Track Of All Flights At Webb

A job that requires 24-hour duty, seven days a week, 365 days a year is strictly a going concern. And this outfit doesn't happen to pay any time-and-a-half for overtime. The section is Base Operations at Webb Air Force Base.

Base Operations is continually on alert filling one of a half-dozen or more highly important jobs in relation to Air Force flying. "One thing is for sure," said Captain Leo G. Bradford, Base Ops officer, "there's never a dull moment in our outfit."

That's probably the understatement of the year when one studies the duties and responsibilities of Operations.

All pilots, both transient and from the local base, must clear with Operations before taking off. This is exclusive of the cadets who have their own clearing agency within the Pilot Training Group for local hops. However, when the cadets take cross-country flights, they too must file flight plans with Base Operations. When a pilot at Webb is ready to leave he reports to the dispatch desk for maps of the area he will fly over. He also checks the Weather Station and plots his course from the pertinent information gathered.

Speaking of maps, Webb Operations, as do all other Air Force Base Ops, have at fingertip disposal aerial maps of any and all sections in the United States. After putting his data together, the pilot files a flight plan.

For example, let's say the pilot is going to fly to Kelly AFB at San Antonio. The dispatcher picks up the Flight Service phone, which in this case will be a direct line to Carswell AFB at Ft. Worth — Flight Service headquarters for this area.

Says the dispatcher at Webb, "Webb with a VFR (Visual Flight Rules) flight plan. It's on Air Force 6316—a T-33 jet. Pilot is Henaley. He's out of Big Spring. It will be VFR direct to San Antonio landing at Kelly AFB. Air Speed 300 knots. VHF 8 (Very High Frequency) — speaking of radio channels. Assumed takeoff time 0830 hours. ETE (Estimated Time Enroute) is 40 minutes. Pilot Rating is 2-2 (Senior Pilot with white instrument card). Highest rank aboard is 8." (Captain).

With this information the pilot is cleared and he can depart for his destination. When he lands in San Antonio, Kelly AFB Operations alerts Carswell, who in turn relays the information to Webb Base Operations, and the pilot is erased from the flight board. This is one of Base Ops big responsibilities—keeping track of all flights coming to and from Webb. The chief dispatcher at Webb AFB's Operations is T-Sgt. Charles A. Zilem.

Base Operations is usually headquarters for all hitchhikers in the Armed Forces. Base personnel, as well as transient servicemen, and men home in Big Spring on leave can be seen waiting in the foyer for hops to different parts of the country.

When a sailor from San Diego finds out a C-47 is going to Los Angeles, he contacts the pilot. If there's room aboard and parachutes available, the seaman has got himself a free ride. S-Sgt Raymond Turner is in charge of the personal equipment section in Webb's Base Ops, and it's here that chutes can be checked out.

Another duty of Operations is maintaining liaison between the Weather Station and Airways and Air Communication Service for navigational and communication assistance to pilots. Base Ops also keeps a current file of "Form 5's," which are a pilot's complete log of time in the air. When a flyer is deficient in flying hours, he is notified by the section. All pilots must log four hours monthly to remain on flying status. A-2C Ralph E. Tanner is in charge of the "Form 5" section.

Webb Operations handles a myriad of transient aircraft that stop in for refueling. The air base has serviced all types of jet fighter planes — both Air Force, Navy and Marine. The Navy F-3D, a twin-engine jet, caused quite a bit of talk when it refueled here a few days ago. Some of the latest AF craft to land here are the F-94C (Starfire), the F-86D (Saberjet), and the F-89 (Scorpion)—all all-weather interceptors. The base has also handled the B-17 bomber, C-54 transport, and the B-45 jet bomber.

Assisting Captain Bradford is Lt. Billy Rousseau, who like the captain, has over 2,000 hours in the air. The non-com in charge is M-Sgt. Jerry W. Henry. The total section has a complement of 12 airmen, three civilians, and two officers—a small pumber when one stops to consider the size of the job that Webb Operations handles.

B-29 Is Due To Arrive

Captain Leo G. Bradford, Webb AFB Operations Officer, points to the flight bulletin board showing the scheduled arrival of a B-29 for refueling. S-Sgt. M. A. Martin (center) and T-Sgt. Charles A. Zilem, chief dispatcher, check the pilot's position on an aerial strip map. The B-29 was warned not to land at Webb because the runway was built to accommodate fighters and medium bombers, and they didn't want to risk cracking the concrete.

Atomic Energy Enthusiast To Be K-F Speaker

John D. Craig, well-known showman and adventure lecturer, will address the next meeting of the Big Spring Knife and Fork Club, which is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Settles.

Craig, who is enthusiastic over future possibilities of atomic energy, will speak on "A Layman's Approach to the Scientific Age." He is well qualified for discussion on atomic energy, having been the AFB officer in charge of motion picture activities at Bikini. Subsequently, he spent considerable time in Lower California to gather further data on current scientific experiments of interest to the layman.

Knife and Fork Club members have been reminded that Tuesday noon is the deadline for making reservations for the meeting.

Riding THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

It's Tougher Than It Maybe Knows

There are some strange things about mesquite.

For example, the Texas State Historical Association recently published a $25, two-volume handbook on Texas that doesn't mention, much less discuss, mesquite as such, although it is really more the State Tree than the Pecan, or more the State Flower than the Bluebonnet. The handbook refers to the town of Mesquite; the Mesquite Branch, an intermittent stream; four different Mesquite Creeks; the Mesquite Indians, a sort of bastard tribe, and Mesquite Landing in Refugio County, but not mesquite itself.

And this mesquite is probably more rugged than anything else in Texas. More rugged even than the Longhorns because they disappeared while the mesquite has increased.

Up in Southern Borden County there is a particularly tenacious mesquite. The new growth has taken root and is growing from a mesquite trunk that was killed and knocked over last year, and that apparently is as dead right now as any mesquite will ever be. So far as can be ascertained all the water this new growth is getting is what it receives from what is soaked up by that dead trunk when it showers once in every third Blue Moon.

Yes sir, that mesquite is tougher than even it maybe knows. Such examples of its ruggedness aren't at all unusual.

Over in Stanton there is a very beautiful rose bush, and on Easter Morning this bush was filled with big red roses. On her way to Sunday School that morning a little girl stopped and plucked four of these big roses. As she went down the street she met Jim Kelly, editor of the Stanton Reporter.

"Good morning, Mr. Kelly," she greeted him.

"Good morning, Honey," he answered.

"Mr. Kelly, do you know what day this is?"

"It's Sunday, Honey."

"Yes, but what Sunday, Mr. Kelly? What do these remind you of?" she held up the four beautiful blossoms.

Jim looked at the bouquet. "Honey," he told her, "you won't understand, but they remind me of the years I lost because of a man named Mr. Volstead."

While we were having a cup of coffee at the Twins Cafe a technician for the Soil Conservation Service explained one of the toughest problems those fellows face.

He thinks the impression has gotten around that the practice of a complete conservation program is very expensive for the farmer or rancher. On the contrary, he said, the SCS doesn't want any farmer or rancher to adopt any conservation program that isn't designed to make money for him.

"No conservation program is any good," this man explained, "unless it is economically sound."

What he meant was, that unless it can reasonably be calculated to be profitable it wouldn't be true conservation, anyway.

He then went ahead to explain

Area Aggies Slate Muster

The annual Aggie Muster of former students of the A&M College of Texas who live in this area will be held April 21 in Big Spring to carry on a tradition that is 50 years old this year.

Scheduled to begin at 7:30 p. m., the 1953 Muster program will be held in the High School Cafeteria. A muster is held each year by students and former students of Texas A&M to pay their respects to fellow Aggies who have passed on and also as a humble tribute to the Texans who won the freedom of the state at the Battle of San Jacinto near Houston 117 years ago.

The Big Spring A&M Club Muster will be one of more than 400 similar ceremonies held by thousands of former students and friends of A&M over the world.

Jack Cook, president of the local A&M Club will serve as master of ceremonies for the evening's events. Others scheduled to appear on the program are W. S. Goodlett Jr., Muster Chairman. Cook invites all A&M men and their wives in the area and friends of the College to join in one of the greatest traditions to be found in American colleges and universities. Make reservations before Saturday April 18 by calling Jack Cook at 440 or 2309-W. for the dinner to be held in connection with the Muster.

that the average farmer can practice good conservation with the same particular piece of equipment he ordinarily uses in his farm operations. When some particular piece of equipment is needed that the individual farmer will not find it economically sound to buy for himself this equipment is usually purchased by the supervisors of the Soil Conservation District and hired out to the farmers at a low rental.

"We are not going to suggest that any farmer buy any equipment," the technician said, "that will not be a profitable investment for him, and equipment that he could only use occasionally is not usually a sound investment."

The Soil Conservation Service is putting emphasis on the farmer doing the best conservation job he can with what equipment he has, or can get from a neighbor or from the SCS. These men also suggest that the farmer with a technical machine problem talk it over with his local implement dealer. The way they tell it Howard County farmers can supply all their mechanical conservation needs through some local implement dealer.

These dealers, the technicians point out, have made a thorough study of the genuine machine needs of the area and are well prepared to advise with the farmer.

"No conservation program," they repeat, "is a sound conservation program unless it is also economically sound." To this they again add the thought that farmers can practice conservation farming with equipment they now have, or can get from a neighbor or from the SCS.

Before investing in any new equipment the farmer will do well to have a heart-to-heart talk with the SCS technicians and with his local implement dealers.

Down near Lee's Store Tools Mansfield plans on seeding Hubam clover on some thin, rocky land, while east of Fortan Blue Panic grass is being planted for a part of the ranch owned by the Mary Chalk Estate, as a grazing project.

Charles T. Lindsey of Coahoma is planning on planting some Buffelgrass for seed production, and J. B. Pickle says he is going to plant both Blue Panic and Buffel on his place south of Big Spring.

Speaking of Blue Panic, it well survived the 1952 drought on the dryland farm of L. C. (Hoot) Tom west of Stanton and provided good grazing. Tom is now so well pleased with the grass that he is planning on planting another 70 acres. He says that although the plants were grazed close to the ground, they survived the winter in a good stand and were making a new growth before the middle of March.

This grass was planted in 40-inch rows in the spring of 1951, at the rate of one and one-half pounds of seed to the acre. In planting he used lister points with the wings removed to open shallow furrows in the sandy loam soil. He got some grazing from the grass the first year, and last summer grazed 30 cows for two months on 50 acres in spite of the drought.

The 26th annual Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show, one of the three largest expositions of dairy cattle in the United States, opened at Plainview yesterday and will continue through next Friday, April 17.

It is anticipated that close to 800 dairy animals will be on exhibit there. These will come principally from herds in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. Cash prizes for the winning animals in five breed departments total $3,500. The five breeds are Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Jersey, Milking Shorthorns and Holstein. Last year there were about 475 animals at the show.

Each breed is assigned its particular "day" at the show. Tomorrow (Monday) is Brown Swiss Day; Tuesday will be Guernsey Day; Wednesday is Jersey Day; Thursday has been set aside for the Milking Shorthorns, and Friday will be Holstein Day.

There will be auction sales of Milking Shorthorns and Holsteins—the Shorthorns will sell Thursday afternoon and the Holsteins on Friday afternoon, both sales starting at 1 p. m.

While Tuesday is official Guernsey day the program that day will start with the intercollegiate dairy cattle judging contest, the first of its kind to be held in connection with the Plainview show. Teams have been entered from Texas Tech; Oklahoma A&M; at Stillwater; Panhandle A&M at Goodwell; Kansas State College at Manhattan, and New Mexico A&M.

4-H Club and FFA Chapter members were active at the show yesterday and youth will also be spotlighted tomorrow morning when 4-H and FFA entries are judged.

The annual Smith-Doxey program is ready for Howard County farmers. It has been announced by H. J. Matejowski, who is in charge of the Abilene Cotton Classing Office.

This program is sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's P-M Cotton Branch, and enables co-operating cotton improvement groups to get their cotton classed without cost. It also makes available to them free market price quotations from which they can judge local cotton values.

Application forms for the 1953 program can be gotten from the Abilene Cotton Classing Office, P. O. Box 2001, Abilene, or from local ginners. The Abilene office is located at 1407 South First Street, and the telephone number is 4-7066.

One application by the group leader covers all members. Last year a large number of Howard County farmers co-operated in the program.

Engineers with the Lamesa unit of the Soil Conservation Service have recently assisted several Dawson County farmers with their irrigation programs.

In the Pumpkin Center community two well sites were located on the C. A. Barron farm; ditch lines and row-directions were run on the W. E. Archer farm and the location of a well site for the Maul farm has been discussed in keeping with soil type and land slope.

Ditch lines have been run for Orlis Cline who plans to develop more intensive soil and water conservation practices, and on the Rex Dunn farm, northeast of Welch the engineers have checked some land leveling where Dunn has removed high spots to improve watering.

Row directions have been run on the L. B. Vaughn farm, one mile east of Midway, and ditch lines have been run of the J. W. Butcher farm, one-half mile north of Woody.

'Roll Forward'

Otto Peters Sr., veteran Red Cross lay instructor, shows one group of pupils how to administer the Neilson back pressure-arm lift method of artificial respiration. At right, Steve Baker turns a patient into position. Around 1,400 senior and junior pupils learned the rudiments last week of the new method.

High School Students Finish Course In Health And Safety

For 10 periods one day last week, Otto Peters Sr. called out this message: "Hands on, roll forward, raise, lift."

Approximately 1,400 senior high school and junior high school pupils responded. Peters told his pupils, call for a rotation of personnel, and start again. When the various periods were over, the pupils went away at least with the fundamentals of the new Neilson Back Pressure-Arm Lift method of artificial respiration in mind.

The demonstration climaxed a six-week program of "health and safety" in the physical education department.

Assisting Peters, longtime Co-dene employee who has held more Red Cross first aid classes than any other layman in West Texas and possibly the country, were Herbie Smith and Steve Baker from the Texas Electric Service Company.

Actual practice was prefaced by a brief talk on breathing and how artificial respiration helps in emergencies.

"Work fast," Peters told his listeners. "Each minute you delay might cost a life."

Deftly, he showed how to put one of victim's hands above his (the victim's) head, and the other hand against his face, roll the body over with one of the hands above the head. This should leave the face to one side to assure unobstructed breathing.

Then he showed how the operator gets down on both knees at the head of the patient. He places his hands on the back of the patient and says to himself as he works: "Hands on, roll forward, raise, lift." As he said "raise, lift," he took hold of the patient's elbows and lifted. This raised the chest.

Then the pupils took over—three to a group. This gave a victim and two workers. To insure speed, workers held their own breath until they started operations on the patient. Workers and patients rotated so all would get in practice.

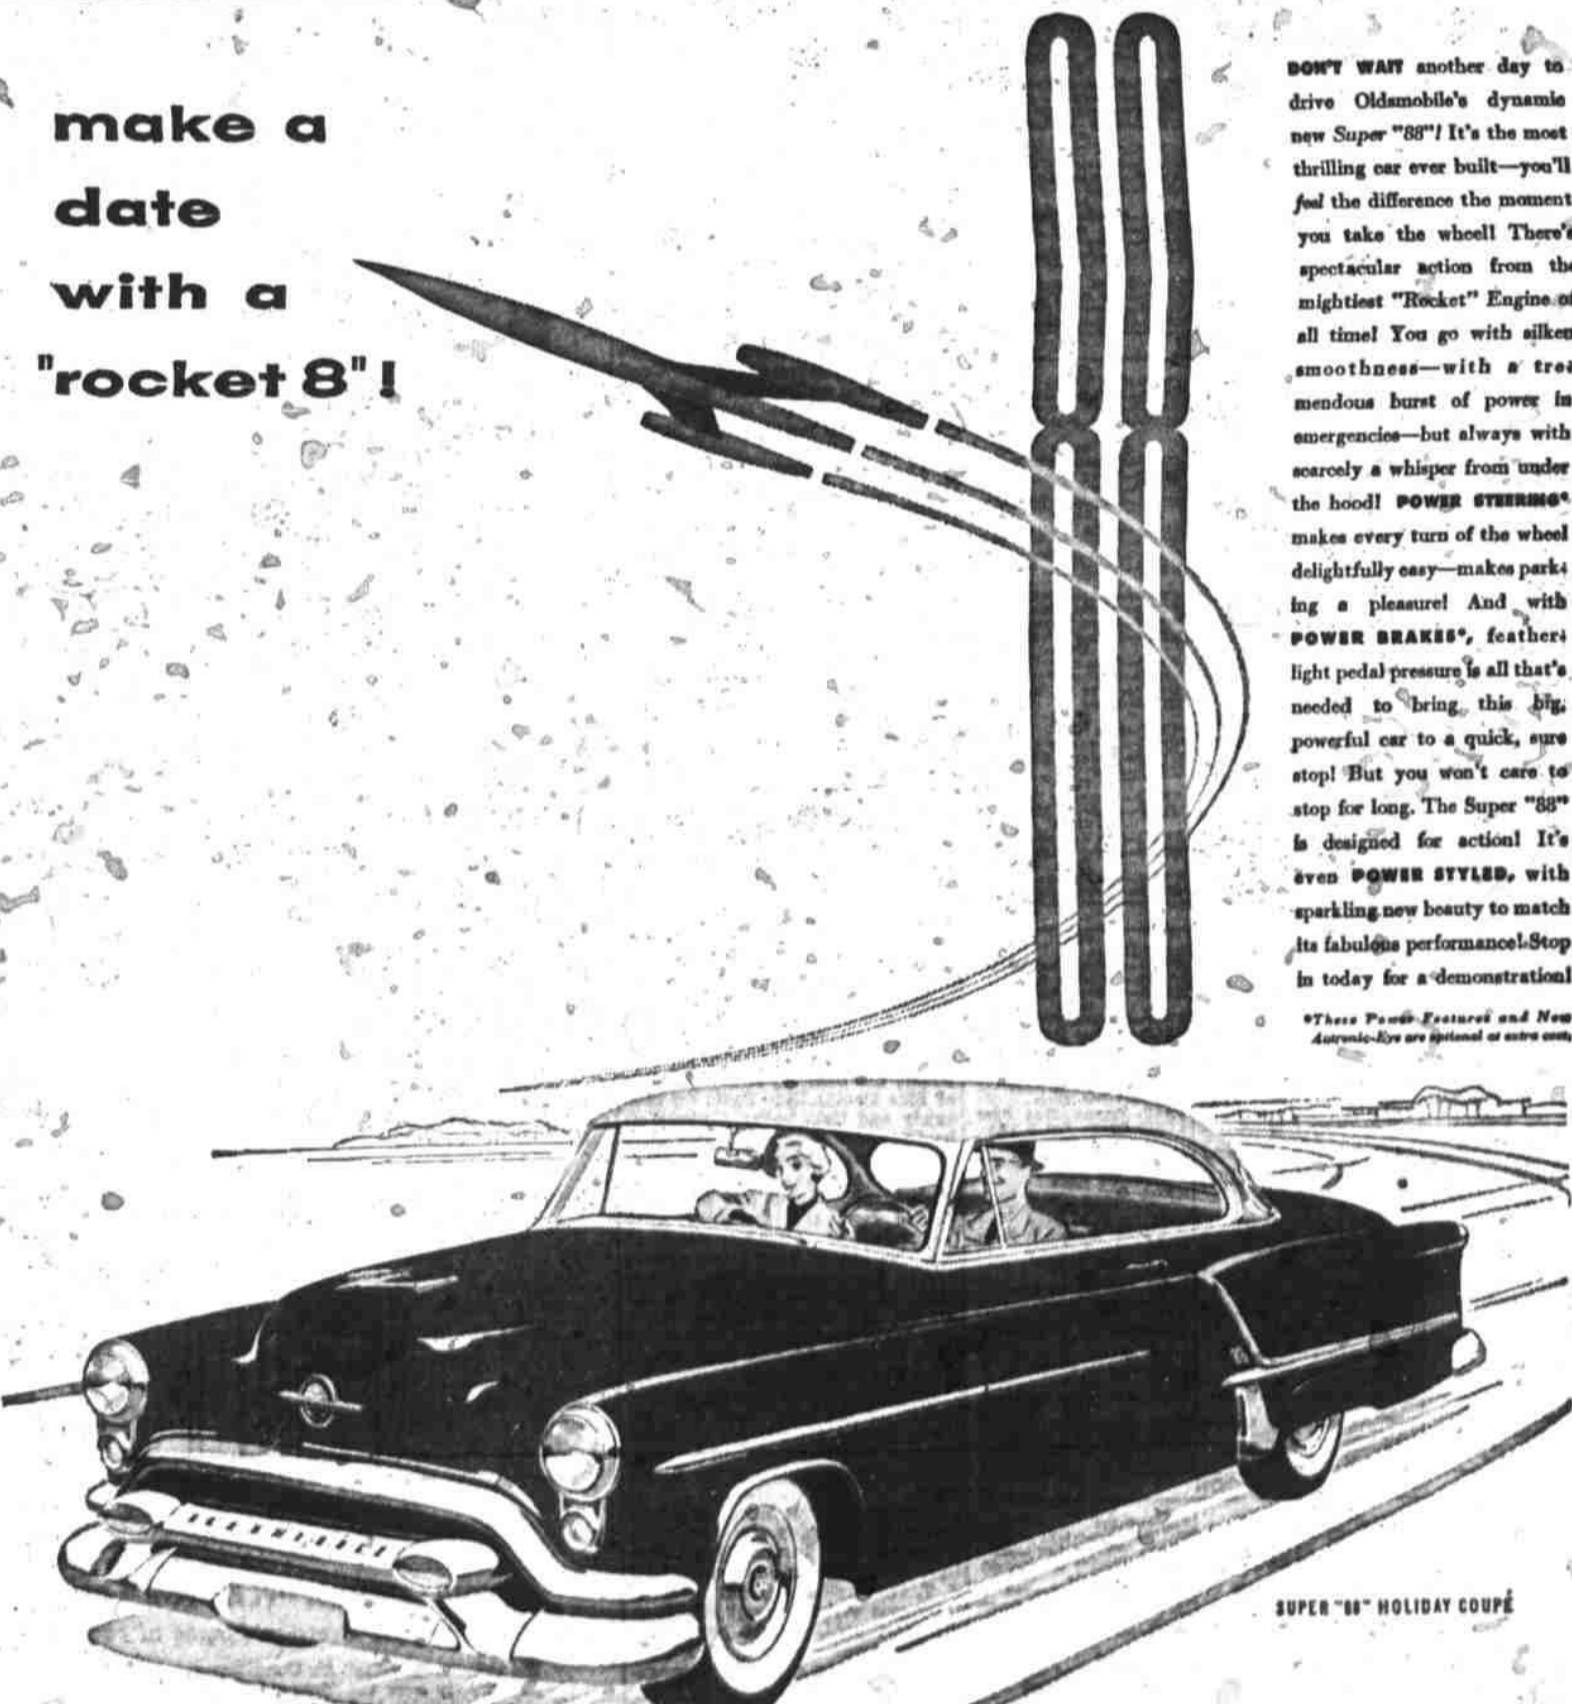

Sometimes victims suffer chest injuries which make this routine inadvisable, Peters explained.

"Do the same thing except say 'Hands on, roll forward, lift hip,'" he said.

The pupils tried this and with "lift hip," a mighty groan and grunt went up from the assembly.

"If you can't lift the hip," Peters suggested, "just say the words and skip that part. Then start

Pirate Adventure

Maureen O'Hara and Errol Flynn are shown in a scene from "Against All Flags" which will show at the Ritz Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday. The Technicolor adventure movie deals with pirates and the British Navy in the 18th Century. Flynn plays a "deserter" from the British, and Miss O'Hara is a woman pirate. Anthony Quinn has top supporting role.

Strict Formality

Sterling Hayden receives a snappy salute from Richard Carlson in a scene from "Flat Top," which will show at the Jet Theatre tonight and Monday night. The two men play officers who do not agree as to operational policy. They are in a flight unit connected with an aircraft carrier. Activity is World War II.

Take-Off On Government

Victor Mature, Patricia Neal and Edmund Gwenn are shown "sweetening it out" in a scene from "Something For The Birds," which will be at the State Theatre today and Monday. The movie is a comical slem at government "investigations" and "lobbyists." Mature has the part of a professional lobbyist. Miss Neal is a "visitor" trying to push some legislation toward establishing a bird preserve, and Gwenn is an old prankster.

Take-Off On Lobbyists In Capital Makes For A Movie

"Something For The Birds" will be in Big Spring today and Monday at the State Theatre. The movie, starring Victor Mature and Patricia Neal, is a comedy about life in official and social Washington, D. C. Edmund Gwenn has the top supporting role. The movie is a take off on behind-the-scenes activity in the nation's capital. It concerns lobbying activities, Senate committee hearings and social activities of the VIP's. Miss Neal plays the part of a girl who goes to Washington to get Congress to establish a preserve for California Condor birds. Gwenn is an old man who tries to help her, and Mature has the part of a professional lobbyist. Their attempts to break government red-tape furnish the laughter for the movie. Gwenn, who works in a printing plant, uses invitations he engraves to crash Washington's high society parties. Mature, armed with Gwenn's invitations, utilizes his glib talking and influence-peddling to further Miss Neal's — and his own — interests. Mature and Miss Neal fall in love. Their courtship is unusual and humorous. Mature's gifts of refrigerators to influence voters is reminiscent of the five-percenters which were headlined in newspapers about the country.

Ranch, Farm Tour Slated For Tuesday

Plans have been completed for Tuesday's soil conservation tour sponsored jointly by the supervisors of the Main-Howard Soil Conservation District and the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce. Marion Everhart, technician with the Soil Conservation Service, said yesterday. The tour, which all business and professional people as well as ranchers and farmers are invited to join, will start at the Edgar Phillips farm, one mile east and one-half mile south of the Knott Post Office. Everhart said. The second stop will be at the Roy Phillips farm, operated by Edgar Phillips. This farm is located on the Knott road. From here the tour will move on to the Cecil Hyden farm on the Gall Road, and from there to the O. J. Ingram farm a little north of the Snyder road. The last place visited will be the Jim Hodnett farm north of Ingram's and west of Vincent. After leaving the Hodnett place the caravan will go to the Willis Winters farm, north of Vincent. The last stop will be made at the Henge O. Brown place. Cold drinks supplied by the Chamber of Commerce will be served at each stop. Morris Patterson, chairman of the SCD board of supervisors will be master of ceremonies, and members of the staff of the Big Spring unit of the SCS will be present to answer technical questions. A public address system, mounted on a truck, will be used throughout the tour, and each band owner whose place is visited will describe the conservation operations being shown. These explanations will be followed by a question and answer period in which the land owners, the SCD supervisors and the SCS technicians will participate in answering the questions of the visitors. Projects to be seen will include Blue Panic grass being grazed by cattle; the planting and cultivation of Blue Panic; Blue Panic on both sandy and tight soils; a pound-of-herbage-per-acre program; broad base-terraces with blocked ends; Austrian winter peas and wheat mixed on both phosphated and non-phosphated land and the grazing of this mixture; a pure stand of Austrian winter peas being grazed and a grass plot of native and introduced grasses containing Blue Grama, Sideguts Grama and King Ranch Bluestem. Everhart said he expects to have delivery of the new grass drill ordered by the supervisors by Tuesday and that this drill will be demonstrated in operation at the Brown place. Members of the board of supervisors in addition to Chairman Patterson are: Brown, Edgar Phillips, W. H. Yater of Stanton and J. T. Flowers of Midland. Persons wishing to make the tour, Everhart said, should be at the Phillips farm promptly at 1 p. m. There have not been any arrangements made, he said, for a group of cars to leave Big Spring together. He says he hopes as many persons as possible will arrange to make the trip and that each of them will bring as many others as possible in their cars.

Historical Drama Is Set For Ritz Today

"The President's Lady," a moving portrait about the most slandered couple in American history, will open today at the Ritz Theatre.

The movie, which will show through Monday, deals with Rachel and Andrew Jackson. Susan Hayward and Charlton Heston star in the principal roles.

Produced by Twentieth Century-Fox, "The President's Lady" reveals the romance between Rachel and Andrew from the time they were married in 1791 until Jackson's inauguration in 1829.

Actually Andrew Jackson married Rachel twice. And both ceremonies are recorded in the movie. They were first married in the belief that Rachel's first husband had divorced her. Finding he had not, they were remarried.

Miss Hayward has the part of Rachel, the girl snubbed by society. Heston as Jackson kills one man in a duel in defense of his wife's honor. He thrashes at least a dozen others.

The story follows history right down the line, and includes the Indian fighting in Nashville in the 1790's in which Jackson became famous.

Also played up is the "diftiest presidential campaign in the United States annals" when Jackson was running for the executive post.

All elements of Jackson's controversial romance are recounted—right up to the time of his wife's death three months before he became President.

In the cast are John McIntire, Fay Bainter, Whitfield Connor, Carl Betz, Gladys Hurlbut, Ruth Attaway and Charles Dingle.

Romantic Drama

Charlton Heston and Susan Hayward have the roles of Andrew and Rachel Jackson in the movie, "The President's Lady," which shows today and Monday at the Ritz. Although historical events are followed, the movie deals primarily with the romance between the two principal characters. Although snubbed by society, Rachel was good enough for Andrew. He married her twice, as shown in the movie, and killed one man and thrashed a dozen others in defense of her honor. Indian fighting and politics fill the background in the production.

Pirate Film To Play Here

A Technicolor sea adventure of the 18th Century will be screened at the Ritz Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

It is "Against All Flags," with Errol Flynn and Maureen O'Hara. The strong supporting roster is headed by Anthony Quinn and Alice Kelley.

Flynn plays a British naval officer who, upon orders from his superiors, masquerades as a deserter to join a pirate band.

Miss O'Hara is cast as a woman pirate leader called Spitfire Stevens. She falls in love with Flynn and spares his life.

Quinn is also a pirate captain. On one of his journeys he attacks an Indian prince's ship and captures his daughter, played by Miss Kelley.

Flynn tries to conceal Miss Kelley's identity and then succeeds in engineering a British attack on the pirate stronghold.

'Plymouth Adventure' Stars Spencer Tracy

The voyage of the Mayflower in 1620 from Plymouth, England, to America is filmed in "Plymouth Adventure," scheduled at the Lyric Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

The all-star cast includes Spencer Tracy, Van Johnson, Leo Genn, Gene Tierney and Dawn Addams.

The movie deals with the activities of the people on the voyage, minimizing the historical aspects. Tracy will be seen as Capt. Christopher Jones, Johnson as John Alden, Genn as William Bradford, Miss Tierney as his wife, and Miss Addams as Priscilla Mullins.

John Wayne Is Starred In Film About Football

A comedy-drama concerning love, football, divorce, and struggle is due at the Ritz Theatre Thursday through Saturday.

It is "Trouble Along the Way," and it stars John Wayne, Donna Reed and Charles Coburn.

Wayne has the two-listed part of a football coach who doesn't give a hang about life—especially after his wife leaves him.

Marie Windsor portrays his ex-wife, and Sherry Jackson has the part of their child.

After Wayne quits trying to make good, his ex-wife claims he is not taking care of their daughter properly. This brings Miss Reed—a welfare worker—on the scene.

At the same time Coburn, who has the part of college president, offers him a coaching job with good possibilities. At first he refuses, but after Miss Reed takes an interest he accepts the job.

Although the football team isn't much when it takes over, Wayne builds it into a strong machine able to beat other teams in his conference. He also builds up a case with Miss Reed.

"M" Is Movie Of Police Manhunt

What the movie industry calls an "off-beat" movie is scheduled at the State Theatre Thursday.

It is "M," which, according to publicity releases stands for madman, murder and manhunt. The movie stars David Wayne, Howard Da Silva and Luther Adler.

Wayne plays a killer whose vicious crimes are so evil that even the gangsters of a large city hate him. His crimes result in a city-wide manhunt in which police, general population and the underworld join.

The movie is recommended to adults only.

Da Silva plays Captain Carney of the Homicide Bureau, and Adler has the part of an underworld lawyer.

New FAB WASHES WHITER

WHITER WITHOUT A BLEACH THAN ANY OTHER PRODUCT WITH A BLEACH!

BLEACH IF YOU LIKE! BUT WHETHER YOU DO OR DON'T... FAB WASHES CLOTHES WHITER THAN ANY OTHER PRODUCT WITH A BLEACH!

FAB
WASHES CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP
WONDERFUL FOR DISHES, TOO!

A COLGATE-PALMOLIVE-PREY PRODUCT

NOTHING WHITENS LIKE FAB! You'll actually find that Fab washes most of your clothes whiter without a bleach—whiter than any soap, whiter than any washing product known with a bleach in the wash water.

IF YOU ADD A BLEACH TO FAB for your few stained, extra-soiled clothes, they'll come whiter, too—far whiter than with any other product and a bleach. For new Fab's exclusive whitening action is not affected by bleach.

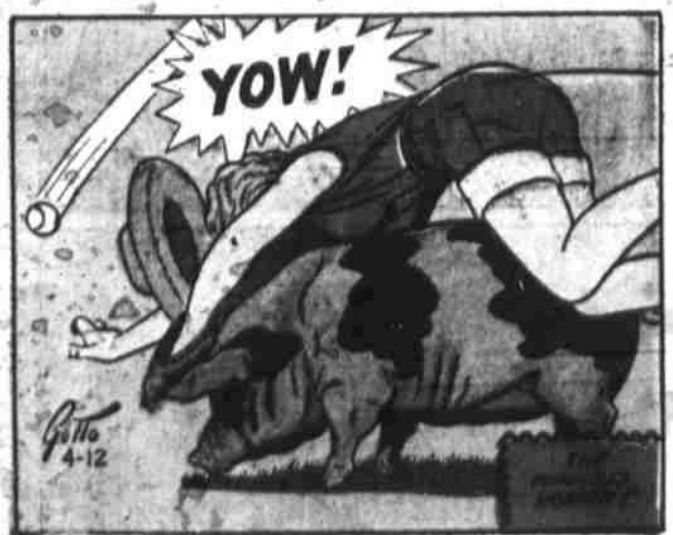

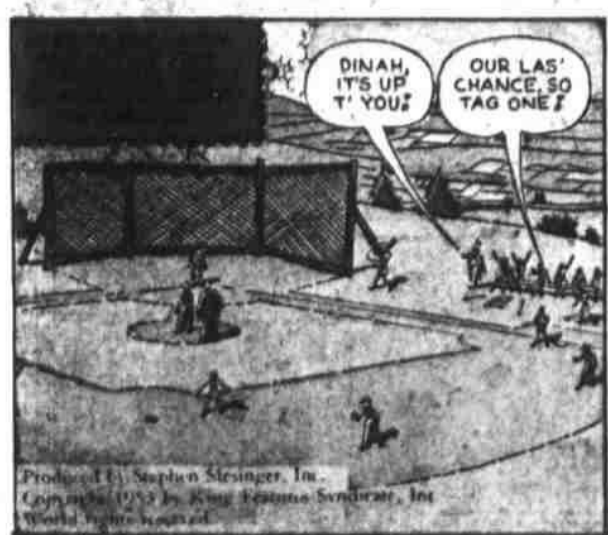

WHAT'S MORE... FAB OUTCLEANS any soap! Washes out dirt, leaves no dulling soap scum.

SAVE WORK! SAVE HANDS! Fab immediately loosens dirt and keeps it floating in the wash water. No soaking is needed! No dulling soap scum to rinse out—even in hardest water. And Fab is wonderfully mild to hands!

CUT DISHWASHING TIME IN HALF! Fab soaks dishes, glasses, saucers and pans shiny clean! If a bit of food sticks, the dishcloth whisks it off. Just a quick rinse and dishes drain sparkling clean. No hard scouring, no wiping—with Fab!

WASHABLE COLORS LOOK BRIGHTER, TOO!

AND FAB WASHES CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP ON EARTH!

TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

THEN, AS TARZAN RECOVERED-- "SO YOU DARED SEEK THE DIAMOND-- MY DIAMOND!" CACKLED A VOICE. "LIKE BLAZES!" SNARLED CREEL. "HUSH, CHARLIE, BOTH OF YOU," SAID MARY BARD.

"YOUR BROTHER?" QUERIED THE APE-MAN. "YES," REPLIED MARY SADLY. "HE'S COMPLETELY OBSESSED BY THAT CURSED STONE-- BUT, FOR THAT MATTER, WE'LL ALL BE DERANGED SOON!"

ABRUPTLY A GUARD APPROACHED AND HELD FORTH AN UGLY FISH, WPALED ON A TRIDENT. "HERE, SHINE," HE TAUNTED. "YOUR DINNER--"

BUT TARZAN QUICKLY GRABBED THE SPEAR AND JERKED BACK, SLAMMING THE SURPRISED GUARD INTO THE BARS! AND BEFORE HE COULD WITHDRAW, STEEL FINGERS CLOSED ABOUT HIS THROAT!

NEW VEL[®]

MAKES DISHES SHINE
WITHOUT WASHING
OR WIPING!

"VEL SOAKS DISHES CLEAN

— SAVES YOU ALL THE HARD WORK!

DON'T WASH — JUST SOAK

Dishes soak grease-free in seconds! No washing needed. If food clings, a touch of the dishcloth gets it off. There's no greasy dishwater with Vel — no ring around the pan!

DON'T WIPE — JUST RINSE

Yes! Just soak and rinse. Dishes dry streak-free without wiping! Even heavy grease in stew pots and frying pans is so completely dissolved no hard scouring is needed with Vel!

Package for package, Vel cuts grease better than the leading washday detergent, liquid detergent, or soaps!

—AND YET NO 'DETERGENT BURN' TO HANDS!"

Prove it yourself!
"HAND-HEAT TEST"
shows why.

Dip hands in water. Then put a tablespoonful of any leading washday detergent in one hand — put a tablespoonful of VEL in the other.

Feel the heat

from washday detergents, indicating presence of irritating alkalis and harsh chemicals that cause "Detergent Burn"!

Feel NO heat with Vel

That's because Vel contains no irritating alkalis — no harsh washday chemicals to cause "Detergent Burn"!

VEL is a miracle of mildness! Vel helps you avoid rough, red hands — causes no "Detergent Burn"!
