Bishop Scores First Run In A's Victory

Max Bishop, lead-off man and second baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics, is shown in this Associated Press telephoto as he scored in the first inning of the fourth game of the world series, in which the A's defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 3 to 0. Bishop singled to start the game, advanced on Haas' sacrifice and Cochrane's infield out, and tallied on Simmons' double.

Two weeks more of waiting for higher crude oil prices in Texas and Oklahoma is about as long as the public is going to stand, or at least the people ought to get something started—in a wise and orderly manner.

Gov. Murray's shutdown in Oklahoma has not produced the $1 per barrel he said he would have to get before he'd allow wells to be opened.

The gasoline market, according to the most reliable sources of information, has become strengthened within the past week. Refiners have joined producers in curtailing output.

Unsteadiness of the gasoline market has been the principal excuse by purchasers for failure to raise crude prices since the flush pools of Texas and Oklahoma were brought under control.

Now that the market is improving that excuse is weakened.

West Texas is going to rise up one of these days and find out why there is such a difference in the prices posted out here and in East Texas.

There are some factors that naturally tend to keep the West Texas price a little lower. But the difference now is unjust and unwarranted.

Give producers out here 50 to 75 cents per barrel instead of 35 cents and they can make some money. They cannot make any under existing conditions.

West Texas has been obedient and sensible on all questions of production control. Operators out here, with the exception of some in Winkler several years ago, have cooperated with all movements to prevent waste, both actual and economic.

Give producers a price on which they can show a profit, making possible larger royalty checks to thousands of citizens and larger payrolls in all fields and you will materially replenish the life blood of business.

Supply of crude in this country is not out of line now. Demand for gasoline is good. The market is steadier. Why the delay?

It begins to look like a lot of independents have been gloriously double-crossed.

State Drilling Law Is Considered Sole Hope Of Preventing Special Session and Additional Tax Bills

By RAYMOND BROOKS
AUSTIN, Oct. 8 (UP)—One hope remained that the legislature will not be forced back into session in January to pass tax laws.
This was that oil will bring the state enough money to avert the new tax levies at least until the regular session in 1933.
Comments of Gov. Ross Sterling implied this prospect is brighter, in the promise of the East Texas field to put considerable money into the treasury under the new state law.
Gov. Sterling said it is possible to get half a million dollars before the law becomes operative in January. Tentative efforts of oil companies indicate that state can make honor agreements by which it will get $500,000 covering operations between now and Jan. 1. At that rate, the state would be able to develop the state legally can develop them, promise all the way up to Sen. George C. Purif's sanguine estimate of $10,000,000.
Much of this will be quick revenue. The state, under the new law, has power to accept a flat sum for all its oil under the East Texas river in advance of production. Production could drain the entire strip in a year.
A $10,000,000 income from the riverbeds not only would meet the deficit and repay the loan from the highway fund, but would enable the state next year to cut its rate to the 68-cent limit fixed by a new law, and still stay on cash during 1932. The part going into the school fund would benefit the general revenue, just the same, by avoiding the regular demand for a $5,000,000 rural aid appropriation every two years.
There are two sides to the tax question—one of raising new revenue from new sources; the other of cutting down the costs so as to prevent the need for more, or in time to relieve the requirement of some present taxes.
To the "other side" Sen. J. J. Loy of Sherman has given much study. He has voted for the special levies, but he has served notice that in future, the levy of new taxes, to get his vote, must be accompanied by the reduction of costs. Some of the economy so much talked about has got to come to pass, he insists. He is favorable to shifting part of the property levy to special sources and special privileges.

300 CLAIM OLD FORTUNE
Three hundred descendants of Robert Hobbs, an Australian pioneer, are claiming their share of the fortune which he left 101 years ago. The claims were inspired by the finding recently of Hobbs' will in the office of an old firm of attorneys in Sydney, N. S. W. According to records Hobbs, a member of a wealthy silk weaving family, was sent to Botany Bay for a minor offense about 1790. On gaining his freedom he obtained a grant of 60 acres of land in the Windsor district of New South Wales. He died in 1830 and left the will which has been found. The principal difficulty in the way of proving it was the fact that it is only signed with a mark. Hobbs' hand being so crippled with rheumatism that he was unable to write his full name. Moreover, the witnesses have since died. The Probate Court has granted an application of the public trustee for letters of administration regarding the will.

Currie, Addressing Luncheon Club, Emphasizes Importance To Howard County of Glasscock No. 9 Strip

T. S. Currie was the principal speaker at the Business Men's Luncheon club at its regular meeting Wednesday. M. H. Morrison had charge of a program which dealt mainly with the road situation in Howard and Glasscock counties.

"It is to the advantage of Big Spring and all of Howard county that we do everything possible to help secure the right of way through Glasscock county from the Sterling county line to Howard county on No. 9 highway," Mr. Currie said this morning.

The state has promised to build the road through Glasscock county if the right of way is secured, without cost to the taxpayers.

"The completion of this strip of road would certainly lend impetus to a movement in Howard county for an election to vote bonds to finish the unimproved part of the road in this county," C. T. Watson, Chamber of Commerce, said.

A committee is working on the problem of securing the right of way at the present time, and progress along this line is very satisfactory, it was reported today. Several of the property owners have agreed to give the right of way and there is little doubt but that the others will fall in line, those in charge of the work said.

The movement on foot, now to improve the road from Robert Lee in Coke county to Colorado would, if carried through, deflect a large part of the traffic now coming through Big Spring unless highway No. 9 is improved from the Glasscock county line, it was indicated.

McKee, Sentenced In Dawson Killing, Must Go To Chair
AUSTIN, Oct. 8 (UP)—The application of Ira McKee for a rehearing by the court of criminal appeals, in an effort to avoid a death penalty verdict in Dawson county, was overruled by the court at its first sitting of the new term here today.

McKee was convicted of killing W. R. Billingsley on May 1, 1930. Billingsley was shot to death when he attempted to stop the robbery of a filling station across the street from his store in Sparenberg. McKee was arrested after a 23-day chase over the state.

Brought to trial in Lamesa, he pleaded guilty and based his defense on insanity and self-defense. He was convicted on June 23, 1930 and sentenced to death.

Mrs. Emma Hayhall, who testified she was McKee's unwilling companion at the time of the hold-up and the shooting, was the state's chief witness in the trial. She was arrested in Ranger ten days after the shooting as she sat in an automobile in front of a vacant house. McKee escaped in a gun battle with a Ranger policeman but was captured sometime later in East Texas.

16,284,000 Prediction Of '31 Production

New York December Closes 7 Points Above Figure Of Wednesday

Opening 8 to 10 points under the previous close and breaking 18 points immediately after announcement of the government's production estimate of 16,284,000 bales, New York futures closed at 5.79-80, 31 to 32 points above today's low, and 7 points above Wednesday's close.

It was indicated that the government's report of today, which showed 5,408,307 bales ginned to October 1, and the steady decline of the past week had the effect of minimizing the crop estimate, which was 599,000 bales above September estimate and 2,352,500 bales more than the total of last year's crop.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (UP)—The Department of Agriculture today announced cotton production indicated as of October 1 as 16,284,000 bales as compared with 15,685,000 bales as compared with 15,685,000 bales a month ago and 13,922,000 ginned last year.

The crop condition on October 1 was 69.2 per cent of normal, compared with 68 per cent a month ago and 53.3 per cent for the ten-year October first average.

The yield was estimated at 190.5 pounds per acre as compared with 147.7 pounds last year and 134.4 pounds for the ten-year average. Texas condition was 63 per cent. Estimated crop in Texas is 3,100,000 bales. The census bureau announced that 5,408,307 bales had been ginned before October 1, as compared with 6,303,896 ginned at the date last year. Texas ginnings totaled 2,369,319.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (UP)—The cotton market showed little reaction after the increased governmental production estimate. Selling immediately after the issuance caused an additional 11 point loss to the earlier decline of 10 to 14 points. A rally followed on the trade buying, bringing the noon prices within 5 to 10 points of yesterday's close. The New Orleans market acted similarly.

Suit To End Oil Shutdown Is Withdrawn

Murray's Paper Threatens State Refiners, Filling Stations

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 8 (AP)—Frank Russell, oil operator, today asked the federal court to dismiss the suit he had previously filed asking an injunction against the enforcement of Governor William H. Murray's martial law shutdown of the oil fields. The court had delayed a ruling. No reason for asking the dismissal was given, but it was assumed that other operators had persuaded Russell to desist, hoping that Murray would soon take some action to reopen the fields.

Governor Murray's weekly newspaper today threatened to establish state refineries and filling stations unless operators quit appealing to federal courts.

Gambling Houses In Matamoros Closed By Lack of Business

BROWNVILLE, Texas, Oct. 8 (UP).—Gambling concession holders in Matamoros today said the games were closed last night because of lack of business and not because of any new ruling by Mexican officials.

It is planned to operate the games only on the week-end until tourists become more daring with their money. Closing by the United States of the international bridges at 9 p. m. and a falling off in patronage caused the Reynosa games to close several days ago.

Reduced Fares Offered To Livestock Show

Railroad passenger fares to and from Kansas City for the American Royal Live Stock and Horse Show, will be made lower than ever this year, November 14-21.

The four factors, which combine in bringing about the seasonal concession in fares on a nation wide basis which have been announced by all rail lines, are the 33rd annual American Royal, the ninth annual Royal Conference of the Club boys and girls, the sixth annual National Congress of Vocational Agricultural High School students, and the fourth national convention of the "Future Farmers of America" organization.

An open rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip from practically all points west of the Mississippi river, from Wisconsin and Illinois, and from the south-eastern states, will be available to the public a few days preceding the opening of Royal activities, with a return limit extending over Thanksgiving Day.

From all the balance of the United States the rate will be one and one-half fare for the round trip on the "Identification Certificate Plan" with a return limit of 30 days.

Kansas and Missouri people will be privileged to ride for approximately one cent per mile on Monday and Tuesday respectively of the American Royal week—the occasions being Kansas Day on Monday and Missouri Day on Tuesday at the big exposition. A similar special coach rate also will apply from both Kansas and Missouri and from points in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Iowa for Dairy Day, which will be on Friday, November 20th.

Fine Stitches Mark The Old Quilts; Lovely Colors New Ones

The quilts on display yesterday morning at J.W. Fisher's department store were only a beginning to the show that is there today. The honor of being the oldest goes to a quilt made by Mrs. Wallace Riggs grandmother of Mrs. Mary R. Stewart. It is 90 years old.

It is a beautiful piece of quilting and is rivalled only by the intricate quilting on a bedspread made in 1865 by an aunt of C. D. Read.

As one of the visitors said, the quilts in the show were divided into two distinct classes: the old ones, distinctive for their fine, small, even stitches and the new ones, fascinating in their color combinations.

Among the lovely new ones, is a quilt made by La Verne Stewart, a 15-year-old high school girl. This is a rose pattern and one of the most attractive in the show.

The quilted bedspreads include one of pongee quilted with cool red thread and one of applique on a Nile green commercially quilted pad.

Quilts were still being entered this morning. A stream of visitors have poured into the store all day to see the quilts.

The quilt winning the most votes by Saturday night will be displayed in the show window over Sunday.

Current Events Club Appoints New Committees

The Current Event History Club of Big Spring high school met in its first regular monthly meeting at 4 o'clock on Tuesday in the high school auditorium.

The meeting was called to order by Erin Ely, club president, and was then turned over to Miss Clara Cox of the English department, who is sponsor of the program committee.

The following unique and interesting program on the social life of Texas was rendered:

Viola selections by Mr. Winslow accompanied by Mrs. Curley; talk by Mrs. Ramsay on "Social Life in Texas"; selections by Mrs. Lee Weather.

A short business meeting followed in which Ruth Williams was elected reporter for the year.

The following committees were also appointed:

Program—Sponsor, Miss Clara Cox; Trustee, Dorothy Dublin; Treasurer, Mrs. E. Thomas, W. A. Miller, Fox Stripling and H. F. Williams, who are in Austin attending the state W.C.T.U. convention took part yesterday in the election of state officers.

They helped return to office all the officers of the W.C.T.U. for the past year, re-electing the president, Mrs. Claude de Van Watts, by the largest majority in the past 10 years.

Other officers, re-elected were: Mrs. J. M. Ammerman, Ft. Worth, vice-president; Eula Twichell, Austin, financial secretary; Mrs. Fred Lawson, El Paso, recording secretary; Mrs. Frances Dean, Dallas, treasurer.

Today the delegates and visitors will attend a tea at the Governor's Mansion, at which Mrs. R. S. Sterling will be the hostess.

The meeting is concluded with today's program.

Yesterday Blank On Social Calendar; No Bridge Clubs Meet

Yesterday—Wednesday—was a most unusual Wednesday in the history of Big Spring. Not for its humidity nor its wetness but for something else. Not a single bridge club met.

In spite of the fact that Wednesday is THE bridge club day, not one of the eight bridge clubs whose regular meeting day is Wednesday convened. Everyone of them had a different reason, revivals, sick or absent hostesses, this that and the other. This is the first time in years such a thing has happened.

One would think that the Arno Art Club, which was scheduled to meet yesterday would have had, as a consequence, a fine attendance. But only three women went to that.

Attribute whatever reason you please for it, but yesterday was undeniably depression day for Big Spring's clubs.

There's No Schoolroom Air To Chic Co-Ed's Party Frocks

The college girl's clothes may be simple in the classroom, but there's nothing bookish about the sophisticated frocks that she wears to evening affairs. Sylvia Sidney (left) is shown wearing a sea-foam green chiffon and crystals. On the right, Helm designs a sleek black frock of glistening satin. A prin-cess silhouette and cap sleeves are features.

By DIANA MERWIN (Associated Press Fashion Editor) PARIS (AP)—Party frocks for the chic co-ed have an air of sleek sophistication.

While classroom clothes remain simple, the smartest frock which Paris designers have evolved for the college girl's sorority tea party is of black satin or romaine crepe, made along lines almost as worldly as her mother's.

There are long sleeved black satins designed with diagonal princess silhouettes and fine accordion pleated skirts incrustated on the diagonal.

There are black romaines with brilliant Persian embroidered belts and cuffs, and black crepes with tied fichu collars lined with brilliant crepes.

For the girl who wants a colored gown there are brown, wine red, bottle green and sapphire blue romaine frocks with tiny tuckings at the waistline and cascading flounces on the skirt.

Mrs. Hilliard, of Hiway, Made $64.65 Profit An Acre On Peas As Against $7 on Cotton

Dear Club Members: Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hilliard of Hiway cleared $171.65 on an acre of peas. Four hundred No. 3 cans and 220 No. 2s were filled for themselves and others. 630 pounds of dried peas have been saved for winter use and for sale. The canned peas have a value of $16 and the dried peas $31.50, making a total of $47.50. The seed cost 75 cents and the cans $23.30, making a total cost of $23.95. This makes a profit of $171.65 besides the ones used fresh during the time the peas were green. All of the neighbors gathered fresh ones from the patch when they wanted them, and enough to can 60 No. 3 cans were gathered by an unknown visitor.

This spot was a blow out spot in the cotton patch and had been cultivated as the rest of the patch until the middle of the summer. The patch had very little rainfall after it was planted.

In that vicinity an acre of cotton produces not more than 47 per acre, after ginning is paid, to the farmer who gathers his own crop and does not have to pay rent. Thus he made a profit of $64.65 over what he would have made if the cotton had not blown out.

Artella Minton, of Lomax Girls' club and Nellie Mae Robinson of Midway won trips to the girls' education campment at Dallas during the fair. These girls will leave Big Spring October 19 to be there during the 20, 21, and 22 and will return the 23rd. The T. & P. is giving them transportation and the fair association will furnish the girls' room and meals while they are there.

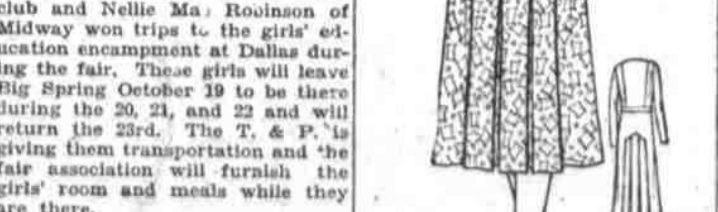

The above girls' first and second in their exhibits at the county fair. That included a display of all the work done during the year, with a complete record and history of the work.

Sincerely yours, LOUCHE ALLGOOD.

Mrs. Watts Has Poem In Fall Quarterly

Mrs. E. R. Watts has been included in the list of Indiana poets whose poems were chosen to appear in the fall quarterly issue of the Indiana Poetry Magazine.

The poem is entitled "Memories." Like the sound of soft, falling rain drops

Or the caress of a late spring breeze; Or the lazy drone in the summer Of honey laden bees

Like the air sweet with lilacs Or the rising moon when it falls I looked and beheld you, my darling, And my soul drank into yours.

Like the early frost in the autumn Or the birds as they leave for the south Like the wind-swept, lonely desert.

Or a haunted, deserted old house. Like the moon when it wanes in December Or dead leaves upon the dry lawn Like water half frozen at evening I looked, and beheld! you were gone.

Bill Dawes To Sing Over WFAA Tonight In Radio Contest

Tonight is the night when Bill Dawes will sing in the Atwater-Kent state audition over WFAA. The program is at 11 o'clock.

Although Bill primarily represents Amarillo, he belongs also to Big Spring, since no one else from this city is in the try-out.

The audition is to determine the most popular voice from the state to enter the national contest. The vote of the listeners count for 60 percent and that of the judges 40.

Listeners vote by sending a postcard to WFAA, Dallas, writing the number of the voice they liked the best in this contest and signing their names. Most of Bill's friends in town know his voice so well that they will have no trouble in locating it, even though no names are announced.

Protecting Our Criminals
THE New York detective who told the legislative investigating committee the other day that the police have been "protecting" a known murderer for five years may have provided a sensational item for the reading public, but his assertion was neither shocking nor incredible to any student of metropolitan affairs.

In all of the great cities of the land the tie-up between the underworld and politics is close. Influence of one kind and another keeps out of jail enough thugs to stock good-sized penitentiaries. The most notorious crook in town may be the man who enjoys the most influence with the law-enforcing machinery.

The dismaying thing, of course, is not this particular story about the protected murderer in New York;
it is the fact that the story could not come as a surprise to anyone familiar with American city life.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Mr. Sterling's Opportunity
IN his numerous sessions, regular, special and extraordinary, since January of last year the Texas legislature held forth to the people only one opportunity to lighten the burden of taxation. Many additional little—and not so little—special taxes were hung on the backs of the people, but only one genuine attempt was made to lower taxes.

That is contained in the Brooks bill, proposing to take one cent from the four-cent gasoline tax and use it to retire bonds voted by counties and road districts for the construction of state-designated highways.
Some of these paved roads were built by the counties or districts independently, and later on the state stepped in and took over about a hundred of them. They are not county roads any more; the counties have not the slightest control over them.
They are state roads. And yet the counties are continuing to pay for them.

The Brooks bill would lighten the taxpayers' burden to the extent of about $7,000,000 a year. That money, coming from one-fourth of the gasoline tax, would take over from counties and road districts—which is to say the taxpayers—the burden of taking care of the bonds used to build state roads.

In principle, the Brooks bill is precisely the same as the Sterling plan involving a statewide bond issue. The bonds are already voted, about $80,000,000 worth. Mr. Sterling rightly contends that it is the state's job, not the county or road district's, to build and maintain state highways. That is the germ of the Sterling plan.

Very well. Here is a chance for Mr. Sterling to get his plan into operation, by the mere writing of his name on the Brooks bill. It will be an impossibility for at least two, and maybe ten years, to put the original Sterling statewide bond issue over. If the Brooks bill goes into effect the same result sought by Mr. Sterling in his basic plan will be achieved—the lifting of the burden of highway building from the shoulders of the taxpayers.

Much is being said about the Brooks bill crippling the highway construction program. It should be kept in mind that the lion's share of funds used in that program will be necessarily come from the property taxpayers. For every mile of road so built the property taxpayers in county or road district must put up a hard-earned portion. That means still heavier taxes on the people. In many counties it will constitute an additional burden to that already borne under previous bond issues.

The Morning News believes that nothing is so important as just now as lifting some of the tax burden from the backs of the people. A connected system of state highways is much to be desired. No newspaper in Texas has supported good roads any more ardently than this newspaper. But we are convinced that highway construction on the present large scale is second in importance to the necessity of easing the taxpayer's burden.

It is to be hoped Governor Sterling does not stuff this his first real opportunity to be of service to the people of Texas. By a stroke of the pen he can relieve property taxpayers of Texas of a burden amounting to $7,000,000 a year. That, we believe, is about one-seventh of the cost of government in Texas.

And if he will only approve the Brooks bill, tens of thousands of brooding taxpayers will rise to give him thanks.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON — Even now, months before political convention time, one hears gossip in the capital as to what two men will be chosen by the parties to sound
the keynote in the 1932 campaign.

That it will be a super-man's job is admitted
by both democrats and republicans.
A key note
should be an Adom in appearance and a silver-tongued voice. He should deliver a masterpiece of diction which embodies the sense of achievement and promise, sounding phrases which are pleasing to the "extremes." And he must praise party performances as well as defend its delinquencies.

It is a large order, but before the steam rollers of the convention start to move, a man to meet these requirements must be found. The hunt now is on.

POTENTIAL KEYNOTERS
Among the democrats the names of Joe Robinson of Arkansas and Jack Garner of Texas are mentioned. Both are their party's leaders in congress and have fought the battle was the hardest.

When geographic equation comes into the selection, the names of Senator Bulkeley of Ohio is heard as well as that of Senator James Hammond Lewis of Illinois. There is also Senator Wagner of New York, author of unemployment relief legislation.

And there are a number of other potential keynoters for the democrats. Senator Barkley of Kentucky, Gov. George White of Ohio, former Governor Byrd of Virginia, former Secretary of War Baker, and Senator Walsh of Montana are among them.

Tydings of Maryland, chairman of the party's senatorial campaign committee in the last two campaigns, is a possibility, and then there are the two party whips in congress—Sheppard of Texas and McDuffie of Alabama.

Among the republicans Senator James Watson of Indiana stands out. He has fought the battles of the administration in dogged fashion. If party loyalty and service be the controlling factor in the selection, then Watson must be included.

HURLEY A POSSIBILITY
Then there's Patrick Hurley, secretary of war, sometimes described as "the fair-haired boy of the administration's inner circle." Ambassador Dawes might be called on,
and Young "Teddy" Roosevelt, regarded by some as a coming fixture of the republican party, is talked of.

Senator McNary of Oregon, an assistant leader of the senate, is another possibility. Senators Vandenberg of Michigan, who never tires of leading young "Turks" in the senate, also figures in the conversations.
The name of Calvin Coolidge is even mentioned. Certainly if the ex-president could be persuaded his presence as a keynoter might bring to the republican convention a harmonious note much to be desired.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by Dr. Lago of the New York Academy of Medicine

BEHIND THE SCENES
It is not impossible that before many years the precise cause or causes of the common cold will be definitely established and a specific cure or effective means for prevention made available.

It may be of interest, then, to get behind the scenes of some of the laboratories in which research on the common cold is being conducted.

Number 5397 of the proceedings of the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine is a report on the virus of the common cold, made by Dr. Dochez and co-workers. It is the contention of this group that the common cold in man is caused by a filtrable virus. The story of their experiments is as follows:
Secretions from the nose and throat of an individual suffering from a typical common cold were collected and passed through a filter.
The fluid which came through apparently contained a filtrable virus, for, when tested on chimpanzees and human volunteers, it produced typical colds.
Certain portions of the filtered material were kept for a time some at room, and others at ice box temperature.
The virus remained capable of producing colds even after being kept under these conditions for as long as 12 days.
The capacity of the virus to be cultivated in living tissue was subsequently tested. The living tissue

SAM
BY FREEMAN LINCOLN

SYNOPSIS: "Sam is in love with me," Freddy Munson tells Peak Abbott, Sam Sherrill's sister. This is news to Peak, who has hoped that Sam would learn to love him. Sam became engaged to Peak because of her family's financial difficulties, and to nullify the effect of her half-brother's marriage to their maid. She has been working on the Express, which Abbott owns, since her stepfather lost the family money. But it has been increasingly hard to control the family budget, and she has longed for the ease of her early life. She intended to marry Freddy Munson, but was prevented by her step-brother, Nelson's action. Freddy explains this situation to Abbott, and asks him to release Sam. Abbott replies that Sam might be happier with money than with love. "I'm asking you now," Freddy says, "whether you are going to let her stick to a decision that will wreck her life."

Chapter 15
GAMBLING ON HOPE
"I DON'T know, Munson, I honestly don't," Peak said. "I might of course, follow your suggestion. I might rush out to Sam, tell her that all is discovered, cast her from my life, and take the next boat for the far east."
"That would be the dramatic thing to do, but I'm not going to do it. It wouldn't help Sam a bit. He shook his head. "No, I'll admit that you've given me something to think about, and I'll promise to think about it. Beyond that I can't go."
"No?" Freddy inquired heatedly. "Then I can go further! I can take Sam with me to Kansas City!"
Peak looked at him. "Can you?"
Freddy shrugged. "No," he admitted bitterly. "As a matter of fact I telephoned Sam just before I came here and she would not talk to me. Said that she and I were through for good."
Peak said: "I'm sorry, Munson. I honestly am."

There was more talk but it came to nothing, and in the end Freddy went away.
So Sam was in love with Freddy Munson. That was the explanation Peak had been hunting for. She was in love with one man and engaged to be married to another. No wonder she was pale and so obviously unhappy.

Peak smiled grimly and tossed a pencil on the desk. "Well, Abbott," he remarked, half aloud, "there's your answer. And what a pretty little answer it turned out to be!"
Peak Abbott decided to say nothing to anybody about Freddy's brief but important visit to the city.
Sam's behavior in the days that followed was something of a revelation. It was obvious that she must have called upon much of her reserve courage in order to rebuff Freddy when he telephoned, and it was equally obvious that, having reserved the courage, she was equally capable of producing colds in experimental apes and in human volunteers in dilutions representing one twenty billionth part of the original material.
The scientists conclude, "We realize the difficulty of a final judgment concerning the successful cultivation of an invisible agent and simply present the facts as we have observed them."

Chapter 16
TRICKS OF THE TRADE
"I hate having to drag you into it," he confessed nervously, "but I don't see what else I can do. She buys a lot of books from me, and she has helped me in other ways."
"Of course," said Sam soothingly. "I'll probably enjoy myself thoroughly."

Fourth was grateful for Sam's sympathetic attitude in advance, but he was more than grateful for the way she treated Eugenie Frye when that lady finally put in her appearance at the stable.

In the beginning it seemed that things were certain to go badly. Eugenie, in an expensive but badly-chosen afternoon dress, was nervously and ill at ease.

Fourth discovered, was more than equal to the occasion. Before Fourth had time to realize exactly what was happening the two ladies were chattering across the tea table naturally and as animatedly as though they were friends of long standing.

Fourth marveled, gazing at Sam with a new respect. He was trem-ulously relieved and I was his cheerful voice self again.

"You didn't know that I was an inventor, did you?" he demanded suddenly of Eugenie.

"Why, no?" cried the widow. "Are you really an inventor? I'd love to hear about it."

Fourth needed no more encouragement, and he proceeded to set forth, in detail, the story of his electrical beauty breaker. He told the tragic conclusion in a minor key. Fourth had taken his invention to the leading manufacturers and one after another they had denied him recognition. They all admitted the undeniable excellence of the device, but they all, with illogical stubbornness, maintained that it would be impractical for the commercial field. Its complications of design would make its manufacture prohibitively expensive.

"All of which," Fourth informed the widow Frye solemnly, "was absolute nonsense! But what could I do? I did not have the capital to form a manufacturing company of my own. I could not get the capital. The result, Mrs. Frye, was that the best circuit breaker the world will ever see lies rotting on a shelf—all because of the lack of a few miserable dollars!"

Eugenie's thoughts were obvious. She listened intently to everything that fourth said, and when he had finished she asked a few pertinent questions. How much would it cost to manufacture these circuit breakers? For how much could they be sold? Would he mind showing her a model of the device?

Fourth was more than glad to oblige. He went to a cupboard in a corner of the room and brought to light the child of his brain. Then he set out upon a complicated explanation of its various points of superiority.

In the midst of it all there was an unfortunate interruption. Sam, who had wandered over to the front window, saw an automobile turn in at the stone gates and start up the drive.
The car stopped at the front door and Sam heard footsteps on the gravel.
The knob was turned and the door swung slowly open. Sam gasped.

Trouble comes through the door, in the next installment, Sam collects herself for a crisis.

Piker was hospitalized in the hospital two weeks and his case had been regarded as hopeless. After three days in the hospital he developed a case of hiccoughs which lasted four days.

AGREE TO SALARY CUTS
WICHITA FALLS, Texas, Oct. 8 (AP)—Teachers in the city schools have volunteered to accept a 10 per cent reduction in their salaries, Superintendent H. D. Fillers announced. The unusually large amount of unpaid taxes caused the action, Fillers said.

Remnants Of Southern Army Open Reunion

FORT WORTH, Oct. 8 (UP)—
Four hundred gray-haired veterans, nearly all of those now alive of the thousands who marched to the Civil War in Texas brigades, gathered here today for the 40th State Confederate Reunion.

As nearly all veterans are more than 80 years old, out of town visitors were fewer than at most previous reunions. Maj.-Gen. R. H. Chapman, commander of the trans-Mississippi department, led a party of 100 from Houston. Half that number came from the Confederate home at Austin in special coaches.

The Sons of Confederate Veterans met today with George Tabor, Oklahoma City, commander in chief; Edgar Scurry, Wichita Falls, past commander; and C. E. Gilbert, state commander, speaking. Formal sessions of the Veterans will begin tomorrow.

After a prayer for their comrades who sleep on "same's eternal camping ground," the grizzled old soldiers, many wearing their gray uniforms of '61, sat about hotel lobbies recalling triumphs of the Armies of the Confederacy.

"There is no malice today," said Tom Burton, 85, whose father was killed at Shiloh and who enlisted himself at 16.

"I enlisted when I was 16 and guess I can lick some of those old Yankees yet," said Sevier Pickett, 84, a cousin of the general who led the Confederate charge at Gettysburg.

Pickett is the only survivor of his company, a Speights battalion unit. He was in North Carolina when the war ended and with five companions walked all of the way to Rusk County, Texas, where his uncle lived.

"We lived on berries and parsnips corn and my pants were worn off way past the knees," he recalled.

Several called on Capt. Wm. Barr, 85, one of Stonewall Jackson's men who lives here but was too infirm to leave his home.

"Five days after Lee surrendered we captured 125 Yankees within 120 miles of Washington and couldn't believe the news," Barr told his visitors. "I can't understand yet why Lee surrendered!"

SOUTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

MINN WHITE COLLAR CUT
DENVER, Oct. 8 (INS)—Officials of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company has announced that salaries of 470 employees in the clerical and sales force would be slashed 10 per cent on Oct. 15. The action of the company followed by several weeks the voluntary cutting of the salaries of executives receiving more than $4,000 per year. The new cut will affect employees now receiving less than $4,000. The company has also reduced wages of coal miners, according to the same authority.

6 Reasons for having a Telephone

THE best reason for having a telephone, as one telephone user says, is not having one. Consider the many things it does:

1. Brings the grocery boy . . . when the weather is bad outside . . . when you've forgotten something . . . when you're tired.

2. Breaks the monotony of long afternoons, when you visit with friends and relatives.

3. Puts your name in the telephone book to direct friends to your home.

4. Gets the doctor quickly when there's illness in the family.

5. Tells out-of-town friends about the baby, about sickness, about having fried chicken when you drive up this week-end.

6. Tells police there's a burglar in the house . . . firemen there's a blaze in the basement.

What Shall I Give Them To Eat?

THREE meals a day—365 days in a year—what a lot of meals to plan—to cook—to serve!

And that isn't all of it. You have to buy food for those meals. Meat. Groceries. Vegetables. Fruits.

A big job! Not only does it take careful buying to keep within your food budget, but ingenuity to vary your menus so that they are nourishing, yet free from monotony.

However, you can simplify this feeding job by reading the advertisements that feature food products. In these times, food advertisements are most complete in information regarding the price of the product, its quality, its health value and its uses. Often the reading of the one advertisement can furnish you with ideas—not only for dinner tonight, but for your breakfast tomorrow, and luncheon the day after.

How often you say, "What shall I give them to eat?" Read the advertisements in The Herald and you'll find the answer.

Eagle Pass Sees Cattle Stampede As In Old Days

EAGLE PASS, Texas, Oct. 8 (AP)—One of the thrilling dramas of the Wild West was reenacted only three blocks from the business section of Eagle Pass a few days ago when nine hundred fat yearlings that were being taken to the stock pens became unmanageable and stampeded.

Tearing down fences, breaking small trees and trampling everything in their path, they raced in the direction of a deep ravine that runs through the Army Post land here.

When they reached the bank of the ravine they rushed headlong over the steep bluffs and piled three deep in the narrow confines below. Twenty-two of their number were left dead or dying when the wave of animals passed on.

The cattle stampeded just after they had crossed the international foot bridge and were being herded east down Garrison street. The smell of water in the Post ravine about three hundred yards away and the barking of several dogs is believed to have caused the runaway.

The bunch was part of a herd of 5,000 fine Hereford yearlings being shipped by Mexican ranchmen in the state of Durango, Mexico, to be kept on grass land near Uvalde and Crystal City, Texas.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 8 (AP)—Citizens of Electra have subscribed $50,000 capital stock and $12,500 reserve fund toward organizing a bank here to take over the assets of the First State Bank of Electra, which closed its doors on August 20. All the subscribers were depositors in the closed bank, which was the only one in a town of more than 5,000 people.

The Boy Friend Due A Break In El Paso

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 8 (AP)—The boy friend is due for a break. Cost of dates is coming down. It's on account of the depression.

Co-eds at the College of Mines and leaders of girls' organizations in El Paso high schools plan to eliminate taxis from their dances. They will allow the boys—they may even urge them—to substitute street cars or private automobiles, or will walk.

"We ought to help the boys during these times," said one girl. "I think all the girls will favor the plan."

"The boys don't have as much money to spend as they used to," said another. "The plan should be given a thorough trial even if some couples have to walk."

Isabel Abdou, president of the women's organization at the College of Mines, said co-eds at the University of Texas, of which the mine school is a branch, had adopted the plan.

Merchants Blamed For Check Losses

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 8 (AP)—Merchants are credited by police here with contributing to the professional forger's success.

Too often they accept pay checks on printed forms, cashiers' checks and certified drafts, believing they are authentic.

"Any check used in commerce," said Charles E. Matthews, police expert, "can be reproduced by a professional forger."

If a merchant would ask persons to leave questionable checks with him for an hour, Matthews said, many losses would be prevented, since the crooks seldom would return.

Cattle Farmers In Sympathy With U. S. Farm Board Policy

PADUCAH, Oct. 8 (AP)—At a mass meeting of Cottle county farmers held here recently resolutions endorsing the federal farm board and demanding that the agricultural marketing act be strengthened and maintained were unanimously adopted.

Paul Payne, field supervisor for the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, stated that those who three weeks ago would not ship cotton to the association's seasonal pool at an advance of $25 per bale with the chance of getting more later, are now forced to sell the same cotton for less than that amount.

This Age Deliberately Faithless, Declares Leader of Disciples

WICHITA, Kas., Oct. 8 (UP)—"This is a deliberately faithless age. Other ages have had their skeptics and atheist, but their contemporaries felt that they had to apologize for them. Today that is reversed. The atheist walks the land with a swagger while in every nation of the civilized world and one entire nation (Russia) have given themselves to the task of the elimination of God and these groups have the most passionate militancy of any in the world today."

This was the declaration of Rev. Lee Sadler, pastor of the University Park Christian Church, Indianapolis, Ind., in the outstanding address before a crowd of more than 4,000 persons in the Forum today at the international convention of Disciples of Christ.

"Morally I would not say that this is a new age. It is a pagan age. Such an age as has always preceded the break up of great civilizations," Rev. Sadler continued.

GOLD STANDARD'S FALL AIDS MEXICAN SILVER

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 7 (AP)—England's suspension of the gold quotation of her money to throw it up on the whims of the exchange market, so similar to the steps Mexico took last July has resulted in a renewed confidence in the silver peso and rebirth of hope that Mexico's crippled mining industry will come back.

Those who upheld Mexico's drastic monetary reform in the face of adverse criticism view England's decision as justification of their beliefs.

And now many who gasped when the Calles plan, withdrawing gold from circulation, was enacted, and who since have been slowly gaining confidence in it, have been almost completely won over by London developments.

Basic Principles Same
Experts here say that England and Mexico acted under the same urgent necessity of abandoning, at least temporarily, efforts to maintain the exchange value of their money on a gold basis, while facing constant depletion of gold stocks.

The immediate effect in each case has been identical—a sharp drop in exchange quotations of their money—but Mexico found that the drop was not nearly what pessimists predicted.

The Mexican silver peso lost only about 50 points as an outcome of the reform, apparently stabilizing itself at three to the dollar, as compared with 2.50 to the dollar quoted while gold was in circulation. It went down to four to one immediately after the reform, but soon recovered.

Moral support, advantages in international purchases and possible improvement in the silver mining situation are principal benefits expected by Mexico from the English decision.

A larger demand for bar silver would be a great boon to this country, the world's largest silver producer. Moreover, ability to pay for imported products in silver instead of gold, by purchasing in England instead of the United States, would do much to settle one of Mexico's gravest problems.

Silver Gains Strength

The immediate effect noted upon the average citizen is an increased confidence in silver money. He has less urge to convert his silver pesos into dollars and he senses pride in the belief that Mexico led in what may be a world movement toward a bi-metal basis.

As a result, he looks to a decrease in the cost of imported articles.

England's move brought a prompt improvement in the exchange rate of the peso against the dollar, sending the peso up 10 to 15 points.

This, however, is considered in financial circles to be largely a psychological effect. It is believed that the peso has found its true exchange ratio at three to the dollar and government steps to stabilize it at that figure are considered probable.

San Angelo is bidding for the proposed thirty-five thousand dollar fish hatchery to be located in West Texas by the federal government.

135-Pound Youth Picks 821 Pounds of Cotton

DEPART, Texas, Oct. 8 (AP)—All in the day's work, according to Stanley Hedrick, 19-year-old youth who recently picked 821 pounds of cotton in one day on the Carl Ladd farm three miles west of here. Hedrick weighs 135 pounds.

The cotton picked was of the Hurley-Rowden variety, which, according to Ladd, will produce one bale per acre with favorable conditions. Ladd has 100 acres in this variety.

SIAM ROYAL COUPLE'S TRAVEL LOG TO COLLEGE BOSTON (INS)

Two paper bound volumes printed in the Siamese language have been presented to the library of Boston University's college of administration by the King and Queen of Siam.

The books, dealing with the recent visit of the Siamese royal pair to this country, are illustrated with photographs of the King in his various uniforms and official dress.

The gift of the books was made to Dean Everett W. Lord by Mon Chom Asani Fong En Davakul, a young Siamese who received his degree three weeks ago from the Boston institution and who left immediately to rejoin the Siamese diplomatic corps.

BARTERING OPENS MINES CANON CITY, Colo. (INS)

A return to primitive methods of barter is credited with putting 122 miners to work in a coal mine near Canon City. The mine had been idle since April because of no orders. Mine operators hit upon the expedient of trading coal for wheat.

Farmers in western Kansas agreed to trade on the basis of 26 cents per bushel for the wheat and from $4 to $5.50 per ton for coal. Thousands of tons of coal have been ordered and the mine now has good prospects of remaining open through the winter.

ADD NATURE'S WONDERS LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (INS)

With one of nature's wonders as a background, a $75,000 pier is to be constructed at Emerald Bay along by "The Old Man of the Sea," the profile of a head measuring twenty feet. The curious carving has been etched by centuries of time on the face of a cliff on the rock coast here and gasses over the ocean in perpetual greeting to arriving vessels.

At Long Beach Herman Mos, formerly a sculptor in Russia, has created a man-made wonder by reproducing life size with sand on the beach Leonardo da Vinci's immortal "The Last Supper." Mos's carving tool was a pocketknife. The biblical scene is complete and consists of twelve figures with the Christ in the center of the group. Details are included even to plates, cups and bread on the table all molded from sand.

A Canyon, Texas, man produced a tomato plant this season ten by twelve feet in area from which he harvested two bushels of tomatoes. Careful culture, how to maintain, will make three tomato plants produce enough to supply the average family.

What has happened to the Mustang stock? This fan can't see the Ponies any higher than 3rd place in district 4.

Big Spring
San Angelo
Sweetwater
Midland
Colorado
McCamery

It should please the Wolves to know that at least one Big Spring fan rates them just a little above the cellar position. Personally we can't figure how a team will finish above the last position if it does not win a game.

Next week is the last chance to win the big prize. Send your suggestions in right away. No entries will be accepted after Oct. 16.

For the benefit of the undecided: Sweetwater has played 4 games. Winning 2 and losing 2. Colorado and Hamlin were subdued while Ranger and Abilene rode the Ponies to victory. Angelo has taken Ballinger, Big Lake and Eastland into camp. All three victories were impressive.

McCamery has had only one interesting game so far. The Pecon Eagles last Saturday held the Badgers to 14 points. The Eagles meanwhile marked up 6.

Colorado is still trying to win a game. While there is life there is hope.

Midland has won from Iran and Austin HI of El Paso. The first contest was a setup while the second fray found the Dogs on the long end of a 19-18.

The Steers have their goal line uncrossed in 4 games, and have scored 162 points.

How is this for an idea? Sweetwater—will win from all teams.

Big Spring—defeat everything except Mustangs.

San Angelo—Lose only to Steers and Mustangs.

Midland—Win from McCamery and Colorado.

Colorado—May win one next year.

It is no hard matter to pick the star of the present world series. The unanimous decision goes to Pepper Martin. The Red Bird center fielder has it. He has done everything in the series except umpire. The world's record for hits in a series was first set in '19 with 12 safeties in 7 games. It was tied again by Rice of Washington with a dozen bingles in 7 games. Martin has turned the trick in 5 games with a possible 2 games to go. Chances are 4-1 that Pepper will get his 13th bingle Friday.

It would surprise us none to see the city of St. Louis decided to the flashy fielder. Hallahan has been holding the A's down and Martin has been beating them. Without the Pepper in center the series would no doubt be over and the A's crowned as champions of the world for another year.

Army-Navy Game For Charity Arranged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (UP)—West Point and the Naval Academy have agreed to play a post season charity football game.

The tentative date has been set for November 12. Naval officials said that because gate receipts would be a primary object the game probably would be played at the Polo Grounds in New York City.

Wichita Falls Seeks Goodnight Buffaloes

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Oct. 8 (AP)—Efforts are being made here to secure the proposed state game preserve and secure the famous herd of Goodnight ranch buffalo.

Mayor Walter Nelson, Jr., is taking an active part in the movement.

Mayor Nelson is seeking to secure lands bordering the Diversion Lake or Lake Kemp for the preserve. Cattlemen declare the location is one of the most ideal in Texas and accessible from a number of paved highways. The proposed preserve would have one of its boundaries along the lake shore for several miles.

SOUTH'S GREAT STARS IN TULANE GRID LINEUP

Undefeated in the south for two seasons, Tulane is counting heavily on this trio to head another victory march this season in the Dixie conference. Most of the offense will hinge around Don Zimmerman, hailed as one of the south's greatest halfbacks. Nollie Felts, back, is a ground gainer of great ability, and Capt. Jerry Dalrymple has no peer in the south as an end.

Pepper Martin's Hard Throw Caused Switch From Infield To Outfield, Say Sam Sain, Who Played With Card Star

Sammy Sain of the T. & P. shops, who played Class D baseball for several years in the old West Texas loop and the East Texas and Lone Star leagues, has some interesting things to tell of Pepper Martin, the outstanding sensation of the current world series.

Martin played on the Greenville team in 1925 with Sain. It was the Pepper's first year in the professional ranks.

Some recollections of Martin by Sain:

The Cardinal sensation was playing second at the time and was just as big a star then in Class D as he is now with the National League champs, according to Sain. Sain was warned by the manager that Martin was liable to knock a man down with a ball at any time.

On a double play he would not toss the easily but would cut loose with all the steam he had, no matter how close he was to the base, Sain said.

Martin and Jimmy Kitts, coach of the national champion Athens basketball team, were stealing bases on every catcher in the league. Both men were fast and often stole second, third and home in a single game.

The nickname Pepper was given Martin because of a peculiar habit he had of talking and then entertaining the crowd with his yodeling abilities. "It was nothing to hear him break loose around second base or at the bat with an exhibition of yodeling that would have made Jimmy Rogers ashamed of himself," according to the local man.

Regardless of the weather Martin never wore a coat or a hat. He was never still long enough to get cold. On the road he would not take a bag but would wear his clothes as long as he felt like it and then go out and buy others.

He was moved from the infield to the outfield because he was so fast he often overran ground balls and, then, too, the other infielders were in constant danger of having a hand hurt by one of his bullet-like throws.

I remember seeing him pitch a game against Palestine and he worked just as hard in the box as he did when playing on the infield. He had a roundhouse curve and plenty steam. Nothing did him more good than to slip a fast one by some heavy hitter.

All-East Texas Products Dinner Is Set For Fair

LONGVIEW, Texas, Oct. 8 (AP)—One thousand East Texans and guests of East Texas will gather in a large three ring circus tent at the Texas State Fair Park in Dallas Saturday evening, October 17, to enjoy the second annual All East Texas Products Dinner sponsored by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Plans are practically complete. Food has been contributed from 45 counties. From Sherman flour to Galveston shrimp the long menu will include only East Texas products. An experienced caterer is already busy with preparing and serving it.

Texas To 'Shoot Works' At Harvard

Associated Press Sports Writer DALLAS, Oct. 8 (AP)—It is the consensus of the Texas Football wiseacres that the University of Texas Longhorns are centering all their attention on the Harvard game at Cambridge. Many fear that Texas, in an effort to beat Harvard, will literally shoot the works and pass up a wonderful chance to win the Southwest Conference championship.

There is, however, exceptions to this theory. Last week, Texas walloped Missouri 31 to 0. In milling around with students and players before the game there was little said about Missouri, Oklahoma or Harvard, three strong Texas opponents this season. Most of the football gossip concerned Rice Institute and Southern Methodist. Really, it is these two Southwest conference rivals that Texas is pinning for—not Harvard or Oklahoma, although the Longhorns hope to win these two games.

During the Texas-Missouri game, Texas supporters around the press box continually inquired about the S. M. U.-Simmons game in Dallas and Rice's game in Norman, Oklahoma. Between halves, Ernie Koy, Harlan Stafford and "Ox" Blanton, Texas stars, wanted to know how Rice and S. M. U. were going against their opponents.

One year ago, a superb Texas football machine prepared for a set-up game against Rice. The game developed into the season's biggest upset—a 19-0 victory for Rice. The Longhorns played on to win the Southwest conference championship, but they couldn't erase that 6 to 0 blot on their record. It was put there by a team Texas ranked as inferior, but which proved a touchdown better than the Longhorns.

Saturday, Texas will meet practically the same Rice team that defeated the Longhorns in 1930. But this time the Longhorns will be ready. They know Rice is powerful, and that Rice will stage a valiant fight. They know that Rice will invade Austin inspired and brimful of magnificent determination to win. But this time, Texas will be the same way, and that's why a classic is assured in Austin Saturday. Texas is after Rice and Southern Methodist—make no mistake about that.

The Texas A. & M. and University of Iowa game Saturday in Dallas will be the first Southwest inter-sectional game in which prices have been slashed. Prices of all tickets have been reduced by D. W. Carlton, business manager of Texas A. & M. athletics. In reducing prices, Carlton hopes to fill the huge Fair Park Stadium which seats forty-five thousand.

The University of Iowa will give the Aggies a severe test of football. This is not Iowa State at Ames which has had unsuccessful seasons the last few years. Instead, the Aggies' opponent Saturday is one of the more powerful of Big Ten conference teams, headed by Coach Ingwerson who is recognized as one of the leading coaches in the country.

The Iowa team will average from 195 to 300 pounds. This game will feature the opening day of the Texas State Fair.

Revised System Of Academic Freedom Favor For College

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 8 (AP)—A modified form of academic freedom for students, as contrasted with the broader one put into effect at the University of Chicago, is advocated for the College of Mines, a branch of the University of Texas, by its president, John G. Barry.

President Robert Hutchins of the University of Chicago recently told the school's freshman class it would be mentally on its own, free to cut classes and not liable to reprimand for failure to progress. Students who were not doing satisfactory work probably would be asked to withdraw at the end of two years.

Barry said he believed some supervision for freshmen just out of high school, for example, in planning courses and adapting themselves to college life, was desirable, but that it could be lessened gradually for upper classmen.

FOR MT. ANNE LINDBERGH DENVER, (INS)—"Lindbergh Peak" was the name given one of the rugged mountains in Colorado's picturesque Crater Lake region two years ago. Close by Lindbergh peak is another mountain which has defied the efforts of many hardy mountain climbers. Thus far only five men have been to its summit. Two of these now suggest that it be named Anne Morrow Lindbergh peak, in honor of the famous aviator's wife. The suggestion is made by Kendall Axlund and Clifton Salvey, members of the University of Colorado faculty. The other men who have climbed the peak are Carl J. Erickson, Edmund Cooper and Aruth W. Beck, all of Denver.

Fifty Leading Men of State To Be Called By Committee

By RAYMOND BROOKS
AUSTIN, Oct. 8.—The joint tax survey committee which has speeded up its preparation of bills for a tax program a Gov. Ross Sterling's request, will call in about 50 of the state's leading men for consultation on the entire field of taxation, then later open its hearings to all who wish to appear before it, members announced in a preliminary conference here.

Cone Johnson, highway commissioner; Clarence Wharton, attorney; Thomas B. Love, former senator and a former assistant secretary of the U. S. treasury; several insurance men and others will be included. John G. Willacy, acting state tax commissioner, has been asked to take part in all the sittings of the committee.

One of the bills to be studied by the committee is that written by Lieut. Gov. Edgar E. Witt while he was a state senator. It is a "reciprocal" income tax plan.

The bill would provide for continuing the state ad valorem levy for government purposes, the same as will be done in any event for Confederate pensions and county purposes. The state rate could be sharply lowered under it. It would introduce a flat income tax, with credits back against the income tax of all ad valorem taxes paid; and where the property levy exceeded the income tax, would credit the income payment against the higher total.

Not Double-Taxed
The effect would be that each payer would be liable for which ever amount would be the highest, but would not be double-taxed for the amount of either.

A majority of the tax survey committee is on record in favor of reporting back an income tax bill. Any bill written probably will follow the federal income tax, members said, in preventing double taxation of the earnings of a corporation. That is, those receiving dividends from a corporation paying income taxes would not have to pay a second levy on the earnings of the corporation received by them in the form of dividends.

"I think it safe," Rep. E. M. Barron, secretary of the committee, said, "that a reasonable bill can be reported out by the committee that will not increase the burden of taxation on any industry above the general level of the state. The only increases would be where some industry has been escaping in the past its just share of taxes."

"It is a well-known fact that unless some general taxing law is passed, the oil and surplus industries are in for increases on the production taxes they already pay. Representatives of these industries know that as well as members of the legislature."

Leveling Out
"It is probable that a leveling-out plan of taxation, to catch those who have not been paying a fair share of state taxes—such, in my opinion, as the big cotton factors—will therefore have the definite support of many branches of industry."

The plan for adopting an income tax law as the main but not yet the exclusive means of raising state

Road Building In West Texas Releases Cash

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 8. (UP)—Robust West Texas, young and proud of her strength, today has more road construction activity than perhaps any other section of the United States. Payrolls are being released each week-end to hundreds of men who are busy building bridges, putting up grades and building hard surfaced roadways.

In Sterling county, 19 miles of roads are being built from Sterling City to the Glasscock county line. A few weeks ago the county built a hard road from the Tom Green county line to Sterling City.

From Brownwood north to Rising Star ten miles of paving are under construction. Plans are now being prepared for paving all roads on the main highway through the county, amounting to 100 miles or more.

Twenty miles are being paved from Sonora to the Crockett county line. Plans are being prepared for the work and the money already has been voted.

Hallinger-Coleman
The 18 miles from Ballinger towards Coleman will be paved in the next few months, and the grades and drainage have been completed. The contract will be let within three months. The money is available. Eleven miles from Ballinger to the Concho county line are under construction. Highway 4 through the Runnels county, a distance of 23 miles, will be paved entirely.

A bond issue is to be voted for Payrolls are being released each week-end to hundreds of men who are busy building bridges, putting up grades and building hard surfaced roadways.

In Pecos county, 16 miles from Fort Stockton toward Sheffield is under way from the Upton county line to Big Lake, the county seat of Reagan, a distance of 17 miles, while the contract for an additional 17 miles to the Irion county line will be let in October.

Upton county has just completed five miles from the Crane county line to McCamey while 19 miles of paving is under way between McCamey and Rankin. From Rankin to the Reagan county line the drainage and grades and structures have been finished, paving plans have been prepared and an early letting is expected.

In Presidio county, two direct contracts have been let on the 70 miles of road from Marfa to Presidio, while the road from Marfa to Alpine will be paved.

In Jeff Davis county, a scenic mountain drive a mile high is to be built from Fort Davis into the famous X and Rockpile ranches, a distance of more than 70 miles.

Crane county has finished in recent months a hard-surfaced road through the county.

In Val Verde county, contracts have been awarded for several miles of construction in the Laney area, the home of Judge Roy Bean, "the law West of the Pecos."

YOUNG "FIRE TERROR" CAUGHT

Capture of Robert Etienne, a young artist, has ended the reign of terror which has gripped Dumas, Germany, for many months as the result of more than a dozen blasts which caused great property damage and threatened many lives. Etienne is said to have confessed that he started the blasts with a specially prepared cigarette, then would stand among the crowds watching the buildings burn, and a few days later would write anonymous letters regarding the fires. He declared that his only motive for starting the conflagrations was to take revenge on the world for teasing he had suffered from children and adults in his school days.

ALMANAC PREDICTS CRIME

Scotland Yard police are investigating the selling of almanacs containing the prediction of the death of Mrs. A. L. Kemper, elderly Oxford widow who was found stabbed in her home. Their description of the alleged murderer is said to tally with that of a man who appeared at Bicester a few days after the crime and sold "Old Moore's Almanacs" on the streets. One of the predictions in this year's almanac reads: "Crime will show a marked increase and several sensational murders will be reported, prominent among them being the murder of a wo-
