You paid $68 to run the local, state and federal government in 1922. Directly or indirectly it came out of your pocket. The people earned $65,000,000,000, but the government took away $7,000,000,000. Where did it go?

The cost of the Federal government to each man, woman and child was $29 last year. As recently as 1916, it was only $7. The war is not over; each one of us pays $10 a year interest instead of the pre-war 24 cents, and each person is loaded with $200 of the huge federal debt. Among the immense government departments, the Veterans' Bureau takes 18 per cent of the expenditures, close behind the Navy Department with 21 per cent and the War Department with 20 per cent. State and local governments got $39 of the $68. The average citizen paid 183 per cent more to the state in 1922 than in 1912, 141 per cent more to the country, and 80 per cent more to the city. Debts for these divisions, plus the federal government, saddle each worker in the United States with $780. Every eleven of these workers over sixteen are supporting one public employee -and it is costing our many wage year and be among the lucky guests earners over ten years of age some $91 a year to support these 3,400, 000 public employees.

A STORY MARK TWAIN TOLD. A Washingtonian who was a friend of the great humorist says that Mark Twain once sat in the smoking-room of a steamer and listened for an hour to some remarkable stories.

"Boys," he drawled, "these feats of yours recall an adventure of my own in Hannibal. There was a fire one night, and old man Hankinson got caught in the fourth story of the huming house. None of the ladder got caught in the fourth story of the burning house. None of the ladders was long enough to reach him. The crowd stared at one another with awed eyes. Nobody could think of anything to do. Then all of a sudden, boys, an idea occurred to me. 'Fetch a rope!' I yelled.

"Somebody fetched a rope, and with great presence of mind I flung the end of it up to the old man. 'Tie her around your waist!' I yelled. Old man Hankinson did so, and I pulled him down." — From Everybody's Magazine for August.

Sewing Hints. Ordinary white string with which merchants tie parcels makes the finest kind of padding for scallops around the edges of doilies or any other kind of fancy-work.

Thread a darning-needle with the end of the yarn and sew through the end of the new ball. It will do away with the ugly knot.

When the sleeves of new shirts of your husband's or your own new shirt-waists are too long, it is easier to shorten them from the tops than to remove the cuffs. This eliminates making new plackets .- From the De signer Magazine for August.
