LOEB AND LEOPOLD SEEKING MORE GLORY

LETTERS PASS IN INTEREST OF HARMONY

Candidates Withdraw Contest of Democratic Primary Election to Lessen Strife

Replying to a letter written and signed by Judge R. N. Grisham of Eastland in which he asked that for the sake of harmony, goodwill and good feeling in Eastland county, the contests of a number of the boxes in the recent primary election, be withdrawn, Ernest E. Wood, Frank Judkins, L. H. Flewellen and George Bryant, who filed the contests, stated that they would withdraw them.

Judge Grisham's letter, which is understood to have been written with the sanction of and in the interest of the Ku Klux Klan, states that although there has been much rumor of fraud in the recent election most of it is without foundation and that the contests were causing much hard feeling and were tending to widen the breach between Eastland county citizens who should be good friends.

In their reply to Mr. Grisham's letter, the contestants stated that they were just as anxious to have peace and harmony in the county as anyone and that they would withdraw the contests, but that there was strife and discord in the county before the contests were filed. They also stated that while they would withdraw the contest they reserved the right to and would continue their opposition to the Ku Klux Klan until that organization had ceased to exist or until it had ceased to be a secret political organization endeavoring to control the affairs of this county. They placed the blame for the strife now existing in the county upon the shoulders of the Klan and the Oil Belt News, the Klan organ in Eastland county, and asked why the Klan did not disband and let us have real peace and harmony?

Both Judge Grisham's letter and the letter signed by the contestants follow:

Letter From Grisham.
Eastland, Texas, Aug. 12, 1924.—Messrs. Frank Judkins, Eugene Wood, George Bryant, and L. H. Flewellen, Gentlemen:

In the interest of harmony between all factions in Eastland county I am writing you, hoping to make some suggestion that would tend to unite and to not further divide the peoples of Eastland county upon political matters.

You gentlemen have filed an election contest as a result of the recent primary. This contest is causing much hard feeling and tends to further widen the breach between citizens of Eastland county who should be friends.

There has been much rumor of fraud and corruption in the recent primary, most of which is unfounded, and a further prosecution of the contest would produce more hard feelings and we feel that you gentlemen should and do have the interest of Eastland county at heart sufficiently to impress you with the immediate necessity of all factions putting aside any differences that we might have and working together for the best interest of Eastland county.

It is our desire that all of the citizens of Eastland county get behind and help all officers elected in the recent primary, whether they be klansmen or non-klansmen, and help them serve Eastland county as a whole without regard to factional feeling. We believe this situation can be brought about by your dismissal of the suit pending, and we pledge ourselves to support in every way possible your friends who have been elected to office.

We trust that you will give this matter serious consideration, and be actuated with that patriotic spirit imbedded in the hearts and minds of all true, Christian, American citizens and join in an effort of unity, good will and harmony, and that we may have an early reply from you indicating your pleasure in the matter.

Respectfully,
Signed: R. N. GRISHAM.
P. S.—This letter is written after conferring with the parties at interest and obtaining their approval.

Letter of Withdrawal.
Eastland, Texas, Aug. 13, 1924.—Mr. R. N. Grisham, Eastland, Texas, Dear Sir:

We are in receipt of your letter of the 12th instant on behalf of Messrs. Jones, Herrington, Pritchard and Barnes, contestees, in the interest of harmony between the political factions of this county, and suggesting that such harmony might be accomplished by the withdrawal of our contest of the recent primary election. We are as solicitous for the peace and harmony as any citizen in the county, but are of the opinion that the removal of the cause of the discord is absolutely necessary to perfect peace and harmony. Dissension and strife existed before the filing of any contest by us.

Prior to the election the Oil Belt News warned the people that the election would be stolen, and that it (Continued on page five.)

Tokio Shaken Again By Earthquake and People In Terror

TOKIO, Aug. 15.—Tokio, with the anniversary of last September's earthquake disaster drawing near, is in a high state of tension today as a result of a severe earthquake which visited this city and was general throughout north and east Japan at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

The shock was one of the most severe since the destructive earthquakes of Sept. 1, 1923. In many sections of Tokio the people are panic-stricken. The inhabitants of the poorer sections of the city rushed into the street shouting and screaming. One-third of the guests in the Imperial hotel, headquarters for most of the foreign tourists, fled from the building.

J. E. LEWIS NOT IN CONTEST FOR COUNTY JUDGE

Unable to Accept Nomination of Eastland County Republicans for Office.

J. E. Lewis of Eastland, nominated by the Republicans of Eastland county as a candidate for county judge, will not be a candidate for office. "While I highly appreciate the personal courtesy implied in this unsought nomination, I beg to say that it will be impossible for me to accept the honor," he says in a letter to Dr. H. B. Tanner, chairman of the Eastland county republican executive committee. Mr. Lewis writes:

"While it is true that my political views have for some time aligned me with the policies of the republican national administration, and while I am entirely in harmony with the platform and in accord with the nominees of the national republican party, still my time and interests are wholly occupied by and devoted to the business of attempting to maintain and extend the service of the two concerns with which I am identified, to wit, the Oil Belt Power company and the Oil Cities Electric company.

"For that reason and because my time is wholly absorbed in said work, I find myself unable to take any part in any political activities such as would be involved in the nomination. For that reason, I must respectfully decline to serve as said nominee. I assure you of my profound respect for the gentlemen who so kindly tendered me the honor and my deep appreciation of same."

Largest Gas Well In World Set Afire By Lightning Bolt

SAPULPA, Okla., Aug. 15.—Gas flowing from the largest well ever brought in in Oklahoma about 25 miles from here is blazing to the high heavens after being ignited from a bolt of lightning last night. The lightning flash was the only one seen and was high in the air but it made contact with the gas spouting skyward, and the flames ascended.

Boilers were put up today to consume the flames with steam. The flow of gas is estimated to be about 110,000,000 cubic feet a day.

COOLIDGE WILL GO TO FATHER'S FARM TO REST

Accepts Republican Nomination for Presidency; Sounds Campaign Keynote.

By WILLIAM J. LOSH (United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—With a clear cut statement of his views in the hands of the people, President Coolidge today surrendered the direction of his campaign to his managers and prepared to take a brief rest at his boyhood Vermont home.

The president, accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, their son John, and a small staff of secretaries, will leave tonight for Plymouth, Vt., where he intends to enjoy the open-air life on his father's farm.

Accepting the republican nomination last night in a speech to a crowd of thousands in and around Memorial Hall and to millions of radio listeners—in, the president definitely proclaimed domestic issues to be in his opinion, paramount in the campaign.

He selected from among them for primary emphasis still more rigid economy in government and further tax reduction along the lines of the Mellon plan.

"I want the people of America to be able to work less for the government and more for themselves," he said. "The costs of government are all assessed on the people. Unless we can re-establish a condition under which the earnings of the people can be kept by the people we are bound to suffer a very distinct curtailment of liberty."

The people were squarely joined in an issue with John W. Davis on "honesty of government and with La Follette on a new economic order.

Honesty of Government.
"There are those who disregard all this (republican achievements) to convince themselves and others that the chief issue of this campaign is honest government," he said.

"In all my studies of political history," he continued with a tinge of irony, "I can not recall an administration which was desirous of a dishonest and corrupt government that established budgets, cut taxes and worked for world peace, as the republicans have done."

"The government is sound. The people of the country hate corruption, they know my position. They know the law will be enforced."

Striking at the La Follette charges that the republican party favors privilege and monopoly, the president said bluntly:

"We oppose artificial supports of privileges and monopoly because they are both unjust and uneconomic. They are not right. They do not work."

Party Accomplishments.
The president opened his speech with a simply worded acceptance of the nomination and immediately plunged into a review of the accomplishments of the republican party since its return to power in 1921.

He listed among the achievements the resumption of diplomatic relations with all nations except Russia, the budget system, reduction of the public debt and partial funding of the foreign debt, restricted immigration, protective tariff and the Washington conference.

America's chief concern is her domestic affairs, the president said, yet continued:

"America, under providence, has come to be a nation of great responsibility. It exists as one of the family of nations.

"We can not be isolated. To meet this international obligation (Continued on page six)

GERMANY EXPECTED TO COUNTER ON PROPOSAL FOR RUHR EVACUATION

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Germany's reply to the allied proposal that the Franco-Belgian evacuation of the Ruhr take place one year after the Dawes reparations program becomes effective arrived here early this afternoon, and the German representatives immediately prepared it for delivery to the conference. It was strongly indicated that the conference on the Dawes report would be confronted with making a new proposal, as the German reply was described as neither "yes" nor "no," but a counter suggestion.

The ultimatum-like atmosphere about the allied procedure yesterday, when the allied conferees joined in supporting a proposal of Premier Herriot of France for an out-of-the-Ruhr one year hence program has placed the German government in an embarrassing situation. It is believed that, for this reason, the German representatives will urge a compromise suggestion so as to have a talking point in the reichstag when the government goes before that body for approval of the government's decision.

Train Is Wrecked, Engineer Killed, Fireman Injured

HOUSTON, Aug. 15.—W. D. Cook, engineer, was instantly killed and E. G. Deason, fireman, probably fatally injured early today, when a G. & N. passenger train No. 5 split a switch at Grapeland, 70 miles north of here. The engine left the rails, turning on its side, crushing Cook and scalding Deason.

Two baggage cars and the forward passenger coach also left the rails, but no one else was reported hurt, although passengers were badly shaken up by the crash. Officials of the company are conducting an investigation today. There are indications that the switch had been tampered with, according to reports received here. The train was running 30 miles an hour and a green light showed at the Grapeland switch. The connecting rods from the rails to the switch were disconnected, and an examination reveals, and when the switch was turned to show the green light to the oncoming train the rails opening the switch did not move, officials said.

The dead engineer and injured fireman were taken to their homes in Palestine, 30 miles north of the wreck.

POPULAR DANCE HALL CHANGED INTO A GARAGE

Summer Garden Being Transformed From Pleasure Resort Into Hotel For Cars.

Within a very short time the historic "summer garden," a dance hall under the supervision of A. F. Hartman of Ranger will be transformed into a modern garage.

The Gullahorn Motor company has leased the building from Mr. Hartman and workmen are busily engaged in removing the hardwood floor that so many feet have moved over and replacing it with a concrete one. A fully equipped garage, including a car rack for washing cars, etc., will be installed and will be under the supervision of the mechanics of the Gullahorn Motor company.

The old dance hall is a relic of the boom days of Ranger and hundreds upon hundreds of pairs of feet have danced to the music of many different orchestras. Residents of Ranger during the boom days recall how they used to dance in their boots and spurs and that more than once they waded mud knee deep up the alley to the entrance of the hall.

DEATH LEAPS FROM PISTOL, CLAIMING TWO

Man and Child Shot by Tourist in Oklahoma, Who Speeds Away With Their Bodies.

HITCHITA, Okla., Aug. 15.—Posses of citizens renewed their search this morning for an unidentified man who shot and probably killed a woman and one child here late yesterday, threw their bodies into a large red automobile and sped out of town.

The victims are believed to be the man's wife and child. They were occupants of the car. A second child with the party, who appeared to be a tourist, escaped unhurt. The child attempted to run when the shots were fired, but was caught by the man and placed in the car.

The shooting occurred at a filling station operated by Mrs. John Roy, who witnessed the tragedy. The man, woman and two children alighted from the car to buy gasoline. After a sharp exchange of words between the man and woman, he opened fire and the woman and one little girl fell to the ground. The man snatched up their bodies, placed them in the rear seat of the car and, with the other little girl, sped away.

Walton Pledges Continued Fight Against the Klan

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 15.—Pledging himself to support John W. Davis for president and the democratic platform, Jack Walton, impeached governor and nemesis of the Ku Klux Klan in the democratic senatorial race in the state primary election, August 5, today in a signed statement made a new declaration of war against the hooded order.

"The people of Oklahoma have indicated at the polls they will not be ruled by an imperial wizard or a grand dragon," the statement of the former governor. "They will, with regard to political affiliation, race, creed or color, most emphatically place the ban of their disapproval upon the self-ordained emperor and invisible empire. The lawlessness of the Ku Klux Klan cannot be wiped out by placing klansmen in office, but can be accomplished by placing in power those who stand for-square for all the rights and privileges guaranteed by the constitution."

"While much is being said about arrangements and world courts and peace conferences, we must not lose sight of our first duty, which is stabilizing the home government and securing our people peace, prosperity and relief from masked terror and usurpation of our governmental function by an invisible empire."

Walton promised to aid in legislation to help the farmer, laborer and ex-service men, and to fight relentlessly for salary increases for postal employees and pledged his aid to an enactment of a child labor law that would aid both women and children.

When asked today regarding his fight against the Klan if elected in November, he said: "The fight against the Klan is just starting. The constitution was amended to free the negroes; it can be amended to free the nation from the white-hooded body that would rule our country."

DEMOCRAT MAY BRING VICTORY TO REPUBLICANS

Former Chief Justice Supreme Court Suggested gubernatorial Candidate.

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 15.—Judge Nelson Phillips of Dallas, former chief justice of the supreme court of Texas and one of the best known lawyers in Texas, although a democrat may be named by the republicans of Texas as their candidate to be governor of Texas, according to R. B. Creager of Brownsville, leader of the republican party in Texas. He may be named by the republican state executive committee in place of Thomas Lee of Houston.

Creager said he would call a meeting in Houston between Aug. 18 and 30 to demand that Thomas Lee, republican nominee for governor, withdraw. Creager said that this action was planned because Lee sent a telegram to Mrs. Miriam Ferguson that if she won the nomination he would not campaign against her, but that he would be content with the usual empty honor of being a republican candidate in Texas.

"If Lee thinks that being republican candidate for governor is an empty honor he should withdraw," said Creager.

Creager arrived from Brownsville this morning and gave out a statement immediately. Last night he refused to comment on the telegram until he talked with Lee. It is generally understood that Lee told Creager the telegram was issued without his orders. Lee is a Houston oil man.

In the event Lee withdraws, another candidate will be named by the republican state executive committee immediately. Last night he refused to comment on the telegram until he talked with Lee. It is generally understood that Lee told Creager the telegram was issued without his orders. Lee is a Houston oil man.

BLOODLESS RACE RIOT OVER A SWIMMING HOLE

ORANGE.—A youthful race riot took place here when a band of colored boys, ages running from 10 to 13, ran amuck with a band of white boys, fewer in number but valiant in spirit.

It was a fierce but bloodless contest until "Uncle" Ben Stephenson, city officer, undertook to quell the riot.

The colored army immediately deployed and took to stones, cans, and any other ground implements of warfare handy, directing their fire on "Uncle Ben." "Uncle Ben" is a bit weakened by age, but he summoned his old time fire and charged. His was fast enough, but the white boys rallied to his support and made the charge a triumphant affair.

Police officers arrived about that time, and six of the cooled combatants were made prisoners of war, lodging in the jail for the night. The trouble is supposed to have started over disputed territory in a swimming pool.

INTELLECTUALS DESIRE ACTIVE PART IN TRIAL

Loeb Wishes to Testify and Leopold to Conduct Examination as Attorney.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Dick Loeb and Nathan Leopold have asked Clarence Darrow, their chief defense attorney, to be permitted to take a hand in the murder hearing before Justice John R. Caverly. Loeb to take the stand and Leopold to examine him, and also to cross examine the state witnesses.

Loeb and Leopold are not fully satisfied with the manner in which Darrow and the Bachrach brothers are carrying on the defense. They favor a more vigorous policy. Loeb wants to go on the stand and tell the "real story," a member of the defense revealed to the United Press. "Of course, Loeb has already told about the case and I doubt if he has anything to add to the story," the person said.

Dr. James Whitney Hall, chief defense alienist corroborated the request by Loeb and Leopold. "Leopold is a lawyer of no mean ability," said Dr. Hall, "and Loeb wants to go on the stand to correct discrepancies."

Darrow probably will not allow the request of the two boys.

CRIMINAL COURT ROOM, CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Clarence Darrow, chief defense attorney in the Leopold-Loeb murder hearing, said today he is relying on the state's own medical evidence to help him save the two youthful murderers from the gallows. He is frankly elated by the statement of Dr. Archibald Church, star alienist for the state, that youth is variable and that the most trying period of life of a youth is between 12 and 20 years of age.

One of Darrow's chief points in his argument for mitigation of the punishment of the two youthful slayers is their youth, they being 19 years of age.

MCCOY'S VICTIM SAID TO HAVE FEARED THAT LOVER WOULD KILL HER

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—Sam Schapp of New York city, one of the persons wounded by Norman Selby (Kid McCoy) when the former pugilist went on a rampage Wednesday, following the death of Mrs. Theresa Mors, today admitted that he might have written the endearing letters signed "Sam" found among Mrs. Mors' possessions.

"She was a wonderful woman and I would not have hesitated to call her darling," he said. The last letter was addressed to "Darling Theresa" and was signed "Sam." The police have withheld its contents. Schapp and his arrival last Saturday from New York and Schapp said to have spent nearly all Saturday with Mrs. Mors. "We talked most of the time about Mrs. Mors breaking with McCoy," he told the police today. "She finally agreed to do so, but expressed the fear that McCoy would kill her."

The police regard Schapp's statement as important in the chain that is being woven about McCoy.

MORE TROUBLE IN IRELAND.
Ramsay Macdonald and the British labor party are wrestling with two or three of the most serious problems that England has to meet, not the least of which is the threatened explosion in Ireland. The treaty made between the British and the Irish race, signed by the representatives of all parties and passed through parliament more than two years ago, decided that the northern parliament could get out of the Free state, provided that, if it chose so to do, a boundary commission should be established with an impartial chairman and one representative each from northern and southern Ireland to decide what northern Ireland really was. Ulster decided to get out, but refused to appoint a commissioner. And judges of the privy council decided last week that, if she refuses, the boundary commission cannot function.

As President Gosgrove and his government only persuaded the Irish people to abandon the idea of a republic on condition that the boundary of the Free state was to be so delimited, a first class crisis has arisen.

The southern Irish government asserts that, if Great Britain does not immediately carry out its treaty obligation and preserve the "scrap of paper" on which England's honor is written, nothing can prevent Ireland immediately declaring itself a republic.

Ulster is seething with excitement and most of the conservatives wish to resist the bill and urge the house of lords to throw it out. If that is done the whole future of the British political system may be changed.

Britain can force Ulster if she desires because the treaty authorizes the appointment by the government of a commissioner for Ulster if she refuses to act. Just what the outcome will be is difficult to conjecture.

GREAT BRITAIN AND RUSSIA.
The negotiations between Great Britain and Russia, which have dragged on for months, have finally resulted in an agreement. A few days ago it was officially announced that these negotiations had broken down, then suddenly an agreement is reached. Russia admits liability for the British bondholders' claims. Other creditors' claims are to be settled by the Anglo-Russian commissioners. The British government will submit to parliament proposals for guaranteeing a loan of an unnamed amount to Russia, but this is subject to the fulfillment of three conditions, namely, that half of the bondholders be satisfied, that property claims be settled and that a lump sum be agreed on for other claims.

Great Britain is to receive the "most favored nation treatment" for its goods. In return, Russia is to have a definite British export credits plan. Diplomatic immunities are also to be given in Great Britain to a certain number of Russian trade delegates to meet the special circumstances of the soviet union's monopoly of foreign trade.

The British government's claims for money lent to Russia and also the soviet counter claims are to be left in "cold storage." The house of commons may change the plans somewhat, but it will be noticed that Great Britain is playing the game to win.

During the first five months of this year more than $8,000,000 worth of goods were exported by parcel post.

RANGER DRY CLEANING COMPANY BUYS PROPERTY IN BUSINESS SECTION

The Ranger Dry Clearing company has purchased the building and lot wherein they are now located on So. Austin street, from J. L. Stallings of Denton.

The deal was negotiated August 14, immediately after the city commission had given the company permission to install their cleaning vats in the building. The Tiffin road plant where all of the cleaning is done will be removed to the present location and the building remodeled.

The employees of the Ranger Dry Clearing company are graduates of the Ramsey school of cleaning. One of the latest features of the fully equipped establishment is the installation of the latest model of a Hoffman hat blocker and cleaner.

PORCH PICNICS ARE DELIGHTFUL FOR FAMILIES

Suggestions for the Luncheon With Recipes for its Preparation.

(By Mary I. Barber, Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)
The other day our attention was attracted by enthusiastic voices coming from the porch of one of the pretty little houses on our street. It was the end of a sultry day, and a wise young mother was giving her family—composed of three boys, aged 4, 6 and 8—a porch picnic. What fun they were having—and each boy had his share in the preparation and in the cleaning up. The latter process was the cause of much merriment. The boy selected to sweep the floor wanted to do it before the other two had cleared the table, and the result was a general tie-up in the traffic of feet and broom.

"On hot days when the children are restless, I let them help and we have a picnic," the mother explained. "Each boy does his share and we have a good time without the effort of collecting bathing suits and packing baskets to go to the lake. We use paper cups, plates, spoons, and napkins, so the cleaning up is easy. Have you ever noticed how good everything tastes at a picnic—even foods that we are not fond of when they are served in the dining room? Our picnic suppers are simple and nutritious. Tonight we had peanut butter sandwiches, lemonade, fruit salad, and corn flake macaroons. At our last picnic we had stuffed eggs served on a bed of marinated spinach instead of lettuce, bran muffins with raisins, iced cocoa and cookies.

Cereals and Berries.
"Sometimes on hot Sundays we serve bowls of ready-to-eat cereal with milk and berries, if they are in season, or we have a pop-corn supper."
Adults enjoy porch picnics as much as children—and it is a relief to the housekeeper not to have piles of dinner dishes to wash in a hot kitchen. There are several things that a woman can have ready for these informal suppers. Keep a jar of sugar syrup in the refrigerator for use in sweetening cold drinks. You know how difficult it is to make sugar dissolve in iced tea or lemonade! In syrup it is already dissolved. Put one part sugar to one and one-half parts water in a saucepan and cook, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Keep in a covered glass jar until needed. Cocoa and sugar, mixed in equal amounts, will mean that only one can, instead of two, need be opened when cocoa is to be made. Russian chocolate is delicious. Make extra coffee at breakfast time and pour it off the grounds to cool. Make a rich cocoa and combine with the coffee in equal parts. Pour into iced tea glasses filled with crushed ice and garnish with whipped cream.

CORN FLAKE MACAROONS
Two egg whites, 1 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup cocoanut, 2 cups corn flakes, ½ cup nut meats (chopped). Beat the egg whites until stiff, add the sugar gradually, then add the vanilla, cocoanut, corn flakes, and nut meats. Drop by spoonful on a buttered pan, and bake in a moderate oven (400 degrees F.) until the macaroons are a delicate brown.

AFTER THE HONEYMOON.
"I wish to complain," said the bride haughtily, "about the flour you sold me. It was tough."
"Tough, ma'am?" asked the grocer.
"Yes, tough. I made pie with it, and my husband could hardly cut it."

An old tobacco secret re-discovered

Wellman's famous old secret

1921—
revived for Granger

1924—
a popular seller in 32 states—a quarter-million smokers

A new richness from an old-time process

Made for pipes—cut for pipes—packed sensibly to save money

NOW it can be told. Three years ago we decided to revive a famous old secret method of mellowing tobacco—"Wellman's Method", it was called.

For three years we have been quietly trying it out—we, and about a quarter-million shrewd pipe-smokers who discovered it for themselves.

No whirlwind campaigns, no "special offers", no extravagant claims; Granger Rough Cut has made good on its taste alone. There could be no better proof of its quality.

Now we are ready to "tell the world". An extraordinary pipe tobacco. "Wellman's Method"—now ours exclusively—not only mellows tobacco, but "rounds it out"—gives it a new taste, richer and milder.

There's no other method like it, nor any other tobacco like Granger.

And not only differently mellowed, but cut differently—cut for pipes. The Rough Cut burns more slowly, hence smokes cooler—and a pipe-load lasts nearly twice as long. And finally—notice the package.

If Granger Rough Cut were packed in fancy lithographed tins, it would cost 15 cents.

But wrapped in smart heavy foil, you get this fuller, longer, cooler smoke at a third less cost. Foil instead of costly tin—hence the price.

Too good to be true? Ask any man who has tried it. Better yet—get out your pipe!

10¢

Granger Rough Cut

A Pointer on Tobacco—
The slower a tobacco burns, the cooler it smokes. Also the longer it lasts. This slow burning is due to the "cut". Granger is "rough cut" to smoke slow and cool—cut for pipes, not cigarettes. And Wellman's famous old secret method produces richer fragrance and taste.

INDIAN SPRING LEGEND DRAWS MANY LOVERS

Great Happiness Said to Come To Those Who Drink Its Water.

By United Press. PITTSBURGH, Pa.—A beautiful Indian legend is woven about a natural spring on Lake Elizabeth farm, on Evergreen road, just outside Pittsburgh, and for many years it has been the rendezvous of the lovers. Great happiness is said to come to those who drink its crystal waters.

Monongahela) a pair of lovers, Flaming Arrow, a fawn-eyed Indian maiden, and Running After Buffalo, a poor, young brave.

Often the pair met in the dark pine timber and walked for hours, planning their future. But Big Crow, sagamore of the beaver clan and father of Flaming Arrow, refused to give her to Running After Buffalo.

"You are too poor," he said, or words to that effect. "If you want her, bring me blankets and wampum."

Not Enough Wampum. And so, Running After Buffalo went forth, but he collected little or no blankets and wampum, because he spent too much time day-dreaming on the banks of the rippling Monongahela, which now is covered on both sides, as far as you can see with the naked eye, with smoke-belching steel and iron mills.

Then came Plenty Blankets, a chief of the Senecas. He brought piles of blankets and strings of wampum for Plenty Blankets had seen Flaming Arrow and desired her. Big Crow was willing, but Flaming Arrow took one look at the pock-marked face of Plenty Blankets, and resolved that she would rather die than be his mate.

So Flaming Arrow fled from her father and, hard pressed by Plenty Blankets, who pursued her, she sought refuge in the ravine. There were no springs there then. But in jumping from stone to stone, Flaming Arrow fell and broke her leg. She crawled into a thicket to hide. Plenty Blankets searched the vicinity for days, and once stood within a few feet of her, and while she knew it meant death to remain hidden, she refused to call on her despised lover for help.

In the meantime, Running After Buffalo, learning that Flaming Arrow was missing, took up the trail. At last he met Plenty Blankets, the scorned lover. They fought with homahawks, and Running After Buffalo slew Plenty Blankets.

Weak from loss of blood, Running After Buffalo staggered down the trail, and in the thicket he found Flaming Arrow, dying of thirst. He searched in vain for water. There was only one thing to do, the legend says, and so he prayed to the Indian god, Manitou.

Manitou, in his tepee in the happy hunting ground, heard the prayer, and, gathering some clay from a magic bank, he jumped to earth and fashioned the huge bowl that has mystified scientists. Then, the legend says, he touched the rock and it opened, letting forth a stream of clear, cold water. At his command a huge birch sprang, full grown, from the soil by the spring to shade it.

Flaming Arrow drank of the water and was revived, and Running After Buffalo drank and became strong.

Trysting Place. "This shall be forever," said Manitou, according to the legend. "Let it be a trysting place for lovers in distress, let its waters heal the aching heart of all men and women who drink here."

Then he was gone. And Running After Buffalo and Flaming Arrow were married, according to Indian custom, and lived happily ever after. To this day there occasionally appear a man with high cheek-bones, raven hair and black eyes, dressed as the white men dress, to drink from the spring. He talks to no one, but the old settlers who tell the story, believe the visitor is a great-grandson of Running After Buffalo and Flaming Arrow.

CHICAGO.—Joseph Garner was held up by two thoughtful highwaymen. After taking his watch and other valuables, the pair promised to mail him the pawn tickets.

BRITISH ASK WHY AMERICA IS SO WEALTHY

London Mail Compares Industrial Conditions in Two Countries.

(From the London Daily Mail, June 23, 1924.)

Agitators during last public expenditure on their pet projects frequently tell us that England is "rolling in wealth," that it is "the richest country in the world." That was, perhaps, true decades ago, but matters are very different now. England is poor, very poor, if compared with the United States.

The United States are fabulously wealthy. Although they possess only about one-twentieth of the population of the world, they have half the world's wealth and have more than half the world's gold, diamonds, pearls, and precious stones of every kind.

The true wealth of a nation can best be measured by the condition of the masses. The prosperity of the American workers is almost unbelievable. More or less unskilled men, such as carters, millmen, builders' labourers, etc., earn 45s per day. Vast numbers of skilled workers earn 1,000 pounds and more per year.

The assertion that America's wealth belongs to the few, that the high cost of living counterbalances the high wages prevailing, is incorrect. The white population of the republic is a little more than twice as large as that of this country. However, the United States have not only twice the number of telephones and motor cars that there are in this country but have 15 times as many. To every three families there are two telephones and two motor cars. Millions of unskilled workers have not only roomy houses which belong to them but have a telephone, a motor car, and other luxuries of which English working men scarcely dream.

Americans Save More. Before the war England's savings came to about 400,000,000 pounds per year. Although the American people are terribly extravagant, their savings are estimated to come to 2,700,000,000 pounds per year. Last year the Americans spent on motor cars and trucks alone 750,000,000 pounds. If we add the expenditure on garages, etc., the motor car expenditure last year exceeded 1,000,000,000 pounds.

It is frequently stated that the United States owe their vast wealth to the possession of their great natural resources, to the possession of a fruitful agricultural plain, extensive forests, rich mines, etc. That explanation is fallacious. Every student of American economics is aware that the bulk of America's vast income is furnished, not by the farms, mines, and forests, but by the factories and workshops.

The United States are foremost in the world, not only by the productivity of their wheatfields, bottomlands, forests, coal mines, iron mines, etc., but also by the output of their manufacturing industries.

With existing arrangements this country can produce 12,000,000 tons of steel per year. That figure has never been reached. The United States can produce at least 55,000,000,000 tons per year. They produce far more than half of world's steel and of products made of steel. Among other things they produce about 90 per cent of world's motor cars, both in their own country and in branch establishments abroad.

In the city of New York alone vastly more building takes place than in the whole of the United Kingdom. The textile industries of the republic consume considerably more cotton than the whole of this country. In the production of goods made from copper, brass, rubber, wood, leather, etc., America's superiority is overwhelming. In view of these facts Cobden's prophecy, "England is, and always will remain, the workshop of the world," is ridiculous.

Restricted Output. Why are the Americans foremost in the world, not only in the output of food and raw products but also in that of manufactured goods? The reason is obvious to all who are acquainted with economic conditions on both sides of the Atlantic. England, the former stronghold of individualism and efficiency, has become a stronghold of socialism. Owing to socialist influence, she cannot produce as much as she could.

The American worker recognizes that prosperity consists in an abundance of useful goods and nothing else, and that such abundance cannot be created by insisting on high wages in respect of an utterly insufficient output. He recognizes that capital and labour-saving machines are his friends, not his enemies. Hence the American worker can afford a motor car and other things which in this paradise of trade unionism, of socialism, and of 'canny' are privileges of the rich and well-to-do.

Runner Knocked Out. HOUSTON.—O. R. McGowan went down for the count in a rain squall here. He was sprinting for home with his head drawn into his coat collar to protect his face from sand and rain drops, when he collided with an iron post. His injuries were not serious but it was night for McGowan for several minutes after the crash.

ARTIST FINDS INSPIRATION IN INDUSTRIAL PROCESSES

One of the attractions being prepared for the annual meeting of the American Gas Association in Atlantic City next fall is a series of paintings symbolizing various aspects of the manufactured gas industry. These canvasses are being prepared by Fred L. Stoddard, an artist of ability and reputation. Mr. Stoddard's paintings will be colorful as he has been making studies in the heat of the furnaces and conveying the vivid blue and red flames of water gas plants to his canvass as well as the brilliant glow of the retorts during charging and discharging operations in coal gas plants.

This work of making art out of industrial processes is an increasing activity of artists. It finds favor among a people who idealize service and find matter for pride in the power and progress of scientific achievement.

NEGROES ARE OPPOSED TO PRESERVATORY FOR GHOSTS

By United Press. AUSTIN.—Fear of ghosts is believed to have been the motive for burning of an undertaking establishment located in the black belt of Lockhart, Caldwell county. The building, a two-story structure, housed a negro fraternal order on the second floor, while the ground section had been rented out to the undertaking firm, which was moving it to new quarters at the corner of the Plaza. County authorities are said to be working on the theory of incendiarism and have included in the evidence an alleged statement collected from a negro resident.

"Land sakes, you think we's gonna let anybody come hyar and have a preservatory for ghosts right in the middle of us? No, suh, we say."

ALIBI AT LEAST NEW. NEW YORK.—William Lynch, 18, was so busy explaining that he was not his twin brother that he didn't have time to go to work. Such was the explanation offered when he was arrested for vagrancy.

GLIDERS WILL HAVE CONTESTS IN GERMANY

More Than Two Score Famous Pilots Have Registered For Events.

By United Press. GERSFELD, Germany, Aug. 15.—Forty-seven "straight" gliders, and 23 gliders, with a small auxiliary motor to help the ascent, were ready today for the fourth German glider contest at Wasserkuppe, the highest summit of the Rhoen mountains in middle Germany. All of Germany's famous glider pilots have registered for the contest. Schulz, the east Prussian school teacher and world-record holder; O. Martens and Paul Hentzen, stars of the Hanover Tech team, in the 1922 Rhoen meet, who were the first to glide more than an hour, are among the contestants. Folkner, the well-known Dutch flyer and constructor, and one of the first sponsors of the Rhoen contests, is also present and will steer a new design of his own. The fourth Rhoen contest will be conducted on a larger scale than the previous meets. The gypsy-like camp on the summit of Wasserkuppe, used in former contests, has been replaced by more solid buildings, making it unnecessary hereafter for pilots to go to bed with an umbrella. The same tendency toward "solidity" is noticeable in the machines. No Longer Flimsy. The former flimsy gliders, constructed with the aid of broomsticks, milk-cans and pork-and-bean tins are absent. The planes of this year show good handicraft. However, there are still a good many that look fairly "wobbly" to the spectator who has not seen the "tin-boxes" in which ardent disciples of the glider sport attempted to ascend in former years. This year there is also good equipment with apparatus to measure wind pressure, currents and so on. However, the "old" pilots prefer the unscientific but certain method of thistle down along the slopes to find out advantageous spots where upward currents may be expected. For the first time since the inauguration of the Rhoen contests, the participants have a chance of winning real purses. The 3,000 gold-mark purse for the 25-kilometer overland flight is worth while winning for all these chaps, who mostly are students and who have financed their constructions out of slender pocketbooks. Real Money. Even in the size of the purses, the solidifying of conditions is evident. In previous years the winners earned purses of millions of millions of paper marks. However, in real money that was only a pittance. The old champions recall 1922, when two purses of $10 each, offered by an American spectator, almost caused heart-failure, as they were considerably higher than the official purses for the best performances. The contestants are glad that such ridiculous prizes as the cloth for a suit of clothes, or a bag of flour, offered for the neck-breaking performance in previous years are not offered this year. The contest of the 28 gliders, with auxiliary motors of not more than 15 horsepower, is the first big meet of such planes in Germany. Teacher Schulz has registered among his three planes also one with a 14-horsepower Megola motor, while Blume and Hentzen will enter the contest with their 15-horsepower "Habicht" (Hawk), that at the test flights at the Johannisthal aerodrome near Berlin on level ground proved very efficient. At the end of the Rhoen contest the flyers will pay homage to the German flyers who died during the world war, or lost their lives in the earlier Rhoen contests. This memorial day will be held under the protectorate of Field Marshal von Hindenburg at the flyers' monument, unveiled last year by the Rhoen contestants on top of the Wasserkuppe.

SLEEPLESSNESS

Virginia Lady Says That Many of Her Long-Suffered Ills Have Fled Since She Took Cardui.

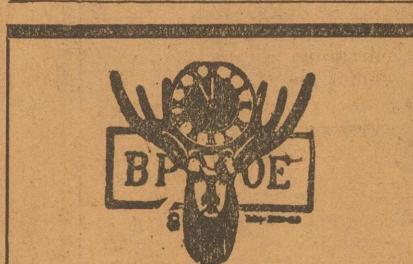

Bristol, Va.—"I can sleep good at night now, something I have never done before in my life," says Mrs. Deala Hawks, of 712 Prospect St., this city, "and it is due to Cardui."

"I was always nervous and tossed when I should have been asleep, but since I took Cardui it has strengthened me, and my general health is so improved that many of the ills from which I have suffered for years have fled."

"I used to go to bed tired and, when I would get up in the morning, I was still tired. Now I feel like doing a day's work in my garden or in the house, and I owe all this good health to Cardui, for I had suffered for years until I took it."

"I had had female trouble for years and once, for six months, I was flat on my back. I am glad to recommend to other women a medicine which has helped me."

"If you are nervous and run-down in health, suffering as Mrs. Hawks describes above, it is probable that Cardui will greatly help you. Try it. NC-157"

LETTERS PASS IN INTEREST OF HARMONY

(Continued from page one) was necessary for them to be at the polls and make note of matters occurring there and even take the names of the voters; armed officers patrolled the polls, a thing that was unheard of in this county before. Klansmen supervisors were placed at the polling places; we have a letter from a reputable citizen of one of the election precincts to the effect that the election judge there wrote his name on the official ballot as a candidate for precinct chairman before handing the ballot to the voters; and in view of all of these and other facts, and the closeness of the election we entertained the sincere belief that no honest man could have any serious objection to a re-count of the ballots, and in fact we thought that a re-count would be welcomed, especially from those who had previously charged fraud and corruption. The chairman of the democratic committee has been charged with fraud, and the chairman of the executive committee of the Constitutional club has been charged with conniving with us in the matter of the filing of our contest, all of which is false and untrue. These men are honorable and upright men. Our action in filing contests was voluntary on our part. The Constitutional club had nothing to do with it. The law provides for such contests and the manner of conducting the same; a lawful procedure was being followed and the strife and discord that has been occasioned has been brought about by the Oil Belt News through its editorial columns in its slanderous attacks on all of those who dare openly oppose the Ku Klux Klan organization, though such outspoken opposition be based on a high and dignified plane. It occurs to us that the greater part of the strife and discord has been caused by the editor of the Oil Belt News, who has no interest in the welfare and happiness of our people, and who is not even a taxpayer of our county. Our contests affect us personally, and while we assure you that we will withdraw the same, yet, we fully expect to continue the fight against the Ku Klux Klan organization, upon a high plane, and until that institution ceases to be or ceases to attempt to be a secret political factor in this county. Why not disband and let us have real peace and harmony? Yours very truly,

Intelligence and Earnestness Count In Achieving Beauty

By EDNA WALLACE HOPPER.

Following my first article in which I stated that my own case was a proof of my claim that beauty can be achieved and that youth can be regained by any woman who will give intelligence and earnestness to the care of herself, I am going to tell you of some of the rules.

In the first place, a woman who wishes to achieve beauty and retain youth must follow rules of health as laid down by all good authorities. This does not mean that you must spend your time exclusively in being healthful and beautiful. You can follow your usual work; you can be a busy housewife with all that implies in the way of tiring your energies and sources of vitality, and still have time to look after yourself as you attend to the polish on your floors or the education of your children.

First comes cheerfulness. Keep bright and do not let your interest in life flag or grow weary. Keep your thoughts on just a little higher plane than your existence, for at the bottom of all beauty in women is "the glowing within" that comes from spiritual light. A withering thought will truly wither the complexion.

Take exercise. No matter how hard you work, you need exercise. The daily tasks that you do leave muscles and tissues in your body that are necessary to health and beauty as undisturbed as if you spent your life in bed. Youthful contours are not held by the work of scrubbing floors, but by the exercise of hundreds of muscles that such work either leaves merely cramped or stiff. A phonograph course of "daily dozens" is as good a way to keep your health and youth as I know.

Rest. Take a few minutes off now and again and really rest. Close your mind to thoughts and worries and impressions and you will find that you will rise wonderfully refreshed. A few minutes now and again means hours in a week, and every minute means another minute put on the other end of your life.

Get enough sleep. Nothing takes the place of sleep, and while it may be hard to go to bed early when you are accustomed to remaining up and about to late hours, just try to go to bed really early two or three nights every week. The habit is one that you will begin to like, and it will do wonders for you, perhaps more than any other thing you do to preserve yourself.

See your doctor and your dentist. Do not be one of the myriad of women who are always imagining something wrong with themselves, but have your doctor give you a thorough "going over" once or twice a year. That way none of the insidious ills that come on women unsuspected will ever gain unsuspected hold on you. Many signs of age in women are plain to doctors as signs of unsuspected ills.

Eat right. Let your food be the right kind of food. At least half the age-bringing troubles of both men and women are due to faulty habits of eating. You can suit yourself about what school of dietary to follow, but there is one general rule; eat sparingly. Eat plain foods that you have to chew and chew them. Eat green vegetables and cooked fruits. When you must have fascinating things that are not good for you to eat they do not hurt you if your general rules of life are sane and healthy.

Dress right. Follow the fashions and have a good time with your clothes, but never wear an uncomfortable garment or shoe, and when fashion says various parts of your person must be exposed to bad weather, defy fashion. Your body wears itself out trying to keep warm, expending nervous and physical energy that you will need later in your life. Let clothes keep you warm—not an overworked heart pumping blood.

In the next article, Miss Hopper will tell you of the external aids that keep women young and beautiful.

WHAT CHILDREN SHOULD EAT DURING THE DAY

The following plan may suggest ways of distributing the necessary food throughout the day:

BEFORE BREAKFAST
Water or lemon or orangeade, one glass or more.

BREAKFAST
Fruit (if not taken before breakfast).
Whole cereal (cooked or ready-prepared) with milk or thin cream.
Milk or cocoa to drink.
Egg, bacon and toast may be added.

MID-MORNING
Water, milk, sandwich or a piece of fruit.

LUNCH AT SCHOOL
A vegetable or tomato in the form of clear or cream soup, scalloped, baked, creamed or plain with butter, or as a salad.
Bread and butter in the form of sandwiches with or without fillings of meat, eggs, nuts, cheese or sweet fruit. If fillings are not used, these foods may be taken separately.

MID-AFTERNOON
Fruit, raw if possible, canned or dried.
Milk taken plain or combined with cocoa or vegetables.
Cookies, plain cake, sweet chocolate, custard or other pudding.

SUPPER
One or, if possible, two vegetables.
Meat, cheese or eggs.
Bread and butter.
Simple pudding or fruit and plain cake, or fruit salad.
Milk to drink, if required amount has not been used.

COLLOIDAL GOLD BEING USED TO GOOD EFFECT IN TREATING CANCER

MADISON, Wis.—Colloidal gold, a substance known to science since the days of the early Romans, has proved more effective in treating many cases of cancer than radium, according to Prof. Louis A. Kahlenberg, medical chemist.

In conjunction with Dr. Edward Ochsner, of Augustana hospital, Chicago, Prof. Kahlenberg has experimented with the "liquid gold," and believes he has found a substance which will eventually make it possible to remove cancerous growths which the surgeon's knife cannot reach.

The gold colloid, properly applied, has been successful in causing cancerous growths in the intestinal tract to disappear, he declares.

The liquid, which looks like port wine, is administered internally in these cases in regular doses. In cases of advanced cancer, intravenous injection is used.

The gold cure is still in the experimental stage, Prof. Kahlenberg admits.

"But it has proved a sure pain cure in all cases in which it has been tried," he declared. "We have used it in hundreds of cases and it has proved far better than drugs in killing pain prevalent in advanced and hopeless stages of the disease."

HOW TO IMPROVE ONE'S PERSONALITY PERMANENTLY

Look your best. Make the best of yourself at all times, and dress neatly and suitably for your part whatever it is, office, kitchen or parlor. It is a help to your job, a re-enforcement of your self. Be sure your feet are dressed in shoes that do not throw your body out of balance; a grouch on life often begins in the feet. And make your clothes look their best. How you wear them is more important than what they are.

Dress your hair to frame the face. Select your hat also as a frame to your face. Get the constructive thought reflected from head to foot. Put it on with your clothes and wear it all day.

Care for your body. This means right diet, plenty of water, sun, fresh air. If you do not know the proper diet for a person in your condition of life, inform yourself. Remember that water, air and sunshine are as necessary as food. Keep the air moving freely in your home and work out a plan that ventilates adequately all the time. Keep the body clean, polished, radiant. The mouth, teeth, nasal passages will repay care in health and comfort and save dentist and doctor bills. Care of the hands and nails and of the hair are marks of refinement. The feet need the same care as the hands. Foot comfort depends on this care.

Keeping clean internally means complete elimination through bowels and kidneys and pores of the skin. A clogged system is the cause of much ill health and often the basis of an unpleasant disposition and a pessimistic outlook on life, because with a clogged body one loses the ability to think right and to concentrate properly.

And care for your mind. Do some reading every day—reading that has value to you. This is one kind of mental food. Conversations, lectures, anything that carries you in the direction of better, clearer thinking is mental food and helps you to clean out the rubbish of unprofitable ideas and bring in the right kind of "mental furniture."—From the Delineator for September.

STATE HIGHWAYS OUT OF EASTLAND BEING MARKED

The state highways out of Eastland are being marked. Workmen are engaged painting signs, which consist of a large white circle with a star inside and the words "State Highway" printed around the outer edge of the circle. This is on a black background and makes a very attractive marker.

SHERMAN—A meeting of the Texas Independent Telephone Association is to be held in this city August 13 and 14. The second day will be devoted to discussion of traffic and will be attended by a number of chief operators of telephone exchanges.

TRYING TO MAKE STAINLESS STEEL ON LARGE SCALE

PITTSBURGH.—American steel men are watching with interest the outcome of tests being made here of a new process for making stainless steel and iron. The tests have been under way for some time.

Upon the outcome of these experiments hangs the solution of a problem that has puzzled the best minds in the steel industry for years. Stainless steel has been made, but it has been confined to cutlery and small fittings because the cost of production has made extensive application prohibitive.

It still is too early to predict the effect it will have commercially on the steel industry, but if the tests are successful at the reduced cost, rustless tubes, automobiles and even ships are possible. The new process is protected by patent in every country where steel is made.

The process is the invention of Ronald Wild of Sheffield, England, and is being demonstrated here by a brother, A. H. Wild, who is said to be the owner of one of the largest steel product plants in England. A group of New York capitalists are said to be looking after the American rights.

The tests here have been witnessed by prominent metallurgists, chemists and practical steel men, and while they have not committed themselves they hold out great hope for rustless iron and steel. The Sheffield men say their process is beyond the experimental stage, and they are certain of its success.

WEARIES OF LIVING FOR SELF ALONE, SO OURS

KANSAS CITY.—Life held nothing for Mary Gully, 23, Laveon, Mo. "It is a long road that never turns; there is a turn and I am taking it."

Leaving this note to her mother, Mary swallowed poison with fatal effect. "I would rather be cremated and have my ashes scattered to the winds, than go on," she wrote. Relatives could assign no motive for her suicide.

Now that money goes so much faster it's common sense to try to make it go farther!
One way to do it is to use the cheaper cuts of meats. For instance most people don't know it, but pork shoulder is the sweetest meat of the pork and it costs less. It's delicious for roasts or sliced to fry! D. L. JAMESON of THE JAMESONS' told me about it! I buy all my meat there and I certainly save money!
Yes sir, there's my meat bill for last week! You'd think I was feeding a cage full of hungry lions instead of a small family. I've certainly got to cut down some place!
FOLKS DON'T THINK BLOTCHES ARE PRETTY
You can't expect people to say you are "good-looking" as long as your appearance shows you are careless about keeping your skin free from blotches, pimples, rash, "breaking out," and eczema.
You may feel like you have no hope of getting rid of these things, but you should not give up because Black and White Ointment, and Soap, are proving to thousands of people every day that they can depend on them to keep their skin clear, smooth and lovely.
Black and White Ointment and Soap are nominally priced, in liberal packages. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and Soap.—Advertisement.

The president proposed adherence to the world court, but reaffirmed his intention to remain aloof from the league of nations.

He expressed hopefulness that the Dawes plan would solve Europe's difficulties and again announced his intention of sponsoring another disarmament conference when the plan appears to be in operation.

With this reference to foreign relations the president passed back to domestic affairs.

Agriculture, he said, has seen "a particular relief come in a natural way," and declared the path to greater prosperity lay through "more organization, cooperation, diversification," a "wise skilled and unselfish leadership" and continued protection by tariff.

The president announced intention of appointing a committee to investigate and report measures to congress in December to put agriculture on a basis of economic equality with other industries, in accordance with the republican platform.

His determination to further reduce costs of government and taxation, he said:

Would Lower Surtaxes.
"Taxes take from every one a part of his earnings and force everybody to work a certain part of his time for the government."

He reaffirmed his intention to press congress for more tax reduction, particularly in high surtaxes, arguing such a course was the surest "guarantee of prosperity."

These views, the president said, he submitted to the electorate with abiding faith in the judgment of the American People.
