UNCLE SAM'S SALESMEN HELP CONSERVE ROAD FUNDS, JUDGE STARNES TELLS PUBLIC FORUM

County Official Tells Plans for Highway Routing and Construction to Meeting at Chamber of Commerce; Auditors Ticked by Purchasing Feats.

The war department of the United States has contributed generously but without any intent of charity to the Eastland county's road building program.

Included in the list were: Fourteen "junked" Ford automobiles at $25 each. Sixty sets of harness valued at $200 each, at $10; nine hundred squares of corrugated iron, worth $41 each, for $82.

A Hoe caterpillar tractor was purchased for $800, and is now rented out by the county for $20 a day when it is working and $10 when it is idle, which means that the young locomotive will pay for itself within a couple of months.

These were only a few of the items recited by Judge Starnes to show that the county interests were being well looked after. Nothing was said as to the needs of a guardian for Uncle Sam, but the judge made it clear that while the army people seemed to think it was their duty to turn everything not needed into cash, and made prices attractive, no bribery was involved.

Overson presided at the meeting, which was attended by about fifty citizens. He stressed the point that the word "forum" seems to be misunderstood by many members of the chamber, and urged all present to tell their friends that it was the official meeting of the members, where all were heartily welcome and should come to inform themselves as to the city's commercial activities.

The talk of Judge Starnes was the headliner of the evening, he gave a clean-cut presentation of the commissioner's aims and accomplishments in furthering the highway system and the difficulties under which they labored. He paid his compliments to Ranger in commenting on a remark by Mr. Overson that if Ranger is "dead" as some communities like to believe, it is dead "only in comparison to itself," by saying that the change in the city is merely that it has changed its mob into a maraca.

In speaking of the county's highway system, Judge Starnes said that right of way has been secured for 95 45-100 of the 150 miles of roadway. In only a few instances has it been necessary to resort to condemnation proceedings, one being on the Ranger-Thurber road and another just outside of Eastland. There are still places to be ironed out, and some of the roads are still to be definitely located, he continued.

The Ranger voting box, said by leaders to be a Republican stronghold, went 2 for 1 for the Democrats. The final count which was finished last night, stood 613 for Cox and 333 for Harding.

The other Ranger road still unlocated is the Pleasant Grove road. This highway was originally intended as a local road from Ranger to that district, but development in connection with the Stephens county program made this the principal artery of Ranger-Breckenridge travel.

JUDGE HILL'S GRAND JURY TO PROBE GAMING

Also Told to Investigate Prostitution and Conduct of County Officers.

EASTLAND, Nov. 4.—Judge E. A. Hill of the Eighty-eighth district court, Wednesday morning charged the grand jury specially to investigate persons in the county who are running and operating gambling houses, and said in the course of his charge:

"The gambling house in Eastland county is the source of more crime than any other. It is there that other crimes are committed. The high-jackers have been there. Men who do not engage in an honorable livelihood and do not work go there. The unsuspecting boys of the county are found there and are caused to engage in gambling. I want you to indict the men who are getting the 'rake off' at these places. It is all right to indict men who commit crimes at these places, but I want you specially to indict the men higher up, the men who are responsible for the existence of these places.

"Then I want you to investigate the houses where men are said to harbor criminals and have lewd women houses for purposes of prostitution. They are said to be running rooming houses in several places in the county and I want you gentlemen to find them out and return indictments where the proof justifies."

The judge called the jury back and directed them to look into the matter of the official conduct of all the county officers, and if they found that any of them was wilfully failing or neglecting to do his duty, then such an officer is subject to indictment.

The members of the grand jury are: S. J. Dean, foreman; L. W. Forgas, G. Fisk, W. O. Russell, E. F. Agnew, John Gorman, J. E. Sherrill, W. B. Sutton, Ben Landreth, John L. Kane, W. T. Garrett and R. M. Davenport.

VOLUNTEERS ASKED FOR RED CROSS DRIVE

Women who are willing to work in the Red Cross Drive which will commence on the 11th of this month and end on the 17th, are requested to send in their names to Mrs. Clifford Clegg at the Oil Cities Electric office. Volunteers will please state the days they can work the hours, and what district they come from.

ONE BALLOT ELECTS MADDOCKS TO JOB AS PUBLIC WEIGHER

The Ranger voting box, said by leaders to be a Republican stronghold, went 2 for 1 for the Democrats. The final count which was finished last night, stood 613 for Cox and 333 for Harding.

The remaining seventy-four votes were split between the Socialist and American parties. In the race for Justice of the Peace, Place 2, J. N. McFatter led with 141 votes, Shell was third with 47, and Maddocks third with 32.

KENNEDY TAKEN TO EASTLAND JAIL; HASN'T ASKED EXAMINATION

E. B. Kennedy, under charge of arson for the Pine street fire, was turned over to Barry Nails, deputy sheriff, and carried to Eastland yesterday. It is expected that the grand jury, which is now in session, will investigate the charge against Kennedy within the next day or two.

The arrested man has been in the city jail since being returned from Waxahatchie last Monday and has not asked for an examining trial.

DO YOU KNOW THE ADDRESS OF A LAND OWNER?

Farm Move Hampered by Return of Letters for Insufficient Address.

Land owners of Eastland county are hard to find. That is the plaint of the Chamber of Commerce, which finds its efforts toward farm repopulation greatly hampered by inability to locate the owners of idle farm lands.

Anyone knowing the address of any land owner in this vicinity is requested to furnish it to the Chamber, in order that that body may get in touch with him about putting a tenant on his farm. This information would greatly aid the chamber in making the move a complete success.

Of the 1,800 letters mailed out by the Chamber of Commerce to land owners listed on the tax books, at least 400 have been returned because of insufficient address, and others are returning in batches of ten or fifteen daily. It is pointed out that many farmers have moved away since the discovery of oil, and their address is unknown to former neighbors. Others still reside in this vicinity, and many of them receive their mail here, but the influx of population has so increased the quantity of mail that the postoffice employes cannot now be personally acquainted with all persons who receive their correspondence here, and the result is that the address of "Ranger, Texas" is valueless except to those using the general delivery windows. This condition, together with the cessation of rural routes, has created a chaotic condition, so far as getting in communication with old timers is concerned.

The change from pre-oil methods of delivery was cited by Mr. J. E. Barnes, pioneer citizen, who was called in consultation by the chamber in an endeavor to locate some of the missing land owners. One instance was that of a woman known personally to Mr. Barnes. She has moved away but has a daughter living here, Mr. Barnes said. However, in the absence of a city directory, he had no idea as to how she could be located. Mr. Barnes was able to furnish the chamber with the addresses of several other persons, however.

Reach 25 Per Cent. Although the chamber has been unable to get in touch with more than 25 per cent of the owners of idle lands, it nevertheless feels that some good has been accomplished by the movement. Tenants have been found for probably twenty-five farms, and there are nearly that many more for lease to suitable tenants. The full result of the movement, the chamber says, can only be estimated, as several tenants have been furnished with information and then leased the farms, without notifying the chamber that they had done so. It is believed that if communication can be arranged with the missing farm owners, the farm repopulation movement will be in a fair way to accomplish its mission.

Charge Ranger Men With Theft of $10,700 Check

Special to the Times.

PORT WORTH, Nov. 4.—Three men from Ranger are under arrest charged with attempting to perpetrate one of the most daring check swindling and forgery schemes divulged in recent years. The amount involved totals $10,740, which, it is alleged, was in the form of a certified check made payable to a drilling contractor at Ranger, and mailed from the office of the Sinclair Oil and Gas company at Port Worth on Oct. 15.

No charges had been filed up to 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, the men being merely booked for investigation.

One of the men arrested admits taking an envelope containing the check from a lock box in the Ranger postoffice about Oct. 17. He said the check was hidden until plans were formed by the trio. On Nov. 1 one of his confederates replaced the check with some blank paper and resealed the envelope, scratched out the Ranger address and substituted a Port Worth forwarding address on the envelope, but did not obliterate the original name, that of the check payee.

Come to Fort Worth. Pocketing the check, he then came to Fort Worth and registered at the Westbrook hotel under the name of the Ranger well driller. As a means of establishing his identity with the hotel management he asked for a letter which should have been forwarded to him from Ranger. It was handed to him by the clerk.

According to his story, he then went to the First National bank and deposited the check, exhibiting at the same time the envelope addressed to the person he was supposed to represent, which had originally contained the check. The check was received and he was given a certificate of deposit for the amount of $10,740. Going to a local clothing store, he made purchases to the amount of $95.90 and gave a forged check in payment for the goods. The manager of the store inquired at the bank and found the check to be no good, a telegram from the Tulsa office of the Sinclair Oil company having been received asking that payment on the original check for $10,740 be stopped, as it had become lost in the mails.

Arrest Three. The officers were notified and within two hours all three of the parties involved had been apprehended and locked up. Each admits participation in the attempted swindle. The man who had assumed the name of the original payee of the check had intended to draw out of the bank the cash equivalent of the check and divide the money three ways, Thursday, he told the officers. An inspector for the postoffice department questioned the men at detective headquarters Wednesday night and announced that federal charges would be filed against the man who had broken open the mail box. Two separate cases of forgery will be filed against the man who induced the check and forged the signature.

EIGHT DIE IN FLORIDA RACE RIOT

Two Whites and Six Negroes Killed in Fuss Over Election.

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 4.—Former service men patrolled the streets of Orlando, Ocoee and nearby towns throughout the night to prevent a renewal of race clash which is known resulted in the deaths of two white men and six negroes at Ocoee Tuesday night. Quiet prevailed today and authorities said they did not expect further outbreaks.

A deputy called to Ocoee by the riot, which was an outgrowth of the election, said that he believed that the death toll would exceed eight. He said he was sure the bodies of several negroes would be found in the ruins of twenty-five houses which have been destroyed by fire.

IT TAKES A CRUEL MAN TO CHEAT A PUNCHBOARD

Two schemes have been planned and put into operation in Ranger to make punchboards pay the customer a profit and in each case the returns have been good.

No longer than Monday a young man spent his dime on a board and secured a $20 gold piece. A little later another young man punched the same number. The keeper of the stand scented a mystery, but it was not a mystery long. The first number had been printed and exchanged for the number that was punched for the board. This scheme has been worked often. The numbers winning the prize are copied and printed and when the keeper of the board is not looking the numbers are exchanged. In the second scheme numbers punched on the board are cleverly pasted together until they duplicate the prize winning numbers.

WOMAN GETS OKLAHOMA CONGRESSIONAL SEAT.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 4.—Miss Alice Robertson, who came to the old Indian territory as a child more than sixty years ago with a missionary father to teach the gospel of the white man to the Indians, apparently has defeated W. W. Hastings, one of Oklahoma's oldest Democratic congressmen, for representative from the Second district. With but three precincts missing, the vote at 10 o'clock stood: Robertson 24,027; Hastings 23,793.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The last vestige of government control of sugar has been removed through the signing by President Wilson of a proclamation for the revocation Nov. 15 of licenses held by wholesalers, refiners, exporters and importers.

OKLAHOMA AND TENNESSEE GO REPUBLICAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Tennessee has swung into line, swelling the Republican columns and shattering all Democratic traditions of a "solid South," unofficial but nearly complete returns show today. Her shift from the Democratic ranks, coupled with a similar upset of Oklahoma, which was reported last night, assured Harding of 390 electoral votes as against 127 definitely known in the Cox column, which leaves in doubt fourteen seats in the electoral college. The states in doubt are Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico and North Dakota. In all these states except New Mexico, Harding was in the lead from the returns which was available.

ARIZONA TO HARDING. PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 4.—Returns from all counties of Arizona, with only isolated precincts missing, gave pluralities for the Republican candidates for President, vice president and governor. Representative Carl Hayden, Democrat, appears to have been re-elected by a majority of about 6,000.

TENNESSEE MAJORITY 10,000. MEMPHIS, Nov. 4.—On the face of the returns compiled by newspapers from practically the entire state, Senator Harding early today had a lead of approximately 10,000 votes over Governor Cox and seemed assured of Tennessee's twelve electoral votes. Figures tabulated by the Commercial Appeal from all out fifty precincts in ninety-three of the ninety-five counties in the state give Harding a plurality of 9,900, and showed Taylor, the Republican candidate for governor, leading Governor Roberts, Democrat, by 57,197 votes. The Harding vote had reached 199,759 while Cox had 188,752.

CITY BUDGET AND $1.75 TAX RATE ADOPTED

Also Decided to Pave Railroad Crossing and Blocks on Elm and Marston.

The city tax rate for Ranger has been officially fixed at $1.75 on the $100 valuation. The budget for the coming year has been adopted and allows $10,500 for the maintenance and building of streets. It is believed by the commission, however, that this amount can be added to by cutting the appropriations of other departments. An additional $1,000 has been allowed the street department for the upkeep and replacement of its machinery.

The grade crossing of the Texas & Pacific railroad on Main street will be paved by the city, as will one block in front of the postoffice on Elm street and one block in front of the high school building on Marston street. A resolution was passed to this effect at the last commissioners' meeting. No part of this paving was included in the original program, and it will be done under a new contract.

The tax rate as fixed, on a valuation of $12,000,000 which is estimated can be collected from a total valuation of $13,500,000, will provide a revenue of $210,000. To this will be added an estimated income of $22,000 from the police department and from issuing of city licenses. This will provide a total income of $232,000.

Nearly Half Salaries. For the salaries and upkeep of the various departments, $107,210 has been allowed in the budget. Other expenditures which have to be met is an item of $90,215 for interest and a sinking fund on the bonded indebtedness, one of $20,000 for outstanding accounts and one for notes payable of $68,885. A part of this latter item will have to be carried over to another year to make the budget balance with the income. This debt was contracted during the first year of the city's existence, when there was no income from taxation.

The following expenditures have been allowed in the budget as adopted: Salaries—Administration department, $7,400; tax department, $6,000; Police department, $27,320; Fire department, $18,000; public welfare department, $2,400; street department $33,600; sewer department, $2,100; building department $2,900.

Under general expense the welfare department is allowed $1,500 and the street department, $7,000. An appropriation has been made the public welfare department of $500 for property expenses. Tender equipment, $1,250 is allowed the administration department; tax department $100; police, $100, and fire department $7,500. Rent—Administration, $1,320; tax, $648; police, $1,200; public welfare, $636; building department, $636. Supplies—Administration, $1,500; tax $200; police, $100; fire, $50; building, $50. Utilities—Administration, $250; police, $1,500; fire, $3,000; street, $1,000; sewer, $1,000. Repairs—Administration, $50; police, $700; fire, $2,000; sewer, $1,000. Insurance—Administration, $24; fire $376. Interest and Discount—Finance department, $2,500.

RUSSELL CREEK RESERVOIR SITE APPEARS GOOD

Would Hold Billion Gallons, Good Sanitary Location, Excellent Watershed.

Misplacement of the plans of the Russell creek reservoir project in the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company's general offices at Thurber will delay for some weeks the report to be made by Major John B. Hawley of Fort Worth. Major Hawley and city and Chamber of Commerce officials moved over to Thurber Wednesday and had a conference with Mr. Britton, but only a temporary report of the makers of the survey could be found. The survey was made by J. G. White & Co., Inc., of New York, constructing engineers, and the complete plans will be obtained for them.

The party went over to the site of the proposed reservoir, and it appears very favorable, Mr. Hawley said, though no positive opinion can be expressed until a survey is made. If the project proves feasible, a dam about 1,800 feet long and forty-five feet high could be built at a cost of about $300,000, present construction prices. This would impound a lake of about 250 acres, holding nearly a billion gallons of water.

The watershed for this project is about nineteen square miles, according to the surveyor's incomplete figures. Ordinarily this would be rather small, but the surface is of such a character that it would be equivalent to a much larger watershed in most sections. It is either rock or clay and would give nearly 100 per cent "runoff," Mr. Hawley said.

Mr. Hawley was well pleased with the sanitary location of this watershed, which he said was unusually free from contamination.

Alleged White Slaver Also Faces Larceny Charge

Says He Is Under Bond at Dallas, and Will Be Taken There First.

D. W. Young, arrested on a complaint charging white slavery, was allowed to go to Dallas in charge of a special officer there to appear, according to his own statement, to answer four charges of grand larceny.

Clara Conners, arrested with Young, was in the city jail this morning awaiting transportation to Abilene to appear before the federal authorities under the charge of white slavery. The charge against the man and the woman grew out of a sworn statement made yesterday by the Conner woman's 15-year-old sister.

Young said last night "that he was under bond to appear in Dallas to answer the larceny charges and that an agreement had been reached whereby those of the charges would be quashed and he would be given a suspended sentence on the fourth provided his trouble in Ranger did not cause him to be prosecuted in Dallas." This statement he made to Policemen John Moore and Jim Hunt, who were instrumental in bringing about his and the woman's arrest.

Young, failing to make bond asked that he be allowed to go to Dallas alone, stating that he would return to Ranger to answer the charge against him here. The police department, accorded him the privilege of returning to Dallas in charge of Special Officer Barr.

The white slave charge will await the disposition of the Dallas cases.

AMERICAN LEGION TO MEET SATURDAY NIGHT, CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Efforts will be made to reorganize the American Legion Saturday night when ex-soldiers meet in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of discussing plans for the Armistice day celebration. At this meeting a proposed night school for the benefit of ex-soldiers, to be financed by the war fund of the Knights of Columbus, will be gone into and a means made to see if the needed number of ex-service men can be secured to obtain the school. It is required that 300 be in the district.

If the legion is re-organized a post commander and adjutant will be elected to replace Leon D. Brooks and Larry Smits, who have left the city. The legion plans to hold a rodeo Nov. 11, and in the evening have a dance at the Summer garden. To these events it expects to sell enough tickets to relieve the organization of debt.

All ex-service men are expected to be in attendance to help carry out the plans that have been outlined.

BANCROFT TO CISCO TO ARRANGE FOR REDS' SPRING TRAINING

By Associated Press

PORT WORTH, Nov. 4.—Frank Bancroft, business manager of the Cincinnati Reds, will attend the Texas league's annual meeting here Saturday and conclude arrangements for the Reds' spring training at Cisco, according to word received in Fort Worth today.

IF YOUR WIFE THROWS ROLLING PINS AT YOU, CHANGE TO SOME OTHER DESIGN OF WALL PAPER

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Many schemes have been suggested to make home happy and thereby cause husband to stay by the hearth, but the latest advice is that coming from Andre Gouit, famous Parisian decorator, who says that the right kind of furniture is half the battle.

"Innumerable homes are broken up because people don't know how to choose the right kind of furniture," says M. Gouit.

"Women are to be blamed more than men, because the women, as a rule, have most to say about the home.

"If a woman would bear in mind that walls should be covered with colors which suit her complexion, that carpets should be selected to hide or display her feet, that furniture should be stiff or soft, according to her temperament, whether active or languid, she would always look her best in the home and therefore always be attractive to her husband.

Opinion of a New York Woman.

Further commendation for M. Gouit's plan comes from a New York woman, an authority on household arts, who is also a pretty young wife, Mrs. Christine W. Nelson, instructor of the department of household arts at Teacher's college, Columbia university.

"I don't wish to speak officially now, but from a personal standpoint," says Mrs. Nelson, "I have always had very decided views about home furnishings. Furniture is the background of the home life and should not be ornamental alone. It should meet the needs of the family, be useful and simple.

"Furniture should be chosen so as to minimize labor in caring for it.

"Simple lines, less stuffing of satins and tapestries, would relieve many a housewife from a burden and transform her home into a place of pleasure.

"Consider the tired husband who comes home at night to the 'parlor.' Oh, yes," smiles Mrs. Nelson, "there are really a few parlors left in the world, hard as it may seem to believe. A man wants one good comfortable chair. He can't find it. He wants to lean back and relax, to read in a good light.

Easy Chair, Good Light.

"The husband should have a restful chair, not far from a lamp which sends its rays, not only down, but out far enough to be useful. Nothing is more irritating or makes a man cross than a lamp that lights a spot on the table or floor and refuses to cast a gleam on the book or newspaper.

"Many men are actually afraid to relax in the homes they have bought and paid for, the tables are so perfect it would create a small revolution if cigarette ashes fell upon their surfaces.

"Then there is the subject of color in the home.

"Even the person who knows nothing of color is influenced unconsciously by color effects, glaring crude color, it has a fatiguing effect.

"Walls are the background of the home. In a small city apartment they should be a restful gray or tan or of a light tint.

"Dark wall covering makes for a morbid atmosphere in a room. Then there is the old rose insensibly patterned paper we see seldom—happily seldom. It is annoying, irritating and distracting.

Plenty of "Living Rooms."

"While the house should primarily express the personality of the owner, it should be in keeping with its occupant's station in life and should be livable.

"Every room should be a 'living room' in the sense of being sane and comfortable.

"A woman should choose her furniture so that if necessary she can care for it alone. It should not be too heavy. Massiveness and stuffed things are awful in a small room, but one large, comfortable chair is not out of place.

"Now I have always been devoted to the use of a bit of wicker. It is often a gay, bright note in the room, and adds a little touch of personality, and it is not easily injured when, for instance, the children lean upon it.

Views of Psychologist.

From a professor of psychology at Columbia university, who, in matters of the home, may be called a mere man, comes a somewhat different opinion about home furnishings and their effect on marital happiness. Prof. H. L. Hollingsworth is also married, but refuses to believe too much in M. Gouit's theories.

"Psychology points out," says this authority, "that our feelings are not localized, that is, we don't know what causes them. For instance, you have a toothache and you are cross, unreasonable, think everyone is your enemy and a liar.

"Of course, the cause is the tooth, but you blame everyone who gets in your way.

"In advertising, the theory is the same. You may like the actual 'copy' in your ad and yet decide you don't care for the article advertised because you have unconsciously been influenced by an unpleasant picture illustrating a story which runs alongside the perfectly good advertisement.

"You will hate, perhaps, some editor's opinion, because printed beside it is a poem that seems silly to you, or a drawing you don't like or appreciate.

VELVET SUIT HAS BEAUTY OF BOTH LINE AND COLOR

By ELOISE.

If one wants a dressy suit there is nothing more beautiful than one made of soft velvet. The velvet suit or gown is always elegant and distinctive, no matter what the style or color for the latest fashions. It has been almost prohibitive in price the last few seasons, and so we have seen little of it. This year, however, it is coming back strong and is seen in frocks, suits and more particularly in evening gowns.

Here is a most chic and unusual suit made of Zansibar brown velvet. It is fetchingly trimmed with fitch fur and set off with tarnished gold braid and buttons. The soft tiered skirt is a new feature in the suit world this season, and the short, little youthful jacket makes a becoming accompaniment for the skirt. Such a suit is smart for dress wear at any hour or upon any occasion.

CHARGES HURLED IN ILLINOIS CONTEST

J. Hamilton Lewis, above, and Len Small.

The race between J. Hamilton Lewis, Democrat, and Len Small, Republican, for governor of Illinois has been one of the bitterest contests in the country. Lewis, among other charges, alleges that the Republicans have banded negroes together so that votes can be duplicated. Small's adherents charge that Lewis, as lawyer for traction interests, has an ulterior motive in pledging to retain the public utilities commission—one of the issues in the campaign.

Uncle Sam's Salesman-ship Help Conserve Road Funds.

junction with the Stephens county system. It was originally agreed that Stephens county would build two highways to connect with the Eastland system, one extending from Breckenridge to Nechysis and thence to a connection with the Ranger-Caddo road, and the other from Breckenridge to Leary. The Stephens officials have since informed Judge Starnes that they will be able to build only one road to the south, but in view of the altered plans, would build it at any point selected by the Eastland county commissioners.

This decision has affected not only the road from Ranger but the Cisco-Eastland road as well. The original plans were that a road from Cisco northeast to Leary, tapped by a road from Eastland. But Judge Starnes pointed out, to make this the sole highway to the northern oil fields would be putting a road in the western part of the county, where only 12,000 persons reside, to the disadvantage of the eastern part, with a population of 40,000. However the people in the western part of the county are entitled to be "taken out of the mud," Judge Starnes asserted, and a plan has been worked out which is believed the most feasible for all sections concerned.

New Road Plan.

The plan is to build the road from Cisco, but shift it to the east of the mountain near Leary instead of running it through the low ground to the west. A road will be built due north from Eastland, to a connection with the Ranger-Pleasant Grove road, and the combined highways will then swing northwest to a point on the Cisco-Breckenridge road, some miles south of the county line. This proposed route, will miss both Leary and Gunsight. It will lengthen the distance from Eastland and Ranger to Breckenridge about one mile. It is not the ideal solution, Judge Starnes said, but considering the need for serving the county with as little mileage as possible, in order to obtain better construction, coupled with the fact that Stephens county will make only one connection, the commissioners believe this to be the best and most impartial plan.

Forty-Five Miles Graded.

Passing to construction, Judge Starnes said that forty-five miles of the system have been graded and culverts placed on thirty miles. With the exception of the Ranger-Thurber road, which the judge asserted will be one of the best roads in the state, not only from a constructional but from a scenic standpoint, the work has been done in short stretches, where "cut-offs" have been made to shorten the distances. It is due to this fact, the judge asserted, that people complain that little work is being done on the highways. The work is being done in places where it will not interfere with traffic as the commissioners hold it would be a doubly poor policy to grade roads in constant use, as it would hamper traffic and cause deterioration in the work done if subjected to traffic without being surfaced, and this construction cannot be seen from present roads.

The Ranger-Thurber road, however, will be opened to traffic without surfacing as soon as the bridge across Russell creek is completed. This road will be opened next Thursday, it is announced. This route will shorten the distance to the coal mine district by four miles, besides giving a road with more even grades. Nowhere does the grade exceed 6 per cent, Mr. Starnes said, that being on the mountain above Bear Creek canyon. The excellence of this road can be judged by anyone who cares to follow the work road which parallels it. Judge Starnes said, and also called attention to the unsurpassed scenic exhibit which can be viewed from the mountainside. An inquiry as to why this road cannot be surfaced soon developed that the engineers want some extensive fills to weather-set before the macadam is applied.

Grading on the Caddo road north from Ranger also has been completed, but there is some work on culverts yet to be done.

About 100 men are working on bridges and culverts and the same number of teamsters on gradedwork, in addition to the men indirectly engaged in trucking and work at the rock crushers, Judge Starnes said in reply to a question.

Road Surfacing.

Another query brought the statement that the Ranger-Eastland-Cisco highway would be surfaced with bituminous, and other principal roads, would be of asphaltic macadam. The roads from the three principal Eastland county

Indian Tribe Names Governor; Receives Salary of $50 a Year

EASTPORT, Me., Nov. 4.—Every four years the farthest east Maine tribe of Passamaquoddy Indians elect their governor and lieutenant governor, the important event having been conducted in October at their reservation on the banks of the border river St. Croix, five miles from this city, and the impressive tribal inauguration ceremonies will be conducted in January in their village hall, which will be attended by representatives from Oidtown and Peter Dana Point reservations. The Indian brass band will furnish music, the ancient costumes and ornaments of this 355-year-old tribe will be brought out for the event, the oath of office will be administered in the Indian language, speeches made by the chiefs, and tribal dances conducted up to a late hour.

Governor-elect Sapiet Mitchell was born of Indian parents sixty-seven years ago, has an Indian wife and two daughters, is an expert basket maker, trapper and farmer, working in the woods in past winters and carries on trading with the whites.

Lieut. Governor Lee W. Dana is fifty-eight years of age, his wife having died a few years ago, and he has two sons, is a basket maker, woodsman and one of the best known members of the Maine East tribe. While his salary from Dana will be only $25 a year, the governor comes in for $50 yearly for looking after his people. The offices are of much importance and authority and are eagerly sought for at the elections conducted in October and to wear the lone eagle feather of authority is considered a great honor by these original settlers of the frontier.

The Indian women of the Maine Passamaquoddy would have been allowed to vote in the October election had they registered, but will have to wait two years, when the election for representative to state legislature is had, and this will be the first time in the history that their squaws can take an active part in an election.

towns into Stephens county will be of this type, as will the Thurber road out of Ranger. The commission is working on the theory that good drainage is the secret of highway permanence and the grading work will not be skipped. In some sections the stone surface may be reduced from eight inches in depth to six or even five, if the traffic is not heavy enough to demand more.

Rock crushers are being established near Rising Star, at Gorman and Eastland, and in addition portable crushers will be used in some localities. Transportation is a great factor in road-building expense, the judge said, citing that railroads can haul rock ten miles for 10 cents a ton, while truck and wagon hauling costs about 40 cents per ton mile. To reduce this transportation expense, light railways, with a twenty-four inch span—just like those you saw in France, buddy—will be laid along the highways. The county has sixteen miles of track on hand and eight gas tractors.

Maintenance Provisions.

Maintenance is not lost sight of in the maze of construction problems. The county proposes to divide the system into ten-mile sections, with an overseer for each to keep it in repair. Section houses also will be built. The corrugated iron listed in the county "pickup" will be loaned to the road contractors, who will erect warehouses at Ranger, Eastland and Cisco. When the highway are completed, these warehouses become the property of the county. The auto mobile tax money will be used in maintaining the system.

Marked interest in Judge Starnes' talk was manifested by the numerous inquiries and by applause and laughter at times, but if anyone opposed the plans as announced, it was not mentioned.

The members' forum will be held again in two weeks.

HEAVENLY BLISS OF BATTLE PICTURED TO GERMANS DURING WAR

VIENNA, Nov. 4.—The social Democratic press has published as election propaganda some of the letters printed at the instance of the Austro-Hungarian government during the war to pacify the discontent of the people. One taken from the Reichspost is captioned "A Soldier's Letter From Heaven" and reads:

"What you were recently told in this pious paper of the joys of the blessed did not by any means approach the truth. It is in reality far more beautiful. You people on earth can form no conception of the magnificence and splendor which surrounds the throne of the blessed Queen of Battles and of the delights which she holds in readiness for her soldier-children.

"You cherished the wish that I might return home and, having celebrated with you our victory, have continued to be your support as in bygone days. But say to you what our Saviour said to his disciples before His ascension: 'It is well that I go from you.' In heaven I can help you far more than on earth. And why should I celebrate victories there below among you? I have won the true victory for all eternity. I laudly thank the dear Virgin that she did not stay the bullet that pierced my heart."

DUTCH IN ANOTHER DIPLOMATIC SNARL OVER BOCHE SAVANT

By Associated Press

THE HAGUE, Nov. 4.—Holland, which refused to surrender the former German emperor to the allies for trial has another knotty problem in a demand from the Belgian government for the extradition of Professor de Vreeze, formerly librarian of Ghent university, a political fugitive and now librarian at Rotterdam.

Professor de Vreeze is one of the Flemish Belgians who during the German occupation of their country sought, with German aid, to separate Flanders, the Dutch-speaking part of Belgium, from the French-speaking part. Many of them, when the armistice showed Germany beaten, fled to Holland. In their absence, they were convicted of treason and some of them are under sentence of death. Professor de Vreeze is accused as a leading "activist" in the Flemish separation movement. Considering this a political offense and therefore not extraditable, the Dutch government would not give him up.

Now, at a time when relations between Holland and Belgium are strained because of commercial treaty complications and the renewed efforts of Belgian-Flemish activities toward the separatist movement, Belgium has demanded the extradition of De Vreeze, this time on grounds which it proved, Holland might consider, while it would not consider a political offense.

The charge, however, is only that Professor De Vreeze used for fuel at his house in Ghent some government property, such as old boxes, old books and some coal which were on the premises of the library at Ghent.

It is hinted in Holland that this is only a subterfuge to get the professor across the frontier.

The Dutch government has named a commission to decide the case.

Rosy Cheeks & Satin Skin

Because of her rosy cheeks and satin skin a woman attracts the admiration of all men. When the young woman peers in her glass, she may see pimples and blotches and she immediately goes to the drug store for paint, powders and beauty creams, when she should go there for a blood medicine and stomach alterative known as "Golden Medical Discovery." This vegetable tonic and blood alterative clears the skin, beautifies it, increases the blood supply and the circulation, while pimples, boils and eruptions vanish quickly. Ask your nearest druggist for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in tablet or liquid form or send 10c. for trial package of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y.

PROGRAM

LAMB—"The Branding Iron."
OPERA HOUSE—Vaudeville and Francis Ford in "Crimson Shoals."
LIBERTY—Jack Dempsey in "Dare Devil Jack."
TEMPLE—Ethel Clayton in "A City Sparrow."

MINUTE MOVIES

OPERA HOUSE.

Billy Maine and his "Klever Kapers" musical comedy company will play the rest of the week at the Opera House. This company of fifteen clever artists comes to Ranger highly recommended as being the best musical comedy show that has been among these parts in many moons.

The remarkable spectacle of Francis Ford choking Francis Ford while Francis Ford looks calmly on through a window is in store for the patrons of the Opera House in "Crimson Shoals," a special attraction today. In this extraordinary film attraction Ford plays three roles: father, son and grandfather. He is shown slaking hands with himself and in one scene appears in the three characters at the same moment.

TEMPLE.

A cast of clever artists, playing the various supporting roles, is one of the reasons for the brilliant reports of "A City Sparrow," the new Ethel Clayton starring vehicle for Paramount which will be shown at the Temple today.

Ethel Clayton, the star, stands in the front rank of film stars and has a most enthusiastic following.

The principal male lead is portrayed by Clyde Fillmore, who appears as a noble-hearted countryman who falls in love with Milly West, a dancing girl and persuades her to go to the country, where their love romance develops. Walter Hiers, the fat comedian, is funnier than ever, in the role of Tim Ennis, a disappointed lover.

William Boyd, a new screen discovery, does attractive work as Hugh Roy, the star's dancing partner. Bartine Burkett has a delightful ingenue role. Robert Brower, Lillian Leighton and Sylvia Ashton play the character roles and Rose Cade also appears in an unique part.

The picture is a film adaptation by Clara G. Kennedy of a story by Kate Jordan. Sam Wood directed and Al Gilks was the photographer.

LAMB.

Pierre Landis made the greatest mistake of his career as a Romeo when he allowed the seeds of distrust to enter his mind. If he had only stopped to reason it out—but jealousy never stops to reason, it goes to action.

"The Branding Iron," reviewed at length here yesterday, is a feature extraordinary. See it at the Lamb theatre today.

The women of Armenia do not make lace because of the commercial value attached to it, as the girls in that country are taught from babyhood to ply the needle. It is a custom of the country that has been practiced for generations by the peasants as well as the upper class women. Lace making has been fostered by a love of the beautiful and artistic, which seems to be a national characteristic of the people of Armenia.

Mme. Doraldina.

Here is my very first picture of Mme. Doraldina, Metro's latest addition to its list of stars. The letter which accompanied the picture said that she lost no time in making herself at home in the company's studios at Hollywood, Cal. It also stated that the fair madam was reading her first script for "Passion Fruit," which was adapted for her use on the screen from Carey Wilson's story. But the picture belies the letter, for it surely looks as if Doraldina were not reading a word, but just looking pretty for the camera.

Fritz's New Role.

Fritz Brunette, who has appeared in a great many photoplays during the past five years has been selected to play opposite Frank Mayo in his new picture, "Tiger," from the story of that name by Max Brand. This marks Miss Brunette's return to Universal after an absence of a year and a half.

RANGER RODEO OPENS TODAY AT BALL PARK

Riders and Ropers Add Unusual Aspect to Downtown Streets Last Night.

Twenty-one contestants in Ranger's First Annual Rodeo assembled last night at an informal dinner at Scott's cafe. W. J. Roach, master of ceremonies, recited the poem, "The Old Texas Longhorn Steer," numbers were drawn by the contestants and assignment of riders made, and a "regular cowboy dinner" was served. Its front line forces were steaks from the "old Texas steer" himself, old-fashioned Lyonnaise potatoes, and black coffee. Except for the fact that the participants sat on chairs instead of haunches, it was regulation cowboy affair. In the interest of realism, they even threw away their napkins—for a moment.

Ten riders, nine ropers and ten steer riders were assigned numbers, which they will wear during the performance. Just like football players are supposed to do. Added starters, including Ben Roach, champion rider of the world, will be here today.

Contestants.

Assignments made last night were: Riders—No. 1, Tommy Douglas of Waco, horse No. 24, Rough Brown; No. 2, G. P. Hammond of Abilene, No. 23, Barry Nollis; No. 3, Homer Laney of Merkel, No. 27, Navajo; No. 4, Earl Stevens of Merkel, No. 26, Gray Eagle; No. 5, Ben Howell of Trent, Texas, No. 22, Berry Miller; No. 6, Shorty Ricker of Ranger, Bubbles; No. 7, "Nigger Bud," of the Waggoner ranch, Wilbarger county, No. 17, Montana Ball; No. 8, Chick Hannan, No. 18, Little Six Shooter Full; No. 9, John Henry (Texas Bud), No. 20, Easter Sunday; No. 10, C. R. Williams of Kallspell, Mont., No. 23, Tickleoe.

Ropers—No. 1, John C. Crouch, Merkel; No. 3, Homer Laney, Merkel; No. 5, "Nigger Bud," Waggoner ranch; No. 6, W. R. Kelley, Ranger; No. 8, Milt Good, Brownfield; No. 9, H. M. Emerson, Ranger; No. 12, M. B. Kelley, Ranger; No. 13, Earl Stevens, Merkel; No. 16, Shorty Ricker, Ranger.

Steer Riders—No. 1, Red Penn, Fort Worth; Tommy Douglas, Waco; No. 3, John Henry, Abilene; No. 4, Shorty Ricker, Ranger; No. 5, Earl Stevens, Merkel; No. 6, G. P. Hammond, Abilene; No. 7, Chick Hannan, Miles City, Mont.; No. 8, Homer Laney, Merkel; No. 9, C. R. Williams, Kallspell, Mont.; No. 10, "Oklahoma Ben" Howell Trent.

Parade This Afternoon. The rodeo opened with a parade at 1 o'clock today, and the first performance began at 2. The night performance will begin at 8 o'clock at Municipal park, the program consisting of goat roping, broncho busting, steer bulldogging, steer riding and relay racing, the events being intermingled in such a manner that there will be no waiting between events. There will be orchestra music and singing by Broadway Jones.

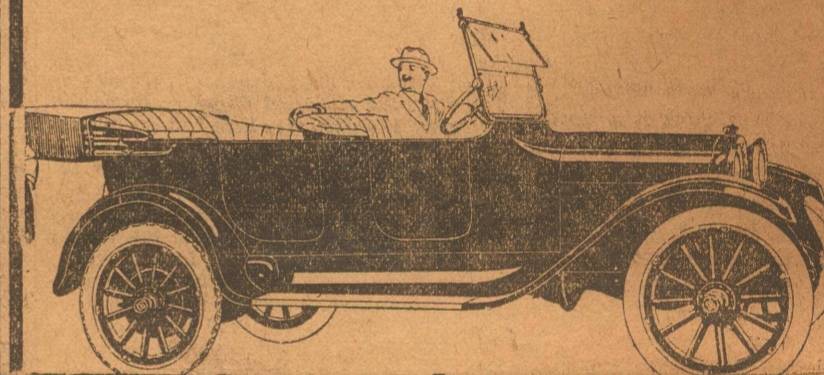

Regular Costumes. The cowboy costumes gave a picturesque touch to the downtown streets last night. Williams, the boy from Montana, would probably draw the prize for sartorial elegance. A white hat of imposing dimensions crowned the ensemble, which included a nifty pink silk sweater, an olive drab whipcord suit with the trousers tucked into the tops of calf high boots that are Indian made, with soft tops that are embroidered in fancy designs. And, while they say this boy is close to the top of the world in the riding game, for that matter, all of the contestants are topnotchers in range athletics. Many of them are familiar figures to those who have witnessed the round-up performance at the Fort Worth stock show.

FORUMS FOR ALL

The attendance at the Chamber of Commerce members' forum last night was fairly good but could be better. There were other attractions, to be sure, among them being the big blow-out of the Shrine club, but there is perhaps truth in Mr. Overson's statement that many persons do not entirely grasp the meaning of the word "forum." It appears that they think it a meeting for formal action on matters, and somewhat exclusive and secretive.

As embraced in the chamber's scheme of activity, however, the forum bears quite another relation to its activities. The business of the Chamber of Commerce is conducted on the representative plan; that is, by directors elected from and by the membership. Decisions are made by them or by referendum, when they feel the latter course is justified.

The forum is a meeting of the members, to discuss matters of public interest and civic benefit. It is not at all a formal affair. It is not dry and dusty with eras and expressions of ignorance concerning the subject under discussion, as some might suppose. They are designed to voice the opinions of the citizens on what should be done for the common benefit and how it should be done. Aside from discussion, no action is taken, but nevertheless, free and open discussion, which will inevitably bring forth expressions of approval or disapproval, will serve as an invaluable guide to the directors in shaping their course of action.

Then, too, there is an informative value to these meetings. Last night Judge C. R. Starves turned the spotlight of publicity on the progress of the county's highway program. There are few things in which the average townbuilder is more interested than this program. Those who were there last night know what is being done and why it is being done. If there was anything wrong with it, it was not spotted. If YOU had been there, maybe it would have been. Anybody would have been both entertained and instructed by the recital.

Come to the open forums. It will be to your benefit and possibly to the community's. Let's make them live a hall next time.

DIDN'T LIKE LEAGUE.

Election returns reveal that the southern states alone remained true to the principles of Democracy. In the North, where voters are more fluid in their political affiliations and less inclined to regard a political party as a lodge, the reversal has been complete. Even Missouri, regarded as a Democratic standby, turned to Harding.

Reasons for the overwhelming vote go as yet unexplained, but the vote itself is good evidence that the people in general have small regard for the League of Nations. Even tried and true Democrats who voted the ticket straight have been known to express their disapproval of the organization. If they had lived in communities less proud of their party loyalty, they would have voted otherwise.

Aside from the league, perhaps, the next greatest reason for the vote has been the sheer wastefulness of army officers in disposing of surplus goods, ordered during the war. This in turn is but a corollary of the widespread profiteering which was permitted during the war in the name of cost plus contract and in any-old-price orders for most anything that anyone had for sale, in any and every quantity to be obtained. Whether this was the fault of bureaucracy and would have been the case under any administration is at least debatable. It probably would have. Nevertheless the party in power must accept the blame for the enormous wastage of the people's money.

Growing tightness of money, losses by the farmers and the slackening of the demand for labor also probably had their share in shaping the conclusions of fickle-minded despite the unprecedented prosperity which has endured almost throughout the life of the Democratic regime.

But whatever the causes or complications of causes for this leading to this consummation, the fact is not to be escaped that the election is a complete repudiation of President Wilson and his policies. Much as Texans may dislike to do so, they must accept this as the nation's verdict.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

What Are We Coming To?

It was tiresome standing on the crowded dock at Forty-second street waiting for the Albany day boat to come down the river and discharge its passengers. The wind was keen and the Woman shivered. She had a cold in her head and she wished somehow that she had not promised to meet the girl who was returning from a camp near Albany.

As the crowd grew noisier the Woman looked around longingly for something to while away the tedium of her stay. She has never been sure that she believed in the maxim, "All good things come to those who wait," but certainly she knows that something interesting is bound to happen if you look for it.

The "something" this time was a baby "vamp," not the doll-face lisp blonde of the flapper variety—no; a real baby, surely not more than ten years old. Petite and slender, with bobbed hair and snapping black eyes, she was whispering busily to her companion, a boy a little older.

"Just watch me 'vamp' this one," the woman heard her say. "This one" was an elderly-looking gentleman who might easily have been her grandfather. But all fish were fair prize to this infant stren.

Her tiny hands slid down her hips, her left shoulder was raised ever so little, and her arched eyebrows and dainty pointed chin mustered all the coquetry of the most experienced flirt who has ever said "come hither." Back and forth in front of the amazed old gentleman she walked, or rather glided. How could such a little thing adopt the sinuous movement? It was perfect in every detail; the suggestion of a pause before each step, the slight drag of the rear foot before it was raised from the ground. The child had been well schooled and was a perfect mimic.

As for the old man whom she was luring, at first he looked amused, then keenly interested. Then an expression of disgust spread over his features. He turned to the man sitting beside him.

"And my daughter wants to go to the movies!" she exclaimed.
The young fellow looked up from his paper surprised. But the old man had gone, perhaps to escape the lure of the vampire.
Reconstructed.
For a wonder the Woman got her number on the telephone the first crack out of the box. Delightfully she asked the maid who answered if she might talk to Mrs. L. But to her surprise it was not Friend Susan, but Friend Susan's lord and master, who answered. "Susan's not at home? But I thought she'd be having dinner," she gasped.
"Not at all," came the voice with exaggerated sweetness. "She's out canvassing for her pet candidate for state senator. Lord knows when she'll be in. I'm a victim of the modern woman's passion for civic virtue."
"Poor neglected Bobby," the Woman sympathized, with what she hoped was a good attempt at sincerity. The fact was that she applauded Friend Susan's reason for absence from the domestic fireside. "But it might be worse."
"Yes, I suppose it might be. If there happened to be a baby, for instance, I suppose I'd be warning the bottle." And he rang off.
The Woman chuckled, for Friend Susan is none other than the Unreconstructed Anti, who hereafter must lose her prefix.
Is It a 1920 Rose?
"Ladies of Leisure really should not shop on Saturday afternoon," thought the Woman, as she looked her way thru the vestibule of a Fifth avenue department store, clutching tightly some much needed purchases.
Caught in the current between her and the gorgeous display window, she remarked two eager, overdressed girls pursuing the cheap and popular outdoor sport of window shopping.
"Gee," remarked Short Sleeves stridently, "lamp that swell cape! Them accoutrements! Everything's accoutrements this year."
Short Vamps sniffed. "Huh! It ain't got nothing on the one we saw in Blank's window, though. Mame, remember the tan one, with the swell lining—the color of them Marshall Field roses?"

TINKER BOB

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

MR. RAT GATHERS ANOTHER BUNDLE.

"Oh, Beautiful Creature of My Desire," said Tinker Bob the King, "take us to the place where Mr. Loghead is just now, for I must see for myself just what this fellow is doing."
Red Fox and the King were off together in a minute. Talk about your thrills! Red Fox had been in some tight places and many times had almost lost his life, but he never had any thrill that was as wonderful as this. Sailing thru the air was something new to him, and for once he sat close to the King, for he knew that Tinker Bob was not afraid.

"It will only be a moment till we see that fellow wherever he is," said Tinker Bob. "Look, here is Jerry the Joy; he doesn't know anything about where Mr. Loghead is, but he would like to know."
Then there came a sound in the ear of the King that told him they were close by where Mr. Loghead was working. Suddenly the Beautiful Creature of the King's desire stopped under a large beech tree in the midst of the Forest. Both Red and the King were silent.

Then they heard a beechnut drop, and from a large cloud of grass came old Mr. Rat and picked it up and carried it away. Another beechnut fell, and another and Mr. Rat gathered them all. Then there came word from above, "Have you enough?" Then there was an answer from below: "Yes, I have quite enough." It was Mr. Rat that made the reply.

Down from the top of the great beech tree came Mr. Loghead. Out from the bunch of grass came Mr. Rat. Says Mr. Loghead to Mr. Rat, "I'm in a lot of trouble."
Says Mr. Rat to Mr. Loghead, "Pray tell me what your trouble is."
"Oh, the King has said that I shall find food for a little worthless mouse that lives in a tree."
"But why should the King say such a thing as that without cause?"

NEW ORGANIZATION TO PUT KIBOSH ON PONZI-LIKE PLANS

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—An organization to promote thrift and to protect savings has been incorporated here as an outgrowth of the war-time conservation campaigns and the recent Ponzi high finance fiasco. It will be known as the Association for the Promotion and Protection of Savings and will combine with the encouragement of safe investment and educational program to combat get rich quick schemes. At the head of the association is Alfred L. Alken, former governor of the federal reserve bank in this city. Those associated with him include leaders in the thrift, Liberty Loan and other campaigns of recent years. The association will co-operate with the work of the savings division of the treasury department, but its activities will be distinct from the government branch.
The educational department will be divided into school and home economic sections, the former covering education in thrift colleges, public, private, parochial, normal and vocational schools and the latter working with women's organizations, fraternities, the army and navy, the churches and professions.
The business department will be divided into industrial and commercial, agricultural and banking sections. The industrial and commercial section will work with labor unions, associated industries, the wholesale and retail trades, Americanization committee and the Young Men's Christian association industrial secretaries. The agricultural section will be concerned with the granges and farm bureaus and the banking section will have it work with the savings, national, trust company and co-operative banks, insurance and investment banking concerns, and trust companies.
Women organizations which are active in promoting legislation before Congress, are by no means confined to the two leading suffrage associations, the National Woman's Suffrage Association and the National Woman's party. Others are the League of Women voters, Gentlemen's League, Congress of Mothers, National W. C. T. U., Women's Section of Navy League and the Child Welfare Society.
If you want good schools you must do your part. Pay your taxes.—211 Merston Bldg.—Adv.

RIPPLING RHYMES

LANDLORDS.

I am looking for a shelter for my dachshund and my wife, and I center heeler-skelter thru the city's noise and strife. I would rent some humble attic two miles higher than the street, but the landlord phoerotic names a price I cannot meet. I would rent a rusty basement beneath a squalid flat, but the landlord from his casement names a price that lifts my hat. Oh the landlord is a peltor who would scalp me with his knife, and I wander, seeking shelter, with my dachshund and my wife. Up and down the streets I trundle with my money in my hand, but my paltry little bundle doesn't seem in much demand; thru my town I've roamed and rubbered, and I hunt for lodgings still, but one cannot rent a cupboard with a fifty-dollar bill. And the landlord, fat and greasy, pays no heed to my despair, to my baggard cheeks and creasy, to the snow that streaks my hair. He has no respect for sorrow; if I wish to rent a berth, I must go and steal or borrow more than his old coop is worth. When in summer heat I swelter, when the winter storms are rife, I must vainly seek for shelter with my dachshund and my wife; and some bright morning you will find us lying in an alley dead, with out trail of smoke behind us and a bitter sky o'erhead.
Alice M. Robertson, of Muskogee, Okla., Republican candidate for Congress is without a doubt the most popular woman among Indians. Her service to her people, wonderful patriotism, absolute integrity and honesty of purpose have all combined to endear her in the hearts of "her people."

LAW STUDENTS OF UNIVERSITY TO FORM COMPETITIVE CLUBS MODELED AFTER HARVARD PLAN

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—One of the new features found this year in the School of Law of the University of Texas is the Peregrinus competition. This is a unified system of clubs, each being inter-related with the other, and centralized under an executive committee of three. The different clubs will compete among themselves during the year, and the best man from the best club will receive, at the end of the year, a prize of $1,000.
The idea of a competitive system of clubs in the School of Law originated last spring among the members of the middle law class, but it was not put on foot until this fall. Organization was made after study of the constitutions of similar clubs in other schools. The Peregrinus competition is patterned mainly after the Ames competition of Harvard University.
The purpose of the new organization is to include as many students as possible in the work, to encourage original work among the students and to imbue them with interest and love for their chosen profession, to train men for actual legal work, and to stimulate interest in needed law reform. Each man in the Law School will be given a chance to express himself and show his ability.
Topics for discussion will be law, law reform, the efficiency and sufficiency of the present day laws, and the amendments and new laws that are needed by the state and country. Questions will be raised by means of hypothetical cases and argued in the form of briefs before the court of civil appeals. In this way the student will grasp a real issue by a set of conclusively presented set of facts.
The separate clubs will be comprised of eight members and each club will constitute a court. Names for the clubs have been chosen after some great jurists or lawyers of the country. While each club will be in a large measure self governing, all will be under the control of the executive committee which committee serves to centralize the organization of the whole.
For the present year the executive committee is as follows: W. B. (Jack) Ball, Farmersville, chairman; Roy C. Ledbetter of Austin, and Herbert Price of Greenville.
Of the 350 men in the Law School 225 have their names on the rolls of the Peregrinus competition, and have shown themselves eager to take an active part in the work.
On March 25 of each year six men will be named by the executive committee who have made the best records in these competitive contests and who are otherwise eligible. The four highest of these will compete in the semifinal contest, which will take place on April 15. On the first day of May the final contest will be held, and the winner of this contest will receive the prize of $1,000. This money is to be used by the winner in doing a year of graduate work in law. The competition hopes to be able to give other prizes in the future, but at present this one will be the only one offered.
The money for the prize is to be raised by a prominent jurist of the state. One hundred lawyers, ex-students of the university, will be asked to pledge $10 a year for ten years, and thereby make up the budget of $1,000.

BOYS WILL SEARCH FOR "POTS OF GOLD" BURIED BY BANKS

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 3.—As far back as the memory of man goes, people have always been searching for the pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow. But thus far the pot of gold has never been found.
The boys of this city will have an opportunity to follow another rainbow trail, with every assurance that if they follow directions correctly they will eventually come to the spot where the pot of gold is buried.
The boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. here will stage a city-wide treasure hunt which will be open to every boy between the ages of 12 to 18, living in Chattanooga, whether he is a member of the "Y" or not.
It is rumored that two old charts have been found by Glen Ellis, boys' work secretary, telling of two pots of money buried in Chattanooga and giving directions as to the route to take to find the hidden wealth. Every boy will be given a copy of these charts and turned loose to try his luck at finding the money. The two boys who get to the two pots of money first will get the contents.
The Chattanooga Savings bank has buried one of the pots of gold and the Hamilton National bank has buried another at a distant point. Neither bank would give out the amount of treasure in the pots, but it is believed that it is enough to have excited the envy of old Captain Kidd himself.
There being no charge or handicap of any kind, it is believed that at least 600 boys will avail themselves of this opportunity to pit their wits and powers of observance against the other fellows.
Senora Sandoval, the Mexican Portia, who has a large practice, had a bitter struggle to obtain her education. During this struggle she received a letter from President McKinley inviting her to come to the United States, become a citizen and practice law here, but she preferred a career in her native country, where she has now become one of the best known lawyers among the legal lights of that country.
Mrs. A. D. Colby, president of the Savannah Business and Professional Women's Club, is one of the most successful female brokers in the South. She was formerly a stenographer and when she decided to go in business for herself she had only $50 capital. She is now making on an average of $5,000 a year.

EMBROIDERY IS KEYNOTE OF NEW WINTER FROCKS

By ELOISE

There are so many charming little frocks this year designed particularly for afternoon affairs or dinner engagements. Satins are first in favor, with crepe de chine and crepe meteoers and charmeses vying for second place. The styles are very simple and there is a decided leaning toward straight, slim-line frocks. The distended hip line and hip trimming is a fast disappearing feature. Short sleeves, harem skirts and embroidery are the special marks of the new frocks.

Embroidery may be noted on almost every frock in the new collections of the exclusive shops. Here is a very smart noon gown which shows the tendency of the day toward embroidery in quantity. It is a simple frock made of brown chinchilla satin embroidered in white chain stitching. The embroidery is the making of the frock, for aside from that there is nothing unusual in its design. It is made with an apron effect both front and back. These loose panels are embroidered, while the underskirt is plain. Short sleeves combined with the high collar is a feature not often seen, but one which is finding favor in this case.

"FILAREE" IS NEW FORAGE PLANT NOW FEATURED IN TEXAS

TOYAH, Nov. 3.—The alfilarilla plant, or, to use the shorter colloquial name, the "filaree" plant, which seems to be a comparatively new pasture or forage plant in this section of Texas, has spread over a great area of the Toyah basin during the last thirty or thirty-five years, according to a report from the Toyah Basin Chamber of Commerce to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which continues to tell about this revolutionary range food.

"When the cattlemen began to come to the vicinity of Toyah just immediately following the completion into that section of the Texas & Pacific railway in the year 1881 or 1882, alfilarilla was found in very few places and then in a small area. Now it covers tens of thousands of acres and the area seems to be moving eastward. "The matured plant bears a number of seeds, each in a pod which is curled tightly around the tiny seed. The end of the pod is sharply pointed and the edges are slightly feathered and barbed which gives the winds an opportunity to blow it along the surface of the ground till it finds lodgement or until it is overtaken by rain. In the latter case the curled pod begins to straighten out as soon as the moisture strikes it and in the uncurling process it is drawn by the bars into the rain softened earth where it germinates. If the germination is followed by reasonably moist weather the plant sends down a tap root, something akin to the tap root of its cousin, the well known alfalfa plant, which is now almost universally cultivated as a forage plant. It is said above that the movement of the filaree growth in this section of the state is toward the east. This probably is because the prevailing winds at the time the plant goes to seed are from the west."

CIRCUS CARNIVAL HERE ALL NEXT WEEK UNDER ELKS' AUSPICES

The H. W. Campbell United Shows will open a week's engagement in Ranger on Monday, Nov. 8, playing under the auspices of the Ranger lodge of Elks. The Campbell shows are one of the three largest carnival organizations traveling. They are different than the usual run of carnival companies, as they combine circus features with their shows. They carry over 400 people, 100 horses and animals.

The feature shows are: Campbell's trained wild animal show, the society horse, dog and pony circus, two circus side shows, the motorcarnival and jolly band concert by Prof. Victor's military band. A sacred concert will be given Sunday evening on Main street.

Parades will be made Tuesday and Saturday.

The show will be located one block north of Main street in Hodges' Oak Park addition.

This is the open season for choosing new managers for the big league—and minor league—ball clubs. Three or four new pilots have been chosen for several American and National league teams.

There are several players now in the big show who some day may pilot a team in the majors. Ty Cobb, Heinie Groh, Art Fletcher, George Sisler, Joe Wood, Larry Gardner and others in this list. So is Oscar Stange.

Stange has little chance with the Tigers to break into print because of the rotten pitchers Jennings has had. But Stange can be given credit for doing wonders with the material placed on the mound. He is a heady, popular gent, with all the other earmarks of a good manager.

Oscar joined the Tigers in 1909, being purchased from Newark. He has been the 'Junglers' main backstop ever since. He broke into baseball with a semi-pro outfit in Lodi, California in 1903. In 1904-5 he was in San Jose high school. In 1906 the Cardinals signed him and released him to Cincinnati. The Reds released him to Newark the same year.

GERMANS HAVE MORE THAN KEPT PROMISE TO ALLIES IN COAL DELIVERIES, SHOWN

By NEWTON C. PARKE, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—The new German government has in a very large measure justified the confidence in its sincerity expressed by Premier Lloyd George in a statement to the International News Service at the conclusion of the Spa conference last July.

Germany has approximately fulfilled the two important pledges she gave the allies at Spa, though her own leaders at that time expressed doubts as to her ability to carry out her promises. She has delivered to France even a little more than the amount of coal she promised though there are some complaints as to its quality. She has practically fulfilled her agreement as to disarmament for the period ending Oct. 1, and now advances received by the council of ambassadors shows that she has virtually carried out the air clauses of the treaty of Versailles, a matter that gave the French very much concern.

Worry Over Airplanes. France has kept a watchful eye on the execution of the air clauses of the treaty, realizing that the Germans would be incapable of any early hostile action if they were stripped of air power. There are constant complaints in the French press that German civilian aviation is progressing at a dangerous rate, but reports to the ambassadors show that the delivery and destruction of former war planes and dirigibles in accordance with the terms of the treaty have been virtually completed.

At Spa, the Germans were frankly told that they had failed to fulfill the treaty terms with regard to air-planes and balloon delivery and destruction. They were further told that the carrying out of these clauses would be one of the tests of sincerity specially considered by the allies.

To Deliver Dirigibles. The interallied aeronautic control commission has now certified that the work is about done, insofar as mobile war material is concerned. Excepting the five Zeppelins destroyed by their crews, all those which were to have been handed over to the allies have been delivered, or are about to be delivered. There remains only the question of the delivery of the two passenger carrying Zeppelins, the Bodensee and Nordstern. These are claimed by the allies to replace the five destroyed dirigibles and it is believed the Germans will deliver them.

A very large majority of the air-planes claimed by the allies under the treaty have been delivered or destroyed. The French actually took possession of only a few and these of the latest types. The others were destroyed in Germany. Under the arrangement made at Spa Germany was given until Feb. 15, 1921, to destroy or deliver "fixed aerial material." This work is going forward at a satisfactory rate and it is probable that it will be completed by the date fixed.

GENERAL SIR ARTHUR CURRIE LEADS NEW DRIVE FOR CANADA

ARTS BUILDING, MCGILL UNIVERSITY, MONTREAL.

General Sir Arthur Currie, who organized and led many a great Canadian drive in France, is a leading figure in a whirlwind campaign for $5,000,000 for McGill University, Canada's greatest educational institution, which was hard hit by the war because every able-bodied student volunteered. Its receipts declined by $40,000 during the first years of the war and dropped $100,000 in the closing years of the struggle.

McGill sent 2,529 men to the war, of whom four rose to the rank of Brigadier General, two won the Victoria Cross and 325 won medals or other honors. The fighting units organized by McGill included five University companies of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry with several drafts of fifties from an uncompleted sixth, two siege batteries, and a contribution of 26 officers and 123 men to a tank battalion. Especially notable was the work of McGill No. 3 General Hospital, admitted by the British to be the finest medical unit in France.

R. B. ANGUS, Hon. Chairman, Campaign Committee

Sir Arthur Currie, who resigned the chief command of the Canadian Army to take over the principalship of McGill University, states that since the conclusion of the war the registration at the University has doubled, necessitating an increase in the staff and the erection of new buildings, while the depreciated buying power of the dollar has hit both the University and the staff hard.

R. B. Angus is honorary chairman of the Campaign Committee while E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is the active chairman. Working with them is a committee of 150 men prominent in Montreal's banking, transportation, shipping, and general business circles. Major G. C. McDonald heads a strong committee of the Graduates' Society.

Sir William Osler, who re-organized the medical schools at Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, and at Oxford, is perhaps the graduate with most international fame, but scores of McGill's boys have made their mark in medicine, applied science, engineering, and other pursuits.

BARRELS REPLACE TIN BALLOT BOXES TO CARE FOR ADDED VOTES OF WOMEN

City Clerk A. Dolan and Miss Mary Flaheaty, Jersey City, trying out one of the ballot barrels.

Election officials all over the country are faced with the serious problem of handling the increased vote due to the enfranchisement of women. One of these problems is the replacing of the ordinary tin ballot boxes with receptacles large enough to hold the ballots, which will be practically doubled in many districts. City Clerk Dolan of Jersey City has solved this problem by turning barrels into ballot boxes.

Fire-proof clothes for working men and of a type that can be generally used everywhere promise to appear on the market soon. Mr. Howard has brought his new discovery to the point where cloth which has been immersed in the solution absolutely resists ignition. A year's test has proved that the solution, unlike most of those now used will not rot the fabric. Mr. Howard has developed a process whereby milk is treated, the but-

FLIM-FLAM GAMES IN GERMANY NET CON MEN RICH RETURNS NOW

International News Service. BERLIN, Nov. 4.-A good thriller, two-reel comic with the regular old movie "hookum" of Charlie Chaplin and Doug Fairbanks makes up the recent experience of Richard Donnerhack, Germany's newest sensation in comedy, criminal and crime games.

Passed As Secret Agent. With an air of profound secrecy he took the proprietor of the largest hotel in Dortmund into his confidence and disclosed that he was a "secret agent of the German government."

Escape a "Fliver." The next morning the military guard posted before the hotel room, after a period of suspicious quiet, opened the door and found the prisoner had escaped.

The Scene Shifts. Scene: The hospital. Herr Donnerhack informs the patients, internes and guards at the hospital that he has had some little practise in magic.

Several months later the police of Muenster, on the lookout for Communist leader Leven, who was wanted, believed that they had found Leven in the person of Dick Donnerhack.

Miss Alice E. Wilson of Ottawa, the first woman scientist ever sent out by the geological department of the Canadian government, has just returned from a 200-mile trip by boat on Lake Winnipeg on a successful fossil collecting expedition.

Miss Sarah H. Young, of San Francisco, Calif., is earning $48,000 a year as an efficiency expert.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the president, has been enrolled as a voter in Princeton, and, like her husband, will cast her ballot by mail.

NOBLE WORK DONE BY RELIEF WORKERS OF RED CROSS THROUGH DEVASTATED RUSSIAN REGIONS

International News Service. WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.-In furnishing relief to the needy of Russia through its commissions to Siberia, Western Russia, the Baltic States and Southern Russia, American Red Cross service was extended to millions, according to figures taken from the forthcoming annual report of the organization.

Sanitary trains, or hospitals on wheels, totalled 75 cars, equipped with 850 beds with a capacity of 1,550 patients. There were also typhus trains, the work of which was chiefly preventive.

Hospitals in Siberia. In caring for the sick in Siberia the American Red Cross operated 18 hospitals of its own with a total of 6,596 beds. There were in these hospitals 56 American doctors and 34 non-American; 182 American Red Cross nurses, 25 Russian, 15 Japanese and 13 Chinese.

Feed Prisoners of War. Much of the relief in Western Russia was hospital service. The work developed out of the commission for relief of allied prisoners of war in Germany, which closed in August, 1919.

4000 allied soldiers in German prison camps. In the course of its operations the American Red Cross in the Baltic states up to June 30, 1920, expended over $500,000 in hospital aid.

Open Food Kitchens. Ten food kitchens and forty-five dry food distributing stations were operated with a daily feeding capacity of over 26,000 persons at a total cost of $405,235.

Work in South Russia consisted largely of caring for refugees and in fighting typhus and cholera in the Crimea. One of the most difficult tasks of the American Red Cross was that accomplished in helping the people in Estonia, where there was absolutely no ambulance service and very little in the way of hospitals when the Americans arrived.

Moslah and Hella Nobles Add Jazz to Ranger Shriners' Smoker; Good Eats, Music and Oratory

The arrival of a special coach of Fort Worth and Dallas Shriners last night prized the lid off the Ranger Shrine club's smoker.

After the parade, which informed everyone in town that the Shriners were in town, about 200 nobles assembled at the Masonic hall and staged a festive and hilarious evening.

Dr. Collins presided over the gathering. Chief among the speakers was Fritz G. Lanham of Fort Worth, who on Tuesday was reelected to Congress from the Thirtieth district.

As a final act, Dr. Collins, the president, appointed Nobles Buchwald, Levi Neal, Black, Fordyce and Wiss as a committee to strengthen the work of the present organization.

It is custom in Berwickshire, England, and other parts of Great Britain, among women workers in the field, when their backs become tired by bowing low down while digging turnips with short shanked hoes to lie down with their faces to the ground, allowing others to step across the lower part of their backs, on the lumbar region, with one foot, several times until the pain of fatigue is removed.

ACTORS SCORE BAN OF CHURCH ON DANCING SAY IT WILL HARM PROFESSIONALS ON THE STAGE

International News Service. NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—More resolutions denouncing the attitude of the Methodist Episcopal church toward the amusement profession have just been adopted unanimously by the executive council of the Actors' Equity association. The memorial follows: Whereas: Forbidding members of the Methodist Episcopal church to dance, play cards, attend theaters, horse races and circuses, under penalty of expulsion as at present, is primarily a question to be fought out by the progressive Methodists, but

Whereas, By authority of the Methodist amusement ban these 1872 blue laws have been utilized to keep dancing teachers out of the Methodist church, and

Whereas, It seems no more reprehensible to teach the art of dancing than it is for church members themselves to dance, which most of them do, and

Whereas, In the Actors' Equity association there are thousands of Christians who are professional dancers, many of whom have been brought up in Methodism. They are proud of their calling and resent unfair church criticism of their vocation; and

Whereas, Dancing masters are our brothers and sisters in the amusement profession; hence injustice done to them is also resented by those on the stage, and

Whereas, a dancing teacher who had been a member of one Methodist church in Wichita, Kan., was refused affiliation with another because of her connection with the amusement business. In commenting on the treatment accorded her, the Central Christian Advocate, official organ of the Methodist Episcopal church, editorially recently stated:

"The pastor who firmly put his hand between a dancing master and our fellowship acted at once in his right and his duty. Any other action would have branded him a hireling shepherd, who careth not for the sheep." A dancing master, who wanted to come into the Methodist church and who professed no penitence and no resolution to quit the profession, could not break into the church."

Therefore, be it resolved, In the name of the theatrical profession, as well as speaking for the dancing masters of the country, the Actors' Equity association reiterates its indignation at such Pharisaic attitude on the part of any Christian denomination. This organization again calls publicity upon the board of bishops

Tomorrow Marks the Opening of the Boston Store's GREAT PRICE ADJUSTMENT SALE

An Announcement of Tremendous Importance to Every Man and Woman

WE WANT every man, woman and child in the Ranger Trade Territory to be here at the opening of this sale tomorrow morning. This event is sure to receive a hearty welcome, due to its timeliness, the exclusiveness and quality of merchandise offered here, and the startling lowness of the prices. This price adjustment sale begins at our front entrance and continues throughout every department of the store. In normal times we could not make such extraordinary offers of fine merchandise at the greatly reduced prices we are giving in this sale. However, we find our stocks much larger than they should be and to reduce them we have drastically reduced their selling price. Everything in stock will be marked in plain figures with the sale price on every article. It will pay you to drop your work and attend this sale tomorrow. We guarantee you a great saving and satisfaction on every purchase.

Big Savings On All Women's Wear. Our buyer has just returned from New York and other Eastern markets, where he was successful in purchasing several hundred garments of the very newest and most fashionable styles in suits, coats, and dresses at about one-half their former selling prices. These savings are passed on to you in this price adjustment sale. Women need no introduction to our wonderful assortments of Ready-to-Wear; they know the best the markets offer is always to be found at the Boston Store. In this sale we are going to give you bargains you will long remember; regardless of what you need, you'll find it offered here at prices much less than you have ever expected to pay, for the same kind and quality. GREAT SALE OF FURS. $25,000 Worth of Furs, Stoles, Coats, Coatees, Capes, Chokers, Scarfs, Etc. It was a wise act of our buyer while he was in New York two weeks ago, when he secured an enormous lot of very fine pieces of fine furs from one of our big furriers, to be sold for his account. It is his surplus stock—on which he is willing to take a loss, and we are willing to handle them on a small margin of profit. Our conscientious advice to you is to buy your furs now. A saving of one-third on the present prices means a saving of nearly one-half on early season prices. This is the greatest assortment of furs ever seen in Ranger. There are too many styles and qualities to mention prices. stock must be seen to be appreciated.

Timely Reductions On All Men's Wear. Remember, men, we are offering you the best values that money can buy in such standard quality makes as Hart Schaffner & Marx and Fashion Park Suits, Hanan and Howard & Foster Shoes and many others. Hundreds of models in suits and overcoats, mostly new arrivals for Fall and Winter wear, are offered at savings amounting from 25 to 50 per cent. Buy now—at this sale tomorrow. We believe you'll agree when you see the values offered, that we're doing our share in bringing prices down to pre-war levels. In many instances we will lose money—but we are prepared to shoulder that. In any event, no matter what you buy, you'll save money by attending this sale. Prices Lowered on Everything in the Store—Nothing Is Reserved.
