

Home Town Talk

by Betty

Jimmy Allred has bitten himself off a mighty bunk with this suit to cancel charters and collect penalties of fifteen large oil corporations for alleged violation of the state anti-trust laws.

But, knowing a few things about Jimmy, we are of the opinion that he has a pretty good idea where he stands and that he would not have filed suit unless he did have pretty good cause for action.

It is obvious to the average citizen that the spirit if not the letter of the anti-trust laws are being violated. Whether Mr. Average Citizen will be better off or worse off, or his condition unchanged, in case the state wins this big suit, remains to be seen.

To say the least, successful prosecution of the suit very likely would cause a lot of activity in the various branches of the oil industry. The independent retailer of gasoline and other petroleum products would benefit more than any one else. The independent refiner and pipe line operator, would then naturally find business better.

The independent refiner nowadays finds himself practically with out a market of such nature that will allow him to make any money. His market usually is scattered, so far distant from his plant. We venture to say a small independent refinery in West Texas today could find not more than a dozen filling stations within the principal towns in a radius of 50 miles of Big Spring that are not already tied up on a 100 per cent agreement with a major oil company.

It will be a long, bitter battle. If Jimmy puts it over he will gather in the sheaves at the ballot box with ease for office he happens to seek. This probably means that he will be a candidate for re-election to the office he now holds instead of running for governor next year, as many have predicted he might do.

The final decision in the suit ought to be on the records before his second term ends. If he's the winner he could go after most anything, including the governor's office, and in 1934 he would not have to run against the incumbent, seeking his second term.

This suit looks to us like a natural event in the general trend of the oil industry. It is counting up for the past two years. The penitence swings slowly but surely from one extreme to the other. A few years ago when the independent oil men were making plenty of money the Standard subsidiaries had no opposition to their renewed and enlarged activities within Texas. Their development has once more built itself into a handicap—the public indignantly accuses more and more unbridledly the bigger and bigger becomes. They'd be better off if they'd always allow the little man to make some money.

Yep. It was bound to happen sooner or later.

Appeals Court Charges Ruling In Death Case

AUSTIN, Nov. 13 (UP)—The court of criminal appeals, admitting its failure to attach proper importance to one exception, reversed itself and granted a new trial to Johnnie C. Sheadham, Jefferson county, sentenced to 99 years for killing his wife. The exception claimed the defense was not given sufficient time in which to meet surprise testimony.

Old Problem. How Do All the Filling Stations Make Money? A.P.I. Speakers Are Heard.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 (UP)—The same problem that has perplexed almost every American motorist—"Why are there so many gasoline and oil filling stations and how do they make any money?" was one of many engaging attention today of leaders in the oil industry.

As final group sessions of the 12th annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute were held in the Stevens Hotel, all men heard specialists recommended better methods for drilling oil wells, grease and oil that will stand up under greater pressure in gear boxes, and abolishment of laws specifying consistency of gasoline because they are obsolete and retard research.

How to reduce the number of filling stations that dot the highways was discussed by W. H. Ferguson of the Continental Oil Company, Denver, in a paper called "The evil of loaned equipment."

"I do not believe anyone would seriously contend that the loaning of equipment has not contributed to a very substantial degree in aggravating the situation of too many filling stations."

The evil of loaning equipment, Ferguson believes, is that it has brought into being too many retail outlets and that many retailers who are turning gasoline pump handles and pouring out oil would not be in business if they had to furnish the money necessary for dispensing equipment.

Cotton Curb Law Repeal Is Predicted

Other States Must Adopt Similar Statutes, Says MacDonald

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 13 (UP)—Repeal by the state legislature of the Texas cotton reduction bill was forecast here today by J. E. MacDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, unless other states take positive action to curb cotton production.

The Texas commissioner is a delegate to the agricultural outlook conference of the United States department of agriculture.

He said the next session of the legislature would repeal the law if states representing 75 per cent of the cotton production of the United States did not act.

McDonald said his state had tried for fifty years to curb cotton production, but leaders in the industry there had come to the conclusion if a definite means for stopping production is not achieved, the industry faces bankruptcy and despair.

He said people in his state had not lost hope that other states would pass reduction bills, adding "It is essential that such action be taken at once, since the time has arrived for planning next year's crops and planting in South Texas will begin around the middle of January."

Real Turning Point In Business Here, Wall Street Leaders Declare; Four Contributing Factors Cited

Throughout the land passes the word that there is a brighter tone to business, that we appear to be coming out of the depths of depression.

At the same time, politics, always a fascinating subject, is taking on added importance as the artillery of 1932 mobilizes.

Raymond Clapper, Washington manager of the United Press, has started a tour of a group of important centers to sound out the business and political situations.

Clapper will give the United Press readers the inside of these situations, answering such questions as:

1. Is the "turn in business" real and lasting?

2. What are the tangible causes and intangibles for the new spirit?

3. What are the 1932 trends in politics?

4. What are leaders thinking and doing to turn the nation back to good times and to prevent depression recurrences?

The first of the series, vital to the pocketbooks of all, follows.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
United Press Staff Correspondent
Copyright 1931 By United Press
NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (UP)—Revealing confidence is echoing through the canyons of Wall Street. Feeling here that the real turning point in the depression is imminent, if indeed it is not already arrived.

Faces downcast during two of the blackest years in the nation's economic history are lighting up.

In the new money capital of the world there is a new "national" enthusiasm and a conviction that good times are coming soon. Perhaps it is premature, for New York is subject to quickly changing moods. But whether warranted or not the feeling exists.

Four factors are most often suggested to account for this upswing in morale:

1. Increasing stability of commodity prices together with rising prices in wheat, cotton, oil and security prices. One authority handling large financial operations in wheat predicts a rise to a level of 80 to 85 cents a bushel during the winter.

2. Deflation of production costs down to the point where narrower prices are possible on finished goods or services.

3. Strong support given the banking situation through organization of the $500,000,000 national credit corporation; cooperation of banks in helping each other; efforts of the federal reserve board and the controller's office at Washington in adopting a drastic policy to avert recent threatened crisis in some banking centers.

4. Evidence of a partial return of public confidence which when it matures will mark the real turning point.

Everybody is talking about returning confidence. What do they mean by that? Several weeks ago, in one bank this writer learned about where a depositor wrote out a check for his entire account, some $250,000 and demanded payment in gold. The bank refused, but paid him in legal tender, that is paper money. A woman, fearing bank failure, wrote out a check covering her full bank account and deposited the check in a safe bank according to one story going the rounds. A hoarder of vast means attempted to cache many hundreds of thousands of dollars in gold bars in a safety deposit vault but the bank to which he applied for vault space refused to be a party to what it described as "naughty business."

Happenings
Those things happened some weeks ago.

They have not been happening, bankers say, within more recent weeks.

People have lost their fright over possible bank closures.

That is one thing they mean by returning confidence.

Every banker knows it is more than glib phrase. For every banker keeps his bank open only by virtue of confidence. No bank in the United States could stay open if depositors demanded all of their money at once. Sometimes a rumor starts, people become nervous and rush to draw out their money for no reason at all except "herd fear." That is lost confidence and any banker realizes it can be a very real thing.

Equally so is returning confidence.

State Suit Against Oil Companies On Appearance Docket for January Term of Court In Travis County

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 13 (UP)—A conspiracy among 19 leading oil companies and oil organizations to work in agreement to fix prices and eliminate competition, in violation of the Texas anti-trust laws, was charged today in a suit filed in 53rd district court here by Attorney General James Allred.

Penalties aggregating a maximum of $17,850,000 are asked of the companies, dating back to November 20, 1929. The minimum daily fine for alleged violation of the corporation laws is $50 and the maximum $100.

The defendants named in the suit are the Standard Oil Company of New York, New Jersey and California, the Shell Union Oil Corporation, the Humble Oil and Refining Company, the Texas company, the Gulf Refining company, the Paotex Petroleum company, the Continental Oil Company, the Sinclair Refining company, the Magnolia Petroleum company, the Simms Oil company, the Shell Petroleum corporation, the Shell Service Oil company, the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Company, the Texas Petroleum Marketers association, and the American Petroleum Institute.

"Code of Practices"
Attorney General James Allred charged that the defendants adopted a "code of practices" to carry out their "conspiracy" to work together and in violation of the Texas laws.

The Texas Petroleum Marketers Association was set up to carry out the "conspiracy," it is charged and L. H. Flynn, secretary of the code committee and general manager for the association, was to act as "go-between" to exchange information for carrying out the rules.

The offices and facilities of the American Petroleum Institute were to be used to carry out the code and to present it to the federal trade commission.

The suit will go on the appearance docket for the January session of the district court and when called then will be set for trial by District Judge C. W. Wheeler.

Biggest Penalty
It is the biggest penalty suit ever filed here. Suit filed by Attorney General Dan Moody against road companies totaled about $2,000,000. "A nation wide conspiracy to control and dominate the business of producing gasoline and petroleum products and to destroy independent filling station operators" is charged by the attorney general in the various allegations of his 134 page petition.

Cooperating with him in its filing was Assistant Attorney General Everett L. Looney whose father as a former attorney general filed numerous anti-trust suits. Other assistants signing the petition are F. O. McKinney and H. D. Bishop.

Governor Ross Stirling, former head of the Humble Oil & Refining company, under whose executive orders the East Texas oil field now is being operated, declined to make any comment upon the attorney general's suit.

The 42nd legislature appropriated $30,000 for an investigation of activities of oil companies. Allred trapped Toole in Dallas with a dummy package on September 3.

Resolution of Baptists Protests Supreme Court Refusal To Grant Citizenship To Professor At Yale

WACO, Nov. 13 (UP)—The Baptist General convention of Texas today adopted a resolution protesting the supreme court's decision refusing citizenship to Douglas Clyde MacIntosh, Baptist minister and professor in the Divinity School at Yale, because he declined to promise to bear arms in any war unless he believed himself morally justified. The court ruled four to five against MacIntosh.

The resolution was offered by Dr. J. B. Tidwell of Baylor university. The convention pledged itself to work for reversal of the decision through a constitutional amendment if necessary. The resolution was adopted unanimously.

Oil Industry Improvement Is Reported

Lamont Warns Federal Government Might Take Over Control

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 (UP)—Leaders of the national oil industry, newly warned by Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont that the federal government might take the helm of oil control, listened today to reports of improvements in oil well drilling, oil refining and marketing of products.

Lamont's admonition was given last night at the annual dinner of the 12th yearly meeting of the American Petroleum Institute.

"If the national interest is selfishly disregarded," Secretary Lamont said, "and the American people ever become conscious that the mad wastes of the seas are being continued, you and I may have to see the oil industry in a legislative straight-jacket which it should not deserve."

If the present effort to promote cooperation between the oil states fails, the secretary of commerce said, the possibility exists that the producing phase of the oil industry may come ultimately under closer federal regulation.

Secretary Lamont listed three planks of a plan he suggests to lead the oil industry to firmer ground.

"First, provision should be made by interstate pact, approved by congress, for putting on a permanent basis the periodical forecasting of demand, the setting of state production quotas, all of which are now being undertaken informally by the regulatory commissions of Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas under the agreement of Sept. 13."

"Second, state laws, which are uniform in principle if not in detail, are ultimately needed within the competing states."

"Third, as recommended by Secretary Wilbur, a joint federal and state fact-finding body for arriving at an equation of domestic and foreign production and imports should be created by the compact of the states and with the approval of congress."

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 (UP)—E. B. Reaser, head of the Barnsdall Oil Corporation, Tulsa, Okla., and retiring president of the American Petroleum Institute, said today that he plans to leave in two weeks for California to confer with oil company officials there on his prospective appointment as a director of an independent oil industry in that state.

The men he will meet it was understood, are officials of the oil producers' sales association of California, which organization has control of a considerable share of the California oil business.

My WINNING PLAY

A fast alert team of Kansas Aggies, coached by "Bo" McMillin, forgoes All-American quarterback at Centre college, has bewildered Big Six opposition this season. In this, the twelfth of a series of articles written by outstanding football coaches, McMillin explains a triple pass which his team uses with success.

By A. N. (BO) McMILLIN Head Football Coach, Kansas State College

MANHATTAN, Kas. (UP)—When I took my football team to Lawrence for a game with Kansas in 1929, I realized we were going in as the under dogs so far as the sports writers and the rest of the Big Six conference were concerned.

I was determined, however, that my boys should put up a good game, and I knew it was not impossible for us to win. Years ago I learned that if a team has the right kind of determination it was well-nigh unbeatable.

Kansas university had the heavier players, and it looked as though my light line coached by a former player under me, "Oas" Maddox, would have a hard time stopping the heavy charging Jayhawk backfield.

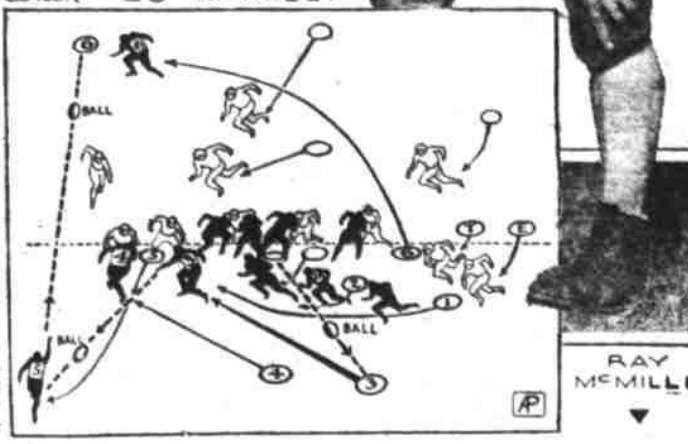

As events proved, this group of small, determined boys was more than a match for everything the university could do.

Toward the end of the first half the score was 0-0. I had given my team some trick plays and realized that they were never to be played they must be played quickly, as it was apparent that rain was coming. And, sure enough, my quarterback, Ray McMillin, called a triple pass.

It was completed to the Kansas two-yard line, and in two plays my fullback, George Wiggins, took the ball over.

He wheeled and passed backward to Ray McMillin, who had run to the left and back of the line about ten yards.

My right end, Bill Towler, had charged through the Kansas line and had run 36 yards down the field to the left side. McMillin threw the pass and Towler caught it running. He was downed on the Kansas two-yard line, and Wiggins went over for the only touchdown. When Negro feinted at left tackle and the other backs started that way, the Kansas defense was drawn toward that spot, intending to back up the line there. My linemen performed excellently, blocking the linemen and giving every evidence of trying to open up a hole there for a running play.

As the half ended the rain started and heard reports from Baptist hospitals. The Texas share of the amount is $6,400,000 for all purposes.

Baptist Educational Enterprises Hold Floor of 83rd Convention of Organization In Waco Session

By VERNON MCGEE United Press Staff Correspondent WACO, Nov. 13 (UP)—Baptist educational enterprises held the floor at the 83rd general convention of the organization here today after the opening of the second day's program with an old-fashioned prayer meeting. Brief reports were scheduled on San Marcos Academy, Decatur, Ga.; Wayland and Marshall colleges, S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor Simmons University, Southern Baptist University, the 3,000 persons, 1,175 of them delegates, pledged support to Bible Institute, Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary during the morning.

Dr. E. P. West, Houston, told the convention that Baptists expect too much and give too little to their hospitals. Robert Jolly, superintendent of the Houston hospital, reported the closing of a floor for economy and 8,512 patients treated last year, a decrease of 571.

Dr. Lee R. Scarborough, president of the convention, reported the Baptist hospital at Fort Worth had been refinanced and leased to a group of physicians who pay $6,000 annually and half of their profits to the denomination.

Earl B. Smythe, Dallas, presented the plan for the every member campaign. Dr. Fred J. Brown, Knoxville, Tenn., director general of the campaign, and J. Howard Williams, Dallas, executive session, also spoke in behalf of the movement which will give $21,000,000 to local work and $9,000,000 to foreign missions.

The state has been divided into 17 districts for the campaign scheduled Nov. 29 to Dec. 6. District organizers are Rev. S. H. Maples, Pittsburg; Rev. P. M. Bailes, Tyler; Dr. J. H. The Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools has threatened to remove Baylor college from membership if its indebtedness is not paid.

St. Louis Bank Kills One Bandit, Wounds Companion. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 13 (UP)—L. Gregory Dowling, 29-year-old vice president of the Midland Savings bank, shot and killed one bandit and wounded another in a successful hold-up at a suburban institution at noon today, but was critically wounded himself in the exchange of shots.

The attempted hold-up occurred just after all employees but Dowling had left for lunch. He drew a gun when the two bandits ordered him to hold up his hands and opened fire.

Police said that the slain bandit was Ben Bethel, a gangster, and his wounded accomplice, Jimmie Woods, an ex-convict.

Dowling was taken immediately to a hospital where his condition was reported critical.

John Held, Jr., Marries Miss New Orleans of '28. NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (UP)—John Held, Jr., famous for his jazz caricatures, has been married to the New Orleans beauty he helped select as the winner of the 1928 beauty contest at Galveston, Tex.

Held, now 42, was a judge at the contest at which Miss Gladys Moore as "Miss New Orleans" won first prize. They slipped away to Stamford, Conn., Tuesday and were married.

This And That By Mark

With no game scheduled between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving the Steers are taking things easy for the rest of the week before setting down to the grind in preparation for the big tilt with the Angelo Bobcats on the 28th.

Blondy Cross at Angelo voices the opinion, in all seriousness, that the Kittens will take both the Mustangs and the Steers when the proper time rolls around. Now Blondy may have a fair idea of what he is talking about but we can promise the Conchoans that they have a real job on their hands when it comes to taking two powerful eleveners within six days. Entertaining the Ponies on Saturday and meeting the Steers the following Thursday is an ambitious assignment. The Taylormen may be equal to the proposition and then again they may not.

We see the opinions of various and sundry scribes concerning the game last Wednesday and one and all seem to be trying to decide whether or not Hicks is a better man than Dennis. Now our humble opinion, which has been given several times, is that anyone who has the least idea of what a real football player is would not have even the slightest bit of trouble in picking the better man. Hicks behind perfect interference can carry the mail. Behind the interference such as given Tack Dennis Wednesday we doubt seriously if the Rambler would have ever reached the line of scrimmage. Hicks cannot or will not tackle, he is very uncertain as a safety, he is not a line plunger, he cannot even begin to be compared with Tack when it comes to passing and punting. Considering these things we again forget the Rambler and pick Red Sheridan as the outstanding Pony back.

Dennis working in the Mustang backfield Armistice Day and given the interference that Hicks was given would have crossed the Steer goal not once but several times. Inidentally a football player to be a real one must have a lot about his shoulders and what we mean is that Tack really has it.

The big guns of the Oil Belt will be fired Saturday afternoon when the Eagles of Abilene and the Bucs of Breckenridge tangle in what is always a real game. Just any old afternoon that the above mentioned clubs take the field to better each other around the fans are assured of their money's worth. This year will prove no exception. On paper we rate the Eagles to trounce the charges of Coach Spohn, and on the field we expect the same thing.

A victory over the Breck crew will make the Eagles big favorites to take the Oil Belt title. Cisco a few weeks ago slipped into the Buckaroo camp and walked away with the bacon, but Armistice Day the Lobos had all they could do to manage a tie with the Ranger club.

Dana X. Bible, former Aggie coach and present mentor of the Nebraska eleven will be in charge of the all-West Stars who will meet the all-star eleven from the East in the big classic on Christmas day out on the Pacific coast. Harlos Green of the TCU Frogs will in all probability be occupying the fullback position for the Westerners this year.

This boy Dennis who totes the oval from a halfback position for the Frogs is making quite a name for himself. Two years from now the same name will be found on the roster of some University eleven and this writer will follow with interest the path of the former Steer as he curves his niche in football's hall of fame.

We find quite a few interesting games carded for this week and we pick the first mentioned club to win their engagement. Notre Dame vs Navy; Harvard vs Holy Cross; New York vs Fordham; Army vs Pittsburgh; Purdue vs Idaho; Stanford vs Nevada; Tennessee vs Vanderbilt; Tulane vs Georgia; Alabama vs Clemson; Oklahoma vs Missouri; Nebraska vs Kansas State; Texas vs TCU; SMU vs Baylor; Texas Aggies vs Rice.

We do not expect to be welcome around W. R. Hardy's office after picking Tennessee to down Vanderbilt but that is the way it looks at present. The charges of Uncle Dan may snap out of it and give their guests of the day a nice pasting but we doubt it.

Boone Magness is back in school at Breckenridge but to the delight of the other Oil Belt eleveners the triple threat star will not be wearing the Buc togs on the grid iron. His days of usefulness to the Shotwellmen are gone forever. Reports are that Magness is back to work off a few scholastic requirements in order that he may enter senior college next fall. Luck to him for we would like to see Boone sporting his wares on the grid-irons of the S. set for the next three or four years.

Blondy informs us that he will not be able to participate in a turkey dinner when the Cats invade Big Spring as he has made plans to feast on nice juicy Steer meat. Now we are rather inclined to believe that said Steer meat will just a little bit tough and perhaps might even make the Concho sick before the same is thoroughly digested.

New Trial Given In Stanton Case Charging Arson. Unless additional corroborative testimony is produced by the state the case of the state vs. L. E. Farnley of Big Spring, charging attempt at arson, will be dismissed at the next term of Martin county district court, Judge Charles Klapproth said Thursday at Stanton.

A jury had found Dr. Farnley guilty and assessed a term of one year and a day. The defense, represented by Clyde E. Thomas and Martelle McDonald, Thursday entered a motion to set aside the verdict and quash the indictment. The court set aside the verdict of the jury and granted a new trial, announcing publicly, however, that the case would be dismissed unless additional testimony is produced by the state.

Mrs. R. Q. Lee Loses Race For Presidency

Club Convention Adjourns After Spirited Election

LUBBOCK, Nov. 13 (AP)—Installation of officers late yesterday, in which Mrs. R. F. Lindsay of Mt. Pleasant yielded the gavel to Mrs. J. W. Fincher of Houston, closed the last business session of the 34th annual convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

Delegates, most of whom arrived in Lubbock Monday, for pre-convention activities, were ready to leave for their homes, following a Texas dinner—the most elaborate social event of the convention—and an address by Dr. L. H. Hubbard, president of the Texas State College for Women, Denton, on "The Future Womanhood of Texas."

Record Attendance The convention was marked by the largest attendance in recent years and the most spirited election ever held by the federation.

Mrs. Fincher won the presidency for the next two years when delegates turned in 135 votes for her, against 76 for Mrs. R. Q. Lee of Cisco. Politics had been of paramount interest since the opening day, and two well organized factions supported the nominees.

Mrs. Lindsay, the retiring president, was installed as Texas director of the general federation. Other state officers who were elected without a dissenting vote were Mrs. Volney Taylor, Brownsville, first vice president; Mrs. Frank R. Slater, Dallas, second vice president; Miss Ollie Coon, Greenville, recording secretary; and Mrs. C. D. Kelly, Groesbeck, treasurer.

Bride Honored By Lovely Gift Shower

Mrs. N. C. Bell entertained with a miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. Edward Crabtree, a recent bride, at her home in Cedar Crest Thursday evening.

The evening was spent playing many merry games and contests, the prizes for which were presented to the bride. A Hindu fortune-teller concluded the evening, and told the fortune of all the guests, ending with the bride. After her fortune a large basket of gifts mysteriously appeared at her feet.

The house was beautifully decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums and these colors were carried out in the dainty refreshments.

The hostess was assisted in serving by Miss Pauline Schubert, Mrs. Gerlie Cantrell and Mrs. W. G. Nabors.

The following attended: Misses Lola Curtis, Alma Rueckart, Stella Schubert, Louis Weeg, Lillie Cardwell; Mmes. B. N. Ralph, Milton Broughton, Ida Prescott, Willard Smith, Geo. Mims, C. D. Herring, Glen Robert, Mabel Quinn, W. G. Nabors, Clint Forrest, C. W. Schrubble, N. C. Bell, Bill Everett, and the honoree.

The following sent gifts but could not attend: Misses Lucile Vawter, Ruth Alhart, Pyrie and Bird Bradshaw, Mary and Allen Bell, Mmes. Dove Couch, Roy Martin, Chas. Davis, Willard Sullivan, Mae Dungan and A. B. Gardner.

B. L. Le Fever Given Surprise Dinner

Mrs. B. F. Le Fever invited to three tables of friends to surprise Mr. Le Fever on his birthday Thursday evening with a dinner party. Unusually large and beautiful chrysanthemums formed a lovely centerpiece for the table and decorated the rooms.

The party was a successful surprise with many lovely gifts. After a delicious dinner the guests played bridge, Mrs. Groves and Mr. Liberty making the highest scores and winning boxes of candy. Mrs. Hurley was consoled for her low score with a filing cabinet.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamblin, Mrs. H. B. Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Liberty, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Groves, Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Hardy, Miss Lynn Jones and Frank Johnson.

Two-Year Sentence Assessed for Forgery

The trial of Eugene Cannon for passing forged instruments resulted in a sentence of two years in district court here. Cannon entered a plea for a suspended sentence, but the court had not ruled on his appeal this morning.

Three divorces were granted according to information received from District Clerk O. Dubberly today. Divorces were granted in the following cases: Gladys Brooks vs. H. W. Brooks; G. L. Donaldson vs. Ada Donaldson; Alvada Gassaway vs. T. J. Gassaway.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tomlinson, of Midland, formerly residents of this city, are the parents of a baby son born yesterday.

to enter a formal bid for the 1932 convention. The next meeting place will be selected at a meeting of the board in Austin in January.

Mrs. Bailey Honoree At Lovely Tea

Mrs. C. E. Talbot Opens Home To Methodist W. M. S.

The members of the First Methodist W.M.S. were hostesses at a beautiful tea at the home of Mrs. C. E. Talbot Thursday afternoon to honor Mrs. W. G. Bailey, wife of the pastor of the church.

Chrysanthemums and Michaelmas daisies were attractively used in the decorative scheme.

A fine arts program included a duet by Mmes. Arthur Pickle and Joe Faucett, a solo by Mrs. V. H. Fiewellen, and a Bible drill by Mrs. W. A. Miller.

The honoree was showered with many lovely gifts of every description, and responded with sweet words of appreciation.

Mmes. J. B. Pickle, L. W. Croft and Russell Manion served especially delicious salad plates to the members and guests.

Beautiful Luncheon At Settles

Mrs. G. T. Hall Hostess for Three Tables of Bridge

Mrs. G. T. Hall was hostess to three tables of friends for a handsome autumn luncheon Thursday at the Settles Hotel.

The luncheon was served in the Coffee Shop at a large table especially prepared for the occasion.

The centerpiece was a large Jack Horner pie, in the bronze, red-brown shades of autumn, concealing clever little novelty toys which were favors for the guests.

After a lovely four-course luncheon the guests adjourned to the mezzanine floor where the bridge tables were set in the north side.

It's great to FEEL FIT!

TODAY'S the day of outdoor life! Men and women retain their youth — their joy in a healthful, vigorous body.

A daily enemy of health is constipation. Intestinal sluggishness often leads to headaches, backaches, lack of pep, premature aging, loss of good looks.

It is unwise to fight constipation with habit-forming pills and drugs. They often do more harm than good.

The wise and healthful way is to correct the diet. Your system needs "bulk" and Vitamin B in generous quantities to keep it healthfully regular.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a delicious ready-to-eat cereal, gives you both of these things. It furnishes "bulk," which gently exercises the intestines. And Vitamin B, which tones them up.

In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains iron, which helps build rich, red blood!

Start now to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly — either as a cereal or in cooked foods. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient to prevent and to relieve most cases of constipation.

Be sure you get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

appropriate color notes against the walls. In the gift jeweled pencils, the orange and black cards, the yellow score pads, the prevailing color motifs of the party were beautifully carried out.

Mrs. J. Y. Robb won high score for the afternoon and received as a prize, an imported vase containing lovely glass blown tulips. Mrs. Albert Fisher was consoler for low with a lovely set of lavender bath salts. The prizes were tied with black patent-leather ribbon.

The guests were Meses. Harry Hurt, W. W. Inkman, Otto Wolfe, Frank Hamblin, V. O. Hennen, Shine Phillips, M. H. Bennett, Albert M. Fisher, C. P. Rogers, Joye Fisher and J. Y. Robb.

AUXILIARY TO HOLD SALE The members of the Episcopal Auxiliary will hold an exhibit tomorrow at Albert M. Fisher's store of articles which they will sell and for which they will take orders for the rest of the year.

The exhibit will include dressed dolls and doll clothing, various kinds of breads and cakes, and articles of wearing apparel. An ornamental table lamp will be given away to one of their customers during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Larmon, of the Texas Electric Construction Co. of Dallas, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Hall and family.

DRESS UP FISH DISHES WITH FLAVORFUL SAUCES

Although some members of the family may try to tell us that they do not care for fish, have you noticed how seldom they fall to enjoy it, when it comes to the table well-prepared and appetizingly garnished? We should serve fish frequently, because it is an excellent protein food, a good substitute for meat, and an excellent source of iodine and other necessary minerals as well.

Fish markets today are featuring fish fillets, fresh or frozen, that are both appetizing and easily cooked, and the grocer offers us a great variety of canned fish which may be quickly and easily converted into courtly appetizing and healthful dishes.

The modern housewife cannot afford to overlook the opportunity to serve fish frequently. Of course, the fish served with fish are very important, because fish itself is rather bland, and requires flavorful sauces to enhance it.

The following fish dishes with suitable sauces will bring new interest to your meals:

Baked Fish with Tartar Sauce 1 medium sized fish; 6 strips bacon; 1 tablespoon butter; flour; salt; pepper.

Sprinkle fish with salt and pepper. Dredge slightly with flour, place bacon over top, and surround with about 1-2 cup water. Baste frequently, using the butter and 1 cup water. Bake in a moderate oven—350 degrees F.—for about 1 hour. Serve with Tartar Sauce, made by mixing 3-4 cup Sandwich Relish with 1-3 cup Mayonnaise Salad dressing.

Baked White Fish or Haddock 1 medium sized fish; salt; pepper; flour; 6 strips bacon; 1 tablespoon butter; 1 small can Cream of Tomato Soup; 1 cup water.

Sprinkle fish with salt and pepper, stuff, and sew up with twine. Dredge slightly with flour and place several strips of bacon over the top. Add about 1-2 cup water. Baste frequently with water and butter, and bake in a moderate oven—350 degrees F.—for about 1 hour. Serve with Tomato Sauce, made by adding a small amount of flour to Cream of Tomato Soup.

Codfish Suffle 1 cup salt codfish; 2 cups potatoes; 2 tablespoon Tomato Ketchup; 2 eggs; 1 tablespoon butter.

Shred codfish and wash to remove some of the salt. Cook fish and potatoes together until the potatoes are done. Drain thoroughly, add butter, and then mash potatoes and fish. Beat until fluffy, add Tomato Ketchup, egg yolks, and fold in stiffly beaten whites. Bake 375 degrees F. for about 20 minutes, until brown. Serve with Tomato Ketchup and cucumber pickles.

Tuna Fish with Pickle Sauce: 1 cup canned or cooked tuna fish; 2 tablespoons butter; 2 tablespoons flour; 1-2 teaspoon salt; dash of Worcestershire Sauce; 1-2 cups milk; 3 tablespoons Preserved Sweet Gherkins; paprika; 1 tablespoon minced parsley; buttered toast.

Steam fish over hot water until heated. Melt butter, add flour and salt, then gradually add milk. Cook until thick and add the chopped pickles and sprinkle with paprika and parsley.

Halibut Steak with Mock Hollandaise Sauce 2 lbs. halibut steak; 1 egg; salt; pepper; 1-2 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce; cracker crumbs.

Salt and pepper each slice of fish and dip in beaten egg to which has been added the Worcestershire Sauce. Dip in cracker crumbs, and fry in butter until delicately brown. Serve with Mock Hollandaise Sauce.

Mock Hollandaise Sauce 1-4 cup butter; 2 tablespoons flour; 1 egg yolk; 1-2 teaspoon salt; 1-2 cup hot water; 5 tablespoons Mayonnaise Salad Dressing; 1-2 tablespoon Cider Vinegar.

Melt butter, add flour and still until well blended. Add egg yolk, beaten, salt and hot water. Cook over hot water until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and add Mayonnaise and Vinegar. Serve immediately.

Flower Show To Be Held In The Ford Showrooms

The Flower Show at the Ford Motor Co. opens tomorrow. This has in the past been a revelation to pessimistic West Texas flower-lovers and to newcomers who do not realize what quality of flowers can be grown in this country during the still, sunny autumn months, declares Mrs. J. M. Morgan, president of the Garden Club which is sponsoring the show.

Mrs. Morgan extends an invitation to everybody in town who has anything to exhibit to bring it down. Edwards Heights' soil seems to grow roses of almost hot-house perfection. At both ends of West Third pot plants flourish. Annuals and perennials do well all over the city.

There will be rare flowers on view, artistic bouquets, clever arrangements, and all sorts of floral displays, and room for more. The public is invited to attend tomorrow or Sunday. There are no admission charges.

HYSTERIA—II
The term hysteria is derived from the Greek and ancient physicians believed it was confined to women.

Our war experiences with shell-shocked soldiers convinced us, as we knew previously, that hysteria is seen not only in women.

It is a condition resulting from the subjection of an instable personality to severe strains.

In the war hysteria was brought on by danger, prolonged fatigue,
fear, and the like.

In civil life certain types of severe exacting work, emotional shocks, worries, family difficulties, and disaster situations such as fire, flood, and hurricane, may give rise to hysteria.

Hysteria may at times spread
like an infectious disease.

It may affect an entire community or a group subjected to intense emotional stress.

Hysteria is frequently observed in persons who are in a weak physical condition.

Overwork, loss of sleep, undernourishment, pregnancy and other conditions may bring on, together with other effective causes, a hysterial state.

However, the hysteria sufferer is usually, to begin with, an instable personality.

Largely, such persons have not learned successfully how to face life and the world about them.

Hysteria offers them a mode of escape from unpleasant situations.

Unable and unwilling to face facts, and lacking the means or opportunities, or again the knowledge of how to correct the intolerable situation, they take refuge in a variety of seeming physical disabilities.

These may be headaches, pains
in different parts of the body, paralysis, etc.

Hysteria may be successfully treated by the psychiatrist. But it is a condition which is better prevented through the proper training of the young in mental hygiene.

LADY with a PAST
BY HARRIET HENRY

SYNOPSIS: Long struggle to earn the methods of social charm convinces Venice Muir that she cannot gain popularity. Venice has elegant-colored hair, a lovely Rossetti face, and tall, slim grace.
But her eyes reveal her uncertainness of herself, and her mouth is simulate and wistful. Venice has the additional asset of a mother who has won a firm place in New York society. Mrs. Muir tells Venice that plenty of friends and pleas of invitations form the essence of life, and that she must learn to be attractive. Venice is more interested in books than in flirtation, and considers trying to write. At the Goodby's party, Venice sees once more she has nothing to offer. Her mother's and the knowledge makes her nervous and ill. Lola Goodby, one of Venice's two real friends, comes to lunch the day after the party.
Venice confesses her realization of her lack of success. "What makes one popular?" she asks Lola.
There are various types of popularity, Lola tells her. "For instance," Venice asks,

CLIP CUSTARD LIFE

GIRLS who are popular because they're naughty," Lola said.
They get invitations for everything except matrimony unless some one says along who doesn't believe they are what they are. We wouldn't want that brand. Girls who are popular because they're such very good company. Me-thinks I'm one of that type. You're too naturally grave and self-conscious. You couldn't lose yourself in clubbiness. If you knew what I mean?

"You are astute, Lola. I couldn't I'd spoil the clubbiness by wondering all the time what the others were thinking about me. I can't help it. Isn't it queer? When I know myself what's wrong? The way I'm made I guess. After all, you can't get away from the way you're made Go on. What other types?"

"The one that have brains
That's your cue. The bright ones
You can't be heavy about it and you have to be quick."

"There you are," sighed Venice.
I can't be quick. What other types?"

"I—don't know. Sex appeal, I suppose. That's got to be born in you.
I think. You can't either manufacture or cultivate it. If you do it's something horrid and obvious. You know a vampire?"

"There was a silence. Venice brooded.

"When you get right down to it,"
the finally said, as though thinking of which "popularity is a mixture for which the exact recipe has never been discovered. You can guess at the ingredients but you don't know
the proportions."

"Pshaw! Good girl. Let's let the discussion rest on that brilliant note. You always do tax my feeble intellect sooner or later. But Venice, see, don't really just any other game for girls except the society whirlwind. Don't fool yourself.
Courses and jobs and charities are only baits for the unpopular."

Venice duly refused custard. Like her own life, cup custard. Uncompromising substitute for a richer dessert.

The approach of the Yale-Princeton game, the autumn awakening of winter festivities, lent to Venice in the ensuing weeks a deepening depression and yearning for what she did not seem able to achieve. She moved in a meaningless eddy in which she was not able to catch at line now than at Lola's party, any party. She heard compliments in her ear, felt a touch on her arm.

Another partner. Her eyes lost their limpidity, became bright and happy.
She gave a little start at the sound of Nolly's urgent voice.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON — If the eighth congressional district of Michigan traditionally republican, had not done some flip flop on election day there might be a different feeling in Washington political circles at the moment.

The death of Representative
Wurzbach of Texas — the Lone Star
State's only republican in congress — has had the final result of Venice was going to make a triumphant social success. It was a first purely the desire not to disap-point her that had caused Venice to brag of social triumphs which never existed. Later it became a habit that she had her own longing. She would lose herself in the tales of her own manufacture until she in-ventorily believed in them herself.

On this particular afternoon the two girls sat close to the gas logs
a bleak November rain tapping cheerlessly against the window pane and mocking the emptiness of the room. Nolly made herself comfortable on a cushion on the floor, the pathetic leg beneath her her dark, wizen little face painted pink by flames. It was a bright, eager face, fluff in its sharp, duck-ish contours and holding nothing of pathos. Oddly enough, Venice's expression was the graver, more wistful of the two. The freight bringing out the copper of her hair accentuated the gravity of her grey eyes, the fragile whiteness of her skin, and sad, childlike droop to her small mouth. She was on the floor too, hugging her updrawn knees,
her back against a chair.

"Tell me about Lola's party," Nolly demanded eagerly.

"It was lovely. Shaded lights and lots of flowers and Leo Spaulding's orchestra. They played at the Central Park Casino, you know."

"Did you get any new beaux?"

"Three."

"Oh, Venice, how exciting. What did they look like and what did they say to you?"

"One was tall and slim and dark.
One fat, one a brilliant young botanist. The dark one said I was beautiful, and the fat one said I was the most vivacious girl he'd ever met, and the botanist thought I had more than the average brains."

"How lovely. And I suppose you couldn't get around the room more than once without some one breaking in on you."

"Just about." Color, deeper than the freights's painting, was creeping into Venice's cheeks. She saw herself this much sought after girl.
She actually was having a better

Already members of the Texas delegation are urging Governor Sterling to proceed in calling an election to settle the matter.

They can't afford to take any chances. Sickness of members or additional deaths might yet be the controlling element in organizing on December 7. There have been three deaths in the last three weeks, and the organization of the house is less than a month away.

Neither party can afford to overlook a single thing.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Education Will Save
Waco News-Tribune
In an interview on this page yesterday, Dr. R. L. Scarborough, president of the Texas Baptist convention
now in session in Waco, declared "I believe education is going to save the world."
The convention president need not say "I BELIEVE." He can say
"I KNOW."

We all know that education is not only the enlightenment, but the salvation of posterity. Knowledge is our best—indeed, our only—protection against human error. We have known this for a long time but there has been a faltering in our realization. We teach and we are taught. We are taught from the time we are six years old. Finally however, we are forced to admit that experience is the best teacher.
Therein lies the fallacy of what ever system we employ in our education.
Education is going to save the world. Education OUGHT to be us bitter experience. We shall never in this lifetime, nor probably in countless thousands of lifetimes to come, attain the Utopia of complete substitution of education's presently recognized teachers and administrators and vehicles for EXPERIENCE. But as the manner in which we educate ourselves and see that those who follow us are educated lessens the necessity for experience, in just such manner or ratio will our salvation or solution of the struggle of human existence
be attained.
Experience is not the best teacher. Most always experience is the WORST teacher. Surely we have become enlightened enough by now to begin improving our human training methods so that the youth to follow may, in a diminished fashion at least, obviate the necessity of meeting experiences—the teacher and being faced with that pedago-gic's tragic examinations.

American postal authorities issued a fraud order against the station November 7 on the ground that the station was advertising the Tamaulipas state lottery.
