Track Team Has Successful Season

A victory at Portales Junior High Relays on April 22 ended the Muleshoe Junior High School track season on a successful note. The boy's hard work produced a fine track team which came away with five first and two seconds during the season, his team set several Muleshoe Junior High records including the 440-yard dash in 4.0 by Ruben Gonzales; the 40 relay in 47.5; the 880 relay in 1:39.1; and the 250 yard relay dash by Randy Norman in 25.3 seconds. The Junior High Mules started off the season with a 51-50 win over Morton in a duel meet. Ruben Gonzales started off his season with his first win in the 440-yard dash. Gonzales was to carry on through the season undefeated in quarter-mile competition.

The team then had a triangle meet with the two Hereford Junior High Schools. They were named their first second of the year as LaPlata won the meet. The 440 relay team started a duel they were to carry on through the season with the La Plata spring relay team. La Plata came out the victor, but they were never to win by more than a foot. The Junior Mules then had a meet with Farwell which they won handily 234 to 117.

The B team traveled to Lazbuddie for a meet in which they carried away the championship with 90 points. The 880 relay team won first in this meet.

Other awards went to Rudy Gonzales, first in the 60-yard high hurdles; Manuel Hernandez, second, 60-yard high hurdles; Kyle Kimbrough, pull-ups; Kyle Kimbrough, high jump; and Carey Sudduth, broad jump.

The Mules then conquered the competition at Olton to tie for first with the host team. This exciting event came down to the last event, the 880 relays which were lost by a mere foot. This was the only race the 880 team lost all year. Awards were: 440 relay team, first; Victor Lopez, 880 yard run; Larry Sexton, 100 yard dash; 880 relay, second; Gary Davis, 50 yard dash, third; Rudy Gonzales, 60-yard high hurdles; and Randy Norman, broad jump.

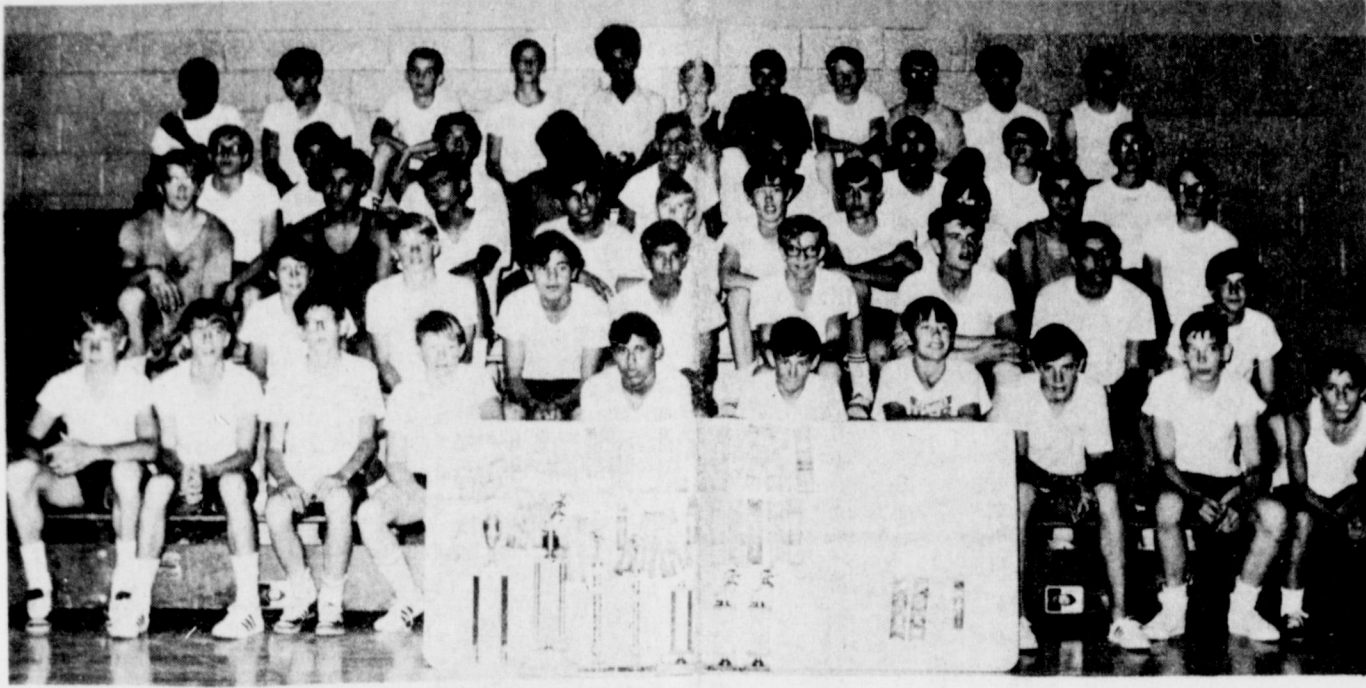

The next meet was in Clovis where they continued their duel with LaPlata. Again LaPlata won with 59 points to 49 points for the Mules. The 440 team was again beaten by a foot. Awards were: 880 relay, first; Ruben Gonzales, 440-yard dash; 440 relay, second; Larry Pucket, Cont. on Page 3, col. 4

The final date for certifying cotton and feed grain acreages has been changed from July 15 to August 1. Also, designation of set-aside acres on these crops by wheat/barley growers will not be required on May 1 as first announced. Wheat/Barley growers will now designate cotton and grain sorghum set-aside at the same time as non-wheat/barley growers.

Both changes were recommended to USDA in a resolution from the GCG Board in February. August 1 deadline for acreage certification applies to ASCS districts, 1, 2, 3, 4, 8 and 13, plus Garza County, competing the 25 counties in the Plains Cotton Growers County.

Muleshoe Receives Only .50

Booming thunderstorms skipped across the Texas Panhandle and South Plains Friday bring some good rains to some parts of the area and just traces in other parts of Texas. Muleshoe's official gauge showed only .50 inches of moisture. There was a little variation around Muleshoe, South and west of town, the amounts were a little heavier.

Some of the Muleshoe country citizens became avid cloud watchers Friday afternoon when reports came in that there had been several tornadoes and funnels reported near Portales. With the momentary heavy rain, there was a sprinkling of small hail, but not enough to do any damage.

Some surrounding area towns were not so lucky as the Muleshoe area. Brownfield reported over 4.30 inches of rain and Lubbock gained 1.40 inches. Meadow reported golf ball size hail.

The rains broke a several month long drought here in the South Plains and Panhandle. Farmers all over the area welcomed the relief from a long dry spell.

A sampling of other areas and moisture receives shows Amherst received .50; Dimmitt, .75; Earth, .50; Farwell, Cont. on Page 3, col. 7

May Is Proclaimed Mental Health Month

May has been designated as Mental Health Month in Texas. Following is some information pertaining to the new Central Plains Comprehensive Community Mental Health and Mental Retardation Center in Plainview which serves Bailey County.

The center was completed in July of 1970, and the outpatient clinic was opened at that time. In February of 1971, the Partial Hospitalization program was begun and in August, 1971, the Inpatient Unit was activated. The catchment area for the Center covers nine counties: Bailey, Briscoe, Castro, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Motley, Parmer and Swisher. The Center offers five services: inpatient, five services; inpatient, outpatient, partial hospitalization and education and consultation.

The center was completed in short-term center for the acutely mentally ill. Patients are treated as a whole person with the full realization that the health of mind and body are inter-dependent on one another and are not to be treated as though they function independently of one another.

The High Plains Training Center is an integral part of the center and is housed in another building across town at 214 West 11th Street. Confidentiality is stressed--all patient information, especially group therapy, is considered confidential. One of the aims is to see each patient return to his home and community as a useful and functional individual.

The inpatient department provides care for persons who cannot function on an out patient or day hospital basis. It is a treatment center to provide intensive psychiatric care for the mentally ill, mentally retarded, drug users, alcoholics and behavioral adjustment patients.

After admission the Mental Health Team staffs the patient and decides a suitable treatment plan. All staff members of the Mental Health Center work together to provide treatment for each patient. At the time of staffing, a therapist is assigned to each patient who is directly responsible for one-to-one conference with the patient and recommendations to the staff for treatment.

After admission and when the patient is able, through psychological testing is begun. After testing, if the patient is in contact with reality, he is sent to Day Hospital each weekday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. There is a one and a half hour lunch break.

After supper, there are usually games and recreation, but not as structured as they attend in Day Hospital.

On the inpatient ward the patients are encouraged to be up and active, participating in their own care as much as possible. Each individual is expected to perform to his level of responsibility for their clothes, cleanliness, keeping their room reasonably straight, and assignments on ward to care for lavatory and dining areas.

The two things stressed to all the Mental Health staff are, first, the patient has the right to his privacy, which means all confidential items which are discussed by the staff are not to Any breach of this policy is grounds for dismissal; second, no items are to be brought in to a patient or bought for a patient unless permission has been granted by Dr. Mary Bubliss. Food items or items all patients can enjoy are permitted with permission.

"Reality Therapy" is stressed on the ward, which in simple terms means being responsible for your actions. This therapy suggests becoming involved with the patient in a way that you show the patient you care for him and he is worth while caring about. For therapy the center recognizes two basic needs—needs which cause suffering unless they are fulfilled. These needs are: the need to be loved and the need to feel worthwhile to themselves and to others. Helping patients fulfill these two needs is the basis of Reality Therapy.

One of the primary functions of the Center is to help curb the population of the State hospitals. Over the past decade, the percentage of increase in hospitalization for mental disorders has risen drastically. GREEK ISLAND TOUR...Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hooten, center foreground, are standing on the Acropolis in Athens, Greece, during a recent tour of Athens, the Greek Isles and New York City.

Robert Hootens Tour Greek Isles

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hooten returned Friday, April 28, from a nine day trip to Athens, Greece, the Greek Isles and New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooten and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morris, Plainview, formerly of Muleshoe, flew to New York City on April 19 where they did extensive sight-seeing, including the Rockefeller Center and Radio City, Greenwich Village, subway ride, Empire State Building and the Place Theatre where they saw "Applause" starring Anne Baxter.

On April 20 the Hootens and Morris joined over 200 other Ford dealers to fly by KLM 747 chartered jet to Athens, Greece. They were immediately taken to Piraeus where they boarded the TSS Galaxy Cruiser for three days sailing on the Aegean Sea and touring the Greek Islands.

The first stop was Mykonos, an island of the Cyclades. Mrs. Hooten reports that it is one of the most attractive islands of the Greek archipelago and in noted for its 365 little chapels and lovely beaches.

The next island visited was Rhodes, the "Island of Roses". This one-time fortress stronghold of the Knights of St. John fought off successive invaders for centuries. Hippocrates sent his most affluent patients to be cured by the still-famous mineral waters. Medieval walls in the harbor greeted guests on their way to visit the Knights' Hospital, which is now a museum. Tours of the ancient Stadium, the ancient Odeum and the Apollo Pythios Temple were made. Buses to the group thru the olive tree-covered countryside to the ancient Trojan War City of Lindos where donkeys were ridden to the Acropolis. From the Acropolis, the port of Saint Paul could be seen. A church has been erected there in memory of the great Apostle who sought safety there in 52 AD.

The next excursion was to the island of Crete, known as the birthplace of Zeus, supreme god of Olympus. Heraklion, Crete, is considered the center of the world. Five miles from Heraklion stands the place of the legendary King Minos, estimated to have been built about 3,000 BC. "Awe-inspiring is the Minoan Palace of Knossos with its eleven hundred rooms, including the queen's powder room where her bathtub and flush type toilet can still be seen with the clay water pipes," commented Mrs. Hooten. Here was the beginning of western civilization.

Mrs. Hooten describes Santorini as the next excitement. "It is a volcanic island called 'The Black Pearl of the Cyclades', due to the black color of its soil which forms a striking contrast to its whitewashed little houses. First view of the town shows it perched dramatically on the edge of the high cliff which rises steeply out of the sea. The ascent from the little harbor is made on donkey-back to the island's picturesque little capital, Thera, on top of the hill. A Greek professor of seismology at Athens University maintains the theory that Thera is Plato's 'lost continent' of Atlantis. This donkey ride proved to be a real experience for the Hootens and Morris!"

Athens also provided many tours for the group. The glory of Greece, past and present, was seen on the ever-famous Acropolis of Athens. Much of the Parthenon is still preserved. The rocky knoll below the Propylaea, called the Areopagus or the Hill of Ares is believed to have provided the natural pulpit for Saint Paul during his visit to Athens. Other historic excursions in Athens included the Theatre of Dionysius, ancient Agora, the Stoa of Attalus and lunch on Lycabettus Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooten and Mr. and Mrs. Morris sat on the "Popular Assembly Hill" know as the Pnyx to witness the beautiful performance of "Sound and Light."

The final tour of the group was an hour and a half drive through the Greek countryside along the Corinth canal to the ruins of Corinth and a walk along the Lecheon Road to the Temple of Apollo, Kato Pirene Fountain, the Roman Agora and the Tribune where Saint Paul was taken before the Roman magistrate, Gallio.

Mrs. Hooten commented that "the crime rate is very, very low in Greece. The food is very different, very good. Lots of fish was served and cheese and fruit were served with every meal. Where else can you have an eight course meal with the waiters always serenading?"

The Hootens report that Greece is a very clean lovely country filled with happy courteous people. A real dream to visit!

History Students Attend Conference

On Friday, April 28, ten students representing MHS met on the Wayland Baptist College Campus in Plainview for the annual "Forum on American Democracy." This is a program set up to allow area students a chance to congregate, hear public officials, and then participate in group discussions. The theme for this year's conference was "Which Way America?"

After registration in the foyer of Gates Hall, the students heard Wayland's own "Seven Days a Week", a very talented musical group. After the entertainment, the students also heard State Representative R.B. "Mac" McAllister of Lubbock speak on problems facing Texas and what the Texas Legislature plans to do about them. Mr. McAllister owns KSEL Radio and Television and is therefore knowledgeable in the problems of the youth. After feedback from the audience, groups were assigned in which discussions on America and American Democracy were discussed.

Lunch was served at the Alcové Restaurant, as the luncheon speaker, the students heard Judge Boyd of Plainview. He spoke on Texas Laws which affect teenagers. There were interesting audience questions pertaining to these laws.

After the afternoon session of group discussions, a panel of four students summarized the entire session.

Mrs. Gwen Morris from Wayland Baptist College was coordinator of the conference and four history-major students led the group discussions.

MHS students in Plainview on Friday were Seniors Martha Jane Chapman, Margie Silguero, Lou Ann Cole, Lonnie Ferris, and Juniors Christy Ford, Kathleen Jennings, Tani Murrah, Perry Hall, Chuck Smith and Marcus Puente. Accompanying the students were Mr. James Jennings, MHS History Teacher, and Mrs. Mary Nell Chapman.

MHS Student Council News

By Patty Murray

The MHS Student Council held its clinic on April 29 from 9 a.m. to 12:00 noon to plan next year's calendar. Those attending were David Faver, Stephanie Bryant, Cindy Chandler, Linda Mason, Patty Murray, Sharon Wrinkle, Danita Throckmorton, Steve Block, Regina Poteet, Kelly St. Clair, Billy Wimberly, Tani Murrah, Rhonda Field, Gary Parker, Terry Burchel, and Jeanie Putman. Ten of these are members of next year's Student Council. The budget and events were discussed and approved for next year and plans were made to present them to Mr. Mardis for approval.

At the regular meeting on Monday, May 1, plans were made for a Student Council-sponsored tennis tournament. There will be girls and boys singles and doubles matches in Beginner and Intermediate classes. A dollar entry fee will be charged. A definite date will be announced next week. Anyone interested in entering should contact Tani Murrah, Terry Burchel or Cindy Chandler.

Last minute plans were made for the Junior Olympics on May 5 and 6. The members signed up to bring food for the concession stand, and everyone was urged to help with something on the schedule for the Olympics.

Thespians Present Annual Awards

Thespians Troupe 714 and Speech contest held their eighth annual party this past Tuesday evening at the Charles Smith home. Thirty-five members attended with ten parents and sponsors serving as hosts.

The evening of festivities was highlighted with several events. A bicycle relay at 6 p.m., food at 6:30 p.m., annual goof awards at 7:30 p.m., honor awards at 8:00, and a volley ball tournament from 8:00 to 9:30 p.m.

Goof awards went to Jennifer Davis and Richard Meyers as Mr. and Miss Fur Wraps, and Jan Jinks and Steve Block as Mr. and Miss OTL. Rogelio Puente received the "stilly goose" award; Bill Chapman was the recipient of the first William Carter Chapman award; Patty Murray received the Hot Pants award; Donna Woodard received the shoo-fly trophy; and Bill Chapman again won the "look alike" award.

Honor Awards went to Brent Blackman as "Outstanding Thespians," Larry Torres as "Rookie of the Year," Greta Bamert "Outstanding Drama Student," Martha Chapman received the "Outstanding Speech Contest Student" award.

The annual end-of-the-year party and awards highlights nine months of class work and tournament competition.

Muleshoe High's Drama Department has received the National award as "Who's Who in American High School Dramatics," and the Speech Contest class ended the year as the number one class AAA Speech Team in Texas. With these two great honors, next year members have hard work ahead.

Fish Hold Cheerleading Tryouts

On May 3, the freshmen held the annual tryouts for Jr. Varsity Cheerleaders.

As 11 pretty, shabby girls walked on to the gym floor, the tryouts were off and going fast!

Those trying out were Susie Cousatte, Pam Loyd, Terry Crane, Rhea Lyn Casey, Belinda Throckmorton, Jan Harlin, Ginger Johnson, Rhonda Field, Susan Murray, Prisca Young, and Debbie Dunbar.

Following the introductions, the girls divided into two groups and gave a group yell. Then the big time came! Each girl demonstrated her abilities by doing her own cheer. They were all excellent and it was a hard choice to have to pick only five of them. Each student marked his ballot and deposited it when leaving the gym.

After a long anxious wait, the results were ready. Those elected for next year's Junior Varsity Cheerleaders were Susie Cousatte, Terry Crane, Jan Harlin, Susan Murray and Ginger Johnson.

Congratulations to those winners and a fine job to all contestants.

Rodeo Roundup

By Debbie Glover

The cowboys of MHS seem to have had a busy weekend last week with two rodeos going on.

Placing in the Earth Rodeo, age group 16-19, were Terry Wheeler, Rex Black, Bobby Henderson and Larry Ross. Terry came out first in tie down roping. Rex took a second in ribbon roping, with Cynthia Rogers as his runner. Rex also won third in bull riding. Bobby placed first in ribbon roping, Lavern Carpenter ran for him. He also won third in the rescue race. Larry won second in bull riding.

In age group, 13-15, Jimmy Henderson won fourth in bull riding.

At the Farwell Rodeo, Kenneth Ragland and Jody Jones placed. Kenneth won second in bull riding. Jody split fourth and fifth in bareback riding.

We would also like to acknowledge those boys who didn't place, but got a lot of bumps and bruises.

High Plains cotton producers, unable to find an acceptable market, still hold an estimated 50,000 to 100,000 bales of short staple, low micronaire cotton from the 1971 crop. Such cotton was in good demand only a few months back, but many growers now say they "can't" even get an offer.

For this reason Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock-based regional cotton producer organization, is reminding producers of the "anniversary loan" which became available for the first time in 1971. Under this program growers can secure a Commodity Credit Corporation loan and retain title to their cotton for 10 months from the first day of the month in which the loan was made. Final date for loan applications on 1971 crop cotton is May 31, 1972.

The cut-off date for cotton loan applications under previous program was April 30, then CCC took title to all unredemmed cotton on the following July 31, the end of the cotton marketing year. This gave growers on the High Plains, where the bulk of the crop is harvested in December most years, only about seven months in which to find buyers for each year's crop.

Under the anniversary loan producers can retain title to cotton for a much longer period. For example growers taking a loan on cotton in May this year will have until February 1, 1973, to see if market conditions improve enough to permit sales at acceptable prices.

PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson said "This is exactly why we worked over two years to get the anniversary loan--to give producers as much time as possible to take advantage of market fluctuations."

There are differences of opinion as to whether the market will strengthen over coming months for the kind of cotton now held by Plains growers. There was a strong demand for "low quality" cottons from the 1970-71 crop and again for early-season 1971-72 crop cottons, proving beyond doubt that there is a place in the market for low grade cotton stapling less than an inch and with low micronaire readings. Most observers agree that overproduction of these "cheaper" cottons in 1971-72 is responsible in large part for the current lack of demand.

On the High Plains, where most of the nation's short staple cotton is grown, over 54 percent of the 1971-72 crop fell in the micronaire range of 2.9 and below. The previous five-year average of cotton in that category was less than 21 percent. And the same adverse weather conditions which caused low micronaire readings last year also resulted in much lower grades of cotton than is normal from the Plains.

"In short" Johnson states, "the exceptionally high production of cheaper cottons last year was simply more than the market has been able to absorb in the few months since harvest."

He also points out that the suspension of cotton exports under Public Law 480, which permits foreign countries to buy U.S. cotton with local currencies, intensified the supply-demand imbalance in lower quality cottons. PL-480 sales were suspended from December 17, 1971 to April 21 of this year, at which time USDA announced that "concessional" sales under PL-480 would be resumed immediately for cotton stapling an inch or below.

PCG had previously pointed out to USDA officials that prohibition of PL-480 exports was no longer justified on cottons which were not finding commercial markets either here or abroad.

The lifting of this suspension is one thing favoring a revival of interest in "bargain" cottons, Johnson states. Another factor which could cause or prevent a recurrence of demand for short staple cottons in the near future will be the output and eventual disposition of crops being harvested in Brazil and Pakistan, both of which produce cotton similar to that from the High Plains. Also, weather conditions during the early months of the 1972 growing season on the Plains and the resulting prospects for crop quality and volume will have an effect, Johnson notes.

"In any event," he concludes, "use of the anniversary loan to hold cotton against the possibility of better prices at a later date should be well worth considering."

WEDDING PICTURE...On the happy occasion of their marriage, July 10, 1927, J.D. and Ellen Bayless pose for a wedding picture in front of J.D.'s parents' Model-T. The young newly-weds had no car of their own at that time.

A History Of Bailey County

Pioneer Families

Mr. and Mrs.
John D. Bayless

John D. Bayless came to Bailey County from Snyder, Texas in 1925. He and his parents, the John W. Baylesses came by Model-T Ford and settled down to farming on land they bought in the Longview community.

On July 10, 1927, J.D. Bayless married Ellen Coffman. The wedding ceremony was held in the home of her parents and was performed by Rev. C.F. Booth. Ellen and J.D. had six children.

At the time of his marriage, J.D. was helping Mr. Coffman make his crop, and was being paid $1.50 a day. He had no car, but he did have a horse and saddle.

As a married man, he felt the need for a car, so he soon traded in the saddle for a striped-down Model T. Ford. It didn't have a windshield or a fender. J.D. bought a buggy seat from a junk dealer and built a box bed in the back.

Soon he and his wife set off for Spur, Texas to pick cotton. In the early days most pioneers had to work for others in order to establish their own stake.

Ellen remembers that "so much of the time the Model-T wouldn't start, I didn't know how to drive well enough to start it, so J.D. would harness up a horse to pull the car. Then I would lead the horse and run as fast as I could get the horse to go to try to get the Model-T started."

"One day our car (we called it "Hoppey") needed some work done on it, so I remember that we just turned it up on its side so my husband could get to it easier and get it fixed."

Ellen continues, "In the early days people were happy. They took the hard times as they came and when there was church once or twice a month, nearly everyone went."

"We had a wood cook stove and a box heater. Corn and maize were so cheap you couldn't sell it to buy coal for the heater. So, we burned corn and maize in the stove and the heater."

The Baylesses sold milk and cream to their neighbors. But the money they received from these sales was hardly enough to buy the flour and potatoes they needed.

Dry pinto beans were the staff of life in those days. In spite of hail storms, dust storms and sand storms, the Bayless family succeeded in making their farm into one of the most prosperous in the entire county.

This is one in a series of historical biographies of Bailey County pioneer families who arrived here prior to 1930.

Jobs For Veterans

Formation of Jobs for Veterans local task forces is moving quickly in a number of Texas cities, in response to the urging of Governor Preston Smith.

He recently asked Texas mayors to lead the organization of local efforts to find jobs for the thousands of Texas veterans of Vietnam-era military service, in cooperation with the Governor's Task Force.

"In early 1972, the Texas Employment Commission had some 55,000 veterans on its active list of those seeking work. Of these 27,369 were Vietnam-era veterans, and 5,725 of the total were disabled veterans," Harold K. Dudley, TEC Chairman and head of the State task force, reveals. "We have our task plainly before us. I think government and business can join effectively in this effort."

Houston set the pace earlier in the veteran job placement efforts, being judged the outstanding metropolitan Task Force in the nation. The effort resulted in an 85.6 per cent increase in veterans placements in Houston. The "Golden Triangle" area--Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange--likewise has a vigorous effort already operating.

Both Dallas and Fort Worth have taken recent action to find jobs for the returning servicemen.

Dallas has scheduled a Veterans Career Fair May 10-11, co-sponsored by the National Alliance of Businessmen and the American Legion. Dallas area employers have pledged 6,200 jobs or more in the effort. More than a hundred employers will interview veterans at the Career Fair.

Fort Worth Mayor R.M. Stovall has named John McKissick of Big Three Industries the chairman of the veterans job effort there, with Herman Foster of the Manpower Planning Office of the North Central Texas Council of Governments as coordinator.

Sherman, Lufkin, Temple, Plainview and McAllen are other cities which recently named chairmen to handle their veterans job task forces.

Col. Charles L. Daniel was named in Sherman, C.W. Seago is chairman in Lufkin; Robert Stavinocha heads the effort in Temple; Bob Gardner is chairman in Plainview; and William C. Pratt is McAllen chairman.

Other cities are making plans to be active in the effort to help veterans find their places in the labor force.
