Court Upholds Royalty Verdict

No reversible error has been found by the Supreme Court of Texas in the case of Edward K. Fisher, et al versus Southland Royalty Company, et al.

The court denied a writ of error at Austin Wednesday morning.

Fisher had brought suit originally in 118th District Court here, contending that heirs had not been protected in the execution of mineral deeds and sale of other property which had belonged to the late Lester Fisher, uncle of the plaintiff.

The suit stemmed from execution of a trust agreement in November 1930 from Lester Fisher to Albert Fisher Sr. By judgment of District Court here in September 1933, the trust agreement was cancelled with the result that Lester Fisher was given title and possession of his properties. Plaintiffs contend that their heirs were not made a party to the cancellation suit and that their interests as beneficiaries had not been rightfully protected.

After the cancellation judgment, Southland Royalty acquired title to 63-64ths of the mineral interests in sections 24 and 25, block 34, 2n. T&P, and the east half of section 22, block 34, 2n. T&P. On the same basis, title to lot 12 and part of lot 11, block 12, Original, Big Spring, which Lester Fisher had sold to Elmo Wasson, was also questioned. The trial court held for the defendants as did the 11th District Court of Civil Appeals in Eastland.

Projected drilling depth is 3,500 feet, and operations are slated to begin immediately.

Rodriguez Case Due Submission To Grand Jury

All information pertaining to the shooting of Manuel Rodriguez, also known as Manuel Vega, last Sunday night will be presented to the Grand Jury for the next term, District Attorney Guilford Jones said last night.

Vega, or Rodriguez, was shot by a policeman in northwest Big Spring. The officer, Patrolman J. C. Walton, said his gun discharged accidentally when he was chasing Rodriguez. Walton and Patrolman J. D. Campbell said they had stopped Vega and three other Latin-American youths for investigation of possible drunkenness.

Vega fled, and the bullet punctured his chest and lung. The slug was removed Tuesday afternoon and Vega was reported in satisfactory but still serious condition this morning.

Jones said that both Walton and Campbell submitted to lie detector tests in Austin Monday and that results of the test substantiated their story of the accidental shooting. He said, however, that he believes all of the facts in the case should be presented to the grand jury.

The district attorney also said that Vega is the same person as the Manuel Vega who was placed on two years probation early in November when he pleaded guilty to charges of burglary.

Jones said it also has been definitely established that Vega, or Rodriguez, is not related in any way to the Cpl. A. L. Rodriguez who was injured when he was struck by Patrolman Walton at the police station about a month ago. This occurred while Rodriguez was fighting back in resisting arrest.

Texas Ranger John Wood assisted Jones and Police Chief E. W. York with an investigation of the Sunday night incident. He said the other Latin-Americans have been identified and will be questioned concerning the shooting.

JURY

asked to present the motion in writing before any ruling.

Judge Sullivan then recessed the trial until 1:30 p. m.

Selection of the jury required all of Monday and Tuesday and most of this morning.

Taylor was the second former peace officer chosen to hear the case. The other is Dale Lane, who was chief deputy sheriff for Howard County at the time Robert A. (Bob) Childers was killed. Taylor was a highway patrolman at the time.

Davis was charged with murder following the shooting on March 27, 1953. He was found guilty by a jury last year, but the verdict was reversed by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Jurors to hear the case on this occasion are: E. W. Fletcher Jr., Harry Weeg, Coy R. Shannon, James Vines, Thomas McAdams, Virgil L. Smedley, Dale Lane, Alvin T. Boren, Joseph Clark, Alton Underwood, Bill A. Milliken, and J. A. Taylor.

The first witness this afternoon was expected to be Police Sgt. Bill Cartwright, the first policeman to reach the Wyoming Hotel after Childers was reported shot.

SHEPPARD

ifornia, but that Sheppard told her his wife was in northern California visiting friends.

Worth E. Munn, an uncle of the slain Marilyn Sheppard, testified before Miss Hayes.

Munn, on the stand when the trial opened, said he had known Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, the 31-year-old boyish-looking defendant, and the murder victim since their high school days.

"In all that time, did you ever see Sam Sheppard mistreat Marilyn?" defense attorney Fred Garmon asked him.

"Never," Munn replied.

He also told of visiting the handsome osteopath at Bay View Hospital shortly before 9 a. m. July 4, the day of the killing. He said the defendant "had a bandage on his neck" and "his face was badly swollen, particularly his right cheek."

"His head was rolling back and forth as he talked to us," Munn said, but added that Sheppard had no difficulty relating how two attackers beset him in the house when he tried to save his wife from her fatal beating. Munn quoted him as using the words "they" and "them." In later accounts, Sheppard referred to only one "bushy-haired man" as the murderer.

Illness of a juror, James C. Bird, caused a recess while Munn was a witness.

The pert, freckle-faced laboratory technician took the stand after a relative of the slain Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard described the beating in these words:

"My wife went into the kitchen with Marilyn. We were watching television, a cowboy and Indian picture. Chip was playing the part of an Indian. He was running around the room. I happened to see Sam's left arm over the arm of the chair. Chip playfully slapped him. Sam grabbed him, and pulled him up over his legs and gave him what I thought was an unmerciful beating."

Pentagon's New Manpower Plans Announced By Wilson

By EDWIN B. HARRISON
WASHINGTON, (U)—Four senators agreed today that the next Congress will extend the draft act but differed over other parts of the Pentagon's new military manpower plans.

Secretary of Defense Wilson outlined the program yesterday: It will call for a four-year extension of the draft law, a modified form of universal military service that will provide for long and short-term draftees, more pay for long-service men and little change in the historic reserve and National Guard setup.

Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) of the Senate Armed Services Committee and two committeemen, Senators Stennis (D-Miss) and Case (R-Ind.), agreed in separate interviews that Wilson would get a sympathetic hearing when he takes his case before the group. While concurring with the other three senators that the selective service law should be extended, Sen. Long (D-La.) said he doubts Congress would okay what he described as a new version of the universal military training program Congress has turned down several times in recent years.

"As one who previously supported UMIT," he said, "I think it can't be done."

Wilson said the manpower program as now planned calls for a double system of induction through the selective service. Most young men — nearly 300,000 a year at the current rate — would be drafted for two years of active duty, then go into the organized reserve. Then, to build up the reserve, another 50,000 to 100,000 would be inducted for a four to six-month basic training period and then automatically become members of the ready reserve.

There would be two major distinctions between the short and longer term draftees:

1. The short-terms would not classify as "veterans," according to the latest Pentagon thinking, and thus would not qualify for most veterans benefits.

2. The 24-month selectees would spend less time in the organized reserves while the short-terms would be on call for emergency active duty for a year or two longer.

'Julius Caesar' Plays Today And Thursday

Opening today at the Ritz Theatre is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Julius Caesar" with an all-star cast. The film will also show tomorrow.

This film version of the William Shakespeare play has won wide critical applause for the quality of the acting and the fidelity with which the Shakespearean story is followed.

Although written over 300 years ago and dealing with the events of 20 centuries ago, the plot has many topical qualities to interest the modern viewer. The play deals with the struggle for power that breeds dictatorship and erupts in violence, the twin tyrannies of autocratic government and mob rule, and the struggles of those caught between the two evils.

Marlon Brando plays the role of Mark Antony, Caesar's most loyal follower and the avenger of his death. Louis Calhern plays Caesar and Greer Garson plays Calpurnia, Caesar's wife. James Mason plays the noble Brutus enticed in the conspiracy to kill Caesar by Cassius, played by John Gleason. Others starring in the cast include Deborah Kerr as Portia, the wife of Brutus, and Edmond O'Brien as Casca.

In all 50 players have speaking roles and there are thousands of extras utilized in crowd and battle scenes.

Joseph L. Mankiewicz, four-time Academy Award winner, is the director and John Houseman, who produced a famed modern-dress version of "Julius Caesar" on Broadway in the '30s, is the producer. The script is by William Shakespeare, of course.

SKILLET PORK CHOPS AND SAUERKRAUT

Ingredients:
Four one-inch thick loin pork chops, one 16-ounce can sauerkraut, 3 tablespoons dark brown sugar, 1/4 cup cooking sherry, salt, pepper.
Method:
Cut almost all of outside layer of fat away from chops. Heat a bit of the fat in a 12-inch skillet until melted; add chops and brown slowly on both sides — about 10 minutes; remove chops. Add undrained sauerkraut in skillet; sprinkle with brown sugar and sherry; mix well with two forks. Arrange browned chops in skillet so that they are at bottom of pan and sauerkraut is around them; sprinkle chops with salt and pepper. Cover and cook over low heat until chops are tender — about 30 minutes; test by making small slit through chop near bone with a small knife — meat should be white. Remove chops to serving platter; taste sauerkraut and if you wish it more highly flavored add 1/4 to 1 tablespoon brown sugar and 1 to 2 tablespoons sherry, mixing well. Arrange sauerkraut around chops and serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Serve with the following foods:
Spit Fowl Soup
Croustons
Skillet Pork Chops and Sauerkraut
Mashed Potatoes
Green Peas
Bread and Butter

Votive Animals

Made in a 19th century Austrian village by a blacksmith, they are especially sought by enthusiasts of modern furnishings. The figures were made of iron in the shape of a person or animal and were placed on a church altar as an expression of gratitude.

Antique Art Objects Fit Modern Scene

By VIVIAN BROWN

Lovers of modern furnishings may find plenty to sing about at antique shows these days. More and more ancient art is being made available, much of it looking more modern than some of our contemporary accessories.

At the recent New York Antiques Fair hundreds of handsome primitive pieces from a n e i e n t Greece, Rome, Egypt and Mexico proved to be perfect accessories for the modern home.

Even votive figures and animals of iron made in 19th century Austria looked like they had just come from a farrier's shop — just crude enough to please the enthusiast of modern furnishings. The little shapes were originally used on altars in thanksgiving, showing descriptive stages of incidents depicted.

Small Egyptian figures called Ushabti, that were buried with the bodies of royalty to act as servants in the hereafter, have been resurrected from ancient graves. Some are of wood or clay.

Animal sculptures supposedly representing a n e i e n t Egyptian symbols are popular. Fine examples of Alabaster Canopic Jars and bowls used for sacred offerings date back to 2000 B. C.

A couple of children's heads of Roman provincial assistance stylized along modern lines are shown. They date back to the fifth century A. D. and have been given museum mountings.

Mexican pottery or sculpture seven or eight centuries old is available. Clay figures in all shapes and sizes make interesting pieces for room display. Funerary urns made of greyish clay are from the Zapotec, early Mexican culture.

Art products such as the reddish-brown clay of the Toltec and Aztec Indians go well with the current terra cotta and black combinations are found, too, in the work of Pueblo Indians, dating back 400 or 500 years.

THE GRUB LINE
With Franklin Reynolds

One of Gall's best beloved early-day citizens was laid to rest in the cemetery there Sunday afternoon with Masonic ceremonies, and with the Rev. J. W. Hawkins of Fluvanna, pastor of the Gall Methodist Church, officiating.

He was Jefferson Davis Brown, better known to the Borden County folks as "J. D."

Mr. Brown, who died in an El Paso hospital, was 88 years old. He was born in Hopkins County and moved to Gall at the turn of the century. In 1901 he became a partner of Mr. David Dorward's in the drug business there, but was never actively engaged in the management of the store, although the partnership lasted agreeably for some 10 or 12 years, and wasn't ended until Mr. Brown sold out to become cashier of the bank established at Gall, earlier, and at different times, he had been a school teacher and county clerk. Among those with whom he taught school were Mrs. David Dorward and the late J. W. C. Mullins, whose daughter, Annie, married Clarence Smith, who last week became managing editor of the Station Reporter.

In 1905 Mr. Brown was united in marriage with Miss Edna Hale of Gall. Her people operated the leading hotel in Gall at the time. Mrs. Brown, who survives him, is now an invalid in an El Paso hospital and was unable to come to the funeral which was attended by a large number of people from over this West Texas area.

The Browns had three children. Two of them died in infancy, while the third, a daughter, was 13 years old at the time of her death. All of them were buried at Gall, where they died during their parents' residence there, and Mr. Brown had often expressed the wish to be taken back there and school is out every afternoon he leaves the store in care of somebody and drives down to his home in the south part of town to get Mrs. Dorward who comes up to the store to help him with "the school rush." It's been going on for years, just that way.

And there's some serious buying, too. Daddy said to bring him some screw worm dope and a package of cigarettes, and mother wants a box of stationery and a can of talcum.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorward know each and every one of those kids, and better than that they've known those kids back for three generations. It's just like them having that many grandchildren pile in on them at once.

The Mitchell County Hereford Breeders Association will hold its annual breakfast tomorrow (Thursday) morning at Coker's Cafe, on Highway 80, just west of Colorado City.

At this breakfast meeting details for the association's 1955 sale will be worked out and new association officers will be elected. The breakfast hour is seven o'clock.

Hugh Pettus, manager of the Paymaster Gin at St. Lawrence estimates that the Nov. 4 freeze in that area, when temperatures dropped to about 28 degrees, cost the farmers at least 150 bales of cotton. The freeze was enough to defoliate the cotton and kill the pink bollworms, but as was demon-

He got his license back.

Pioneer Obtains Extension On Houston Route

The Civil Aeronautics Board has extended Pioneer Air Lines authority to provide Big Spring service on the route from Houston to Midland-Odessa via Austin and San Angelo on two flights daily for a period of 120 days from Nov. 22.

Pioneer started the service to Big Spring last July under a similar authorization and on Oct. 26 of this year applied for the extension of time.

Under the authorization, Pioneer Flights 21 and 26 land in Big Spring between Midland-Odessa and San Angelo when there is a passenger reservation for service to one of the cities on that segment. Big Spring passengers who deserve service to San Angelo, Austin or Houston make reservations through the Big Spring Pioneer office. Once the reservation is confirmed, Pioneer Flight 21, which leaves Midland-Odessa at 6:50 a.m., will land in Big Spring before continuing on to San Angelo, Austin and Houston.

On the other hand, passengers in Houston, Austin or San Angelo who desire service to Big Spring will make reservations on Pioneer Flight 26 which leaves Houston at 6 p.m., Austin at 7:08 p.m. and San Angelo at 8:25 p.m. Flight 26 then lands at Big Spring before continuing on to Midland-Odessa. Pioneer also provides Big Spring with four flights daily on the route to Abilene, Fort Worth and Dallas. The company has been serving Big Spring since Feb. 19, 1947.

Famous Trichologist Tells Truth About Saving And Improving Hair

This new method of home treatment for saving and growing thicker hair will be demonstrated in Big Spring, Tex., Thursday ONLY, Dec. 2, 1954.

These private individual demonstrations will be held at the Settles Hotel on Thursday ONLY, Dec. 2, 2 p.m. till 9 p.m.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 29 — In an interview here today D. Russell Collins, internationally famous trichologist and director of the Collins Hair and Scalp Experts, Inc., said "There are 18 different scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so-called cure-all could correct all the disorders," he explained.

GUARANTEED

"The Collins firm, recognizing that most people are skeptical of claims that hair can be grown on balding heads, offers a guarantee," Collins said.

Once a person avails themselves to the Collins treatment his skepticism immediately disappears. To insure this, we offer this guarantee. "If you are not completely satisfied with your hair progress in the very first 30 days your money will be returned."

HOPELESS CASES

First the Collins specialists are quick to tell hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. But the "hopeless" cases are few. Only if a man is completely, shiny bald is he in this lost category.

If there is fuzz, no matter how light, thin, or colorless, the Collins firm can perform wonders.

Everyone is given a complete, private examination to determine the condition of his scalp, and cause for his hair trouble.

FREE EXAMINATIONS

This examination is very thorough and highly technical. It requires 20 to 30 minutes. There is no charge for this examination, and no appointment is necessary. After the examination he is told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost.

After starting treatment he makes regular reports to the Collins firm in Oklahoma City, and a trichologist will return to check his progress periodically.

To spread the opportunity of normal, healthy hair to the thousands who are desperately looking for help, the Collins firm is sending specialists to various cities throughout the United States to conduct examinations and start home treatment.

NO CUREALL

"We have no cure-all for slick, shiny baldness," Collins emphasizes. "If there is fuzz, the root is still capable of creating hair and we can perform what seems to be a miracle."

There is one thing Collins wants to be certain every man and woman knows. If a recession appears at the temples or a spot begins to show up on the crown of the head, there is something wrong and it should be given immediate attention.

HAIR FOR LIFETIME

"If clients follow our directions during treatment and after they finish the course, there is no reason why they will not have hair all the rest of their lives," Collins said. "Our firm is definitely behind this treatment. It all depends on the individual client's faithful observation of a few simple rules."

HOW'S YOUR HAIR?

If it worries you call Trichologist Lynn Jones at the Settles Hotel in Big Spring, Texas on Thursday ONLY, Dec. 2, 2 p.m. till 9 p.m. The public is invited. You do not need an appointment. The examinations are private and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way.

A Bible Thought For Today—

Bad men go to great pains to work evil. Good men should be searching all ways to do good. "They did work willy." — Josh. 9:4.

In Dealing With Outlaws, Regular Codes Will Not Produce Results

The U. S. contends that eleven armen sentenced last week by Red China were shot down in a B29 over North Korea, and that two American civilians sentenced with them were in a transport plane downed over International waters.

Red China claims the B29 was shot down over Manchuria, and that the two civilians were caught dropping supplies to "American espionage agents in northeast China."

That is the bare bone of the current dispute between Peiping and Washington. The U. S. further claims the treatment accorded these Americans was a breach of the Korean armistice. Inasmuch as they were not released along with all other prisoners under the terms of that agreement, Red China not only concealed these prisoners and failed to yield them up, but waited more than a year to acknowledge their existence and announce their imprisonment.

In dealing with Communist nations none of the ordinary laws and customs of civilized countries apply, only the law of the jungle. It is the same as if a man-eating tiger should seize a child from a village in India and drag it into the bush, and the villagers tried to persuade the tiger to let go. No appeal of reason, humanitarianism or law would prove of any value.

Similarly, we can depend on none of the appeals civilized nations depend on to gain the release of these imprisoned Americans. Red China is using them to extort from us some advantage in her favor, just as any kidnap gang would do.

The only force the Communists recognize is force itself. We must find and apply the appropriate force in this case. A naval blockade? That would certainly hurt Communist China, but it would not likely result in freeing these hapless men, and it might prove costly in men and treasure. By diplomatic maneuvering? This usually finds the free world on the short end of the deal.

The incident points up one thing anew: "peaceful coexistence" with communism is a chimera. As long as communism wields power in the world there can be no peace, only an armed truce, subject to change without notice.

Remembering Own, Congressmen May Raise Federal Workers' Pay

A ten per cent raise in pay for all postal and civil service workers will be put before the 84th Congress when and if the Democrats organize the Senate in January. This is just twice the size of the last pay-raise bill which President Eisenhower gave a pocket veto last August 23.

The word comes from Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC), slated to head the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee when the Democrats take over. He predicts quick passage, over a veto if necessary.

The last pay-raise was vetoed on the ground Congress had made no provision for raising the money to cover it. Since the House is the money-raising branch, and sentiment for raising taxes may not be too firm in the new Congress, Senator Johnston may be overly optimistic.

But there is something in the air that might cause Congress to be more than ordinarily generous in this instance. It had had before it since last January the report of a special advisory commission proposing to raise congressional salaries by 53 per cent, or from the present $15,000 to $27,700 a year. Actually the present rate is $12,500 a year, but a $2,500 tax-free allowance brings the real take-home pay of a congressman to $15,000.

There is a well-founded belief that Congress looks with favor on this raise in its own pay, but it would hardly do to go ahead with it while at the same time refusing to do anything about raising the pay of civil employees. For that reason chances for both propositions seem excellent.

Nothing of a concrete nature has been done about raising the pay of the armed forces. They don't enjoy the political oomph civil employees possess. Yet all branches of the service are plagued by wholesale resignations and refusals to reenlist, which not only deprive them of experienced and competent help, but adds greatly to cost of operations because of the heavy turn-over.

Two factors may determine the fate of the civil service-congressional pay raise proposals. If high production continues and living costs show no real sign of coming down when voting time comes next spring or summer, both proposals probably will become law.

These Days—George Sokolsky

Harriman's Appointments Hurt Him With Organizational Demos

It is expected that men in public office will have as their personal assistants those with whom they have had long associations. Therefore, it is not surprising that Governor-elect Averell Harriman's announcements of his first appointments would give the impression that the state of New York would become a refuge for New Dealers out-of-a-job.

What does make it surprising is that Averell Harriman's friends are already beating the drums for his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for president. Therefore, he cannot afford to spend the next two years quarrelling with the Democrats in New York State.

Harriman's position as governor is bound to be awkward. He faces a Republican legislature that will cooperate with him as little as possible. His own election was by so narrow a margin as to be attributable to the Republican McCarthyties who did not vote at all or who cut Irving Ives because he refused to declare how he would vote on the question of the McCarthy censure. Out of more than five million votes cast for governor, Harriman won by 12,272, which is, indeed, a trifling margin still subject to recount.

In the face of such obvious weakness, Harriman's first appointments are all favorable to the Liberal party; not a single one has been announced as from the Democratic party up to the moment of writing.

The appointment of Paul H. Appleby to be in charge of the budget was particularly startling to organization Democrats. Representative Bradley of Michigan stated in the House on July 18, 1946, that Appleby had produced this piece of wisdom in a communication over his signature:

"A man in the employ of the government had just as much right to be a member of the Communist party as he had to be a member of the Democratic or Republican party."

Subsequently, Appleby wrote a long letter to Robert Morris, chief counsel for the Internal Security Committee, dated July 14, 1953, in which he sought to explain such an obviously erroneous statement away. The gist of his answer is in this sentence:

"As I recall it, rather indistinctly out of the whole body of business in which I participated so many years ago, the statement in question was a sentence contained within an interdepartmental memorandum written hastily as a way of treating a gossipy kind of charge of Communist affiliation or leaning in the case of an employe known to me as not a Red, but as having other shortcomings which limited his responsible usefulness . . ."

If that explains away the first statement, then words have lost their meaning. Appleby further says:

" . . . In attempting to strike down the unwarranted charge, I wrote too incisively and sweepingly, without making my whole position clear."

Surely a responsible public official does not scribble sentences of this sort in the course of public business. Appleby's statement: "Even so, my memo was less idiotic at the time it was written than it would be now . . ." does not help to give the impression of a serious-minded, responsible official who is to be entrusted with the budget of New York State. Perhaps this kind of jousting with words is regarded as clever among the bureaucrats in Washington, but in New York State, the sense of humor is of a different order, and many Democrats are seriously worried lest Mr. Appleby makes it difficult for them to hold what they have won. This state could easily swing Republican and elect a Republican senator in 1956.

Again, Harriman appointed Dr. Isidor Lubin and a panel of ex-Washington officials to be in charge of labor matters in this state. Dr. Lubin is an accomplished statistician, associated with the New Deal, and was recommended by Alex Rose of the Liberal party. The appointment is regarded as the pay-off to the Liberal party endorsing the Democratic candidates. The Democrats, it seems, were also not consulted in the matter of appointment of Myles Lane as a sort of adviser on Communist matters.

A few more New Deal appointments in this state and the Democrats will wonder whether their organization is to have any say at all. It would then mean that the politicians of both parties would combine in the state legislature to reduce the governor to size. This could have national repercussions affecting the 1956 presidential election.

POTOMAC FEVER

WASHINGTON — Vice President Nixon is used for $150,000 by a campaign heckler. "Crusadin" ain't what it used to be. An Eisenhower man no sooner buckles on his armor these days, than he gets sued for impersonating a Republican.

The college football season ends. Many graduating players are sad. They don't mind playing professional football next year — but they hate to take the pay cut.

AFL President Meany accuses businessmen of lobbying. Crowds are so thick in the lobbies of Congress, a labor leader is never sure whether he's button-holing his congressman or his stock broker.

The U. S. Senate heads into the Joe McCarthy fight again. The senators are ready to compromise — but they aren't sure yet which of their principles it ought to be.

Democrats say Adlai Stevenson is ahead for their presidential nomination. The trouble with Adlai is that he has so many virtues, it's always hard to know which one is rubbing people the wrong way.

An officer at the Pentagon is taking down the "Think!" sign over his desk. He says Army Secretary Stevens got caught at it once — and it brought the whole service under suspicion.

One politician says he realizes this is the age of specialization, but he wishes there weren't so many members of his party specializing in mediocrity.

The 14th Prisoner

The World Today—James Marlow
Wrangles Within GOP Might Prove Fatal To Party's Future Come 1956

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has retained such immense personal popularity through the first two years of his term he probably will hold the public esteem to the end.

For a man two years in the White House, he has been almost amazingly free of personal attacks or abuse. For one thing, politicians who might like to take a crack at him may have felt it too risky to tackle a national hero.

But Eisenhower himself, although a novice in politics, has followed the one course best calculated to bring him a minimum of abuse: by making no personal attacks.

Perhaps the best example of this is his handling of Sen. McCarthy—he has treated Sen. Knowland of California very carefully too—who has repeatedly stepped on the toes of the administration.

Yet, before his term is up Eisenhower may think it necessary to take a far tougher position on matters affecting his administration. More than his own personal popularity is at stake these next two years.

In 1956 the voters will decide not only whether the Republicans should stay in office but perhaps even the future of the Republican party itself.

The Republicans as a whole cannot claim equal popularity with Eisenhower. There are two examples of that: He ran far in front of the party in 1952; and the Republicans lost control of Congress to the Democrats in last month's elections while Eisenhower's popularity rating was still regarded as high.

The Republicans will not present an enticing spectacle to the voters if between now and 1956 they show themselves split on domestic and foreign affairs, with some of them in steady opposition to Eisenhower or at least to his administration.

That Eisenhower can expect trouble from McCarthy seems a foregone conclusion. Even if he is censured this week, the Wisconsin Republican says, he will continue his search for Communists. His most likely searching ground is the administration, as it was these past two years.

McCarthy has a following, inside and outside Congress and in the Republican party. It may not be a majority following but it could create bad spirits which might ruin the party's chances in 1956.

Knowland, the Republicans' Senate leader and therefore a source from which Eisenhower might ordinarily expect a minimum of difficulty, has often differed with Eisenhower on foreign policy. He shows no signs of changing.

Knowland too will have some support among Republicans, often perhaps from McCarthy's followers.

In the end, if the Republicans spend their time and energy in splits and wrangles, Eisenhower may have to depend on the Democrats—who are slated to be in a majority when the new Congress opens in 1955—at least to push through his foreign policy plan.

Last year McCarthy called on Eisenhower to cut off aid to allies who traded with the Communists. Today in an interview he came back to the same theme again.

He suggested the Chinese Communists would be forced to give up the 13 Americans imprisoned as spies if the Allies would stop trading with them. This country, he said, should force the Allies to stop trading by shutting off American aid to them if they didn't.

Knowland wants Eisenhower to blockade the China coast to force release of the prisoners. McCarthy lined up with Knowland by saying he'd back the blockade idea if his own idea of stop-trade-stop-aid didn't work.

Even though Secretary of State Dulles publicly repudiated Knowland's blockade proposal as a warlike act, and Eisenhower backed up Dulles yesterday, Knowland came right back by insisting on blockade. He has taken a stand contrary to the administration's again and again.

Christmas Has Scars As Well As Pleasures

NEW YORK (AP)—I approach the Christmas season reluctantly. It opens many wounds in my lifetime. Christmas gives scars as well as pleasures.

I was one of five children and cannot remember that as a child at Christmastime I ever gave a present to make my mother happy. Big scar to me. None to mother.

When I was young, there was no real poverty. The tree was strung with cranberries and popcorn, the gift of love was an orange — how strange an orange was then — and a few nuts from Brazil to make the day strange and merry.

There was also a gift for us all, something like a sled we could all use and fight over.

But it was all for us. At my age I still can't recall when the idea first came to us that we should also give a present to our father and mother — that this was also part of Christmas.

We were used to taking things — and there were many of us, and our parents were so used to giving and expecting nothing that we rather grew up and never knew quite what we owed. And perhaps our debt grew beyond our realization.

One of the torments of a grown-up is that he realizes his obligations too late. What gift can I give my father, 17 years dead, except a mellowing remembrance?

I infected my heart beyond repair — he and his love of everybody — and so, if I lived by his strength, nobody would ever be friendless utterly.

As I said before, I approach the Christmas season reluctantly. It isn't that I don't enjoy glad times, because I do. But where my father sowed the seeds of charity in his time with complete good will, I feel that now in trying to do the same thing I am but his echo, and never himself indeed.

Some of the other four boys in the family say I dream my father too high, now that he is gone, but my sister, Dolores, who has two children of her own, says:

"There'll never be another man like dad."

Nor will there ever be . . . He still is the king of our Christmas tree. Bitterly the family regrets he isn't there to ignite the holiday — just by the warm light of his presence.

Certainly a lot of other people miss a lot of other people — just thinking of Christmas.

Legion Safety Seal Drive Under Way

Launching of the annual Safety Seal campaign here was announced this week by Ed Fisher, commander of Howard County Post No. 355 of the American Legion.

Funds derived from the sale of the seals are used for welfare work among local veterans and their families, Fisher said. The post here has conducted the sale for nine years, emphasizing the national safety campaigns of the American Legion. The seals include 46 different safety suggestions for use on mail and packages.

Of the estimated 400,000 active cases of tuberculosis in the United States today, about 150,000 are unknown. Case-finding programs are supported by the funds raised in the Christmas seal sale of the tuberculosis associations affiliated with the National Tuberculosis Association.

Neighborly Visit Better Than Going To Some Kind Of Meeting

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald. — Editor's Note.

I notice that Readers Digest has picked up a reprint of an article in Christian Science Monitor concerning the lost art of calling. It leaves me like the Indian, who, while in the process of sending smoke signals, noted the mushroom cloud rising from an atomic test in the distance and observed wistfully: "I wish I had said that!"

Actually, I had such a piece in mind but felt that a little more personal expounding on the subject. The first time we tried it didn't turn out altogether successfully, for we caught our intended host or victim in the act of feverishly preparing for another engagement. There was nothing to do, of course, but to retreat promptly and gracefully.

The second time was eminently successful, from our point of view. Recently, while No. 1 boy and No. 2 boy were at a meeting at the church, Mama and little Wiggly, our No. 3 boy and I were driving around. We (Mama and I) fell to talking about those whom we would really like to visit sometime — how it was a shame that we never seemed to find time to call on our friends. At that instant, we glided past the home of Bill and Jo Dawes, and there were signs that someone indeed was home. In a twinkling, we had circled the block, and I got out and eased to the door to trap them in their den. Then I signalled for Mama to rush up reinforcements.

If the Dawes' weren't happy to see us, they certainly put on a convincing demonstration. They even warned us that there had been a siege of ringworm around the place and that we were at liberty to go

If we felt there was grave danger of taking some of it home with us.

This led immediately into a detailed account of the treatment and medication prescribed for this pesky fungus. At this point Mama was able to relate a certain common remedy which had cured a case among relations when all else had failed. It must have been impressive for Jo called the next day wanting to know what was the name of that stuff.

For an hour or so we talked about our kids, about their various ailments, how they were getting along in school, about the American Heritage discussion group that Bill was going to moderate down at the county library, about some fine old Chinaware they had on the mantel, etc.

"Bill, of course, had to show off his 'poor man's approach' to high-fidelity sound reproduction. He had rigged up his wooden baffles in the dummy fire place, which now was covered by a small curtain. When he fired up those hi-fi records, it sounded as though a full symphony orchestra was booming in the room. He ran off several selections which we enjoyed immensely, especially a little descriptive tone poem about the Mexican workers riding the little narrow gauge railroad car out to the berry patch.

All of a sudden it was time to go. As we drove away, with Jo and Bill, with part of their flock, waving from the curb, we had a good, warm feeling. Someday we're going to try that on some other people, and I hope our friends will try it on us. If you ask me, I think that's what we need instead of a new club or another meeting.

Business Outlook—J. A. Livingston

U. S. Business Strong Enough To Shake Grip Of Wall Street

Don't sell corporation executives short. Sometimes they're right — and well ahead of their times.

Consider Gwylm Price, president of Westinghouse Electric, Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of United States Steel Corp., Robert H. Colley, former chairman of Atlantic Refining.

Back in 1948, Price, Fairless, and Colley, along with other executives, husbanded their corporations' earnings. They needed money to expand. They held on to stockholders' funds. They didn't pay out fat dividends.

In expanding, in putting up new plants with stockholders' funds, they flouted the judgment of the marketplace. Now Wall Street's come 'round to their way of thinking.

In those days, U. S. Steel sold for 77, today it's 67 after a three-for-one split. Westinghouse sold at 27 against 74 now. Atlantic Refining 47 as against 33 after a two-and-one-half-for-one split.

Now, after six years of prosperity, food earnings, increased dividends and stock splits, Wall Street is less timid about common stocks. Earnings and long-term prospects have been revalued upward. At present prices, corporation officers and directors are more likely to consider going to investors for money for expansion than in '48. But will they?

Adolf A. Berle, Jr., thinks not. In "The 20th Century Capitalist Revolution," a readable 188-page book, he advances the theory that the officers and directors of large corporations have wrenched themselves free of the marketplace. They no longer have to go, hat in hand, to invest bankers. They don't have to invite bankers to sit on their board of directors. They're independent. Says Berle:

"A corporation like General Electric or General Motors which steadily builds its own capital does not need to submit itself and its operations to the judgment of the financial markets." The power of decision which was subject to "banking and investment opinion a generation ago is now reviewed and checked chiefly by the conscience of its directors and managers."

To support this thesis, Berle cites the low dividend payments in recent years — only 46 per cent of earnings from 1946 to the present. In contrast, from 1926 to 1930, the payout was 82 per cent.

Inference: Corporations don't have to attract new investors by boosting dividends. They'd rather hold on to the money of stockholders and be independent of the marketplace.

Berle's thesis fits the times well. Corporate profits are high. The business man is able to pay higher dividends without short-changing his bank balance. And the new Treasury regulations on depreciation increase the flow of cash. Bankers come to him asking, "Isn't there something we can do for you?"

Just as there are cycles in women's clothes, so also are there cycles in power — in position — in the economy. Now that stock prices are up to an all-time high, Wall Street once again is bidding for new securities. Campbell Soup Co. just floated stock at a price to return less than 4 per cent to investors. The Ford Foundation is contemplating distribution of some of its Ford Motor Co. holdings. And new stock issues are coming out every week.

So long as the marketplace held the future in low esteem, corporation executives were independent of it. But now that prices for stocks are commensurate with standards of the 'twenties, the business man is willing to listen.

Furthermore, if population grows according to promising projections and America enters a gloriously expanding industrial age of atomic energy, then business men will need more and more new capital. Today's equipment will become rapidly obsolete. Retained earnings won't keep pace with outlays. Executives won't be able to finance solely on money held back from their shareholders.

Then the Berle thesis, now so apt, won't fit the times. The investment banker won't have to go to the corporation executive's office to offer money. The executive will come to him. Power — independence — will shift.

Austin Recollections—Raymond Brooks
Political Playback

Governors have all sorts of human problems laid in their laps or urged upon their attention. Letters reach them, and personal appeals are made by visitors for help, or for things completely outside the reach of the office.

The governor's office seems to stand for the intangible power of government and "justice," and those with grievance or a "cause" seem to look to it as a sort of last resort.

Over the years there has been an untold amount of looking into the varied requests or complaints or pleas, even though many of the unusual cases involve nothing that could be done by state government.

A person in Austin during a previous governor's administration was especially importunate to tell a personal plea to the governor, and quite secretive about it. That governor finally told an administrative assistant to go see the every-day caller and find out what the story was.

The staff member paid his call in the early evening. He was ushered into the citizen's room. The host pulled down the shades and locked the door. The first question to the governor's emissary was: "You want a nice tombstone on your grave don't you?"

The assistant did, but wasn't in any hurry about it.

The applicant began to tell a strange story of belief that the state owed the obligation of placing a tomb on the grave of a deceased relative. The story suddenly was interrupted with: "Don't say anything. The kangars are listening at that window."

"I fervently hope so," exclaimed the governor's representative. He unlocked the door and left there in a hurry. He says the fastest footwork of his life was that departure.

New Look In New Mercury

Beauty and performance are combined in the completely new Mercury for 1955 through the utilization of new styling, new power plants and other mechanical improvements. A choice of two engines—one developing 188 horsepower and the other 198 horsepower—is offered. Entirely new body styling, including canted headlights, full-scope windshield and a distinctively different rear end appearance, has been combined with sparkling new interior trims and fabrics. Shown here is a 1955 Mercury Monterey hard-top coupe. The new Mercurys go on display Thursday at Truman Jones Motor Co., 403 Runnels.

MONTCLAIR IS NEW LINE

Lower, Wider Mercury For '55 To Be Displayed Tomorrow

Ten models in three series—including an entirely new automobile, the Mercury Montclair—are to be presented in the 1955 Mercury line which goes on public display Thursday.

The new Mercury will be shown here by Truman Jones Motor Co., 403 Runnels.

In bringing about a greatly changed car, Mercury has increased wheelbase to 119 inches, and has increased exterior dimensions two inches in length and two inches in width. Mercurys in the Monterey and Custom series are one inch lower than previous models, while the new Montclair is two and a half inches lower.

The bold line of the completely new bodies represent an evolution of basic Mercury styling. A full-scope windshield provides greater driving vision, and canted headlights give a forward rake to the lower, wider front end. The smooth-flowing line carries along the side to a more massive rear quarter panel with tail lamps designed to blend into the overall styling theme.

The 1955 Mercury offers two high-compression overhead valve V-8 engines to give maximum performance at low and medium speeds as well as better acceleration and passing ability.

The Montclair will feature a 198-horsepower engine with 288 pound-foot torque at 2500 rpm and 8.5 to 1 compression ratio. The Monterey and Custom series will feature a 188-horsepower engine developing 274 pound-foot torque at 2500 rpm and 7.6 to 1 compression ratio. Both engines have displacement of 292 cubic inches, and 3.75 bore and 3.30 stroke.

Extensive improvements have been made in performance, durability and cooling and in reducing

Eight Pay Fines In Place Two Court

Eight persons paid fines totaling $186.00 Tuesday in Justice Court Place Two, reports A. M. Sullivan. The fines were assessed for traffic violations, primarily speeding and reckless driving, he said. The eight cases were among 15 cases filed Monday morning. The court handled 64 cases during the month of November, Sullivan said, and fines totaling $1,170.00 were collected.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Ancient Roman woman beside altar.

Yesterday I spoke about togas being worn by Romans, but left the question open as to whether they were the outer garments of men only.

The fact is that the true toga was reserved for men, but boys wore togas of a sort. The boys' togas had colored borders. It was a great day for a youth when he was allowed to put on a toga just like the one his father wore.

Roman women wore stolas and palla as outer garments. These were something like togas, but differed in a few ways. Women liked to have style in their clothing, and kept changing the style to a far greater extent than the men.

Both women and girls among the Romans wore tunics which were very much like those of the men and boys. If a girl belonged to a wealthy family, she was allowed to wear a mantle with a colored border. She had to wait until her wedding day before she could put on the same type of stola or palla as her mother wore.

Several kinds of cloth went into Roman clothing. Woolen and linen cloth were popular. Cotton cloth was obtained from Egypt and other lands of the Near East. A few rich Romans wore silk garments, made of silk cloth obtained by trade with merchants of Asia. Sandals found widespread use in ancient Rome. Men, women and

American Heritage Group Has Session

The American Heritage discussion group met Monday in the Howard County library and discussed the opposing views of Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton. The discussion was initiated with brief talks by two of the members, who detailed the major differences between the statesmen.

A new book—"This American People" by Gerald W. Johnson—was introduced at the meeting by Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, and the group selected the next topic for discussion from its pages. The freedom to read will be the topic for discussion at the Dec. 13 meeting.

Nell I. Scott, national director of the project, and Margaret Goodrich, West Texas director, were on hand for the meeting. Arrangements were made through Miss Goodrich to obtain films for future meetings of the discussion group here.

Other books made available to the group Monday were "Freedom, Loyalty, Dissent" by Henry Steele Commager; "The People, Yes" by Carl Sandburg; and "The Big Change" by Frederick Lewis Allen.

'Spiritual Disease' Spreads, Convention Of AMA Is Told

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE AP Science Reporter

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An ominous "spiritual disease" seems to be spreading, a prominent physician declared today, and a change of heart is needed to fight it.

"The physical and mental health of our people is relatively good, but there is evidence of spiritual disease," Dr. Julian P. Price, pediatrician of Florence, S.C., told the American Medical Assn.

He said the signs include "falseness of morals in our national government in recent years—the hold which organized vice has upon legislative and social life—dishonesty and corruption in various state and local governments."

"The increase in crime in our teenage population—the evidence of bribery and unethical conduct in amateur athletics—the effort made by many to cheat on their income tax."

"The mad search for pleasure which causes our people to spend four times as much for alcoholic beverages as they do for religious and welfare activities—the inroads which the doctrine of atheistic communism is making upon the thinking of some of our citizens."

Dr. Price, a member of the AMA's Board of Trustees, declared the only remedy "lies in a change of heart."

He called upon doctors to remember that they are men and citizens as well as holders of M.D. degrees, that they should be active in community life, particularly in education, in work for boys and girls, in charitable and philanthropic organizations.

"The basic unit of a community is the family—and whether the community is strong or weak, energetic or lazy, moral or immoral, will depend to a large degree upon the type home which its families have built," Dr. Price said.

Rupert Rickers Back From Holiday Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert F. Ricker have returned from spending the Thanksgiving holidays with their son, Paul Ricker, and family in Midland.

Ricker spoke last Wednesday evening on the "Hour of Power" program in the new First Baptist Church in Midland, a plant that was erected at a cost of $1,300,000.

Ricker is continuing as regular lecturer at the Businessmen's Bible Class which meets at the Settles Hotel each Sunday at 9:15 a.m. He is founder of the class, which will be three years old this year. Ricker is to speak at the Belview Baptist Church in Midland on Dec. 15.

With Tommy Hart

Frosty Robison's chances to repeat as an All-State halfback have been enhanced. Herb Owens of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram wired this window Saturday, asking for all statistics on Frosty. Jim O'Brien of the Lamesa paper is again this area's representative on the Texas Sports Writers Association committee to name the all-state and Jim always held Frosty in high regard.

MIKE MARTELL

Here's the big reason the best teams in the Big Ten always rate highly in the Associated Press weekly football poll: Of the AP member newspapers, over 400 are located in the Midwest and each is entitled to a vote. There are about 350 papers in the South, about 170 in the Southwest, 145 on the Pacific Coast and 86 in the Rocky Mountain region. Naturally, sports writers support their own in the vote.

Big Spring outdrew four teams in Class A and 14 in Class B in baseball last season, as well as 30 teams in Class C. Nine Class D leagues in the land attracted less than 20,000 customers each during the campaign, yet finished the season.

Mike Fornioles, the former Big Spring hurler, is being held out of winter league play in his native Cuba on orders from his present employers, the Chicago White Sox.

Vince Amor, the Cuban hurler who broke into professional baseball here in 1950, has made the big leagues at the age of 22. He was drafted from Oklahoma City recently by the Chicago Cubs.

Mike Martell, who gets lonesome for the national pastime between seasons, has been visiting here the past several days. The 66-year-old Sweetwater man has been a player, umpire and champion fan, in his time. He had to quit as a player due to attacks of arthritis but umpired in the Pacific Coast, Texas League and other circuits over a period of years before quitting.

So well did he like the game, Mike volunteered to serve as ticket taker at Sweetwater one season and the fans staged a "Mike Martell Night," during which he was given a special box behind home plate and singled out as a man who had helped to keep baseball going in Sweetwater - with his infectious grin and his willingness to talk baseball when ever and where ever he could.

Mike has another claim to fame. Time was when he could type as many as 100 words a minute. He did so well in a typing contest (95.3 per minute) the Underwood Typewriting Company rewarded him with a medal and a special citation.

In his time, Martell knew such greats as Shoeless Joe Jackson, Hal Chase, Buck Weaver and Hank Greenberg, to name a few. He was easy to get along with as an umpire but he once bounced Ziggy Sears from a game. Sears later was to give the thumb to a few players himself.

Mike served in the Armed Forces during World War I and brought back a dog from Germany he called Fritz. Fritz was a dog with plenty of moxie. He used to fetch the morning paper from the corner vendor each morning so that Mike could catch up on his baseball news.

Baseball has left Sweetwater but Mike is hoping it doesn't get any farther away than Big Spring. He reasons he'll be able to see his share of games here.

When the final statistics on Big Spring's football play were released in last Sunday's Daily Herald, the name of Gene Odell was somehow overlooked, and Gene had the best average gain of anyone on the local club.

Gene ran with the ball only once and picked up 34 yards. The play occurred in the Plainview game and Gene would have gone farther, but for the fact that he reached the goal line then. Odell was used principally as a defensive back and on kickoffs here but he could lug the mail.

Bruno, Murdock Win Match At Local Wrestling Arena

The bad guys did good at the Big Spring Wrestling Arena Tuesday night. On Bruno, the Athenian, and Waxahachie's Frankie Hill Murdock got together to mail the combination of Chet Wallick and George Curtis in a tag match. Bruno suffered Wallick with a series of knees thrust into the kidney, then pounced on him for the deciding fall. Wallick and Curtis didn't like it and had the sympathy of the on-lookers but that didn't help much. Murdock had forced Curtis to give up with a Boston Crab in 14 minutes after Curtis had prevailed over Frankie with a succession of slams and a top body pin in less than three minutes in the opening fall.

Ring Ratings Are Shuffled

NEW YORK (U) - The crowning of two new champions, and the results of several bouts among leading contenders in the past month brought about a wholesale reshuffling of the positions of boxing contenders in the latest Ring Magazine ratings. In the lightweight division, ex-champion Jimmy Carter regained the 135-pound title for the second time by whipping Paddy DeMarco. DeMarco was given the No. 1 contender's berth that Carter held.

Other shifts in the lightweight division saw undefeated Frankie Ruff of New York advance to fifth place as a result of Art Persley's TKO loss to Wallace (Bud) Smith. Persley of Red Cross, La., was demoted from fifth to sixth. Featherweight Teddy (Red Top) Davis of Hartford, Conn., outpointed Percy Bassett of Philadelphia and exchanged positions. Davis becoming top contender and Bassett the No. 2 man.

Heavyweight Jimmy Slade, who was drubbed by Floyd Patterson, fourth - ranking light - heavyweight contender, fell from fifth to eighth among the big boys. In another change there, England's Johnny Williams replaced Philadelphia's Dan Bucceroni in the 10th berth.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (U) - The Baylor Bears of the Southwest Conference will make their first appearance in the Gator Bowl football game Dec. 31 against Auburn of the Southeastern Conference, back for the second straight year. Changing the date to Dec. 31 and thus opening the way to nationwide television helped make possible the matching of the biggest name teams in the 10-year history of the Gator Bowl.

Trade Winds Blow In Earnest In Houston Baseball Session

By JOE REICHLER
HOUSTON (U) - Don't let that itchy-bitsy Frankie Baumholtz deal fool you. This minor league convention is giving signs of being the incubator for a number of eye-opening major league player trades.

Every big league manager here is talking trade—and not just to make conversation. Maybe there won't be any real big trade news stemming from this meeting. That doesn't mean none will be made. The announcements may not come until next week during the major league sessions in New York. Chicago's White Sox are almost certain to complete a man-sized trade with either Washington or Kansas City soon. General Manager Frank Lane denied one that involved Washington and such big names as Minnie Minoso, George Kell, Eddie Yost and Mickey McDermott. But he and Manager Chuck Dressen of the Senators have another deal cooking up that will be almost as big when, and if, completed.

Sam Jones, who reportedly was sold by Cleveland to the Cubs, actually was part of the Kiner transaction. Now comes Wade, who batted .373 at Indianapolis last season. Cincinnati and Philadelphia have made offers to Brooklyn for Jackie Robinson. The Phils also want Carl Furillo and Junior Gilliam. The Dodgers have asked for Curt Simmons and Smokey Burgess from the Phils.

A Cardinal-Dodger trade is also a distinct possibility, involving a St. Louis outfielder and a Brooklyn pitcher. Even Leo Durocher, victorious manager of the world champion New York Giants, is after help. He is trying to swing a trade for a starting pitcher. The five minor leagues of A classification and upwards drafted 31 players for $12,750, which indictated an exceptionally low draft. The Class B and C leagues were scheduled to conclude the draft sessions today.

Mustangs Open Work For Irish

By The Associated Press
Southern Methodist, minus its stellar quarterback Duane Nutt of Corsicana, buckled down to hard work Wednesday in preparation for its game Saturday in Dallas' Cotton Bowl with Notre Dame. John Roach, former Highland Park star, stepped into the spot left vacant by the injured Nutt. And backfield coach Bob Hodson also devoted much attention to sophomores James Haynie of Lubbock and Glenn Holliday of Lufkin. They rank behind Roach, a junior, however, in the tussle for starting quarterback against the Irish. In South Bend, Ind., meanwhile, the Ramblers worked on pass defense. The Irish plainly expected the Mustangs to open a full-scale air war in Dallas Saturday.

Hawks May Get Stern Test Here Tonight

From all indications, the Howard County Junior College Jayhawks will get their sternest test of the young season here tonight, at which time they test the Hardin-Simmons University Buttons. Game time is 8 o'clock.

A dozen players make up the Button squad and they will be engaging in their first of 23 scheduled games. The Abilene troupe has dealt out as much misery to the Hawks as any other team down through the years. Last year, the locals beat the Buttons, 62-53, in their first game of the season, then turned around and lost to the Baptists of Abilene, 62-58.

A Variety Of Hawks

Little Jimmy Robinson of Lovington, N. M., has to use a step-ladder to chat with Arlen White (left) and Wiley Brown (right). All are members of the HCJC basketball team, which plays H-SU's Buttons here tonight. White is 6-4, Brown 6-7 1/2. Robinson is only 5-8.

B Football Team Will Be Treated By Business Men

Thanks to the thoughtfulness of the Quarterback Club and the generosity of local businessmen, members of the Big Spring High School B football team are going to have a banquet of their own.

Businessmen are being contacted today to furnish funds for a meal at the Settles Hotel. Each of the businessmen set for Tuesday evening at the Settles hotel. Each of the businessmen and merchants would have a player as a guest at a cost of about $4 each.

Efforts are being made to feed as many as 50 or 55 boys.

Those businessmen not contacted can volunteer funds and their presence at the banquet by calling Judge H. H. Weaver at the courthouse anytime during the day.

The Quarterback Club, which met last night, also voted to charter a bus for the high school gridder to Breckenridge, where the Steers will be guests of the Breckenridge Buckaroos at the bi-district football game there Friday.

The team will also be fed by a group of Breckenridge rosters. Jack Y. Smith, co-chairman of the QBC, said the gesture of the Breckenridge people was the nicest he had ever seen in football.

The bus will leave Big Spring about 7 a.m. Friday. Game time is 2:30 p.m. Friday.

Bob Bauer Sold By Austin Club

HOUSTON, (SC) — Bob Bauer, who hit .320 for Odessa of the Longhorn League last season, has been sold by the Austin Pioneers to Columbus of the South Atlantic League.

Bauer hit 21 home runs, scored 115 times and drove in 96 tallies for the Oilers last season.

He is a left-handed swinger.

ODESSA, (SC) — Odessa defeated Levelland 68-50, in an exhibition basketball game here Tuesday night.

LaStarza Opens Comeback Against Norkus Tonight

CLEVELAND OH — Roland LaStarza and Rocky Castellani, a pair of handsome boxers with long championship bids in their memoirs, meet two powerful sluggers tonight on the Cleveland News annual Toyshop boxing card.

LaStarza, of New York, once the top-ranked heavyweight contender, will be opening a comeback drive in a 10-rounder against a crude but hard-hitting opponent, Charlie Norkus, of Fort Washington, N.Y.

That bout will be televised from the Cleveland Arena by CBS-TV at 10 p.m., EST.

Cleveland's Castellani, like LaStarza a fancy boxer, meets Moses (No Clinch) Ward, of Detroit, another middleweight who counts more on punching power than foot-

Holmes Named Cat Manager

HOUSTON UP — Tommy Holmes, former major league outfielder and once manager of the Boston Braves of the National League, today was named manager of the Fort Worth club of the Texas League.

Holmes succeeds Al Vincnt, who becomes a coach with the Baltimore Orioles.

Announcement of the signing of Holmes was made by Spencer Harris, president of the Brooklyn-owned Fort Worth club. He comes to Fort Worth from Elmira, N. Y., of the Eastern League, where he managed last season.

Holmes played for Boston in the National League where in 1945 he set the consecutive game hitting record of 37. That same year he barely lost the National League batting championship to Phil Cavaretta.

Webb And Stanton To Tangle Twice

Webb Air Base's basketball team has two games booked with Stanton High School this week.

The two quintets meet in Stanton Thursday night and again at Webb's base gym on Saturday evening.

The Dusters are in the midst of training for their Dec. 13 engagement in the Big Spring High School Gymnasium with the Boston Whitebirds, which will be an added attraction to the appearance of the Harlem Glob Trotters here.

work skill. That fight also is scheduled for 10 rounds.

The experienced LaStarza was a 2-3 favorite over the wild-swinging Norkus, Castellani was favored over Ward, 8-5.

LaStarza has been out of action since he lost a close one to England's Don Cockell in London last March 30, in 1953 LaStarza was stopped in 11 rounds in a title fight with champion Rocky Marciano.

Castellani, the No. 3 contender, was outpooled by middleweight champion Bobo Olson in San Francisco last September, but not too impressively. Castellani sent Olson to the floor once in that battle and later hit the canvas himself, but he was carrying the fight to the champion at the finish.

Upper freshmen make up the club which will take the court against the Hawk regulars. First year frosh tangle with the Hawk B team in the 6 p.m. opener.

Making the trip here from Abilene are forwards Marvin Taylor, Dave Hogue, Bill Denton, Bob O'Day, and Morris Rhodes (of Big Spring); guards James Odom, Bob Byerly, Borden Worsam, Ronnie Hunkabe and Bill Brock and centers Jerry Cunningham and Glen Teaney.

The two teams are entered in this weekend's Ranger Tournament, which starts Friday and continues through Saturday night.

The Hawks have been the area's hottest team in stats to date. In winning all three games, the locals have scored a total of 310 points, getting at least 100 in each game.

Probable starters for the local collegians are Jim Knotts, Ray Crooks, Paschall Wickard, Ronnie Anderson and Arlen White.

Morris, a smashing 202-pound linebacker, who played fullback his freshman and sophomore years and was converted to center this year, wrecked the Georgia offense with his tackles Saturday. He set a Tech record by making 24 tackles.

As a result, Georgia Tech squeezed out a 7-3 victory and took second place in the Southeastern Conference. Tech will play Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl.

Ed Danforth, veteran Atlanta Journal writer, offered this comment on Morris: "I believe he gave the greatest individual performance against Georgia I have ever seen. Georgia couldn't seem to go anywhere that the ball carrier didn't run into Morris."

Two other linemen drew special commendations from sports writers participating in the Associated Press poll.

Chick Donaldson, West Virginia's 217-pound center who once was a 118-pound high school waterboy, did a terrific linebacking job against Virginia and realized every lineman's dream of scoring a touchdown. Then he kicked the extra point.

Morris Gains AP Grid Nod

By The Associated Press

When a player tackles his team right into a bowl game, he deserves some sort of special recognition. And that's just what Larry Morris did for Georgia Tech to earn the title of Lineman of the Week.

Morris, a smashing 202-pound linebacker, who played fullback his freshman and sophomore years and was converted to center this year, wrecked the Georgia offense with his tackles Saturday. He set a Tech record by making 24 tackles.

As a result, Georgia Tech squeezed out a 7-3 victory and took second place in the Southeastern Conference. Tech will play Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl.

Ed Danforth, veteran Atlanta Journal writer, offered this comment on Morris: "I believe he gave the greatest individual performance against Georgia I have ever seen. Georgia couldn't seem to go anywhere that the ball carrier didn't run into Morris."

Two other linemen drew special commendations from sports writers participating in the Associated Press poll.

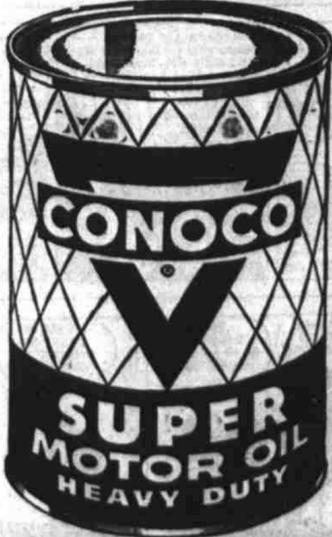

Chick Donaldson, West Virginia's 217-pound center who once was a 118-pound high school waterboy, did a terrific linebacking job against Virginia and realized every lineman's dream of scoring a touchdown. Then he kicked the extra point.

Now you can protect your car against both friction and acid—the two major causes of engine wear

NEW CONOCO

Super MOTOR OIL

America's First Double-Duty Oil!

Protection 1

OIL-PLATING*

conquers friction wear because this exclusive discovery actually fastens a thin film of lubricant to moving engine parts for full-time protection.

Protection 2

ACID-PROOFING

conquers corrosive wear because this exclusive new discovery gives Conoco Super up to twice the cleansing power of other premium oils!

Automotive engineers have long known that friction and corrosion are the two major causes of engine wear. Now, from the laboratories of Continental Oil, comes America's first Double-Duty motor oil. It combines two exclusive discoveries (Oil-Plating and Acid-Proofing)* to conquer both major causes of engine wear.

The unique Oil-Plating additive conquers friction wear by actually fastening a thin film of protective oil to engine parts. Unlike ordinary motor oil, this film won't drain down even when your engine has been stopped overnight. Thus you get full-time protection against damaging wear due to friction.

Exclusive Acid-Proofing additive conquers corrosive wear three ways—it neutralizes acids, prevents rust, and gobbles up tiny particles of dust, dirt, and water and seals them safely in spherules of oil until the oil is drained. Acid-proofing actually gives new Conoco Super twice the cleansing power of other premium oils!

New Conoco Super Motor Oil is on sale at Conoco dealers everywhere. Drive in and ask for it today!

Your Conoco dealer will recommend the right grade of new Conoco Super Motor Oil for your car, your climate, your driving conditions.

Trip Begins To Antarctic

BOSTON (U)—The Navy icebreaker USS Atka, her holds filled with food and paraphernalia for rigorous weather, clears today for a five-month expedition to the Antarctic.

Aboard the 5,700-ton vessel, besides the crew of 220 men and 14 officers, will be 35 passengers, mostly technicians and scientists anxious to make studies of conditions in the frozen area.

The sailing will climax months of careful preparation to ready the crew and vessel for arduous tasks in the ice-choked waters of the largely unexplored 6,000,000 square mile subcontinent.

The Atka skipper, Cmdr. Glen Jacobson of Seattle, Wash., estimated the craft would be "heading into the Antarctic after the first of the year." He said plans call for the expedition to stay in "the operating area about 54 days."

The expedition, first American voyage to the Antarctic since 1948, will obtain data for a projected trip in 1957-58 for the international geophysical year program.

Airman Reunited With Dying Son

FORT THOMAS, Ky. (U)—Sgt. Eugene P. Keenan, red-eyed and tired, has been reunited with his 22-month-old son who is dying from leukemia.

The 22-year-old airman flew in from Germany yesterday to be by his son's bedside before Genie's expected death.

The sergeant's mother, Mrs. Wavie Keenan, said at her home in Fort Thomas, that the baby is "responding to treatment but the doctors give us no hope at all."

Keenan, stationed at the Hahn Air Force Base in Germany, was granted a 30-day leave after the Red Cross, Rep. Spence (D-Ky) and Sen. Clements (D-Ky) asked the Air Force for emergency leave.

"We really sweated it out until the sergeant arrived home," Mrs. Keenan said. "We were afraid the baby would die before he came."

Ex-Swimming Star Dies From Abortion

LOS ANGELES (U)—Fear that childbirth would interfere with her plans to break into the movies was blamed today for the abortion death of former swimming champion Virginia Hopkins Watson.

Her husband Arthur Watson told police he wanted a child, but that his wife had a movie part in "Jungle Jim" with Johnny Weissmuller. He told Detective Sgt. Herman Zander that his wife informed him she underwent the surgery Nov. 18 and noticed no ill effects until last Friday. She died of peritonitis late Monday night in L. O. Angeles General Hospital.

Police seek to determine who performed the illegal operation.

Huge Crowds Due Today At Dallas Bank's Dedication

DALLAS (U)—Police were prepared today for a whopping crowd of 25,000 persons expected to attend formal dedication ceremonies of the 40-story Republic National Bank building here.

For days now, chairman of the board Karl Hobbittelle and Fred F. Florence, president, have been busy with their big staffs on a job of opening the giant aluminum-covered building.

First, they showed it off to stockholders and directors and last night—in Fair Park's mammoth Automobile Building—they gave a dinner for some 4,000 guests, including financiers and their families from nearly every state.

"Ain't this amazing?" exclaimed a Chicago banker's wife who, tired of foot after walking miles viewing the new building, shed her shoes under a dinner table.

The guests drank at a bar a city block long, had nearly two tons of roast beef served to them, along with hundreds of turkeys, seafood, and that publicized ice cream in imitation of 20-dollar gold pieces.

At the auditorium they saw a slick two-hour show featuring comedian Bob Hope and singer Gordon McRae.

Mishap With Match

SAN ANTONIO (U)—William Carter, 64, struck a match to light a cigarette but it slipped from his fingers into his shirt, setting it on fire. He was burned about the upper part of his body. His condition was reported as fair today.

Six Scenicruisers Stop Here Daily

Southwestern Greyhound's new double-decker scenicruisers now make six runs out of Big Spring daily, according to Henry Long, local agent of the Union Bus Terminal.

Three of the runs are to Los Angeles by way of El Paso, two are to Memphis by way of Dallas and Texarkana, and one is to New Orleans by way of Fort Worth and Waco.

The new scenicruiser runs are a regular part of Greyhound's service, and no extra charge is made on tickets. Each can accommodate 43 passengers and has a complete washroom and raised observation deck.

J. S. Judd, general traffic and sales manager of Southwestern Greyhound Lines, Inc., states that

Rock Slide Forces End Of Rescue Try

ST. CLAIR, Pa. (U)—A second rock slide has forced rescue crews to abandon hope of reaching a trapped coal miner alive in a 280-foot-deep anthracite shaft here.

Crews of 16 men each were working in alternating shifts around the clock until the second rock fall yesterday in the shaft where Frank Pescavage, 37, of Gilberton, was trapped Monday.

Mine Inspector Timothy Ryan said it might be a month now before Pescavage could be reached.

DATE DATA

By Beverly Brandow

On With The Dance!
It's on the bulletin board, in all the notes being passed around, and on everyone's mind. The dance is next week! Have you got a date?

Fellows who hope to go had better file those shy feelings and get on the telephone before the girls are all spoken for. Most girls won't buy a new dress or remake an old one until they're certain they'll need it. Two or three nights notice for a big occasion just isn't enough.

Does a girl have to date the first boy who asks if she doesn't want? Certainly not. Use diplomacy, though, in saying no, and avoid hurt feelings. Also stick to the truth as much as possible.

The best answer is "I'm sorry, Bob. It's sweet of you to want me to go with you, but I've already made tentative plans." This leaves the way open for you to accept the next bid if you like, and if Bob is pretty sold on you he may want to check back later. This must be his idea, not yours. Always say yes or no to a boy asking for a date. Never maybe.

It's not fair to dangle him on a string when he may want to line up another date before it's too late.

Can you ask a boy to take you if you think he's shy? No, a hundred times no! You're putting him on the spot. You may get the date because he lacked the finesse to get out of it, but you won't gain his admiration for such tactics.

When you're going, steady, a little hinting is acceptable, though.

Once you've decided to go, the boy should tell the girl when he will arrive. If he doesn't, she should ask him. To avoid misunderstandings, it is imperative that he call her again before the date to verify their plans. Then neither will wonder if the other has forgotten.

When the girl has more than one suitable dress, she might remember that it is flattering to the boy to be asked which color he prefers. Also this fact will remain clearer in his mind when he is purchasing a corsage.

Don't forget to write to Beverly Brandow in care of The Herald (enclosing a stamp) for her free leaflet, "Is This Love?"

Federal Complaint Against Midland Man Is Tossed Out

DALLAS (AP)—A complaint against Marvin Norris, 35, of Midland, was dismissed yesterday by U.S. Commissioner William Hill. He ruled the government had not presented sufficient evidence.

Norris had been charged with 15 others with using the mail to further a scheme to defraud.

Robert Williams, 37, testified he met Norris after answering an advertisement in an Amarillo Better Business Bureau advised him to get his money back.

Williams testified his money was returned to him.

Of the other 15 persons named in the complaint, three have been arraigned. The other 12 are at large, postal inspector W. D. Main of Houston said.

Immigration Service Reorganization Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—Retired Lt. Gen. J. M. Swing, commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, said last night plans to reorganize the service are nearly completed.

Swing, who declined to discuss details of the reorganization, said it "would make the service a little more modern."

The New York Times says the reorganization will involve closing of some offices and merging of others. In the process, the paper says, some jobs will be wiped out and others transferred to new locations.

Boy Killed In Accident

DENISON (AP)—Billy Watson, 6, was killed yesterday when two autos collided. His mother, Mrs. Doll Lenderman Watson, was slightly injured. The father was killed in an Air Force plane crash two years ago.
