

MODERN RAIL COMFORTS REPLACE HARDSHIPS IN LAND OF 'SOURDOUGH'

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 18.—"All aboard, through train for the interior." Thus sings out the white coated porter, standing with step in hand at the rear of the "Sourdough" limited. Glancing along the train it is found to be made up of express and baggage car, day coach, Pullman sleeper and an observation chair car.

It seems incongruous that this equipment is ready to dash through the heart of Alaska and bring up on the banks of the Tanana river, that mighty stream whose mere name conjured up visions of argonauts, dog teams, myriads of caribou and the old days when only strong men reached the Tanana.

On July 13 the through freight took the place of the mixed train operated heretofore and a regular bi-weekly passenger and freight service has been installed.

Perilous Journey.

Travelers recall a trip over the route two years ago. It intailed a mixed train that began to crawl along as it entered the Broad Pass country, where operation extended almost to the last rail laid. Then came the horse-drawn sleigh or dogteam to the next roadhouse at Summit, a bleak, desolate spot in winter, hemmed in by icy mountains and swept by windy blasts. Overnight at the crude roadhouse and the trip was continued to Nenana, on the banks of the Tanana, down a dangerous canyon where the dogsled clung to the heaving cliffs by the teeth of the brake. Maybe it was 40 degrees below zero and only the hardy or those compelled to take the trip braved it.

Today this same country is unfolded in scenic grandeur from the window of the Pullman or the rear platform of the observation parlor car, or mayhap while dining in the buffet car ahead. The bleak, icy mountains are bathed in the mysterious light that arrays the entire spectrum and parades it before the vision; little rivulets rush down from the mountains to join the noble Susitna carrying its turbulent flood into Cook inlet.

The system of crossing the Tanana in winter on rails laid upon the ice soon will be supplanted by a 700-foot single steel span bridge which approaches well above the flood of the stream, the narrow-gauge. Tanana Valley "dinky" lines will retreat before the oncoming of the mogul engine and its serpent-like string of modern equipment.

"Fairbanks," shouts the porter and Old Alaska has vanished, the great land of mystery along the Yukon becomes but a banal echo of something that has been, but is no more.

Hard on Old-Timers.

The change has been so sudden and so complete that the old-timers are finding it hard to readjust their lives to the new conditions. The railroad has wiped away the dogteam as a means of transportation to the interior, the horse-drawn sleigh over the Richardson highway from Valdez is but a tourist adventure; automobiles take the place of the stage in summer and the railroad now serves a country, extending to Nome on the northwest and the Arctic slope to the north, down the Tanana from Fairbanks to the Yukon and up the Yukon the tourist who has absorbed the roto Dawson—a veritable adventure for many of the days of '93.

The old-timer says the Dawson days will come again; where, he is unable to state; but the lure of the "shovel-in" ground beckons and as the railroad threaded north the prospector broke new trails. What the future holds for the dreamer is as problematic as the first venture into the forbidding country that has so suddenly been transformed into a region wherein the most delicate may live and prosper.

W. D. COLEMAN DIES AT FAMILY HOME; FUNERAL TOMORROW

W. D. Coleman, 35, an employe of the Republic Production company, died last night at 6:30 at the home of his mother on South Hodges street. He had been a resident of Ranger for two years and is survived by his mother and three brothers. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the chapel of the Milford Undertaking company. The Rev. M. F. Drury will officiate. Burial will be in Evergreen cemetery.

RANGER SECRETARY TO SPEAK AT COLEMAN

"Business Co-operation" will be the subject of an address by Secretary Ernest G. Albright of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce at Coleman Tuesday night. Mr. Albright is on the program of a big co-operative meeting of the Retail Merchants' association and Chamber of Commerce of that place.

CONSOLATION!

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 18.—If the winners can boast, so can the losers.

Hence, listen to James W. Durnell, of Columbus, who drew the "booby prize" in the Republican election lottery:

"I drew more votes to the dollar than any other candidate," said he.

"I spent nothing."

It is stated confidentially that, if the truth were told, many Ohio candidates have votes that cost as much as a dollar each.

NO CHOP SUEY IN CHINA, SAYS NEWS SLEUTH!

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—There is no chop suey in China, according to Walter C. Whiffen, Associated Press bureau chief at Peking, an American whose official business has taken him to many nooks and corners of that country during the past few years, and who has prosecuted an unofficial—and fruitless—search for the dish in what was supposed to be its native land.

What's more, and worse, from the standpoint of those in the United States who are devotees of the concoction that bulks so large on the culinary map of Bohemia, there never has been any chop suey in China, at least not so that it could be noticed, says Mr. Whiffen.

To carry the sad story still further, he says he has tried chop suey as served in America and thinks so much of it that he is seriously considering introducing it to official circles of the Chinese capital when he returns to his post there next month.

Youth Gets Goo-Goo, Eyes, Fight and Walk—and All for $22

FLINT, Mich., Aug. 18.—Robbed of all his money and thrown from an automobile on a lonely country road four miles from Flint, by two beautiful women and a man whom he chanced to meet, was the tale told to police by Leslie Lonsberry, 17 years old, high school student, after he had walked to the city.

Irene Sharp, alias Irene Page, 20 years old, of Detroit; Nellie Smith, 24 years old, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Jack Ferras, confectioner, at Flint Park, were arrested at a hotel here soon afterward, and are held in $500 bail each, awaiting a justice court hearing next Friday on a charge of larceny.

It was the old tale of the spider and the fly that young Lonsberry told police. Going to Flint Park, amusement center, Lonsberry "fell" for the glances of the two women, and later Ferras invited the lad to accompany him home with the two women.

Lonsberry accepted and driving out the Lapeer road the machine was stopped on pretext that a tire had blown out. Lonsberry goes out to see and was followed by Irene Sharp, he says. Suddenly he learned his pocketbook was missing.

Accusing Irene of the theft he was rebuffed with a buff to the jaw. A free-for-all fight ensued between the pair, according to the story. Nellie Smith and Ferras interfered a moment later, holding the lad until the trio could climb back into the machine, police were told.

Lonsberry leaped to the running-board and grabbed his pocket-book. The trio pushed him to the road and sped away. Examining his wallet he found it to be empty, and rather than pass the night in the country he walked to Flint.

The $22 was recovered from the girl's room, detectives say.

Why "Blanket" Ice?

DO YOU know what really happens when you cover ice with newspapers or cloth?

If you did, you would never try it again—because "blanketing" absolutely destroys the entire principle of efficient refrigeration. It stops the constant circulation of cold air throughout the refrigerator.

Without this constant air circulation, your refrigerator is only partially efficient. Real savings are effected by keeping the refrigerator filled and the ice chamber free from food.

NEBRASKA'S ACTING GOVERNOR WORKING AS $5 PER DAY GUARD BECAUSE HE NEEDS THE MONEY

By Associated Press. LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 18.—Pelham A. Barrows, lieutenant governor of Nebraska, and for the last week acting chief executive during the absence of Governor McKelvie, also is working as a $5 a day strike guard for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad.

“Being lieutenant governor has honor but no remuneration,” he said, adding that he took the new work when he and Mrs. Barrows found “we had $3.40 in the bank and I had $1.60 in my pocket, with not another cent in the world.”

VARDAMAN'S LEAD NOW AROUND SIX THOUSAND

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 18.—Unofficial newspaper returns and figures made public at the campaign headquarters of former United States Senator James K. Vardaman and Hubert D. Stephens, who will meet in a second Democratic primary, Sept. 5, for nomination as United States senator from Mississippi, indicated a first primary plurality for Vardaman ranging from 3,000 to 7,000, but with the majority of the tabulations fixing the figures at between 6,000 and 7,000.

MULE IS FLOATED OUT AFTER FALL INTO WELL

DALLAS, Aug. 18.—After making seven futile attempts to hoist a drayman's mule, which was swimming around in seven feet of water, from a 30-foot well, firemen pumped the well full of water, floated the mule out and delivered it to its owner, Joe Warren.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

BRONTE, Texas, Aug. 18.—J. S. Arledge, a Coke county ranchman, near this place, has recovered his roadster, which was stolen from him some months ago while he was attending a picture show in Abilene. The car was recovered by officers near Breckenridge. It had been so changed by the thieves that Arledge himself could not identify it except by the number on the battery. The thieves failed to change that number, and by that means the car was identified. The thieves admitted stealing the car, so it is reported.

FORD MAKES $500,000 DAILY; SOON WILL BE RICHEST MAN, BANKERS SAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Holland, writing in the Wall Street Journal, says:

While John D. Rockefeller is giving away his wealth, Henry Ford is increasing his so rapidly that New York financiers think he is, or will be within a year, perhaps the wealthiest man in the world. Bankers who have become familiar with his methods through financing sales of Ford cars put his net income at $500,000 a day.

He gets cash for his daily output of 5,000 cars, and his plant has an even larger capacity. Bankers have been assured that his net profit on each car is $100. About half the output is sold on the installment plan, but not by Mr. Ford.

Bankers who a little over a year ago proposed to finance his immediate needs, which amounted to a good many millions, on condition that they choose his treasurer, learned that Mr. Ford was his own financier. His achievement at that time will become traditional. He was able personally to finance his needs because he received cash for every car sent to his agents. They would accept one-third of the selling price in cash and the remaining two-thirds in 12 monthly installments.

The agent's need of cash to pay Mr. Ford has led to a large and profitable banking business.

They sell to bankers notes given by purchasers of cars, meet their own obligations and take their $60 profits. The bankers hold title in each car represented by contracts which they buy or discount. The agent adds interest to the price. Bankers believe Mr. Ford is the only American receiving $500,000 cash a day net profit. A Canadian Ford company is marketing cars by a similar method. In other countries Ford factories are or will be manufacturing many cars. Income from these sales is not included in the $500,000 estimate.

Many years will pass before the Ford output slackens. Bankers who are discounting installment notes look forward to a steady business. One banking corporation in New England discounted between Jan. 1 and June 1, 1,000 of these notes and in not a single instance has any payment been overdue. This bank discounts an average of 25 notes a day.

Many similar institutions are thus occupied and their experience has been such that they would rather discount Ford car paper than installment notes for high-priced cars. Ford car notes have excellent credit. The purchasers of high-priced cars are less anxious to care for their credit.
