The Flowers revival services are not like those usually held. While the regular preaching program is carried on as usual there is a great effort being made simultaneously with the revival to help the church build up her forces in such a way as to conserve the results of the revival meeting.

A. J. FLOWERS, Sunday School Specialist.

The conservation program is put on and directed by A. J. Flowers, Sunday school specialist. It is the contention of the Flowers that if a revival meeting is to be conserved it will be done largely through the work of the Sunday school.

National Commander of American Legion Brings Good Cheer to "Buddies".

FORT WORTH, Sept. 4.—The Shenandoah disaster will not have a damaging effect on the future of the American air service, Col. James A. Drain, national commander of the American Legion, told the Texas veterans in session here today.

Commander Drain recounted some of the activities of the Legion. He mentioned in particular the work for the disabled veterans and the orphans of the war, for a better citizenship and a better preparation for it, against illiteracy, against revolutionary radicalism and extreme pacifism, for community betterment, for preparedness in keeping with the international situation and the responsibilities of the United States in the world for world peace and a world court.

BIBLE THOUGHT.
 God Is Gracious: Thou art a God ready to pardon, gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness.—Nehemiah 9:17.
 Prayer: We rejoice, O God, to know that like a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him.

JOURNALISTS.
 English journalism is mourning the loss of one of its greatest figures at a time when brilliant and forceful men are needed in editorial chairs. For 35 years Charles E. Montague has directed the editorial policy of the Manchester Guardian and has been one of the greatest forces in British politics and affairs.

This calls to mind the fact that it is very difficult to name the editors of half a dozen leading American journals. We may know the publishers or business managers but the editors, the directors in chief, have become nonentities, absorbed or suppressed by "syndicated" interests. In fact, it is asserted that many of them are not even American citizens, and never will be.

PAPER FORTUNES.
 Advices from Germany indicate that the Stinnes fortune, supposed to be almost incalculable, has disappeared. Stinnes, the elder, a great coal baron manufacturer, was the one man in Germany to see clearly that the paper mark would become valueless and that he must profit every time he exchanged it for some thing tangible. The more heavily a property was mortgaged the better he liked it because the mortgages were payable in paper marks. In this manner he built up a tremendous fortune—on paper. But with the depreciation of the mark and the virtual repudiation of all bonds and mortgages, public and private credit and liquid capital had disappeared. The great industrial structure was like an engine without fuel, and disintegration was inevitable.

Secretary Jardine, in various addresses, has expressed his opinion that the best way for the government to assist the farmers is through co-operative agencies in marketing their products. The farmers themselves fight shy of any such subject, and are averse to any of the legislation proclaiming a desire to assist them with loans, instead of securing for them a fair and adequate price for their products, payable directly to themselves, upon delivery of the goods.

WE LIVE BY EXAMPLE.
 The bulk of responsibility for law observance must come from the so-called respectable persons who unfortunately permit themselves to set aside a law because it interferes with their personal pleasure or convenience or their ideas about personal privilege. This laxity toward law enforcement is most apparent in the attempt to break up the illegal traffic in liquor. Too many individuals are actually conniving at law breaking by patronizing those who openly violate federal statutes solely for personal gain and they have come to think of such a practice as clever—that they are outwitting the government. The government can stand it but how about the effect on the masses? As a race we live by example.

As a remedy for bootleg immigration Washington authorities are considering a plan of issuing registration cards to all immigrants which must be shown when he applies for work. In case he is employed without a card it is proposed to impose a heavy penalty on the employer. While the scheme would unquestionably end border bootlegging of this type it would never be approved by employers—especially those who for 50 years past have believed in "cheap" labor.

SUNRISE DANCE.
 Plans for the Ranger Country club sunrise dance are nearly completed. The dance will begin at 12:05 o'clock Monday morning, Labor day, and last until sunrise. Invitations are now in the hands of the printers and will be posted soon. Admission will be by invitation only. "Don't bring Lulu unless you can show your card at the home, for positively there will be no one admitted who does not have the necessary pit of pasteboard. The early morning hours are the most comfortable part of the day for a dance. There will be a breeze from the lake. Moonlight. Perfect floors. All one's friends will be there. Refreshments. The harvest moon is just beginning to wax full and there will be ample time before sunrise for many moonlit dances.

CHEERFUL WORKERS.
 Mrs. W. H. Dyer entertained the Cheerful workers at her home in Hodges Oak park, Monday afternoon. A well balanced program was enjoyed, followed by a social hour, during which time refreshments were served. Mrs. C. C. Sigler read a paper on "Kindly Greetings," followed by another paper on "Socialization in the Church," by Mrs. John Pickett. Mrs. Dyer also gave a reading.

The meeting adjourned to meet Monday for an all-day quilting event, with Mrs. Wallace, on the Strawn road.

PERSONALS.
 C. C. Sigler left Thursday for a Dallas sanitarium, where he goes to have his eyes treated. He will be away for a week or 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Edgar have returned from Monroe, La., where they attended the funeral of Mr. Edgar's brother.

Some of the teachers for the various public schools are beginning to arrive. Misses Vestal, Baskin and Lula May are recent arrivals from Gorman. They all teach in the Young school.

Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Bollinger and children have returned from a few days visit to relatives in Breckenridge.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Plummer and daughter, Marie, of Breckenridge, visited Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Plummer Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Ross have returned from an auto trip through West Texas and New Mexico, going as far into that state as Clovis.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Plummer, who have been in Ranger the last two weeks, Mr. Plummer replacing Mr. Ross at the Standard Drug company while he was on a vacation, left today for their home in Breckenridge.

Mrs. A. L. Leake has returned from a visit to her sister, Mrs. W. B. Dane, in Fort Worth.

Full of work, it is true, but also full of results. Mrs. Leake has been away for some time helping her husband in his revival services and she comes home with a new vision of service which was so contagious that each member of the class caught her vision and joined with her, heart and soul, in the work planned for their class these coming months.

MRS. W. C. SMITH WITH HER SISTER IN BEREAVEMENT
 Mrs. W. C. Smith and her little daughter, of Ranger, are expected home early next week from Oklahoma City, where they have been for the last week at the home of Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. R. R. Hinkley, whose husband died at 6 o'clock p. m. Thursday, after an illness of about two weeks, according to a message received this morning.

Mr. Hinkley was sales manager in the southwest for the Iben Biscuit Co. He had lived in Oklahoma City the last 20 years and his work required occasional visits to Dallas, Fort Worth and Abilene. He had no children.

JUNIOR B. Y. F. PARTY
 The Junior B. Y. F. U. of the Central Baptist church had a social that savored very much of a party, Tuesday evening. At 8 o'clock about 25 little folks of the Junior B. Y. F. U. met at the church and from there were taken in cars specially provided for them, to the home of Mrs. C. V. Wheeler, in the Tee-Pee camp. Not a moment was lost in merry-making, as this hostess understands just what little folks are in her home. Miss Theola Strong, who is the leader, assisted Mrs. Wheeler in entertaining and serving. Parents of several of the children were also present to witness their enjoyment of the evening. Potted plants were used effectively in house decorations and the spacious lawn was electric lighted and provided with many comfortable seats. Cake and fruit punch were served to the following boys and girls: Jack Poe, Ruby Nell Poe, Marguerite White, Edwin White, Hermy Wheeler, C. V. Wheeler Jr., Edna Myers, Vera Hunt, Jack Wagner, Theo Wagner, Theo Stedman, Devco Strong, Francis McNeil, Joe McNeil, Dealva Shirley, Ella Mae Hamilton, Elizabeth Reid, Katherine Gunkle, Bobbie Powell, Leatrice Echols, Joy Leake.

Dr. W. R. Holloway of Center City, Arkansas, (and he doesn't laugh when he says it), who stopped off in Ranger over night to visit his old friend, Ben Reynolds, leaving on the Sunshine special for Pecos City yesterday. He is enamored with Texas but thinks it most awfully big.

Dick Elliott, Julius Krause and Jimmy Toland left yesterday for Fort Worth to show the legionnaires how to do things at their big meet in the Panther City.

The Ranger Gun club is preparing for its farewell shoot at which they promise to punish the pigeons, according to the head pigeon punisher. Another band concert is promised Rangerites a week from tonight. Bagmaster Underwood is taking his after-chicken fast, gettin' greedy for the event.

Rev. A. W. Hall told the Lions the other day how an eastern company had come into Texas and made millions manufacturing plaster board out of the much despised gypsum Texans thought only fit to contaminate their drinking water. The Ranger pastor is back from a visit to the plant of that company and was astounded at the way they have transformed a pest into a fortune.

It was Bobby Bates, who modestly admits he sells motor cars that will climb trees, who really started that fuss at the Lions' luncheon which is apt to end in fling fur on the Eastland diamond next Wednesday when Lion meets Lion in ferocious conflict. Bobby sort o' loafs around both dens, but will bare his talons for Ranger that day.

Mrs. G. W. Outlaw, now sojourning in Ranger, enjoys the anomalous distinction of having a home in two cities. Should the Times society columns report that Mrs. Outlaw of Sweetwater is visiting in Ranger, the Sweetwater visitors might, on her return to that city, report that Mrs.

Outlaw of Ranger is visiting in Sweetwater. And both would be right—and both wrong. Mrs. Outlaw is a poor at her Ranger home, spending a few weeks with her brother, C. D. Scott, as her guest.

James Davis, known as "Jim" in this neck of the woods, used to raise goats, but he hasn't been the goat and he hasn't been jimmied, either, since leaving Ranger—or before either, for that matter. Today, he passed through Ranger with his family on route to San Benito, his present home, from Plainview, where he has a farm, at both of which places he has struck the seasons exactly right this year and his crops in both are said to be real gold mines.

ARNOLD-SAGE WEDDING SURPRISE TO FRIENDS
 Miss Glenna Arnold, popular stenographer at the city hall, and Frank Sage of the engineering department of the Prairie Oil and Gas company, surprised their friends by having been married Thursday night in Cisco. Today they are in Ranger being showered with congratulations, good wishes and rice.

Miss Beulah Bowles, superintendent of the Clinical hospital, and her sister, Mrs. Rex Outlaw, are spending the week-end in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Dilks, accompanied by Mrs. Dilks' mother, are attending the American Legion reunion in Fort Worth, this week.

Miss Anna Alderson has returned to Gainesville, where she will take up her duties as teacher in the public school, having spent a part of the summer here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Alderson.

RANGER BOY MISSING FROM HOME SINCE TUESDAY
 Harvey Fox, 17-year-old son of Henry Fox, left his home in Ranger Tuesday night with $24 of his savings in his pocket and has not been since heard from. Save for reports that he was seen to board a westbound train, no trace has been found of the missing youth, in spite of the fact that the police of four cities are looking for him and his mother has gone to Cisco and Rising Star to make a personal search.

The American Federation of Teachers, affiliated with the Federation of Labor has started a campaign for higher salaries for school teachers, with a minimum of $2,000 a year, establishment of the five-hour class day, a year's leave of absence with some compensation every seven years, pensions, participation in school government by teachers and better school buildings.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By E. R. Waite, Secretary Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

Frederick D. Underwood, president of the Erie railroad company, says: "That there is a maxim to the effect that everyone should 'pull his weight in the boat.' Whoever fails puts greater burden on the others for, 'willy-nilly,' everyone is pulling and being pulled. The question is: Are we pulling a fair share? If not, why not? Are we willing to pull or are we expecting others to labor harder at the oar that we may labor less? Is the axiom that everyone should pull his weight possible in the operations of the world?"

That the remedy for our troubles is within reach, but so far has not been reached. They would be over where the so-called Golden Rule in universal operation. It is so simple and so obviously would bring relief that its general acceptance is well worth pulling for.

My opinion is that the point of beginning is in kindergartens, schools and all institutions of learning. Some children are taught nothing at home; some little more than that. When the Golden Rule is introduced as a fundamental feature into all educational institutions, it will be helpful. Family discipline and churches cannot be depended upon. Other needs in the home supplant the funda-mentals. The churches work one short day in seven and many people are not church-goers; but, in our universal school law, which enforces the attendance of every child, is the logical starting point for the plan. Catch them young. Drill them all alike. When one thinks what could be accomplished in this respect in a comparatively few years, it is impressive. Impress on children the wisdom of logical thinking, the unwisdom of emotional surmises, the difference between impulses and facts, and that eloquence is not always accurate.

MANY INSTRUMENTS FILED WITH COUNTY CLERK

More than 17,000 deeds, releases, deeds of trust, leases, lease assignments, and more than 17,700 chattel mortgages, totaling more than 35,000 instruments, have been filed in the county clerk's office at Eastland since Jan. 1, 1923. A larger portion of the chattel mortgages filed were on automobiles. Marriage licenses, hunting licenses, death and birth certificates, etc., not included in the above totals, will run into the thousands.

NO EXCUSE FOR PIMPLES AND BUMPS ON THE FACE

The boy or girl who is always conscious of their pimply, blotchy, inflamed or rough skin, and really drawing more attention to it when they keep making excuses for not looking good, don't get any sympathy because folks now know that it is not necessary to keep putting up with this sort of thing. Since Black and White Ointment, and Black and White Soap, were introduced in this country, thousands of people who had been troubled with pimples, blotches, dark, rough skin, full of bumps, for years are now happy, because they find it gets rid of them so quickly. Black and White Ointment is economically priced, in liberal packages. The 50c size contains three times as much as the liberal 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and the Soap.—Adv.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE INC.

THE STORY SO FAR: Gloria Gordon, beautiful flapper, marries Dick Gregory, a struggling young lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes, but no work or children!

She refuses to cook or keep house. She hires Ranghild Swanson to do it for her although Dick says they can't afford a maid. And she swamps him with debts for her clothes and an automobile.

Gloria becomes infatuated with Stanley Wayburn, an out-of-work actor. She and Wayburn, with May Seymour and Jim Carewe, make a wild foursome.

Wayburn is offered a job in New York as leading man for Sonya Chotek. He needs money. Gloria lends him $200 of Dick's money, which she gets from Dick's secretary, Miss Briggs.

Dick is ill with pneumonia. When he recovers, Dr. John Seymour, May's husband, sends him away for a rest. Gloria refuses to go along, because Dick's mother, whom she hates, is going.

All the way home from New York, Gloria sets out for New York. She goes straight to Wayburn. But he spurns her, telling her that he has just married Sonya Chotek. Then Gloria tries desperately to get a job, but fails. She is finally convinced that she is not half so attractive as she thought she was, and comes home to Dick.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY: "Dick," Gloria said. "I've come home to you!"

She took no step toward him—only looked at him with unhappy eyes, wondering what he would do or say.

Dick gave a short laugh. "So I see," he said. "There was no warmth in his voice. All the way home from New York, Gloria had longed for this moment. Her heart had sung an old nursery rhyme to the noise of the train: "Home again, home again! Jiggedy jig."

She had thought of home as safe harbor. She had wanted to throw herself on Dick's breast—to sob out all her heart-break and shame to him. For she was honestly ashamed of herself.

But Dick's coldness kept her away from him, against her own will. It was like a wall between them. Her eyelids prickled. Her lips trembled. She had to press her handkerchief hard against them to stifle a sob.

Dick looked at her. She had taken off her dusty hat, and her hair shone like a copper helmet.

But neither Gloria's beauty nor her misery could touch Dick at that moment, or move him to pity. "Come here a minute!" he said.

Gloria moved slowly into the room. She thought that he meant to take her in his arms, to tell her that he forgave her.

But he waved her into a little chintz-covered chair that stood across the hearth from him. Gloria sank into it.

"Oh, Dick, don't look at me as if you could murder me!" she pleaded. "Don't be mean to me! You wouldn't if you knew all I've been through."

"Way, what happened to you? Did Wayburn throw you down?" Dick asked coldly.

Gloria knew that Dick wouldn't take her back if she told him the truth. So she lied. "You thought I'd gone to New York to be with Stan?" she asked.

"No, indeed. Although I did see him."

"Sure you saw him!" Dick broke in. "Sure you saw him! You know you followed him to New York. And I know it! So what's the use of lying?"

ing? Stick to the truth!" His fist came down hard on the arm of his chair.

Gloria started. All right, she thought, she would tell him the truth! She'd let him have it, if that was what he wanted.

So tell him almost all of it. Her voice was low and flat, almost without feeling. Dick knew that what she was telling him was shared until his illness. On the other was the "spare" bedroom. Her toilet things and cushions were still in it.

"Don't hate me," she begged.

Gloria hesitated for a long moment. Then she went quickly into the room that had been Dick's and hers. She bathed her eyes, smoothed her hair, and went downstairs to have her coffee.

She left her bag, standing open, on one of the twin beds.

Two hours later when she came upstairs again, the bag was gone. Gloria looked all around the room for it.

Then she crossed the hall into the guest room. There the bag stood! On the floor beside the single bed! Dick must have put it there.

"All right," Gloria shrugged her shoulders. "If that's the way, he feels about me, I should worry!"

But she did worry! Hurt and humiliated, she bolted the door of the room.

An hour later, she heard Dick come up stairs. The door on the other side of the hall closed softly.

In the lonely quiet of the room that had been Gloria's and his, Dick Gregory faced his problem that night.

Above all other living things, he loved the woman who lay asleep in the room across the hall. He wanted to take her back, and he was afraid to do it.

He was afraid to trust his happiness to Gloria again! He had been beside himself for the last week, since the day when he had come home to find her gone.

He had felt sure that she had left him for Stanley Wayburn. Gloria's story bore out his fears, in part. He wondered though—and his nails bit deep into his palms at the thought—if she had told him the whole truth.

Could he believe her? Dick didn't know whether he could or not. Gloria had lied to him so many times before.

And suppose she "got tired of sticking around the house" again, and ran away? What then?

Dick shook his head. He was in a torment of doubt.

The door behind him swung slowly open.

Before he turned to look, Dick knew that Gloria stood there. His senses knew her.

She took there in her white nightgown. Her naked feet, spread to the floor, showed white and slim. She was like some lovely lily rising superbly on a slender stem.

"Dick," she gave a little smothered cry. "Don't hate me! Don't treat me like this. I can't stand it!"

She rushed to him and laid her head down on his knees, crying noisily like a child.

"This isn't the way to hold me," she said, drawing a long sobbing breath, "by keeping yourself away from me—and treating me like an outcast!"

money. But you haven't been!" He flung the bills back on the desk.

"The more money you've spent the more discontented you've been," Dick went on. "Now you're going to try my way of living, for a change; I want you to live like other poor men's wives—help me to get along. Are you ready to try it?"

Gloria looked up at him with eyes that shone under the ruddy fluff of her hair.

"Oh, I am! I will try to be a real wife to you, Dick!" she cried. And at that moment she meant what she said. Besides, she knew, that sooner or later, she could coax Dick into getting Ranghild back again to work for her.

She put her arms on Dick's shoulders. This time he did not turn away. All around him was the heavy scent of her perfumed hair. Her arms were warm and soft, and they clung as if they never would let him go.

Gloria closed her eyes, and his hold tightened. It was as if the wall that Dick had raised against her and her beauty, crumbled and fell. He bent down to her lips.

They parted, suddenly, to speak—those scarlet lips.

"I forgot to tell you," Gloria murmured dreamily, "that Stanley Wayburn is married. He married a Russian actress."

Dick's hold of her loosened. He waited with every nerve tense, for her to go on.

"He married her just the day before I got to New York," she said. "So you see I couldn't have left you just on account of him—as you thought I had. See?"

Dick saw. He saw too well—too clearly. "So that's why you came home!" he said. "So that's why! Because Wayburn married someone else. If he hadn't you'd be in New York this minute! Of course, I see! I see perfectly!"

He flung himself away from Gloria. She stood looking at him helplessly.

"I would have come home anyhow," she defended herself. "I hate Stanley Wayburn. I hate him now!"

"Sure, and that's why you've come home to me!" Dick answered. "Don't stand there and try to kid me any more. I've got your number. Go back to bed!"

ONLY ONE RIGHT WAY FOR WOMEN TO REGAIN ENERGY AND VITALITY

Years of Trying First One Thing Then Another Without Getting Relief Had Nearly Stifled All Hope of Regaining Health and Happiness.

Thousands of women in all walks of life are now praising the wonderful merit of St. Joseph's G. F. P. Stories of almost miraculous relief given them by this great medicine are being told in increasing numbers every day.

Mothers who have been weakened since baby's birth tell stories of regaining health and strength. Women who have reached that period known as "change of life" relate experiences of easy transformation to the robust happy age. Business women and working girls tell how much they can stand without getting tired so quickly. In fact they all seem to be so grateful for the freedom they now enjoy from that ever present fear of periodical suffering, of irregularity, pains, cramps, and having to give up entirely at times.

There seems to be no end of good which this wonderful medicine does for womanhood. Women who had tried operations and many other ailments that promised relief from the ailments which plagued them so, and were unable to get relief, are finding that they get quick and sure results by the consistent use of St. Joseph's G. F. P.

It gets rid of the cause in nine out of ten cases of women's weakness and sickness, and stamps out the catarrhal inflammation of the generative organs, which has been proven, brings about most of woman's suffering. It further strengthens and builds up nerves, muscles and tissue, finally restoring the delicate female organs to their full, natural, healthy condition so that they can function as they should.

Women Now Depend on St. Joseph's G.F.P. To Restore Their Vitality

At the time of the raid in which Lee was arrested negro women told the officers that the members of their Sunday school class had organized a club, each member donating 35c for the purpose of creating a fund with which to purchase the ingredients with which to make the beer.

Two Mad Men Promise to Be Bad Men Monday

Two mad men will enter the arena Monday night to box to redeem their laurels. Green, who has been granted an eight-round bout to give him time to show his stuff against Erckenbrack, who laughed and boxed him out of a close decision last Tuesday night, and Storie, who knows he didn't "do himself proud" at the last fight and who, fight fans say, is going to show up the heavy Mexican, the referee, the Times sports writer and the whole darn mess and make folks say as they said of him heretofore, that he is a scrapper from Scapperville.

According to Bobby Burns, referee, Storie is conscious of the fact that he didn't show up the Californian as he should. He says it was his off night. But although he doesn't talk much, he leaves no doubt about what he means to do Monday night. The dope is against him at that. The man from Mexico City has the odds in weight and the way he knocked Mutt Browning out in 20 seconds at Breckenridge, doesn't sound encouraging to the Oklahoma. But fight fans say it takes something like that to make Storie put things over. Anyway, the fight is the only event of importance scheduled for Labor day and the fans are looking for something good in those two eight and 10-round goes. And Bobby Burns says the preliminaries will be extra snappy, too.

Accidents to Children in Cities and Towns Increasing, Due Largely to Playing on Roads and in Streets

Parents are asked to give more active cooperation in avoiding accidents to children by the Prudential Insurance company. According to its experience, approximately twenty per cent of all fatal accidents last year claimed as victims children under fifteen years of age. The company calls the attention of this fact now that they are returning to the cities with their children for the opening of school. Most cities and towns do their part in trying to protect the lives of children by placing warning signs to motorists at school crossings. Many communities have a policeman stationed at such crossings during the hours of arriving and departure. But these same children, who are guarded by the state, are permitted to run unrestrained in the streets with hardly a word of caution from the parents. The Prudential points out the number of boys and girls that can be found on skates, scooters, playing ball or hockey on the streets of any city or town. These boys and girls are intent upon the pleasure of the minute. They give little or no heed to passing motors or trucks. Drivers are scored for many an accident that was caused by a child running directly into the path of the car. Probably wreck of the car and injury to the driver resulted. In conclusion the company remarks that while there is much safety work being done to combat these conditions outside influence can do only half the work. Parents must impress upon their children the danger of playing on roads and in streets where there is any amount of traffic if there is to be an appreciable reduction of accidents among children.

King Solomon's Temple to Be Restored; Perfect Reproduction is Promised

Special Correspondence. NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—King Solomon's Temple in all its ancient glory and magnificence is to be restored and erected at the Sesqui-centennial Exposition in Philadelphia, according to the announcement made yesterday by John Wesley Kelchner of 130 West Forty-second street, who has given the last thirty years of his life to the study of the most famous edifice in all human history. In cooperation with Harvey Wiley Corbett, former president of the American Institute of Architects, he has spent the last five years perfecting the designs and plans for the restoration until today every detail is in strict accord with the Bible and every other possible source of correct information.

Wilhelm's Wife and Her Family

Princess Hermine, wife of the former kaiser of Germany, at Berchtesgarden, Bavaria, with her five children by a former marriage. Princess Hermine denies reports of an estrangement between the ex-kaiser and herself. She is spending a vacation in Germany for her health, which has been impaired by the damp climate of Holland. The children, left to right, are: Prince Hans George, Princess Henriette, Prince George Wilhelm, Prince Ferdinand and Princess Hermine Caroline.

Purpose of Project More than a historical show, the temple will trace the growth of religion and show the birth of Christianity. Jerusalem in the days of the crucifixion will be faithfully portrayed and all the splendors of Greece and Rome will be set forth. From the ancient days the portrayal will come down to the modern. There will be shown the beginning of life in America with Aztec temples, cliff dwellers and sun worshippers. Life in this country will be carefully shown down to the very present and the American spirit of benevolent philanthropy will be brought out. In its vast conception the temple and citadel will emphasize the spirit of peace and show the accomplishments of peace in the world. Interest in the restoration of the temple is international and communications have been received from religious and fraternal organizations in all parts of the world. These realize the importance of the work to all mankind, since this will be the first and only complete restoration of King Solomon's temple ever accomplished.

"ACHED & ACHED" Lady Says Her Back "Hurt Night and Day"—Least Noise Upset Her. Better After Taking Cardui.

Winfield, Texas.—"My back hurt night and day," says Mrs. C. L. Eason, of E. E. D. 1, this place. "I ached and ached until I could hardly go. I felt weak and did not feel like doing anything. My work was a great burden to me. I just hated to do up the dishes, even. I was no-account and extremely nervous. My mother had taken Cardui and she thought it would do me good, so she told me to take it. My husband got me a bottle and I began on it. I began to improve at once. It was such a help that I continued it until after the baby's birth. I took eight bottles and I can certainly say that it helped me. It is a fine tonic. It built me up and seemed to strengthen me. I grew less nervous and began to sleep better. I can certainly recommend Cardui to expectant mothers, for to me it was a wonderful help. In every way I felt better after taking it and I think it is a splendid medicine. Cardui is purely vegetable, and contains no harmful drugs. For sale everywhere. NC-162
