Bill To Remit Taxes Is Sent To Committee

House Rescinds Earlier Action On Payment To Counties

AUSTIN, Feb. 3 (AP)—The house of representatives today rescinded its previous approval of a bill remitting to counties all state ad valorem taxes for general revenue purposes and sent the proposal back to the state affairs committee.

The division on the subject was so close that several votes were required.

The motion to recommit originally carried 69 to 56. An attempt to table a motion to reconsider failed, however, and the vote to reconsider then carried, 63 to 62. That necessitated a second vote on the motion to recommit, with the motion prevailing 71 to 64.

Rep. Jeff D. Stinson of Dallas, who favored sending the bill back to committee, then started to make another motion to block any reconsideration but decided against it and the house adjourned until tomorrow.

The house Monday engrossed the bill by a majority of nearly 2 to 1. A motion to recommit was made when the proposal came up for final passage.

Farm Youth Admits He Slew Physician, Demanded Ransom

Leads Officers To Body Of Slain Man; Is Removed To Undisclosed Jail

WILLOW SPRINGS, Mo., Feb. 3 (AP)—A willow-faced young farmer-kidnaped led officers early today to the bullet-riddled body of Dr. J. C. B. Davis, 65, this Ozark country town's leading physician and foremost citizen.

Early J. Connelly of the federal bureau of investigation said over-alled Robert Kenyon, 20, a farmer's son, confessed killing Dr. Davis after luring him into the country last week on a false call for medical aid.

The kidnaper demanded $5,000 ransom which the physician's family tried unsuccessfully to pay.

Shackled between two state police, Kenyon was sped to an undisclosed jail some 80 miles away after he directed officers to Dr. Davis' body in an Ozark thicket.

The transfer was made before sentiment could crystallize in this town of 1,500 where Dr. Davis had built up a universal acquaintance in a lifetime of medical practice and civic and political activity.

Led Way To Body

"The man responsible for the crime led us to the spot," Connelly said. "He gave us sufficient information that we knew he was the kidnaper and then he took us to the body."

He would divulge no further details of the youth's purported admissions.

R. Marvin Castel, state highway patrol chief whose forces worked with the government investigators in solving the case, said the doctor's body was lying face downward, fully clothed. In the right hand was clutched a check book; in the left a pair of gloves. There was no evidence of a struggle.

Castel said no wound was seen at the time the body was discovered, although he asserted the doctor had been shot to death.

Missing a Week

Dr. Davis disappeared from his office a week ago after being summoned, his secretary said, on a medical call by a "Mr. James."

Connelly revealed a second ransom note had been received yesterday after Kenyon was in custody. Connelly said it could have been mailed by Kenyon before his arrest.

The federal agent said a futile attempt had been made Friday to contact the kidnaper. Connelly said an unnamed contact man had driven down state highway 16 southeast of Willow Springs, looking for a white flag which the ransom note said would be stuck in the roadside. The would-be negotiator failed to find the flag, giving rise to the first grave fears for Dr. Davis' life.

FDR Submits A Long-Range Work Program

Huge Flood Control Projects Included In Sweeping Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—President Roosevelt sent congress today a $5,011,000,000 six-year program of public works as the basis for consideration of a "long-range plan and policy of construction" in planning against future depressions.

The broad program was prepared by the national resources committee. It recommended public works planning on a grand scale, including hundreds of specific projects in drainage areas covering the whole country and embracing an $85,000,000 control program in the flooded Ohio river basin.

The president, in a message transmitting the report, said public works have been taken "somewhat hurriedly" during the emergency.

Prepare Against Emergency

"Now," he said, "it is time to develop a long-range plan and policy of construction—to provide the best use of our resources and to prepare in advance against any other emergency."

Mr. Roosevelt continued: "Through the formulation and annual revision of a program of all types of construction, revision and adoption of the program by congress and appropriation under regular budgetary procedure, timed in part in relation to economic needs we can provide for the orderly development of our resources and the provision of needed facilities for our people."

For Depression Periods

The resources committee report would have some of the many projects undertaken at once while others would be held as a reservoir "which can be utilized in periods of economic depression" for public spending to increase employment.

The six-year program would be kept constant on that basis, being revised as study warranted.

In the flooded Ohio basin, the committee recommended immediate expenditure of $500,000 by army engineers for continued surveys and an $85,000,000 construction program to follow in 14 reservoirs.

The committee dealt with problems of water conservation, irrigation, power, navigation and drainage, as well as flood control in the river basins.

10,000 Projects

It said 71 government agencies had suggested nearly 10,000 projects, which were classified to cost in each fiscal year as follows:

1	$100,000,000
2	80,752,972
3	80,801,880
4	76,410,881
5	73,084,041
6	753,735,438

The money would be spent in these percentages: Streets, highways, 25; irrigation, drainage, flood control, 24; buildings, equipment, 17; soil conservation, 8; forestry, game protection, pest control, 6; grade crossing elimination, 6; navigation, aids, 6; alum clearance, sewage, recreational projects, etc., 8.

Waters Rise Again At Cairo, Watch Along Levees Doubled

Engineers Confident That Flood Can Be Kept Under Control At Points In Mississippi Valley

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flood-staged Cairo, at the crisis of its historic battle against the river, stood a grim "crest watch" today.

The muddy Ohio was rising again. After a 12-hour standstill, as though gathering strength for the final assault before spilling its crest into the Mississippi, the big stream returned to a new record-breaking height against Cairo's 80-foot seawall.

The gauge showed 59.6 feet—less than six inches from the top of the huge concrete barrier. The big test, army engineers said, will come when the waters begin pounding against the 3-foot emergency bulwark of earth and wood.

Forty-one railroad flatcars, loaded with dirt-filled sacks, were stationed at strategic points around the inside of the 1-mile levee system that borders the city—ready to plug breaks in the 1,000-mile stretch below Cairo, in the Lower Mississippi Valley.

After a week of suspense and fear that a "super flood" dwarfing the 1937 disaster in the Mississippi Valley was inevitable, hopes of the vast army of flood fighters along a thousand miles of waterfront were raised by confident assertions of engineers that victory was in sight.

High winds which had driven choppy waves against the valley's defenses from Cairo to the Gulf of Mexico had subsided and engineers said, barring additional rains to stir the river into new fury, the flood waters should roll down the valley without the collapse of a single barricade.

Await Developments

But the wide valley, accustomed to the vagaries of the capricious stream, figuratively crossed its fingers and awaited developments. The beleaguered seawall city of Cairo, at the confluence of the Ohio and Mississippi, was doubly alert after being cautioned by Mayor August Bode against "premature rejoicing."

Some thought the crest passed last night after the river had remained stationary 15 hours—but when it began to creep higher, the coast guard ordered its first all night patrol along the levee front.

Major R. D. Burdick of the army engineers predicted the Cairo gauge might rise slightly during the next two days but was unworried.

Bodies Recovered

New Madrid, Mo., below Cairo was saddened by the loss of bodies of 15 victims of Saturday night's barge sinking had been recovered and 14 still were missing. Army engineers said dredging operations in the spillway where the barge sank would continue.

Fair weather encouraged a crew of men who worked indefatigably to hold the Hickman, Ky., seawall, Tiptonville, Tenn., was nearly surrounded by water but the situation had brightened considerably since flood waters broke through two sections of the Slough Landing neck near Beasie, Tenn. Dikes at Mellwood and Ferguson, Ark. were watched closely for signs of weakness.

Cold added to the hardship of thousands of refugees in Arkansas as they huddled around stoves in hilltop camps. The Red Cross said 200,000 lowlanders in the Mississippi valley had been driven from homes.

GM And Labor Chieftains In A New Parley

'Sit-Downers' Say They Won't Leave, Have Only A Little More Time

FLINT, Mich., Feb. 3 (AP)—Sit-down strikers remained in possession of the two Fisher body plants here at 3 p. m. today, deadline fixed in an earlier injunction issued by Circuit Judge Paul V. Godola and there were no indications of any plans for their forcible ejection.

FLINT, Mich., Feb. 3 (AP)—Delay in voluntary or forcible evacuation of two striker-held General Motors body plants here beyond the deadline set by a court injunction appeared assured today following a statement by Circuit Judge Paul V. Godola that the order need not be enforced promptly at 3 p. m.

At expiration of the 24-hour period given for the strikers to leave, Judge Godola said, representatives of the big automobile concern must present evidence that the strikers have failed to comply with the order, before a contempt citation is issued.

Until proper showing that the injunction has been violated, the case "is out of this court's hands," Judge Godola said, adding that three alternatives to a contempt citation exist:

Possible Procedure

Proclamation of martial law might supersede the civil courts in the strike area; the strikers might comply with the injunction terms, or the supreme court of Michigan might, upon application of union attorneys, step in with a special order.

In Lansing, a member of the state attorney general's staff said informally of the possible use of troops to enforce the injunction that Governor Murphy retains direct control of the national guard and may use his discretion.

Corporation Retainer Subject Is Debated

AUSTIN, Feb. 3 (AP)—The much-discussed topic of acceptance by bobbed up today in the senate, evoking long debate.

Sen. Vernon Lemons of Rainbow introduced a resolution to grant the house's request that senators state under oath what, if any, compensation they receive from corporations. His effort to obtain immediate adoption lacked one vote of gaining the required two-thirds majority and the resolution went to the senate's affairs committee.

House members decided to subject themselves to like questioning.

The house deferred until Friday consideration of the sharply controversial resolution proposing a legislative investigation of public relations expenditures of the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company. The state affairs committee recommended the investigation, 8 to 7, after heated argument revolving to a large extent about actions of Roy Miller, Texas democratic party leader and public relations director of the company.

TVA CONTRACT WITH COMPANY EXPIRING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Wendell L. Wilkie, president of the Commonwealth & Southern corporation, announced today his company would permit its power contract with the Tennessee Valley Authority to expire tonight.

He added it would not enter any new contract until a satisfactory policy for the future sale of TVA power was adopted.

Flood Relief To Take Bids

Plans Speeded On Hwy. Work

Congress Also Looks Ahead To Future Task Of Water Control

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Congress kept flood relief needs at the top of its agenda today and looked ahead as well to a vast plan for hobbling all rebellious rivers.

Turning that larger task "the most gigantic ever undertaken in the United States," Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, told the senate there was "no question" the government would find the necessary millions.

In words taken to reflect administration intent, he advocated a national control system—including levees, floodways, reservoirs, and cut-offs to be constructed over a span of years.

In the face of costly failures of the past, this would be another historic attempt to forestall such catastrophes as that which has afflicted the mid-west.

The senate worked first on the immediate problem, hoping to send the $790,000,000 relief appropriation to President Roosevelt before WPA funds are exhausted. Admiral Cary T. Grayson, Red Cross chairman, informed him his fund approached $11,500,000.

Aubrey Williams, of WPA, said the presidential flood committee found "conditions not as bad as we thought they would be." He tempered the optimism with a remark rains over the Arkansas and Red rivers might aggravate the Mississippi situation.

OKLAHOMAN DIES AT THE AGE OF 112

DAVIS, Okla., Feb. 3 (AP)—"Uncle John" Allen, 112-year-old Oklahoman who reared 43 orphans besides his own family of eight children, died at his home here today.

The feat of the Confederate veteran in raising the orphans won for him the title of Oklahoma's "champion family man."

Allen claimed to be Oklahoma's oldest resident.

ALABAMA JOINS THE LIST OF WET STATES

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 3 (AP)—Legal liquor was headed into Alabama today after 22 years, leaving Kansas the only "bone dry" state in the union.

The legislature overrode Gov. Bibb Graves' veto yesterday to enact a state store liquor control system for counties that vote wet in a state-wide referendum March 10.

Another Conference Slated For Today

DETROIT, Feb. 3 (AP)—Gov. Frank Murphy brought opposing leaders in the General Motors automotive strikes together in a peace conference today a few hours before the deadline set for evacuation of sit-down strikers holding two of the corporation's plant at Flint, Mich.

For an hour and a half, in the private chambers of a recorder's court judge, William S. Knudsen, executive vice-president of General Motors, and John L. Lewis, director-general of the strikes and chairman of the committee for industrial organization, talked with the Michigan governor.

"Interesting Conference"

"When they left, Murphy said, 'there has been a very interesting conference and another will be held here today.'"

No announcement was made as to any agreement by the representatives of the United Automobile Workers of America to comply with the injunction of a Flint circuit court ordering "stay-in" strikers to leave Fisher Body plants by 3 p. m. The strikers last night said they intended to remain at the posts they have held since Dec. 30.

The conference began shortly before 10 o'clock, little more than five hours in advance of the deadline set in a stringent court injunction for evacuation by strikers of two General Motors plants in Flint, Mich. It may have held since December 30.

Lewis made no comment upon his arrival from Washington.

Greeting Lewis at the station, federal labor conciliator James F. Dewey said he hoped for important developments today.

1,106 Persons Get Food Aid

Colthing Distributed To Others, Report For January Shows

A total of 1,106 persons were given food by the surplus commodity distribution unit during January, the regular monthly report of Mignonne Crunk, county case worker for the county welfare association, showed today.

Greater in number were those receiving clothing from the organization. They amounted to 1,442 persons.

During January 620 pounds of dried peas, 1,079 pounds of dried pears, 7,497 pounds of flour, 4,769 pounds of grapefruit, 1,050 pounds of dried peaches, 1,481 garments, five mattress pads, two quilts, 1,106 huck towels and 33 handkerchiefs were issued.

Number of cases listed on the ERC for February is 348, or 1,610 persons.

The report disclosed that $15,000 covered the disbursements in food and clothing for the first part of 1936, and while the latter six months figures are not yet complete, they are expected to exceed the amount for the first half of the year.

Work in Howard county has become so heavy that Mrs. Crunk, who was formerly a case worker for both the county and the Texas relief commission, now has to devote her entire time to the county work. Miss Betty Pace has been employed as a full time TRC worker.

Gasoline Prices GO UP AS RESULT OF CRUDE ADVANCE

HOUSTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Major oil companies in Texas announced today that prices of gasoline had been raised one-half cent a gallon.

The state-wide hike came about one week after the price of crude was advanced an average of 12 cents a barrel.

The Humble company, which led in the crude price hike, announced further advances today. The price of West Central Texas crude was increased two cents a barrel.

Oil of 28-29 gravity was posted at 20 cents, with a two-cent spread for each degree of gravity up to and including 40 gravity and above which carried the top price of $1.20. The two-cent advance was retroactive to Jan. 25 at 7 a. m., the effective date of the first advance.

The West Central Texas crudes include Brown, Chalkhan, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland, Fisher, Haskell, Jones, Shackelford, Stephens, Throckmorton and Young counties.

Job Insurance Man Due Here

Will Contact Employers In Big Spring On February 9-10

A field representative of the Texas unemployment compensation commission will be in Big Spring February 9-10 to assist all employers and others who need information concerning the new statute. It was made known here today.

Arrangements have been made for quarters at the courthouse, and Krueger will be stationed there after 5 p. m. on next Tuesday, and until noon on the following day.

A letter from Krueger to officials here pointed out that it was the commission's desire to reach the greatest number of employers possible prior to the date for filing the initial contribution and history reports. That date is February 27.

Krueger will be on a tour of West Texas, with Big Spring included. Employers are requested to call at the courthouse to adjust any problems in connection with the job insurance regulations.

STATE LOSES SUIT ON YATES OIL LAND

AUSTIN, Feb. 3 (AP)—The supreme court ruled against the state today in its effort to claim 260 acres of valuable land in the Yates oil field for the public school fund.

It reversed a judgment of the court of civil appeals and affirmed one of the trial court in the case of the Stanolind Oil & Gas company and others against the state.

The state brought suit to have the land declared a vacancy and to collect damages for oil taken from it. Had it won the school fund might have benefitted several million dollars.

Dust Bowl Has Chance For A Crop

Good Moisture In Subsoil, More Rainfall Needed Within A Month

GUYNOM, Okla., Feb. 3 (AP)—These are tensely exciting days in the "dust bowl" because there is a "chance" for a crop—if sufficient precipitation comes within the month.

Already this year, however, farmers have seen the dust spectre. Swirling dust has visited the south-west even on days when flood waters were devastating cities less than a thousand miles away. But agriculturists say there is moisture in the subsoil, even though the topsoil is dry, than there has been at this season for several years.

The farmers, and business men, too, feel that nature owes the area a lot of precipitation and it surely will come soon. They hope the subsoil moisture will keep wheat alive meantime and that the wind won't blow too hard. Otherwise, without rain, 1937 will bring a repetition of 1934-35 and 36, and wheat fields, some already a bit sickly looking, will be denuded.

Earl Wall, of the Hardesty vicinity, had decided he had about all the "vitamin K" or dust-laden air that he needed and was preparing to move to Polo, Mo. January snow left 25 inches of moisture on his 350 acres of wheat so he changed his mind and will see it through.

Texas county's agricultural agent H. C. Hyer, judges the wheat crop now as nearly normal for the first time at this season since 1933. Plenty of moisture is needed from now on, he declared.

In the "dust bowl" section of Texas, P. D. Hanna, extension district agent, said conditions reflect "material improvement in comparison with the 1936 picture. Approximately one and one-half millions of acres in the Texas Panhandle has been terraced or contoured during the last year to catch and hold moisture, Hanna said.

Last hopeful of all the "dust bowl" area is southwestern Colorado, where precipitation is badly needed.

Lynch is taking over a job in Amarillo, where they've always won pretty consistently and expect to. The reason Hilliard left Kerrville is, of course, very apparent. GIVE AAU BACK TO ATHLETES, CHIEF URGES

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 3 (AP)—As chairman of a committee to revise rules of the Amateur Athletic Union, Lorrin Andrews of Los Angeles launched a campaign today to "give the A.A.U. back to the athletes" of the United States.

Andrews, prominent attorney and president of the Southern Pacific Association of the A.A.U., declared the committee is determined to scrap many existing regulations on the organization's books, and will aim particularly at rules which seemingly benefit officials instead of the athletes.

"We are not going to have a repetition of the past year's activities with its tremendous criticism, much of it justified, of the American Olympic team's management," Andrews asserted.

"I intend to start spring cleaning now and have our guns ready to fire at the next A.A.U. meeting in Boston in December, and the Olympic committee's meeting in Washington early in January.

"Take the rule that if an athlete says he 'might' turn professional, he is 'thinking' about it, and presto, he's bumped out of amateur athletics for merely thinking—why, it's ridiculous. That's what happened to Jesse Owens.

"The idea of giving a contestant $1 a week for laundry and expenses on the Olympics trip and $10 a week to an official, was not fair."

'EMERGENCY' PLAN It Helped Plowboys Win 71 Straight, And Calls For A Tall Center

STEPHENVILLE, Feb. 3 (AP)—Coach W. J. Wisdom (that's a good name for a successful athletic coach), whose John Tarleton college cagers have set as their goal the boosting of more than 70 straight wins to 80 in a row, depends largely upon the center on the basketball court.

COACH WISDOM

He doesn't think he has a team unless he has a center whose head bobbles well above the 8-foot mark. If a tall man doesn't come out for center, Wisdom finds a tall man among the 500 men attending the college and brings him out.

Although Wisdom counts on fast forwards, long shooters and fast guards who can feed the ball to the forwards, he resorts to his "emergency" plan in the pinches.

The tall center gets under the goal and a guard or forward tosses the ball high. As it starts toward the backboard, the tall center leaps high and nudges it through the hoop with the tips of his fingers.

The Tarleton winning streak, a record in collegiate play, is not considered much out of the ordinary here. In the 15 years Wisdom has coached basketball at Tarleton his teams have won 90 per cent of their games.

ARRANTS Leads McMurry Team To Victory Over Big Springers

By HANK HAERT

The "iron men" of McMurry—Max Arrants, Bobby Anthony, Beans McCasland, Bob King and Roy Miers—got "hot" in the last three minutes of play to edge out the Big Spring Dukes, 37-35, Tuesday night in the high school gym.

It was the first loss of the year for the Dukes on the local court, but they went down fighting. They led 20-14 at the intermission and seemed to have things going their way, but the collegians began to click with the opening of the third quarter and deadlocked the score midway of the fourth period.

Great shots by Tommy Hutto and Jack Smith put the locals four points to the good five minutes before the final whistle, but Max Arrants clipped in three straight field goals in three minutes of that time, and Bobby Anthony added the fourth one to give the Abilene Methodists the margin of victory.

Arrants led the McMurry scoring with a total of 13 points, but Tommy Hutto took honors for the evening with seven field goals, four of which were made in the last half.

Both teams were decidedly off-form on free tosses, the locals making three in six attempts while the visitors dropped in three out of nine attempts.

FOUR MINUTE MILE IS GOAL OF WOODRUFF

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 3 (AP)—The dream of American middle distance runners—a four-minute mile—is the goal set for lanky John Woodruff, towering track star of the University of Pittsburgh.

Carl Olson of Pitt, coach of the six feet, four inch negro whose tremendous 12-foot stride carried him to victory in the Olympic 500-meter final, thinks the specialist in the shorter distances eventually will be the first to cover the mile in four minutes even, 6.7 seconds faster than Glenn Cunningham's world standard.

"Woodruff's the only one in the country now who has a chance of approaching a four-minute mile," he said.

A sophomore at Pitt, majoring in physical education, Woodruff is the serious, silent type, a diligent student.

His loping style has been the despair of sticklers for running but Olson says he has made little effort to change Woodruff's natural style. He was a sensation in 1936 and climaxed his campaign by winning the metric half mile at Berlin.

Charles (Chuck) Hornabostel is the man he fears most in a race. "Charley likes to trail until near the end, then sprint," Woodruff explained. "I never can be sure whether or not I can match him. Most of the time I've been able to take a big enough lead to beat him."

Both teams were decidedly off-form on free tosses, the locals making three in six attempts while the visitors dropped in three out of nine attempts.

Mustangs Increase Margin With 26 To 15 Victory Over Baylor

DALLAS, Feb. 3 (AP)—Southern Methodist's Mustangs held a full game lead today over their nearest rivals, the Texas Aggies, in the Southwest Conference basketball campaign.

The Mustangs increased their margin last night with a 26 to 15 victory over the Baylor Bears. Trailing 10 to 12 at the intermission, the Ponies moved into the lead shortly after the last half opened and set the pace the remainder of the way.

J. D. Norton, Mustang sophomore flank, was held to four points in a closely-fought first half but found his stride in the second period to boost his total to 11. Billy Dewell, another sophomore ace in the Pony lineup, accounted for 10 points.

Norton's performance gave him a 57 to 49 lead over Don (Deadpan) Lockard of Arkansas for individual scoring honors in the loop.

Geenan and Sorelle paced the Bruin attack.

PROS TUNE UP FOR CROSBY'S OPEN TOURNAMENT

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3 (AP)—Leading professional golfers of the nation tarried here today, tuning up for the last engagement on California's winter schedule—the $3,000 open tournament sponsored this week-end by Bing Crosby, singing film star.

Larry Crosby, arranging the meet details for brother Bing, said a field of 76 pros and 76 amateurs would compete over the Rancho Santa Fe course near Del Mar, Calif., Saturday and Sunday.

Ranking pros, including Harry Cooper, Ed Dudley, Henry Picard, Paul Runyan and others, will enter the tournament.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Two tents—one today and one Feb. 15—may prove just how seriously this whirlwind discussion of a Jimmy Braddock-Joe Louis heavyweight championship fight in Chicago is to be taken.

Today Joe Gould, Braddock's manager, was to go before the New York state athletic commission to demand the return of his $5,000 "evidence of good faith" forfeit, posted in connection with Braddock's scheduled title defense against Max Baucus.

Commission Chairman John J. Frielin says Gould has a chance in the world to get the money. Gould may not even show up to make the demand but if he does the commission's attitude possibly will indicate future courses of action.

The second test will come when Braddock makes a couple of brief appearances in the Hippodrome Feb. 15 against Eddie Kotwica of Garfield, N. J., and Eddie Cook, Havana negro.

Gould said he would ask the four-round minimum rule be waived so Braddock can start his warm-ups with a pair of two-round sparring matches.

Under the New York state law, these technically would be title matches and might be regarded as such a violation of his contract with Madison Square Garden as would be a Louis fight.

S. D. Flora, federal meteorologist, said 1936 was the driest year in Kansas in the 50 years that statewide weather records have been kept.

JESS SHOWERS RESIGNS AS CHAIRMAN GAME COMMISSION

AUSTIN, Feb. 3 (AP)—Governor Allred today appointed A. E. Wood of Austin, chairman of the game, fish and oyster commission to succeed Jess L. Showers of Yetsano and Gene Howe of Amarillo a member succeeding Jack O'Brien of San Antonio.

Wood and Howe both are former members of the commission. Wood, also a former state senator, is a lawyer, while Howe is a newspaper publisher and editor. Showers and O'Brien resigned after a controversy over retention of W. J. Tucker as secretary of the commission. Showers and O'Brien wanted Tucker to resign. The secretary was supported by the governor.

The governor had little comment on the resignations, but said he thought the situation would be "cleared" by the shakeup. He planned to send the new appointments to the senate for confirmation right away.

The governor also had little to say about a conference with Showers in Fort Worth last night. He said he talked with Showers about the situation. "I had been having some difficulty seeing Showers," he said. "I wanted to talk with him and en route home from Amarillo had the opportunity and did so."

FORT WORTH, Feb. 3 (AP)—Jess L. Showers, of Vernon, today resigned as chairman of the state game, fish and oyster commission after a two-hour conference with Gov. James V. Allred last night.

Jack O'Brien, sports editor of the San Antonio Evening News and a critic of the work of Will Tucker, secretary of the commission, announced he, too, would resign his membership on the commission. Showers forwarded his formal resignation to Austin this morning.

"DREAM" MATCH IS CALLED OFF

SURFSIDE, Fla., Feb. 3 (AP)—The "dream" tennis match which was to have pitted the country's leading pros against the amateur aces of the nation—Ellsworth Vines and Fred Perry versus Betsy Grant and Donald Budge—was called off here today when Vines failed to appear for the exhibition.

No explanation was made by officials of the club where the match was to have been played. The three other stars appeared at the appointed hour. Efforts to locate Vines were futile.

SURFSIDE, Fla., Feb. 3 (AP)—A "dream" tennis match between four of the best players in professional and amateur ranks came true today—but the public was barred.

Two of amateur tennis' biggest stars, Don Budge and Bryan Grant, teamed up against Fred Perry and Ellsworth Vines, leading pro attractions, in a doubles test at the exclusive Surf Club.

The match was arranged by local enthusiasts but, in order not to jeopardize the amateurs' status, it was decided only members of the club could watch the three-set match.

Seeded players, headed by Budge and Grant, paraded into the quarter-finals of the Surf Club's invitational tournament without difficulty. The little Atlantan faces Ellwood Cooke of Los Angeles and Budge tackles Walter Senior of San Francisco.

Charles Harris of Palm Beach, the winner last year, battles Wayne Rubin of Los Angeles, Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland and Dr. Eugene McCauliff of Chicago, will meet in the same round.

Final Vote On Ending Strike Is Delayed

Longshoremen's Decision Probably Not Known Until Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3 (AP)—As and to the Pacific coast maritime strike was delayed temporarily today by intervention of the weather but leaders in the 87-day walkout, watching back-to-work votes mount, expect the final tonight or tomorrow.

Stormy weather delayed distribution of ballots in the northwest and at San Diego to the International Longshoremen's union, largest of the seven involved, and officials said it probably would not be possible to announce the complete tabulation as planned for noon today.

Voting neared completion on agreements between shipowner and the other unions and returns were pouring into the headquarters of the joint strike committee here.

That body will tabulate and announce the result and then set a date for the return to work, conceded as assured by union officials.

Delay in completion of the Longshoremen's vote was described as "due to conditions beyond control of the I. L. A." in an official statement.

Tentative agreements must be ratified by the unions before resumption of work, tentatively set for Thursday, but now facing possibly a day's delay.

Despite the threatened hitch shipowners rushed plans for an immediate resumption of operations, paralyzed since the start of the costly strike at midnight, Oct. 29.

Reading And Writing

By John Selby

It is almost certain that George Jean Nathan has spoken, in a good many of the excellent reviews he has written of other people's plays, of "play carpentering." It is a mildly derogatory term, mild because of course most current plays are carpentered from the standard joints and beams of the commercial theater, and no denying it.

Now his colleagues and the gentlemen of the theater have their chance. Good Mr. Nathan has done a stint of carpentering himself. Good Mr. Nathan has, to be honest, made a play he calls "The Avon Flows" out of three of Shakespeare's plays. His publisher says that two producers are negotiating for a Broadway production, rather knowing that Mr. Nathan is the carpenter. It's to be hoped that they recognize Shakespeare's hand in the matter.

As a matter of fact, they almost could produce "The Avon Flows" without paying royalties, inasmuch as Mr. Nathan has changed very little. He marries Romeo and Juliet, introduces intrigue and the famous handkerchief from "Othello," then resolves the matter and makes Romeo master with an act from "The Taming of the Shrew." He has transposed a scene or so, but changed no lines except when the change of names in the last two plays makes the alteration necessary. A few stage directions are added, in more or less modern English. These sometimes sound a little odd.

As an exercise in transposition, "The Avon Flows" is quite delightful. Those who live daily with Shakespeare will doubtless pull out a few hairs in the reading, for it is a shock to find Romeo speaking the lines of two other Shakespearean characters—and the same goes for Juliet and Tybalt and the rest. Just the same, it is amusing to see how logical the lines sound most of the time. And this will let you know, if you want to know what would have happened had Romeo and Juliet survived their painful last scene. Always providing that Mr. Nathan's stunt doesn't bother your sense of the proprieties.

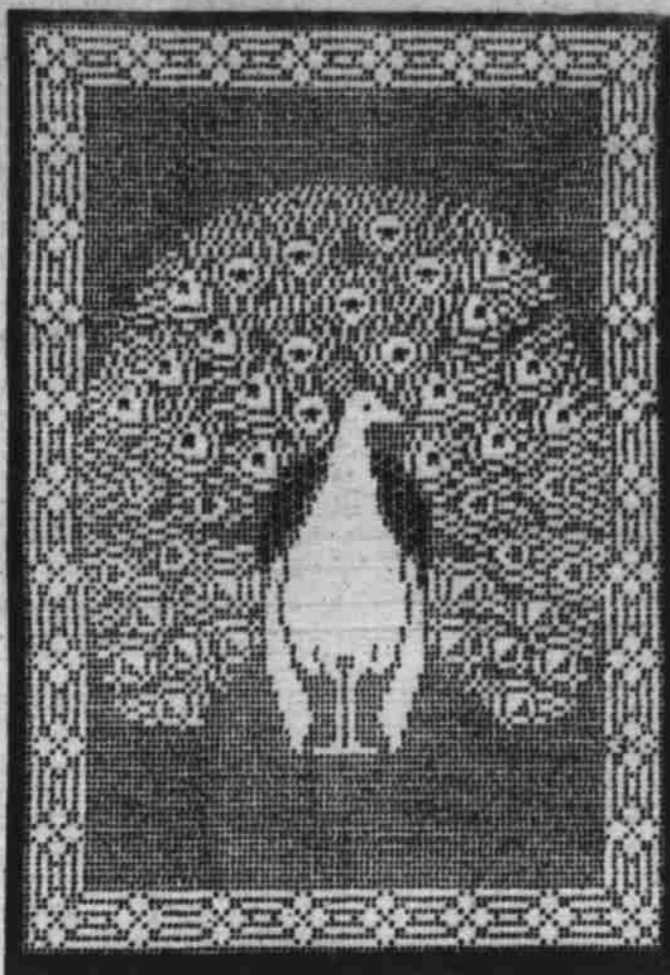

"The Avon Flows," more or less by George Jean Nathan (Random).

Peacock Motif In Panel

BY RUTH ORR
Pattern No. 350

We don't need to tell you that French doors (and other doors) do need decoration, but perhaps if never occurred to you how much your room will be improved if the decoration were a lovely panel of filet crochet. This piece will be the answer to all your demands, for it can be made in a variety of sizes, ranging from 21 by 25 inches to 27 by 33, depending on the cotton used. If, on the other hand, you like the design but do not need a panel for a door, here's another suggestion. If you omit a few spaces at the top and bottom of the pattern, according to the instructions, then you'll have a charming square centerpiece. The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with block and spaced diagrams to aid you; also what crochet hook and what material and how much you will need. To obtain this pattern, send for No. 350 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address: Big Spring Herald, Needlework Dept., P. O. Grease Paint Beckons Localities As Hour Nears For Club Offering

Grease paint will be lavishly smeared tonight as the cast of "Turn to the Right" prepared for the performance of the play sponsored by the St. Cecilia Dramatic Club to be given at 8 o'clock on the Municipal Auditorium stage.

The home talent group has done exceptionally well with the rather difficult play that will be presented against some very attractive stage settings. While the thermometer bobs up and down outside, the audience will be taken into imagination to spring by the realistically appearing peach trees that blossom on the stage during the latter part of the show. By far the most attractive sets ever arranged for a home talent offering, in addition to the trees, entire sets of hedges have been fashioned.

Advance ticket sales promised a large audience. Proceeds will be used toward the purchase of a pipe organ for the St. Mary's Episcopal church, purpose of which the St. Cecilia Club was primarily organized.

Ray Simmons who has directed and performed in many local shows is directing the club offering to be presented this evening and has been very enthusiastic in his praise of the cast. In this group he has found exceptional talent for not only dramatic parts but also comedy roles.

Appearing this evening will be Jack Hodges, Charles Hurdleston, Charles Bussey, Herman Fuhrer, Tommy Reeves, Joe Pickle, Lawrence Liberty, C. M. Earnes, Bob Utley and Mrs. Ray Lawrence, Miss Don Hutto, Miss Frances Stamper and Mrs. Lee Rogers.

In organizing the dramatic club, this church group hopes to create interest in home talent plays to the extent of beginning Little Theatre work in this city.

Oppenheimer Review Attracts Many; New Return In March

Popular demand of majority of two hundred and fifty people who last night attended Evelyn Oppenheimer's review of "Honourable Estate," for her return here to give "Gone With the Wind," prompted the 1930 Hyperion Club to schedule her at her first open date for a review of the country's most popular novel.

Miss Oppenheimer has given her sixtieth review of the fast selling work of Margaret Mitchell, and although many here have heard the book given they insist upon another by Miss Oppenheimer whose powerful delivery rather holds her audience spellbound.

Today the reviewer and lecturer is giving her eleventh review of "Honourable Estate" although she began the book only two weeks ago.

Hyperion members who sponsor of her appearance last night are hopeful of securing her for a return engagement during the first weeks of March.

WHEN WE STOP GREASY INDIGESTION WE FEEL JUST FINE

Our stomach can't digest grease. Neither can our bowels. Only our pancreatic juice, working with our bile juice, can digest grease.

When we get bad taste, headache and that nasty greasy feeling which comes from greasy indigestion, take 1 Center's Little Liver Pills before each meal and 1 after.

Center's Little Liver Pills bring a large flow of our pancreatic juice and bile juice into our bowels. The large flow of these juices digests the grease we have eaten. Then we burst into life and into our work with a joyous spirit.

But if you want this glorious relief from greasy indigestion, ask your druggist for Center's Little Liver Pills by name and stubbornly refuse to buy anything else. 25c.

'Jean Valjeans' Are Not Safe Granite Reformatory Warden Going After All Fugitives, Long At Large

GRANITE, Okla., Feb. 3 (UP)—No "Jean Valjean" whose past includes escape from bleak Granite reformatory, is safe today.

Unflinching Warden Fred Hunt through peace officers throughout the nation slowly is drawing them back into the confines of this stern, isolated institution.

Hunt's campaign to show Granite's present prisoners "they can't get away and stay away," has resulted in the capture of about 20 convicts who fled from 12 to 25 years ago, and 50 more who escaped more recently.

Hunt, tall, genial, is the typical southwestern peace officer from his sombrero hat to his high-heeled boots. Devoted to duty, he runs his prison with an efficiency that has resulted in no escape during the two years of his administration.

At present, three men in widely scattered sections of the country await their return after years of freedom.

An arrest on a charge of drunkenness tripped Oscar Crowder, 36, in Los Angeles, Calif.; his fingerprints showed his past. He fled Granite 19 years ago while serving a term as an accomplice in a burglary.

In Roundup, Mont., Carl D. Renfro, who escaped 16 years ago, was ticketed for Granite after he was arrested for a misdemeanor. He must complete a five-year term for automobile theft.

John W. Dick, 38, married, foster father of one boy, father of two others, walked into a Chicago, Ill., police station and surrendered. He said he fled Granite 18 years ago, and was ready to finish his five-year term for highway burglary.

YOUR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Many men have it in their hearts and on their minds to do something for the city in which they live—to accomplish more during the coming year than in the past—yet some, at least, have no clear-cut idea of what to do nor any definite plan of how to go about doing what they may have decided they should do.

Fortunately, there is an answer to the problem—the chamber of commerce.

Regardless of what some people may think or say about the inefficiency or the clamminess of this organization (opinions and assertions usually the result of misunderstanding) it is deserving of the confidence and support, both financial and moral, of every good citizen.

Co-operation is the only successful plan now. It is demonstrated in everything concerning our business life. The government is trying to impress it upon the minds of farmers, better to make production match demand and yield profit instead of loss.

It is a place where only things believed to be for the benefit of the whole community and citizenship are initiated and forwarded. Individual desires and opinions are a necessary part of the discussions; but the final and successful desires and opinions obtained by discussion and the rule and give and take, are those which represent all the worthwhile elements of the community.

The chamber of commerce of Big Spring is inaugurating this week its annual campaign for memberships. Put it down as one of your obligations as a citizen to become a member—an active member.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Notes on artists: John LaGatta is a successful illustrator, and his forte is fluffy, ultra-feminine women, but he likes occasionally to illustrate football stories.

So famous has been John Held, Jr., for his post war flappers that not many people know he is expert at drawing animals. The late Robert Henri once won enough money at Monte Carlo to finance a three months' art course in Rome.

Gilbert Bundy likes to draw pink, shapely damsels, as his full-page illustrations in Esquire infer. He lives in a big house on Riverside Drive in which there is only a drawing board and a studio couch.

Among current illustrators who can write as well as draw are Percy Crosby, John Held, Jr., and Russell Patterson. Patterson, aside from his canvases, devotes most of his time to marionettes.

When you come across Indian stories in the Saturday Evening Post, they are usually illustrated by Matt Clark. Do you remember Coles Phillips, whose hosiery ads and pictures of slim, feminine limbs created a definite vogue a decade ago?

Peter Arno, when not satirizing large-bosomed dowagers, studies cordial waters and literature relating to the Civil War. George Petty, whose pictures of pretty women are what art editors desire ardently, is an outdoorsman.

Then there is Jon Whitcomb, who usually can be found in his studio near the Beaux Arts apartments. Before he began crowding high excitement into covers for Collier's, and fashioning intriguing liquor labels, he worked as a press agent for a movie house in Chicago.

Campaign seen to sway court decisions

Investigation of federal judges threatened. Roosevelt believed back of labor subpoena request. President held not ready to champion cause.

Baiting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—A not-very-sly campaign to make judges rule the right way seems to be under way in congress. A couple of congressmen have started kicking dust on the shoes of the umpires about to make important decisions.

In the house, a charge was made that Federal Judge Gore had flouted the supreme court decision in the TVA case by issuing an injunction against TVA. The charge was investigated by three members of the house judiciary committee, who unanimously decided he had not.

This left the kickers somewhat shy on dust, but they have started out to find some other misconduct by Gore if they can. There is need of haste, as Gore is to try the main TVA case (set for March 8, but likely to be postponed).

Finesse

No dust kicker is Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania. In fact, the senator originated the phrase likening the supreme court to an umpire. He said he never debated with one after the court held his coal bill unconstitutional. However, if someone else wants to throw a little wet dust, Guffey is not adverse to showing them where the shoes are.

More moderate congressional critics of the courts are inclined to doubt the wisdom of these tactics. They point out that it is a customary practice in sandlot baseball but is not considered good form in the big leagues.

Corrective

President Roosevelt's legislative leaders made no secret of their opposition when Labor Secretary Perkins sent her message to congress requesting labor subpoena legislation. Speaker Bankhead was quoted as saying he did not like the idea of getting legislative messages from cabinet members.

Trouble

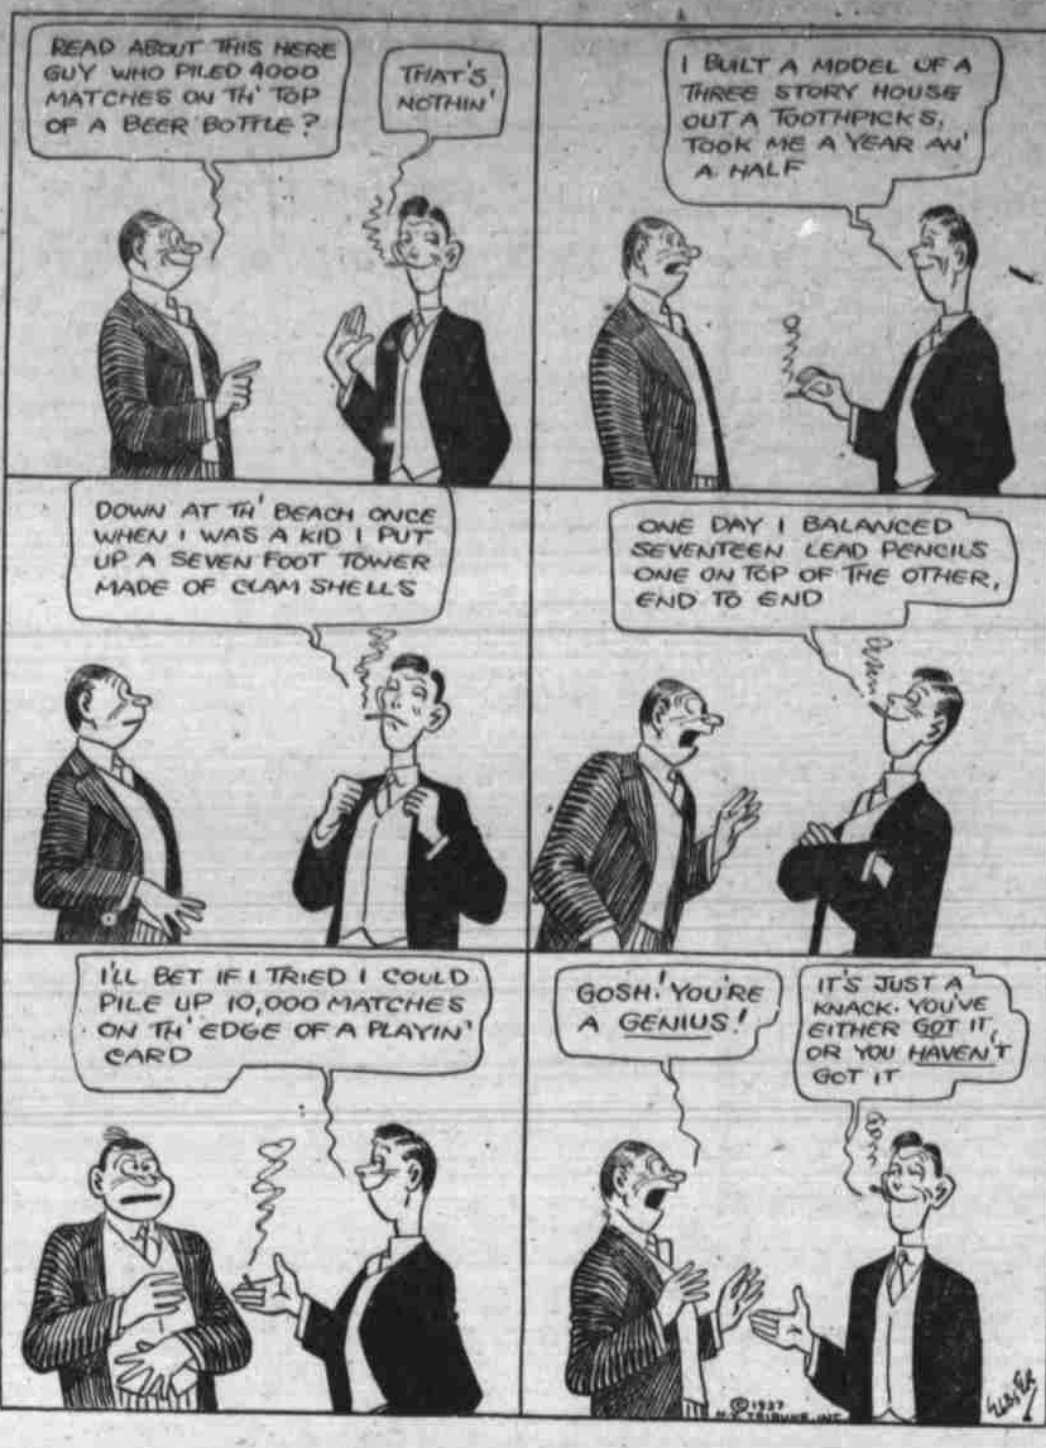

The regularity with which congressional leaders have said the wrong thing about many issues (constitutional amendments, courts, budget, labor, etc.) has started a suspicion that they are getting proposals. This conclusion does not seem to be warranted.

Justice Triumphant

Civil service is a great thing, especially if you know how to use it. Consider the case of the demagogic congressman who found that the two high qualifiers for a postmastership in his district were republicans. The third, a democrat, was far down the list.

Now, as everyone knows, even the civil service law is no excuse for letting republicans get post-

The Boy Who Made Good

Wings For Sally

Chapter 46 Party At The McDonalds

At home Sally left word she would not be there for supper, and ran upstairs to change her dress. Since this was to be her celebration she decided to wear a simple blue frock with trimmings of hand-made lace.

Bob Dawes was on time, as usual. His big car was piled high with packages for the party, and Bob was in high good humor.

"All set?" he cried, as Sally got in beside. "Where do we go for the lady with the bass voice."

"Lola hasn't got a bass voice," said Bob reproachfully. She gave him the address. "Don't be flippant about that girl—she's the salt of the earth."

"If you say so, that settles it," said Bob. He began to whistle gaily and dodge in and out of the Main street traffic recklessly.

"What on earth's happened to you, Bob?" he demanded. Sally said "You act as if Mary had just accepted you."

"Oh!" Sally drew her brows together. That might explain Philip's ill temper of the past two weeks. Perhaps that night she had seen Mary enter Philip's house at midnight.

"You've been mighty good friends in time of trouble," said McDonald, "and we won't forget it. I'm looking forward to working for Mr. Morris again. A man don't mind working his best when he knows he's doing it for a man that plays square."

"All right, pile in, you girls," said Bob Dawes to Sally and Lola. "I've got to drive all the way home to-night."

"Are you and Mary really engaged?" he asked. "I'm going to be a wet blanket," scolded Bob. "Of course all Mary's engagements are trial. She promises to marry me by Christmas—though of course, I'll never really believe it till I hear her at the altar."

Bob stopped the car and Lola came running out to meet them. They all crowded together on the front seat and set out for Milltown. Sally, looking at the shabby, paintless houses and the red dirt road, washed into deep gullies, thought of the improvements that would soon come to Milltown through Philip Page's efforts.

"Here we are! Wake up, Sally!" cried Lola. The car was already surrounded by a host of little McDonalds. Young Joe, in the same ragged overalls in which Sally had first beheld him, leaped upon the running board of the car and displayed a gap in the row of his lower teeth.

"Look! I lost a tooth! I put my tooth under the pillow and I got a penny!" Bob carried the food to the door, and the two girls went just ahead of him. At the door they met McDonald, tall, blue-eyed, a little pale from his confinement in Warrenton's airless jail.

"It's a party to celebrate," answered Sally. "We're having a party supper. Where's May?" May was in the rocking chair, well enough to sit up, now, with a rug across her knees. The children crowded about her shouting, "It's a party! It's a party!"

"Hush, now, Papa's going to give thanks," Silence fell, and all heads were bowed. Even the baby, sitting on Sally's lap, ducked its head obediently, in imitation of the others. As the father's voice rose and fell, thanking God for the blessings bestowed on his family, Sally felt the tears rise behind her closed eyelids.

BOMBS FALL NEAR BRITISH VESSEL

LONDON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Three Spanish government planes dropped three small bombs near the British battleship Royal Oak off Europa Point, Gibraltar, authorized sources reported today. The battleship was not damaged.

Official sources said the government "assumed" the planes mistook the battleship for a Spanish insurgent ship but George Ogilvie Forbes, British charge d'affaires in Spain, was instructed to "bring the matter to the attention" of the Valencia socialist administration.

The attack occurred at approximately 11:30 a. m. yesterday, it was reported. No retaliatory action was taken by the Royal Oak's commanding officers, these sources said.

Flood Control For Arkansas River Mapped

Drainage, Storage Projects Included In Plan Submitted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—President Roosevelt submitted to congress today a report of the national resources committee recommending drainage projects for the upper section of the Arkansas river and storage of flood waters along the main stream and principal tributaries to reduce the frequency of floods in bottom land areas.

The committee's plan, based on a long-range study, shuts out navigation possibilities, declaring the sandy, shifting channel of the Arkansas prevents carrying out such projects except at a cost "far greater than that of other means of transportation."

The committee recommends further study of several dams authorized by congress and surveys for additional reservoirs.

"The prime water need of the upper section of the basin is more water for lands now irrigated," the report said.

"More water may be made available for further conservation of existing supplies and by transmountain diversion from drainage on the western slopes of the Rocky mountains."

The report said "tributaries of the lower Arkansas afford numerous opportunities for development of recreational facilities and of hydroelectric power."

Among the large projects proposed for immediate construction, the committee recommended the construction of the $10,000,000 dam and reservoir at Taylorville, Colo., for which plans are complete under a project authorized by congress for flood control and water supplies for irrigation. It also recommended expenditure of $6,500,000 needed to complete construction of Conchas dam and reservoir at Tucuman, N. M., and the $2,500,000 dam and reservoir in Oeage county, Oklahoma, which have been authorized by congress.
