

Train For A Big Spring Boy

Santa Claus is busy in his North Pole retreat fixing up toys for Christmas. The above train, he said, will be given to a boy here in Big Spring. Santa is repairing and making a lot of toys, and to be sure there will be enough to go around—he is asking that children and their parents contribute used toys to the Big Spring Fire Department so that they can be repaired like new and distributed. Santa states that the firemen are his close helpers and that donations will be appreciated. Santa will be here next Wednesday to see all the boys and girls. He will be in a downtown parade, starting at 4:30 p.m., and will then go to local hospitals to see children there.

Knowland Urges China Blockade If Note Ignored

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—A naval blockade of Communist China was proposed today by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) if the Reds reject a strong U.S. note demanding the release of 13 Americans they have imprisoned as spies.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, told a news conference the United States has a "moral obligation" to "use more than words to protect Americans abroad."

Making it clear he was speaking only for himself and without consultation with the Defense and State departments, the California senator said he believes a blockade could be made effective without any grave risk of war.

He proposed that the United States approach this action through the United Nations. He said American Allies ought to be willing to join in a blockade. But if they are not, he said, in no event should these Allies be given any veto over American action.

"If the Communists don't respond to our note and continue to hold our uniformed men in prison in direct violation of the Korean truce, with or without the support of the United Nations we would be justified in clamping a tight blockade on China," Knowland asserted.

"We should serve notice on them that no vessel can get in or out of China until these Americans are released. I believe we can make it so expensive to them that our men will be released."

"We have the power to do this and the moral obligation to do it. Those associated with us in the free world should cooperate but I don't think we should give them a veto on our actions."

The United States has transmitted through the British Foreign Office a note couched in the stiffest terms, it accused the Chinese Reds of violating international law, the Korean armistice and "elementary precepts of justice and humanity" in imprisoning 13 and two men listed as civilian employees of the U.S. Army. The 13 were captured during the Korean War. Following up its note, the administration was reported to be pressing the campaign for release of the 13 by rallying free world opinion against the Red "outrage."

But there was no indication that administration officials were considering any blockade action. Knowland gave no sign that they were but he indicated his belief that some action might be forthcoming by hinting he might ask the Senate to remain in session beyond a vote on its pending business, a resolution to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Knowland told newsmen he believes there is "a growing demand that the present business be terminated and the 96 members of the Senate begin to concentrate their attention on how they can save the honor of the country."

Quoted as to what the Senate could do if it remained in session until an automatic adjournment of Dec. 20, Knowland said members would be on hand "to support the administration in any steps it might take."

"We'll see what develops," he said.

The California senator said he believes there is little reason to think that the Chinese Communists will yield to the demands of the American note.

He said he had asked the Defense Department for a report on any other plane incidents which might have occurred. He said he had asked the State Department to list the Americans, both civilians and military personnel, who are imprisoned, under house arrest or otherwise detained in Iron Curtain countries. He saw no reason, he said, why the public should not be given as much information as possible without endangering national security or the lives of those involved.

CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND IS OPEN; GIFTS HELP UNDERPRIVILEGED KIDS

If you want to help underprivileged children enjoy Christmas now's the time.

The traditional Christmas Cheer Fund, by which firemen of the city provide special baskets of fruits and toys for the youngsters who otherwise get overlooked by Santa Claus, is now open.

You are requested to send your gift—in any amount—to The Herald, and all gifts will be publicly acknowledged. Or you may deliver gifts to any member of the fire department. Please make checks to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND.

As in many years past, firemen will, with assistance of welfare agencies, obtain names of all families deserving of help at Christmas. Baskets of foods will be prepared for delivery on Christmas Eve.

Firemen, too, are repairing cast-off toys to include in the Saint Nick baskets, and you are requested to deliver to them immediately any toys around the house that are no longer wanted, and which can be rehabilitated.

Cash gifts to go to buy parts for toy repair, and for the food that goes in the baskets. Big Spring has been generous in years past, and are expected to be so again.

Send in your CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND donation now.

LONDON, Sunday, Nov. 28 (AP)—The worst storm in 30 years piled up a death toll believed to be more than 30 in a long list of shipping disasters today and spread floods and havoc over much of Britain.

Hundreds of seamen fought for their lives in crippled ships. Seven men lay trapped in the wallowing wreck of the lightship South Goodwin caught in winds of near hurricane force. Shrieking winds ripped the lightship from its moorings and tossed it on the Goodwin Sands, notorious graveyard for English Channel shipping.

An American Air Force helicopter crew from Manston, Kent, snatched one man from the wreck in a daredevil rescue mission before rising tides closed over it last night. Ships stood by with oxygen torches ready to cut into the bulk later today if the winds abate, but the weatherman forecast more gales.

Seven more seamen were feared dead aboard the fore section of the 20,125-ton Liberian tanker, World Concord, snapped in two by boiling seas off the Welsh coast. Earlier, 35 men had been rescued off the stern half after eight hours of peril.

Fears grew for 14 men aboard the 1,600-ton motorship Rambler Rose, missing in the Lands End area where an unidentified ship was seen to sink Friday night.

Three seamen were believed killed in an explosion that ripped through the 9,823-ton Norwegian tanker Olov Ringdal in the Welsh port of Swansea. Fifteen were injured.

War-time mines ripped free from rusty cables, bringing fresh hazards. Frantic SOS messages cracked out from the North Sea to the Atlantic.

Inland, rising floodwaters brought chaos to 18 counties in southwest England and the midlands. Raging seas lashed higher at each tide. Residents hastily moved furniture to top floors, mindful of the disastrous floods of January 1953.

ALGER HISS

PLANS 'VINDICATION'

Hiss Ends Stretch, Declares Innocence

By LEONARD A. UNGER

LEWISBURG, Pa., Nov. 27 (AP)—Alger Hiss, looking grim and rather haggard but appearing confident, walked to freedom today, asserting that he was "completely innocent" of the charges that he helped Communist spies.

A stretch of 3½ years behind the bars of Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary ended with an avowal by the 50-year-old former State Department aide that he meant to "vindicate my name" of the stigma of a conviction that he gave state secrets to Red spies.

"I am very glad to see this chance," he said, "the first I have had in nearly four years, to reassert my complete innocence from the charges that were brought against me by Whitaker Chambers."

Chambers, formerly a senior editor of Time magazine now living in retirement on a farm in Westminster, Md., accused Hiss of being a member of a Communist party group. Chambers accused Hiss also of turning over secret State Department documents.

The telephone at the Chambers farm rang, unanswered, today but a newsman managed to gain entrance and obtain a statement—typed personally by Chambers on a scrap of letter paper, saying:

"The saddest single fact about the Hiss case is that nobody can change the facts as they are known."

Hiss, of course, doesn't agree—as he reiterated he was innocent of any wrongdoing.

At the prison, his wife, son and two lawyer friends—Chester Lane and Robert Benjamin—met him inside and walked with him through the main gate to freedom. Moments later Hiss, smiling steadily, was engulfed in waves of reporters and photographers. There he made a brief informal statement.

He spoke extemporaneously and appeared to have chosen his words carefully. He spoke nearly two minutes without interruption. Afterwards newsmen fired questions at him. He replied to some, ignored most of the others.

The lines about his lean jaw tightened and harshness crept into his voice as he mentioned Chambers' name.

After saying "This is not a press conference, although it looks very much like one," Hiss went on: "I have only one other thing I want to say at this time. That is I shall resume my efforts to dispel the deception that has been foisted on the American people. I shall renew those efforts with more enthusiasm because I am confident that their success will not only vindicate my name, relieve my family of harassment, but will assist in the allaying of the hysteria and fear of these days."

Hiss tried to parry further questioning with a terse "no more." But he did reply briefly to a few queries, paraphrasing what he had said earlier, saying that charges which sent him to prison were "untrue."

And as he shouldered his way past reporters and photographers, he said that he and the other prisoners were "revolted and horrified" by the death last Wednesday of William W. Remington in the Lewisburg penitentiary. Three convicts are accused by the FBI of beating Remington over the head with a brick wrapped in a sock. Remington was jailed, like Hiss, on perjury charges but their trials were unrelated. There was never any official allegation that Hiss and Remington ever were associated in the same Communist ring in the nation's capital.

Hiss was released today at 9:05 a.m. only 15 minutes after his

23 SHOPPING DAYS TILL CHRISTMAS

Start Urged On Getting By-Pass Right-Of-Way

County commissioners have asked the State Highway Department to proceed with surveys and provide right-of-way deed forms for the U. S. 80 Freeway loop around the northern fringe of Big Spring.

Construction of the by-pass is probably five years or more in the future, but commissioners told J. C. (Jake) Roberts, district highway engineer, they think they should start the acquisition of rights-of-way early—before property is developed.

The commissioners pointed out also that no funds are earmarked for purchase of the roadway. Consequently, they said, the transaction might be made over a long period of time in order to avoid the pinch which would result if the county suddenly was asked to acquire all of the right-of-way in a matter of weeks or months.

The Big Spring loop is in the long-range program for development of the U. S. 80 Freeway.

Highway Department plans call for construction of the loop from a point just east of Birdwell Lane, northward across the T&P Railway to North Twelfth Street, then west across the city and return to the present U. S. 80 route west of Webb Air Force Base.

The present highway route through Big Spring, which also is being developed as a part of the freeway, will become a business or alternate route when the by-pass is completed.

Highway officials have said construction of the loop is probably five or 10 years in the future.

Howard County voters last spring approved a $325,000 bond issue for acquisition of freeway rights and other roadway in the county. More than $200,000 of this has been expended in the purchase of right-of-way and payment of damages for the freeway across the western half of the county and between Big Spring and Coahoma.

The balance is expected to be sufficient for purchase of the remainder of the 250-foot roadway, including a half dozen small tracts from which buildings must be removed in Sand Springs and Coahoma.

Freeway construction is nearing completion in the western portion of the county. The opening of Fourth Street in Big Spring as the eastbound lane for freeway traffic through the city is expected to be finished early in 1955. Eventually, a large traffic circle will be constructed near the east city limits for the separation of through-town and around-town traffic.

Overpasses will be constructed to carry loop traffic over the railway at both sides of the city.

Highway department officials have not said when surveys can be completed and deed forms prepared for the loop right-of-way.

Second Trial Of Ray Davis Set Monday

The second trial of Ray Davis on charges that he murdered his wife's uncle, Robert L. Childers, is scheduled to start Monday in 118th District Court.

A special venire of 100 men has been summoned for 10 a.m. Warren Burnett, district attorney from Odessa, is to prosecute the case, assisted by Davis Scarborough of Abilene, special prosecutor employed by Mrs. Alice Childers, mother of Robert Childers.

Gaillard Jones, attorney for the 118th Judicial District, is disqualified from participation in the case because he was a member of the law firm of Thomas, Thomas & Jones which represented the defendant at his first trial.

Davis was found guilty of the charges in his first trial which was held a year ago. A jury assessed a 20-year penitentiary sentence, but the verdict was reversed and the case remanded by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Davis was charged with murder following the death of Childers on March 27, 1953. Childers died of shotgun wounds received at the Wyoming Hotel, which he operated. The defendant's wife, Patricia Davis, was wounded in the incident.

The defendant testified in his last trial that the 410-gauge shotgun was discharged accidentally when he was struck over the head with a kitchen chair. He said he picked up the shotgun when Childers and Patricia Davis entered the hotel's kitchen because he thought Childers was going for a pistol. He said he was struck on the head with the chair by F. W. Stokes, a witness who testified in the initial trial.

Davis has been at liberty under bond for several months. His attorney now is Calloway Huffaker of Tahoka.

Two Tankers Collide In Port Arthur Canal

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Nov. 27 (AP)—Two tankers—one loaded with 85,000 barrels of gasoline and the other empty—collided at the Port Arthur ship canal entrance today. There was no fire, and nobody was reported injured.

Officials said the Gulf Oil Corp.'s "Gulfite" was carrying gasoline and that Magnolia's "Shabonoe" was empty. They said the front end of the "Gulfite" hit the side of the "Shabonoe." Both were damaged, but the amount was not estimated in dollars.

Pope Ordered To Take Rest

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 27 (AP)—Pope Pius XII returned to his Vatican apartment today, tired and suffering from a return of the hiccup that dangerously sapped his strength last February.

Sources close to the 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church said his private physician has ordered a period of complete rest.

The pontiff consequently shortened the trip from his residence at Castel Gandolfo and did not visit the image of the Madonna of Divine Love in the basilica of St. Mary across the Tiber, where he had planned to pause and pray.

His five-car motorcade drove slowly out of the hill village of Castel Gandolfo, escorted by 20 Italian motorcycle policemen. The cavalcade held to a speed of 25 miles per hour. One policeman said Vatican authorities had ordered "a smooth ride."

Sources close to the Pope said the heavy program of audiences, speeches and ceremonies which he presided during his four months at Castel Gandolfo had tired him greatly. They reported he has suffered a recurrence of the hiccup which confined him for months to his Vatican apartment earlier this year. At one stage this was accompanied by vomiting.

Local Thieves Loot Sweetwater's Bus

Sweetwater rosters lost more than a half dozen items last Thursday. Someone looted one of that city's school buses and made off with jackets and money.

The Sweetwater police chief has notified the local police department that four hand jackets, a football jacket, a library jacket, an Ike jacket and a billfold containing $12 was taken. All but the Ike jacket were red, trimmed in white. The Ike jacket was blue.

The items are believed to have been taken while the bus was parked in front of the stadium during the football game.

Our Religious Faiths

What Is A Jew? (Part I of Article I)

This is the first of a series of informative articles on the role of religion in today's world written for the Herald by noted authorities of the various faiths and denominations. Later articles will discuss Catholicism, Christianity, Islam, Judaism, Episcopalianism and Methodism.

PART I
By Rabbi Morris N. Kertzer
Director of Interreligious Services for the American Jewish Committee

What is a Jew?
It is difficult to find a single definition. A Jew is one who accepts the faith of Judaism. That is the religious definition.

A Jew is one who, without formal affiliation, regards the teachings of Judaism—its ethics, its folkways, its literature—as his own. That is the cultural definition of a Jew.

A Jew is one who considers himself a Jew or is so regarded by his community. That is the "practical" definition of a Jew.

Prof. Mordecai Kaplan calls Judaism "a civilization." Jews share a common history, common prayer, a vast literature and, above all, a common moral and spiritual purpose. Judaism is really a way of life.

Judaism holds that man cannot genuinely worship God by imitating those qualities that are godly: As God is merciful, so must we be compassionate; as God is just, so must we deal justly with our neighbor; as God is slow to anger, so must we be tolerant.

Some 1,800 years ago, one of our sages taught: "He who is beloved of his fellow men is beloved of God." To worship God is to love the works of His hands.

The Jewish prayer book speaks of three basic principles of faith: 1. The love of learning. As long ago as the first century, Jews had a system of compulsory education. The education of the poor and the fatherless was a responsibility of the Jewish community, as well as of the family. And the ancient rabbis knew something about the psychology of learning.

On the first day of school, youngsters were fed honey cakes shaped in the letters of the alphabet, so that they would associate learning with sweetness.

2. The worship of God. From their earliest childhood, Jews are taught that He is to be worshipped out of love, not out of fear.

3. Good deeds—deeds that stem from the heart. There is no Hebrew word for "charity" because, to the devout Jew, there is no such thing as "charity." According to the ancient rabbis: "We are required to feed the poor of the gentiles as well as our Jewish brethren. . . . No one is exempt from obligations to his fellow men. The Talmud informs us that 'even one whom the community supports must give to the poor.'"

It is interesting to note that, in Jewish tradition, kindness to animals is the purest form of goodness because it is done without any hope of reward.

Do Jews believe in heaven and hell?

There was a time when heaven and hell were accepted in Jewish theology but, even then, rarely as physical entities. A soul tormented with remorse for misdeeds was "in hell"; a soul delighting in a life well lived was "in heaven."

The 12th-century philosopher Maimonides opposed the idea of rewards and punishments for behavior.

Feminine Jurors

Howard County's first woman jury was impaneled Friday for sanity hearings at the Big Spring State Hospital. Sheriff Jess Slaughter assembled the jury when Judge R. H. Weaver ordered a panel for the hearings. The jurors, shown with Slaughter, are Lois Marchbanks, Marguerette Wooten, Jackie McKinney, Barbara Waits, Reba Baker and Grace Miller. The women heard 10 cases and recommended the 10 defendants to the state hospital for further treatment.

Women Due On Martin Juries Come January

STANTON (SC) — The first Martin County women to serve on a District Court jury here are expected to be summoned for duty at the January 1955 term. In anticipation of the possibility that a jury in a felony case may have to be held together overnight, County Judge Jim McCoy and the commissioners are making plans for a remodeling job on the third floor of the courthouse for the mixed jury. On this floor, at this time, there are two large jury rooms, one on the east side and one on the west side, with a suite of offices occupied by the Soil Conservation Service on the south side.

Area Enjoying One Of Milder Autumns

This area is experiencing one of its mildest autumns. Since 1925, only two have been milder and one other equally as mild on the basis of the number of days of freezing or below minimum temperatures. While the first frost date this year came a trifle ahead of the normal date, actually not much damage resulted in this immediate vicinity. The U. S. Experiment Farm recorded 30 degrees on Nov. 5, a 31 the next day and 32 on Nov. 7. In the city proper, however, thermometer columns did not shrink to the freezing level. The nip was enough to burn the end of leaves on the northern slopes and in the north part of the county a few farmers reported that the bite was enough to lower prospective cotton yields slightly. But only three days with minimums of freezing up to the threshold of December is unusually mild. In 1949 the temperature dipped to 30 degrees on Oct. 31, one of the five times in a 30-year span that October has had a freezing reading, and then there was no more frost until Dec. 7. The mildest, however, occurred in 1933 when there was no frost at all until Dec. 5, when the mercury suddenly dipped to 24 degrees. The year 1942 showed no frost until Nov. 22 when the reading was 27 degrees. There also were two other frosts before the end of that month. Average number of days with freezing or below minimums for November is 8.2. Earliest frost on record since 1925 occurred on Oct. 23, 1929. On that day the mercury dipped to 30. This presaged a chilly November to account for the area's coolest fall. There were 20 days in November with 32-degree or lower readings. Almost as nippy was 1932 which produced 31 degrees on Oct. 25 and then went on to add 17 freezing or better days in November. In 1929, once the mercury hit freezing on Nov. 12, the daily minimum did not get above freezing the remainder of the month except for 33 on Nov. 28.

Bud Whitney Will Represent A&M At West Point Meeting

Herbert W. (Bud) Whitney, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Whitney, 513 W. 18th, will represent Texas A&M College at the Student Conference on United States Affairs which will be held at the United States Military Academy, West Point. The conference will convene Wednesday and last through the rest of the week. Whitney will be one of about 130 students attending from leading American and Canadian colleges and universities. Texas A&M College is the only university west of the Mississippi which will be represented at the conference. Whitney was selected at A&M for his demonstrated ability in social sciences, plus campus leadership and scholastic merit. Topic of discussion at the meeting will be the national security policy of the United States. Roundtable discussions will be held, and some of the nation's best government minds will conduct seminars. This is the sixth year that West Point, with the aid of private funds, has been able to hold SCUSA. Whitney is an industrial engineering student at Texas A&M, and he is a junior. His college activities include membership on the debate council, the memorial student center board, and Phi Eta Sigma, honor fraternity. He is vice president of the student center.

Methodists Raise Church Building Fund For Korea

Methodists of the Big Spring District led all other districts in the Northwest Texas Conference in contributions to the fund for building and rebuilding churches in Korea, District Supt. O. W. Carter reported. The 30 churches in the Big Spring District gave more than $4,000. The offerings for Korea were accepted during services throughout the nation two weeks ago. Over the nation, more than $1,500,000 was given. Goal of the special offering had been $1,000,000. The funds will be used to either construct or rebuild 765 churches in Korea.

Negro Held In Assault Case

STANTON, (SC)—Ester Webster, 42, Stanton Negro, has waived an examining trial and is being held in the county jail here in lieu of $1,000 bail on a charge of assault with intent to murder. Deputy Sheriff A. C. Abernathy and Policeman Walter Graves said they arrested Webster shortly after 7 p.m. Thursday after George Conkleton, 32, another Negro, was shot with a shotgun loaded with birdshot. Abernathy said most of the shot struck Conkleton on the left side ranging upward from his shoe soles to his ear. The victim received emergency treatment at the Martin County Memorial Hospital where the shot was picked out and he was allowed to go home. Officers said the shooting occurred in the "The Flats" section here. Abernathy said that according to the victim and witnesses, Conkleton had gone to Webster's home where the two became involved in an argument. The officers said Conkleton was walking away from the house when the shot was fired at sufficient distance to spread the shot over a wide area and to embed them only slightly in the victim's flesh.

Midland Dry Cleaners Entered By Burglars

Local law enforcement officials Saturday were checking on the possibility that burglars of the Midland Dry Cleaners in Midland might have fled to Big Spring. Approximately $250 was taken from the cleaning establishment, it was reported. About $90 was in clothes and the rest in pennies and bills.

German Vote Today Could Topple Adenauer Cabinet

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY
FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 27 (AP)—Nine million voters in two big West German states choose new parliaments tomorrow in an election which could — but probably won't — break Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's tight hold on the federal government. In Bavaria, 6,200,000 eligible voters name 204 Parliament members and in Hesse, 3,100,000 voters select 96. It is the first parliamentary election in each state since 1950, when the Socialists captured control of Hesse, and a coalition Christian Social Union-Socialist government emerged in Bavaria. Campaigning has been violent and vindictive, and are the first state elections in postwar Germany where national leaders have taken such a conspicuous part. Chancellor Adenauer, 78, sought vindication of his policies and stumped both states vigorously. Opposition Socialist leader Erich Ollenhauer was just as active. Beside a multitude of domestic issues plaguing both parties, two big factors are the pivotal points of the voting: 1. West German rearmament. 2. The Paris agreement "Europeanizing the Saar" under temporary French control. Rearmament is the bigger question. There has been sharp, outspoken opposition. West German Defense Minister Theodor Blank was attacked and beaten by a Bavarian crowd when he attempted to campaign on the rearmament issue. The resentment against rearmament isn't all Communist-inspired. There are young Germans who regard as odious the prospect of becoming soldiers again. The Communists have tried to fan the fires against rearmament, and they have had some unwitting fuel in these young men.

Farm Bureau Sets District Meeting

A district meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation has been set here for Dec. 3. Group insurance matters will be one of the chief topics for discussion. Representatives from both the Blue Cross and Blue Shield are to be on hand for the party. C. H. DeVaney, Coahoma, vice president of the state organization, will take part on the program which is set for 10 a.m. in the Settles Hotel.

Kitchen Fire Occurs

A kitchen fire at 402 Gregg Street resulted about 4:20 p.m. Friday when a stove was installed without turning off the gas. Firemen said W. D. Froman lives in the house, according to department records. Damage was slight, the kitchen wall being charred.

Korean Resolution Principles Agreed

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER, UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 27 (AP)—The Western Powers have agreed on the general principles of a resolution intended to keep negotiations alive for a settlement of the Korean deadlock without calling a new Geneva conference.

This was reported by Western sources as representatives of the Allies who fought for the U.N. in Korea and of India's V. K. Krishna Menon conferred in the U.N. in an effort to whip out a final resolution.

The U. N. Political Committee will take up the Korean case Tuesday or Wednesday and the West hopes the U.N. debate will be short and calm. The committee held its first Saturday meeting of this session for a round of talks on the West New Guinea dispute between the Netherlands and Indonesia.

While the Korean huddles went on, South Korea's envoy to Washington, You Chan Yang, protested vigorously that the Republic of Korea was being kept out of conferences vital to its future. He said in a statement that "when they (the conferees) are trying to decide our fate, they should call us in."

A Western source commented that the latest flurry of negotiations on a resolution had involved only a few countries and that South Korea had a hand in drafting a report to the Assembly on the Geneva conference, even though South Korea did not endorse that report.

One diplomat pointed out that a settlement was reached on Trieste by letting time work and it was hoped the same could be done on Korea by the Assembly and that the situation must have time to be worked out.

Yang said that the Communist Chinese imprisonment of 13 Americans as spies was a violation of the Korean armistice and that there has been no punishment for the guilty.

CECIL A. LOTIEF

Cecil A. Lotief Outlines His Candidacy For Senate Seat

Cecil A. Lotief, mayor of Rotan and former member of the Texas House of Representatives, was in Big Spring Friday in the interest of his candidacy for the state senate seat left vacant by the death of Harley Sadler.

The 24th Senatorial District holds a special election on December 11. A department store owner, Lotief has served two terms in the Texas Legislature from Eastland and Callahan counties. Calling himself a "life-long Democrat," he served two years on the State Democratic Executive Committee and was a delegate to the 1944 National Democratic Convention.

Lotief, who has nine planks in his platform, says that he is not obligated to any group or special interest, and says that, if elected, he will not ask for re-election. "Four years is enough," the Rotan mayor believes.

"No man can serve two masters," Lotief says and adds that he is for laws to prohibit members of the Legislature from accepting retainer fees or other valuables while serving in that body.

He is also for repeal of cross-filing election laws. "When people of this country destroy the principle of a two-party system, it will open the gate for the destruction of our constitutional form of government for the benefit of a few politicians who fear the strength of the Republican Party in Texas," the former representative continued.

The fourth plank in his platform is that he favors prohibiting persons from holding over one office and asking for another at the people's expense, meaning the cost of special elections.

He would also place a limit on candidates' expenses, as the "office should not be sold to the highest bidder."

Increase pensions for old persons, large enough to permit them to "live decently under the American standard of living," is another part of his platform. "Likewise, we must take good care of blind people, dependent children and other helpless persons," Lotief continued.

Also, he feels that some action must be taken concerning water conservation, and the farm-to-market road program must be continued. Higher pay for teachers, to get better teachers and help improve the schools is another basic part of the program he proposes. "It is cheaper to educate them than to prosecute them."

Finally, he favors a tax on natural gas which is piped outside of Texas. He would use the revenue for schools, roads, old-age pensions and other social obligations.

VA Hospital Manager Due Here Monday

Ira G. Sims, former assistant manager of the VA Hospital in Alexandria, La., is scheduled to take over the helm of the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital tomorrow.

Sims replaces Willis O. Underwood as manager of the local institution. Underwood, who served here two years, was transferred to Summit, N. Y., as hospital manager there.

Big Spring's new manager has held a variety of administrative posts with the Veterans Administration and has been associated with the organization since March, 1919.

Sims is a native of Shelbyville, Illinois, and attended Sparks College and Conservatory in 1915-16. He served in the Navy during World War I and began his VA career at Whipple Barracks, Arizona.

He has held administrative posts in Palo Alto, Calif.; Tuskegee, Ala.; Greenville, S. C.; Excelsior Springs, Mo.; St. Cloud, Minn.; Portland, Oregon; Knoxville, Iowa; Biloxi, Miss.; Jackson, Miss.; San Antonio, Texas; and Washington, D. C.

Sims is married and has two children, a son with the Army at Fort Bliss, near El Paso, and a daughter at Mississippi Southern College.

Experiment Farm Has 64 Yearlings On Test Rations

Sixty-four yearlings, one of the largest number ever employed in a feeding experiment at the U. S. Experiment Farm, are now on their 180-day test rations.

The calves have completed their preliminary feeding and were divided into two groups of four lots each.

Basically, the objective is still to put the finger on some means of overcoming the feedlot bugaboo of urinary calculi, those tiny mineral precipitates which clog up bladder drainage. This year's venture employs one new wrinkle—injections which might prevent the calculi from forming.

Animals secured from the test are comparatively uniform and although from two ranches were integrated in the selection of lots. W. L. Wilson & Son supplied 49 of the calves and Larkin Longshore the remaining 15.

One of the divisions will receive the basic ration of milo, cotton seed meal and stlage, while the other will have the same ration except two pounds of cottonseed hull (and the amount of stlage adjusted accordingly).

The first lots in each division will be check lots and receive no minerals. The second lots will get the injections of hyaluronidase. The third lots will be given supplements of ammonium chlorides, a chemical which has proven successful in overcoming stones in some human beings under certain conditions. The fourth lot will be given a supplement of phosphoric acid, one of the most successful mineral additives employed in the tests. Feeding experiments have been going on here for almost three decades. Approximately two-thirds of the time has been spent in search of a cause and preventative for urinary calculi.

Charges Of Check Forgery Are Filed

Forgery charges were filed Saturday in Justice Court against Aurelio U. Rocha.

Rocha is accused of forging a check for $20.50. The instrument was payable to D. E. Heffington and bore the name of Pavo Burta-ro. It was dated Nov. 24. Heffington is complainant.

Two Receive Minor Injuries In Crash

Mrs. Denie Ray and her granddaughter, Jeanette Ray, 11, received minor injuries Saturday afternoon when the pickup in which they were riding was struck by an automobile.

Both were brought to Big Spring Hospital for first aid treatment. Mrs. Ray said she received cuts on the back of her head. She said Jeanette received a hard bump on the head.

The mishap occurred on the Snyder Highway about seven miles northeast of Big Spring.

Highway Patrol officers who investigated listed Roosevelt Redic of Odessa as driver of the car, a new Oldsmobile being taken to the Shortes Motor Company in Odessa. The car collided with the rear of the pickup a few hundred yards from the Ray home. Both vehicles were traveling toward Big Spring.

Damage to the car was estimated at approximately $800 and to the pickup at $100 or more.

Highway Patrol officers said the car stood on its front in a ditch at the intersection of Farm Road 700 and Old Highway 80 about 12:10 a.m. Saturday. Whitworth told officers his foot missed the brake pedal and hit the accelerator. Damage was estimated at $500.

Senators Get Set To Resume Censure Issue Debate Monday

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (U)—The Senate got set today to resume the debate on the censure of Sen. McCarthy Monday, with GOP Leader Knowland urging a decision by Dec. 11 and Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) renewing his call for a rebuke to the Wisconsin Republican.

Watkins declared that if Republicans "do the right thing" and vote to censure the party will gain stature nationally and need fear no lasting split.

Knowland did not say how he would vote. But he told newsmen he believes the Senate should dispose of the issue quickly and turn to what he considers more important things. He said there is "a growing demand that the present (censure) business be terminated and that the 96 members of the Senate begin to concentrate their attentions on how they can save the honor of the country."

Hinting that the Senate may be asked to remain in session beyond a censure vote, Knowland said international developments — including imprisonment of 13 Americans by Chinese Communists as spies — "require that the Senate give more time to the honor of the country and the dignity of the Senate."

He said there is no reason why a vote can't be reached in two weeks, by Dec. 11 at the latest, on a pending censure resolution. He denied there was any Republican leadership move to delay a showdown.

Watkins said in an interview that in his opinion "the right thing" for the Senate to do would be to rebuke McCarthy not only on two counts now pending against him but on a proposed charge that he "maligned the Watkins committee which recommended these counts."

McCarthy is expected to be on hand when the debate resumes Monday after a 10-day recess in which he received treatment for an injured elbow. His physicians said today he should be able to leave Bethesda Medical Center tomorrow, barring any complications.

Taking cognizance of reports that some Republicans would like to avoid a showdown because they fear McCarthy might split away from the GOP in 1952, Watkins said he felt these fears were groundless.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

An older reader of this column, Mr. W. N. Anderson, sent me this note:

"One of my friends used to live in a town where he never got cold. The reason, he said, was that Mr. Haire lived on one side of his home and Mr. Furr lived on the other side."

Another reader, Mrs. Mary Bowersox, tells me about two brothers who married young women named Nickel and Moore. Some of their friends suggested that one brother "wanted Moore than a Nickel."

Mrs. Bowersox also says that two of her school mates were named Crane and Fox, and that her teacher was named Wolf.

"My name of Bowersox," she adds, "came from an ancestor named Bauersachs. This ancestor migrated from Germany more than 200 years ago."

Mr. R. C. Johndy writes:

"I believe that my brother and I are the only persons bearing the

WHAT IS A JEW?

— each man after his own fashion — without a mediator.

Judaism does not accept the doctrine of original sin. We do not interpret the story of Adam and Eve as reflecting man's fall from grace. Nor do we consider our bodies and their appetites as sinful. We look upon them as natural functions of life itself, for God created them.

Do Jews try to convert Gentiles? No. Modern Judaism is not a proselytizing creed. Jews have always welcomed converts who embraced Judaism out of true conviction. Our tradition makes no distinction between Jews born in or out of the faith.

Conversion to Judaism is not uncommon today. I have participated in the conversion of a number of Protestants and Catholics to the Jewish faith.

Does Judaism oppose intermarriage? Practically all religions are opposed to marriage outside their faith. Religious Jews oppose intermarriage for the same reasons. When husband and wife disagree on an issue as basic as their religious creed, the prospect for a lasting and harmonious relationship may be harmed.

Are Jews forbidden to read the New Testament? No. Jews cannot conceive of being "forbidden" to read anything. There has certainly never been a ban against reading the New Testament or any other Christian writings.

I have even seen pious Jews poring over the contents of missionary literature; and many Jewish scholars know the Gospels as intimately as the Old Testament which is the basis of our creed.

Are there various creeds and sects among Jews? American Judaism contains three religious groupings: the Orthodox, the Conservative and the Reform (sometimes called the Liberal).

The Orthodox Jew regards his faith as the main stream of a tradition that has been unaltered for the past 3,000 years. He accepts the Bible as the revealed Will of God. He does not change with each new "wind of doctrine"; he says that his way of life yields neither to expediency nor to comfort.

Orthodox Jews observe the Sabbath strictly (no work, no travel, no writing, no business dealings, no carrying of money). They observe every detail of the dietary laws. They maintain separate pews for women in the synagogue. They use only Hebrew in prayer and ceremonial services.

Reform Judaism differs sharply from Orthodoxy on the matter of Revelation. A Reform Jew accepts as binding only the moral laws of the Bible and those ceremonies that "elevate and sanctify our lives." He does not follow customs he believes "not adapted to the views and habits of modern civilization." Reform Jews feel that faith must be rational and capable of withstanding the careful scrutiny of reason and science. The worship of Reform Judaism departs from traditional forms. There is complete equality of the sexes in the temple. Prayer is largely in English (or the vernacular). There is greater flexibility in the choice of prayers. Instrumental music is permitted in the temple. The prayer shawl (tallit) is not worn by the male worshippers.

Conservative Jews follow the pattern of traditional Judaism, by and large, but regard Judaism as an evolving and ever-growing religion. They feel that change should be the result of natural growth and in consonance with the spirit of Jewish law. They regard Reform Judaism as too sharp a break with the past.

The Conservative Jew follows the dietary laws, with only minor relaxations. He observes the Sabbath, high holidays and festivals in traditional ways. But he has borrowed many of the forms of Reform Judaism — such as the late-Friday-evening service and the use of English in prayers.

NEXT SUNDAY: What is a rabbi and what does he do? Is it true that Judaism in the home is more important than in the synagogue? Do all Jews wear

What are the "kosher" laws? Is an American Jew's first loyalty to Israel or America?

DATE DATA

By Beverly Brandow

Difference In Ages

Dear Miss Brandow:

I am sixteen years of age and a junior in high school. A boy who is twenty and a college junior would like to date me. Is he too old?

Joan

Age is a strange thing. To the young it is an insurmountable barrier; yet the older you are, the less it matters. Suppose you were four and he were eight? That's an impossible situation. Then suppose you were twenty and he twenty-four? That's a pretty good arrangement.

Many college fellows are too experienced for many high schoolers; still many sixteen-year-old girls are quite mature and are restless dating boys who have not kept up with them.

A college boy has his own circle of friends. Would you fit in with them? Would you enjoy attending dances at his college? Would you miss your own parties? Chances

License Renewal Deadline Is Near

Merchants are required to renew their retail store license before Dec. 31. E. R. Trego, district supervisor of the state comptroller's office, said here Friday.

Each day payment is delayed after the deadline constitutes a separate violation, Trego pointed out. Penalties can be assessed up to $25 for each violation.

Reminders are now being sent out to notify merchants of state fees which must be paid before Dec. 31. Renewal applications can be mailed into the office with the required fee, but they must be notarized, Trego said.

By bringing the application into the office in person, Trego added, the applicant will not have to have it notarized. The comptroller's office will handle the notarization.

The fee required for merchants operating only one store is $5. Higher rates are required for merchants operating more than one store.

are that he'll feel too old for high school sock hops. Is he worth the sacrifice? Do you really like him that much?

If he is a nice boy, and you really like him an extra special rates as just another date, better disregard this relationship and find someone from your own school with whom you will have more mutual interests and companionship.

Dear Miss Brandow:

I have asked a certain girl three times for a date and have been turned down each time. Should I give up?

Fred

Not if you really like her. Have a personal self-analysis with yourself. Is she ashamed to date you? Is it perhaps the way you dress, or the things you say? Maybe you don't invite her to places she wants to go. Perhaps you're a little foggy on your etiquette and she's a stickler for wanting to date a polished fellow.

Keep your eyes open for clues, and above all keep trying. She sounds like a girl worth winning.

(Are you puzzled by your date or steady? Send for the free leaflet, "How Do You Know If It's a Line?" A stamp is required for each booklet to cover mailing. Write Beverly Brandow in care of The Herald.)

Peters Honored

A safety plaque from the American Society of Safety Engineers is presented to Otto Peters Sr. of Big Spring by Herman Engelman, ASSE representative. Peters, right, was honored at the 10th annual safety institute sponsored by the ASSE and the Fort Worth Safety Council. Engelman pointed to Peters' record in safety work since 1922. He said Peters probably has taught the Standard First Aid Course of the American Red Cross to more people than any other instructor in the country. Peters is purchasing agent and dean of safety workers for the Corden Petroleum Corporation.

Riding THE GRUB LINE With Franklin Reynolds

Within the next few days the Macmillan Company will release a new volume of a collection of 12 western stories, under the title of "Holders and Heroes."

One of these stories, "The Man in the Hard Hat" is by S. Omar Barker of Sapelle, N. M., who is probably best known as a writer of western poetry.

Barker, who is a native of New Mexico, a graduate of New Mexico Highlands University, and the author of some 1,500 western stories, is an uncle of Mrs. Preach Martin of Big Spring.

At a meeting at the Welch Club a few days ago the landowners of that area of the Dawson Soil Conservation District lying west of Highway 180 and north of Highway 180, elected W. H. (Bill) Meeks as their representative on the five-member board of SCD supervisors.

Meeks succeeds W. T. Snelgrove who served a five-year term.

Does fertilizer help keep insects out of cotton?
Jim Anderson of the Grandview Community in Dawson County is quite sure that it does.

This year he fertilized a part of his cotton field, but did not put any fertilizer on the remainder of the field.

Insects damaged the non-fertilized cotton so badly that it had to be planted over, but he got a good stand, without replanting, where the cotton had been fertilized.

It is also pointed out by the research men that Hairy Vetch and fertilizer, in combination, aids materially in building up soil fertility, in keeping land from blowing; it affords some spring grazing, and can also be calculated to cut down on the insecticide bill.

A short course for Texas dairymen has been scheduled for Dec. 2 and 3 in the Memorial Student Center at Texas A&M College. This course is designed to serve dairymen, plant fieldmen, feed company representatives and others interested in the industry. Problems to be discussed include feeding, breeding, management and diseases of the dairy herd as well as the marketing of dairy products.

The featured speaker will be Dr. R. E. Hodgson, chief of the Dairy Husbandry Research Branch at the USDA's farms at Beltsville, Maryland. Dr. Hodgson will talk about forages in the dairy ration.

More irrigation wells are going down or being planned in Dawson County.

Among the farmers interested in more wells are M. G. Riggan of Key; Roy Bearden, who lives two miles south of Lamesa on the Stanton Road; O. H. Preston of the Punkin Center Community; Audrey Davison of the Arvana Community, and H. A. Duke, who lives 15 miles south of Lamesa on Highway 137.

Farmers planning new contour and terrace lines include Homer Harberger of O'Donnell; W. M. Buchanan, two miles west of Key; J. S. Jeter of the Key Community and W. J. Stanfield of Midway.

Thirty-one applications for drought disaster assistance feed from Glasscock County stockmen have been approved for a total of approximately one and one-half million pounds of grain, according to Mrs. Asta Allen of the ASC office at Garden City.

Glasscock was recently listed among the counties to receive this assistance because of drought conditions.

Stockmen whose applications have been approved report they can draw 60 days supply of the feed at a time and that they are being allowed four pounds per day for cows and one pound for sheep with other varying amounts for younger animals and breeding animals.

Feed available under the program includes corn, oats, barley, grain sorghums and grain cubes. The cubes must include at least 60 per cent grain.

Very little change in production or price appears to be the 1955 outlook for beef cattle, according to John G. McHany, extension agricultural economist at Texas A&M College.

Pointing out that beef production is on a downswing, he says fewer animals can be expected on farms and ranches in January of 1955 as compared with the first month in this year. He says that the rapidity with which the downswing moves along will be a critical factor in formulating the 1955 outlook. He says the financial status of the cattlemen under the influences of the drought and low prices holds the big answer.

The total cattle slaughter in 1953 is expected to equal the 1954 slaughter and calf slaughter will be a little greater. The price spread between high and low grade animals may broaden, he predicts. He says meat demands from consumers will be about the same next year as it has been this year, but the consumption of beef is expected to drop from this year's 70 pounds per capita to 78 pounds in 1955.

McHany sees prices of cows and stocker and feeder steers weaker than in the higher grades.

Calling attention to the fact that the import of cattle from Mexico will be resumed at the end of December of this year, McHany says that import total will be relatively small, probably less than two per cent of total production, and that it won't be enough to have any material effect on prices in this country.

Sandra Wilkerson, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joy Wilkerson of Garden City, was presented the county's 4-H Gold Star award for club girls at the recent annual Achievement Day program by Mrs. Mildred Eiland, home demonstration agent for both Martin and Glasscock counties.

Sandra, whose mother is Garden City correspondent for the Big Spring Herald, has been engaged in club work for six years, and has carried on demonstrations in clothing, foods, home improvement and recreation. She has participated in the County Dress Revue for three years entered the District Vegetable Team Demonstration in 1954, and represented Glasscock County at the State 4-H Roundup that year.

Other girls receiving annual awards included Juannell Overton and Sandra Wilkerson, achievement awards; Latrell Venable and Juannell Overton, dress revue; Jackie Wilson, leadership; and certificates of completion were presented 59 of the 4-H Club girls.

Afghan Gardener Spoils Party Plans

KABUL, Afghanistan, Nov. 27 (U.S. — U.N. technical assistance officials muffed just one detail in planning a garden party, complete with newly dug barbecue pit and rich Afghan carpets covering the lawn.

They forgot to tell their gardener. It was his regular day for watering. Without inspecting the garden, he turned in a stream from the irrigation canal as usual.

Officials checking things just before the guests showed up were dismayed to find the pit flooded and the carpets floating in several inches of water.

But meeting crises is a part of their job. So they kept chains up and threw the party in a side yard the water hadn't reached.

DO IT YOURSELF Be Your Own St. Nick With These Fine Toys

By BILL BAKER

You're going to be playing Santa Claus in a big way this Christmas if you listen to what I have to say today. I want to tell you about a trio of toys that you'll find very easy to build. And they'll be fun to give away, too.

First toy you'll build in your workshop is an unusual circus wagon with a giraffe neatly placed inside. This smart rolling toy is also an animated item, the giraffe bobs his head up and down in a steady manner as the wagon is pulled along.

A proud elephant, also mounted on a circus wagon, is the second toy. A special coupling will let the youngster attach it to the giraffe wagon, making a regular circus train.

Number three in the toy trio is a beautiful rabbit cut-out that will please any youngster. This has been designed as a wall plaque, but it can also be used in any play activity.

You'll build all three of these unique gifts with the help of Bill Baker's Extra Special Pattern No. 135. The big-pattern package will show you, step by step, how to complete the construction of the toys.

In the package, first of all, you'll find a full instruction sheet. You'll read this first to obtain a full picture of the easy and fun-filled job that is ahead of you.

Then you'll look over the complete material list. When you make your visit to the lumberyard, then you'll purchase only those materials which you'll actually use. There won't be any waste with this project.

Most important items in the package are the exact-size pattern pieces. Much like dress patterns, only they are made of heavy-weight paper, these pieces are tacked right on the wood. It will be an easy job to trace out each section then.

Cutting is also made easy, since all you have to do is follow the line. For the rounded sections you'll use a coping saw. Only a few basic tool items, including the saw, will be needed for the construction job.

Another important part of the pattern package is the suggested plan for painting the finished toys. Outlines of eyes, etc., are included. Should you feel artistic, however, you can naturally use your own ideas in this operation.

Now here's how you can get your toy trio pattern package: Just send your name and address (clearly printed), together with only one dollar ($1) in check, cash or money order, to Bill Baker, Big Spring Herald, P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, Calif. Remember to ask for Pattern No. 135.

And there's another trio of toys should you wish to order more than the three listed above, found in Pattern No. 130. It includes an animated rolling duck, an empty circus wagon and a horse head for bike or tricycle. The price on this pattern package is also one-dollar ($1). Order it as above, but be sure to ask for Pattern No. 130.

Stock Market Continues Its Rise On Steady Basis

NEW YORK 28—The stock market surged ahead this week with a final explosive rise that shot prices into the old 1929 peaks.

All week stocks continued stepping ahead from one record to another despite the holiday shortened market.

A day out for Thanksgiving feasting did nothing to sate the public appetite for stocks.

On each trading day, the market on average advanced to a new high mark since the dizzy bull market days of '29.

As measured by the yardstick of The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, here is what happened: The average on the week was up $3.20 at $147.50. At that point it stood at the highest mark since Oct. 11, 1929, when it was at $147.90 thus the average currently is only a little more than $10 away from the historic peak of $157.70 reached on Sept. 3, 1929.

Only two weeks ago the market established an all-time record for the number of individual shares traded. This week it broke that old record when 1,271 issues were traded out of the 1,229 issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Out of these records and out of the feverish speculation and trading and investing going on in the stock market comes the question—how long is it going to last?

There are prophets of doom in Wall Street. Their voices aren't very strong.

Loudest are those who say that this market is different, this market is solidly based on dividends and earnings, this market has a lot of strength. In between these two extremes are those who contend that no market keeps going up forever and that a reaction sooner or later is bound to slap prices back—perhaps quite hard.

Such a development would be considered normal. When that type of reaction runs its course, usually retracing one-third to two-thirds of the previous gain, the market is in a position to resume its advance.

Army Rehabilitation Center Handles Wayward Soldiers

By TOM STONE
KAUFBEUREN, Germany, Nov. 27 (AP)—The U.S. Army straightens out its GI troublemakers in a unique rehabilitation center here.

Soldiers who go AWOL, talk back to superiors, get drunk or brawl while on duty in Europe are sent here to take their medicine.

Maximum punishment for such special court-martial offenses is six months, but Col. C. J. Nelson, Iowa-born commanding officer, says a soldier can cut his sentence in half by following the rigid rules and serving his time "in the right spirit."

"Treatment here is fair but firm," he says.

The rehabilitation center is the only one of its kind in Europe.

An average of 320 wayward soldiers wind up here monthly. Most are 21 or 22 years old. The prisoners are confined dormitory-style in clean two-story tile-roofed concrete barracks which were originally built for German Luftwaffe cadets.

The barracks are surrounded by 10-foot high hook-nose watch fence. Armed guards in starm towers keep a sharp lookout for would-be escapees.

No one has scaled the fence yet. But escapees are picked up quick-

Registration Of Those Needing Yule Aid Starts Monday

Families needing assistance at Christmas time — or individuals knowing of such families — are urged to report this information to the Salvation Army starting Monday.

The Salvation Army will not only carry on its traditional Christmas program, but it also will serve as a clearing house for coordinating Christmas relief.

Applications affecting Latin American population will be received by Mrs. Dorothy Davis at the Kate Morrison school during school hours.

The Salvation Army offices in the rear of the Dora Roberts Citadel will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. to receive applications. If there are those who cannot report because of employment or other obligations, a letter to the Salvation Army will be sufficient.

A meeting has been called for Monday 10 a. m. at the Salvation Army headquarters for representatives from churches and other agencies interested in spreading Christmas cheer. At this time, efforts will be made to prevent duplications and, more important, the overlooking of any needy families at Christmas.

Lamesa School Tax Collector Is Named

LAMESA — Mrs. Frank Dennis has been named by the trustees of the Lamesa Independent School District to be tax assessor-collector for the district.

She has been an employe in the school tax office for six years. Mrs. Dennis succeeds D. N. Peterson, who resigned to accept a position with the school tax office in San Angelo. She is president of the American Legion auxiliary here and secretary-treasurer of the Business & Professional Women's Club.

Tuberculosis will strike about 110,000 Americans this year. The tuberculosis associations fight the spread of TB through education, and rehabilitation.

ly. A soldier looks out of place here in the peaceful foothills of the Bavarian Alps.

Prisoners wear GI fatigues. They are assigned hard work, usually to improve the premises, but it is not too strenuous and it has a practical purpose.

Punishment consists primarily of intensified military training. It's like any other soldier gets but tougher.

The severest form of punishment—for prisoners who refuse to buckle down—is solitary confinement. There, prisoners sleep on pallets on the floor. They get clean clothes and blankets and take a shower every day. Prisoners are served the same food in solitary as on the outside but the portions are smaller and unseasoned.

Col. Nelson shudders when anybody mentions James Jones' novel "From Here to Eternity," which describes sadistic brutalities in a pre-war Army stockade in Hawaii. Those days are gone, Col. Nelson says. "Soldiers now get humane treatment. The ones here are not criminals. They are just young soldiers who have made slips. Most of them are returned to Army life as well-trained, well-disciplined, self-respecting soldiers."

Some soldiers convicted by a general court-martial for more serious offenses are sent here if they are "potentially restorable."

Col. Nelson says three out of four of the soldiers released from the Kaufbeuren center never get into trouble again.

"We prove here," Col. Nelson says, "that rehabilitation really works."

Navy Accepts Sugar Bowl Bid After Licking Army

Scoring Show Starts Early

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27 (AP)—Navy's football team, fired up by the opportunity to play in a bowl game as well as to beat its greatest rival, conquered Army 27-20 in one of football's real thrillers today.

Then the Midshipmen voted to accept an invitation to play in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans on Jan. 1, breaking a no-bowl position that has governed the service academies for 30 years.

The vote was taken in the dressing room immediately after the game as Secretary of the Navy Charles Sparks Thomas, passed out ballots to the players. After telling them they had invitations for several bowls, the players unanimously chose the Sugar Bowl.

The Middies will meet Mississippi, which clinched the Southeastern Conference championship today by beating Mississippi State 14-0. The New Year's game will mark Navy's second game in a post-season bowl game. The 1923 Navy team, which tied Army, played a 14-14 tie against Washington in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 1, 1924.

The scoring show that had been expected when two great offensive teams meet head-on started early and reached a frantic climax in the closing minutes of the first half when Army rammed over two touchdowns in a little over a minute to take a 20-14 lead and Navy came right back to make it 21-20 with only 47 seconds to go.

A weird series of fumbles contributed to the high scoring. Navy jumped ahead at the start after Tommy Bell fumbled on Army's third play from scrimmage. Navy tackle Jim Boyer recovered on the Army 27 and five plays later George Welsh flipped a screen pass to Bob Craig for 16 yards and the first touchdown.

John Weaver, who hadn't attempted a conversion this season made the kick good. Army smashed back 65 yards on 15 plays with workhorse Pat Uebel doing most of the carrying. To match the touchdown. But Ralph Chesnaukas missed the extra point and it was 7-6. Uebel carried the ball on eight plays in this drive and took the only pass thrown by Pete Vann.

Army Coach Earl Blaik substituted an entire new line at the start of the second quarter, and the Midshipmen were around and over for a second touchdown. An 11-yard pass from Welsh to sophomore Earle Smith accounted for the score after end runs by Weaver and Craig had gone for 23 and 18 yards.

Weaver again converted and it was Army's turn to move. The Captains smashed their way to the Navy 13, only to lose the ball when Don Hollender dropped a fourth-down pass. They got it back on the first of a series of fumbles.

It was Uebel who got the ball when Dick Guest lost control. Then Vann fumbled for Army and Len Benz recovered. And finally Guest bobbled a high pass to move. Navy on an attempted punt, got the ball and tried to run but dropped it again when end Art Johnson hit him. Hollender dashed in and fell on the ball on Navy's 3. Uebel slammed over for the touchdown, and moments later he intercepted a Welsh pass on the Army 13 and raced back 21 yards.

On the first play after the interception, Vann fired a pass to Bob Kysky, who outran the Navy defenders, and the play was good for 42 yards and a touchdown. That made it Army 20, Navy 14, with Chesnaukas making both conversions.

Navy, not to be stopped, recovered an attempted outside kickoff on its own 47 and went for another touchdown. Weaver broke loose for 26 yards and four plays later Welsh completed a 23-yard pass to Jim Owen on the Army 3. Welsh sneaked over for the touchdown. And Weaver made his third straight conversion to give the Midshipmen a 21-20 lead at the intermission.

The scoring dropped off during the second half, but the tension mounted minute by minute as the colorful throng of about 102,000—98,616 paid—jamming every inch of Philadelphia's huge Municipal Stadium saw the Midshipmen score a clinching touchdown, almost get another and then fight off Army's last-ditch threats.

After fumbling away one touchdown early in the third quarter, the Midshipmen regained the ball on their own 42 and went all the way in 10 plays. Fullback Joe Gattuso, who had fumbled on the Army 9, fell on the ball when Bell fumbled in Navy territory.

Tennessee Shelled By Vanderbilt

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 27 (AP)—Fullback Don Hunt ran and quarterback Jim Looney passed Vanderbilt to a decisive 26-0 victory over Tennessee today in a football game which wound up in a near riot in the final 45 seconds.

The fracas broke out after a Tennessee punt, but policemen raced onto the field from all directions and restored order. Officials apparently held both teams equally to blame and returned the ball to its previous resting place without penalty.

The Commodore combined a solid running game with an effective passing attack to take their first victory from their cross-state rival since 1938.

Seeking Out Pay Station

Brick Johnson (21) rips off sizable yardage in the above action caught during the Big Spring-Sweetwater game here Thursday. That's Cloyd Shilling seeking to slow him. No. 62 is Dickie Milam, Big Spring, while David Roberts (82) is charging across the field to help Shilling. Big Spring won, 21-7.

SMU Grabs Second Place In Southwest Standings

DALLAS, Nov. 27 (AP)—While the man who created Southern Methodist's famed "aerial circus" watched as an honored guest, the Mustangs stuck to the ground for an easy 21-6 victory over Texas Christian today.

Flashing a stable of fleet backs that could run like quarter-horses, SMU marched 80 and 33 yards for touchdowns in the first and fourth periods. Then as the game waned, end Doyle Nix stole a TCU pithout and fled 67 yards to set up second place in the Southwest Conference.

Duane Nutt scored the first Pony touchdown from inside the 10. John Marshall the second from the 5. Charles Curtis sneaked over from the two for Texas Christian's only touchdown in the second period.

Neither team threw the ball like in the golden days of razzle dazzle in the Southwest Conference. The man who started the jazzy style, former SMU Coach Ray Morrison, was honored at halftime as a new member of football's "Hall of Fame."

SMU tried only two passes and didn't complete a one, but it really had no use for passing attack today. Its ground game rolled up 297 yards to 153 for TCU. Even the pass-happy Froegies tried only 12 passes, completed only 5 and had 2 intercepted.

Paced by Marshall and hard driving Frank Eldom, SMU moved to TCU's 5 yard line in the second period and to the 3 in the fourth. But these efforts bogged down. Outside its scoring march, TCU had just two other good chances at points: In the third, when it reached the SMU 8 and in the fourth when it got to the 29. Nix ended that last effort with his interception.

Marshall gained 58 of the 80 yards SMU found out in its first drive. Stanley Bull and Gerald Redus ate up most of the yardage for TCU, 3 and 4 yards at a crack in a 56-yard drive.

On its second touchdown, it was Marshall and Eldom again doing the damage in short punches. Nutt broke his collarbone midway in the second quarter.

The hard-fought victory over the well-drilled Trojans was Notre Dame's fourth triumph in a row from their West Coast rivals, who will enter the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day against unbeaten Ohio State with a record of 8-3.

The men of Troy were defeated early by Texas Christian and last week were flattened by UCLA 34-0. Morse, a 175-pounder from Muskegon, Mich., was the star of the day with his consistent gains, climaxed by his game-breaking scoring sprint that brought the throng of 26,638 fans to their feet. The Irish 4th ranked nationally by the AP, boosted their season mark to 6-1.

Morse, fullback Don Schaefer and halfback Joe Heap combined on a Notre Dame 86-yard scoring thrust in 22 ground plays at the outset of the last quarter. Schaefer drilled over from the 2 and placed the extra point to put the Irish ahead 16-0.

Then the battling Trojans sailed 72 yards, mainly behind the passing of Jim Contratto, to score. Contratto passed 21 yards to 6-6 end Chuck Griffith for the payoff and Ed Fouch converted to put USC ahead 17-14.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—William Villanova finally found a team it could beat today and ended a nine-game losing streak by trouncing Fordham 41-0 on the passing of Dick Scott and ball-hawking of Don McComb and Mike Maycock.

Colorado City was represented by Powell, Dr. Oscar Rades, school board member, Ed Williams, superintendent of schools and Coach Dillard Adair. Phillips was represented by Superintendent Lee Johnson and Coach Chesty Walker.

The meeting was held at Plainview, following the Phillips-Floyd game at Floydada.

Both teams will carry perfect records into the game.

Pepper Martin Flies To Minor League Meeting

Bob (Pepper) Martin, owner-manager of the Big Spring Broncs, flies out of Big Spring today for Houston, where he will represent the local club at the Minor League Baseball Convention.

The conclave gets underway at the Rice Hotel on Monday and continues through Thursday, Dec. 2. The major leagues will meet at the Shamrock Hotel at the same time.

Martin said it would not surprise him if he loses as many as two players in the minor league draft. (Class B teams can draft players in C leagues). Catcher Huck Doe and Outfielder Jim Zapp are the players Martin thinks Big Spring could lose to higher clubs.

The Bronco owner made all Big Spring players subject to the draft but does not expect any of the other athletes to be drawn by higher leagues.

(Draft rights to C players cost teams of higher classification $1,000 each). Martin does not expect to draft any players from D leagues but indicated he could change his mind after arrival at the convention site.

Pepper will seek out club owners and managers in higher leagues to discuss the feasibility of arranging a working agreement for the local team. He already has a limited agreement with Albuquerque of the WT-NM League.

Pat Stasey, who will operate the Longhorn League club at Hobbs, N. M., next year will also be present at the meeting. Stasey now resides here.

Carolina Routed By Blue Devils

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov. 27 (AP)—Halfback Bob Pascal scored three touchdowns as power-laden Duke sent its hopes of an Orange Bowl bid skyrocketing today by blasting rival North Carolina, 47-12, to win the Atlantic Coast Conference championship.

A crowd of 35,000 watched as Duke scored a touchdown in each of the first two quarters and then turned the game into a rout to run up its biggest score in 41 games against Carolina.

Duke and Maryland are both unbeaten in ACC play, but the Terps have a 13-13 tie with Wake Forest to mar their conference record.

It was Duke's fifth consecutive win over the Tar Heels and gave the Blue Devils a season record of 7-2-1.

Duke took the opening kickoff and rolled 60 yards in less than three minutes with Pascal scoring from the 15. Guard Jim Nelson converted the first of his four extra points.

Porkers Back Into First SW Crown In 18 Seasons

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Arkansas Cotton Bowlers backed into their first undisputed Southwest Conference championship in 18 years today while three sophomores, Tommy Lockhart, George Walker and Buddy Benson, were leading them to a 19-0 inter-sectional victory over the University of Houston that had no bearing on the conference race.

Rice's upset of the favored Baylor Bears 20-14 at Waco saved the Porkers the necessity of sharing the conference title with the Bears.

Today's victory before a crowd of 25,000 sent Arkansas into the Dallas New Year's Day classic with an 8-2 season record, its best since 1927.

The Porkers finished their conference campaign three weeks ago with a 5-1 record but clinched the Cotton Bowl bid last week while Baylor was knocking Southern Methodist out of title contention. Today's victory snapped a two-game Arkansas losing streak, the Porkers' lone losses having been 21-14 to Southern Methodist and 7-6 to Louisiana State.

After a dull first quarter, Arkansas defeated Houston by waiting for and then methodically cashing in on the breaks.

Walker plunged over from the 1 after a fumble recovery on the Houston 45 in the third period. Benson then directed a 74-yard final period drive and passed to end Walter Matthews from the 7 for the last touchdown.

Walker kicked the first extra point but Preston Carpenter and Benson missed the others. Arkansas, meanwhile, threw up a defense that prevented Houston from crossing the Porker 25-yard line. A fumble stopped a 34-yard Houston drive at that point in the first period. The Porkers also held for downs and took over on their 26 just before launching their final touchdown march. Just before the final gun, halfback Kenny Stegall returned an Arkansas kickoff 58 yards to the Porker 33 but time ran out.

Arkansas' only other serious threat came in the third period when Walker intercepted a Houston pass and returned 31 yards to the Cougar 14. After a penalty, Walker passed to Carpenter for 16 yards and a first down on the 4 but Houston held and took over on the 2.

In directing the first touchdown, Lockhart handled the ball on 8 out of 9 plays. He gained 17 yards in 5 carries and passed 13 yards to end Billy Lyons for a first down on the 6. His scoring race around right end was on fourth down.

STEERS PLAYED BEFORE 45,224

A record crowd of 45,224 paying customers poured through the gates at Steer Stadium Thursday afternoon to watch Big Spring defeat Sweetwater, 21-7.

Normal seating capacity of the plant is 4,200. An end zone bleacher section thrown up at the north end of the plant seats an extra 250.

The massive turnout, which lined the fences on each side of the gridiron four deep and overflowed into the south end zone, topped by 1,646 the next biggest crowd in Steer Stadium history. The record (4,754) had been established only the previous week in the game with Snyder.

Total receipts at the Thanksgiving Day game here came to $5,702.20. After expenses, each school realized $2,594.58 from the contest.

School officials estimated 6,800 persons saw the game, including park attendants, ticket sellers, policemen, concessionaires and etc.

In ten games over the season, the Steers played to a total of 45,224 paying customers, far and away the biggest regular season's attendance in history for a local club.

Of that aggregate, 24,400 saw the Steers in action in five home games, compared to 20,824 in five starts on the road.

Following is a breakdown on the road and home attendance:

Hunting Is Poor For Most Nimrods, Survey Reveals

Most Big Spring hunters appear to be returning empty-handed from their trips down to the Hill Country this year. Even those who took as much as a week off report they saw only deer. Leases that up to this year had always provided good hunting produced no results.

Wayne Allen, who hunted on a lease southwest of Mason with six others, none of whom had any luck, checked the locker plant in Mason. The people there reported 238 bucks in storage the fourth day of the season compared to 2,231 last year. Allen reported their lease had had .56 of an inch of rain all this year.

Not all of the area was that bad off, however. Allen and others took a lease west of Harper, just over the Gillespie County line in Kimble County, for next year. Eleven bucks and three turkeys had been bagged on that lease this year. And the deer were fat ones, too.

Over in Mason County some small bucks bagged by some hunters were seen lying on the ground, being so poor that the hunters didn't bother to take them home with them.

Jack Y. Smith reports that a lease he and nine others have twelve miles south of Llano had no signs of any bucks. It was the first time in ten years they came back empty-handed.

Several others report similar stories.

Our Westrook correspondent reports that the Rev. Clinton Eastman bagged a 10-point buck, one of the largest registered this year, on a Mason County deer hunt last week.

Irish Rise Up To Smash SC

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 27 (AP)—Notre Dame's relentless fighting Irish, forced to come from behind three times, today sprung sophomore halfback Jim Morse loose for a 72-yard touchdown scamper in the final six minutes of the game to down stubborn Southern California 23-17.

The hard-fought victory over the well-drilled Trojans was Notre Dame's fourth triumph in a row from their West Coast rivals, who will enter the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day against unbeaten Ohio State with a record of 8-3.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

I think Carl Coleman deserves the warmest accolades Big Spring can give him, for having brought the finest kind of football to the city for the past two seasons . . . In many ways, this has been a better football season than last year, despite the fact that the Steers lost 22 men via graduation in the spring of '53 . . . I can remember a very short time ago when Big Spring was having to play schools like Tahoka . . . No other school wanted to meet us, because our football had gone so far down hill . . . I can remember Tom Proctor, then the coach at Coahoma, asking me a few years ago, "What has happened to Big Spring, anyway? When I was in high school in Abilene, we used to dread playing them because they were really rough. They don't play that way anymore, do they?" . . . The Steers now have won 17 games, compared to five losses and a tie in the past two seasons . . . Few schools have done better anywhere in the state . . . The Steers have had the material, you say? . . . Then give Coleman credit for getting that material out and developing it to the point where they would make a worthy opponent for any schoolboy team in the land . . . Sure, he is not without his critics . . . Some tell you he has very few plays and runs them with monotonous regularity . . . He has the plays, alright—informed coaches say he knows more plays than any coach in Texas, but do you enter a Mack truck in a sports car show? . . . If you are lacking in speed but have brutal power, you build a ball club to use that power . . . At Pecos, Carl had a speedy, shifty ball club because he had the "horses," the boys who were jet-propelled . . . He had little speed to speak of here, so he concentrated on over-powering the opposition . . . The opposition knew what was coming but generally did a poor job of stopping it . . . Were the choice left to me, I wouldn't trade him or his sides for any staff in the state, and you can quote me on that.

When Big Spring's grid fortunes dipped to a post-war low, the coaching certainly was not at fault, and the boys tried as hard as anyone. They were working under a handicap, however. The big improvement came when Coleman sold the school board on his "system," which simply meant starting football down in the grades. He said it would take him four or five years to produce a winner here. The Steers began to hit their stride in his fourth year and, last season, he took them to the state finals.

Norton Picks Three Aggie Exes

Pat Gerald, Sweetwater's able mentor, may call it quits any time now . . . The wolves are howling . . . Some of the malcontents there say his teams get so close, but never quite make it to the throne room . . . He's never won a conference championship since he arrived at Sweetwater but his teams are consistently good . . . The honeymoon may be over at Odessa High School, too . . . There were reports of dissension on the Broncho club, but they may have quieted down after the win over Midland Thursday . . . The Odessa team lost four games and was tied in another in a ten-game schedule . . . Broncho ball-club—expected to do better — by Odessa fans, that is . . . Hogner Norton, the former Texas Aggie grid mentor, has picked his idea of an all-time Southwest Conference football team . . . It consists of Jim Benton, Arkansas, (1937), and Hubert Bechtel, Texas, (1945), end; Joe Boyd, A&M (1939) and I. B. Hale, TCU (1939), tackles; Botchey Koch, Baylor (1930) and Joe Routt, A&M (1937), guards; Ki Aldrich, TCU (1939), center; Sammy Baugh, TCU (1936), quarterback; Bill Wallace, Rice (1934), and Doak Walker, SMU, (1948), halfbacks; and John Kimbrough A&M (1940) . . . Only 3,816 paid to see the Sweetwater-Breckenridge football game in Sweetwater recently . . . That was far smaller than the estimated turnout . . . Count Yogi, the eccentric golfer who gave an exhibition at the Country Club the past week, says this will probably be the last year he'll be on tour . . . Takes too much out of him, he explains . . . Yogi says he wins most of his matches from club pros and club champions by heckling them . . . The strategy didn't work against C. A. DeWees here, however . . .

Dozen Mustangs Wind Up Eligibility

Colors adorning the uniforms of the Big Spring Broncos next season will undergo a radical and eye-catching change . . . Plainview is already well along with its plans toward fielding a team in the W-T-N-M League next season . . . A total of 143 season boxes have been sold . . . Alph Page, a member of Snyder's first football team (1923), now resides here . . . It's being openly predicted that Carl Schlemeyer, the Odessa passing wizard now attending SMU, will never play varsity football . . . He reportedly will consider all offers in pro baseball after school is out this year . . . Schlemeyer, our informant adds, wouldn't be in school now were it not for his parents, who are trying to prevail upon him to get a college education . . . Junior High School Basketball Coach Charles Carraway thought Christmas arrived early this year when he launched workouts . . . One of the boys who checked in for workouts was tall Jan Shursen, who could be the finest basketball player here, in time, since the days of Tommy Hutto . . . Up for the holidays, Culin Grigsby, the former Steer cager, says he is very interested in booking games around Christmas time with Coahoma and Forsan . . . Now coach at Cranfill Gap, Culin says his prospects are "pretty good" . . . Good as the electric scoreboard is at Steer Stadium, it could be improved with a clock showing the time left in each quarter . . . The present time-piece fails at the most inopportune times . . . H.C.J.C.'s gym is equipped with the ideal kind of time-piece . . . Of the Sweetwater Mustangs who saw action here Thursday, 12 will not return in 1955 . . . They are backs Scott Hamilton and Robert Brothers, end Clay Jack Reeves, tackles Roland Powell and Cloyd Shilling, guards Connie Rudd, Gary Carson, Donnie Stone and John Chance and center Carrol Green.

Con Bruno In Ring Debut Here Tuesday Evening

Con Bruno, a newcomer to the local ring who hails from Athens, Greece, teams with Fireball Frankie Murdock in an Australian Tag match with George Cutts and Chet Wallick at the Big Spring Wrestling Arena Tuesday night.

Curtis made a decided hit here last week when he overcame the hated Bob Geigel, the Sioux City Assassin.

George, who claims Vicksburg, Miss., as his home, was outweighed by the Iowa but he proved quicker than Geigel, who had been conducting a reign of terror in the local battle pits for the previous month.

Bruno's ability is unknown here but if he's anywhere nearby as good as another Athenian, Jim London, he's bound to be good.

Wallick was bounced around by George Overhuls last week but apparently it was just what he needed. He came to life and went after Overhuls with such enthusiasm that George rang up the flag of surrender.

Murdock needs no introduction. He tries to play the role of the Big Oaf in the ring but he's shrewd and, often as not, outthinks the opposition. He's been known to commit a foul against himself and then blame it on his opponent. More than once, the referee yielded to his accusations and penalized the other party.

In the 45-minute semi-windup, Toro Ferris, the Latin-American who now lives in Amarillo, takes on Hal McKim of Tulsa, who is making a return appearance in the local ring.

In the opening match of the evening, down for 8:15 p.m., Wallick and Bruno have it in a 15-minute tussle. The winner will be determined in one fall.

Boston Star

A newcomer to the lineup of the Boston Whirlwinds, who appear here as part of the Harlem Globe Trotters' show on Dec. 13, is the celebrated Bevo Francis (left), formerly of Rio Grande College, pictured here with Newt Oliver, who coached him at Rio Grande and who is with the touring troupe now.

Dec. 13 Game Ducats To Go On Sale Soon

Clarence (Bevo) Francis, who will appear here with the Boston Whirlwinds against the Harlem Globe Trotters at the High School Gymnasium on Monday, Dec. 13, has made the transition from a sensational college performer to a solid pro in good shape.

Take the word of Abe Saperstein, "Mr. Basketball" himself, who owns the fabulous Harlem Globetrotters and the Whirlwinds, which makes him Bevo's boss. Dynamic Abe signed the six-foot nine-inch star and his Rio Grande (O.) College coach, Newt Oliver, to a $30,000 collective pact last April for this season after they had quit the tiny college after two years of headline-writing.

"Am I satisfied with the deal?" repeated Saperstein in reply to a question. "More than satisfied. We used Bevo and Newt ahead of time on our outdoor baseball parks tour last summer upon our return from overseas and they showed me enough to more than warrant our deal. Francis is becoming greater every day as he acquires more and more pro seasoning and Oliver is proving himself to be a solid coach, as qualified to handle pros as he did collegians."

Bevo was expelled from Rio Grande last April 12 "for scholastic reasons" shortly after he had announced he might have to go to work to support his wife and child. Oliver, who had coached him through high school and the two wonder years at Rio Grande and his close pal and adviser, promptly announced his resignation as athletic director and coach. The two then signed the pact with Saperstein.

Bevo has been the center of a swirling controversy since he started playing for Rio Grande College in the 1952-53 season. He scored 1,954 points in 39 games for a new record, but the National College Athletic Association turned thumbs down on the mark, claiming there were not enough four-year colleges among the opposition. Bevo's average per game was 50.1.

Last season Oliver arranged a much stiffer schedule but again Bevo broke loose to kick over a number of records. He scored 1,255 in 27 games for an average of 46.5—a new record for smaller college players. This time the N. C. A. A. recognized the feat along with a flock of other new marks for Bevo, such as most field goals, 444; most free throws made, 367; most points in one game, 113; most field goals in one game, 38; and most free throws in one game, 37.

Priced at $2 each, tickets for the banner attraction will go on sale next Wednesday at Dibrell's Sporting Goods Store and The Record Shop. A sellout for the show looms. The gym will seat about 1,800.

The 2 1/2 hour show, which will include a basketball doubleheader and a variety show, is sponsored by the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The fabulous Globe Trotters will be making their first appearance in Big Spring.

Crusaders Tumbled By Boston, 31-13

BOSTON, Nov. 27 (U)—Tom Magnarelli scored four touchdowns as he fired a brutal Boston College ground attack that wore down Holy Cross today 31-13 in the 51st football meeting before a standing room crowd of 40,642 at Fenway Park.

The rugged B. C. Eagles, gaining their best season since 1942, put the game out of reach on the fourth play of the second period when Magnarelli burst 31 yards over left tackle to give the Eagles a 16-0 advantage.

Jerry Barron (20) is there to stop McNeal, in event he's needed. No. 75 is Roland Powell, Sweetwater. Big Spring won, 21-7.

Decatur Faces HC Hawks Here Monday Night

Coach Harold Davis will give his high-scoring HCJC basketball offense another test here Monday night, at which time the Hawks tangle with the Decatur Indians in an 8 o'clock engagement. The Hawks will boast a slight height advantage over the Warriors but the visitors may more than make up for it with speed. Six of the ten players Decatur will send here are sophomores but two freshmen have apparently won starting berths on the Decatur team.

Brumbelow Booked For Grid Banquet

Mike Brumbelow, the former assistant coach at TCU who now serves as head coach at Texas Western College in El Paso, will come here Thursday, Dec. 2, to serve as principal speaker at the annual Lions' Club Football banquet.

MIKE BRUMBELLOW

The party, held annually for Big Spring High School graders and their coaches, will take place at the Settles Hotel, starting at 7:30 p.m. Brumbelow is well known in this area. He is a former resident of Midland, where he operated a sporting goods store with Tex Carleton.

Mike was suggested for the head coaching job at SMU after Rusty Russell was ousted but discouraged such talk, with thanks. He has done what is considered to be an outstanding coaching job at Western. Last year, the Miners vanquished Mississippi Southern in the Sun Bowl game, 37-14.

This season, his club has beaten Sul Ross, 35-14; McMurry, 27-6; North Texas, 6-0; New Mexico A&M, 12-7; Hardin-Simmons, 20-7; Arizona, 41-21; and West Texas, 33-13; while losing to Arizona State, 34-27; Texas Tech, 55-28; and Trinity, 20-14.

The banquet is being held much earlier this year than at any time in recent years. Ordinarily, it is set for late January or early February.

Engineers Win Over Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 27 (AP)—A 19-yard pass from Wade Mitchell to Henry Hair gave Georgia Tech a 7-3 football victory over Georgia's fierce Bulldogs today, keeping Tech among the nation's top bowl candidates.

Georgia's rugged line and a muddy field combined to stop Tech's racehorse running game. But Mitchell's perfect peg and Hair's fine catch in the end zone were all Tech needed for a come-from-behind triumph over its Southeastern Conference arch-rival.

Rugged line play by Georgia bottled up Tech's offense for the entire first half and the Bulldogs led 3-0 at intermission on Joe Graff's 30-yard field goal. Both touchdowns were set up by fumble recoveries.

Rain which had been falling all day stopped shortly after the kickoff, but the field was slippery and players had trouble holding onto the ball.

Georgia fullback Bobby Garrard recovered Johnny Menger's fumble on Tech's 11 in the second quarter. The Bulldogs gained only one yard in three plays and Graff came on to boot his three-pointer. Graff had tried a field goal in the first period but it flew wide.

After intermission, Georgia quarterback Jimmy Harper fumbled on the first play from scrimmage and guard Franklin Brooks grabbed the ball for Tech at the 19.

Mitchell, who had been rushing a badly bruised chest since the Alabama game, then hit Hair, his right end, with Tech's only pass completion of the game.

Edmonton Trounces Favored Montreal

TORONTO, Nov. 27 (AP)—Jackie Parker, one of Mississippi State's all-time greats, scooped up a wild lateral pass with three minutes to play and scooted 85 yards for a touchdown that gave the Edmonton Eskimos a 26-25 victory over the heavily favored Montreal Alouettes in Canada's Grey Cup football classic today.

The injury-riddled Eskimos, trailing by nine points in the final quarter, rallied strongly against a team called the best ever developed in Canada.

Flock Defeats Baylor Bears

WACO, Nov. 27 (AP)—Dicky Moegle and a steel-tough Rice defense crushed Baylor's dreams 20-14 today and handed the Southwest Conference football championship to Arkansas undisputed.

Moegle scored two touchdowns, one on a great 70-yard punt return, and blasted the sagging Baylor line for 125 yards. The Rice defense stopped one of the finest passing attacks in the conference as the Owls intercepted five of Billy Hooper's throws.

Baylor had a chance to tie for the conference championship if it won today — and also prospects of an invitation to the Sugar Bowl. But the Owls, with Moegle and giant Jack Throckmorton leading the way, were not to be denied.

Rice led 13-7 at the half but Baylor shot in front on a 99-yard touchdown surge late in the third period after stopping Rice on the 1 with a tremendous goal line stand.

Then came the break Rice was waiting for. L. G. Dupre, the hard running Baylor back, fumbled on the Baylor 39 and James Peters, one of the greatest defensive players of the day, fell on the ball.

With Moegle chipping in with 15 vital yards, the Owls rushed to the winning touchdown. Moegle made it with a 7-yard blast at right tackle.

Baylor wasn't whipped yet, however. After Throckmorton had intercepted a pass on the Baylor 28 and Rice thumped down to the 12 only to be held and forced to try a field goal, the Golden Bears staged one last wild drive, with Del Shofner, the great sophomore, doing most of it with a 62-yard dash.

The Bears pounded to the Rice 7 but 4 tries netted only 4. It was Moegle who made the tackle as Shofner tried left end in the last desperate effort to score.

Rice crashed to 285 yards rushing and 31 in the air while Baylor got 286 on the ground and 51 passing in an offensive duel that kept a crowd of 24,000 in a continuous uproar.

As the result of today's loss, Baylor fell down to a tie with Rice for third place in the final standings. It was another bitter disappointment for the Golden Bears, who haven't even shared a championship in 30 years.

SW Grid Gate Shows A Gain

DALLAS, Nov. 27 (AP)—Southwest Conference football attendance this season lacked less than 10,000 of reaching the all-time high set in 1951.

Thirty-seven home games drew 1,207,197, a marked gain over 1953 when 36 games pulled 1,156,187. The total in 1951 was 1,277,206 for 36 games.

The game average this year was the third highest in history, 34,264. The highest was in 1950 when it was 35,686 while 1951 showed 35,478.

Only Texas A&M failed to outdraw 1953. The Aggies, who won only one game all season, had 89,000 for five games. Last year five games drew 163,000.

Arkansas had the biggest increase, drawing 29,114 more for five games this year than it did for six last season. Baylor had the second biggest increase, 132,000 in five games compared to 105,301 last season. Rice had the next highest gain with 274,000 for six games against 253,000 for the same number of contests last year.

Southern showed the next best increase, playing to 16,500 more. Southern Methodist had 255,237 for six games compared to 168,000 for four last season. The game average was up 543.

Texas Christian drew 5,000 more than last year.

CAGE TEAMS IN SW POISED FOR PLAY

The Southwest Conference shoves off on another basketball campaign next week with Arkansas the first member to swing into action.

The Razorbacks play Northwestern Louisiana State at Fayetteville Monday night. Wednesday night Rice opens against Lamar Tech at Beaumont. Southern Methodist plays Austin College at Dallas, Texas Christian takes on Abilene Christian at Fort Worth and Texas clashes with Hardin-Simmons at Austin. Arkansas will entertain the Phillips Oilers.

Thursday night Texas A&M takes the court for the first time against University of Houston at College Station while Baylor engages Hardin-Simmons at Waco.

Friday night Southern Methodist plays Texas Wesleyan at Dallas and Texas Christian meets Oklahoma City University at Oklahoma City.

Saturday night Baylor and Oklahoma tangle at Norman and Texas takes on Oklahoma A&M at Austin.

The Aggies came close to scoring in the final quarter as A&M fullback Earl Lunsford, the Missouri Valley's leading ground gainer, led his team's longest drive. A&M rolled from his own 19 to the OU 35 before losing the ball.

The game ends the season for both teams. Although Oklahoma won the Big Seven Conference title, it cannot go to a bowl because of league rules.

Arkansas clinched the host role in the Cotton Bowl two weeks ago but it backed into a clear conference championship today when Rice licked Baylor 20-14. Baylor could have shared the title by winning.

Arkansas and Georgia Tech will each draw down something like $100,000 for appearing in the game. Arkansas will have to kick back to the Southwest Conference.

Georgia Tech Picked As Arkansas Foe

By WILBUR MARTIN

DALLAS, Nov. 27 (AP)—Georgia Tech tonight accepted an invitation to meet Arkansas New Year's Day in the Cotton Bowl football game.

The Yellow Jackets were selected minutes after they defeated Georgia 7-3 today to end the season as runnerup in the Southeast Conference with a record of seven victories and three defeats.

Arkansas, champion of the Southwest Conference, finished with eight victories and two defeats, including today's 19-0 decision over the University of Houston.

Two of Georgia Tech's losses were by a single point, to Florida 12-13 and Duke 20-21. The Yellow Jackets also bowed to Kentucky 6-13.

This will be the second appearance of Georgia Tech in the Cotton Bowl and the second for Arkansas. In 1943, Texas beat Georgia Tech 14-7. In the 1947 game, Arkansas battled Louisiana State to a scoreless draw.

Navy, Auburn, Penn State and West Virginia had been other teams considered for the Cotton Bowl.

Felix R. McKnight, president of the Cotton Bowl Assn. Committee, announced the choice of Georgia Tech.

Earlier this year, Coach Bobby Dodd's Yellow Jackets defeated Southern Methodist University in the Cotton Bowl 10-7 in a regularly scheduled game.

Arkansas clinched the host role in the Cotton Bowl two weeks ago but it backed into a clear conference championship today when Rice licked Baylor 20-14. Baylor could have shared the title by winning.

Arkansas and Georgia Tech will each draw down something like $100,000 for appearing in the game. Arkansas will have to kick back to the Southwest Conference.

The Razorbacks were undefeated through their first seven games, which included a 6-0 decision over the Southeast Conference champion Mississippi.

Moegle scored two touchdowns, one on a great 70-yard punt return, and blasted the sagging Baylor line for 125 yards. The Rice defense stopped one of the finest passing attacks in the conference as the Owls intercepted five of Billy Hooper's throws.

Baylor had a chance to tie for the conference championship if it won today — and also prospects of an invitation to the Sugar Bowl. But the Owls, with Moegle and giant Jack Throckmorton leading the way, were not to be denied.

With Moegle chipping in with 15 vital yards, the Owls rushed to the winning touchdown. Moegle made it with a 7-yard blast at right tackle.

ROBISON GAINED 2,497 YARDS IN TWO YEARS

In his two-year career as a Big Spring back, Carlisle (Frosty) Robison ran for total gains of 2,497 yards.

The all-state halfback's average pickup per game in the 23-game span (including three playoff games in 1953) amounted to 108.6 yards.

In 148 carries in ten games the past season, the 200-pound senior gained a total of 1,189 paces for an average of eight yards per carry.

In ten regular-season games in 1953, Frosty advanced the ball 986 yards for an average gain of 7.3. In three playoff contests in 1953, Robison add 322 yards in 56 carries to his aggregate.

His rushing aggregate this season broke all records for a Big Spring back. The old mark had been on the boards just one year. J. C. Armistead established the previous record in 1953, when he carried the ball 188 times for 1,059 yards and an average gain of 5.6 yards.

In two years time, Robison scored a total of 242 points for another all-time Big Spring record.

In conference play alone, against seven opponents, Robison chalked up ground gains of 955 yards. His best effort was against Snyder the night of Nov. 19, when he made 206 yards.

Brick Johnson boasted an average gain of 7.5 yards and probably would have wound up with much better running aggregates had he not been injured in several games. He appeared in only nine games and did not see action in the Lamesa start until the second half.

The overall gains of this year's Steer club compared favorably with that of the great 1953 club. Last year's team picked up ground gains of 2,720 paces in ten regular season games compared to 2,703 for this year's team.

In aerial gains, this year's club proved slightly the better, having gained 571 paces to 513 for the 1953 team. Over-all gains favored this year's team, 3,274 to 3,233.

This year, the combined opposition carved out ground yardage of 1,376 yards against the Steers. Aerial thrusts against the Steers gave the enemy as added 652 for a combined total of 2,028 paces.

Last year, the Steers yielded but 1,047 yards on the ground and 878 yards through the air for a total of 1,925 yards.

This year's Steers were pretty tough on enemy passers, too. They intercepted 18 enemy aerials while only seven of their own were gathered in by the foe.

RAIDERS BATTER COWBOYS, 61-19

ABILENE, Tex., Nov. 27 (AP)—Texas Tech sent a half-dozen members of its talent-rich backfield flashing to touchdowns today as the Red Raiders beat Hardin-Simmons 61-19 in the highest scoring game in Border Conference history.

It was the second straight week that the Raiders scored 61 points, and it gave them the Border Conference title for the second straight season.

Six difference backs and an end got in on the scoring as the Raiders ripped off two touchdowns in the first period, two in the second, one in the third and four more in the final quarter.

Plugging through holes opened most often by hard hitting tackle Jerry Walker, the Tech runners gained an average of 5.84 yards rushing and added 84 through the air for a total offense of 617 yards. They counted 31 first downs.

An 80-yard pass play from Kenneth Ford to Charles Masseege gave Hardin-Simmons both the first touchdown and the longest play of the game, but the Cowboys had little else to show for the afternoon. They scored twice more in the third period but were behind 34-7 when the tallies came.

Masseege scored two H—SU touchdowns and Rodney Williams took the third across.

FIGHTING OKLAHOMA AGGIES FINALLY LOSE TO SOONERS

BY SAUL FELDMAN

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 27 (AP)—The Oklahoma Aggies, not given a chance to play in the same stadium with the powerhouse Oklahoma football team, threw up an amazing defense against the Sooners before going down to the nation's No. 3 club 14-0 today.

The Sooners were four-touchdown favorites, but in only one quarter were they able to score, making both their touchdowns in the second period.

The victory was Oklahoma's 19th straight and gave the Sooners their first all-victorious season since 1948.

Oklahoma has been a slow-starting club, finishing strong, but they would never overcome the stubbornness of the undermanned Aggies, who never let up the pressure. Oklahoma quarterback Gene Calame scored his team's touchdowns on 1-yard plunges and halfback Buddy Leaks kicked both extra points for all of the game's scoring. The game was exciting enough to keep the spectators in their seats until the last play.

The Aggies came close to scoring in the final quarter as A&M fullback Earl Lunsford, the Missouri Valley's leading ground gainer, led his team's longest drive. A&M rolled from his own 19 to the OU 35 before losing the ball.

The game ends the season for both teams. Although Oklahoma won the Big Seven Conference title, it cannot go to a bowl because of league rules.

IPAA Predicts Rise In Winter Demands

By CHARLES HASLET
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA) predicts an increase of about four per cent in total demand for petroleum products this winter over the 1953-54 winter.

The IPAA, in this instance, figures the winter season as the October-through-March period. Weather, however, will be a key factor in the season's picture, the IPAA said.

Midland Prospect Flows In Simpson

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1-L Scharbauer, North Midland County, multiphase discovery well, one-half mile north of Midland, swabbed and flowed 251 barrels of water in 24 hours from the Simpson sand at 12,584-625 feet.

The well test it has swabbed 119 barrels of new oil and 97 barrels of load water in 15 1/2 hours. Operator is continuing to swab and flow to clean out.

Tests Are Due In Dean Sand

Tests of the Dean sand are due this coming week at Ray A. Albaugh's No. 1 R. B. Adams, wildcat in Southeast Dawson County.

The wildcat has already proven for production in the Ellenburger at 12,720-790 feet. On the last gauge from that zone it produced 116 barrels of oil in 13 hours, flowing through a one-half inch tubing choke. No water was developed during that test.

Devonian Wildcat Hits In Gaines

Mid-Century Petroleum Corporation No. 1-A Terrell County School Land has been completed as a flowing producer in the Amersbach (Devonian) field of Southeast Gaines County.

Methodists To Hold District Meet Monday

Methodists of the Big Spring District will hold their annual district conference Monday at the First Methodist Church in Snyder.

Several young ministers are to be licensed to preach during the conference, said Dr. O. W. Carter, district superintendent.

The program will include reports on addresses from Dr. Hubert Johnson, president of the Methodist Home (for children) at Waco; Dr. T. M. Johnston, Abilene, head of the ministers retirement fund for the Northwest Texas Conference; Rev. Charles Lutrick, Lubbock, conference executive secretary; and Rev. Don Davidson, director of Gold Cross work, which has to do with charitable activities for hospitals. The Texas Mission Home and Training School at San Antonio also will be represented.

The conference starts at 8:30 a.m. Monday. The morning worship service will be at 11:30 a.m. with Dr. Marvin L. Boyd, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Midland, to preach. In the afternoon, Rev. N. S. Daniel of Andrews will speak on "The Call to the Ministry."

The young preachers will be licensed following Rev. Daniel's sermon. In charge of the singing will be Roy Belights of Lorraine. Reports will be heard during the day from all of the 30 preachers and charges of the district.

The Big Spring District includes churches in Midland, Lorraine, Andrews, Garden City, Lamesa, Snyder, Big Spring and other communities in the area.

Use Of First Class Postage Is Urged

First class postage is the best method of mailing insurance you can get, explained E. C. Boatler here today.

The postmaster was discussing postage on Christmas cards. He listed five advantages which three cent stamps have over two cent stamps.

1. Greetings sent first class will be processed and delivered quicker.

2. They will be forwarded to another address if necessary.

3. If unable to forward, the post office will return them to the sender.

4. The sender's address on the envelope will assist others to keep their address book up to date.

5. A written message can be enclosed with the card.

None of these postal privileges are permitted with third class mail, Boatler pointed out.

Auto Reported Stolen Is Found

A car stolen Friday evening from A. M. Everett, 209 E. 4th, was found abandoned just past the city limits on West Highway 20 early Saturday morning.

Everett told officers that the car was taken from the 400 block of Northwest Fourth sometime before 11 p.m. Police reason that someone wanted a ride to the west side of town and only wanted to "borrow" the car.

R. W. Jennings, 1008 Bluebonnet, told police that two hub caps were stolen Friday night from his 1951 Oldsmobile.

Tonsillitis Most Prevalent Disease

Tonsillitis, with 34 cases, headed the list of communicable diseases reported during the past week to the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit by local physicians.

In all there were 127 cases reported, and other communicable diseases high on the list included diarrhea, 28; bronchitis, 18; pneumonia, 12; gastroenteritis, 15; and chicken pox, 11.

The report also included eight cases of influenza, one of syphilis, four of measles, four of mumps, one of hepatitis, and three of trench mouth.

Alias Santa Claus

Santa Claus begins to take on the appearance of many individuals, about this time of year. The alias may be a professional man shopping for his wife; another businessman wondering if an appliance wouldn't satisfy everybody in the house; women looking for gifts for husbands, and children and friends.

Yes, it's that season of hustle and scurry, of making lists, and checking ads, and trying to find a remembrance that will make someone else happy. It's part of the tradition of the season—it's shopping time, when so many people are just Alias Santa Claus.

Big Spring stores are going into the Christmas shopping season with generous stocks and wide selections. They are combining offerings to make Big Spring a "Christmas City"—one that will be busier and busier these next few weeks, with holiday shoppers.

DOLLY IN THE WINDOW—Jo Anne Jones, (above) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Jones, had a direct mental telepathy line to Santa Claus when she was photographed looking longingly at a big baby doll in a downtown window. She may not be old enough to do any shopping of her own but she can scout around for lots of ideas to include in messages to Santa.

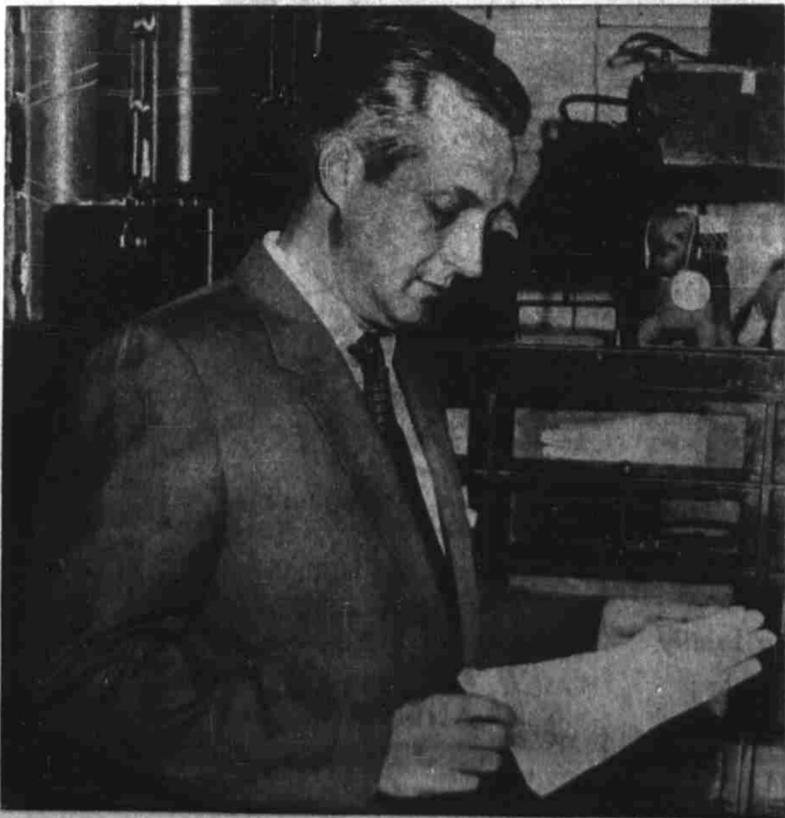

SWEATER FOR DAD—Pondering how this bright yellow sweater would look under a Christmas tree and on Dad are Deborah Dean and her mother, Mrs. Jimmie Dean, (photo at right). Brighter clothes and more accessories are seen in the men's departments these days, so if there's a man in your family, the packages under your tree are apt to be just as gay on the inside as the outside wrappings. (Photos by Keith McMillin).

NO FAIR PEEKING, MRS. MARCUM—Hope we're not giving away any Christmas secrets in picturing Dr. C. B. Marcum (below) shopping for gloves! These are worth looking at, even though you're not interested in buying them. Made of white kid, they are encrusted with pearls and "glitter"—just the thing for evening and holiday wear.

TV OR NOT TV—That is the question with A. S. Smith (above) who is getting checked out on now to operate a video set just in case he decides to purchase one for his home for Christmas. If you're looking for something to please the whole family a TV might be just the thing to solve your problem.

REST STOP—The shoe department is always a welcome stop to weary Christmas shoppers. Already loaded with parcels, Mrs. Ira Thurman and Mrs. M. L. Patterson look happily relieved to have found two empty chairs. Mrs. Thurman looks at a pair of dressy sandals she may be contemplating as a Yule gift to herself.

Miss Weiss Says Vows With Bill Leonard

LUBBOCK — Billye Catherine Weiss, daughter of Mrs. H. S. Weiss, 3213 25th St., and the late Herman Weiss, and William Daniel Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Leonard of Big Spring, were married in a double ring ceremony read at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night.

The Rev. David L. Zacharias read the double ring ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church. Baskets of white chrysanthemums decorated the altar, backed by palms and candelabra. Mrs. Elton Plowman, organist, played "Serenade," "Thine Alone," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Claire de Lune." She accompanied Elton Plowman, who sang "All For You" and "If I Could Tell You."

Given in marriage by the Rev. Len W. Orr, her brother-in-law, the bride wore an original gown of midnight imported silk satin and Alencon lace, fashioned with a portrait neckline of lace over satin. Lace covered the bodice back and extended into a wide panel, forming the train.

Her veil of shirred illusion was attached to a bonnet-type cap trimmed with illusion ruffles and seed pearls.

Attendants of the bride were Mrs. Len Orr of Gladewater, a sister; Mrs. Charles B. Fraser Jr. of Caldwell, also a sister and Lois Parker of Tulsa.

They wore identical strapless dresses of emerald green net and taffeta. The velvet bodices featured heart-shaped necklines framed with net ruffling, and the waist-length skirts were tiers of tulle. Boleros were of matching velvet.

Their headresses were of green velvet, trimmed with ostrich tips and rhinestones.

Ruth Ann Fraser and Beth Orr, nieces of the bride, were flower girls and wore white taffeta dresses. They carried ribbon baskets of petals.

Robert D. Leonard attended his brother as best man. Ushers were

Don Cossack Chorus To Open Concert Association Series

Members of the Big Spring Concert Association will hear the first number of the concert season Wednesday evening. The Platoff Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers will be presented at 8:30 p.m. at the Municipal Auditorium. This hour was set by the committee to accommodate the church groups.

Now on their 15th anniversary tour, the chorus will probably conclude their season with an Easter concert in New York City. They have a varied program which contains numbers to please all listeners. This ranges from the anthems of the Greek Orthodox Church through haunting folk songs to boisterous regimental songs and peasant dances.

Tickets may still be obtained for the series from the committee members. Mrs. Clyde Angel is president of the association. No tickets for single performances will be sold. Prices are $10 for a dual membership, which entitles two persons to see all three presentations, $6 for a single membership and $3 for students.

Other attractions included in the season will be the piano team of Ferrante and Teicher to play here Feb. 11 of next year, and "The Calne Mutiny Court Martial" to be presented Mar. 21. In the cast will be Paul Douglas, Wendell Corey and Steve Brodie.

Heavenly Blue Is Keynote Of New Home Of The John Davises

When you first enter the new home of the John Davises at 601 Edward Circle, you'll think you have just walked into heaven and that it is really blue.

Moonstone blue is used extensively for carpeting and walls and gives a quiet effect and excellent background for use of other color. The living and dining area make a right angle with each other and at that angle, floor to ceiling windows are draped with white fortisan sheer curtains and side draperies of moonstone blue fortisan sheers with a handpainted design. This is repeated at the other living room window.

Following the contemporary line, the living room features a charcoal sofa accented with silk cushions of pink, blue and white.

Outstanding are the huge white lamps flanking the sofa. They are custom-made copies of old Italian candle-holders and are topped with white shades edged in charcoal.

An integral part of the sofa and lamp grouping will be black and white Chinese etchings to be placed on the wall behind the sofa. These haven't arrived yet. The Davises have been in the house only about a month and a few of the finishing touches are yet to be added.

Soft indirect lighting in the living area comes from under the drop cornices around three walls. Two pink chairs give a color contrast in the living room. They are placed on either side of a mahogany step table with pink marble top holding a pink and white lamp.

An eye-catcher upon entering is the mural on the far wall of the long living room. It is a flowering tree that enhances the extra large fireplace.

Of interest in the dining room are the hand-colored engravings hung on large brass bands on either side of the china cabinet.

Very appetizing looking is the breakfast room with its white wrought iron paraffin chairs and glass-topped table. The walls are a luscious pink and drapery is a handprinted chints in a fruit pattern. Chair cushions are covered with this fabric, and some of the fruit design has been cut out and applied to a section of the wall.

Any housewife would call Mrs. Davis' kitchen a dream one. The cabinets are done in pink-toned cherry wood and the surface is white formica. A built-in range is a highlight of this perfect kitchen. Leading off from the kitchen is a complete utility room.

The three bedrooms are all in different schemes. The master bedroom has hand-printed draperies with a butterfly pattern. This pattern has been hand-appliqued and quilted on the white bedspreads. Yellow circular dust ruffles peek out from the spreads. In the adjoining bathroom the curtains are white organdy with appliques of the butterfly pattern. Tile and porcelain, the bath is done in yellow and moonstone blue.

A harlequin theme is used in the bedroom reserved for the Davises' young grandson, John Wesley Deats, who is a frequent visitor. White curtains are trimmed with red, white and blue. Twin lamps and toss pillows also have the harlequin idea.

The guest bedroom is in pink with pastel, voile draperies and the adjoining bath features the same color scheme and draperies.

The decorator, Mrs. E. H. Boulton of Lucelle's, has made use of Mrs. Davis' talent as a pastel artist by using her pictures throughout the home. In the hall is a particularly interesting grouping of eight that blend well with the moonstone blue of the walls.

Total area of the home is approximately 2,200 square feet.

Comfort In Lovely Setting

Mrs. John Davis is shown in the pink portion of her living room. The pink chairs are further enhanced by the pink marble of the step tables and the pink and white lamp.

Eye-Catching

Bon Appetite

The Davises' breakfast room looks good enough to eat with tempting watermelon and other fruits hand-painted on the draperies and repeated on the chair cushions. Curtains are mounted on the walls which are delectable pink. Furniture is white wrought iron.

BALDRIDGE'S
BREAD

a Better Bite in Big Spring!

December Bride-Elect

Mrs. Mamie E. Gandy, 511 E. 17th, is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Billie, to Lt. Robert E. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Nelson, Arden, N.C. The wedding will take place Dec. 13 at the First Methodist Church. Lt. Nelson is stationed at Laughlin Air Force Base in Del Rio. Miss Gandy is employed in the Office of Information Services at Webb Air Force Base.

HI-TALK
By PEGGY HOGAN

The "big" weekend is over now and it sure does feel good to sit back with a relaxed mind, doesn't it?
By the way, let's not forget to hail the Co-Champions of District 1AAA. We're mighty proud of you, boys. Thanks for another wonderful football season and for bringing us with the name of "champs" once more!

Even though we were all so happy over victory, there were 22 boys walking off that field with a little twinge of regret—for there were 22 seniors who played their last game for the black and gold of Big Spring High. Only one more time will they don uniforms for a high school grid game and that's the traditional scrimmage of the Steers against the Exes at the conclusion of spring drills.

One of the highlights of the Homecoming activities was the revealing of the dark secret that had evaded everybody for several days—the announcement and crowning of our Queen, Sue Barnes, a sophomore, was the first person in the history of BSHS to ever receive the honor. Congratulations, Sue, and to your court composed of ladies Lila Turner, Marilou Staggs, Nita Hedleston, Nancy Smith, and Barbara Bowen. Queen Sue received several gifts from local merchants. She was crowned by Mr. Blankenship and then our sacred alma mater, "Dear Old Big Spring High" was played in her honor.

"How are you?" "Well, well, I wouldn't have known you!" Oh, you don't look a day older! This is a sample of the chatter going on at the reception Thursday after the game. Several hundred people seemed to enjoy themselves as they visited one another, renewing old acquaintances. The student council and hostesses wish to thank Gandy's Creamery and the Coca-Cola Bottling Company for donations to the reception punch and also to all the kids who brought cookies. An Exes fund was voluntarily raised during the course of the reception, which amounted to $96.54. This will help future Homecomings.

An executive meeting of the Texas Association of Student Councils will be held Saturday in Austin. Glenn Rogers, serving as vice president of the state, and Mrs. Ratliff, sponsor, will make the trip. They will attend business meetings all day Saturday.

As the busy month of November fades away, the busier month of December comes in view and we immediately think of Christmas. It's practically around the corner and you'll be buying a Christmas tree soon—so why don't you get your order in early with the DeMolays. Tickets for $1 can be purchased from almost any DeMolay as a down payment on your tree.

Several of the dignitaries of our school system were included in a buffet dinner Tuesday night, given by members of Mrs. Anne's third year Homemaking class. A traditional Thanksgiving feast was served to Mr. and Mrs. Whitley, Mr. and Mrs. Worley, Mr. Blankenship, and Mrs. Smith, a food demonstration agent. The homemaking entourage carried a yellow and bronze color theme for the occasion.

Janice Nalley was hostess to a group of girls Friday night at a pollock Sunday School party. The get-together was a combination supper and business meeting of the newly organized Go-Getters Class of the First Baptist Church.

The last minute rush is on for the El Bidos staff. All the members seem to be tearing their hair to make their first deadline, Dec. 7, set by the Stock Company, publishers of the yearbook. If calculations are correct, 44 pages of the "yearbook" will be sent off on time.

Marie Hall, an ex-student of BSHS was home over the holiday weekend from Hockaday, a school in Dallas. She brought along Barbara Hamrick, a classmate from

WADE SIMPSON

CAMPUS CHATTER

By FRANCES WALKER

The Thanksgiving holidays brought to a close a very busy week at HCJC. Although there were only three school days, the last week's calendar included election of favorites, the Jayhawk Booster Parade, an exciting basketball game with Sayre, Okla., and a victory dance.

The favorites will be announced in El Nido Thursday. Nominees for the various honors were as follows: Best All-Around Girl — Myrna Sproul, Jan Burns, Connie Crow, Frances Walker, and Paula Russell; Best All-Around Boy — Frank Hunt, Doyle Scott, Benny Welch, Jim Knotts, and Bob Green.

Yesterday morning very early about 10 girls invaded our peaceful home to grab Janet Hogan out of bed for come-as-you-are breakfast. With hair in pin curls, the pajama-clad gang (giggling all the way) hurried over to Nancy King's for a hot breakfast. The episode was in honor of Nancy's cousin, Sharon Fowler from Oklahoma City. About 18 girls attended.

Wade Simpson stars as our Senior-of-the-Week. Wade's chief activity is his Hi-Y work. He was privileged to go to Europe last summer for a planning meeting of the World Conference of Hi-Y which is to be held in Paris, France, in the summer of '55. Now he is making plans for the trip to Paris, with six other delegates from Big Spring. He is also president of the local Hi-Y Club. Wade is an active DeMolay and member of the Key Club. He plans to use his high scholastic achievements in studying medicine at TCU.

What's the good word? BEAT MIDLAND!!!

Crow: Sophomore Favorite Boy — Oakley Hagood, Paschall Wickard, Ronald Anderson, Rex Gibson, Ted Scott, and Frank Hinkley; Freshman Favorite Girl — Jan Burns, Nell Glover, Paula Russell, Lela Fletcher, and Myrna Sproul; Freshman Favorite Boy — Silas Flournoy, Charlie Rose, James Underwood, Dee Phillips, and Luke Thompson;

Most Beautiful Girl — Mary Ellen Hayes, Myrna Sproul, Myrna Talley, Jan Burns, and Ellouise Carroll; Most Handsome Boy — Bob Green, Phillip Stovall, Phil Gore, Ronald Anderson, and John Curtis.

Tuesday afternoon at 4 p.m. six floats and approximately 30 gaily decorated cars paraded through the Big Spring business district announcing the opening of the 1954-55 Jayhawk basketball season. Members of the team and the cheerleaders were presented in shiny new convertibles provided by local car dealers.

The Lass-O Club float — a large Jayhawk lassooing a championship crown — won the $5 first prize offered by the Student Council for the best float. The Jayhawk Aggie Club, the Student Council, the choir, El Nido and Jayhawk Staffs, and the Circle K Club also entered floats in the parade.

The Jayhawks scored a 102-74 victory over the Sayre, Okla., Yellowjackets Tuesday night. The "B" team also won their bout with a 66-44 score.

Some of our exes at the game were Mini Ola Woods, Margie McDougal, and Frances McClain.

Oakley Hagood and James Underwood visited in Pecos during the holidays. Edwin Elmore and John Pool went deer hunting. Still other Jayhawkers went home for the short vacation.

A famed Swiss entertainer will be featured in an assembly Thursday morning at 9:45 in the college auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

Let's all be in the Hawk gym tomorrow night at 8 o'clock to see the Jayhawks emerge victorious over the fighting Decatur squad.

MRS. RICHARD A. HOUSUM

Gappa-Housum Rites Read At St. Thomas

St. Thomas Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding of Frieda Gappa and Lt. Richard Housum Saturday at 1 p.m. The Rev. William J. Moore read the double-ring vows. Parents of the couple are Mrs. Frances Gappa of Mosinee, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Housum of Colorado Springs, Colo. all of whom were here for the wedding. The altar was decorated with fall flowers and an arch. Nuptial music was organized by Mrs. L. E. Green, organist, and Mrs. Harold G. Talbot, who sang "Ave Maria" and "Pans Angelicus." In-ident sequins, paillettes and pearls were sprinkled over the gown. Fitted sleeves terminated in points at the hands and fastened with tiny self covered buttons. The fully flared skirt was worn over crinolines. The bride's waist length veil was of imported illusion and fell from a coronet of lace embroidered in paillettes and pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of gardenias. Phyllis S. Gappa of Rochester, Minn., sister of the bride, was

Careful Grooming Sets Off The Highest Beauty

HOLLYWOOD — Elizabeth Taylor was recently voted the most beautiful girl in the world. When I was lunching with her and her attractive husband, Michael Wilding, in the MGM commissary the other day, I mentioned this, asking: "How does it feel to be constantly told how beautiful you are?"

"Most of the time that sort of talk is flattery and I don't place much value in it," Elizabeth said as she lifted her deeply fringed blue eyes from the menu. "As for there being one 'most beautiful girl in the world' — that's ridiculous."

"Grooming is essential to everyone who cares anything about how they look," Elizabeth replied, "but it takes time to have a well turned out appearance — especially for me because I am a slow dresser."

"Liz has no conception of time," her husband said reminiscently. "I've known her to be hours late for an engagement."

"I'm trying to be organized," Elizabeth explained, "but it's hard for me not to get distracted. I'll see a chipped nail, start to change the polish on one finger and end up giving myself a manicure."

Elizabeth was wearing no make-up but lipstick and when I remarked about this her husband said,

"When I first met Liz, I wondered why a girl so beautiful felt she needed all that make-up."

"I had a mad crush on Mike," Elizabeth confessed, "and it was an adolescent attempt to add years to my appearance. Between the ages of sixteen and eighteen I did everything I could to look older."

I asked Wilding to tell me what feminine traits appealed to him the most.

"A sense of humor," he said after a pause, "which implies a sense of proportion and balance."

Next on his list he mentioned taste and kindness. "You often find that these traits come as a pair. A woman with taste is never rude."

He also dislikes aggressive women. "I like complete femininity, and," he added, "loyalty."

"Admirable traits," I agreed. "But here you are married to a great beauty and you make no mention of physical appearance."

"Of course I want her to have a pretty face and a nice figure and to be neat. When a girl is sloppy she implies that she is a bit of a stoop."

Elizabeth was wearing a beautifully cut sheath dress with a scoop neckline.

"The best dresses are always simple," she explained. "It takes time to learn to distinguish between plainness and simplicity. A plain dress is unattractive and uninspired — it will never get you compliments. But really chic women always wear well-cut dresses with uncluttered line. It requires much more talent to design a simple gown than a fancy one."

"Black is always safe," Elizabeth continued, "but if you love color or be especially careful about prints. Clothes sense is something which some people are born with — like playing piano by ear — but you can learn how to dress yourself just as you can learn how to read music."

"I would like to be a fashion czar long enough to abolish shoes," Elizabeth exclaimed.

"Even the low-heeled ones?" I asked.

"I've never found a really comfortable shoe," she insisted. "I love to go barefoot and I love foot massage. In fact, I enjoy any kind of massage. When I am in the tub I always rub my body all over with a sponge."

Elizabeth remembered it was time for her ballet class.

"Dancing is so good for you," she said. "It keeps your body limber and improves your posture. I think anyone who takes dancing looks better in their clothes."

"And another thing," Elizabeth added, "Don't rush! I never do. You get worn out and accomplish little. I wish more people would realize the truth of 'haste makes waste.'"

The Knoxes And Two New Additions

A portrait of Capt. C. B. Knox Jr.'s family wouldn't be complete without Blackie and Droopy Drawers, new arrivals. Joann is holding the latter and Frank has Blackie. Bubba seems happy about the whole thing and Johnny, sitting in his mother's lap, may be wondering if there really is a birdie in the camera.

Cockers Important In Family Of Newcomers

When you meet Capt. and Mrs. C. B. Knox Jr. and Joann, 6, Bubba, 5, Frank, 4, and Johnny, 3, you haven't yet met the entire family. There's the cocker spaniel part of the family that includes Herman and Susie, the parents of tiny black and white Droopy Drawers and plain little Blackie. They all live at 1109 Stanford.

It's always a tussle up among the children as to who gets to hold one of the cuddly new puppies. Native Texans, the cockers, too, the Knoxes are from Seagraves but came to Big Spring from Harlingen, where Capt. Knox was with the Air Force. He is a flight surgeon at Webb. His medical training was received at the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston.

And, because they're Texans, they like the outdoors. Both Capt. and Mrs. Knox like golf and hunting and fishing. Joann is quick to chime in that the children also fish sometime, but that they mostly like "playing and swimming." Mrs. Knox laughs about the joke the children pulled on her when the city hostess called. "Mother's hobby is eating out," they said.

That Million Dollar Look

Flattery For All Sizes Is Contained In This Design

This is a truly great dress by Sylvan Rich of Martini. It's great because every line and drape of it is based on a principle of wearer-flattery, whether the wearer be a size 12 or a size twenty. The soft, surplice bodice is a foil for your own brilliant pin; the high-riding midriff, slightly off side to meet the base of the surplice closing is smoothed down into a longer torso; the skirt fullness starts, where it should start this season, well below the waist.

| Bust | Waist | Hips | Size |
|--------|--------|-----------|------|
| 35 | 25 | 36 inches | 12 |
| 36 1/2 | 26 1/2 | 37 1/2 | 14 |
| 38 | 28 | 39 | 16 |
| 40 | 30 | 41 | 18 |
| 42 | 32 | 43 | 20 |

Size 12 requires 6 1/4 yards of 39-inch material for dress. To order Pattern No. 1202, address SPADEA SYNDICATE, INC., Box 535, G.P.O., Dept. B-S, New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Airmail handling 25 cents extra. Pattern Booklet No. 11 is available for 25 cents. Add four cents for handling, if paid by check or money order. A lace cloth over yellow adorned the refreshment table. The central arrangement was of yellow chrysanthemums. Refreshments followed a color scheme of yellow and white. Gift tables were covered with yellow cloths.

Mrs. White registered guests and Mrs. Suttles served punch, alternating with the other hostesses. Mrs. Day was presented a corsage made of tiny toys, safety pins, white ribbons and tiny yellow chrysanthemums.

Thirty-one guests attended. From out of town were Mrs. B. Day of Leon; Mrs. John Nutt, Mrs. Darwin Webb, Mrs. D. P. Day, mother-in-law of the honoree, Mrs. W. H. Sneed, Mrs. Denver Yates, all of Big Spring; and Mrs. B. D. Mason and Rickie of Colorado City.

Santa Is Due Wednesday To Open Christmas Season

By CLIFTON LAWHORNE
Santa Claus plans to kick off the Christmas season in style here next Wednesday with a personal appearance in Big Spring's annual parade.

Local merchants have been preparing for his coming for some time now, and a big reception is scheduled. Ten floats are to be in the parade honoring Santa, and four bands will play.

Santa's appearance here will set fire to the Christmas activity. Electric lights on street decorations will be turned on, and store windows will shine with Yule finery. The annual Christmas Treasure Hunt will begin, and the entire town will be a-glitter.

Parents have been asked by Santa to bring all their youngsters to town to see him. He has already sent his North Pole candy here and will see that it is distributed to all the good little boys and girls.

Members of the American Business Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce have written Santa that they will help him pass out the candy along the parade route.

Santa cautions that the parade might be a little slow, because he wants to see all the children and let them see him. "They will not get to see me when I come on Christmas Eve night," he pointed out.

It is also planned that Santa will visit the children in the hospitals right after he makes the parade. Then he will return to the North Pole to finish work on toys for the children.

Jolly Old Saint Nick has plenty of toys, but he is still short on some items. And he asks that people here with used and damaged toys to contribute them to the Local Fire Department for repair.

Santa points out that the firemen here help him considerably every year. They take the old toys, repair them, and then Santa distributes them.

"That way everybody gets a present," he said.

The firemen request that toys be given to them immediately so that they will have time to repair them for Santa. The dolls must be turned in by Dec. 10, so that there will be time for detail work on them. Contributions can be made at either station.

The Treasure Hunt typifies the spirit of Christmas, according to Santa, and he is glad to see that Big Spring has 64 merchants cooperating in this year's hunt. The fact that merchants are giving tickets away, even up to Dec. 24, is even more encouraging.

Big Spring's Treasure Hunt has been well planned this year, with directory cards in the windows of every cooperating store. Customers always know which stores to look for their gifts.

Another thing that has pleased Santa, who forecasts a happy and prosperous Christmas for Big Spring, is the fact that 280 business men have contributed to the Yule fund. Some $2,528 has been donated for expenses here.

Santa points out that if it were not for the donations he probably could not have made it here from the North Pole. Decorations here would not be so nice either, and perhaps some of the church floats would not be in the parade.

Five churches will depict religious themes on their float entries. Those sponsoring floats are the First Baptist, St. Mary's Episcopal, Wesley Memorial Methodist, First Methodist, and Mount Bethel Baptist.

Organizations to enter floats will be the Spaders Garden Club, T&P Ladies Safety Council, Desk and Derrick Club, Howard County Junior College, and the Future Teachers of America.

Bands which will furnish music for Santa's tour of the city are Cosboma High, Big Spring Junior High, Big Spring High, and Webb Air Force Band.

The parade will form at Second and Nolan Streets and depart from Third and Nolan. The route will be west on Third to Runnels, north to Second, west to Main, north to First, west to Scurry, south to Second, east to Main, south to Third, west to Gregg, south to Fourth, east to Main, north to Third, east to Runnels and south to Fourth, the breakup point.

Co-Op Church Movement Said To Need Repairs

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
BOSTON (AP)—The cooperative church movement today needs to do some important fence mending.

That's the view of leaders of the National Council of Churches, which opens its biennial assembly here today.

"Much has been done," declares a preliminary report. "Much real perspective."

Although the interdenominational agency has become a vast, many-sided operation, officials said it has weak spots that should be braced up to make it more effective.

The needs cited include:

1. Means to give the masses of denominationally secluded church members more personal contact and experience with interchurch activities so they can know firsthand the values of cooperative Christian labors.
2. Setting up of comprehensive information-gathering machinery on a national scale to show where the churches are doing their job in society and where they're falling — so tactics can be planned accordingly.
3. Increased participation by laymen—along with the clergy—in church cooperative work.
4. Further bolstering of the council's financial resources to provide a margin for more flexible operations and a reserve to protect against temporary income slumps.
5. Bringing currently nonparticipating denominations which share faith in a divine Christ into the movement. Although not named, the principal nonmembers are the Southern Baptists, Roman Catholics and Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.
6. Clearer channels of communication between local, state and national councils of churches and more decentralized council meetings in all geographical areas to keep direction flowing from the bottom up.

"State and local constituencies want guidance on the basis of policies and plans acceptable to all units of the council," the biennial executive report says. "They do not want patterns dictated by national staff people."

The call for giving more rank-and-file Christians personal experience in interdenominational affairs came from Dr. Roswell Barnes, the council's associate general secretary.

"One of the major tasks," he said, "is to bring more of our members into extensive ecumenical experience and... into deeper understanding of the ecumenical main to be done."

He said clergymen and laymen who have taken a direct part in interchurch activities have a "quite different" outlook from the bulk of churchgoers who are acquainted only with their own church.

This difference in perspective, he said, is "deep-seated and quite difficult to deal with."

Those who have had face-to-face relationships with other churches see their own church in "the universal perspective" of Christianity, he said, while many others see their own church as a realm of values limited to itself.

He said this doesn't mean that the ecumenically experienced Christian is "less loyal" to his own church—but that he is somewhat like the overseas traveler who "gains appreciation for the culture and problems of others without thinking less of his own national heritage."

Plains Farmers Seek Means To Keep Soils Productive

By SAM WHITLOW
Texas Editor, Farmer-Stockman Magazine
(Written for The Associated Press)

LUBBOCK (AP)—Lubbock's County's 3,100 irrigation wells, pumping life-giving moisture to cotton and feed crops, have boosted agricultural productivity of this region into national prominence.

As production figures have soared, farmers have been constantly on the search for methods to build more productive power into heavily-farmed soils. Experience has shown that cotton following alfalfa will increase cotton yields. But a problem here is that alfalfa is a heavy user of water.

Some farmers are following the practice of using alfalfa on the same land 3 or 4 years, then following with cotton. They get the advantage of good hay crops, but plow under the last stand of alfalfa before cotton is planted.

D. W. Sherrill, Lubbock County agricultural agent, says a few farmers are following the practice of planting hairy vetch between rows in cotton and grain sorghum fields. Generally, the vetch is planted about mid-September and plowed under in April, making way for a crop to follow.

Cotton can be planted after the vetch, but grain sorghums fit better into the scheme because the sorghums are planted later than cotton.

Sherrill said if winter rainfall is light, the vetch may need one or two waterings. The relatively small number of farmers who have used vetch in this manner have had good results.

Cotton burs are being used on an increasingly large scale as a soil conditioner. Formerly the burs were burned as waste material at gins. But Sherrill started an active campaign to have the burs processed for use in soil conditioning, and now 33 of the 40 gins in Lubbock County have processed burs available if farmers want them.

"We recommend about 4 tons of burs per acre on irrigated land," Sherrill said. "On dry land, we suggest two tons an acre." He explained that aside from the plant food available in the burs, they do their best work in opening up the soil to allow abundant amounts of air and water to reach the plant roots.

MORE TROUBLE WITHOUT END

NEW YORK (AP)—Said Estelino Cruz: "I was despondent. I was sick of living. I figured if I hit a cop, the cop would shoot and kill me."

Cruz, 34-year-old mechanic, had that to say yesterday after police accused him of:

1. Driving for 15 blocks on the wrong side of Southern Boulevard in the Bronx.
2. Punching photographer Alvin Karpis in the nose after trying to ram his car four times. Aaronson had been trailing Cruz in his car.
3. Punching one cop in the nose, hitting another on the thumb and tussling with half a dozen other policemen.

After being treated for cuts and bruises, Cruz was booked on charges of assault and dangerous driving.

Handsome, Colorful Packages; Gay Wrappings Half The Fun

If Christmas means fun to you, you will wrap your gifts with love and care.

If it's a big headache from Thanksgiving to New Year's, you won't, and the spirit you pass on will be as gay as an unemptied ash tray.

When you approach the finish line on your shopping, plan several evenings for wrapping. Get all your equipment spread out on the dining room table or card tables. Let the children have their whack at it and do not let them be discouraged by their messy results.

Manufacturers this year have a whole raft of bright or sophisticated wraps and ribbons for you to pick from.

Tie-Tie has come out with a dealer box that eliminates dealing with little squares of paper that won't enclose big packages. They also have a make-it-yourself bow kit that really makes flat flowers wonderful for packages to be mailed, since they won't crush. Elaborate bows are fine if you can manage them, but a simple bow on bright paper, in contrasting ribbon creates a cheery effect with less agony for the five-thumbed.

Unusual papers are fun. Children who fingerprint will be proud to whip out a few creations that make fine wrapping paper. Hi-Silstone is Sylvania's cellophane paper with a silver lining that makes a shiny gift wrap.

Papers with particularly clever designs may be ironed after being removed from gifts received and the patterns cut out and pasted on tissue paper by the kids, for reuse the next year.

Many persons like to wrap all their presents in one paper so that their contributions are easily identifiable. A nicer touch is to try to think up a wrapping for each recipient that's just right, or is connected with the gift inside.

The package that comes crushed and battered probably looked dandy when it started its journey. The principal fault in its wrapping? Enough cardboard and paper to keep the contents in line, but not enough for the package to withstand the crush of dozens of heavy bundles resting on top of it.

MAILED gifts should be good travelers. If it's food, don't make it too rich. Keep it moist in cellophane.

NEW convenience for wrapping gifts is cutter-box of decorative paper. It works like your wax-paper box.

And this, say post office authorities, is the main problem in Christmas wrappings. Without exception, packages should be enclosed in corrugated boxes that will withstand 200 pounds of pressure per square inch. The bursting strength

Fill Dad's Sock With Toiletries

It used to be that only the kids hung their stockings with care at the mantel. But you can brighten friend husband's Christmas morning with stocking gifts, too.

Except, of course, that you don't fill it with toys. Instead you fill it with the little accessories and notions that he needs but leaves to you to buy anyway.

It's easy to figure this gift out. Simply look at his toiletries shelf and you'll see that he needs toothpaste, razor blades, a new toothbrush, dental floss, styptic pencil or foot powder.

How about his shoe laces? You can buy them in huge quantities for little money and you can pick the shades yourself.

Check his pocket comb and his bathroom comb and brush. Check his eyeglass case—he's probably lost the original one. How's his supply of shoe polish? His clothes brush? Does he have a suitable nail file or emery board supply?

These are the gifts that will make the old man sit up and say to himself: "Boy is my family thoughtful!"

Although goose quills were most often used for pens, the quills of hawks, swans, crows, eagles, owls, peacocks and turkeys also were used.

Your Problem Is Solved If They Have A Hobby

It's true that there are some exceptions—for instance, a Tommy Manville. But in practically every case, the easiest folk to buy Christmas gifts for are those with a favorite hobby.

Be they gardeners, knitters or stamp collectors, give them an item which fits their craze and you're sure to rate A-number one.

Photography fans, for example, will tell you with obvious pride that theirs is the nation's top hobby. And a trip to the neighborhood camera store will prove that the manufacturing firms have more than kept pace with its growth.

The number of suitable gifts you can buy are almost endless in variety. They range in price from a few cents to hundreds of dollars, so whatever your budget you're sure to please.

Accessories such as lens caps are needed by every photographer, but often cost less than a dollar. Something a little more costly is an accurate electrical timer. Then there are wide-angle telephoto lenses, enlargers, books and dozens of others.

The important thing to remember is to check with the photographer's present equipment to see if he already has the item. The same goes when buying for other hobbies.

Does someone on your list crochet or knit? Virtually every city has specialized shops or department store counters which deal with such hobbies exclusively. A chat with the clerk in charge will turn up scores of suggestions. Ditto for workshop or cooking fans.

It's probable, too, that one of your friends likes gardening. Why not a new set of garden tools, or durable, washable gloves? Or practical dungarees, adorned with a gardening motif?

Then there are those who like model building. Learn which types they prefer (and which ones they've already built) and your shopping dilemma is solved. Some new kits, among others, reproduce old locomotives, Early American autos and various furniture styles.

And, of course, the latest in airplanes.

The list of additional pastimes is much too long for mention, but the moral, by now, should be clear. If any names on your Christmas list still are followed by question marks, see if they have a hobby. Then walk down to the hobby shop and have a chat with the salesclerk.

ELECTRIC TIMER is a gift welcomed by home photographer. This one has eight-inch luminous dial.

A good bet to keep in mind is the snowballing interest in oil painting kits. Paints and canvas are numbered, so that adults or even children can turn out beautiful paintings with virtually fool-proof results.

Gifts Of Jewelry Will Suit Any Taste

When it gets to be close to Christmas and a woman starts using that trite old expression, "Good things come in small packages," the odds are extremely high that she doesn't mean Mickey Rooney.

She means that she'd like some jewelry. In most cases, however, the hinking around isn't needed. For the odds are equally high that a man choosing gifts for his lady will always think first of jewelry items, as his forebears have done for centuries.

When he goes to the jewelry store this year, he's due for a pleasant surprise. Scores of leading designers have created high-type sparkle—in compacts, rings, necklaces, clasps, earrings, scatter pins, etc.—at truly low-type prices.

A new set of pins, by Trifari, for instance, has a high-fashion gold-against-tweed effect that would seem to demand a whole month's wages. Yet the price is a mere $7.50.

A chic, go-everywhere earring, this one designed by Coro, has a smart shower of pearls set in a saucer of fluted gold and sells for just $2. For $2 more, there's a matching necklace.

These, of course, are merely a sampling.

Stores Laden With Things For The Home

Are there any names on your Christmas list of bachelor girls who live alone or girls who are filling their hope chests? If the answer is in the affirmative, your gift-finding worries are small.

For the young girl filling a hope chest, for instance, your choice of or the gift will prove a dud and later must be exchanged.

A popular present always is a set of cooking utensils. Several leading firms, such as Farberware, Ecko and Wear-Ever, now offer low-cost "starter sets." These contain all pots and pans needed for everyday meal preparation, and later may be expanded by adding matching pieces.

Other favorites of hope chest fillers are sheets, pillow cases, towels, linens, bureau scarves, table cloths, trousseau clothing and similar items. But don't think for a second that the item must be so small that it fits inside the hope chest. Also sure to be welcomed are such things as small appliances, canister sets and candlestick holders.

The bachelor girl who doesn't live home may be filling a hope chest also. But whether she is or appropriate gifts would seem to be almost endless. There are hundreds of items, large and small, that she'll need in her future home. And receiving some of them now will probably bring more pleasure than a gift for her person alone.

One good choice is a bedspread, which she'll use and treasure for years. But before you go out to buy one, be sure to check with her parents or friends to learn her favorite color and whether she already has one. Ditto for similar presents.

The young prospective bride always has definite plans regarding her future home's decor. You'll have to meet their requirements

COMPLETE set of cooking utensils is gift for household, for bachelor girl or young lady's hope chest.

Isn't the fact that she lives alone or with friends suggests some specialized needs which adapt themselves well to Christmas presents.

For one thing, she has to cook—and because she holds a business job, she does so as fast as she can. If your budget will stretch that far, one of the portable cooking appliances will speed her chore considerably.

A good example is the deep fat fryer, which cooks everything from soups to roasts and does it extremely quick. In the infrared reticulate broiler, an entire meal can be cooked at once. Other suitable gifts are portable mixers and sandwich grills, irons and pop-up toasters.

Since the bachelor girl usually works, she has to maintain a neat appearance. A hair dryer or massager is sure to be used many times. A new electric shaver by Remington, especially made for women, will remove unsightly leg hair.

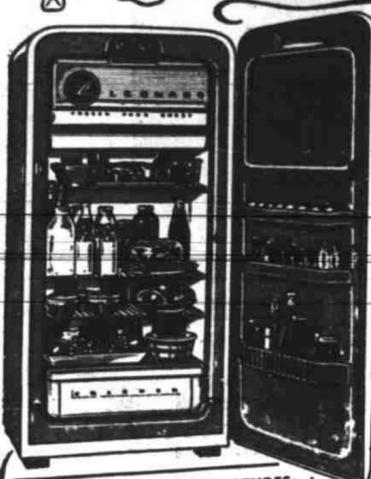

Once you've started thinking, the list of suitable presents will legibly fill many pages. High on the roll-call of favorites, of course, are items to brighten her living quarters.

EVERY kitchen cooking chore—from grilling to baking—can be done on today's substitute fryers.

Some teachers and writers yearn to appear brilliant the easy way by being different. They even support philosophies that would destroy liberty and bring poverty and hunger to humanity. They would take hope from the heart and the stars from the sky. "Thou hast corrupted wisdom by reason of thy brightness." — Ezek. 28:17.

Requirements For A Permanent Air Base Deserve Consideration

Interest is mounting in an activity whereby Big Spring might obtain "permanent" status for Webb Air Force Base. This would be a designation coming from the U. S. Air Force and would have, among other things, to be dovetailed into the Air Force's over-all projection of defense needs and training requirements.

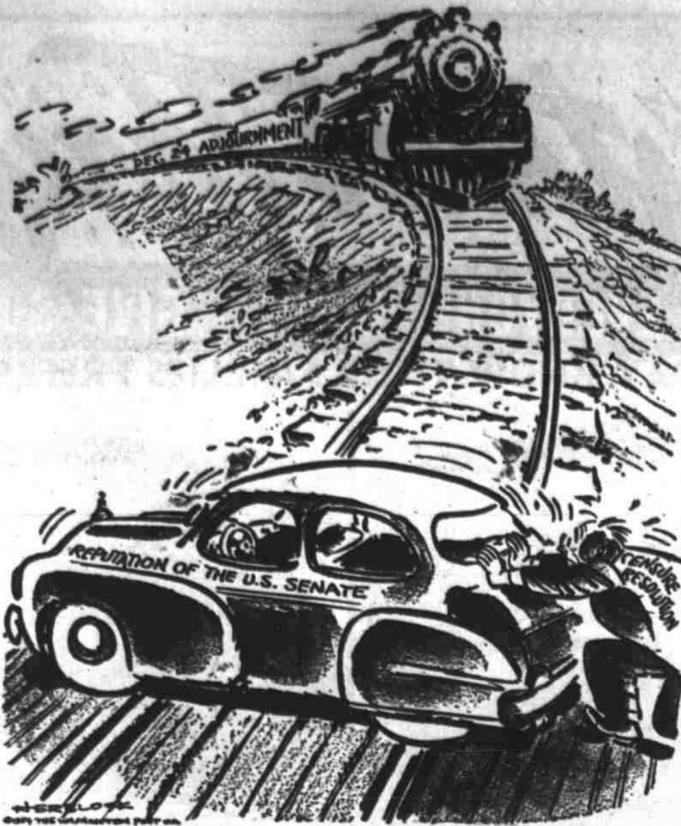

- 1. Government must own property without restrictive clauses.
2. Base should be situated so it can grow.
3. Base must have community support.
4. Base must have minimum air space.
5. Base must be free of industrial hazards.

Evidence is that on items 2, 4 and 5, Webb could qualify without representing many complications. On item 3, Big Spring very likely has qualified in part, and should be willing to demonstrate full qualification.

There is growing sentiment that this should be done.

There is a tremendous value in land there, of course, but it belongs to all the taxpayers, and in shifting ownership from city to federal government no financial burden is involved. It should be remembered that many a town — Abilene is a notable example — has raised hundreds of thousands of dollars by public subscription for the purchase of land on which to locate a military installation.

From the city's standpoint, continuing growth of private enterprise, spurred by the permanent military installation, would mean additional values on the tax rolls, to offset what capital property it has in the airfield acreage. There has been talk of another airport, which might become a necessity if Webb were a permanent facility.

Business Outlook—J. A. Livingston

Businesswise, Most Signs Point Toward Merry Christmas And A Happy New Year

It's hard to figure how this can miss being a merry Christmas. There's an ebullience in the air—an ebullience which comes from the brushing away of fear. Retail sales could easily be the best on record, exceeding the previous peak in 1922, and offsetting the poor performance early this year.

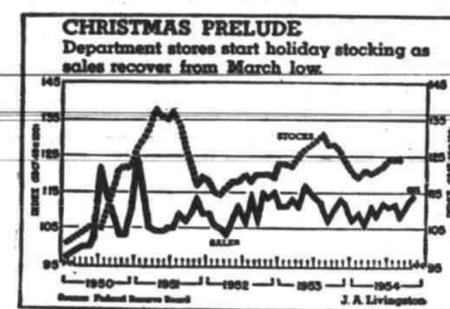

Psychology and good hard reality explain the above paragraph. The recession is behind us. Employment in trade and industry has climbed 800,000 since March to 48,600,000. Hours worked per week are up from 39 to 40 since the April low.

And weekly earnings of workers in manufacturing have increased from $70.20 to $72.22. That's what rings up big numbers on the Christmas cash registers. (The prospective penny-an-hour cut in wages of auto, aircraft and farm equipment workers, because of the drop in the cost-of-living index, doesn't change this.)

Most workers look ahead to 1953 with confidence. They see confidence around them. Their own firms are hiring. And when companies are putting on new men and women, it's reassurance — no layoffs. So workers figure they can make forward commitments buy that TV on the installment plan, turn in the old jalopy, or fix up the cellar into a playroom.

Optimism has spread throughout the list. The blue-chip stocks which insurance companies, pension funds, investment trusts, and other institutional investors buy have been joined by stocks not so well known. Investors now look around for hidden potentials and values.

Anybody who has a half dozen stocks in his safe deposit box is better off than he was a month ago or two months ago. This augurs well for sales of big-ticket items in middle- and upper-income families — sport cars, mink coats, a baby grand piano.

change list on one of its recent recovery. It will answer the critical business question: Are consumers willing to spend freely? And will this, in turn, carry over to business men?

If the 1953-model automobiles sell, if department store and specialty shops clear shelves, it will mean reorders to manufacturers for shoes, dresses, coats, luggage, and everything else you can think of. Merchants will be in the money and be enterprising.

The prospect for renewed orders is especially bright this year because retail inventories are not high — relative to sales. Department store stocks, for example, are about 2 per cent below last year's level while sales are running slightly above (see chart). At this time last year, the recession was beginning to bite into purchasing power.

The Army's active reserve program will be discussed and the possibility of establishing an Army Reserve School in Big Spring will be outlined at a meeting of reserve officers and enlisted men in the Corporation Courtroom at City Hall Monday evening.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. Maj. L. T. Barbour, Lubbock unit advisor, will lead the discussions. All reservists, officers and enlisted men are asked to attend.

Confident Living—Norman Vincent Peale

There's A Place For Everyone To Help In The Crusade For God

One Sunday evening, just about a year ago, O. Jennings Davis, secretary of a Nashville, Tennessee, insurance company, and his son, Jennings Jr., now a graduate student at Columbia University, were sitting at home talking about how ignorant most young people are of both Bible history and Bible teaching.

Just then the telephone rang. It was Houston Ezell, a young Nashville contractor, calling to ask if Davis would help in a movement to encourage Tennesseans to "Worship God More in '54." Davis was enthusiastic, and a day or two later joined in a meeting of some fifty Nashville businessmen and civic leaders to organize a group called Businessmen for Religious Action, which Jennings Davis now heads.

The group went to work and as a result shortly thereafter the customers of the local dairy, Purdy Dairies, Inc., received with their monthly bills a pamphlet by Dr. George Crane entitled "Why You Should Go to Church." During that same month, Nashville electric service included another leaflet to its 103,000 home owners, emphasizing "Worship God More in '54." Nashville radio stations have been carrying recorded talks by prominent figures on these subjects, and the city's newspapers have given the movement their active cooperation.

Businessmen for Religious Action calls Nashville businessmen, whatever their faith, to give some of their time and their money to "selling" religion as hard as they sell the products from which they earn their respective livings. And these men have responded; active participants are the most influential people in town, including officers of the city's largest companies, as well as small retailers and owners of service businesses.

Their activities now include not only statement enclosures and radio talks, but film strips, pamphlets, window posters, car tags and speeches before civic clubs and schools. This activity promotes the theology of no one faith or denomination. All are invited to take part. "While there may be doctrinal differences between the faiths, their conceptions of Christian principles and moral behavior are basically the same," says Jennings Davis. "If we can just get the masses of people to attend the churches of their choice, the impact on American life and character will be tremendous."

Thanksgiving has just passed. Christmas will be with us in a few short weeks. These are times when many of us think of going to church and do go. But the values offered by the church and by the synagogue remain the same all year round; what they can give you does not limit itself to Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter.

Why not start going to church yourself, regularly. The spiritual lift you will get out of it cannot be described in words, but it will give you a new outlook on life. And you will want to help others get this same bright new outlook.

How can you help? In every community there are movements like Businessmen for Religious Action. One national group of such organizations is called the Laymen's Movement for a Christian World, and there are others. Your minister, priest, or rabbi can advise you. If you can't find such a group, why not start one? You can do in your community what Houston Ezell and Jennings Davis did in theirs. And it will be for the betterment of everyone and for our country as well.

Germany Bustin' Out All Over, In Amazing Recovery From War

BERLIN, Germany — The political philosophers and the economic experts doubtless would put this stunning fact of international life into tonier words, but it all boils down to the hard reality that the Germans are busting out all over.

Nine and a half years after this nation was blitzed by land, sea and air as no other in modern times, the Germans are once more top dog in continental Europe west of the Iron Curtain.

And, worse luck, they know it. Today, as all of Western Germany looks forward to sovereignty no later than mid-spring of '55, the German is feeling his oats. An old friend who has been in Germany in the American administration of this country almost since the end of the war, said, with a rueful grin: "They do not yet push us off the sidewalk; we merely have to walk around them."

falling intermittently, can hide the awful and massive ruins of Berlin. But along the Kurfurstendam, the Fifth Avenue of this city, where not one shop was open among the rubble in 1946, except on a swap basis, beautiful stores, stuffed with luxury goods, are now filled with Christmas shoppers.

The shopping areas of Bonn, Wiesbaden and Frankfurt are rebuilt and modern as tomorrow. At night, the curfew of the neon light is everywhere, often spelling out very familiar American brand names. Frankfurt boasts the most modern public market in Europe. Shopping in the center of these cities, one is scarcely conscious of the war's destructiveness.

The reconstruction everywhere is flabbergasting. But it is the luxury goods in the shop windows in these cities and in Berlin that tell the story. French perfume, American cosmetics, diamond wrist watches, fur coats — you name it, the German shops have it. But no item in the shop windows amazed me more or convinced me more thoroughly of this country's complete economic recovery than the display of the finest black chiffon and nylon lingerie in shop after shop. Some was imported from France but most of it was of German make.

Bible Words for Today

PSALM 76:10—"Surely the wrath of man shall praise Thee." (RSV)

For many in our time, history seems no more than a chaos of warring forces; driven by all the motives of human desire, better and worse, men have banded together for ends that in the total appear to cancel out in meaninglessness. And today brute force chills the heart with its threat to strangle all that is best, if not actually put an end to history in a blaze of annihilation.

But the Biblical thinkers entertained no such pessimism. They lived through times far more menacing than ours; they grounded and matured their faith in a constant experience of danger, even ruin, when all about was despair. Yet they remain the most optimistic figures of all the ages. For them—and for us, if we can rise to their insights—God is supreme, far above man's pomp and blindness. History has meaning in His purpose! It is moving toward fulfillment of His will. Man's badness may obstruct, but it cannot defeat the coming of His day of triumph. He makes the wrath of man to praise Him.

A Drama Entitled: Who Buys The Christmas Gifts At Your House?

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald. — Editor's Note.

Christmas shopping. This has to be faced, because it already has come up in most normal households. It generally occurs around Thanksgiving time, and invariably is initiated by the distaff side of the family. Let us proceed with the drama.

Male of the household has just become comfortably settled in easy chair, with pipe and slippers, and absorbed in the most interesting article of the current weekly magazine.

Female of the household puts out a feeble: "Do you realize it's only a month until Christmas?" "Umph."

"The time will be past before you know it." "Umph." "I just wish this would be one year when we could get down to our shopping list, go buy the things and get them wrapped, and not have to worry until the last minute."

"Haw-umph." "Don't you think it would be easier, and much nicer, if both the man and the woman made a sort of joint selection, and gave things together, I mean really together, and not just have the women give the other woman a little something, and the man go down and get the other man a box of cigars at the last minute?"

A rustle of the magazine. The barrage is beginning to have its effect. "Awa-arguesso-humph." "Well, if that's the case, wouldn't you want to take a little time now, and let's make a list? I don't know when we'll have a better time than right now."

Magazine slowly drops to the lap. Male of household takes a long look at spouse. "What'd you say, honey? Christmas list? Oh, sure, go ahead and write down the names. You know better than I do who goes on it. I'll check it with you after awhile." Magazine goes back up to face. Mostly silence for awhile, maybe the scribbling of pencil on paper. Female of the household: "About how much do you think we ought to spend for Christmas this year?"

Magazine drops as if it were hot potato, and brisk stirring in the easy chair. "A heck of a lot less than we spent last year. I can tell you. We just got through paying for last year's. Take it easy, can't you, Darling?"

"Well, then you ought to help make suggestions, so we'll know where we are." Magazine has gone back up. "Yea-oh-sure-be-with-you-sonasf finishthis." Silence for another few moments. "What do you think we ought to send Aunt Matilda?"

"Fun-! what? Aunt Matilda? A milt-stone." "Oh, don't be a dope. I mean really. She always sends us something."

Magazine wavers again, a bit impatiently. "How about a trivet?" "Oh, I don't know how men can be so stupid. We gave her a trivet two years ago and she gave us a set last year. Can't you think of something better than that?"

"What? Oh, sure, awf-humph—Aunt Matilda. Lemme see, Aunt Matilda. How about a one-way ticket to Saskatchewan, so she'll have a better place than here to spend her vacation next summer?—Now, wait a minute, Sugar, I was only kidding. Don't throw anything at me. I'll be tickled to death to maybe try to help you with the list a little later. Just let me finish this article. Gee whiz, we've got four weeks yet—"

"Oh, men!" with that timeless gesture of futility and supplication. "I'll just do it myself, as usual." And she does. —BOB WHIPKEY

These Days—George Sokolsky

Labor Youth League Aimed At Undermining Student Loyalty

I picked up on a college campus a brochure which is being widely circulated. It is entitled "there are all kinds of students . . ." all in lower case.

Pages two and three are entitled " . . . with all kinds of thoughts . . ." and show a student daydreaming about his courses, about getting married, about landing the right kind of job, about living full lives. So we turn to pages 4 and 5, entitled " . . . and a few mighty big problems . . ."

The first problem: "How to fashion careers when rising tuition, prices, taxes and the danger of a depression threaten to end our plans before we've had a chance to get started on them?"

The second problem is: "How to get the most out of our studies when books are banned, professors fired . . . when galloping-McCarthyism replaces the 'market-place of ideas'?"

The third problem is: "How to make our contribution when discrimination and second class citizenship deny so many of us, especially Negro students, the opportunity to put our full talents to work?"

The fourth problem is: "How to find a usefulness, a purpose for life in times which seem to place so little value on life . . . times that, with each new H-bomb blast, seem increasingly bent on universal destruction?"

So now I know that I am reading the Communist Party line and that it is being circulated among college students with the hope of recruiting them in the Labor Youth League which is the successor to the Young Communist League. I shall cite a few sections of their program to show what they stand for:

"For full academic freedom for students and teachers; "For an end to Congressional inquiries into education; "For an end to the political imprisonment of Communists and other Americans; for the repeal of the Smith Act, the McCarran Act, the Taft-Hartley Act and other repressive laws . . . "For a democratic foreign policy to resist the cold war at the conference tables; against intervention in behalf of colonialism in Indochina, Korea or any other land;

"For the banning of the H-bomb; for peaceful co-existence between the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R.;" "For an end to the militarization of American youth, science, culture and the campuses . . ."

On page 11 is a picture of a student looking at Karl Marx with approval and joy. There is no picture of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln or any other American. The pamphlet says:

"We study Marxism not as a 'panacea' on a silver platter, but as a realistic means of honestly grappling with the problems that face us all as students."

"We refuse to accept the big lie that a world philosophy of 100 years growth with decisive things to say about all phases of learning and life, is an 'alien conspiracy.'"

There are those who say that the Communists are unimportant, only a trickle, in our country. Yet they have the means to propagandize on every college campus, to circulate pamphlets among the students, to recruit young people for their organization which they call the National Student Council, Labor Youth League. They seem well-heeled financially and sufficiently manned to get around.

They say to the students: " . . . we invite you to drop around, chew the fat, argue, debate, take us to task when you don't agree."

I wonder on how many campuses there is a Labor Youth League and how active it is in denouncing the United States and in serving the interests of Soviet Russia. This had nothing to do with academic freedom; it has to do with undermining the United States among our youth.

What forces on the campus labor to undo this influence? Of course, there is the R. O. T. C., an occasional Newman Club, and a new and not yet effective organization called students for America. Actually, at the moment, there is no activity among students that competently hits at this pernicious propaganda among our sons and daughters.

From 2 to 4, youngsters go for—kindergarten blocks, simple puzzles, trucks or wheels, crayon sets, simple housekeeping toys, tricycles, doll carriages, outdoor gym toys and inflatable toys. Things that carry over from nursery school or kindergarten will satisfy children who enjoy their lives there; a doll with diapers, a tea set, a big wooden box, a little chair, all stimulate learning activity.

There Are Right Toys - - And Wrong Ones

The toys that American children receive, use, lose, break and wear out in a year ring up $900 million in the cash registers of toy stores and counters all over the country. That national debt-like figure is not a mistake, it's the word of Melvin Freud, president of the Toy Guidance Council, which helps parents buy play equipment just right for their youngsters.

Most of this business comes about because Christmas is a children's time and most people feel Christmas is just a bother unless they can shop for some kid—any kid.

But even the Toy Guidance Council has no idea how many of these dollars go for toys that are for youngsters the wrong age, the wrong interests and the wrong environment. It's something they don't like to think about, since they spend their time trying to get a toy and moppet together happily.

But hang around the toy department and you'll see it happen: the man with the three-month-old baby buys a dump truck or a stuffed animal with a shoe-button eye that will appeal to the child as a prospective edible; an auntie will buy a darling doll for a child who is squirming valiantly to get to the hammer toys; granny will pick out an expensive movie projector for a child who craves a wagon.

But the right combination is a joy to see: Junior gravitates to the package most likely to be his holster set, opens it and the parents need no thanks. He's off to the imaginary pampas of the kitchen to pick up his horse, stabled in the broom closet.

The manufacturers who stuff the Christmas pack with toys have brought out a top-notch selection this year, with an eye firmly on the do-it-yourself-trend. Children are the original home builders of furniture mountains, houses under the desk, horries out of brooms; so it is natural that toy makers are bringing out more and more toys that give kids a chance to do rather than look.

A toy tool set by Ski-Craft, a kitchen set by American Metals Specialties, a kit of scale model locomotives by Northwest Products, the Deepko Company's model sports car, Kenner Products' "Play a Story With Dolly," Plastic Block City's blocks with many building possibilities, Model-Craft's sculpture and paint set and Hassenfeld Brothers' Mr. and Mrs. Potato Head with samples of toys children will develop their imaginations and hand skills on.

Also in this category are Bachmann Brothers' Plasticville U. S. A., Gaston Manufacturing's Doodle Face, Revell's Navy Gift Set shipbuilding kit, Milton Bradley's Eat-O-Mats, Walco Bead's Pearl Jewelry Craft Set and Walter Herne's junior home decorator's set.

While children's imaginations provide them a rich world, with the help of a few adaptable toys, every youngster goes through a stage of finding out how things work. He wants tugboats that go trucks that dump, ladders that extend, trains that puff and cars he can ride. But owning several of these toys will bring a poverty of the imagination rather than providing additional fun. Give him the one he's crazy for—and it's probably the one everyone in the neighborhood has. If relatives send many more such toys, put them away against the day his favorite breaks or for the next child.

Among the mechanical toys you have to pick from are sound, well-constructed items, such as Product Miniature's scale model International Diesel called Turn-Trac, Vintage Product's Zimcom signal box and U-Drive-It, a toy that teaches safe driving.

Others that may be just what your child craves are Kamkap's Supermarket, Doepke's fire engine, Struclo Manufacturing's Road Grader, Aluminum Model Toy's Remote Control Pontiac, Bassons Industries bicycle-drive sports car and the Castelli Motor Bike.

Games that invite the whole family's participation make good gifts. On the market this winter are two small-sized shuffleboard games; Carthage Mills O'Shuffi and Dimco-Gray's Indoor Shuffleboard. Board games available include Milton Bradley's Pathfinder and Swazys. Miniatures that are new are Northwestern Products Pook-It-Up ice hockey and Gotham Pressed Steel's table model pool table. A new card-word game, Ball, is good for a solitaire game or for families up to four persons.

Dolls and doll equipment satisfy the little girl's early motherly impulses. On your toy counters will be Horsman's "Love Me" doll, Playtime Product's Pink Pram, Hol-le's Diane the Dancing Doll, and Belle's Gingham Girl Doll.

With their popularity on television, puppets and marionettes are welcome toys. Among those available are Zany Toy's hand puppets and Hazelle's Teto the Clown.

For the very youngest's Christmas, there is Playstray's suction cup dinner plate, Mem's soap figures, Gaston's Walt Disney wood block story book and Hol-le's washable plastic animals.

Books, Records Hard To Pick, But Welcome

Books and records are gifts that are never hard to discern, even in the fannest of wraps. But their obvious shapes never make them any less welcome in most families.

Successful selection of this kind of gift is more difficult than picking a tie because the contents must please again and again.

Often books and records become part of a family's life that goes on long after the jacket has fallen off and the platter emits only scratches.

Even bookish parents approach the job of picking books for their children with some timidity. Though distant cousins may do the job more blithely, it is the parents who will have to read the story 17 million times to bedtime children.

Organizations whose job it is to help those buying books for children offer sound advice. The Children's Book Council, 20 West 53rd Street, has booklists. Store clerks are usually helpful.

Joette Frank, a member of the staff of the Child Study Association, offers some touchstones on picking children's books: pictures need not be great art, but should be realistic and satisfying in detail; humor suits the shy reader when it is broad and ridiculous don't depend on the cover to give you a clue about the insides—look for large, open type, ease of words, content suitable to the age; try to meet child's interests rather than get him to learn how the spinach grows, if he's not interested.

A fine Christmas gift book is the "Holiday Storybook" compiled by the Child Study Association and published by Crowell. This book has a history connected with each holiday and would make an easy entree to reading out loud.

In a Utopia, picking children's records would be done by parents only, because only they know how much they can bear of the Tug That Whistled, Good Morning.

Books for adults are gifts that should be selected for individuals, with their tastes in mind. A reference book is usually always welcome, however. Avoid too-specific how-to-do books. If a woman wants to reduce, she'll buy her own book of exercises and like it a lot better than the one you give her.

General books centered around an interest or a hobby make gifts that are individual and delightful. A foreign cookbook or a volume like Little-Brown's Field Guides to Furniture fill this bill.

Possibilities among records are so many that shopping for them may occupy days. Somewhat off the traditional track are Caedmon's talking records that are ever more popular.

Bike Is Tops On Child's Gift List

You would not want to ask a child on your gift list what he wanted for Christmas—at least not more than once—for that might spoil the surprise. But chances are good, if you did, that the answer would be "a bike."

For the past 40 years, according to surveys, a shiny American bike has ranked at the top of the heap as the Christmas gift preference of children themselves—which should give you a sure-fire hint if you're still not sure what to buy.

But before you go wheeling it homeward, the Bicycle Information Bureau suggests you remember these points for making your gift bike the right one.

1. Make sure that you have the right size. There are different-sized bikes for different-sized children, and buying a bike too large can lead to a later accident. Tell your dealer the age of the child and he will prescribe the wheel diameter.

2. Make sure that you have the right style. If Junior or Sis is under 12, the ideal bike is a standard balloon-tired model, with coaster brake, rugged frame and built-in lights and horn.

To Show At Lyric

Showing today and Monday at the Lyric Theatre is M-G-M's Anaco Color film, "Take the High Ground," starring Richard Widmark, Karl Malden and Elaine Stewart. The drama has to do with an Army training camp and some tough sergeants and a pretty barfy.

The Soothsayer

"Beware the Ides of March," an old soothsayer warns Julius Caesar (Louis Calhern) and his wife Calpurnia (Greer Garson) in an important scene from M-G-M's screen version of the famed Shakespearean play. Others in the cast of "Julius Caesar" include Marlon Brando, James Mason, Edmond O'Brien, John Gielgud and Deborah Kerr. The film shows Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz Theatre.

'Julius Caesar' Movie Based Firmly On Shakespeare Play

How often, after you have seen a movie or a play, have you said, "It followed the book pretty well!" You can say that about the movie, "Julius Caesar," to be shown at the Ritz Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. It is the play as written by William Shakespeare! Unchanged from the way it was written, the play uses the expressions of Elizabethan times—and how familiar some of them sound to modern ears! Passages memorized in school occur so frequently that one feels as if old friends are heard.

Then there is Cassius, whose "lean and hungry look" made him distrustful by Julius Caesar. Brutus is played by James Mason. John Gielgud took the part of Cassius, while Caesar was portrayed by Louis Calhern.
The scene always stressed in high school English courses is the one in which Mark Antony so subtly turns a mob against the assassins. Marlon Brando does this so well that you'll find yourself being persuaded right along with those early day Romans.
There is something in this picture which should please everyone. Greer Garson as Calpurnia and Deborah Kerr as Portia add the feminine beauty. There are lovely settings; there is plenty of suspense and excitement, and even devotees of Westerns would be pleased with the riding and fighting!

'Elephant Walk' Film To Show At Terrace

"Elephant Walk" with Elizabeth Taylor, Dana Andrews and Peter Finch shows tonight and Monday at the Terrace Drive-In. Miss Taylor plays the English bride of a Ceylonese tea planter, played by Finch. She finds life in the strange and lonely country difficult and turns to Andrews, Finch's American assistant and the only man who seems to understand her loneliness in an all-male society. The film, a Paramount production, is in Technicolor.

The Chauffeur's Daughter

Two wealthy brothers, played by Humphrey Bogart and William Holden, both fall for the chauffeur's daughter, played by Audrey Hepburn, in the Paramount comedy "Sabrina." The film, based on a hit Broadway play, shows today through Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre.

Audrey Hepburn Has 'Sabrina' Star Role

That a pretty girl can bridge the gap between servant's quarters and the mansion in front but not without some difficulties is demonstrated in the comedy "Sabrina," which shows today through Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre.
Starred in the title role is Audrey Hepburn. Others in the cast include William Holden as the irresponsible playboy, David Larrabee, that Sabrina has long fancied and Humphrey Bogart as the dour elder brother, Linus Larrabee.
After Sabrina attempts suicide by closing the garage up and running all the cars' motors, she is packed off to cooking school in Paris so she can forget David, who has never given her a tumble. Sabrina comes back from Paris without having put David out of her mind, however.
The extremely chic manner and fashions that she had acquired in Paris stand her in good stead and the playboy falls for her. He is already engaged to marry Elizabeth Tyson, played by Martha Hyer, but he doesn't let a little detail like that stop him.

An unfortunate accident with some champagne glasses that break when sat upon ties David up in the midst of Sabrina's campaign. In steps the elder brother, who had cooked up the Tyson engagement to provide an industrial merger and doesn't want to see his plans stopped. He pretends to fall for her himself just so he can pack her off to Paris again. Plans don't work out quite the way he had figured, however.
The picture is a Paramount production from the Broadway hit by Samuel Taylor. Taylor, Ernest Lehman and Producer-Director Billy Wilder collaborated in the screen version.
Francis X. Bushman plays in the supporting cast as Miss Tyson's father. Walter Hampden plays the senior Larrabee.

Barker. Duff Star In 'Yellow Mountain' Film

The brawling era of the Nevada gold rushes is recreated in "The Yellow Mountain," Technicolor adventure film showing Friday and Saturday at the Ritz Theatre.
Lex Barker, Mala Powers, Howard Duff, William Demarest and John McIntire all have key roles in the film. Barker plays a man who comes to Goldfield determined to find his larcenous ex-partner, played by Duff, and beat him with an inch of his life for an unpaid debt. But the two end up laughing and partners again.
Duff has a stake in a mountain believed to contain valuable gold veins. But so does McIntire, determined that only he shall have the riches whether it be honestly or by murder.
Also with a claim on the mountain is Demarest, who also has a daughter named Nevada, just like the state. Miss Powers plays the role of the daughter, coming between the two partners and sometimes distracting their minds from more serious things.
The picture is a Universal-International production, produced by Ross Hunter and directed by Jesse Hibbs.

Country-Style Romance

Chill Wills and Marjorie Main talk things over in a scene from Universal-International's comedy film, "Ricochet Romance." The picture shows today through Tuesday at the State Theatre.

Famed 'Gunga Din' With Cary Grant To Play At State

Set for a Wednesday-Thursday showing at the State Theatre is "Gunga Din," film based on the famed poem by Rudyard Kipling and starring Cary Grant, Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Victor McLaglen.
The three stars play Kipling's famed three sergeants, ruddy, brave and loyal to each other. Joan Fontaine plays the woman who threatens to come between the trio when Fairbanks falls for her.
The plot involves attempts to crack down on a native murder cult which worships the goddess Kali by a series of assassinations to appease her bloodthirstiness.
Sam Jaffe has the role of Gunga Din, the native water carrier immortalized in the line "You're a better man than I am, Gunga Din." The picture is an RKO-Radio re-release.

'Code Two' To Show

"Code Two," drama about motorcycle cops, shows Tuesday and Wednesday at the Lyric Theatre. Ralph Meeker has the role of a young rookie while Sally Forest plays the girl he falls for. Keenan Wynn also has a key role in the film, which is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer release.

Science-Fiction Film Set At State

A science-fiction suspense drama is set for a Friday-Saturday showing at the State Theatre. Name of the film is "Monster From Ocean Floor," a Lippert release which stars Anne Kimbell and Stuart Wade.
The plot deals with a strange sea creature that terrorizes a fishing village. A girl skin-diver, played by Miss Kimbell, and a marine scientist in a one-man sub, the role being that of Wade's, set out to track down the strange beast.
Besides the eventual encounter with the terrifying monster of the depths, there is also a fight between the gal and a man-eating shark which seems to have an appetite for the females of the species, too.
