Spectacular Runs in Football Recall Day When Jim Thorpe Scored Two Touchdowns on Two Plays

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Never a football season passes but some player, often dozens of them, pull off spectacular runs for touchdowns that go down in grid annals as exceptional performances.

MEXICAN CABINET TO BE KEPT INTACT, PLAN

International News Service. MEXICO CITY, Mex., Nov. 6.—President Adolfo de la Huerta has refused to accept the resignation of Pascual Ortiz Rubio, minister of communications. It is understood that President de la Huerta is anxious to keep his present Cabinet together until his retirement from the presidency on Dec. 1, when General Alvaro Obregon will be inaugurated.

MARGUERITE CLARK WILL RETURN TO THE SCREEN

PATTERSON, La., Nov. 6.—Marguerite Clark announces that she will return to the screen. She will appear in "Scrambled Wives" for First National. Her husband, Harry Williams, wealthy lumberman, will probably accompany her to New York.

CAN'T FOOL BLIND MAN WITH BOGUS DOLLAR BILL

AMERICUS, Ga., Nov. 6.—Henry Otin is carrying a chain here because he couldn't make a blind man take a newspaper clipping for a $1 bill. Otin's conviction was brought about when Ed Jenkins, blind coroner, unceremoniously rejected several slips of paper handed him in court and identified the one Otin had passed him for the one dollar note.

PERSONALS

Bob Taylor III. Bob Taylor, of the Opera House staff, and formerly with Castellaw's is seriously ill with typhoid fever. He has been in bed for a week.
Leslie Combs, Hamon-Kell conductor, who has been laid up since May, when his foot was crushed while making a coupling at Frankell, was a visitor at the railway offices Friday for the first time since the accident.

ITALY 'JUNKS' EIGHT MILLIONS IN AMERICAN FARM MACHINERY

ROME, Nov. 6.—Sad, indeed, is the fate of many thousands of American motor plows, reapers and threshers, brought over here by the Italian government during the war at a cost of $8,000,000 with the intention of replacing the peasants who were fighting.

WISH COMES TRUE AFTER MANY YEARS WAITING

Richmond, Va. Health—Tanlac Made Her Well and Strong. "For a long time," said Mrs. M. T. Whitlow of 2705 East Grace street, Richmond, Va., "I lived in hopes that some day I would get back my health and by the help of Tanlac my wish has at last come true, for I have gained fifteen pounds in weight and am now a strong, well and happy woman."

THREW OUT CLOTHING

"Our ballast supply was getting very low. In order to stay up we threw out all our extra clothing, including overcoats and sweaters. At 10:30 a. m. Monday we saw a big mountain right ahead of us. It was about 4,000 feet high and its peak was almost on a level with our course. We passed over it like a shot and on the other side of it we couldn't get over it, though we threw suction that checked our progress.

HIT SIDE OF MOUNTAIN

"We landed about half way up the side of this mountain in thick timber. There was an awful smash when we hit the side of the mountain. Mal Kingsbury's ankle was slightly sprained but I was not hurt. The balloon was badly damaged.

ENTERS OWN COFFIN AND SHOOTS HIMSELF

WINSTED, Conn., Nov. 6.—Placing his coffin on the family lot in the cemetery here, Dennis Kennedy, 72, crippled and shot himself through the heart. On a marble headstone which Kennedy had caused to be placed, was written in chalk, "Be good to your mother." And on the coffin lid, "I would rather than see my wife."

TRAVEL 8,000 MILES SO CHILD WILL BE AMERICAN

OMAHA, Nov. 6.—Fearing to leave any question as to the citizenship of their expected child, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Byam came to Omaha from Montevideo, Uruguay, and little John first blinked his eyes in an American hospital here.

NO LABOR ISSUE.

Samuel Gompers terms the election of Harding to the presidency as a "reactionary move," from which one gathers that he believes the election of the Republican candidate is against the best interests of labor. Some newspapers seize the opportunity to belittle the labor vote and proclaim that it is not as powerful as is commonly believed. They reason from the assumption that leaders deliver the labor vote en bloc and that whatever the leaders decide is final and must be followed.

Some day the politicians will discover that labor is not a distinct and unassimilable class of inhabitants. Union men are not Japs. They are citizens who do their duty as they see it, with all their heart in their efforts, just as other citizens do.

SHED RATHER LIVE FOR IT.

Lloyd George must feel complimented as he reads the statement attributed to Sylvia Pankhurst. "I expect six months' imprisonment," she writes to Lenin after her arrest on a charge of attempt to cause sedition. "I have considered the hunger strike, but I am afraid that weapon has been destroyed, since the government is letting the Irish hunger strikers die." This is interesting comment from one of the initiators of the modern hunger strike. It confirms the British government's apparent belief that a little dying will cure most political prisoners of a wish to serve their cause by fasting. "They have found us out," says Miss Pankhurst in effect. Her attitude, however, is apparently unshared by the Irish. Their steadfastness only shows to better advantage beside the rather opportunistic position of the young British communist. She may be right in believing she can do more good living than dead. For the present, however, there will be more converts to the idea of an Irish republic than to that of a communistic England.—New York Globe.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK

By LEE PAPE

THE PARK AVE. NEWS.

Weather. Mixed winds. Sports. Skinny Martin and Skinny Mullen had a fite last Saturday afternoon, the first round taking place out in the street and the 2nd round in the alley on account of somebody yelling Cheese it here comes a cop, wen none wasent. Both Skinnies claimed they won, Skinny Martin claiming a bloody nose was worse than a black eye and Skinny Mullen claiming the opposite. Among the referees present was Benny Potts, Artie Altkander, Ed Wernick, Puds Simkins and Leroy Shooster.

POEM BY SKINNY MARTIN. Friends. A friend of mine had a toothache check and one banged his head and got lumps. But the biggest bump on my forehead Was on a friend of mine with the bumps.

Intriguing Fables About Intriguing People. Sam Cross found a sine, saying on it Private Krep Out, and he's going to keep it to hang on the bathroom door next Saturday nite wen he takes his bath.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

Opposite Poles. There was a letter to post and the 7:30 collection at hand, so the Woman slipped on a raincoat and hurried out to the corner minus hat or umbrella. The street was dark but tenebrous. It throbbed with music, for mild autumn weather had made open windows a necessity. Far melodies seemed to clash a bit, and then, as she hurried along, the Woman knew why.

In a small parlor on a ground floor flat a Victrola hurled forth the symphonies of some undoubtedly recent jazz. She did not know its name, although the rhythm and theme were familiar. The Woman does not profess to virtuosity in jazz. The shade, flung up, allowed the passerby to glimpse at a blond young Jackie dancing in four square feet of unimpeded floor space with a flapper in blue serge. Youth! Such oodles of it. Jazz, a uniform, a pretty girl and room enough to "shake a leg." What more can one ask?

And then she sped a few more feet and from an open window many feet above the ground came another melody. "How firm a foundation, ye saints of the Lord," drifted out into the night. Dimly she could discern the scattered figures of elderly men and women, gathered for devotion in the assembly room of the "Home" that is the harbor of their declining years. Feeble old voices unvaried and faltered on the high notes, but they sang as if the words brought comfort and promise. She dropped her letter into the box and turned homeward. "Fear not, I am with thee, oh be not dismayed," piloted her steps past the dance music, Youth and Age, Dancing and dreams. Fun and faith. And all have their places in Life's drama.

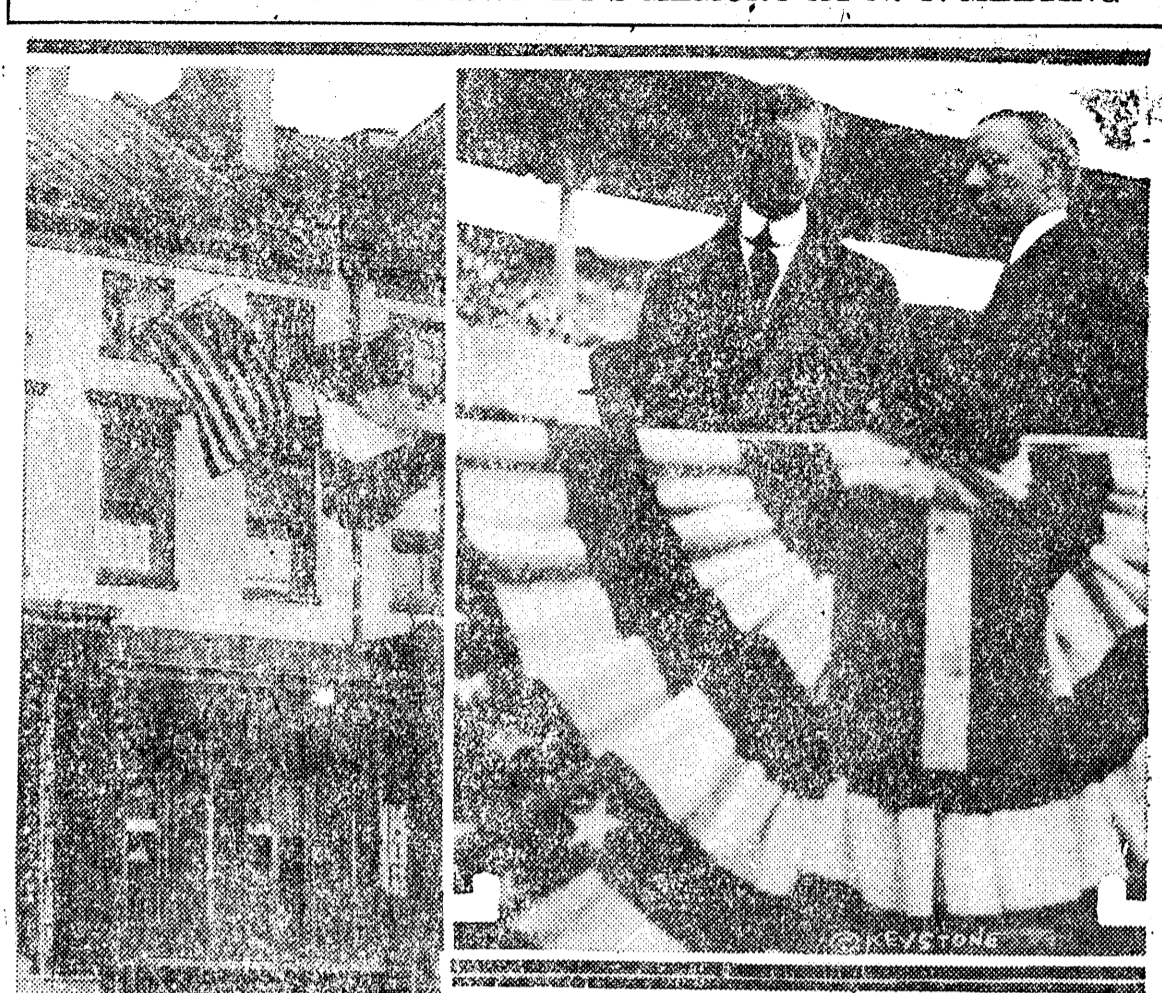

The Reason Why. In a moment when her sympathies ran ahead of her capabilities the Veek Modern Girl pledged an hour a week to a Madison street settlement house. Then she was confronted with the hour. She held to plan to spend it with healthy ten-year-olds and to spend it so that they should be interested. "Stories," said the woman. "I'll read stories."

All the Earmarks. Franca's Tavern was the scene of a large luncheon for a very important public official, and in one of the small dining rooms a class luncheon of a woman's college was scheduled for the same hour. The outside of the tavern was gay with flags and a double line of policemen guarded the door. As the Woman rounded the corner on her way to the luncheon she met a classmate from the South timidly skirting the edge of the phalanx of policemen.

TINKER BOB

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

A SIGHT FROM THE RIVER BANK. The leaves were falling from the Forest Trees but the wonderful Magic Cornstalk was growing as much as ever. Tinker Bob thought the Forest was the most wonderful place in the world. And he thought right, for the biggest things that grow, live in the Great Forest. They don't talk very much—that is, they don't speak very loud, but silence speaks louder than the words of a great many creatures. Who did you say they are? If you said the biggest thing that lives is a tree, you told the truth.

He and Jack sat in front of the fireplace eating apples. Tinker Bob was the first to get up and walk to the door. When he opened it who should he find but Mr. Muskrat. He had just come from the river, for his fur was as wet as could be. "Come in," said the King. "No, I can't come in. I have been sent to tell you that something terrible has happened to the fellow that gives us light at night."

ARGENTINA WILL SUE FOR GRAFT MONEY ON NATIONAL CAPITOL

Buenos Aires, Nov. 6.—Argentina has been having a graft investigation as a result of which it has been found that 5,500,000 pesos have been "unduly" disbursed by former government officials who directed payments to contractors for building the capitol here. The present government has announced its intention of bringing suits to recover the money improperly paid. The building, a magnificent structure of classic architecture, marble facings and broad sweeps of marble steps, not unlike the capitol at Washington, is justly called in the newspapers, "El Palacio de Oro" Spanish for "The Palace of Gold." It was begun in 1897 and was originally to have cost 10,000,000 pesos. It is not yet entirely finished and has cost 27,000,000.

RIPPLING RHYMES

AFTER ELECTION.

All finished now the long campaign; the voters made their meaning plain, we know just where we're at; but little comfort do I see, for Johnson made a bet with me, and stuck me for a hat. The weary conflict now is done; a statesman lost, a statesman won, and may the loser smile; but all my soul is sick and sore—that Johnson jay who lives next door has touched me for a tile. And now I must wheel him through the town upon a barrow upside down, while all the loafers jeer; oh, other men may shout and jest, but there is sorrow in my breast, and on my cheek a tear. And others march in gay parade, and drink denatured lemonade, and make the welkin thrill; but tragedy is in my soul, for with a toothpick I must roll a peanut up the hill. I see glad faces in the street, and happy citizens I meet, without a care or fret; I sadly view the merry throng for I must wear my whiskers long, to pay a foolish bet. The noisy band is playing tunes to entertain the gay gossamers, but music makes me sad; this evening I must backward walk, my eyes blindfolded, round a block, to pay a wager bad. They say our bulwarks are secure, and there'll be justice for the poor, and wrongs will be redressed; but I am full of grief and dole, and all my hopes are in the hole, so wretchedly I grieved.

AMAZED CROWD SEES ATTORNEY READ MARKED CARDS IN COURT

Feat Performed When Clothing Manufacturer Is Tried for Cheating Friends Out of $13,000 at Stud Poker.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Challenged by Max D. Steuer before Judge McIntyre in general sessions court today to read a deck of marked cards face downward, Assistant District attorney Thomas A. McGrath promptly did it without a hitch to the amazement of an audience that crowded the courtroom, after Judge McIntyre himself had looked at them and noticed nothing on the backs that would enable him to read them.

The challenge came during Mr. Steuer's argument on his motion for dismissal of the indictment against Louis Krohnberg, president of the Bijou Waist company. The indictment charges Krohnberg with cheating other players out of $13,000 in a game of stud poker on Dec. 14, last, by reading marked cards. Mr. Steuer told Judge McIntyre that not a single fact was presented to the knowingly used marked cards. Mr. Steuer thereupon produced a deck of cards and played a game of stud poker in pantomime. He dealt the cards to eight imaginary players. After illustrating how impossible it was in his mind for a man to read the cards that were "marked," Mr. Steuer handed them to Judge McIntyre, saying they were not from Krohnberg. After looking them over, Judge McIntyre said, "I am quite certain I can't read them from the backs."

COLORADO VALLEY OFFERS OPPORTUNITY FOR IRRIGATION

Special to the Times. BRONTE, Texas, Nov. 6.—After painstaking inspection and examination of the Colorado valley region north and south of here the West Texas Chamber of Commerce recommends it as offering unlimited opportunities for irrigation. Investigation has led to the bringing out of information to the effect that a few years ago an attempt was made to exploit the irrigational features of this section, but it went away because of inability to finance. The territory between here and Ballinger is very rich of soil and susceptible to irrigation from waters which may be impounded in the Colorado river. This section is particularly adapted to the growing of melons, fruit, alfalfa, maize and feterita.

New York's Famed Mystery Mansion Which Never Had Tenant Will Give Way to Modern Apartment House

By WINIFRED VAN DUSER,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Progress has crept up Madison avenue as far as Seventy-second street and put the zero mark on this city's mystery mansion.

Crowding the heels of wreckers, masons and carpenters, romance, as she lives in spires and wrought stone balconies, is slipping out of existence with destruction of the old Rhineland Waldlo residence, which for a quarter of a century has stood upon a corner of the city's most fashionable neighborhood with shutters drawn over the dusty shades. For it is perhaps the only house in New York which never has had a tenant.

Modern Apartment to Be Constructed
According to an official of the building company which has taken it over, the house will be made over into the most modern type of two and three-room duplex apartments. Plans provide for as many as fourteen apartments in the old pile, which was copied after a chateau in Normandy. The furnishings, said to be worth a fortune, were removed and sold a long time ago.

The history of the "mystery mansion" also known as "house of aching hearts", began when Mrs. Gertrude Rhineland Waldlo returned to this country from a visit in France twenty-five years ago and directed that an ancient chateau of that country be reproduced upon a corner then far uptown and uncrowded by apartment houses and family hotels.

The five-story house is of a style unique in this city. Running round the windows of the middle three floors is a balcony of heavily carved stone work. The sharp little turrets break the roof. The windows are small and iron bars protect those on the lower floor.

A great iron lamp, from which the glass is broken lends cheerfulness to the wide entrance.

Work of Building Proceeding Slowly.

The work of building proceeded slowly, according to the story, and was suspended by Mrs. Waldlo in person. When it was finished she picked up the decorations and furnishings in the French chateau and, bringing them to America, put them down in her new home. The total cost, it is said, was $750,000.

But she never enjoyed the palace she had created with so much care. Soon after it was finished her husband, Francis W. Waldlo, died, and Mrs. Waldlo closed up the house and went abroad. Many times she was offered large sums for it, but she refused to sell. A few rooms in one corner were occupied by caretakers who came and went; the remainder with unwashed, shuttered windows, seemed to stare at the street with sightless eyes.

No one knows exactly how the tale of "aching hearts" or the ghost woman got out.

SAYS FOREIGNERS AND MONGOLIANS IN AUTONOMY PLOT

By Associated Press
MUKDEN, Nov. 6.—Major General Chu Chu-hsiang, commanding Chinese troops in Urga, in an urgent telegram to General Chang Tso-lin, commissioner for the three northern Chinese provinces, reports unrest in Urga, Kobo and among a few tribes in Outer Mongolia. He alleges that the Mongolians with foreign aid and encouragement, are plotting to recover their autonomy, and that unless arrears of pay to the troops and reinforcements are forthcoming serious disturbances are likely to occur.

General Chang is, accordingly, dispatching a brigade of troops.

The Management of

THE RANGER RODEO

WISHES TO ANNOUNCE THAT THEY WILL SHOW AGAIN SUNDAY AT THE MUNICIPAL BALL PARK

For the benefit of those not being able to attend the performances of Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and also to decide Who are Really the Best Contestants. Owing to the fact that some of the foremost riders and ropers of the world having gathered here for this event, the decisions being so close, the management is compelled to have these decisions exacted so some of the principal prizes can be awarded. Therefore the public will really see the best performances by coming out tomorrow than any of the previous exhibitions. We promise the public a show Sunday afternoon that will be an everlasting pastime in their minds forever, as the very best and skilled daredevils will compete for first prizes, and we promise that the fastest, most dangerous and hair-raising stunts will be seen ever witnessed, without exaggeration. Don't miss this Grand Opportunity.

PRICES THE SAME. SHOW STARTS AT 2 P. M. PROMPTLY
