MARCH ROARS IN.
 Old Boreas must be "making medicine" at Medicine Hat, Canada.

There, we are told by the weather sharps, there, in the midst of a huge bowl formed by the high mountains of the northern Rockies is brewed the storm which sweep through the mountain passes and hurtle eastward over the level plains of Nebraska and Kansas and, when the initial momentum is sufficient and enduring, even so far south as Oklahoma and Texas.

As a rule, it is said, when the storm gets to the southern border of Kansas it begins to meet the resistance of the steady and salubrious gulf coast breezes and is thus gradually deflected toward the east and sent speeding on its way towards Missouri and the Mississippi river. At times, however, according to observers, the initial force of the blast is sufficient to force back the protective barrier of the gulf zephyrs and in this manner intrudes its unwelcome presence on Texas in what is known as a "norther."

And so today, March is rushing upon us like a lion, after the beneficent mildness of February's special day. Will it depart with the proverbial lamb-like mildness?

ELKS ENTERTAIN WITH LEAP YEAR DANCE
 The Ranger Elks Club Leap Year dance held at their club rooms Wednesday evening proved to be a most enjoyable affair.

Approximately sixty couples assembled and had their programs all filled out when the first dame of the program started at 10 o'clock, and the ladies reigned supreme from then to the end of the dance. All encores were ladies tags and some of the gentlemen were given an opportunity to learn what it is to be "stood up."

The music was furnished by Gus Coleman and his Seven Rays of Sunshine, who were making their first local appearance as a regular eight-piece dance band, and were decked out for the occasion with a handsome velvet banner bearing their name and silk chair covers for the individual members, each bearing the owner's name.

March To Be Busy Month For League Leaders at Geneva

GENEVA, March 1.—The secretariat of the League of Nations today announced that March would be a busy and most important month in the history of the league this year.

The March program contains an unusually long list of important league conferences and commissions, not only at Geneva, but in various leading capitals of Europe.

There already is in session at Geneva the financial and the transit and communications committees of the league. The former is handling the project for the financial reconstruction of Greece, Bulgaria and Portugal while the latter is working out a project for an international system of aerial navigation collaboration.

The remainder of the program starts off with a meeting today of a committee of experts for the unification of customs nomenclature. This is the preliminary step towards the eventual breaking down of customs frontiers and barriers.

On the fifth the league council meets with a long agenda the most important question on which is the demand of the Little Entente for an investigation into the recent shipment of machine guns from Italy into Hungary.

The other meetings of the month are the twelfth, committee of traffic in women and children; committee on the co-ordination of linguistic bibliography; and committee for the abolition of export and import restrictions; fifteenth, committee of experts on translations at Paris; and the preparatory disarmament commission at Geneva; nineteenth child welfare committee; and the committee for arranging an international conference of government statisticians; the twenty-third league's economic committee.

Deadbeats Are 'Made'

DALLAS, March 1.—Deadbeats are not born, they are made through unskillful credit extension, according to Guy H. Hulse, secretary and educational director of the National Retail Credit association.

"Credit men have a powerful moral influence on a community and no man can be good morally if he is burdened with debts he can never pay," Hulse said on a visit here.

"Retail business demands intelligence in the credit departments. Installment sales is the basis of our present prosperity but they must be handled intelligently to insure future American prosperity."

FORT WORTH HIGH BAND CHANGES CONCERT DATE

The Fort Worth High school band, which was to give a concert in Eastland on March 16 for the benefit of the Eastland High school orchestra, has changed the date of its appearance to March 23. This was made necessary by the fact that March 16 was Fort Worth school's holiday to attend the Fat Stock show.

The BABY

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly harmless, especially when a few drops of plain Castoria will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill. Puffiness and fever, too; it seems no time until everything is serene.

That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish, without shock to the system. Without the evil taste. It's delicious! being purely vegetable, you can give it as often as there's a sign of colic, constipation, diarrhea; or need to aid sound, natural sleep.

Just one warning: it is genuine Fletcher's Castoria that physicians recommend. Other preparations may be just as free from all doubtful drugs, but no child of this writer's is going to test them! Besides, the book on care and feeding babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold.

Wardlaw Announces Platform In Race For Governorship

FORT WORTH, March 1.—Issuing his platform here today, Louis J. Wardlaw, attorney and ranchman, announced as a candidate for governor, made his strongest plea for election on the principles of education, law enforcement, highways, farm relief and tax reduction.

Wardlaw issued his platform after having spent more than a week visiting in the principal cities of Texas, and studying conditions which he mentions in his platform as being of vital interest to tax payers of Texas. Wardlaw in his platform says he is in favor of offering rewards for the capture of criminals the same as for predatory animals; that he is for all the education the people of Texas can pay for; that he would not sign a general appropriation measure for more than $40,000,000 and that he is against the further burdening of the state and counties with larger bond issues than "our children's children will be able to pay. His statement follows: "On February 18, I made a preliminary announcement of my candidacy for governor of Texas. Believing that it is now time that I should issue my platform, I am today giving to the newspapers of the state the platform upon which I propose to advance my candidacy for that office.

Out for Congress

hicles not to exceed the present tax and use all of said tax to build and maintain the county roads under the direction of the commissioners' court.

Taxation. "Taxes are too high and must be reduced. Someone must set the example of economy. The present administration levied more than $50,000,000 on the people to support the state government for two years—an increase of $15,000,000 more than appropriated before for a like period of time. This administration also levied a tax of $36,000,000, making a total of $86,000,000, where as the former administration only levied $36,000,000 for general appropriations and $10,000,000 for gasoline tax, or $46,000,000 less than the present administration for the two fiscal years.

"Therefore, to bring relief, I promise to reduce by vote, the general appropriation bill not to exceed $40,000,000 for the support of the state government.

Labor. "Having been born and reared amid humble surroundings, I would not know how to be other than in the fullest sympathy with our great laboring masses. I believe that every wage earner in our large cities should join some union. I am opposed to the use of injunction in labor disputes and I am opposed to the use of any judicial powers of legislative action that will prevent any one from peaceably quitting his employment, when for any reason satisfactory to himself he may choose to do so.

Bonds. "The issuance of county, city and other classes of bonds is becoming too frequent. If a slowing down is effected our children and our children's children will be born in financial slavery. The issuance of bonds works a double injury to the masses. It puts an additional debt on the people through increased taxation and in addition it furnishes the rich a privilege to put his money beyond the taxing power of all government by making bonds tax free. This is a special privilege to the few at the expense of the many.

Farm Relief. "Many of the farmers' troubles are due to the fact that their needs require them to purchase their necessities, and sell their farm products at prices made by the buyer in the one instance and by the seller in the other. The volume of state funds are not sufficient to stabilize the price of farm products, yet the state can by legislative action legalize farmers' organizations so that such organizations may obtain credit on their products by tenant farmers, and the state should pass laws that will create a department in the office of commissioner of Agriculture which department shall in cooperation with A. & M. college, and state experimental stations, promulgate and disseminate useful and practical information to be used in efficient propagation, growth and development of cattle, sheep, goats, hogs and chickens. I will urge the passage of such law if I should go into the governor's office. Grain and Cotton Gambling. "Believing, that as a result of future gambling in the products of the farm, that the price of farm products are materially effected, to the detriment of the farmer and to the advantage of the speculator and people who do not produce, I favor the passage of a law that will effectively stop gambling in the price of farm products. Cotton and grain exchanges should be prohibited by law the same as all other gambling houses."

Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the former governor of Pennsylvania, has announced her candidacy for Congress from the fifteenth district of the Keystone State.

"Within the next 40 days, it is my plan to take this stump, further presentation of my platform to the voters of Texas.

"I have received hundreds of letters from voters all over the State of Texas pledging me their support, which I sincerely appreciate and trust that I will have the pleasure of meeting all of them personally before my campaign has ended.

Education. "I am for all education that people can pay for, including first—practical training in the common schools and practical technical and theoretical training in higher institutions of learning.

Law Enforcement. "I am for the absolute and unequivocal enforcement of all laws.

Crime Reduction. "The crime wave is alarming. It threatens the stability of the government. Prompt and drastic action must be taken. There is too much delay in the trial of criminals. Legal talent is being used too much to shield criminals.

"I favor adequate appropriation to pay rewards for the apprehension of criminals, who commit felonies, as an incentive to get everybody interested in catching criminals. We spend hundreds of thousands of dollars to catch ticks, wolves, wildcats, and other predatory animals, why should we not spend equally as much to catch criminals who deprade on people by all crimes denounced by law.

"The people must be aroused to understand the seriousness of the situation. Let us not only demand vigilance of our peace officers but let us help them to meet the serious situation that confronts us and them.

Highways. "The building and maintenance of state highways is of more importance than any other function of government, save that of maintaining the public school. Highway matters should be intrusted to an agency that is directly responsible to the people. Highway construction and maintenance involve the expenditure of millions. The highway commission should be paid such salary as will get the entire time and talent of competent business men that shall be directly responsible to the people.

"The building and maintenance of county roads is also important. Therefore, I am in favor of changing the present highway laws by dividing the state into four highway districts and have highway commissioners elected by the people from each district, thereby giving rural districts a better chance to get needed lateral roads. These commissioners to hold office for four years, two of which shall be elected every two years. In addition I favor the election at large of a fifth member of the commission who shall hold office for two years, and shall be chairman.

"Believing that the gasoline tax and federal aid will yield all the funds that can be intelligently and economically spent in one year in the building and maintaining of the state highways, I am in favor of repealing the present tax on automobiles and motor vehicles, changing only a nominal sum sufficient to cover cost of registration. However, I would not be opposed to permitting each county, by vote of the people of such county, to levy a tax on motor ve-

How an Expectant Mother Prepared for Baby's Coming

IT has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering experienced during expectancy, as well as at childbirth, is entirely unnecessary.
Tight tissues, binding muscles, sensitive nerves—all tend to set up an aggravated condition—sapping strength and leaving the expectant mother unprepared to meet the crisis.
Mother's Friend is a comfort to expectant mothers. Externally applied, it relieves prenatal distress by relaxing tight tissues and muscles. And it is so soothing. Its daily use makes the skin soft and pliable.
Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., writes: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor

Mexico City Again Becomes Mecca For Tourists of World

By United Press.
MEXICO CITY.—Mexico City, 20 years ago a mecca for tourists from all parts of the world, again has been discovered by those persons who do their traveling under the auspices of Thomas Cook & Son, the American Express and other such organizations.

Besides smaller parties, groups that visited Mexico during the first two weeks of February alone included one party of 125 and another of 350. The latter consisted of Brazilians, Argentines and Uruguayans who arrived at Vera Cruz on the Hamburg-American liner Captain Polonia. They spent about three days in Mexico City, returning to Vera Cruz en route to New York.

The party of 125 was made up of members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards which held a convention recently in Houston. They traveled aboard a special train under the direction of T. L. Evans, head of the foreign department of the Houston Chamber of Commerce. The fortunes of the personnel of this group, according to Evans, were estimated at a total of $140,000,000.

Three hundred tourists were scheduled to arrive in Mexico aboard the steamship Caligaria. In addition, a large party of editors, representatives of the Mid-West Editorial association, will arrive from St. Louis within a few weeks.

There is a possibility that the National Association of Shortline Railways will hold its convention in Mexico City in May. This is expected to bring 1,000 to the capital.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

OHIO MAN TELLS FINDING LIVE TOAD FROG IN ROCK

true and a fact just the same. My theory is that the toad was not living at all during this long period but that animation was suspended and by some mystery of nature all the tissues, faculties and organs of the toad were kept in a perfect state of preservation. Perhaps sand may have such an element in it to do this very trick. At least it was done. The toad I saw, and others saw it too, at the time had very little life but evidently, in a short time, and after being in the air, would be normal again. None of us appreciated the phenomenon at that time and the toad and data were not preserved for science. I have told this story many times and, as natural, it seemed incredible. However, after many years I noticed another case of this kind, about two years ago, according to press reports, in the newspapers, and I am now writing this day to check up on the facts.

This incident also happened in Ohio where a live toad was broken out of solid sandstone, evidently imbedded there for thousands and thousands of years—placed there by some upheaval of the earth when the sandstone was sand. I would not be afraid to wager $5,000 that within a few years it will be absolutely proved by science that toads can and do endure such ordeals as the toad in the courthouse cornerstone did in your city. It is the one toad that made a city famous.

I now notice that members of the Riverside Civic league of Fort Worth, Texas, are intending to make a test of this toad controversy in which they propose to imbed the toad in solid concrete. Let me say that this would not be a fair test and a little hard on the toad. Conditions and the elements in concrete may be very different from those in sandstone and in extricating this toad 1,000 years hence its tissues and cells may be destroyed so as not to allow animation to immediately begin where it had left off.

Should you give any publicity to this letter I would appreciate a copy of the paper containing the same.

Yours very truly,
Signed: H. H. EMMONS.

CHESTERFIELD CIGARETTES

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

After a variegated and colorful career, which has extended over the years, Jack Delaney of Bridgeport finds himself tonight at the threshold of fortune.

If Ovilla Chapdelaine, as his French American parents christened him 25 years ago this month, can take the all-important step across that threshold, he is due to become rich beyond the more ordinary dreams of avarice.

Barring the way is a stubborn, stalwart, stocky Irishman, freckled and full of fight—Tom Heeney from far-away New Zealand.

Delaney must knock out Heeney to remove him effectively from the path to fistic fame and wealth that goes with a championship battle for the world's heavyweight title. Mere victory on points will hardly suffice.

The Rapier of the North must drive home to kill.

Since the Bridgeport boxer retired undefeated from the light heavyweight championship of the world, he has beaten Jack Renault, knocked out Paul Berlenbach, Sully Montgomery, Jack Humbeck and Leo Gates and generally re-established his reputation as a terrific hitter and one of the cleverest of boxers.

Although light, Delaney is the best combination of a boxer and a hitter among the big fellows today.

Tom Heeney also has every incentive to win tonight, although even if he should do so, he would certainly be required to fight a return match with Jack Sharkey of Boston. Heeney and Sharkey fought a disappointing draw last winter.

It is the Delaney uppercut which spells sleep for whomever it encounters for which the throng in Madison Square Garden will be watching tonight.

A flash of one of those strong white arms, the thud of a soggy glove against human jaw, and a head-ache for Mr. Heeney. That would be the solution of most of Jack Delaney's monetary problems for some years to come.

Some believe that the Heeney jaw is too tough a proposition for even Delaney's wallop, but such is not the case. Jaws are not made that tough.

If Heeney goes in from the start to rough Jack about and maul him in the clinches and keeps a cautious look out for that right hand in the meantime, there may be a different story to tell.

The Bridgeport boxer has been such an in-and-outer during his career it is all but impossible to tell what to expect next.

One recent black mark on Jack's score is his defeat by Johnny Riske last fall. Another is his even more surprising defeat at the hands of Jimmy Maloney in last year's heavyweight elimination tournament.

Undoubtedly, Delaney has a lot for which to answer, and the only satisfactory answer would be a knock-out victory over Tom Heeney tonight.

Philadelphia Squad Is Smallest Taken To South For Years

PHILADELPHIA.—At the head of the smallest group of athletes ever taken south by a baseball manager in recent years, Connie Mack moved his Athletics into Southern Florida with the pennant hopes of Philadelphia upon his shoulders.

After the blowup of his leading players last year when they were rated as a big threat to the Yankees, Mack has again resorted to youth and his roster of but 29 players indicates that Connie is satisfied with the material remaining from his 1927 machine.

He has disposed of Ty Cobb, Lamar, Poole, Pate, Brannon and Galloway and has taken on Bing Miller, outfielder, Joe Hauser, first baseman, Joe Bush, pitcher, LeBourveau, outfielder, Claude Jonnard, pitcher, and Ossie Orwoll, pitcher and outfielder.

Miller, Hauser and Bush have won Mack's livery in the past and not require much of Mack's attention and LeBourveau and Jonnard have both been in and out of the majors in recent years and can be hardly classed as rookies.

Mack's outstanding newcomer is Ossie Orwoll, who was procured from Milwaukee club in the American Association. Orwoll is listed on the roster as a pitcher but also is available as an outfielder and his home run record in the association last year stamps him as a dangerous pinch hitter.

Joe Hauser, however, whose trick knee forced him out of fast company several years ago when he was regarded as one of the most promising young first sackers in the game, will be closely watched against a recurrence of his disability.

Mack's present plans indicate that he will open the season with Cochran as first string catcher, Hauser at first base, Bishop or Collins at second, Boicy at short and Hale at third base.

The outfield probably will be made up Simmons, French and Miller.

The strength of Mack's infield is evidenced by the fact that there seems to be no regular assignment for Jimmie Dykes, probably the outstanding all-around star of the league, but Jimmie probably will work somewhere regularly.

The big four of the Mack pitching staff will be Grove, Walberg, Rosamel and Elmke with Quinn and Joe Bush as second defense men. Besides these pitchers Mack has Orwoll, Jimmie Johnson, Bonnard, Bill Shores, Lloyd Powers, Robert Potter and Lee Whitehorn. It is probably that several of these will be dropped.

Cy Perkins and Jimmy Fox are the second string catchers.

Pointing out that it is highly improbable that the Yankees will again win 114 games in a season and clinch the pennant in the middle of the race, Connie Mack predicted that his White Elephants would be in the thick of the fight to the wire.

"It doesn't stand to reason that the Yanks will win 21 out of 22 games from a single club again this year but they will find stiffer opposition all around the circuit," Mack said, "and we can't be counted out."

And all Philadelphia believes in him.

The Phillies, the Quaker City entry in the National League race, are hardly rated as a pennant possibility or even a very strong candidate for a first division berth, but they get the support of the fans.

The catching department is amply fortified with Jimmy Wilson and Joe Sluete, erstwhile Cardinal, who is expected to create havoc with the short Phillie right field fence.

First base is no longer a problem at Baker Bowl as Shotten brought with him Bill Kelley, who banged out 44 home runs while in a Newark suit in the International league last season. Reggy Wrightstone is also available.

Frescoe Thompson, despite rumors of his retirement, will be a fixture at second base. Hiram Sand will be at short and other Baney Friberg or Albert Whitney, a product of the Southern association, will handle the hot corner.

The fly chasers, headed by Cy Williams, home run specialist, assisted by Fred Leach, Dick Spaulding, Al Nixon, Dick Holman and Danny Sothorn.

Mased on last year's figures, the Phils will have 30 regulars who hit over 300, three players who were league leaders in fielding in their positions and the addition of new blood and a hustling, energetic manager.

Wrestling Fans Will See Snappy Program At New Club Tonight

Everything is in readiness for the wrestling match between Harry Macintosh, heavyweight of Boston, and Chief Prarry Ozeon, the 194-pound Indian champion, which will officially open the new Ranger Athletic club, tonight.

B. Demittraff, manager of the club, stated this morning that both wrestlers had arrived in Ranger. He further said that he could not have obtained two better attractions for the opening night in Ranger. Both of the wrestlers are well known in eastern and northern wrestling circles.

The building located on South Rusk street, between the Ranger garage and the Snappy Service cafe, has been renovated and an attractive gymnasium will be placed there.

Demittraff hopes to have the equipment for the gym in place by March 10.

Demittraff said today that a ticket to the match tonight would entitle the holder to a month's membership in the club.

In addition to the regular match, Demittraff has arranged for good preliminaries and a "battle royal."

Air Mail Speeds Around the World

British Will Make Early Selection Of Its Olympic Teams

By ROBERT C. DOWSON, United Press Staff Correspondent. LONDON, March 1.—The British team of athletes for the track and field events in the Olympic games will be definitely chosen only a few days before the games are due to begin.

In the meantime the selection committee will keep a close watch on the performance of all the leading athletes throughout the country. A number of men will be warned in good time to hold themselves in readiness for the trip to Amsterdam, and the final selections will be made after the Amateur Athletic association championships, July 6-7.

This method of belated selection is calculated not only to avoid the risk of including men who, although performing creditably during the early part of the season, may get stale as the Olympics approach, but also to give every possible opportunity to new blood that may spring up during the season. The form of an athlete is soon upset and the committee want to be sure of picking the right men at the right moment.

Judging from past experience and the events of the last year, Britain's main hope in the track and field events will lie in the middle distance races. H. M. Abrahams, who created such a sensation by winning the 100 metres for Britain in the Paris Olympics of 1924, is now out of the game on account of the injury to his leg.

For the sprint races there are several possibilities, but none of them possesses the consistent first-rate form necessary for an Olympic victory. J. E. Lonigan has shown good form in the last two years, but there is a possibility that he will concentrate this season on the high jump.

J. W. J. Rinkel, the Cambridge university runner, is perhaps at his best in the 220 and 440 yards, as he proved to be when running against Harvard and Yale in London last year, but he has done the hundred yards in even time, and he may represent his country at this distance at Amsterdam.

Having clocked 10 second on several occasions and nine and four-fifths in a race last year, H. H. Hodge, the London barrier, is the man upon whom Britain will most probably depend in the sprint events.

London and Rinkel and G. M. Butler have all done the 200 metres in 22 seconds, the last named having secured the A. A. A. 220 yards championship in 1926 and the 200 metres against France in 1927, both in 21.9-10 seconds.

Butler and Rinkel again come into the reckoning for the 400 metres, both having covered the distance well inside 50 seconds. Butler was third at the distance in the Paris Olympics in 1924, and holds the world's record of 30.3-5 seconds for the 300 yards. Rinkel has made the 400 meter journey in 40.3-5 seconds. D. G. A. Lowe, English champion at the quarter and half mile, will no doubt attract the selection committee's most careful attention. Lowe is the world's holder for 600 yards, and was another of Britain's representatives at Paris where he won the 800 metres.

Two other former Olympic representatives who are likely to make the trip to Amsterdam are Lord Burshtley and F. R. Gaby, both of whom have done well in hurdles events. The latter has been five times English champion at 120 yards hurdles. Most prominent among the steeplechase possibilities at the moment is J. E. Webster, treble winner of the British steeplechase championship, and a British representative at the 1924 Olympics. He has also been successful in the 4 and 10-mile championships.

It will be seen that unless some of the back-markers spring to the fore in the next four months, Britain will be almost entirely dependent on her old Olympic champions.

9 Girls' Teams In State Cager Tourney

DUBLIN, Texas, March 1.—With nine teams entered for the first time, one of the biggest tournaments held is expected for the State A. A. U. girls basket ball tournament to be played here March 15, 16 and 17.

Among the teams entered for the first time are Marlin, Sanger, Eldorado, Hedley, Sidney, Morgan, Lamesa, Snyder, Slaton, South Bosque of Waco. Other quintets to play are Ysleta, Mulshoe, Celeste, Addison, Breckenridge, Frankell, Sardis, Handley, Aledo, Mingus, Cross Plains, Putnam, Koscoe, Canton, Roane, Sudan, Dublin, and Cisco.

Cisco, last year's champions, have nearly the same club as last year, and are pointed out as probable winners again.

Tony Conzoneri, of New Orleans, La., contender for the featherweight title, earned $194,000 in the past 27 months of professional boxing.

Ranger Ex-Students Of Texas University Plan For Banquet

Ranger ex-students of the University of Texas will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the chamber of commerce headquarters, to formulate plans for their part of the program to be given at the annual banquet of the Oil Belt Ex-Students Association, to be held this year at the Eastland Elks Club, Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

B. A. Frank, prominent ex-student of the university, now a resident of Dallas, will be one of the principal speakers on the program. It is also understood that a member of the faculty of the university will appear on the program.

The banquet is an annual occasion all over Texas and has been observed in this district for several years. The district is composed of ex-students of Cisco, Breckenridge, Eastland, Ranger and Mineral Wells.

Ranger's contribution to the program will be formulated at the meeting tonight, according to L. R. Pearson of Ranger.

"Me Too" Buttons Are Ready For Sale

"Me Too" buttons being sold throughout the state for the purpose of helping to finance the National Democratic convention, which meets in June in Houston, are now available in Eastland county, according to an announcement made this morning by Maj. Harry Brelsford of Eastland, who has charge of placing the buttons in Eastland county. The buttons, which sell for $1 each, may be had at either of the banks or drug stores in Eastland.

General Jake Wolters, state chairman of the finance committee for the convention, in sending out the buttons calls attention to the fact that, while the Democratic convention is coming to Houston it will be entertained by the people of the state and whatever benefits in the way of advertising, are derived from the bringing the thousands of persons to the state for the occasion, will be shared alike by the various towns and communities in Texas.

It is also pointed out by General Wolters that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has asked that each West Texas county be given an opportunity to do its part in financing the convention.

Japanese Woman Net Star Is Hailed As Wonder by British

LONDON.—Japan's versatile woman athlete, Miss Hitomi, is being hailed by British sporting circles as a brilliant star of the feminine track and field firmament.

Remembering her previous magnificent performances, athletic authorities here are prophesying successes for her when she competes in the Olympic games at Amsterdam in July.

Many of Britain's girl athletes have expressed deep regret that the decision of the Women's Amateur Athletic association not to send a team to Amsterdam has robbed them of a chance of competing against the Japanese Amazon.

It will be recalled that at the Women's Olympiad at Gothenburg in 1926, Miss Hitomi entered for every event, broke the world's record for the discs and the broad jump, finished third in the 100 metres, and only just missed being placed in the 250 metres.

She was very popular among her European opponents, many of whom are eagerly looking forward to meeting her again at Amsterdam.

Horned Frog Cagers Out For Baseball

FORT WORTH, March 1.—The T. C. U. baseball squad has been augmented by 10 candidates this week when practically every member of the varsity basket ball squad reported for duty after the Horned Frogs closed the cage schedule Monday and Tuesday nights with victories over Baylor and Texas university.

Most of the basketballers are veteran baseball men as well and their presence will enable Coach "Dutch" Meyer to really get under way with his workouts. The 10 men include four outfielders, a pitcher, three infielders and two catchers. Three of the outfielders, Oran Steadman, Albert Acker and Lowell Parrish, are veterans of two seasons, while Tomlinson, the other gardener, is a graduate of last year's freshman team.

The pitching prospect is Roy Eury from the 1927 freshmen. Roy is the elongated youngster who jumped into prominence as a basket ball ace last season, playing center for the Frogs. Two of the three infielders are first year men. Jim Eddleman is playing his second year and will be a candidate for first base. He will be opposed by the flashy Horace Wallin, regular first sacker on the frosh nine in 1927. Duane Smith is the other rookie infielder.

Raymond "Rags" Matthews and Cecil Provine are the two catching prospects. "Rags" was a reserve backstop last year and Provine, a sophomore, is out for baseball for the first time.

HOOKS and SLIDES

Victory for Tilden. Resignation of Julian S. Myrick as chairman of the Davis cup committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association is considered among tennis people as a final and decisive victory for William T. Tilden after a long political battle with the Myrick faction.

As president of the association, Myrick became a commanding figure in American tennis and even after he had stepped down from the presidency he continued to be a power through the office of chairman of the Davis cup committee, which might be considered the state department of the national tennis government.

In recent years, since he was succeeded as president of the association, Myrick did not rule openly as a dictator of American tennis, but it was no secret that his work was almost final and that the men in the president's chair had to do a lot of telephoning before they took any important action.

While Tilden's fights against the association were accepted as Tilden versus association, those on the inside knew that it was Tilden against Myrick and that Myrick usually got his man when he went after him.

Most Recent Battle. The most recent fight started when Myrick's committee announced that the Davis cup challengers would play through the eliminations in the American zone.

Tilden revolted. He said he already had arranged for a tour of Europe with Frank Hunter and that the American challengers should play through the European zone eliminations.

Tilden said he would go to Europe with Hunter regardless of any action taken by the association and it looked like a victory for Myrick when the association voted to play the American team in the American zone.

Then some peacemakers apparently went to work. Samuel H. Collom of Philadelphia, a friend of Tilden's, was elected president of the association.

Tilden then announced that he might play in the American zone and then Myrick resigned from the Davis cup committee and Joseph W. Wear, of Philadelphia, another friend of Tilden's, was named in his place.

Coming soon after the publication of a magazine article in which it was pointed out that Myrick's insurance business in New York never had suffered because of the publicity he got through tennis, his resignation was a surprise and apparently it is a sure enough resignation.

Who Won the War? The Philadelphia faction seems to be in the saddle now and there never has been any great political love or devotion between the Philadelphia clique and the Myrick Forest Hills faction.

Like most of the other rows in which Tilden figured, however, this one seems to be another in which no big winner emerged unless Tilden's friends want to claim that the player actually was after Myrick's scalp.

The change in the chairmanship of the Davis cup committee can be scored as a victory for Tilden, but the association can also chalk up one if Tilden decides to remain in this country and play through the American eliminations with Hunter.

It is apparent that some concessions were made to Tilden in giving him a voice in Davis cup matters. He always had complained that Myrick handled the Davis cup team like serfs and that the players never were even taken into the confidence of the association.

Missouri Senator And Wife Are Not Social Butterflies

By KENNETH CRAWFORD (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON.—Fewer "functions" and more "parties" may be expected at the white house if fortune attends the presidential candidacy of Senator James A. Reed, according to the Washington friends of Mrs. Reed.

Diplomatic teas, cabinet dinners and large receptions, they say, are no, to the liking of Mrs. Reed and will be reduced to the necessary minimum, giving way to the more informal gatherings called "having a few friends in."

The wife of the senior senator from Missouri is not a familiar figure in Washington society. She has stayed away from the capital entirely this winter, remaining instead at the Reed home in Kansas City.

"Servant troubles," the Senator explains. "We took a new home in Kansas City last summer and Mrs. Reed hasn't been able to find satisfactory servants to keep the place in good order."

The Reeds sold their Biltmore street home here last year and moved their furniture to the Kansas City house, a massive stone structure surrounded by a wide veranda, just the kind of house Mrs. Reed had wanted—homelike and airy without architectural pretensions.

The Senator occupies a suite at the Washington hotel where Mrs. Reed will join him later.

The Mrs. Reed, a small group of Washington friends knows, is a retiring, gray-haired, motherly person whose principal interest is her home.

Here most intimate friends claim she has never voted—even for her husband.

When seen in public, she is smartly but conservatively dressed. She is of medium height, inclined toward plumpness, blue eyed and fair skinned. "One of the most beautiful girls in Iowa," old acquaintances will tell you.

The Reeds were married at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in 1885 shortly after Reed was admitted to the bar. Two years later they moved to Kansas City with Mrs. Reed's two children by a former marriage.

Both Senator and Mrs. Reed are natives of Iowa. Mrs. Reed, before her first marriage, was Laura Olmstead.

ST. LOUIS.—An underground pipe organ is being built in St. Louis for the Actor's Chapel of St. Malachy's church, New York, where funeral services were conducted for Rudolph Valentino. In order to utilize all available floor space for additional pews, the instrument, now being built by the Kilgen Organ company, of this city, will be installed under the level of the sidewalk. Sound from the organ, designed by Alfred Kilgen, will be projected through grill work to be placed in the rear of the church.

DALLAS, March 1.—Eleven basket ball teams were here today for the opening of the Southern A. A. U. basket ball tournament. The tourney will extend through Saturday.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER,
NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON.—The white house press conference of the near future, if one may judge by events of the last year, will find the Washington correspondents led into a dark room to listen to a voice on the other side of a black velvet curtain reinforced by a barbed wire fence.

What some correspondents are pleased to call the degeneracy of these conferences has progressed rapidly. It has even been suggested that they be called off altogether, but that won't happen because they are still valuable both to the president and the correspondents. Meanwhile, there are several schools of thought, including that which holds that a president is entitled to all the protection he can get from the consequence of such statements as he makes to the correspondents.

The practice of quoting presidents stopped abruptly after Harding made a bad bull in talking about the arms conference. When Coolidge came in, the correspondents were being received twice a week. They submitted questions in writing and the president answered or commented on such as he pleased.

Correspondents often referred to the "white house spokesman" as the man who gave the answers. The "spokesman" gradually became a public joke, whereupon the president ordered that use of the term be omitted. Then the correspondents got together one day and submitted many copies of the question whether Mr. Coolidge would stand for re-nomination. After they had written about his refusal to answer, he insisted that in the future no reference should be made to questions submitted and ignored.

The last restriction placed on the boys followed Mr. Coolidge's slip of the tongue in referring to candidate Hoover as "President Hoover." The incident was published widely and it was soon afterward ordered that in the future no references whatever should be made to the white house press conferences; that the gatherings were to be held only so that newspapermen might obtain "background" on public affairs. Already the distinguished person who speaks at these background bouts is being referred to as the "white house back-grounder."

Congressman George Huddleston of Alabama says he may not have made himself quite clear in a recent reply to the question of what was the matter with congress.

"My point," he says, "was that congressmen were as good as their constituents would permit them to be; that their wickedness was forced upon them as the price of re-election, and that whatever of virtue they had was despite their constituents. The real trouble with congressmen is that they need better constituencies. This point I should have made more clear. It should be qualified by an exposition of the fact that constituencies do not speak per capita, but on an ad valorem basis, and that although the average in virtue of his constituency may be high, a congressman's standard is that of the dominant elements that control the elections."

WASHINGTON.—Those of us who managed to make out our own income tax returns unaided last year ought to be able to do it again.

The rules remain the same. In fact, one of the very best tips for a taxpayer is the suggestion that he retain a duplicate of his return for reference next year. The figures will be larger, it is to be hoped, but any forgotten kinks of procedure will be there to refresh one's memory.

First, get your return blank. Incidentally, you will find plenty of valuable information attached to the return.

If you're a single man earning less than $1,500 net income you're fortunate for two reasons. The second one is that you needn't file any return. Married persons of less than $3,500 net income are well off in the same respect, but anybody whose gross income is more than $5,000 must fill the blank.

The tiny 1040A blanks are for net incomes not above $5,000 when derived chiefly from salaries and wages. The 1040 blanks are for all other individual taxpayers. Net income is gross income minus deductions for such matters as business expenses, losses, interest paid, bad debts, depreciation of business property and taxes other than federal income tax.

Probably most of us are especially interested in the deductions we can take off to lower our taxable or net income. No one should have trouble entering his items of gross income.

Interest which has been paid or accrued on indebtedness comes first. The only exception is when one pays interest on another's debt.

Taxes on personal property and real estate paid in 1927 are deductible and so are state income tax payments. So are customs duties. Admission taxes, too, but the government insists that you must have kept an account of them all year long, which is generally too much bother.

Losses are deductible when incurred in a transaction entered into for profit or in case of fire, storm, shipwreck, flood, frost, other casualty or theft, whether connected with business or not, insofar as they are not covered by insurance. Loss on a house or automobile purchased for other than business use, for instance, may not be deducted. Jewelry stolen may be counted in, but jewelry merely lost may not.

Bad debts, if incurred on money loaned with expectation of repayment, may be deducted. The bureau of internal revenue asks for an explanation of the return. Contributions to charitable, religious, scientific, literary, educational or humane organizations may be deducted up to 15 per cent of net income exclusive of them, but anyone who deducts 15 per cent for contributions had better be prepared to prove them. It is necessary to list such contributions on the return, of course, and gifts to individuals don't count.

World war bonuses, pensions and allowances are generally non-taxable. Strike benefit payments aren't. The value of goods or board and lodging

Missions of Mercy in Peace or War Await Red Cross Nursing Recruits

THE RED CROSS NURSE IN WAR TIME CHEERS THE WOUNDED SOLDIER.

TO enlist the young women of the nation in the cause of mercy, prepared to serve in time of the country's stress—in peace or war—is one of the purposes which has prompted the American Red Cross Nursing Service to call for the second annual observance of Jane A. Delano Nurses Recruiting Week, from March 5 to 12.

Only graduate trained nurses, from accredited schools, may enroll in the Red Cross Nursing Service. In honoring, nation-wide, the memory of Jane Delano—famous and distinguished head of the Red Cross Nurses prior to and during the World War, it is hoped also to direct the attention of girls graduating from high school and college to the nursing profession as a career offering wide possibilities of service.

Regulations of the U. S. Army designate the enrolled Red Cross nurses as a reserve to the Army Nurses Corps, subject to call to duty in time of war. In addition the Red Cross nurses are called into service at times of great disaster, such as the Mississippi Valley flood of 1927, or in any other relief or humanitarian work conducted under the auspices of the American Red Cross.

During the World War, more than 20,000 graduate nurses were supplied by the Red Cross to serve with the Army and Navy and other Government services and the Red Cross; many hundreds of these were utilized for nursing relief work under Red Cross commissions in foreign nations; and thousands gave great assistance in the crises of the several influenza epidemics in the United States.

"Marriage removes an average of 100 nurses from our civil roll each month," said Miss Clara D. Noyes, national director of American Red Cross nursing service, in discussing plans for Jane A. Delano Week, "and death, illness and resignation cause us to lose another fifty each month. The nurse who marries or, in any other relief of 45, may enroll for Home Defense work, but she is not eligible for the Army service. Although we have had an average enrollment of 46,000 since the beginning of enrollment twenty years ago, to maintain our standard we must enroll the young graduate nurses as they come from school.

"We are anxious also to have the girl, just leaving high school or college, who is thinking of a career, consider what fascinating and interesting—and even romantic—lie in the also very sympathetic and helpful career of the nurse. Remuneration, whether in public work, in military or civilian work, or in private or hospital life, is comparable with that in other professions open to women."

Senior classes of virtually all nurses' training schools will participate in exercises March 12, the birth date of Miss Delano, in commemoration of her great service to nursing and of her heroic death in France, a sacrifice to war service, not long after the Armistice. Enrollment of graduate nurses is communitated through committees composed of Red Cross nurses on Red Cross nursing service in the various communities.

LEAGUE INSTITUTES OVERRUN EUROPE, REACH ASIA, SOUTH AMERICA, AFRICA

Control of Liquor Traffic in Dark Continent is Among Projects To Be Supervised by Geneva Body.

By HENRY WOOD,
United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA.—The League of Nations is facing the necessity of creating a world-wide charter for the government of institutions in all parts of the world that desire to pass under its control.

Already, the league in its affiliated institutions, has overrun the borders of Europe and spread in to Asia, South America and Africa, and there is every indication that it will soon have ramifications in every corner of the globe.

The question of the precise relation of these organizations and institutions with the league has become so great that the council has requested Sir Eric Drummond, the general secretary, to submit a full report and proceed at the March session of the council for the future government of these league offsprings.

At the time the league covenant was drafted, provision was merely made that international organizations, existing as the result of an international convention, could pass under the control of the league.

As a result of this provision the international hydrographic bureau at Monte Carlo; the International Association for the Promotion of Child Welfare at Brussels, the International Commission for Aerial Navigation at Paris and the Central International Office for the Control of the Liquor Traffic in Africa, with headquarters at Brussels, have passed under the control of the league.

In a number of other cases, the league has merely sanctioned collaboration with similar organizations existing as the result of an international convention.

In addition, the league at all times has under its jurisdiction, at least from a budgetary standpoint, the International Labor bureau at Geneva, and the International court at the Hague.

However, the real problem which the league is now facing, was only created when France succeeded in inducing the league assembly to authorize the creating at Paris, at the expense of France but under the control of the league, of the Institute of International Intellectual co-operation.

Italy immediately demanded and secured authorization for the creation at Rome, under similar conditions of an International Institute for the Unification of Private Law.

Then came the creation at Singapore, in an effort to bring the league closer home to the far east countries, of a bureau to broadcast warnings regarding epidemics. Then Italy asked for authorization to create at Rome, at her expense, but under the control of the league, an International Cinematographic institute.

Finally, in the league's effort to establish closer relations and contact with Latin-America, proposals were submitted for the creation in Argentina, Brazil and other Latin-American countries, of study centers, under the control of the league, for the promotion of public health.

Still other possibilities pending are the creation of an epidemiological bureau in eastern Africa, and a sleeping sickness institute in the center of Africa. It is also considered probable that the league's recent decision to co-operate with the public health authorities in a number of the Pacific island countries will entail the creation of some form of an institute there.

Italy is also desirous of having some concrete expression of her relations with the league in the creation there of some form of public health institute, with the result that the league is now obliged to face the problem of world-wide expansion and organization in this respect.

CHURCH SCANDAL HAS AN ECHO IN CHICAGO

By United Press.

CHICAGO.—The Scandinavian nation's greatest church scandal—trial of Rev. Anton Bast, bishop over Norway, Sweden and Denmark, on charges of fraudulently converting charity funds—will be aired in America for the first time here soon when the $50,000 libel suit of the Rev. John P. Ingerslew comes up in superior court. He was called "a Judas Iscariot" by a church publication when the controversy was at its height.

The Rev. Bast was convicted of fraudulently converting $47,684 of charity funds to his own use. He was sentenced to three months in jail and suspended from the church. The case aroused tremendous interest in the Scandinavian countries as Bast was the first pastor ever found guilty of a crime in any of the nations involved.

Rev. Ingerslew, accuser of Bishop Bast, was denounced as a "Judas Iscariot" in a letter published in the Evangelisk Tidende, Methodist organ in Denmark. He filed suit for $50,000 against the Methodist Book concern, publishers of the organ, alleging the letter was of a libelous and insinuating character.

Federal Judge George A. Carpenter dismissed the action here for want of jurisdiction. It was then brought in superior court where arguments on petition for general demurrer will be heard soon.

The Methodist Book concern, in its demurrer, asserts Ingerslew's interpretation of the article in question was unwarranted.

WASHINGTON.—It may be true, as Secretary of Labor Davis believes, that current estimates of unemployment are exaggerated. But his comment on estimates that 4,000,000 persons are out of work has emphasized the absence of any agency which kept accurate track of the facts. Such facts and figures as are available furnish little nourishment for those who agree with President Coolidge's assertion in his message to Congress last December that "employment is plentiful."

In round numbers, the 1920 census showed 40,000,000 American engaged in gainful occupations. There were 10,000,000 employers and self-employed, including 8,000,000 farmers; 26,000,000 wage earners and 4,000,000 salaried workers.

The employe class included 2,700,000 farm workers, 1,000,000 miners, 12,000,000 manufacturing workers, 2,500,000 building trades workers, 3,000,000 clerical workers and 3,000,000 transportation workers.

Now to take up the available facts for these various classes. The bureau of labor statistics, part of the department of labor, has compiled since 1923, a monthly index showing the percentage of employment which uses the average employment for 1923 as 100 per cent. It is based on payroll reports from 11,000 industrial establishments employing some 3,000,000 workers.

It has been said that this omits many smaller factories which have been hardest hit, but let that pass and assume that the average for these holds good everywhere and—for want of actual figures—that there were still 12,000,000 manufacturing employes in 1923.

The percentage of manufacturing employment in the last month of 1927, as compared with the 1923 average, was 85.1. This would mean, discounting the 1920-23 drop in employment, that some 1,800,000 jobs occupied by manufacturing workers in 1923 were not occupied the first of this year.

Assuming that there were only 10,000,000 such workers in 1923, some 580,000 factory workers had lost or left their jobs since December, 1926, when the percentage was 90.9. Eleven of twelve groups surveyed showed decreases for 1927.

Farmers and farm laborers who left the farms in 1927 and years just before can't be accurately estimated, but Secretary of Agriculture Jardine estimates that more than 3,000,000 persons have left the farms since 1920, many to be thrown on the labor market. A total of 1,749,439 persons earning livings on farms left the farms between 1910 and 1920 and if the same ratio continued some 1,225,000 have departed in the last seven years.

As for mining, a surplus of metal-mining workers was general in the west as late as January. About 160,000 bituminous coal miners are on strike and 15,000 anthracite miners are said to be idle. A surplus of miners has existed for years.

One of the most important things to remember about unemployment, however, is that an accurate estimate of it is impossible. Even in most prosperous times, labor department officials say about 1,000,000 are jobless.

Meanwhile, Director Francis I. Jones of the U. S. Employment Service reports an improvement. Common unskilled labor, especially hard hit by labor-saving devices, will find many more jobs with good weather. January showed "a large surplus of labor apparent throughout the country." Employment increased in some lines and decreased in others.

Early reports covering February indicate marked improvements in the automobile and iron and steel industries and an increase of building with milder weather.

DIVORCEES' SCHOOL PLANNED BY JUDGE

By United Press.

NEW ORLEANS.—A school for divorcees, to be maintained by ex-husbands, may be the outgrowth of a plan recently outlined here by juvenile court judge J. H. Nix.

The judge plans to educate alimony collectors and prepare them to earn their own livelihood and thus relieve their former spouses of the troublesome habit of making weekly or monthly remittances.

Judge Nix, has already started his plans working, but he hopes to elaborate on them and extend his educational idea as fast as possible.

"Whenever we find it advisable for a wife, who has no children, and who is able bodied, to go to work," he said, "we get the husband to give her enough money to go to school to learn some profession. Some wives learn to be typists, some stenographers, and some other trades. When they start to earning money, then, of course, the alimony payments by the husband stops. It's a good idea, I believe, and has worked out all right."

There is nothing compulsory about Judge Nix's plan and if a wife chooses to keep hubby paying and paying that's her privilege.

ABANDON INDIAN RIGHT.

CAVEAT EMPTOR

A few years ago "Let the buyer beware" was not so far from being the motto of American business. If a man set out to buy a razor he might get a very excellent one—and, again, he might not. There were some very fine products. And some very poor. And there was no way of choosing the good from the bad, except by test.

Today that condition hardly exists. In every line of merchandise there are trade-marked, standardized products. Products that are unvarying in quality and performance—that can be depended upon year in and year out. When you buy them you know what they are, what they'll do, and what they cost. . . . They're advertised products!

To take full advantage of this—to protect yourself—to SAVE MONEY—watch the advertisements! When you need anything turn to the advertising columns of this paper. Read about the things listed there. When you find the article you need, but it—not haphazardly, but by name!

CHAPTER XXII
"Stop! Stop! Don't torture me so," Vance pleaded. "I know I'm insane. Been given to hallucinations since birth; but—Merciful Heaven!—I've never before had one as crazy as this."
"On that point at least, my dear Vance, we are in complete and harmonious agreement," smiled Markham.
Just then Swacker came in and handed Markham a letter.
"Brought by messenger, and marked 'immediate,'" he explained.
The letter, written on heavy engraved stationery, was from Doctor Lindquist, and explained that because of our visit, together with the apparently hostile nature of Markham's questions, had completely upset him. He was more than sorry for his outburst, he said, and stood ready to assist in any way he could.
It was unfortunate for all concerned, he added; that he had lost his temper, for it would have been a simple matter for him to explain away Monday night.
"He has thought the situation over calmly," said Vance, "and hereby offers you a neat little alibi which, I think, you will have difficulty in shaking. An artful beggar—like all these unbalanced pseudo-psychiatrists. Observe: he was with a patient. To be sure! What patient? Why, one too ill to be questioned. There, you are. A cul-de-sac mesquingering as an alibi. Not bad, what?"
"It doesn't interest me overmuch," Markham put the letter away. "That pompous professional ass could never have got into the Odell apartment without having been seen; and I can't picture him sneaking in by devious means." He reached for some papers. "And now, if you don't object, I'll make an effort to earn my $15,000 salary."

But Vance, instead of making a move to go, sauntered to the table and opened a telephone directory.
"Permit me a suggestion, Markham," he said, after a moment's search. "Put off your daily grind for a bit, and let's hold polite converse with Mr. Louis Mannix. You know, he's the only presumptive swain of the inconstant Margaret, so far mentioned, who hasn't been given an audience. I hanker to gaze upon him and hearken to his rune. He'd make the family circle complete, so to speak. He still holds forth in Maiden Lane, I see; and it wouldn't take long to fetch him here."
Markham had swung half round in his chair at the mention of Mannix's name. He started to protest, but he knew from experience that Vance's suggestions were not the results of idle whims; and he was silent for several moments weighing the matter. With practically every other avenue of inquiry closed for the moment I think the idea of questioning Mannix rather appealed to him.
"All right," he consented, ringing for Swacker; "though I don't see how he can help. According to Heath, the Odell girl gave him his leave a year ago."
"He may still have hay on his horns, or like Hotspur, be drunk with cholera. You can't tell," Vance, resumed his chair. "With such a name, he'd bear investigation in so facto."
Markham sent Swacker for Tracy, and when the latter arrived, he was beaming; he was given instructions to take the district attorney's car and bring Mannix to the office.
"Get a subpoena," said Markham, "and use it if necessary."
Half an hour or so later Tracy returned.
"Mr. Mannix made no difficulty about coming," he reported. "Was quite agreeable, in fact. He's in the waiting-room now."
Tracy was dismissed, and Mannix was ushered in.
He was a large man, and he walked with the forced elasticity of gait which epitomizes the silent struggle of incipiently corpulent middle age to deny the noxious of the years and cling to the semblance of youth.
He carried a slender wadded cane, and his checkered suit, braided waistcoat, pearl-gray gaiters, and gaily ribboned Homburg hat gave him an almost foppish appearance. But these various indications of sportiveness were at once forgotten when one inspected his features. His small eyes were bright and crafty; his nose was bibative, and appeared disproportionately small above his thick sensual lips and prognathous jaw.
There was an oiliness and shrewdness in the man's manner which were at once repulsive and arresting.
At a gesture from Markham he sat down on the edge of a chair, placing a podgy hand on each knee. His attitude was one of alert suspicion.
"Mr. Mannix," said Markham, an engaging note of apology in his voice. "I am sorry to have discommoded you; but the matter in hand is both serious and urgent. A Miss Odell was murdered night before last, and in the course of our inquiries we learned that you had at one time known her quite well. It occurred to me that you might be in possession of some facts about her that would assist us in our investigation."
A smile meant to be genial parted the man's heavy lips.
"Sure, I knew the Canary—a long time ago, y' understand." He permitted himself a sigh. "A fine high-class girl, if I do say so. A good looker and a good dresser. Too damn bad she didn't go on with the show business. But"—he made a repudiative motion with his hand—"I haven't seen the lady, y' understand, for over a year—no't to speak to, if you know what I mean."
Mannix was clearly on his guard and his heady little eyes did not once leave the district attorney's face.

Odell's relations with a Doctor Ambriggs? Lindquist?
Mannix was now obviously perplexed.
"Never heard of him—no, never. She didn't know him when I was taking her around."
"Whom else besides Cleaver did she know well?"
Mannix shook his head ponderously.
"Now, that I couldn't say—positively I couldn't say. Seen her with this man and that, same as everybody saw her; but who they were I don't know—absolutely."
"Ever hear of Tony Skeel?" Markham quickly leaned over and met the other's gaze inquiringly.
Once more Mannix hesitated, and his eyes glittered calculatingly.
"Well, now that you ask me, I believe I did hear of the fellow. But I couldn't swear to it, y' understand. What makes you think I heard of this Skeel fellow?"

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE
By S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR OF THE BENSON MURDER CASE
THE STORY THUS FAR
The jewel case had been opened with a steel chisel after being battered with a poker. And this puzzled Vance when it is found near the strangled body of Margaret Odell. It makes him think two men were in the apartment, the murderer unaware of the man hiding in a clothes closet. Finger prints lead to Skeel's arrest, after Cleaver and Dr. Lindquist have been questioned. Vance indicates he believes Skeel was hiding in the closet, and Markham ridicules the theory.
CHAPTER XXII
"Stop! Stop! Don't torture me so," Vance pleaded. "I know I'm insane. Been given to hallucinations since birth; but—Merciful Heaven!—I've never before had one as crazy as this."
"On that point at least, my dear Vance, we are in complete and harmonious agreement," smiled Markham.
Just then Swacker came in and handed Markham a letter.
"Brought by messenger, and marked 'immediate,'" he explained.
The letter, written on heavy engraved stationery, was from Doctor Lindquist, and explained that because of our visit, together with the apparently hostile nature of Markham's questions, had completely upset him. He was more than sorry for his outburst, he said, and stood ready to assist in any way he could.
It was unfortunate for all concerned, he added; that he had lost his temper, for it would have been a simple matter for him to explain away Monday night.
"He has thought the situation over calmly," said Vance, "and hereby offers you a neat little alibi which, I think, you will have difficulty in shaking. An artful beggar—like all these unbalanced pseudo-psychiatrists. Observe: he was with a patient. To be sure! What patient? Why, one too ill to be questioned. There, you are. A cul-de-sac mesquingering as an alibi. Not bad, what?"
"It doesn't interest me overmuch," Markham put the letter away. "That pompous professional ass could never have got into the Odell apartment without having been seen; and I can't picture him sneaking in by devious means." He reached for some papers. "And now, if you don't ob-

successfully treated from within
SKILLED physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system.
This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.
You owe it to yourself and friends to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build rich, red blood—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.
In building rich, red blood cells, S.S.S. improves the processes by which the body is nourished.
"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples, and was also bothered with a breaking-out that ticked terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S., which I did. This is some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy."—Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Pioneering Robins—First of Season Succumb to Lure of Juniper Juice

By GEORGE D. CRISSEY, United Press Staff Correspondent, PORTLAND, Ore., March 1.—No one shot Cook Robin.

That isn't the cause of his limp. The poor fellow has the gout.

Such is the explanation of naturalists who reside in the wonderful Central Oregon country where the plains are high, the air clear, and where there are sufficient juniper berries to give the Pacific ocean a tasty gin-tainted flavor.

Briefly, the first Robin of spring—as well as hundreds of others to follow—this year fell victims to the cup that cheers and bears. They are addicts to juniper berries, and everyone knows that the juice of the juniper berry is part of the potent factor of gin.

Following the example of certain of their human brothers, the Robins love the tasty berry and have gone in for night club life habits for fair. This spring thousands of them feasted on the juniper berries in abundance and without reason.

All those who are immoderate pay and pay—be they female or otherwise.

For the most part, this exhibition of uncontrolled appetite had fatal results. The Robins passed away, presumably from gout, after overly-hearty indulgence in such rich fare. Reports, however, that the malady referred to as the DT's—but known as "the snakes" in certain circles—caused the fatalities, are indignantly denied by those favored by being in on the know.

There seems to be no cure for the Robin who forms a taste for the juniper berry. Like the toper who was the hero of "Ten Nights in a Barroom," or 10 barrooms in a night—the Robin returns to his natural bar again and again. At last the rich fare is too much and the white charger of death plunges up to little Robin Red Breast's door.

And what to do? That is the worry of central Oregonians, judging from reports from Bend and thereabouts. They want the Robins and, of course, the old high and dry plains of the Central Oregon range land—with the sweet-flavored juniper trees on one side and the odor of the pines on the other—would not seem like home were any part of it omitted.

Suggestions have been put forth to encourage the W. C. T. U. and other organizations to send literature to the Robins. Either that or some day the Volstead act must be amended so that it defies the spirit of the song "The Wearin' of the Green" and forbid the "blades of grass from growing as they grow" by prohibiting Mother Nature to permit junipers to give forth berries which so contaminate the morals of Robin Red Breast.

Built at a cost of $100,000 for an attempt to break the world's automobile speed record at Daytona Beach in Florida, Capt. Malcolm Campbell, a British racer, claims the car is capable of 220 miles an hour. It is equipped with a 900-horsepower motor.
