CONVENTION DELEGATES LOSING TEMPER

JUDKINS RAILS BARNES ON HIS KLAN ALLIANCE

Rival Candidates for Office of County Attorney Discuss Issues of Campaign.

The political activities of the Ku Klux Klan in the Eastland county campaign of two years ago and the present campaign, were attacked and defended in the meeting held on the courthouse lawn in Eastland last night, at which Frank Judkins and W. J. Barnes, opposing candidates for county attorney, were the principal speakers.

Senator H. P. Brelsford acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers, presenting Mr. Judkins first, who spoke for 45 minutes and then had a fifteen minute rejoinder following Mr. Barnes.

Mr. Judkins, after reviewing briefly the history of his life and the reasons why he believed he was the better qualified for county attorney, launched into a vigorous attack upon the official record of his opponent. He charged that when Barnes was elected in the former campaign in this county he got his election by fraud, because, he said, that he deliberately deceived the voters in the county as to his affiliations with the Klan.

"The Ku Klux Klan is the most dangerous organization in the United States. It has disrupted churches, lodges and the democratic party, and will bring on a bloody religious war in this country if it is not stopped," Mr. Judkins said. "The issue in this campaign is whether the Klan, a secret political organization, or the people, shall run the county government," the speaker said.

Judkins Makes Charges.
Mr. Judkins charged that Mr. Barnes, as county attorney, had been weighed in the balance and found wanting. He said that since Barnes had been county attorney there had been 290 felony indictments returned by the grand juries of the county and that 175 of them had never been tried. "Out of 60 indictments for violation of the whiskey laws, only 17 have been tried," Mr. Judkins said.

Mr. Judkins recalled that the Oil Belt News had stated a few days ago that whatever chance he had had to be county attorney, he lost by the manner in which he handled the business of the county democratic executive committee, of which he was chairman until a short time ago, when he resigned. "The Ku Klux Klan sought to get control of the democratic executive committee in this county and use it to furnish their political interests, but I would not permit it," Mr. Judkins said.

"I made mistakes while I was chairman of the democratic executive committee, many of them, but there was one mistake that I did not make and that was to appoint a Ku Klux to any of the vacancies arising on that committee," the speaker said.

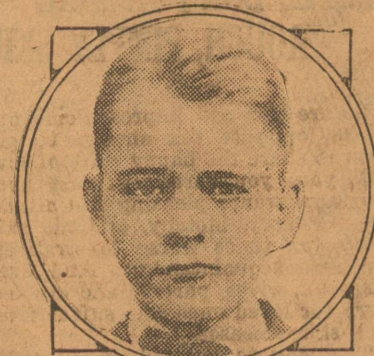

Mr. Judkins defended the county constitutional convention of the Ranger club. The latter, he said, was the first organization in the county to start opposition to the nefarious practices of the Klan and the movement launched by that club had resulted in a movement that had largely curtailed the activities of the Klan and would, in the coming election, sweep them from power in Eastland county.

Mr. Judkins said that Mr. Barnes had never, since he had been county attorney, prosecuted a klanman and asked the people if they wanted that kind of a man for county attorney. "Do you want a man who goes around whining because the defendants have attorneys defending them or do you want a man who is able to cope with defense attorneys and meet them in the trial of cases? If you do, you had better vote for me instead of Barnes in this race because Barnes cannot deliver the goods," Judkins said.

Barnes Defends Record.
Mr. Barnes defended his record as county attorney. He said that he stirred up opposition to himself in this county when he came here from the army and began to denounce crime and law violation.

"Mr. Judkins has had a great deal to say about the Klan and about me not telling the people in the campaign two years ago that I was a klanman," Mr. Barnes said. "I didn't tell you in the former campaign that I was a member of the Baptist church and a number of lodges either, because neither they nor the Klan was an issue then. They are not an issue now," he said.

CALVIN COOLIDGE, JR., PRESIDENT'S SON, STILL IN DEATH

CALVIN COOLIDGE JR.

Youngest Boy of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge Succumbs to Blood Poisoning After Making Brave Fight. Death of Tad Lincoln Recalled.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Curtains are drawn in the east room of the white house today. The president's youngest son, Calvin Coolidge Jr., lies dead within.

Bowed in grief at the loss of their boy—a tragedy that has not visited the white house since Abraham Lincoln's day—President and Mrs. Coolidge are remaining aloof in their sorrow.

The boy died in his father's arms about 9:30 o'clock last night of blood poisoning, resulting from an infection following the breaking of a blister just above the toe of his right foot while playing a game of tennis on the white house grounds a week ago yesterday. He wore tennis shoes without stockings and when the blister broke a germ known as the staphylococci crept into the wound, gathering strength and quickly spread through his body. He made a wonderful fight for life, showing unusual courage, but his body proved unequal to the fight.

Plans for the funeral had not been announced before noon today. Seeking the solitude of the white house, to which the boy's body was taken, the Coolidges shut themselves in today from a sympathizing world. Their elder son, John, is with them.

It is 62 years since Tad Lincoln, the son of Abraham Lincoln, died in the white house in his father's arms. Not since then has a president in office suffered the loss of a son. There was a hush over the white house today. The Coolidges were trying to show their grief as little as possible. From the very first they have felt that the sorrow for their son was a personal matter and not of the nation; they mourn the death of their son as parents mourn and not as the chief executive and first lady of the land.

PRESIDENT WILL HAVE NO OFFICIAL MOURNING FOR SON

WASHINGTON, July 8.—There will be no official mourning for Calvin Coolidge Jr. It is the president's wish.

Orders were issued today that flags on the public buildings in Washington are not to be half masted, as has been the custom when a death occurred at the white house. None of the government offices will be closed.

In the view of the president, his son is merely a private citizen and it is a private citizen who lies dead in the white house. Mr. Coolidge dislikes display at funerals and public grief.

Ranger Chamber of Commerce Directors Will Meet Tonight

The board of directors of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce will meet at 8 tonight at the Chamber of Commerce rooms for the purpose of discussing several important matters. A committee from the Chamber of Commerce will also be here and a joint consultation will be held in an effort to complete plans for the organization of the Poultry Raisers' Association Co-operative Marketing association.

R. L. McKinney of the Texas Highway association will also be on hand to explain the purpose of the organization which he represents, to the board of directors.

WOMAN MAKES $5 BILL GO ALONG PROFITABLE TRAIL

DENTON.—Mrs. Frank Yarbrough just about built an entirely new kitchen for $5.95, and by so doing, built a kitchen cabinet, piped water into the sink; added attractive fixtures to the furniture and brightened the stove, garbage pail and woodbox.

How she did it, Mrs. Yarbrough knows better than anyone else. But she did it and it took a lot of work and ability to stretch the five dollar bill to the tearing point.

Now she has a brand new kitchen and a first prize for $5.95, originality and hard work.

SOCIALISTS TO WORK HARD FOR LA FOLLETTE

Agree in Convention to Cooperate Actively in Election of Progressive Candidate.

CLEVELAND, July 8.—The socialist national convention today laid plans to cooperate actively with the progressives in their campaign to elect Robert M. LaFollette president of the United States on the independent ticket.

An executive committee of 7 to handle the details of the campaign and to confer with leaders of the conference for progressive political action is to be selected at a final session of the convention today.

One Man Hurt In Head-On Collision On the Caddo Road

One man was slightly injured shortly after noon today, when a Ford touring car and a Ford one-ton truck met in a head on collision on the Caddo highway about a mile and a half from Ranger. The cars were badly smashed. The touring car, belonging to Charles Littlejohn of Ranger, was completely wrecked. The truck belonged to W. H. Burden, contractor, of Ranger, and was going towards Caddo when the accident occurred.

Littlejohn's companion, a driller named Crinshaw of Caddo, was injured. Hal Walker of Ranger, who came along just after the collision, picked up the injured man and brought him into town.

TEXAS HIGHWAY ASSO. SEEKING MEMBERS TO ENLARGE ITS WORK

The Chambers of Commerce, the Lions clubs, the Rotary clubs and various civic organizations will be given an opportunity this week to get first hand information on the purpose and aim of the Texas Highway association. R. L. McKinney of the association is in Eastland county soliciting memberships and doing publicity work.

Mr. McKinney said that a great many people of the state are not familiar with the work of the association and a campaign is now being conducted to familiarize the public with it. The Texas Highway association was formed in 1922 for the purpose of bringing about adequate highway laws whereby the state will build, maintain, mark and finance the highways of the state. Unless the state adopts a constitutional amendment by 1926 permitting the state to take over all highways except inter-lateral roads of the county, Texas will lose the federal aid, amounting to about $4,410,169 annually into this time, McKinney said. The county would have each year the same amount of money it has had for use on lateral roads exclusively, said McKinney.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 8.—Walter B. Aldman, 42, a writer of newspaper features, died at his home here today.

M'ADOO URGED TO WITHDRAW FROM RACE

His Floor Leader and Other Supporters Express Doubt That He Can Win.

M'ADOO HEADQUARTERS, VANDERBILT HOTEL, NEW YORK, July 8.—Indications here early today are that William G. McAdoo may be out of the race for the democratic presidential nomination before night. A group of his floor leaders, the United Press was informed, have told him they are convinced he cannot win the nomination. They have suggested that he cannot benefit by dragging on the contest and should gracefully retire. It is up to him to decide.

The crushing drive against McAdoo waged by his opponents appears to have caused a change of sentiment among his managers. There are reports also of contemplated deals to bring out a dark horse who would be agreeable to him.

McAdoo conferred last night with Mayor Hylan of New York, an ally of William Randolph Hearst, and a few hours later the Hearst newspapers, in a leading editorial, called for the nomination of Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, chairman of the convention and a strong McAdoo man. The McAdoo floor leaders, in conference last night and until 2 o'clock this morning, decided to put the question up to him. He is more insistent than his managers that he remain in the race. Judge Rothwell, his campaign manager, refused for the first time today to deny reports that his candidate would retire. Rothwell has always said that McAdoo would never quit.

If McAdoo refuses to retire, as suggested, a new effort will be made to change the rules so that a nomination can be made, it was said. Rothwell said that a resolution abolishing the rule requiring two-thirds vote, abrogating the unit rule and permitting a vote of 568 to nominate probably would be put before the convention for a vote. Rothwell feels that McAdoo should be able to poll 568 votes. It would, however, require a two-thirds vote to adopt the plan.

It is considered unlikely that McAdoo would withdraw without throwing his support to some man who would take support away from Smith. It is probable that Walsh and also E. P. Meredith of Iowa, a McAdoo leader, would command a portion of the Smith vote.

OLD SCHOOL HOUSE MAKE FINE SUMMER COTTAGE.

FORT WORTH.—H. F. Harris has probably the most unusual summer home in Texas. It is one of the second floor of the condemned school house in the seventh ward, and it's cool.

Harris, who is a repair man for the public schools, decided his own home would be too hot and stuffy during the summer months, so he and his family moved into the old building which is more than 80 years old.

United States Far In Lead In Olympic Contests At Paris

PARIS, July 8.—The United States increased its lead over Finland and the field by winning two first places today in the Olympic track and field games. England captured one first place. The official standing at the close of today was: United States 98, Finland 54, England 28 1-2, Sweden 14 1-2, France 9 1-2, Hungary 7 1-2, Switzerland 5, Norway 4, New Zealand 4.

NOW FOR A NOMINATION NEW SLOGAN

Eighth Day of Balloting Opens With No Candidate Having One-Third Vote.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 8.—Now for a nomination.

On this eighth day of balloting in the democratic national convention, the forest of ballots may be sufficiently cleared under foot to permit the delegates to select a candidate for the nomination. On the final ballot last night neither Smith nor McAdoo controlled the convention to holding the veto power. McAdoo had dropped to second place and though Smith had passed the Californian he was short his high mark of the convention and lacked four votes of the 366, or one-third of the voting strength, to give the veto power.

Showing a net loss of 18 votes on the first ballot of today as compared with the final ballot of last night, William G. McAdoo hit a new low level on the eighty-eighth ballot of the democratic national convention this morning. He received 315 1/2 votes, while Smith registered 363, but Smith at that was five short of his highest record and three short of one-third of all the votes or the veto power, so far as any other candidate was concerned.

Leaders on the floor predicted a shake-up after the first ballot, which was said to be merely a warming-up affair to impress on the McAdoo leaders that their candidate must withdraw or he would have to be pushed out. Ralston picked up a few stray votes and reached a new high with 98.

Concentration on a dark horse, however, was yet to come. Iowa was voting for Meredith, Arkansas for Robinson, Kansas for Davis and other favorite sons still were holding the balance of power.

Eighty-eighth Ballot.
The eighty-eighth ballot, the first one taken today, gave the following results: McAdoo 315 1/2, Smith 363, J. W. Davis 59 1/2, Underwood 39, J. W. Glass 66 1/2, Robinson 23, Ritchie 22 1/2, Salisbury 6, Walsh 5, Owen 20, Meredith 26, Jonathan Davis 20, Bryan 9, Daniels 23, Roosevelt 1.

Eighty-ninth Ballot.
McAdoo 318, Smith 357, J. W. Davis 64 1-2, Underwood 41, Ralston 101 1-2, Glass 66, Robinson 20, Ritchie 22 1-2, Salisbury 6, Walsh 5, Meredith 26, Jonathan Davis 22, Bryan 15, Daniels 19.

Ninetyth Ballot.
McAdoo 314, Smith 354 1-2, J. W. Davis 65 1-2, Underwood 42 1-2, Ralston 159 1-2, Glass 66 1-2, Robinson 20, Ritchie 16 1-2, Salisbury 6, Walsh 5, Meredith 26, Jonathan Davis 22, Bryan 15, Daniels 19.

Ninety-first Ballot.
McAdoo 318, Smith 355 1-2, Davis 66 1-2, Underwood 46 1-2, Ralston 187 1-2, Glass 28 1-2, Robinson 20, Ritchie 16 1-2, Salisbury 6, Walsh 4 1-2, Cummings 8 1-2, Meredith 26, Bryan 8, Jonathan Davis 4.

Ninety-second Ballot.
McAdoo 310, Smith 355 1-2, J. W. Davis 68 1-2, Underwood 44 1-2, Ralston 195 1-2, Glass 27, Robinson 20, Salisbury 6, Ritchie 16 1-2, Walsh 6, Callahan 1, Houston 2.

Ninety-third Ballot.
McAdoo 314, Smith 355 1-2, J. W. Davis 68 1-2, Underwood 44 1-2, Ralston 195 1-2, Glass 27, Robinson 20, Salisbury 6, Ritchie 16 1-2, Walsh 4 1-2, Cummings 8 1-2, Meredith 26, Bryan 8, Baker 2.

DAWES' REPORT ACCEPTED.

By a vote of 247 to 183 the German reichstag voted to accept the Dawes report. Opposition on the part of old imperialists was intense but the common people, who are weary of war and its awful penalties, are willing to pay the price and make the best of a sad situation. The only protest they offer is against the charge that Germany precipitated the war. They contend and propose to prove by official documents, that Germany was surrounded by a ring of steel and was compelled to fight for life.

AMBITIONS OF CANDIDATES IN SHEER DANGER

Unless Hindering Tactics Are Stopped, Some Feelings Likely to Get Hurt.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 8.—Six more ballots, bringing the total to 93, and the democratic national convention is still without a presidential nominee. With the deadlock still complete, the convention recessed shortly after the ninety-third ballot until 9 o'clock this evening when another effort will be made to select another standard-bearer.

Heads of the delegations are losing patience. Smith's forces are adamant. Some of the McAdoo leaders are not so firm as their chief. The national committee and state adherents, with remembrance of campaigns at home in conjunction with the national campaign, are about at the end of their string. They are demanding a nomination and steps that will make a nomination possible. With this situation in mind leaders will gather in conference this afternoon and early in the evening in an effort to agree on a candidate. The conference will be similar to Sunday's with representatives of the candidates attending.

The entire convention is disappointed that there was no nomination. This was ridiculed everywhere. Newton D. Baker, for instance, declaring that he was packed and ready to leave this afternoon. But the ballots will still grind on.

Samuel Ralston of Indiana was brought out for a ride that carried his name to 196 1/2 votes. McAdoo lost ground steadily. Smith merely held his own at 355 1/2. When the convention adjourned, Ralston workers indicated that his full strength was not yet revealed, but if the temper of the convention means anything, the conference this afternoon may determine the end. Some feelings are likely to be trampled on this afternoon and unless some of the nominees walk out they are likely to be thrown out.

Frank C. Davis of San Antonio, chairman of the state delegation, moved that further session of the convention be held in executive session, but it was howled down by a vice vote. George Brennan, saying that the deadlock must be broken, moved that the convention recess until tonight. There were cries of "no, no." Bruce Kramer seconded the motion. Brennan said that something might be accomplished in the discussion. Kramer declared that if the convention met tonight without an agreement being reached, he would throw McAdoo strength towards holding the convention until some nominee was named. Charles Hayes of St. Louis said that unless some of the delegations came prepared to help nominate some one instead of trying to hinder the nomination of someone else, it would make no difference how long the convention kept in session. He said it looked like the slogan of some of the delegates was "They shall not pass."

What the World Is Doing
 (As Seen by Popular Mechanics Magazine)

"Two-in-One" Electric Engine Has Gear Shift

By simply shifting the gears, the "L-5," a powerful electric locomotive now in use on the Pennsylvania railroad, can be adapted for hauling an express or passenger train at a speed of 46 miles an hour, or thrown into "low," where it develops a starting tractive effort of 100,000 pounds, and will haul a heavy freight train at a 23-mile-an-hour clip. This "two-in-one" engine weighs 408,000 pounds and can be operated with direct or alternating current. It was assembled in a month's time, said to be a record for the Altoona shops of the railroad, and was exhibited in Philadelphia as the latest development in elec-ported to be tougher than those of steel. The inventor expects the process to aid in hardening and strengthening common metals, and believes that the treatment, if applied to other minerals may result in materials that would permit moving machinery to travel at much greater speeds. The scientist is said to put raw rock salt under high heat pressures, thus changing its form and increasing its flexibility and strength.

Towing Small Boats

When the stream is flowing so fast or the wind blowing so hard that it is difficult to make headway by rowing, the simple stunt shown in the drawing offers an easy way of towing the boat along the bank or shore. Tie the boat line to both bow and stern, as shown. By paying out on the bow part of the line and holding in the stern line, the boat can be kept nearly parallel with the bank, while if only a bow line is used the current or wind will cause the bow to dig into the bank, making towing difficult. If a narrow creek is encountered, its mouth can be crossed in the boat as follows: Let out the bow and haul in the stern; this will cause the boat to lie close against the bank. Fasten the towline to an oar pushed slantingly (toward the water) into the bank. After walking across the creek in the boat, the oar is pulled out, which can readily be done on account of the slant at which it is placed.

Cleaning Crystals with Alcohol

The sensitiveness of a crystal determines to a great extent the receiving range of a set. Some crystals are much better than others in this respect, but even good ones are soon spoiled by improper care. Air causes the surface of the crystal to oxidize gradually, which of course decreases its efficiency. Dust particles in the air also lodge on the surface and adhere to it. The most trouble is, however, caused by handling the crystal, as the oil on the hands and fingers, which is imperceptible to the naked eye, insulates the surface of the crystal, and for this reason crystals should never be touched. An excellent method of cleaning crystals, which will in many cases restore the original sensitiveness, is to give them a bath in alcohol, using an old toothbrush to scrub them.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

HOUSTON POINTS WAY
 Houston, Texas, is pointing the way to many cities of much greater size in installing what is said to be the largest interlocked traffic signal system in the world. More than 200 intersections are controlled by a complete interlocked system. It has been reported that an effort will be made in Houston to control pedestrians as well as motorists to obey the signal lights. It will be interesting to see whether Houston succeeds because no other city to my knowledge has. Even New York can't control pedestrians without the use of traffic officers. But the fact remains that if pedestrians will be guided by traffic signals just like motorists are, accidents will be less. When motorists are instructed by signals to move there should be no obstructing pedestrian traffic.

PEOPLE DON'T ADMIRE ROUGH, PIMPLY SKIN

Before you can impress some one of the opposite sex enough to get them to share the happy state of love with you, you certainly must keep your appearance pleasing and attractive. Pimply, blotchy, eczemic skin seems ten times worse to strangers and new acquaintances. And even husbands, wives, parents and kin feel sorry for loved ones who suffer from such skin diseases.
 The way to get rid of all these drawbacks to affection and devotion from dear ones is to use Black and White Ointment, and Soap, like thousands of people are doing. They are economically priced, in liberal packages. The 50c size Black and White Ointment, contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and the Soap.—Advertisement.

PROHIBITION

Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, told the 1,200 members of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks that during the first two years of national prohibition savings increased $378,000,000 more than they had increased during the previous twenty years combined. That is one of the causes of the existence of twenty-two labor banks.

FLAPPER OF 14 SLAYS BROTHER.

ANNA BOBAR.

John Bobar, a 15-year-old Yonkers, N. Y., boy, was deeply religious. He stripped life of fun. When his daily task ended he sat down with his bible to find that salvation held up to him by the priest of the little Russian Orthodox Church he attended. His sister Anna is only 14. When the boy saw her in cheap silk dresses, with silk stockings and with her lips deeply carmined, he thought it the brand of damnation. She even spent 15 cents for a magazine that displayed on its cover a bare-necked girl. He tore it from her as "an instrument of the devil." The poor Russian mother could not patch up the quarrel. The girl was cutting a loaf of bread when the brother repeated she was "bad" and that some day he would have to kill her. She thrust the bread knife through his heart.

STOPPING OF CLOCKS IS CAUSE OF MANY RUMORS

PORT ARTHUR.—When wire trouble caused all Western Union clocks in the city to stop at 9 o'clock the report spread quickly that the democratic deadlock had been broken. Many persons thought the president had died. By noon, the clocks were running again.

'Tis Fashionable To Be Broke In German Financial Circles

BERLIN (By mail to United Press.)—Recently it has become fashionable in German business circles to be "pleite," or "broke," while heretofore it was necessary even for comparatively small business men to pose as little "Morgans." Nowadays even those apparently doing prosperous business like to talk about their "difficulties", and while it used to be the style to appear to be a spendthrift, it now pays to appear to be a miser. Only in this way does the German business man have a chance to get a "prospective" receivership.

The market for long term credits is absolutely neglected in Germany. People who want to invest money do so on the money market where only short term credits are demanded.

However, the profitability of this line of business is bound to end with the settlement of the reparation question at the latest. In the future, many will regret not having invested their money in 8 per cent gold bonds purchasable at 60 per cent below par offering a chance of obtaining besides 20 per cent interest, a gain of 150 per cent in capital.

Dr. Schacht, president of the reichsbank, realizing this abnormal situation, urges that the provisions concerning gilt-edge bonds be amended so that investors will be compelled to put their money into long term credits.

A practical attempt in this respect—in a small compass—has already been made by the Prussian minister of commerce, who prohibited savings banks under his supervision from extending short term credits in order to reap high interests for a short term instead of investing the money in gilt-edge bonds.

Following the urgent petitions of financial experts, the minister of justice has prepared an amendment to the "Geschäftsaufsicht" law whereby damages done to the economic life of the country by the application of this war-time measure can be eliminated.

Experts, however, still doubt whether now, that the damage has been done, it can be remedied speedily by the country's well being demands.

The "Geschäftsaufsicht", or "protective", receivership is one of the laws introduced at the beginning of the war by Dr. Helfferich.

Ranger Ball Fans Must Answer Hurry Call For Tonight

Fans who are interested in having Ranger represented with a baseball team in the Oil Belt association the second half of the season are requested to meet at the city hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Unless some plan can be evolved by which the club indebtedness can be removed, the chances for Ranger maintaining her place in the association are rather slim. The Nitro crew have been going strong until the last two weeks and through the loss of several players have been weakened in offensive strength, which was felt Sunday in the Thurber game. Work was promised to the players and so far jobs for only a few of the men have been procured.

The secretary of the organization, C. A. Love, says that quick action is necessary immediately, or Ranger will not be represented in the Oil Belt association the second half of the season. It is up to the fans and business men of the town if they want a baseball team here and tonight will see the final decision made in regard to keeping the team here.

SUGGESTIONS FOR LUNCHEONS FOR TWO WEEKS

Helen Harrington Downing, Dietician, Offers Fourteen Excellent Menus.

The planning of luncheon is possibly the most difficult task for the busy housekeeper who has children coming home to lunch, unexpected guests or when a seamstress or other outsider is in the house, according to Helen Harrington Downing, director of home economics for the Calumet Baking Powder Co., Chicago, Ill., who gives luncheon menus for two weeks.

In the menus suggested for luncheon, provision is made for utilizing left-overs from the day before, whenever possible, and at the same time selecting dainty and wholesome dishes.

The quick breads, hot biscuits and muffins, are exceedingly popular for the mid-day meal. They are easily prepared and nutritious.

Copy of "Monograph on Muffins" will be mailed to readers writing to the home economics department, Calumet Baking Powder company, Chicago, Ill. This monograph contains a number of exceptionally good muffin receipts.

JOE BURKETT TELLS THINGS HE STANDS FOR

KAUFMAN, Texas, July 8.—Joe Burkett, candidate for governor, spoke here last night. In the course of his address he said:

"One of my opponents tells you that he stands for more business in government and less government in business. And yet he fights business in government with bulldog tenacity. The truth of the matter is that he wants government run favorably to the money-grabbers—he wants a 'businesses' government instead of a business government. He is in the lumber business, and isn't in it for the good he might do the common people.

"You notice that he hasn't inaugurated any profit-sharing plans for the benefit of his employees and neither would he permit the people of Texas to share in the great plan of government. Why, he says that a three-headed government is ridiculous; that he will not appoint any three-headed committees—that one man is all that is needed. He claims to be a rock-ribbed democrat and agitates absolute monarchism from the beginning of his speeches to the end. He doesn't want to be governor of Texas—he wants to be czar.

Talk and Promises.
"He talks business, business, business, and has never yet outlined his financial program. He asks the people of Texas to follow him blindly, to trust him and ask no questions. He has offered you nothing but empty promises. The people of Texas want an economic construction administration and I am the only one in the race who is offering just that. I am the only one who is offering them something tangible. All the rest, the business candidate included, have attempted to stand on some of the principles advocated by me, but they were a bit reticent and didn't

SPRAY TO KILL BOLL WEEVIL OFFERED FARMERS

D. J. Moss of the Moss Gin company, who operates cotton gins at Cisco, Eastland and Ranger, has arranged to give 50 gallons of Texaco B. Q. Concentrate, manufactured by the Texas company, to kill boll weevils, to the first 50 farmers applying to the Eastland Chamber of Commerce for it, one gallon to each farmer. This is also being done at Ranger and Cisco.

Mr. Moss does not guarantee that this spray will be effective, but believes it worth trying and desires to assist the farmers in this section. One gallon is said to be sufficient to spray one-half acre, by which time the farmer may determine whether he wishes to buy more.

In a circular issued by the Texas company it is stated that B. Q. Concentrate will not injure the growing cotton plant to any material extent, that when brought in contact, in the form of spray or mist, with the boll weevil, pupa or larva it will kill the same and that it acts as a repellent to the weevil and other insects.

WALTER HIERS TELLS WHY HE'LL NEVER BE PRESIDENT

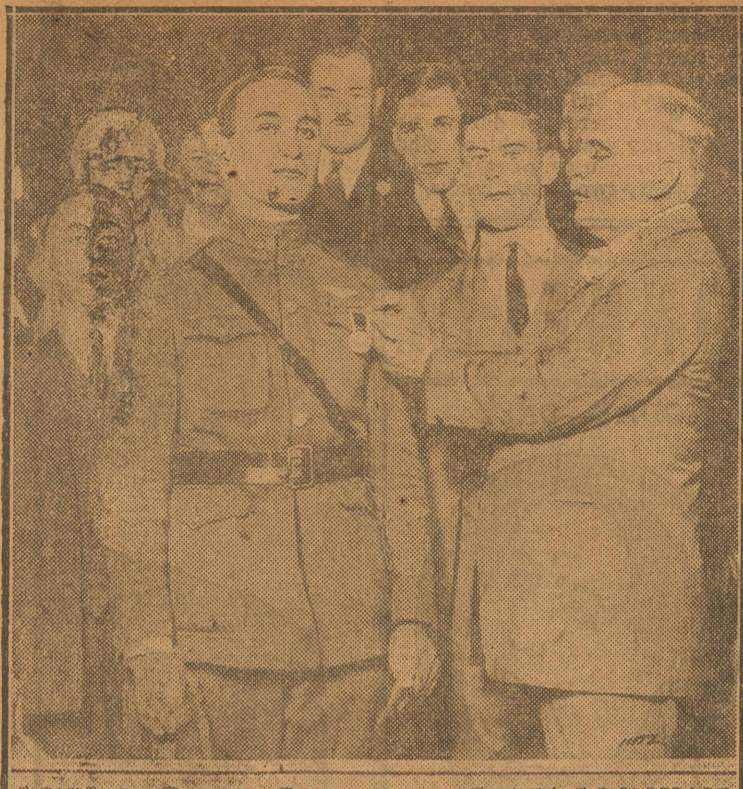

"I wanted to be a railroad engineer when a boy, but grew out of it, and right off the reel, I might say that in spite of the fact that my mother, like all American mothers, fondly hoped I should become president of the United States, I have no such ambition. The job only lasts four years, as a rule, and anyway I'm no golf player.

"Tubby, tiny, slim, bubbles, slats—that's what I had to stand in my school days.

"It may be well to state that I am the pne heavyweight comedian who does not aspire to play Falstaff."

Walter Hiers' new Paramount star picture, "Fair Week," with Constance Wilson playing in support, comes to the Conneelee theatre today. Rob Warner did the directing. Carmen Phillips and Mary Jane Irving also have prominent roles.

SAN FRANCISCO HONORS "SUN RACERS."

MAYOR ROLFE DECORATES LIEUT. MAUGHAN.

Before he hopped off from San Francisco on his leisurely return flight to Mitchell Field, Long Island, Lieutenant Russell Maughan, U. S. get on strongly enough. They just picked the things that they figured would bring them votes and they do not know what to do with them now that they have them. I am going to outline my platform and I want you to take it down. Then read the other candidates' platforms, compare them, and you will see for yourself the things that the others claim as their own. My platform was published over a year ago and again in full in January of this year. These are the things I stand for:

Planks in Platform.
"Central state bank, reduction of interest rate from 10 to 8 per cent, adjusted compensation for all soldiers of the world war, high school education for every child in Texas, a connected system of state highways, water conservation and flood control, strict law enforcement by lawful authorities, court reforms in order to expedite trial of cases, consolidation of all bureaus, commissions and departments whenever feasible, and the abolition of many others, the reduction of the expenses of the state government wherever at all possible and cutting the taxes

—AND SOME IN VELVET GOWNS"

As the old nursery rhyme hath it, there are always "some in velvet gowns," because there is a soft aristocratic richness about velvet which no other fabric has. But there are some seasons when this fabric is more triumphant than others. So it has been this year, and already a magnificent velvet season is predicted by fashion authorities for the fall. Printed velvets, cut velvets, in Chinese designs and colors will be worn, according to Henri Creange, authority on textile fashions, in gorgeous gowns, wraps, and for rich lining effects.

The Social Side of Bread Making In Cochin-China

A GOOD time is had by all concerned in the bread making process in Cochin-China, where this large mortar and pestle effect is extremely popular for dough mixing. The operation, with sublime disregard for laws of sanitation is conducted in the wide open spaces where germs are germs. The rigid cleanliness exercised in the model American bakery to prevent dust or germs from entering the dough mixture would doubtless be excessively surprising to the Cochin-Chinese. As would also the sight of the airy, sunshiny dough room in a Ward bakery, where rows upon rows of long troughs filled with the dough mixture, like the one shown in the small picture, are left to rise from three to five hours. These modern dough rooms are equipped with a refrigerating and heating system so that the temperature will be the same in summer as in winter, and also with humidifiers to keep the atmosphere moist.
