MAYFIELD WILL SPEAK TONIGHT IN EASTLAND

United States Senator to Be Guest of Eastland Clubs At Banquet.

United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield will be the guest of honor at a banquet given jointly by the Eastland Rotary and Lions clubs at the Eastland Golf and Country club, this evening at 7:30 o'clock. As the accommodations at the Country club are only sufficient for 100, only a few other than members of the Rotary and Lions clubs will be invited. The invited list will include the president and secretary of the Ranger, Cisco and Breckenridge Lions clubs, and the president and secretary of the Cisco and Ranger Rotary clubs, there being no Rotary organization at Breckenridge.

At the regular meetings of the Rotary and Lions last week, committees, charged with the responsibility of making the necessary arrangements for the entertainment and banquet tonight, were appointed, and the chairmen of these committees announce that everything will be in readiness.

By invitation Senator Mayfield will make an address at the banquet tonight. It is understood that he goes from Eastland to Breckenridge, where he will deliver the opening address at the Oil Belt fair, which opens Tuesday morning.

West Texas C. of C. Is Out After Fleas

Chicken fleas are doomed in West Texas if the propaganda now being carried on by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is successful. Porter A. Whaley, manager of that body, has sent to the several secretaries a resume of the treatment proposed to save the chickens, as follows:

"As a preliminary step in the treatment of fleas, all dogs and cats should be kept away from the chickens and should never be allowed to lie on the ground or in the yards. As rats frequently harbor large numbers of these fleas and may therefore keep up the infestation, they should be destroyed by trapping, not only on account of the fleas they may carry, but because they are themselves a serious pest to poultry. Chicken fleas breed in the cracks of the hen houses, and it is accordingly necessary to treat both the birds and their quarters. The combs and wattles of the birds may be anointed with carbolated petroleum or sulphur ointment. Great care should be taken, however, not to get any of the ointment in the birds' eyes, as it may produce blindness. The hen houses and yards should be thoroughly cleaned out, sprayed with creosote or other suitable disinfectant, and may then be whitewashed with lime and carbolic acid as already recommended for mites."

Respectfully,
Porter A. Whaley, Manager.

"FROZEN CONTROL" BLAMED FOR AIRPLANE TRAGEDY

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 28.—"Frozen control" was blamed for the airplane accident Saturday in which Carl C. Magee, Jr., 29, oil man and son of the famous New Mexican editor, and Dick Phillips, 30, commercial aviator of Tulsa, were almost instantly killed when their plane crashed. Witnesses said that Phillips and Magee were doing stunt flying.

THINK IT OVER!
Before you mail that order for merchandise to an outside concern think it over a few minutes. Perhaps you'll change your mind about mailing it.

The dollar spent out of town is gone forever.
The dollar spent at home remains and works for you. It circulates at home, either in civic improvements, taxes, better schools, churches or goes into more merchandise for your next needs.

Your neighbor takes better care of your needs and wants than does the stranger, who has no interest in you, further than to get your dollars. Your merchant-neighbor's future depends upon holding your confidence. He's always here to make mistakes good. When you spend your money with the home merchants—and this includes the home newspaper and its job printing department—you help them, you assist in fostering home industries. They in turn help to build up the city, and to make greater opportunities for you and for your children.

Spending your money at home is like putting a mortgage upon it to come back to you. Spending it away from home is simply bidding goodbye to it, and its further usefulness to you.

General Puts Lock On Discussions of Those He Commands

EL PASO, Sept. 28.—Discussion of the air defense of the United States has been placed on the forbidden list of officers at Fort Bliss here by Brigadier General Castner of the First Cavalry, who said today: "Any officer of my command who talks about the air controversy will be court martialed and put where he will never again be able to talk. Discipline is the first thing a soldier should learn, and so long as I am an officer and in command here, none of those responsible to me shall talk until I say he may."

STEEL PLATE LINING IN STEPHENS COUNTY JAIL

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 28.—Steel plate lining of the Stephens county jail was completed recently. The steel lining was ordered placed in the jail by the county commissioners following an attempted jail break a few weeks ago.

Wachtel, Warmouth Batteries For Game In Fort Worth Today

FORT WORTH, Sept. 28.—Fair weather was in prospect for the fifth game of the Dixie series between Fort Worth and Atlanta this afternoon. Wachtel probably will start in the box for the Panthers, and Warmouth is said to be Manager Niehoff's choice for the Crackers.

Atlanta evaded the series to two all, Sunday, by walling the Panthers, 12 to 7.
Fort Worth started off with a swing, the game at the end of the first inning standing 3 to 0 in favor of the Panthers.

NEW WELL NEAR OLNEY FLOWING 620 BARRELS

OLNEY, Sept. 28.—The Trio Production company in the new north-west extension of the Harmel pool made 620 barrels for the 24 hours up to 4 p. m. Saturday, flowing and swabbing. The run for Sunday is incomplete as the well was shut in several hours because a strong wind was blowing the gas directly toward the boilers. Late Sunday it was being swabbed again and was producing.

The Texas company is offsetting to the east on their Hill lease. The work of putting the Dyer well on the pump was completed Sunday afternoon except connecting with power. An engine was being installed late Sunday.

Murchison & Fain company will burn No. 1 was drilling below 500 feet, and Navarro Oil company's Dunagan No. 1 had better than 100 feet of hole. Five other derricks are being rigged up. The Carey and Humble wells are practically ready.

Switch Engine Turns Auto Into Push-Car

The engine of a Ford touring car driven by Miss Kathleen Nanney died just as she was crossing the Texas & Pacific railway tracks this morning about 11 o'clock, and was caught by a string of switching cars and pushed along the tracks from the freight depot down to somewhere near the passenger depot, a distance of several yards, before the frantic signals of trainmen could be heeded.

Miss Nanney, discovering her danger, jumped from the car and escaped uninjured. The car itself was not badly wrecked, although it is one wheel short as the result of the accident.
Passerby were more amused than frightened to see the railway cars making a push-car out of the automobile and pushing it gently along as if to move it from one depot to the other.

Two Experienced Air Service Officers Take Advantage of Opportunity to Give Audible Expression to Personal Views

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Army air men are convinced that if the United States air defense is to be made effective it must be taken out of the hands of those now in control and operated by actual flying men, Major W. G. Kilmer, executive air service officer, told the aircraft board today. Kilmer, who had charge of aviation training during the war, said there was dissatisfaction among pilots with the present system. A reorganization to establish a separate air service was advocated by Kilmer.

"We have the best pursuit and training planes in the world," Kilmer said.

Representative Carl Vinson, Georgia, democrat, asked him to explain what he meant by "dissatisfaction." "There is, first, a slowness of action. When we wish to do anything we are hampered by avoidable delays," Kilmer replied. "There seems to be a lack of comprehension of our powers in the department, but not in congress. We never asked congress for anything we did not get. If we are going to get anywhere, flying men will have to be placed in control. I personally favor adoption of the recommendations of General Patrick for formation of an air unit along the lines of the marine corps."

"I make many recommendations I never hear from, but when some general inspects quarters and makes suggestions they are speedily attended to," he said. "I have commanded Brooks field five years, yet the war department does not place confidence in my ability to make improvements."

Major H. G. Hickman, who has had 1,000 hours in the air, the third witness, was asked how much extra pay he received over a year.

"I don't know," he said, "the amount of pay. It's enough to live on and that is all I care about." The crowd laughed and applauded.

WRECKED SUB TO BE LIFTED IF POSSIBLE

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 28.—The great marine derrick, Monarch, arrived this morning on the scene of the sinking of the submarine S-61. The huge vessel, which left New York Saturday night, is equipped with derricks capable of lifting 250 tons and these, with the derricks already on the scene, will be used immediately in a second attempt to raise the submarine.

The Monarch will join other derricks in the double lift of the hull and altogether will have a lifting strength of 300 tons, which is believed sufficient to hoist the stern of the S-61 from the choppy waters. In spite of the pessimists, Admiral M. M. Christy, aboard the U. S. S. Kandes, having charge of the rescue work, kept the crew steadily at their task today. Divers have gone down repeatedly and tapped on the sides of the sub with hammers to indicate to any who may be alive inside the that rescue is near. Then they listened for the faintest answering tap from within to indicate that life existed within.

Telephones at the naval base here rang throughout the night, relatives and friends of the entombed men calling to ask what progress was being made in the rescue work. At the submarine base here it was explained that if the two derricks could hoist the sunken vessel, then it would mean there was some free space within the hull within which could live.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 28.—An unofficial wireless dispatch received here this morning from the scene of the submarine disaster stated a diver had found a bulkhead of one department slightly damaged but closed. Navy officials said if this information was accurate there was a remote chance that some of the men on board might yet be alive.

Mrs. Reese Falls From Truck, Breaking One of Her Limbs

Early this morning, Mrs. R. L. Reese, while riding on one of the trucks of the highway construction company with her brother-in-law, Leslie Edwards, fell from the truck and sustained severe injuries, including a broken leg. She was taken to Clinical Hospital, where she was treated and later taken to the home of her sister, Mrs. Leslie Edwards, on South Hodges street. None of her other injuries were serious, it is said.

MITCHELL'S DEFENDER IS LOCAL MAN'S CLASSMATE

Wasaff, Ranger attorney, who still holds the military title of major. Major Black will be one of the defending council for the fiery colonel throughout his several trials. ### WIFE OF BISHOP KINSOLVING DIES SUDDENLY IN NEW YORK

Four Children Burn To Death In Home, Parents Being Away

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 29.—While parents, the police charge, were attending a drinking party at a neighbor's, four small children were burned to death in a fire at Silver Lake on early today. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mills Peters, are being held at the sheriff's office at Everett, pending investigation. The dead children are: Morse, 6; Melvin, 5; Morse, 2, and Lucile 2.
The four children were sleeping in a room upstairs where the fire seems to have originated.

POLICE FORCE AT COURT

Chief Davenport and nearly all the Ranger police were in Eastland the greater portion of today, attending court in the capacity of witnesses in some pending suits. The town remained orderly, however, during absence.

AIR PILOTS TO BE PERMITTED FREE SPEECH

Army and Navy Heads Insist They Want Free Expression of Views.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The president's special inquiry aircraft board today entered its second week of the investigation, convening at 10 o'clock to hear the views and opinions of more than a score of air officers and pilots and aircraft possibilities and Mitchell's plan for a unified air service.

Rumors that officers who gave testimony or expressed views in opposition to the policies of the navy and war departments heads would be dealt with afterwards were met with denials by the chiefs and a statement by Dwight P. Morrow, chairman of the board, that he had no intimation of interference by either department. Morrow discussed the reports with the United Press, giving little credence to them and three hours later gave out letters dated last Saturday from Secretary of the Navy Wilbur and Acting Secretary of War Davis stating that the air pilots summoned before the board were at liberty to testify as they desire.

"I desire to reiterate what I have previously said in my testimony before your board," said Davis, "that these witnesses have the authority of the war department to express freely and fully their views and opinions upon any subject about which you may desire them to testify."

"The department desires these officers understand they are free to express their personal opinions and give you their recommendations regardless of the policies of the navy department," said Secretary Wilbur.

Colonel Mitchell's proposal for a unified air system is expected to receive the support of some of the pilots.

TWO CROPS OF GRAPES IN ONE YEAR NEAR CISCO

CISCO, Sept. 28.—J. B. Blitch of this city is exhibiting samples of grapes which he states is the second crop produced on his vines this season. The specimens were large, well formed bunches, of nearly one pound in weight, all well formed and growing closely on the bunch. They are of the California muscat variety.

Mr. Blitch states that he only experimented with four branches on the vine and that he is not yet ready to give out his formula for making two bunches of grapes grow where only one grew before.

GIANT SEAPLANE FORCED DOWN BY ENGINE TROUBLE

ASTORIA, Ore., Sept. 28.—The seaplane PB-1, en route from San Francisco to Seattle, was delayed here today by engine trouble and probably will not be able to complete her voyage until the latter part of the week. The giant plane was forced down at Ilwaco, Wash., yesterday, a little more than two hours after leaving Toad Bay. It was towed here later. Engine trouble caused the landing. The commander has sent to San Francisco for a new motor.

Caillaux Complains France Cannot Meet Terms Offered By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The American debt funding commission today received from Finance Minister Caillaux of France his statement on the inability of the French debt commission to consider settlement of the $4,200,000,000 debt on the terms of the American proposal.

In a 25-minute session this morning, Caillaux presented the commission the result of the analysis by his financial experts on the American proposition and spoke of France's inability to pay in accordance with such proposed terms.

Cotton Pickers Being Sought Here And Further West

Nobody needs be out of a job these days, according to C. C. Patterson, secretary of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, and George W. Briggs of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, who are putting placards along all the country roads and in the city, calling for cotton pickers.

Many of these are needed right now in the home fields, but more farther out, it is stated. Other chambers of commerce are co-operating and by this means, it is hoped that the entire crop may be saved, though responses are reported very tardily coming in.

Flood In China Endangers Lives of Two Million People

PEKIN, Sept. 28.—The first break in the banks of the Yellow river today endangered the lives of two million people living on the Shantung peninsula. An area of 1,500 square miles is flooded and the water is steadily making larger inroads. Reports estimate that 100 persons already have been drowned.

Geologists fear the river's course will be altered in the Kiang Su province to advance a former outlet. The flood is described as the worst since 1887.

Murray's time in the five-mile race was 4:59 and in the eight-mile event 7:36. He also lowered the track record of 74.5 in two laps, his time being 73.5 in the trials. The track is five-eighths of a mile.

Murray works in Ranger for the Chestnut & Smith corporation.

STATE BOARD FINDS HARVEY IS ELIGIBLE
 Ranger Quarterback Assured Undisturbed Position With Team for Season.
 A letter received by Principal L. E. Forrester of the Ranger High school at 2 p. m. today from the state executive committee for the Inter-Scholastic Council to the effect that all charges of ineligibility against Harvey, Ranger quarterback, have been overruled and he is eligible to play in the season's games.
 Harvey was charged, in some manner, with having played semi-professional baseball during the summer. It was established to the satisfaction of the state board that he received no pay and played only on an amateur team, which was not found to be even technically a bar to his eligibility. The decision is final, it is said, and all doubts about his holding his place on the Ranger team are now removed.
 SAN SABA.—Election to confirm the organization of San Saba irrigation district, carried in all precincts. United States hydrographic survey has already completed its work and reports ample water can be economically stored to irrigate 50,000 acres.  STAMFORD.—Stamford Inn, one of the finest fireproof hostleries in West Texas has been completed and opened for business.

JOSEPH'S STYLE SHOW PROMISES ENTERTAINMENT

Annual Event Tuesday and Wednesday Evenings Await With Interest.

The Style Show, to be held at Joseph's Dry Goods company, Ranger, on Tuesday and Wednesday evening, is being looked forward to with much interest, for each year the style revues of this enterprising department store grow in interest. The management of the store has made arrangement to seat a good sized crowd, and two hours' splendid entertainment is promised.
 Of course, there could not be a style show without music so Gus Coleman and his rhythmic five will furnish music throughout the evening and Miss Christina Carter will sing. While the clothes to be displayed are being carefully guarded from prying eyes until after the display, it is said that never were lovelier and smarter garments shown in Ranger than will be displayed on Tuesday and Wednesday night.
 This annual style show has grown to be quite an event and is staged in such an attractive and pleasing way that the two hours devoted to the display of smart styles passes very rapidly. Clothes will be modeled by folks we all know and the season's most beautiful models in frocks, coats, hats, gloves, hose and accessories will be shown. Joseph gives this each year for the benefit of their patrons and take a great pleasure in presenting their style revue.

the Cisco game, says they have some powerful men on their team. He is wise, Coach Cherry is. In fact, we don't nick our cherries green.

The types got one of the Fence Rider's allusion to dogies down as "dogies." G! What a difference one little g does make!

The Ford fellows had a snap Saturday. They listened in on the radio to the Dixie Series and listened out to the football game right around the corner.

Everybody knew Fort Worth was the largest beef packing city, save two, in the country, and nobody was much surprised at their slaughtering sters. But who knew they were so fond of cracker crumbs?

Some one suggested trap shooting as an ideal Country Club stunt at that stag dinner, and then had to explain to that bunch that you spell it with a t.

Three open questions: Who struck Billy Patterson? Who put the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's cowl? and when will Breckenridge get that stretch of Bankhead Highway fixed?

A gratifying number of people in and about Ranger are saving the Old Bronco's joints by calling in, calling up or calling The Fence Rider in to tell it to him. A reporter's idea of heaven is a place where they spill the news freely and you don't have to get it out of them with a cork screw.

The pop men at the football game divided profits with the athletic association, it is said. Every time you drink a fizzy, you contribute to the bunch. It's a case of pop help pep.

Maybe this old Bronco has been shying away from the wet spots, but, honest to goodness, I've been riding this range more than a month now, and haven't smelled a breath, seen a stagger or heard a conk kiss the neck of a single bottle. I knock on wood—up under my old sombrero—hat. But who'd a thought this of

BIBLE THOUGHT.
 Righteousness Brings Peace: The work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness, quietness and assurance for ever. And my people shall dwell in a peaceable habitation, and in quiet resting places.—Isaiah 32: 17, 18.
 Prayer: O Lord, our Lord, how excellent is Thy name in all the earth; therefore we trust in Thee and are not afraid.

THE GRAND OLD MAN OF THE WORLD.
 When it comes to doing things that make real money the farmer is the biggest yet.

May his shadow never grow less, nor his generous hand less willing. Have you ever thought of the millions of acres of land that the farmer plows, and plants, and tends, and harvests?

When you occasionally think of the farmer and his farm, it is of someone you know, or maybe the home where you were raised, and not of the great fields occupying townships, counties and states, the world over.

Could you make an airship voyage across Canada northwest just now you might see tens of thousands of great harvesting machines creeping over the ground like mammoth devouring insects, leaving only stubble in their wake.

Crossing the line into the state you hear a roar equal to many Niagara's rising from the ground. It is the noise of thousands of threshing machines, and through the clouds of dust that hover about them you will see growing piles of wheat resembling mounds of molten gold.

It would be tedious, too tedious, to give the number of acres sown to wheat in North America, to say nothing of the rest of the world. You couldn't grasp the figures, they being so great that they become meaningless.

Nor will it be worth the space to name the approximate amount of money necessary to pay these harvesters, threshers and farmers. It would be so immense that you could not understand.

Let it suffice to say the crop is larger than ever before in the history of the world, and necessarily so, because the population of the world is greater than it ever was before.

There are more men employed on the farms of this nation than there are in all the mines, mills, factories, shops, and on all the railroads combined.

The investment in the farms of this country is about equal to all the mines, mills, factories and railroads, and if estimated on replacement costs will far exceed all others combined.

Notwithstanding the fact that his profits at the end of the year generally make a mortgage necessary, he continues to be the grand old man of the world and sticks to his job.

THE MIND OF A CHILD.
 A prominent Canadian educator states that the average person attains his mental growth at the age of 14 years. After that age it is largely a question of discretion and control. At this period the human brain, is most impressionable.

Biologists tell us that the development of the individual is an almost exact miniature duplication of the evolution of the race, and it is very probable that the average child reaches at the age of 14 the counterpart to that period during which the human race attained its present state of mental development and that man's mental powers have not expanded materially since the days of savagery.

Recent mental tests recorded in several leading universities, indicate that the average mind at maturity is still that of the 14-year-old. Some of us must rate with the seven-year-old. This may account for many of the modern idiocyncrasies.

ATLANTA WINS GAME AGAIN EVENING SERIES

Special Correspondence. PORT WORTH, Sept. 28.—The Atlanta Crackers, bombarding a flock of Port Worth pitchers, evened up the Dixie Series Sunday by winning the fourth game, 12 to 7. A crowd of 17,798, the biggest crowd that ever saw a ball game in the South, saw the Texas League bite the dust.

The two clubs meet again today in the fifth game of the series. After today's game, unless it is a tie, the two clubs will return to Atlanta and finish the series.

Joe Cavet and Jimmy Wall, southpaws, started for the Crackers and the Panthers respectively, and neither lasted. McLaughlin relieved Cavet in the seventh. North, Johns and Head went on the Port Worth mound in the order named.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE INC

THE STORY SO FAR:

Gloria Gordon, beautiful flapper, marries Dick Gregory, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes, but no work or children.

She refuses to do her own work, and hires a housemaid. But Dick has to let the maid go, for Gloria has swamped him with her debts.

She becomes infatuated with an out-of-work actor, Stanley Wayburn, and follows him to New York. But he spurns her. Then she tries to get a job as a chorus girl and fails. Discouraged, she comes home to Dick. He takes her back, but not as his wife.

Gloria begins to suspect that he is in love with his secretary, Susan Briggs. And the breach between herself and Dick widens daily. At last she wrings from Miss Briggs a confession that she is in love with Dick, and insists that Dick discharge his secretary. When he refuses, Gloria leaves him and goes home to her mother.

Dick sends her $50 weekly, but she returns it to him and gets a job as stenographer for Ulysses X. Forgan, a wealthy widower. But Ulysses X. makes love to her, and she resigns her position.

Gloria's family, headed by her energetic Aunt Dorcas, try to settle her affairs for her. But the discussion of her heart-breaking troubles by them, maddens Gloria. She leaves the house, and goes for a walk in the park. There Dick finds her, asleep on a bench. He asks her if she has really gone to office work.

know that so long as Dick was there she could not leave. Invisible chains held her to that bench. It was good just to be near him again.

"I showed a couple of people our house last week," Dick remarked presently, without raising his eyes from his book. "I hope they'll buy the furniture, too."

Gloria set her teeth. "It's too bad you can't get rid of the house as easily as you got rid of me, isn't it?" she asked, watching his face. But it was as blank as that of a good poker player or a Hindu.

"I hate the thought of other people living in our house with our things," Gloria went on, after a few minutes. "I don't want anybody to take naps on my chaise longue, or sit in your arm-chair. I don't want any man to use that little red smoking stand of yours."

Her voice broke. She fought hard to keep back the tears that welled up in her eyes.

"You broke into the house the other day, didn't you?" Dick asked, suddenly.

Gloria nodded. "Why?"

Gloria shook her head. She knew that if she tried to talk, she would burst into tears.

It was most sunset, and picnickers who had come to the park for supper, walked past them with baskets on their arms. Somehow or other the women were better looking than the men. Perhaps it was their ready-made smartness.

But anyway, besides Dick, the men looked flabby and weedy to Gloria—or else too fat and solid. Why, she wondered, had she never seen how much better he was to look at, than any other man alive?

"Not that he's so handsome," she remarked to herself, "but he's so—himself!" She loved him for the simple fact that he was Dick. For his sake, because it couldn't be any possibility, he anybody else—and for his mind that was so utterly sound and decent.

"It took me a long time to find it out," Gloria went on thinking, "but I know it at last, now, when it would be better if I didn't!"

"Wasn't that just like Life though? It was full of such tricks. Giving you what you wanted just a little too late? Like a Valentine coming the morning after Valentine day—and in a plain envelope!"

Gloria rose. "Well, this time I'm really going," she said, unsteadily. Dick rose with her, and they walked slowly out of the park together—close together as lover's walk, and yet worlds apart!

The following day, Gloria started out to go for hunting again. A slip of paper with two or three "want ads" on it, was folded away in her purse, along with three $10 bills—her last week's salary.

She walked along the street, looking in the shop windows. The hats, as always, lured her. So did the crisp summer dresses, with their sahes and lace.

In the window of a department store was a display of lustre bowls—lovely orange and sea-blue ones. "The very thing for the mantel in the living room!" Gloria exclaimed, looking at one that glowed like the sunrise.

Then, with a jerk, her brain told her that the living room no longer belonged to her. Dick was going to sell it and everything in it to the couple who were looking at the house—that is, if he could.

Gloria walked on, down the street. She didn't feel at all like going up into one of the great office buildings to ask for a position. She felt like "Mrs. Richard Gregory" that morning—and she couldn't step into the role of "Gloria Gordon," looking for a place to work.

She didn't want to work in an office. She wanted to go back to her own house. She told herself truthfully that she had felt "like a fish out of water" every minute since she had packed up her trunks and left Dick.

At a street corner she met little, blond Mrs. Wing.

To Gloria's amazement she came up to her and seized both hands. "Hello, Glory Gregory!" she cried. "It's so nice to see you again! Where have you been keeping yourself, for goodness sake? Just the other day the girls were asking what had become of you?"

Gloria stared at her in astonishment. She remembered perfectly the night when she had tried to speak to Mrs. Wing, and Mrs. Wing turned away her little blond head.

But why hold that against her? It was nice to have friends, and it warmed Gloria's heart to have Mrs. Wing welcome her this way. People were queer, inexplicable things, but they were also necessary to each other.

So Gloria smiled back. "I've been down in New York the last few weeks," she said grandly.

"Did you hear about May Seymour's husband?" Mrs. Wing asked. "Terrible thing, wasn't it?"

"Dreadful!" Gloria agreed. "And poor May's left town. Did you know that?"

"I hate the thought of other people living in our house with our things," Gloria went on, after a few minutes. "I don't want anybody to take naps on my chaise longue, or sit in your arm-chair. I don't want any man to use that little red smoking stand of yours."

Nut Croquettes

A quick luncheon dish recommended by Mrs. Chitwood, who conducted the popular Cooking School Classes last week, held under the auspices of the Telegram.

- 2 cups hot rice
- potatoes
- 1/2 to 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 teaspoon Crisco
- bread crumbs
- 3 tablespoons cream
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 egg

To the hot rice potatoes add the salt, pepper and onion. Add the cream and pecans, and last, the Crisco. Mix all together thoroughly. Roll in bread crumbs, then in beaten egg and then in bread crumbs again. Drop in deep Crisco at 390 degrees F., or when a bread crumb browns in thirty seconds, and cook until brown. Serve hot with any desired sauce. This makes ten croquettes.

Mrs. Chitwood says:

When you want something nice for luncheon make these Nut Croquettes. They are easy to make and very good. When fried in Crisco they will keep their shape, brown evenly all over and not be greasy. No smoke, either. You can shape them into pyramids, oblong shapes or balls.
