DRIVERLESS CAR DOES A PAUL REVERE AS PAUL NEVER TRIED; FENCES MAKE WAY FOR FLIGHT

W. C. "Biff" Henley's automobile went riding Wednesday night, Henley, manager of Dobson & Company, did the cranking, the car did the running, and neighbors did the stopping.

The sleek appearing blue roadster had to be cranked. But it didn't have to be cranked like Henley cranked it. Henley, he declared, cranked the car while it was in reverse.

As a result a new record for a driverless automobile was marked up. Traveling twenty-five miles an hour, the car deserted Henley and the crank and crashed through a fence in the rear of an apartment at 1300 Johnson Street. It was a crash number one, and thereafter its course after it reached a vacant lot, the automobile plowed through a rear fence at the Omar Pittman home, Elizabethtown and Burnet's next.

There being only more fence left intact the car hurried through it, took a board off the Pittman home and gained the street.

There met them speed. The crank was lost in the scuffle.

Iatan Youth Charged Following Car Crash

Charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated were lodged in Justice of the Peace Cecil C. Collings' court today against Ray Holcombe of Iatan, following an automobile crash on Scurry street Wednesday night.

Mrs. Katherine Gilliam, 601 Scurry Street, and her niece, Miss Lois Hale of Brownwood, were slightly injured in the crash.

According to City Policeman Thornton and Robinson who made the arrest, the car driven by Holcombe crashed into a machine belonging to C. V. Bell. The car was parked in front of 607 Scurry Street and the trio was preparing to enter it when the crash occurred.

In Corporation court this morning Holcombe and H. S. Axell, said to have been riding with Holcombe, pleaded guilty to charges of drunkenness and paid fines of $15 each. Holcombe was released to county authorities.

In Justice court Holcombe waived preliminary hearings. His bond was set at $750 which he quickly made.

Mrs. Gilliam and her niece were only slightly injured. They received emergency treatment immediately after the crash.

COLEMAN MEN ARRESTED BY POLICE, HELD

Two men, giving their names as Coleman, were arrested here Wednesday night by Policemen Coffey and Howie, after a barrel of oil and a water hose had been reported stolen.

The oil was stolen from Hito and Jay Filling Station. The hose was removed from the yard of Mayor J. B. Pickle, 1900 Main Street.

The two men were riding in a Chevrolet truck when arrested. The stolen goods were recovered.

The men were being held here today awaiting arrival of Coleman officers. It is alleged a felony charge is pending against one of the men.

History of County Seats In East Texas Is Interesting Book

WASHINGTON, June 4 (P)—The history of East Texas county seats would form an interesting volume and the time may come when the struggles of these county capitals from temporary to permanent conditions will be written by some person qualified to do so.

Only one will be mentioned at this time and that is the vicissitudes that attended the emigration of the capital of Angelina County. In 1840 the capital was established at the head of navigation on the Angelina river and called "Marion" because the first settlers there were from South Carolina. Marion remained the county seat for several years and then an election was held. A majority of the votes cast decided that the capital be moved to a place called "Jonesville" in honor of a pioneer—Bill Jones who owned a gin and a store at that place. Bill was elected county judge.

A few years later Jones was still serving as county judge an election was held and the county seat was moved to a place that was called "Homer" still further to the west. Homer grew to be a town of considerable importance, but when the Houston East & West Texas railway built through Angelina County from Houston to Shreveport, an idea gained circulation that the capital ought to be still further to the west.

So another election was held and this time the county seat was moved to a pine thicket four miles west of Homer, on the line of the new railroad and named Lufkin, and it remains today.

A good story is told on Judge W. J. Townsend who was one of the men who sought to move the county seat. After the votes were counted it was found that more votes had been cast in favor of moving the capital than there were voters in the county. Calling one of his trusted lieutenants in the campaign, Judge Townsend said: "I'll be dog-gone if I don't believe we have overdone the thing." However, there was no contest and Lufkin is now a large and progressive city.

1500 Dirt Farmers Benefit By State's Seed Certification

AUSTIN, June 4 (P)—Approximately 1500 Texas dirt farmers participated in the profits from the state's new certification program last year, according to R. V. Miller, chief of the seed certification division of the state department of agriculture. This was in addition to the number of farmers who directly benefited from the use of certified seed.

Seedsmen producing state certified cotton seed contract with farmers in their communities to produce the seed, paying a bonus of from $5 to $10 per ton average. In many instances the bonus is greater than the cost of the average. Miller said, when special care is necessary for particular selections of cotton.

The compilation showed 30 certified cotton seedmen contracted last season with 1678 farmers and that nearly 100 other dirt farmers were engaged in growing pure bred sorgoums and small grain seeds.

One breeder had 300 farmers under contract.

Miller pointed out that many farmers also obtained a bonus on cotton produced from certified seed. Each of the communities in which the certified growers operate is a "standardized cotton community," as recommended by specialists at Texas A. & M., who cite advantages of a district concentrating on a single strain of cotton. Farmers of these communities, however, will be required to work out an efficient marketing system before they can obtain the maximum benefit under the uniform cotton plan, Miller said.

Optimistic Tone Is Assumed In Federal Reserve Bank Report

DALLAS, Texas, June 4. (INE)—A decidedly optimistic tone was assumed in the monthly report of the Eleventh District Federal Reserve Bank.

Retail and wholesale trade picked up perceptibly and unexpectedly in April, the report said, and prospects for a bumper wheat crop added to the general improvement outlook.

"A further slight improvement in the distribution of merchandise," the report said, "was discernible during the past month. Sales of department stores in large centers were 6 per cent larger than in the previous month, and while sales were 12 per cent less than a year ago in April, as compared with 11 per cent in March, the difference is more than accounted for by the fact that Easter came two weeks earlier this year than in 1930. Wholesale distribution reflected an expansion in April as compared with March, contrary to the usual seasonal trend, and consumption was 1 per cent up over the January-June average in a majority of sections, less than in the winter months of the year."

The report said that manufacturers were buying from home so much and that the increase in trade was attributed to an unusual demand which necessitated frequent restockings. The price of cotton in the market place continued steady and favorable, the report said, although weather was somewhat cool for proper germination.

BUYING HARVEST MACHINES

AMARILLO, Texas, June 3.—Wheat farmers of the Panhandle are buying more machinery parts than at any time in past years, according to dealers throughout the territory. Because of the low price of wheat, very little new machinery is being bought, dealers say. It is estimated that the present crop will be harvested at the lowest cost on record.

NEW TEXAS HISTORY VOLUME

SAN ANTONIO, June 3.—The cradle of Texas liberty again has been made the subject of a book. Frederick C. Chabot, scholar and historian of early days in the southwest, is the author of "The Alamo, Altar of Texas Liberty," just off the press.

Dressing of Nitrate Of Soda Prescribed For Hail-Beaten Crops

STEPHENVILLE, June 3. (INE)—Neal Gearraad, director of the school of agriculture in John Tarleton College, said that hail beaten crops would give immediate response to a soda dressing of about 100 pounds of nitrate of soda applied as soon as the fields are dry enough to permit driving on.

The mixture, Gearraad said, may be distributed with a fertilizer box or sowed by hand, and, in either instance, covered with a cultivator, and the result will be immediate.

This mixture of side dressing has been used successfully on the college farm when a grower cotton per acre" move were hail beat all the leaves off the cotton and bruised the stalks badly, greatly retarding the growth of the plant. The fields on which the nitrate of soda was applied gained more than two weeks on untreated fields, and the treated cotton produced a bale to the acre.

Mrs. Louis Greau returned this was on in Erath county. A week from a visit to Tampa, Fla.

The treatment has been tried several times on hail beaten fields in Erath and adjoining counties, each time with good success.

It has been found in treating field here that when the plants are unusually weak, 10 to 20 pounds of potash added to the mixture gives excellent results in producing strength in the bruised plant.

Any plant in any sort of soil will respond to the treatment, Professor Gearraad said.

Municipalities To Convene In Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Texas, June 3. (INE)—Municipal ownership of public utilities, city planning and zoning, legislative needs of Texas towns, and growth of the city manager plan will be discussed at the nineteenth annual convention of the League of Texas Municipalities and an affiliated group, The Texas City Managers Association, in this city June 15, 16 and 17.

Speakers will include Governor Ross Sterling, Chairman W. R. Ely of the Texas highway commission, Senator Tom Connally, Mayor Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo, W. M. Cameron, managing director of the National Safety Council of Chicago, Joseph F. Leopold, southern manager of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Mr.

H. R. Wood, city planning engineer of Dallas, and others.

City Attorney J. Bouldin Hector of Austin is president of the league and Lee H. Powell, city manager of Tyler is head of the city managers association.

Harvey W. Draper of Houston, executive secretary of the league, has announced that governors of Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana may be invited to meet Governor Sterling in a conference on connected interstate highways.

Philadelphia citizens have been found to spend an average of $60 each yearly on medical care.

An Angora cat in Marion, Okla., has adopted a litter of nine baby rats presented to her for destruction.

AT THE SEASHORE

Going to the seashore? What are the health benefits you may expect there?

The seashore, like the mountains, has been regarded ever since even the most ancient days as a health-promoting region.

The physician of antiquity advised his patients to live at the seashore in the treatments of tuberculosis.

Nowadays many a splendid sanatorium is located on the sea border, and the location has been found of special value for children's homes, hospitals, and the like.

At the seashore, the air may not be as pure as it is in the mountains, particularly if there be large cities or factories near.

But its humidity is greater the range in temperature is less, and the seasonal variations are less marked.

The atmospheric pressure is greater at sea level than in elevated regions.

This induces slower breathing and metabolism, or the utilization of foods absorbed, is improved.

Sea air is said to have beneficial effect on the normal heart and blood vessels.

The pulse is reduced, but the strength of the heart action is increased.

Exposure to the strong sun assures that prevail at the seashore draws the blood to the skin and mucous membranes.

Congestion in internal organs is reduced. This has a beneficial effect on the body as a whole.

The action of sun light so freely available at the sea shore has a salutary effect on the body provided, of course, one does not expose one's self too much, and therapy suffer a painful sunburn.

Many skin conditions, including rashes, pimples, and pox, are improved by sea bathing and sun光.

Among the causes of poison ivy boils out from the sun, and sun accidents are the leading cause. Indian and Eskimo names which make them the best sun tanning plants in the world and arrows appear. There are many parents who do not realize the various risks involved in sunbathing with such dangerous rays and weeds as these.

The responsibility is always the parent. They such as Mr. Fossella has mentioned are too dangerous for boys to use without adult supervision. Every parent should bear the fact in mind.

Dangerous Playthings

PLAYING engines usually kill kinds of new or fast engines accidents. Because of the speed prevalence that seems to take after children, most of them go unassisted except for safety gates and spanned areas. Not a recent radio address by Day P. Roemer of the National Association for the Prevention of Blindness indicates some of life more serious hazards towards the youngsters run.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

The Farmer Cannot Strike

Charleston News and Courier
M. E. COOLIDGE, MR. HOOVER, and the other pragmatists are pleading that the wage scale be maintained. Mr. Coolidge is solemnly saying that it is maintained, yet when the price of cotton or of tobacco goes down, the wage scale on the farms goes down with it.

For the growers of cotton and tobacco, employing themselves in millions of cases to hoe and plow, and harvest the crops. They are their own employers. They are laborers and they are capitalists; they work with their hands on their own farms.

In time of depression the maintenance of the wage scale for the mountain laborers leaves less of the produce for the farmers.

What shall a farmer get out of a bale of cotton when it sells for $100 in New York? Let us say that his share—the wages of the railroad crew, the warehousemen, the stevedores, the clerks in the office, and all wage earners handling the bales remaining at exactly the same level that they were when the bale sold for $100?

Yet with what this farmer has left he must buy his shoes, his plows, his clothes, his nails, his bedding, at approximately the old prices—for are not Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Hoover seeing to it that the men who work in the factories turning out these things receive the old wage?

Remember Winifred Westover, Yes, the former Mrs. William A. Hart. She made a spectacular return to the screen two years ago in "Lummos." For the part she sacrificed a slim figure, built up her weight, and worked ardently. Her characterization was highly praised. But the picture failed financially, and she has not been seen professionally since.

Jane Keith, too. Probably the most beautiful blonde Hollywood had uncloaked in months, she played a minor role in "Whoopie," and then, after waiting, came her "big break," the lead opposite Milton Sills in "The Sea Wolf." She too was praised, and forgotten.

If they could strike, if they did strike, millions in the cities, in the factory towns, would starve, they would in a night shot the demons of their own cities.

What if the farmers who produce milk for a million children in New York should go on strike? Have they less right in morals and justice to go on strike than other men have?

When the crisis approaches when the captains in the industrial centers tremble at the imminence of civil commotion, who are the last reliance for security of order of property, of life?

The scattered farmers, in their little homes or their small acreages, independent men, employers of themselves, blended laborers and capitalists, men who can't strike, probably because it might give some of us an idea.

The wage scale is maintained; everybody wants it maintained: We've maintained.

The farmers hold the bag.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stephens and daughter Rosella, and Mrs. Stephens' mother, Mrs. D. F. Hansen, have gone to California to visit J. V. Hansen for a month.

And who dreamed that, with the fan public agog over his appearance and acting, producers would not rush to keep him working? But for months Morris was forgotten, and he was ready to return to New York when his second opportunity came.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, June 4.—Shifts in the current off the seacoast here are bringing strange fish to the waters in this section.

Last year a great school of huge rays, or "floating barn doors," came to the section, several of them being harpooned and landed.

This season a 14-foot octopus, the first large one ever to be seen in the waters here, was killed by Leonard Trimble, local architect.

The Water Bucket

BY BOBBY CAMPBELL

My, my, Miss Genesie, the boys are at it again! Once, so the sage informant has enticed Bob Wilson into another halfback of 1930, from his Corsican air. And this came just as we were beginning to believe that things were not going so well down in the Big Dam City the King of Texas and the City of Shining Gold. Percy Anderson, a likable chap at odd times in his college days, is the latest Morning News waver whom upon the surface of the water, he was noted to be, when he was seen for the first time this year.
He got a bit wild, walking trees and hitting one batman. Mc-Namee twisted and baseball and was given vigorous support.

Reigning Ruler
Of Gypsy Tribe
Fighting Death

OMAHA, Neb., June 4.—A group of 20 gold pieces, besides her chart of $20 gold pieces, besides her chart of six Omaha specialists, Queen Mary, back-footed reigning ruler of the gypsy tribes was dying in a hospital room here today, while outside her window gathered hundreds from throughout the nation.

For many years Queen Mary, now 50 years old, and the mother of eighteen living children, has ruled with King Peter, the Sultan of Brazil, bands of Brazilian gypsies.

A few days ago, as her band followed the spring northward through Nebraska, she started from a well-known sandhills country. The water physicians believe was infected. Queen Mary was brought to Methodist Hospital here critical of "malaria fever." Today the half-dozen specialists engaged by the gypsy band in an effort to save her life gave little hope.

Across the road from the hospital sixteen of her children, with 24 other families of the tribe, were encamped. Neighbors, the Stanley tribe, which claims to be the reigning Romanian gypsy family, has set up its tents along Route 66, taking ruler of the tribe, "Gypsy Queen."

Last night the gypsies gathered beneath their queen's windows. Guitars twanged and voices in songs of love and encouragement. Queen Mary and her band were disturbed, however, and were disturbed by the police, who are the tribe's chief police officers.

Today they had gathered once again this time, looking out window where their queen will come to the mortal board, having been whose feet the 20 gold pieces which remained, came from near.

Quilt Editor's Desk To Raise Fine Hogs

COLEMAN, Texas, June 4.—Dr. J. J. Gregg of Woodstock, former editor of the Santa Anna News, believes that hogs will be raised with bags. He describes editorials to tackle the task.

On his 400-acre farm near Rockwood he plants 100 acres. The balance is planted to feed the 100 head of swine he keeps.

Gregg has a Marquis sow that gave birth this year to a litter of fifteen pigs, fourteen of whom are living. The same sow gave birth to a litter of ten on Thanksgiving day. She weighs 175 pounds. A number of other sows, he expects to be able to get from state and county fairs.

PROBE DEATH

HILLSBORO, June 4.—Perry Hill county officials today investigated the death of Harry S. C. Hills, 42-year-old farmer found dead in a shallow waterhole on 19th ranch of his brother, George Hills late yesterday. His sister-in-law, Pleasants said there was no mark in his lungs. Officers found a mark on his throat which might have been inflicted by the friction of a rope around his neck. Officers expect foul play.

He had been absent from his ranch home for several hours when a search for him was made. Water in a pool in which he was found was only one foot deep.
