HANGING CASE CONSTRUCTED BY STATE ATTORNEY

"Friendly Judge" Testimony Appears Weakest Link in Evidence Submitted.

By United Press. CRIMINAL COURTROOM, Chicago, July 29.—Having constructed what he terms the "perfect hanging" case, State's Attorney Crowe today buttressed his structure with the remainder of the concessions and other statements of Nathan Leopold, Jr. and Richard Loeb at the judicial hearing for the slaying of Robert Franks, the 14-year old schoolboy, son of Jacob Franks millionaire manufacturer. These documents, which were entered in the records last yesterday, will conclude the state's case, Crowe said.

Reports were current that Clarence Darrow, leading attorney for the defense, was considering changing the plea of "guilty," because of the introduction of the "friendly judge" testimony by a state witness. Leopold was quoted by a state witness as saying that if brought before a "friendly" judge he would get off with a light sentence.

When asked about this rumor, Darrow said: "I have certainly heard nothing about it." Another of the defense attorneys said that nothing could be more absurd.

Crowe said that he would produce more testimony to substantiate the "friendly judge" evidence, and thus disprove the defense's charge that it was "unsubstantiated." Crowe had 5 detectives working all last night and said today that five witnesses would take the stand to support the "friendly judge" testimony.

STUMBLE IN DARK LEADS TO DETECTION OF CRIME

By United Press. CRIMINAL COURT ROOMS, CHICAGO, July 29.—A stumble may plunge Leopold and Loeb to the gallows for murdering Robert Franks. In various documents, including the confession which was being read in court today, Leopold is quoted as saying he believed he lost his spectacles when he stumbled in the darkness while disposing of the body.

Leopold's confession went over much the same ground covered by Crowe in his "perfect hanging" case.

Leopold said that he had no particular victim in mind, but when they made a reconnoitering expedition to the playground of the Harvard school, John Levington, 9 1/2-year-old son of a Chicago corporation lawyer, was considered, but John left the playground unexpectedly and Franks was invited to go riding.

France May Agree To Evacuate Ruhr Region in October

LONDON, July 29.—Under pressure from an American-British banking group, France has yielded her rights to separate action and Premier Herriot proposes to recommend evacuation of the Ruhr October 15, according to reliable information today. This is regarded as the turning point in the inter-allied reparations negotiations, which now only await acquiescence by France before going ahead with the machinery of the expert's plan.

The French proposals are being guarded with great secrecy. The French delegation is still working on them and they will not be ready until late tonight. In return for concessions, France wants absolute priority to the first 26 billion gold francs collected under the Dawes' plan. The figure named by France, 26 billion gold francs, covers the remaining cost of restoring the remaining devastated region, it is claimed. This proposal is certain to arouse a vigorous protest from Belgium, Italy and other countries having claims against Germany. Great Britain may object and even the United States has a claim for expenses for her army of occupation which would be prejudiced.

PROPOSED MERGER OF I. & G. N. AND MO. PAC. ARGUED IN LOUISIANA

By United Press. NEW ORLEANS, La., July 29.—Acquisition of the International & Great Northern Railroad by the Missouri Pacific Railroad would add approximately $2,000,000 to the latter's yearly revenue, according to William H. Williams, chairman of the Missouri Pacific.

Williams is appearing before the Louisiana Public Service Commission, which is hearing arguments for and against the proposed merger. The Louisiana Railroad Commission is opposing the merger on the ground that it would tend to impair the railway service within the state. Williams is contending that the merger would be to the interest of shippers in Louisiana.

He and Mrs. Bates Visit Plant At South Bend, Ind.; Also Attend Lions Convention

R. J. (Bobbie) Bates and Mrs. Bates have returned from a trip to South Bend, Ind., where they visited the Studebaker automobile factories, enthusiastic over their trip. They made the trip, going and coming, in their Studebaker car, and had no trouble of any kind at any point along the way.

Going from their home in Eastland by way of Ranger, they were accompanied by Omaha, Neb., where they attended the International Lions convention, by N. N. Rosenquest of Eastland, and Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Logsdon of Ranger, who also went in their cars. After the convention, they drove to South Bend where the Studebaker factories are located and received a most hospitable welcome. They were shown all over the immense plants and were guests of the Studebaker "family," by whom they were entertained.

The Studebaker plant and the company organization are both wonderful," said Mr. Bates. "It is no wonder they can turn out such perfect cars. Notwithstanding, however, that the Studebaker has reached such a point of perfection, the company has a corps of experts who are constantly experimenting along with the cars, the engines, every part connected with the automobile, and each year, in consequence, the Studebaker company is turning better and better cars. The improvements and new devices which always please users of Studebaker cars.

From South Bend, Mr. and Mrs. Bates went to Chippewa Falls, Wis., where they visited Mrs. C. A. Cotton, and on their return trip south they stopped in St. Louis and visited the distributing plant of the Chevrolet company.

"We had a delightful trip from start to finish, but we are glad to be at home again," said Mr. Bates. "We found plenty of work awaiting us and have been mighty busy since our return."

When the Siren On Fire Truck Sounds People Must Beware

A near-accident was avoided this morning when the driver on a Ranger fire truck, answering a call to Young addition, slowed up and avoided a car, the driver of which refused to stop or draw up to the curb when he heard the siren. There is a Ranger city ordinance to the effect that all vehicles must pull to the curb whenever possible and stop. Failure to comply with this ordinance is punishable with a fine.

The Ranger chief of police said that all persons caught violating this ordinance would be arrested and prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

REVOLUTION IN BRAZIL APPEARS NEAR ITS END

Rebel Forces Evacuate Sao Paulo and, With Ranks Broken, Are Scattering

By United Press. BUENOS AIRES, July 29.—Brazilian federal troops are in complete control of the city of Sao Paulo today, but it is not certain if the rebellious state troops have surrendered or evacuated the city for strategic reasons. Two communiques issued by the Brazilian government in Rio de Janeiro yesterday are somewhat contradictory. The first announced that the rebel forces had capitulated, while a later communique said the rebels had been forced to evacuate the city of Sao Paulo. It appears probable that what really happened is that the rebels were forced out of the city and, with ranks broken, are endeavoring to make their way to adjoining countries.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 29.—Federal troops are bringing about normal conditions in Sao Paulo with the restoration of order there, according to a communique issued by the government. Governor Carlos de Campos has returned to the city and to his position as chief of the state government, but martial law continues. The main column of rebel troops, which evacuated Sao Paulo yesterday, appears to have escaped into the interior, although this has not been confirmed by the communique, which says:

"Revolutionary leaders have escaped, but the government has ordered their capture."

It is assumed that the rebels are disbanding and are fleeing towards Mato Grosso.

LETTER "W" IS FOUND EMBEDDED WITHIN THE CENTER OF WATERMELON

B. B. Brock janitor at Ranger high school, discovered the letter "W" perfectly formed in the heart of a watermelon he cut open Monday at noon. The melon, Mr. Brock said, came from the farm of Terrace White, about 5 miles southeast of Ranger, and was presented to him that morning. He luckily cut exactly through the center of the letter as it was perfectly imbedded on both halves of the melon and was located about one inch from the heart.

Upon examining the watermelon and seeing that the letter was an actual fact, Mr. Brock said, "Never again will I doubt the word of a person who claims to have found a letter or anything else in a watermelon." I have heard of such occurrences before, but this is the first time that I ever actually saw one.

DUTY OF THE COMMERCIAL ORGANIZATION

Porter Whaley Tells How It May Operate to Benefit and Advance City.

"The Duty of the Commercial Organization" is the subject of a communication just sent out by Porter A. Whaley, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. In it he tells why each city should have a commercial organization and how it may operate for the benefit and advancement of the city. Mr. Whaley writes:

"Why should a city have a commercial organization? Because if it lives up to its duties, it will be the most potent force in the community for progress. Its duties are to do anything and everything necessary for and incident to the upbuilding and the better building of the city and its environs. Its duty is not only to make a city grow but also to make it a better, a more sanitary, a prettier and more enjoyable place in which to live.

"Its province or field of work reaches out into every branch and takes cognizance of every phase of the city's life. The commercial interests, wholesale, retail, and manufacturing; the professional interests; the government of the city, county and state, the social side of the city's life where it touches the question of public morals and health; all of these and in truth every channel of activity comes under its practical eye.

Forming Compact Whole. "The commercial organization has a first duty in that it must bring all of the elements of the entire community, county as well as city, together into one compact body working for the uplift of the community. It must teach the individuals composing these elements the lesson of achievement through co-operation. It must arouse the citizenry from the old time lethargy to a quickened interest in the city's progress and everywhere preach the gospel of sane, safe and sound development, unselfishness, public-spiritedness and civic pride. Its motto must be, 'If it's good for the community, then let us have it.' What helps the city as a whole, has a like beneficial effect upon everyone within its boundaries.

"Not only the business and professional men make good 'boosters,' but also the young men, the clerks in the stores, the women both in the house and in the office or store and the children in the schools. It is the duty of the commercial organization to so spread its propaganda of development as to obtain the efficient aid of all these forces. Many organizations secure much of their force and power from their women's auxiliaries. In campaigns for sanitation and beauty, their help is incalculable.

"The commercial organization has a duty toward the city government which it cannot afford to overlook in spite of the howls of the politician who knows his power is on the decline when the business interests cast their microscopic eyes of investigation upon his maneuvers. Every effort should be made to work with the administration in an amicable way, but if this is not possible, it is the duty of the commercial organization to continue to interest itself in the affairs of the city government.

"The civic body has this right because its members are the heavy taxpayers, its business men make the city habitable. No city could run without them. They are vital and so, being vital, they have the first moral right to speak in the control and management of the city affairs.

Eye On Legislation. "It is the duty of the civic body to interest itself in all legislative matters which may have an effect upon the city. The astute ability and acumen of the business mind is necessary for the successful handling of such questions as taxation. It needs a business head to work out the intricacies of financing great public improvements. The unselfish democracy of the commercial organization is needed to keep its finger on the pulse of the whole body politic.

"It is the duty of the commercial organization to conduct its affairs upon a business basis. Whether in the location of industries or in an effort to secure new and larger parks there should be a business like method adopted.

"It is the duty of the civic body to interest itself in education matters. Upon the schools depend the future ability and activity of the city's people. The civic body can and should exert its most wholesome influence for the continual development of the school system.

"It is the duty of the commercial organization to give sound publicity to the city's advantages and to do everything in its power to eliminate all forms of detrimental publicity. It is its duty to endeavor in all right ways to attract new residents and new business and to assist in their location in all legitimate ways.

MRS. FERGUSON HOLDING SECOND PLACE IN COUNT

Lynch Davidson in Third Place With More Than Half All Votes Counted.

By United Press. TEMPLE, July 29.—"I am glad for Jim's sake," said Mrs. Miriam M. Ferguson today.

"Miriam will be hard to beat. We are all satisfied with the way things are going," said James E. Ferguson. Thus the first woman gubernatorial candidate in Texas and her husband, who was impeached and refused a place on last Saturday's primary ballot by the Texas supreme court, today expressed their pleasure over the primary returns that are coming in. Mrs. Ferguson is running second in the count and is the possible opponent of Felix D. Robertson, Ku Klux Klan candidate, in the run-off primary in August.

Mrs. Ferguson's lead over Lynch Davidson, third in the race, was approximately 4,000 votes at noon today. Ballots yet to be counted are largely from rural and outlying districts, where "Farmer Jim," who energetically stumped the state for his wife, is conceded to have a strong following.

Robertson's plurality over Mrs. Ferguson nearest to him in the race, is approximately 50,000 votes.

FIGURES AT NOON TODAY.

DALLAS, July 29.—Mrs. Miriam M. Ferguson, wife of James E. Ferguson, former governor who was impeached and removed from office and barred from again holding any state office, is maintaining her lead over Lynch Davidson for second place in the democratic primary elections of last Saturday. Figures have been compiled by the Texas election bureau from 237 out of 252 counties in the state, 67 of them complete, which show Felix D. Robertson, candidate of the Ku Klux Klan, is leading the ticket with a plurality of more than 50,000 votes, and that he will be opposed in the second primary, late in August, by either Mrs. Ferguson or Lynch Davidson. The figures were announced at noon today.

The total vote so far compiled is 593,243, with the following results in the gubernatorial race: Felix D. Robertson, 165,248. Mrs. James E. Ferguson, 121,794. Lynch Davidson, 118,188. T. W. BIBLE THOUGHT
CURSING OR BLESSING?
 Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arm, and whose heart departeth from the Lord.
 Blessed is the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.—Jeremiah 17:5, 7.

SQUARE DEAL FOR CHILD.
 The mothers of this age should not think so much of a business or professional career, but give a thought to their children. Nothing can really take the place of mother love for children, and the sooner mothers realize it the better. They need a certain amount of attention by their mothers, and the few minutes in the morning and evening working mothers give them are not enough. They make the situation more of a calamity. The children would be better off without them and happier at a boarding school, where they are tied down definitely for a certain number of hours a day and in competent hands the rest of the time.

The woman who lets her career prevent her from seeing to her children properly will never have any great influence in their lives. Nor can she ever hope to, for her children regard her with very little interest which becomes less and less as they grow up.

There is no mother substitute, and the modern woman must learn this. The mother is the backbone of a child's life and there is no getting away from it. The women who feel this motherhood is asking too much of them and don't want to be annoyed, wasting their talents bringing up children, should not marry—or else should not have children. There is no substitute. One is either a mother or is not a mother. A woman is not giving her children a square deal bringing them up into the world and then deserting them. A child who spends his time outside of school in the streets or the "movies" is likely to become a neurotic. And aside from that the children are not taught the proper attitude of parents. They, in turn, will be as cold and unconcerned with their children.

The advanced age we live in is good for the children. The radio, automobile and advancements of science are all widening the range of the child and its mental interests, which is a good step. That is all part of the education of the child that is continually going on whether upward or downward. And because no one can prevent or stop this education for a moment, it is up to the modern mother to see that it is the right sort—that her children are getting a square deal out of life.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE.
 State assistance to the unemployed is to be a right and not a charity in Great Britain. The Liberal amendment to raise the benefit for dependent children was opposed by the government and rejected with the help of Conservatives. On the other hand, the government amendment to reduce from six to three days the period during which the unemployed must wait before becoming entitled to any benefit, was passed by a large majority. The government agreed to abandon the proposal which would have enabled a worker rendered jobless by a walkout to receive an insurance benefit provided he himself was not participating in such a walkout. Instead, a Liberal proposal was inserted which makes eligibility for the benefit in such cases dependent upon proof by the applicant that neither he nor the trade-union to which he belongs is participating in, or financing, or directly interested in such a walkout. This much-debated measure which provides for increased assistance to the unemployed thus has been materially modified. The funds are to be paid partly by the worker, partly by the employer and partly by the taxpayer.

PRISONER FINED WHEN HE SHOWS DISLIKE OF JAIL.

FORT WORTH, Texas.—Because he saw fit to express his dislike of the city "hotel", Sergeant Bernie Bankston is $5 further from freedom.

Bankston was arrested for brandishing a revolver in a theatre during an argument with two women. He said he didn't like the jail, and proceeded to kick a fellow prisoner in the face. When breakfast was served next morning, he further emphasized his dislike by practically ruining the tin pan in which the food was served.

The judge added $5 to his "charge account" and confined Bernie to jail until he can raise $30 cash bond.

CLEANER COURTHOUSE DEMANDED, SOMETHING MAY SOON BE STARTED

A movement has been started by employes about the courthouse to have the commissioners' court order renovations and a general cleaning of the building on the inside. There is scarcely an office in the building that is respectable, it is claimed. The furniture in most of the offices also needs cleaning and revarnishing. What is really needed, the employes say, is a new courthouse, but that is out of the question now so they expect to ask the court to have the various offices made as presentable a possible.

EXPRESSION OF THANKS

From the depths of my heart, I want to thank the good people of Eastland county for their splendid support given me in the recent primary election. No man ever had more dependable friends. To the ones that opposed me there is no feeling of grief or malice against any living soul. It will be the desire of my life to make every one the very best officer possible. One of the greatest memories of the campaign is that so many ministers of the gospel gave me such hearty support.

Yours,
ELZO BEEN.

TO THE VOTERS OF COMMISSIONERS' PRECINCT NO. ONE.

I take this method of expressing my thanks to the voters of my precinct for the hearty and enthusiastic support given me in the recent primary election. I wish to state that I have no ill feeling against my opponent or any one that saw fit to support him.

It is my desire and purpose to give the people of my precinct and county the continued service in the future as I have in the past.

Your public servant,
V. V. COOPER.

LATEST BROADCASTING DEVICES AT UP-TO-DATE STATION OF THE WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC PLANT

By United Press.

EAST PITTSBURG, Pa., July 26. Thoroughly aware that short wave or high frequency wave broadcasting will bring forth the greatest future developments in radio broadcasting, the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company is operating a new specially designed station, erected at a cost of several hundred thousand dollars.

The new building is a one-story concrete and brick structure, located on the Greensburg Pike, from which the short wave station or KDKA is now being operated. The site chosen is within a few feet of being the highest spot in Allegheny county.

When first installed, and put in operation a few years ago, the KDKA transmitter was located on the top of a nine-story building directly in the heart of the East Pittsburgh works. Steel buildings, known to have an absorbing effect on radio waves, completely surrounded the set and, in addition, it was located in a valley with hills on three sides. Besides doing away with these troublesome features, the new radio experimental station has been so designed that all apparatus contained in it is located symmetrically with respect to all other apparatus.

Basement Chambers. The basement is divided into several rooms, and the main chamber contains the high power transformer, plant, motor, generator sets, filters, chokes and other apparatus. The remainder of the basement is occupied by the battery room, furnace room and storage space.

Power is brought into the basement through underground ducts from two separate sources, both of which are 4,000 volt, three-phase, 60 cycle. The current supply may be speeded up or down, as needed. The available power supply is in the neighborhood of 250 kilowatts, which can be increased if necessary.

With this basement arrangement all bulky apparatus is located out of the transmitting room and is never in sight.

The main apparatus room on the first floor of the building, in which are located the oscillator, modulator and rectifier panels, is large and spacious and, having windows on all four sides, is well lighted by day.

Rectifier Design. The rectifier which furnishes high voltage to the plates of the water-cooled tubes, is mounted in a specially designed frame so that every part of the apparatus is accessible. Replacements and observations can be conveniently made because every part of the unit is in full view of the observer. The rectifier has a capacity which can be pushed to 150 kilowatts, if necessary, and is the result of several years' experimenting of the Westinghouse people in short-wave broadcasting.

The rectifier is a three-phase type, having a tube on each side of the line or a total of six water-cooled rectifier tubes. In front of each tube is a helix of rubber tubing to permit the use of city water to cool the tubes. On the front of the panel is a row of knife switches used to regulate the voltage of the transformers, thus governing the output of the rectifier.

Oscillator Panel. The oscillator panel is of the same general construction as the rectifier panel, using high-power, water-cooled, copper-anode transmitting tubes. Ordinarily the tubes are paralleled and subjected to about half its rated capacity and an unusually long life in tubes results. Another reason for paralleling tubes is that, operating on high frequency waves causes unusual stresses and strains to develop, not encountered in the ordinary radiating wave lengths and some safety factor is desirable. Immediately behind the tubes is the tuning inductor.

In front of the panel are located the various indicating meters. As in the case of the rectifier, every part of the oscillator panel can be observed and replacements made without difficulty. The modulator panel, using the same general type of tubes, has a switching arrangement whereby the number of tubes used and the amount of power used can be regulated. Indicating meters are mounted on the front of the panel and there also is a modulating meter which shows how strongly the energy generated by the oscillator is being modulated.

Adjoining the main room and extending a few feet into it is the control room. The front and extended sides of the room have glass windows so that every part of the apparatus may be constantly seen by the op-

THREE CITIES ORGANIZE CIVIC OPERA ASSOCIATION

Civic opera has been given an impetus throughout the country by plans made this spring to extend the movement to several cities, among them Milwaukee, Harrisburg, Pa., and Miami, Fla. An evidence of the interest aroused in Milwaukee was the sending of a party of representatives to study at first hand the organization of the municipal opera in St. Louis. A later step was the adoption by the Civic Opera association of a novel plan for arousing city-wide interest in Milwaukee. The plan called for the organization of several separate units, each of which was to have a specific part in promoting the enterprise. Unit No. 1 is composed of younger business men, and is to guarantee the necessary financial assistance. It has authorized Becher Burton to organize an opera company on a broad basis. Mr. Burton has presented various light operas with resident talent and has long had in mind the formation of an outdoor opera association. The performances planned by him will be given in the spring of 1925, after the park season has opened. It is hoped that if the various units arouse a hearty interest on the part of the public, the plan will be officially endorsed by the park board.

Other units will be composed of teachers of music in the public and parochial schools, private music teachers and representatives of fraternal organizations.

Pennsylvania's state capital gave a verdict of approval upon the first production of its new Civic Opera association during the National Music Week. That presentation was of Reginald de Koven's "Robin Hood." The founding of the association is chiefly due to Mrs. Florence Ackley Ley, now director of the Wilmer and Vincent community service bureau and formerly head of a similar bureau conducted by the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Ley is the production manager and conductor of the association, and the president is Howard E. Gensler, leader of the Fifth Street Methodist church choir. The association is to present a standard opera or opera every week. No other than residents of the city will take part, and no one connected with the venture will receive a salary. The orchestra, under the direction of Viola Burch, organist of the First Baptist church, will also be recruited from the city's musicians. "Robin Hood" will be repeated in the fall, and the spring production will be selected by popular vote.

Like Milwaukee's opera season, that of Miami will be in the open air, but the time chosen is the winter months, when the city is filled with tourists. The venture is under the auspices of the Miami Advertising club and it will be under the artistic direction of Edgar Louis Keuling, assisted in executive details by a committee from the club. His enterprise has been underwritten by leading business men. The opera troupe will include a number of resident singers and certain winter visitors. Local singers will form the chorus.

I wish to thank the citizenship of Eastland county for the vote given me last Saturday. Although, I was unable to get a majority of the votes cast, I appreciate the support given me to the same extent as if nominated. To those who supported my candidacy I shall always appreciate your efforts. To those who did not support me I have nothing except the very kindest feelings.

After a short rest I expect to get back into the harness and discharge the duties of my office the remainder of my term to the very best of my ability, as has been my custom in the past.

JOE H. JONES.

MEN AND WOMEN IN NEWS OF THE DAY.

To play a prank on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lehr, American residents of Paris, Mrs. Gurnee Munn, formerly Marie Louise Wanamaker, of New York and Philadelphia, left a small managerie in the ornate salon of the Lehrs' sumptuous apartment in the aristocratic Faubourg St. Germain. A monkey chewed up a priceless curtain, and Mrs. Lehr "cut" Mrs. Munn dead at a social function. Baroness Wardenor Houlbat, formerly Harriette Lorraine, international dancer, recently secured a divorce from her husband and accepted $120,000 as alimony, believing he was only "moderately rich." Now she has sailed from New York for Genoa, Italy, to sue him for an additional $500,000, having learned that he is worth $10,000,000. General Frank T. Hines, director of the Veterans' Bureau, has begun an intensive campaign for more scientific care and treatment of the 25,000 disabled veterans of the World War.

FALL OF GERMAN REPUBLIC IN TRADING FOR DAWES' VOTES IS FEARED BY ABLE BERLIN EDITOR

By CARL D. GROAT (United Press Staff Correspondent) BERLIN, July 26. — The Dawes drafts are scheduled for Reichstag passage in August.

But their passage will be assured, according to Georg Bernhard, editor of the Vossische Zeitung, by governmental concessions to the old "protectionist clique of the Kaiser days." This clique—the Junkers of Prussia, Mecklenburg and Pomerania—will be granted protective tariffs for their products in return for keeping their members in line when the Dawes vote comes along.

Bernhard's warning is echoed elsewhere. The fight now proceeding in Germany is not merely a question of protective tariff versus free trade. It is a question of high costs of living for the worker on one side, with high profits for the Junkers aforementioned; likewise it is a question of "privilege" such as obtained during the days of Kaiser Wilhelm. And its outcome will have an important bearing on the fate of the republic. Many voices warn that if the Junkers are again allowed free hand public in their permission for holding on August 3 a memorial day for the "war victims." The celebration was a concession to the Fascist and nationalist elements, who were disgruntled that a week later the "Constitution Day" would be celebrated with the Republican organization "Republik Banner Schwarz-Rot-Gold" represented for the first time.

"One cannot serve the republic and please the monarchists simultaneously," he declares. "That may perhaps be a national-liberal ideal. But what one does in the spirit of this ideal is, in practice, nothing else than the beginning of the painting over of the republican firm sign. One still doesn't dare to paint with a black brush. One starts by trying to make the letters of the firm a bit illegible."

"But one is already preparing to frustrate the fight for the republic. One promises the nationalists protective tariffs for their grains as the price for calling off their forces in the debates over the Dawes laws. In this way, the dissolution of the reichstag shall, in all events, be prevented, so that later, when the question of the division of the burdens of the Dawes project becomes pressing, the old reactionary clique from the Kaiser's days can elude to their bustion."

"If the republicans let that happen to them, then they deserve the fate which is being concocted for them in all official branches."

THE JOY OF LIVING
The joy of living comes from the ability to satisfy simple needs in a wholesome way. A well-managed home contributes more to the happiness of a community than two cars in the garage. Those who conduct their financial affairs in a systematic, orderly way through the use of this Institution know the joy of living in its very essence. We solicit your business.
