BRIDGEMAN, Mich., Aug. 22 .-Fifteen delegates to the national convention of the Communist Party of America were arrested by deputy sheriffs and federal agents here to-

Sixty other delegates to the convention, which has been in session here since Friday, escaped, according to the federal agents who directed the raid.

The raid, it was said, was carried out under instructions from Wm. J. Burns, head of the bureau of investigation at Washington.

Four federal agents from Chicago directed the raid, assisted by 20 special deputy sheriffs.

Educational union, along with two international delegates represent tives of Lenin at the secret conference fled to Chicago just prior to the raid and are being sought there, according to officers.

Burns stated to state officials that the gathering had been broken up in Chicago and had been traced to Bridgeman. He said he believed many of those attending the convention were aliers and should be deported

One Man Seriously Injured as Mayfield Supporters Break COAL PROBERS Up Speech.

By United Press.

HOUSTON, Aug. 22-One man seriously injured and several near-fist fights averted and the address of former Governor James E. Ferguson, candidate for United States senator, held up for nearly a half hour, was the toll last night of the stormiest political meeting held here in years. After Ferguson had been speaking for a few minutes he launched into an attack on the Ku Klux Klan. As if by a preconceived signal, a voice shouted, "Hurrah for Mayfield," and several hundred men and women made their way to the exit. The crowd was in an uproar. Jeers and catcalls greeted Ferguson's efforts to speak. After the tumult had died down Ferguson made a plea for police protection in order to continue his address. There was none about but in a few minutes Chief of Police Murphy arrived on the scene. He asked the crowd to let the speaker continue and took a seat on the platform.

'MAD STONE' DOESN'T CURE

As the result of numerous inquiries and offers of madstones as an antidote for infection for mad dog bites or rabies, the opinion of medical authorities here was sought this morning as to the value of such treatment. All the physicians who could be reached were unanimous in declaring that the mad stone had been proved time and again by numerous experiments to be absolutely worthless in treating this infection.

The Pasteur treatment is recognized by the entire medical world- as the only treatment known for rabies or hydrophobia and should be administered as soon after the infection as possible, it is stated.

Such treatment, it was learned upon inquiry, can be obtained here at the Terrell laboratory, where it is being given under the direction of the city health officer.

brought many new issues on which they may split and more things over which men may be intolerant.

That is an unfortunate condition truly, and one which only the mind of man can remedy. If we cannot be moderate with ourselves, then we cannot be moderate with others, and thus reach a common ground. On some things; of course, there is no middle ground, as in the case of the revolution, the World war after it had been embarked upon, and other national crises. But there is no need to make a fundamental issue of every difference that arises.

In this case, civilization has lost, if one man is driven from the church or harbors resentment over a mere senatorial contest. The election of either Mayfield or Ferguson is not worth the price.

In Ranger today, residents will not co-operate on one issue because they disagree on another. Their agreement on a third is disrupted because of their prejudices over a fourth. And Ranger is but typical of the world in Makes Good Manager. The "Iron Man" has acquitted himself with credit as a manager. Taking the helm of the Dubuque club in midseason, when the team boasted of a percentage of .077 in the standings of the six-club league he has transformed it into a fighting aggregation.

McGinnity drew his first pay check in professional baseball at Van Buren, Ark., in 1892. He was with Montgomery, in the Southern league the following year, going to Kansas City, in the Western league in 1894.

The panic affected the game and he conducted a business in Decatur, Ill., during the next three years, performing weekly on the slab for semipro teams.

He returned to professional baseball in 1898 with Peoria in the Two-I

Take Ice Regularly

We feel that we owe our customers something more than mere ice; we owe them ice service, and that includes helping them get the most benefit possible from the ice we deliver. We have had a lot of experience keeping ice from melting, both in our store houses and in refrigerators. We want you to benefit from it. We not only want you to run your refrigerator in a way which will keep your food from spoiling; we want to help you save ice.

Of course the more ice you use the better we like it, but wasting ice is quite a different matter. That gives you poor service.

One effective way to save ice is by keeping the ice chamber well fillcd, never less than half full. Just as the ice gets below that, it begins to melt rapidly without chilling the food. Your refrigeration is poor.

Filling your ice box now and then is just as wasteful as it would be to let your furnace fire go out at night in cold weather and then start it up every morning. You would not save coal. You would waste it in heating a cold house and you would not keep your house warm.

It is just so with ice in warm weather. More of it is consumed in

A MANLESS AFFAIR.

A manless party given by a number of Ranger ladies Saturday night was quite a success. The party left here for Leon lake in the late afternoon and before reaching Olden encountered a rain, which makes the roads as slick as glass, and caused some of those who have been used to having a man's hand on the steering wheel, to wish they had brought "him" along. After going through the perils of a wet roadway, a sandy strip of road presented new difficulties, but were overcome, without any of the cars sticking and the party reached their destination, the club house at the Oil Cities Power company's plant, without any serious mishap. After enjoying a swim, dinner was served and then the party played cards until bedtime. Up early in the morning, they enjoyed another swim. followed by a most appetizing breakfast. Some of the party remained all day, fishing, while others left after breakfast for home and their poor neglected husbands.

All who were invited on this slumber party did not go. Some had babies they could not leave-some had husbands who did not approve of slumber parties—and some were afraid of the clouds. Those who failed to report were Mmes. Cabe Terrell, E. E. Crawford, Frank Rarey, F. A. Brown, L. A. Vandervoort, Garrett Bohning, A. J. Orth.

Smart for School Wear

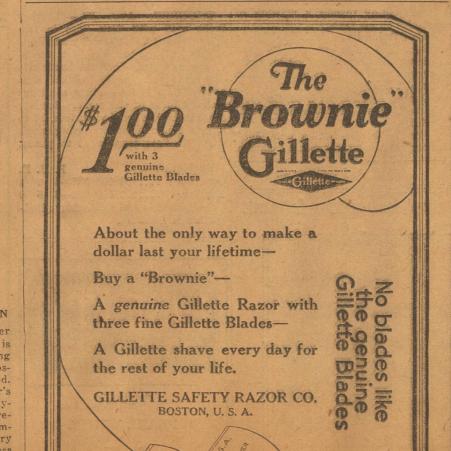

N<sup>O</sup> little or big girl should ever be conscious that her dress is a "make-over," but discerning mothers will see remodeling possibilities in the dress illustrated. Perhaps a serge skirt of mother's is too short for this fall, and maybe a crêpe one is in the same predicament. Parts of the two combined and a bit of embroidery added, and a smart youthful dress will result.

If new material is purchased, two tones of wool jersey are attractive. Should a wash dress be desired, plain gingham may be used with checked for the blouse portion, or vice versa.

The dress is a one-piece style and slips over the head so that it is simple to make, to keep in condition, and to put on.

Mrs. George Metzger, wife of a prominent Pittsburgh (Pa.) physician, startled thousands of bathers at Cape May, N. Mrs. Metzger had been taking lessons in flying from Captain Jack Robertson, who crash-ed nine German planes while serving in the British flying forces in the World war. Captain Robertson was with her when she started stunting, but had no idea as to her intentions. Her husband did not even know she could fly.
