Country Club Construction Begins

Enlarged Facilities To Attract Guests

On Tuesday, September 23, 1969, the old portion of the Muleshoe Country Club was destroyed in a fire which raged out of control for some time. Although members of the Bailey County Volunteer Fire Department waged a desperate battle to save the structure, the inside of the kitchen area of the country club was apparently already gutted by fire when firemen reached the fire.

E. T. Ford, a Muleshoe contractor, presented a plan for a new country club in late November, and following a meeting of the Country Club Board of Directors, the plan was accepted. Construction was slated to begin this week on new facilities which will include a new dining room, with fireplace, ballroom, private club and a covered patio. The view from the dining room of the new club will be onto the putting green.

The new portion of the country club will be attached to the existing structure which did not burn in the fire. The existing structure includes the Pro Shop, golf storage, ladies' lounge, men's dressing room and locker space.

Plans for the new building call for brick veneer construction and the building will be in a modified 'L' shape and focal point will be an atrium, glass enclosed and greenery filled.

Included in the construction, according to Golf Pro, Jerry Mobley, will be the floor plan design which has been planned to divide the dining room and private club. He said the planners felt this would appeal to persons who have not heretofore utilized country club facilities.

Mobley added that he hoped the new country club facilities will be used for private dinners, parties and other functions.

The portion of the country club which did not burn in the September fire was completely remodeled and new equipment and supplies were added. Cont'd on Page 2, Col. 3

GROUND BREAKING CEREMONY FOR NEW COUNTRY CLUB ADDITION--Stan Barrett, country club member; E.T. Ford, Muleshoe contractor; Houston Hart, (with shovel) chairman of the board of directors of the Muleshoe Country Club and Jerry Mobley, golf pro, were at a groundbreaking ceremony for the new country club addition. Construction on the new facility was expected to start immediately with Contractor Ford in charge of the construction. The old country club was partially destroyed by fire on September 23, 1969.

Show Upcoming At San Antonio

Jim Burkhead of Fry and Cox Implement Co., said the annual Southwest Hardware and Implement Association trade exposition and farm show will be held in San Antonio soon.

He said it will be held at the Convention Center in San Antonio on Saturday, January 31 and Sunday, Feb. 1 for all farm and implement dealers in the area. Burkhead commented that Tristate Implement and Hardware Association has been combined with the Texas Hardware and Implement Association in order to present one outstanding show a year.

Corn Performances Tests Are Outlined

Bailey County Agent J. K. Adams says that Walter B. Little, Bailey County farmer, has produced outstanding corn crops in the county, to once again lead the state in corn production.

The corn producer planted his corn on May 21. He planted 49 varieties in the corn performance test he participated in. Two plots of each variety were thinned to nine inches apart and the other two plots of each variety were thinned to only six inches apart.

The average of the nine inch spaced corn proved to be much higher than the average of the six inch spaced corn of each variety, reported Adams. He added that a comparison of the top eleven varieties shows a radical change in rank as plant population changes from nine inch spacing to six inch spacing. For example, he said, the Texas Experimental Number 68257 was top yielder in the low population with a yield of 190.2 bushels while it dropped to the bottom with only 110.6 bushel yield when grown only six inches apart.

The test results of the top eleven varieties are as follows: Test corn thinned to nine inches: Texas Exp. 68257 ... 190.2 bu. PX 635 174.0 PX 63 174.0 ASX 165 W 172.3 Texas Exp. 68402 ... 164.1 McNair X202 163.4 2XL-9 161.0 E-8244 157.0 E-901W 157.0 ACCO UC 6000 139.1 Texas 425X 133.4 Same corn thinned to six inches apart: Texas 425X 177.2 ACCO UC 6000 148.0 E-8244 145.0 E-901W 142.9 PX-635 139.5 2XL-9 136.0 McNair 202 135.8 Texas Exp. 68204 .. 135.3 ASX 165W 129.1 PX-63 112.0 Texas 68257 110.6

The sergeant asked, "What will the decade of the 1970's be traffic fatality wise in Texas? Here are some facts that could give you an idea. There were 25,000 persons killed in Texas traffic during the 1950's and 30,000 killed during the 60's. If the past and present trend continues, the 1970's will be another record decade."

Clovis Robbers Trio By-Pass Roadblocks

Evidently evading roadblocks hastily thrown up in a wide area around Clovis, Farwell, Texico, Bovina, Friona, Muleshoe and other points, three robbers remain at large following an armed robbery at Clovis Wednesday night.

At approximately 11:30 p.m. (MST) two men walked into the Aztec Package Store on East Highway 84 and asked clerk Sam Garcia for a bottle. After he took the bottle from a shelf, and turned around, one of the men was holding a gun. Garcia was ordered to lie down on the floor. Conrad Clark, who was preparing a bank statement in a back room walked into the front of the package store and was also ordered to lie down on the floor.

The two men took the money from the cash register Garcia told officers then took the money from the back room. Owner Frank Murray later reported a total of $339 taken from the establishment by the duo.

A suspicious City Police officer, Jim McDonald, who was cruising past the business with an off duty State Police officer accompanying him, pursued the 1965 orange and white Mustang which drove away from the store. McDonald and the other officer, James Kelly, reported they pumped a total of 24 shots at the fleeing vehicle. The chase during which other police units participated, was eastward Texico-Farwell. The vehicle turned onto the Oklahoma Lane highway east of Farwell, then doubled back to Farwell where it was abandoned four blocks south of the highway in Farwell. Officers were summoned for roadblocks. Sheriff Dee Clements, Deputies Ken Petree and Pete Black, Muleshoe City Police Chief Harold White and City Patrolmen Forist Williams and Lee Simmons and Texas Highway Patrolman Joe Young, all of Bailey County, set up roadblocks and began checking cars in the area. The roadblock just west of Muleshoe on Highway 84 was not pulled until 10:20 a. m. Thursday as cold, tired and hungry officers were allowed to come into town.

A helicopter from the Department of Public Safety at Lubbock was brought into the area around 7 a. m. Thursday, to hover over Farwell and the immediate area there in search of the robbers.

At 4:28 a.m. Thursday, a surprised hitchhiker was picked up three miles east of Muleshoe on Highway 84. After thoroughly checking out the man, he was released later Thursday morning by the Bailey County Sheriff's office.

Memorial Fund Begun At Church For Marie White

A memorial fund for Mrs. Thurman (Marie) White has been started at the First Christian Church in Muleshoe, according to the minister, Rev. Walter Bartholf.

Rev. Bartholf commented, "We have begun the memorial fund in memory of Marie White for her many years of service to the church and the community."

He added that money may be sent to Mrs. Woods (Marjorie) Goforth, the church treasurer. Checks should be made out to the church and marked, "Marie White Memorial Fund."

ROADBLOCK NORTHWEST OF MULESHOE ON HIGHWAY 84--Hundreds of motorists received an early morning surprise if they traveled in the Muleshoe-Clovis area Thursday morning. Roadblocks were the order of the day in an attempt to capture robbers who held up a store in Clovis late Wednesday night. Pictured here is Lee Simmons, Muleshoe City Police officer, as he stops all east bound vehicles at the intersection of FM1760-84-70, northwest of Muleshoe.

have been stolen in Odessa on Friday, Jan. 9 and the license plate on the vehicle was reported as having been stolen from Lubbock Adult Probation Officer J. L. Clinton last Tuesday night.
An interesting sidenote was added by a Muleshoe resident, Mrs. Troy Veach. Mrs. Veach said she was attending youth night services at the United Pentecostal Church in Texico prior to the robbery when two men sat down on next to the rear seat of the church and remained until the service was well underway, then left the church, some time before the services ended.
Mrs. Veach said that no one in the church knew the identity of the two men, who she described as closely fitting the description of the two robbers in the liquor store. She said one was tall, very slender and was dressed in a dark brown jacket with either a very dark brown or black collar. She said the other stranger in the church was short with a round face and short, curly hair, and wore a brown jacket and khaki type trousers. Mrs. Veach commented that neither man removed his hands from his pockets during the time they were in the church.
In a conversation with Curry County Deputy Sheriff Bob Stephens late Friday afternoon, he said that several suspects had been questioned in the robbery, but no arrests had been made and no charges filed against any individuals.
Stephens said that the investigation was begun by the City Police Department of Clovis and that the Curry County Sheriff's office had entered the investigation on Thursday. He said Curry County Sheriff Nelson Worley was in Lubbock Friday afternoon checking some information on the robbery.

Texas Is Looking For A Rural Hero!

Texas is looking for a rural hero!
This person will receive the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council's Rural Heroism Award during the Texas Safety Association meeting, March 23 in Dallas. The award is presented annually to a deserving person, living in a rural community of 2,500 or less, who has risked personal life or injury in performing a heroic act.
While it specifically honors one individual for exceptional bravery at a time of crisis or disaster, the safety program points up this highly important objective; the continuing need for improved safety conditions in our rural area -- at work, at home and at play.
The award may go to a person credited with pulling another from a flaming building, saving a drowning person or any other such feat of heroism. Anyone knowing of the performance of such an act during the past twelve months is urged to submit a nomination for this important award, said a spokesman for the Safety Council. Nominations should include a narrative of the heroic incident, giving complete details. It should include the names of all persons involved, and should be accompanied by photographs and pictures if they are available. The award recipient will be chosen by a panel of judges, based on the material submitted by the nominee.
Deadline for entries is March 1. They should be mailed to: Rural Heroism Awards Committee, Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, P.O. Box 489, Waco, Texas 76703.

Ford added that he expected to begin construction immediately on the new building.

Moscow Attraction Is Lenin Mausoleum

Moscow--Without question, the greatest tourist attraction in Moscow is the Lenin Mausoleum located on Red Square which no other public square in the world can equal in vastness, grandeur and over-all atmosphere.
Here on May Day and Revolution Day, the Communists parade their might and do their thing on this rectangular cobblestone expanse. It is flanked on the two short ends about three times the length of a football field by a spiral historical museum and St. Basil's Cathedral with its unusual architecture.
Across the Square rises the wall of the Kremlin, spruce trees in the foreground and golden cupolas behind it. In front of the wall is Lenin's red Ukrainian granite tomb, it is open to the public five days a week, but people continually come to Red Square day and night. Two Russian soldiers stand guard at the entrance to the mausoleum twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week.
The soldiers are relieved every hour. During the 60 minutes they are on duty, they stand at attention or parade rest and never flex a muscle. They are so rigid that they appear to be part of the monument itself. At about five minutes before the hour two relief soldiers will goose-step from a Kremlin Wall entrance onto Red Square. They are under command of an officer who handles the detail. They goose-step about 150 yards to Lenin's tomb. As the Kremlin Spasskaya Tower clock strikes the hour, the officer gives the command which brings the guards on duty to life. They step back, and the relief steps into their place for one hour of staturesque vigil. The officer and the two relief soldiers then smartly goose-step back down Red Square and fade from view.
This in itself is a show, and tremendous crowds gather every hour to witness the changing of the guards at Lenin's tomb, even when it is not open. When the mausoleum is open, lines form four abreast across Red Square and down into a park. People from all over the Soviet Union journey to Moscow to pay homage to Lenin. Sometimes the line is two miles long, and seeing the remains of the revolutionary leader means a wait of several hours.
He concluded with the fact that the Pork-ettes will not meet until the March meeting. "Eagle has landed" joins famous words.

Pork Producers Slate Meeting In Lubbock

Roy L. Poage, president of the West Texas Pork Producers said that at the January meeting, new directors whose terms expire at this time include Billy Bob McMillan, Troy Pritchard, Buddy Winter and T. Euel Linder.
Kenneth Nesbitt of Muleshoe is one of the four directors whose term will expire at the end of this year. The other three directors are Roy Poage, Dick Cade and Herman Lorenz.
Directors whose terms will expire at the end of 1971 are Orville Mathis, Dr. Tribble, Ernest Harris and Cliff Etheridge.
The commercial program will be presented by Wayne Hardy, of the Ralston Purina Company and Dr. Zirkle, a federal veterinarian from San Angelo will give a report on hog cholera in West Texas and the area.
A report on the latest developments of the National Pork Producers Council will be given by Euel Linder, Texas Representative on the Council.
The president reminded members that dues will be due at the time of the meeting and as it is a report meeting, he asked that producers be prepared to report on how many hogs that were checked off in 1969.
He concluded with the fact that the Pork-ettes will not meet until the March meeting. "Eagle has landed" joins famous words.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm attack the air pollution problem in his own peculiar way this week.
Dear editor:
Although I fought against it, at the turn of the year I had to make a trip into Lubbock and the man I was riding with got caught in a traffic jam, cars in four lanes backed up for fifteen or twenty blocks in both directions with all motors running, and I have concluded the articles I've been reading in the newspapers lately about air pollution are right. It's terrible.
Then last night, after reading another article, I got to thinking and have figured out what we ought to do about it.
According to it, the Russian people are clamoring for more cars, the waiting list for the few cars now being produced is so long children as they grow older replace their parents in line.
In fact, in the whole of Russia there are now only a million passenger cars, which means one car for every 200 people. In the United States, there's a car for every 3 people, which means if the notion struck them everybody in the entire country could ride around at the same time, if they could get by the trucks which aren't included in these figures. This literally means everybody and his dogs and in-laws too.
It's this Russian demand for more cars that interests me. I don't care what it costs, if the United States is smart it'll start shipping cars to Russia by the hundreds of thousands. It doesn't make any difference what the terms are, even if we have to take two cans of cabbage soup and a loaf of black bread as the down-payment, just so we get the cars over there and running.
It's not the balance of power it's the balance of pollution that's going to make one country equal to another and if we don't get Russia and the rest of the world up on our level we're in trouble.
To get the program started, I've got a 1951 model car out here on this Johnson grass farm. I'll be glad to export to Russia for a very reasonable figure provided it goes to somebody living in the heart of the metropolitan area of Moscow. It burns a quart of oil every 25 miles.
Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Southwest Corn Borer Affects Local Crops

The southwestern corn borer was originally confined to Mexico and may have infested corn planted by the Indians along the rivers before the coming of the white man. It has spread northward into Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas before 1913. By 1942, it reached central Oklahoma, Kansas, southeastern Colorado, and southern Nebraska.

The southwestern corn borer is a pest of the first rank, causing reduced yields and destroying many plants. Frequently, the borers may infest 100 percent of the plants. Damage is caused by young plants being killed or dwarfed by borer activity in the stalk. Yield is reduced by extensive tunnelling and grain may be lost as a result of girdling which causes lodging or falling of the stalk.

The southwestern corn borer attacks corn, sorghums, and Johnson grass, but is primarily a pest of corn, infesting sorghums only slightly.

Feeding habits and injury to plants. The newly hatched larvae moved down into the whorl of the plant at the growing tip. Here protected from enemies, they feed on the leaf surface at first. As the leaves grow out, this injury appears as small glazed area. Later, the larvae cut through the whorl, and when these leaves emerge and expand, the injury appears as rows of holes, similar to those caused by the maize billbug. Later, larger and more ragged holes are made in corn and the injury is frequently referred to as "ragworm" damage by farmers. This injury can also be produced by the corn earworm. The larvae may then penetrate into the growing tip of the plant causing it to die, producing a condition known as "dead heart." This may kill the plant, or in the case of the corn, it may produce lateral branches or suckers. Small larvae may also bore in the leaf midrib.

Sooner or later, the larvae become borers and this is the most serious form of injury. Several may tunnel in one stalk. This tunnelling up and down in the stalk may stunt the plant and weaken it so that it is easily blown over by winds. When young corn is attacked, it is stunted and never produces grain. Somewhat older plants may produce ears, but there may be a reduction in weight of up to 40 percent. The southwestern corn borer may also girdle the stalks prior to going into hibernation, causing lodging. The corn is easily blown over and may be attacked by rats, mice, and birds. In addition, there is the increased labor of harvesting corn lying on the ground.

Description. The eggs are elliptical to oval, flattened, slightly convex on the upper surface, and translucent white Control. Since sorghums are not heavily infested, their substitution for corn may be recommended for areas especially subject to heavy borer damage. Late plantings are subject to severe attack by second generation borers at a very critical time in the period of their development so that early planting and early maturing varieties are recommended as a preventive measure. In areas where the winters are cold, plowing out the corn stubble exposes the borers to freezes and most of them are killed. Listing is recommended, where soil blowing is a problem, as it reduces wind erosion and prepares the soil for reception of winter rainfall. Deep plowing under of stubble in the spring buries the larvae in the stalks so that the moth cannot emerge. Several insecticides are also available for in-season control.

Professional Artist Demonstrates Here

Ben Konis, well-known professional artist and teacher of Painter's Pad Studio, Amarillo visited in Muleshoe Wednesday morning. While here, he was guest artist at the Muleshoe Art Association where he painted a portrait. Chosen to sit for him was Mr. L.W. Chapman, post master at Goodland. Mr. Konis achieved an amazing likeness of Mr. Chapman in three 20 minute sessions while painting boldly and quickly in an impressionistic style. It was beautifully executed on imported pastel paper with oil paints, using the bold coloristic application so characteristic of Konis' works, and the clarity of his jewel-like colors reflected the colorful personality of the artist. Though basically an impressionist, he has had wide training and experience in all techniques and mediums used in fine arts and commercial art.

A commercial artist in New York City for eighteen years, Mr. Konis moved to Amarillo in February of 1969 with his wife, the former Jinni Landrum of Friona, and two daughters, Kelli and Jade. He is now painting and teaching full time and his work is widely known through out this region, as his dramatic use of light and shadow play important roles in his work and combined with strong pattern and rich color, he creates expressive figures and bold street scenes. From his painting trips through Europe, the New England states and the Southwest, he has captured in his work much of the architectural heritage of the past, and transposed it into vibrant, fresh scenes.

His paintings are in many prominent private collections and he is represented in numerous galleries. He exhibits twice yearly at the Washington Square Outdoor Art Exhibit in Greenwich Village in New York City, where he has been a prize winner. He had a three-man show at Gallery Twelve in Livingston, New Jersey last October.

Since moving to Amarillo, he was presented in a one-man show at Reynolds Gallery at Taos in August; he won "Best in Show" with an oil painting, also first place in pastels at the Tri State Fair Art Exhibition in Amarillo last fall; he was a citation winner in the Amarillo Spring Show of the "40

Best" in Amarillo in September.

Ben Konis studied at the Art Students League, and the New School for Social Research with the noted painter Anthony Toney. He received his Fine Arts Degree at the Catan-Rose Institute of New York City, and is a member of the Salmagundi Club. He was born in Perth Amboy, New Jersey and served in the Army during World War II in Europe.

He conducts classes over this region and is currently beginning classes at Farwell, the sessions being for adults, both beginners and advanced.

Two new members were present, Mr. L.W. Chapman and Mrs. Louise Roark; and there were 13 guests: Dorothy Lusk, Hereford; Mrs. E.D. Shipp, Hobbs; Suzanne Cunningham, Lucille Johnson, Dorothy Franklin, Barbara Black, all of Clovis; Beulah Williams, Dickie Magness, Jo Ann Liethen, Mary Helen Gohlke, all of Farwell; Chloe Klutts, Stegall; Marilee Sanderlin and Joanne Puckett of Muleshoe.

Hostesses were Fern Gilbreath and Vere Fox.

Rheata White, president, presided over a brief business meeting. The following members were present: Pat Prater, Mildred Neeley, Velma Davis, Fern Gilbreath, Rheata White, Pauline Jamison, Wilma Embry, Louise Roark, Mildred Williams, Vere Fox, Dorothy Woods, Hazel Nowell, Arlene Phelps, Marguerite Wright, Marie Lenau, Dana Arnold, Blanche Lenderson, Mary Forbes, Beatrice Blackburn, Jo Addine Mayhugh, Sandra Chancey, Juaree Smallwood, Ada Murrah, Frances Stegall, Bernice Amerson, Cara Juan Schuster, Ruth Hammock, Dorothy Bowers, and the new members, Mr. Chapman and Mrs. Roark.

Make a Wish...

FOR HIS FUTURE

A birthday party really thrills the children, and probably the climax comes when they blow out the candles, and make a wish. His wish would probably be for a bright shiny new toy, but you as a parent would wish for him the things that really count, such as good health, happiness, friends and along with these deeper and more serious things should be a prayer for him to have the right interest and relationship to God. You can help these things by taking him to church

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH

THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

FAM '70 Is 'The Unsinkable Molly Brown'

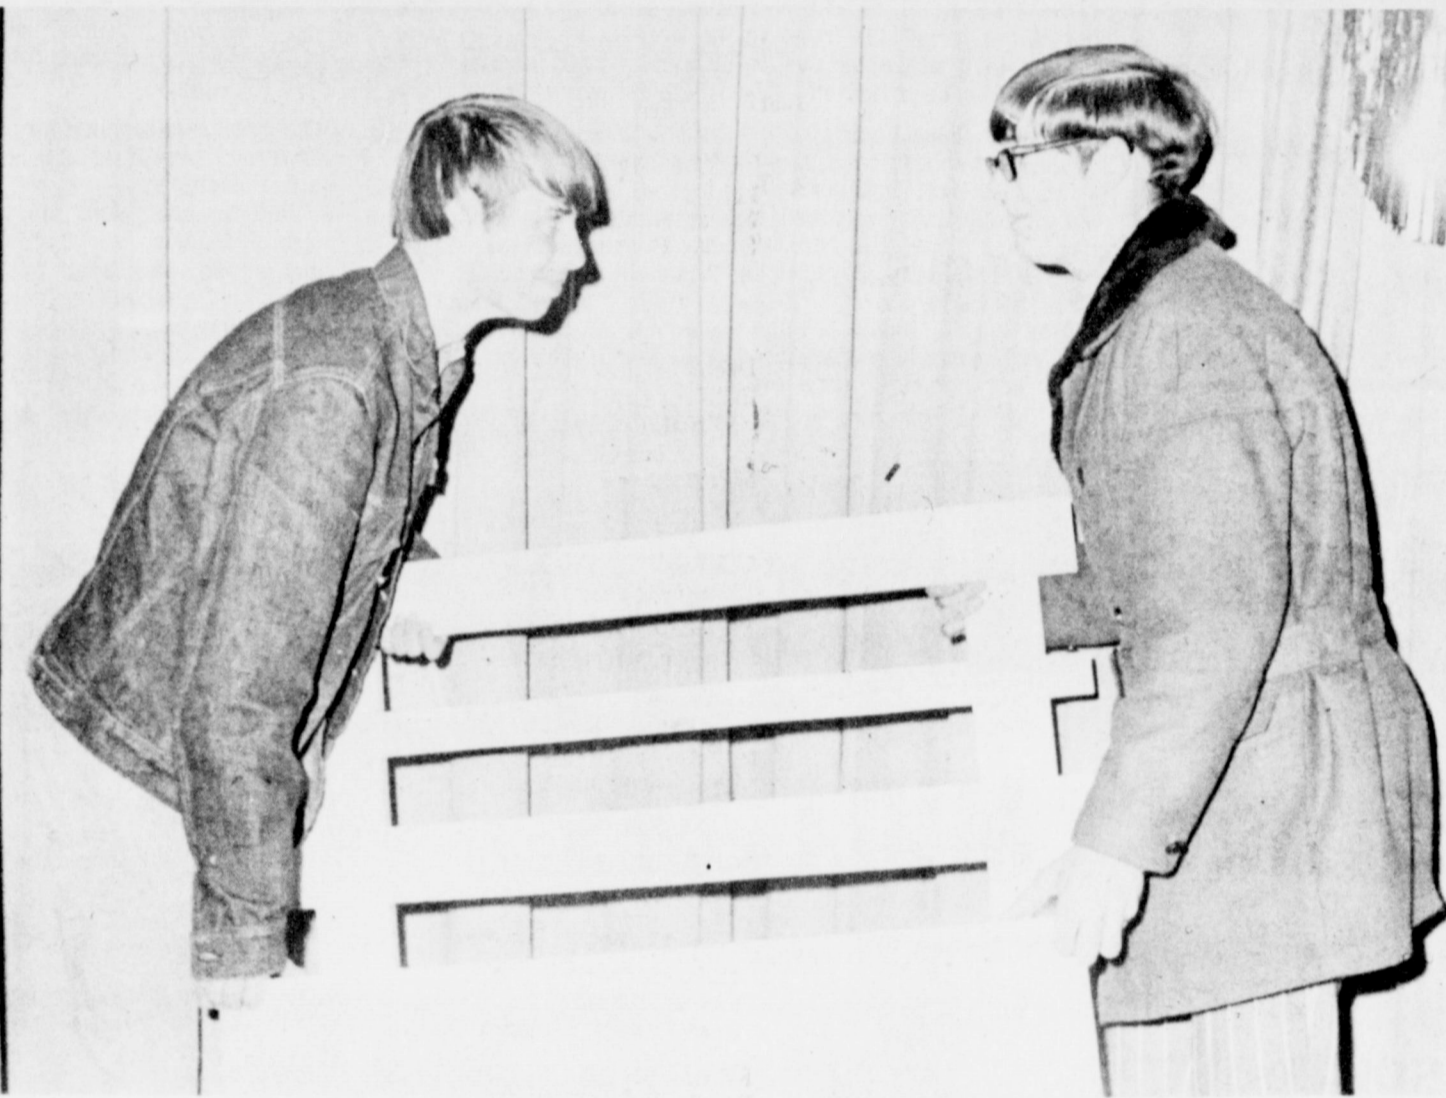

Speech Class Goes To First Tourney

Friona was the scene Saturday, January 10 for a speech tournament, the first one the speech class as a whole has attended this year. Overall, the class came out fairly well. Third in line for the Sweepstakes trophy with 96 points, the speech class had finalists in all three event areas- extemporaneous and persuasive speaking, prose and poetry reading, and debate. Those who placed in the tourney were: Sud Darsey, third place in girl's persuasive speaking; Donna Woodard, second place in girl's prose interpretation; Bryan Brady II, second place in boy's prose interpretation, and Betty Harbin and Martha Jane Chapman, first place in girl's debate. Others making it to the finals but not placing were: Jennifer Davis in girl's poetry, Greta Bamert in girl's poetry, Joe Duke in girl's poetry and Steve Woodard in boy's prose. Also, Ed Mason made it to the finals in boy's extemporaneous speaking.

With a large class of 35 people taking Speech II this year, the Speech Department really wants to bring in the trophies at the tournaments they attend. Approximately seven more tournaments will be attended by the Speech class before District competition in Canyon in March. The next tournament will be January 31 at Hereford. Around 25 schools are scheduled to attend the Hereford tournament, which is twice as large as the Friona tournament was.

With all the tough tournaments ahead, the speech class will hear and know the work "work" several times before the year is over.

directors doubt an effective show could be presented onstage. These often unsung heroes of the musicals are said to do all the hard, dirty work prior and during a presentation.

All-Star Cast Set For Performances

Muleshoe High School's Fine Arts Department will present their seventh consecutive musical comedy on January 22 and 24, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown." Tickets can be purchased before or after school each day in Mr. Moore's room. All seats are reserved at $1.50 in advance and $1.75 if bought at the door.

The play opens, in Hannibal, Missouri and then on to Leadville, Colorado where Molly Brown becomes an employee at the Saddle Rock Saloon. Molly's theme is "I Ain't Down Yet" which symbolizes her ambition to be a lady, a very wealthy lady and settle with the Denver society.

In Leadville she meets and marries Johnny "Leadville" Brown. Soon after their marriage, Johnny strikes it rich, and off to Denver, Europe, and back home again. Within this span of time, Molly and Johnny are faced with many problems that confront ignorant "backwoods" people trying to break into the elite of society. All of these problems are highlighted with hilarious situations and beautiful songs and dances.

Molly Brown, is portrayed by Betty Harbin, Johnny Brown by Leland Ferris, Molly's father by Jim Mardis, Denver's society leader is Martha Chapman, the beginning man, Steve Woodard and the new year, represent Jennifer Davis as Europe's social elite.

Honor Society Names Students For December

Teachers have selected four students who in the beginning of the new year, represent the qualities of an outstanding social elite.

Darla Kendall - a senior - has been on the girl's basketball team, took band as a sophomore and junior, and was a member of the Spirit Club for the first three years in high school. She is a member of the National Honor Society.

Shirley Lang, a junior, lists her activities as F.H.A. and the spirit club.

The sophomore chosen as most outstanding this month is Marilyn Pool. She has been active in band and band club. This year she is a twirler. She is in F.T.A. and the spirit club, Marilyn is active student council member and has been chosen as a candidate for Most Beautiful two years by her class. Marilyn is also an F.H.A. officer.

Stephanie Bryant, a newcomer to M.H.S. is a very active band member.

Junior's Choice Debra Williams

by Nedra Woodard

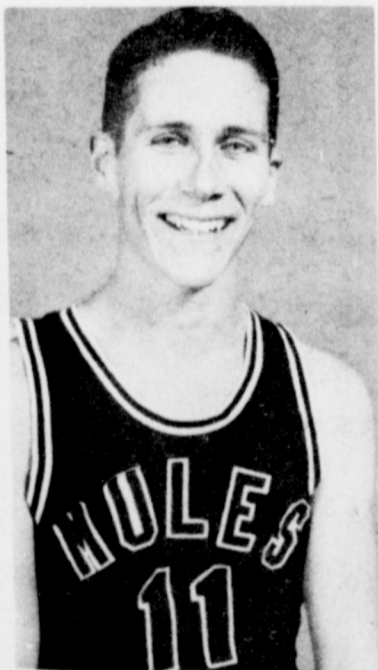

The Junior Class held their first meeting of the New Year January 15 in the cafeteria. Pictures were taken for the annual, while the Juniors sat around drinking cokes and discussing the latest gossip.

Another candidate for the Anthes Beauty Pageant was elected to take Debra Baron's place, who moved away to California. Debra Williams was chosen. The eight candidates for the Beauty Pageant are: Jeanne Freeman, Becky Sain, Debra Wagon, Debra Williams, Jerry Scoggin, Lance Puckett, John Cole, and C.L. Myers. The Junior Class would like to wish good luck in the New Years.

Basketball's Weekly Player Is Jim Putman

Player of the week is Senior guard Jim Putman. Jim is particularly noted for his ability to hit the bucket from outside. He has scored in double figures in 12 out of 15 games ranging from 13 to 23. Jim's shooting percentage from the field sparkles with six, 100 percent marks. He has never gone below 50 per cent and only hit that once, Jim has also helped the Mules with the rebound stage of the game, with a 6.1 average per game. Jim's primary goal is to bring the ball down court and quarterback the play. There is a great deal of pressure put on him, thinking that if the opposing team can stop him the play will never get started. This can throw the whole team off play. Winning or losing depends a great deal on whether or not Jim can get the ball down court and how he does it.

Jim Putman

SHARKS!

Sharks possess all the characteristics necessary to touch the deepest fears. They attack out of the dark and demand devour their victims alive, sometimes biting people in half. A pre-World War II survival manual told men in shark infested waters that the fish were slow, cowardly and easily frightened by splashing. Those approached by a shark were instructed to dodge, grab a fin, ride the shark and stab him in the belly or simply bang him on the nose. This technique proved to have a few minor complications.

About the only piece of folklore that is correct about sharks is that blood sends them into a fury. After the first blood is drawn, even if it is their own, sharks will eat a wooden raft, tin cans, oars, men, and anything else they bump into.

Knowledge of shark behavior has expanded considerably since the hit-him-on-the-nose era. It has been found that they like to rest with their head in a hole or crevice. Unable to find these, they sometimes lie on their back on the ocean floor.

In encircling their prey, sharks are believed to be trying to gain momentum, for they can't dart about like smaller fish. They move and swim, it is said, like a heavy bomber. If a shark is deflected from his line of charge, momentum may carry him a good distance before he can turn around, by which time he may have forgotten he was going to attack.

A shark will bite anything soft and bitesize, living or dead, so next time you take a 'skinny dip,' make sure you're big, rigid, bloodless and have a shark deflector.

Happenings in Science

by Bryan Brady II

Nasa has completely overhauled its manned space program. While scientists and engineers argue over whether the interval between Moon missions should be three or six months it now seems certain that two space stations will be launched between 1971 and 1973. The first will have a year and a half lifetime, the second to overlap the first with a two year operation limit. Astronauts will be ferried back and forth between the stations and earth in a glider type reentry vehicle called the Dyna-Soar. They will spend as long as 56 days at a time in the "Orbiting laboratories", during which they will study almost everything between astronomy and zoology. Orbiter I will be launched by an uprated Saturn I, the second by a Saturn V and will take on the dimensions of the third or S-IVB stage of this rocket.

Making way for these changes was the cancellation of the Apollo Applications Program and a 14 day Apollo Earth Orbit mission, although a 14 day stay on the moon is tentatively scheduled.

Janice Head

Mulette Player Of The Week

Janice Head has been chosen player of the week. She is a Junior guard for the varsity Mulettes. In the last four ball games she has averaged 11 rebounds per game. She lettered last year in basketball and Mr. Moore is looking forward to her playing on the varsity again next year.

HARD WORK

A congressman naturally spends lots of time fixing his fences, because that's where he sits most of the time.

-Southern Lumberman,

THIS IS HOW IT IS DONE--Bill Chapman and Jim Wood, the lighting specialists of the FAM this year, are seen here doing their work.

BELLY UP TO THE BAR, BOYS!--Shamus, played by Jim Mardis, and Molly, as portrayed by Betty Harbin, are shown giving their relatives a good, Irish send-off into the world in the FAM presentation of 'The Unsinkable Molly Brown.'
