BABES, GRANDMOTHER ESCAPE DEATH 20 Ohio Convicts Believed Lost in Prison Fire BEAUMONT PRIEST AND PAPER-HANGER ARE SHOT TO DEATH

MURDER-SUICIDE BELIEVED

Catholic Priest and Aged Man Found Dead in Priest's Study.

By United Press.
BEAUMONT, Oct. 8.—A Roman Catholic priest and an aged paperhanger were shot to death in the priest's library here today after an argument that involved the two dead men, another man and a woman.

The dead are Father Anthony De Simone, 54, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church for seven years, and John Rose, 70, painter and paperhanger.

Police believe Rose shot the priest and then shot himself, but they have not completed their investigation nor have they determined the cause of the quarrel that preceded the slaying.

The positions of the bodies in the library gave rise to the murder-suicide theory, according to officers who are holding in custody Paul Eckers, 55, a carpenter, and Mrs. A. V. Geritano, 50, as material witnesses.

Famous Executive Writes Ranger Boys

W. P. Chrysler, president of the Chrysler Corporation, Detroit, sent an inspiring message to the members of "Our Heroes" Sunday school class of the First Methodist church of Ranger.

The letter was read to the class Sunday by M. F. Peters, instructor. It follows:

"I am very glad indeed to accept the invitation contained in your letter of August 27 to say a word to the boys of 'Our Heroes Class'. I am particularly glad to respond to your request because I am very much interested in the young people of the great rural West as I myself spent my entire youth in the rural districts of Kansas.

"This is an age of young men. Opportunities in industry were never greater. To be sure, the trained man has the advantage but, with hundreds of colleges and universities, there is little excuse for a man not preparing himself for the battle of life. However, if the man seeking his way in the world is without a college education, he can overcome the obstacles by home instruction. It all depends on how hard a man is willing to work to achieve success. The thing that I learned early in life was that one reasonably sure way to get ahead was to do just a little bit more than the boss expected.

"This is truly a wonderful age. Never were the rewards as large and I am not thinking in terms of

Her Tip Started Northcott Case

Here is Jessie Clark, sister of 15-year-old Sanford Clark, whose story of the murders of boys on the Riverside, Calif., ranch of Gordon Stuart Northcott has led to young Northcott's arrest in Vancouver, B. C. Miss Clark, returning to Vancouver after a visit to the Riverside ranch, told immigration officials her brother was being abused by the Northcotts there, officials transmitted her story to California authorities and the story told by young Clark was the result.

In addition there were three arrests for traffic violations.

STAMPEDE BY FEAR-MAD MEN

Several Bodies Found; Some Victims of Fire, Others of Rush.

By United Press.
JUNCTION CITY, O., Oct. 8.—Twenty of the 288 Ohio state penitentiary prisoners who were trapped by fire in the dormitory of the Junction City brick plant were still missing at 9:30 a. m., today, brick plant officials announced after checking the records to determine the number burned to death or killed in the rush to escape the flames.

Of the 268 accounted for, eight were taken to the nearby hospital in Columbus. Some of the 20 were known to be dead—victims of the fire itself or trampled to death.

Deputy Warden Blosser said he believed from 12 to 15 had died in the fire. Several bodies were found burned beyond recognition. Parts of other bodies were also found. It was possible, Blosser said, that one or two of the 20 might have escaped from the stockade. That could not be determined, however, until the records could be checked with those in the Columbus office.

L. N. Gratton, a guard, first noticed the fire from the outside. He called another and they went immediately to the basement of the dormitory where the center of the fire was located. Flames 20 feet high shot out as they opened the door.

Wm. O'Malley, 35, of Cleveland, serving six years for automobile theft, smelled smoke shortly after 12:30 a. m., he said. O'Malley, one of the brick plant workers, was in the brickery. He rushed through the building sounding the alarm.

Pandemonium broke loose as the prisoners stormed the doors and windows. Some were trampled to death and others were killed by falling debris. The brick plant fire whistle aroused residents in Junction City and vicinity.

They were pressed into service to guard the prisoners who were at liberty inside the stockade.

Cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

BIG GAMBLING 'ROUNDUP' BY THE RANGERS

Former Football Star Accused, Gonzauillas Is One of Raiders.

By United Press.
WACO, Oct. 8.—Sam Coates, formerly a member of Baylor university football squad, was placed under $1,000 bond today and held for examining trial along with four other men, charged with operating a gambling place here.

The raid in which Coates was taken was one of the largest of its kind ever staged here. State Rangers Gonzauillas and Mays led the raiding squad on the alleged gambling place which resulted in the arrest of 30 men. Five of those taken were charged with operating a gambling house and 14 were charged with gambling.

Officers confiscated a large number of gambling devices. About $75 in cash also was taken. Examining trial for those arrested was scheduled for this afternoon.

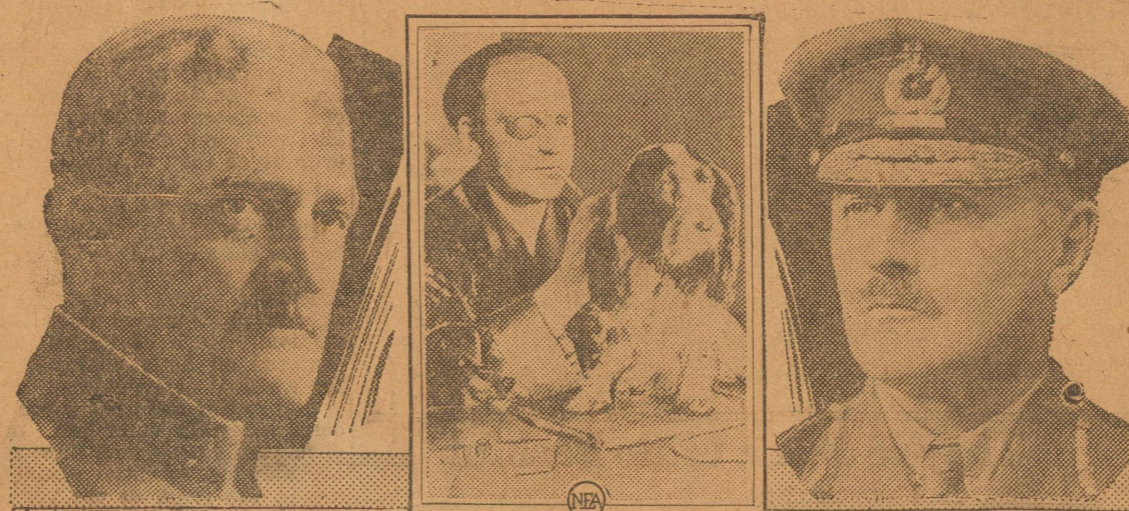

RAIN PREVENTS TODAY'S GAME OF THE SERIES

Cardinals and Yanks Rained Out. Yankees With Three Victories Need One More.

No game—rain.

ELKS CHARITY FUND BOOSTED BY THE SHOW

$700 Received; Exalted Ruler Thanks People for the Support Given.

Edw. R. Maher, exalted ruler of the Elks club No. 1373, today issued a statement in which he thanked Ranger residents for the support given the John Francis shows, brought here for the benefit of the organization's charity fund. The show exhibited here last week.

Mr. Maher stated that the charity fund of the Elks club had received approximately $700 as its part of the week's receipts.

"It is the desire of the officers of the Elks club, as well as the members and those who comprise the charity committee, to thank the people of Ranger for the cooperation given us in the show which has just ended.

"The charity fund has been boosted considerably by the percentage granted us by the show. It is the purpose of our organization to help with any charity cases that may come to Ranger and people will always find our association willing to aid, in every way possible, worthy charity causes.

"The money we derived from the exhibition of the show will serve the charity cases that come to our attention for several months and we feel that the people of this city deserve a vote of thanks from the organization for making this possible."

AMERICAN LEGION AND VETERANS OF WAR WITH SPAIN WILL OPEN ANNUAL MEETING ON SAME DAY

By United Press.
SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 8.—While the navy dirigible Los Angeles and scores of army airplanes circled overhead, General John J. Pershing and 50,000 of the doughboys who were fighting under his command in France 10 years ago today gathered in the municipal auditorium here for the opening of the tenth national American Legion convention.

The occasion was significant for the retired leader of America's war-time forces for it was in this city that he took his post as head of the expeditionary forces. Many of the buddies now boisterously celebrating in the streets of the city were, 10 years ago, getting their first taste of military life in the army training camps about San Antonio.

Pershing mentioned to the convention, Pershing mentioned to the convention, peace pact and declared it to be an important step towards peace. He asserted that our country today maintains the very minimum of forces necessary for security, regardless of the view of some unlearned and inexperienced citizens who seem to think that the treaty would end war. He added that such a treaty at least would prevent the calamity of war appearing out of a clear sky to shock mankind as it did in 1914.

Following the annual report by National Commander Edward E. Spafford, army buglers stationed in all parts of the city at 12:30 o'clock sounded taps, marking the memorial services in the auditorium. The entire city paused during the taps and Harlan Woods, department commander of the District of Columbia, at Washington placed a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier.

As at previous conventions, F. G. Wintz, of El Segundo, Calif., was the official clown of this year's gathering. He appeared at the auditorium early loaded with nondescript medals and a tin horn to entertain delegates.

By United Press.
HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 8.—Thirty years after an American army invaded Cuba, defeated the Spanish forces and established the Republic of Cuba, the veterans of that expedition assembled here today to open the thirtieth national encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans.

In the party of 20,000 also will be veterans of the Philippine insurrection and Boxer rebellion.

In the official party, arriving on the U. S. S. Texas, are the guests of honor, Admiral H. A. Wiley, commander of the United States fleet; Assistant Secretary of War Charles B. Robbins; Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the army, and Rear Admiral Cluverius, commandant of the navy yard at Norfolk, all veterans of the Spanish war, and the following officials of the U. S. W. V.: Past Commanders-in-Chief Charles W. Newton, Connecticut; Edward J. Gihon, Massachusetts; Maurice Simmons, New York; Oscar T. Taylor, Pennsylvania; John Lewis Smith, Washington, D. 17 on Truck into Which Auto Hits Six in Hospital

Charge of Driving While Intoxicated is Filed Against R. C. Jackson, Amarillo Traveling Salesman; Collision Near Thurber Hill

Nineteen persons narrowly escaped serious injuries at 5:30 this morning when a truck transporting 17 and a large sedan, containing two passengers, figured in a head-on collision on the Bankhead highway, about six miles east of here, just west of Thurber Mountain.

Two ambulances from the Killingsworth-Cox company and the Owens Funeral home rushed seven of the injured to the West Texas Clinic and Hospital where emergency treatment was given.

Six were in the hospital this morning, but only three remained this afternoon.

R. C. Jackson of Amarillo, traveling salesman for Padgett Company of Dallas, was the driver of the 1928 Buick Sedan which crashed into the small truck. He was carried to the hospital where medical attention was given but left about 10 o'clock this morning. He was at first thought to be seriously injured.

His companion, a sister-in-law, received a severely lacerated hand and minor cuts and bruises.

Otto Blain of Terrell, driver of the truck which was conveying cotton pickers to Sweetwater, was the most seriously injured. He received two broken ribs on the left side and a badly gashed arm. He was also a mass of small cuts and bruises. His wife was only slightly injured.

Mrs. Bill Bank of Kaufman received a badly cut hand and a scalp wound.

Mrs. B. H. Hensley of Kaufman and her son, Dewey Hensley, also received medical treatment at the hospital. Hensley had a badly wrenched wrist and Mrs. Hensley, an aged woman, was considerably shaken up.

Blain, Mrs. Hensley and Mrs. Bank are still at the hospital.

The small truck contained nine adults and eight children. None of the children were hurt. One baby was thrown clear of the wreckage into a ditch on the other side of the highway and was found about 15 minutes later playing in the grass. She was 18 months old.

The baby's mother was being held by his mother when the accident occurred. After the crash it was found in his father's arms.

Relief organizations were working today giving what aid possible to the people. The truck was being repaired by a local man and the others were being given all assistance possible.

The sedan turned over twice after the accident and was demolished. The truck was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars.

GIRL TRIES TO CONCEAL $3,000 FROM BANDIT

But Bold Robber of Chicago Theatre is Not to Be Fooled.

By United Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—A bandit who robbed one of the largest showhouses here of $6,400 last night while 5,000 persons watched the performance, was sought by police today.

He calmly walked past the guard at the theatre entrance and held up the cashier's office in the basement of the building.

That the man was able to stage such a robbery at a busy time within 100 yards of State and Madison streets, one of the world's busiest corners, was believed due to the fact that he was thoroughly acquainted with the building and the station of the employees.

Six persons were in the cashier's office when the bandit entered. He warned all of them to line up against a wall, warning them if they did not do as he said, he would shoot them.

Miss Helen Bowers, the cashier, attempted to hide part of the evening's receipts by stuffing the money behind her as she remained seated. The bandit, however, scanned to know that $3,000 given him was not the total receipts and asked "Where is the rest of it?" Then he saw the corner of a bill behind Miss Bowers' dress and ordered her to give him the money she had attempted to hide.

NEW YORK OBJECTS.

The largest city in the United States strongly resents being held up to the rest of the nation as America's most wicked and lawless city. The World says:

"Mayor Walker has an indisputable right to resent the statement of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general of the United States, that New York city is the 'worst' of the 'wicked sections' that oppose prohibition, and that it is ruled by Tammany, 'an organization' that for underworld connections and political efficiency is matched no place else in America." Such remarks may be hailed with applause in Oklahoma. But they are demagogic, grossly unjust, demonstrably untrue. They were made in an attempt to excuse the singling out of New York city as the scene of a sensational intensive enforcement drive in the course of which Mrs. Willebrandt's policy was disavowed by the able United States attorney of the district.

"We submit that there are three great American cities, republican in political faith, concerning which such remarks would be more appropriate. Naturally, Philadelphia would be on the list. There the grand jury has just reported a direct connection between certain members of the police force and a well-organized group of persistent offenders; and upon its advice Mayor Mackey has suspended from his duties Charles C. Beckman, until now captain of detectives.

"The presence in any community of 'desperate men, defiant even of the fundamental rules under which our citizens live,' as the Philadelphia grand jury puts it, is roughly indicated by the homicide rate per 100,000 of the population. The same figures are in these days a pretty accurate index of the activity of illicit dealers in liquor, since so large a percentage of homicides is attributable to gang warfare over bootlegging territory and privileges. The homicide rate in New York city in 1926, reported by Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, consulting statistician of the Prudential Insurance company, was 5.7. The homicide rate in Philadelphia in the same year was 8.6. Both rates are much too high, but the advantage in the matter of 'desperate men' does not seem to lie with Philadelphia.

"Chicago is a republican city. Its murder rate in 1926 was 16.7, three times as great as in New York city; and that rate apparently has not declined in recent months. Practically all the murders most characteristic of Chicago—the planned and deliberate slayings of gangsters by rival gangsters—are attributed to bootleg rivalries.

"Detroit is a republican city. Its nearness across a narrow strait to wet territory in Canada has fairly earned it the name of the wettest large city in the United States. Its mayor refuses to direct its police force to neglect other duties to specialize in liquor law enforcement. The 1926 homicide rate in Detroit was 25.3, more than four times that of New York city. And again, as in Chicago and Philadelphia, the bootleg gangs were responsible for a liberal share in piling up such a shocking rate.

"For Mrs. Willebrandt's information—if she is really ignorant of facts so easily obtainable—we would emphasize that in no respect need New York city shrink from comparison with the towns we have named. Under a board of estimate only half of whose members are Tammany men it has what is in effect commission government, much improved of late and far superior to that of either Philadelphia or Chicago. It has one of the lowest death rates among the great cities of the world, a tribute not more to its health department than to the steady habits and normal right living of its excellent and intelligent people. Its citizens are public-spirited and generous; its museums, parks, libraries, universities are famous.

"In every respect New York is a good city to visit and a good city to live in—in every respect but one, as orators of the Willebrandt school view it. It is a democratic city. That makes it a 'wicked section.' That entitles it to intensive liquor raids engineered from Washington while wetter towns of republican leanings go scathless."

GARRETT AND MILLS STAR

Two Eastland county boys launched the Eastland county football spirit against the University of Indiana Saturday when they played the whole game with the University of Oklahoma, which Indiana won 10 to 7.

Buster Mills, the pride of Ranger, played the entire game at fullback, and was one of the outstanding backfield men. It was Mills who skirted right end for 11 yards the down before Oklahoma made its only touchdown against the Indiana team.

Bobby Garrett, former Eastland High school star, and winner of his numeral at Texas university in 1926, played the game at right tackle.

Garrett, heavy, aggressive and a defensive man of no mean ability, was featured in the Sunday edition of the Daily Oklahoman. His picture was run in that paper as one of the outstanding linemen.

The two boys played against each other in high school when the Ranger Bulldogs and the Eastland Mavericks had their annual conflict.

Oil Safety Show To Be Given Here

The local safety committee of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association, will present a free motion picture show at the High school auditorium Wednesday night, Oct. 10, at 7:45 o'clock. H. P. Earnest, chief clerk of the Prairie Oil & Gas company, announced this morning.

Some months ago a similar show was given in Ranger, urging the use of safety measures.

The local safety committee is composed of Frank Pearsall of the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company; J. L. Wheatley of the Sinclair Oil company, and Mr. Earnest.

The program Wednesday evening will feature "Mr. Bonehead," "Mid-Continent Safety News," "Oil Topics and Oil Squibs," a comedy.

All oil field workers, officials of oil companies and their families, as well as the general public, are invited to attend the "safety" show.

Miss Mary Bond has been officially appointed as assistant secretary of the organization succeeding Miss Jennie B. Rucker, resigned.

They're Just a Little Bashful

Look at the men who are shielding their faces from the camera? Who can they be? They are policemen. That is strange, for most policemen do not shun the newspaper photographers like this. Ah, but these are Philadelphia policemen. They are some of the 24 who were arrested and charged with extortion and bribery in connection with the Special Grand Jury's investigation of bootlegging and police graft.

FORECAST IS BELOW 14,000,000

U. S. Government Estimate for Texas is 5,050,000 Bales

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The condition of the cotton crop declined during September, from 60.3 percent to 54.4 of normal, bringing the forecast production on October 1 to 13,993,000 bales, or 446,000 bales below the forecast of September 1, the agricultural department announced today.

This reduction is less than the reduction indicated by the decline of 5.9 points in condition for the reasons that in the September forecast the crop reporting board's interpretation of conditions made allowances for damages of boll weevils anticipated by reporters at that time the department said.

The reduction, therefore, represents approximately the reduction due to unfavorable climatic developments. In South Atlantic states, excessive and continuous rains caused heavy losses from boll weevils and boll rot. In the northern portion of the belt, the low average temperatures prevented average development of bolls. In part of Oklahoma continued droughts have reduced the size of bolls and outturn of lint. On the other hand, a slight improvement has resulted in Mississippi and Louisiana due to favorable weather for maturing the crop.

The statistics for Texas on the cotton crop as announced by the department are: Texas, condition of normal, 58 percent. Indicated production 5,050,000 bales.

TEST EXPECTS A GAS SAND

Oil operators are watching with interest the deep test well being put down on the Brothers ranch, between Strawn and Winks City, by Ranger operators.

The test is the property of John M. Gholson, A. B. Conway and W. D. Conway.

It is being drilled by Gholson and Disney of Ranger.

The well is miles from the nearest production. It had reached a depth of 3,504 feet this morning. A little sand was picked up just above that depth. The well is expected to pick up a gas sand at around 4,000 feet.

 SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 8.—Marking the close of the first decade of its existence, the American Legion assembled here today for the opening of its annual national convention. Much of its interest is centered on hotly contested race for national commander.

State after state has sprouted a commandership candidate of its own. An even dozen announced, probable or potential candidates are in the field, as the veterans' cohorts move upon their convention city. The largest crop comes from the middle west and the south. With the present commander, Edward E. Spafford, a New Yorker, the east apparently is not disposed to try again.

Among the candidates more or less prominently under consideration are: O. L. Bodenhamer, of Arkansas; Albert L. Cox of North Carolina; Frank Douglass, of Oklahoma; John Ewing, of Louisiana; Roy Hoffman, of Oklahoma; Walton D. Hood, of Texas; J. Monroe Johnson, of South Carolina; Howard E. Macfarlane, of Florida; Paul V. McNutt, of Indiana; Ralph T. O'Neill, of Kansas; Rufus Rand of Minnesota, and E. M. Stayton, of Missouri.

Numerous notables, both from this country and from abroad, will address the gathering assembled in San Antonio's imposing municipal auditorium. The building was erected at a cost of $2,000,000 as a memorial to the men who served in the world war.

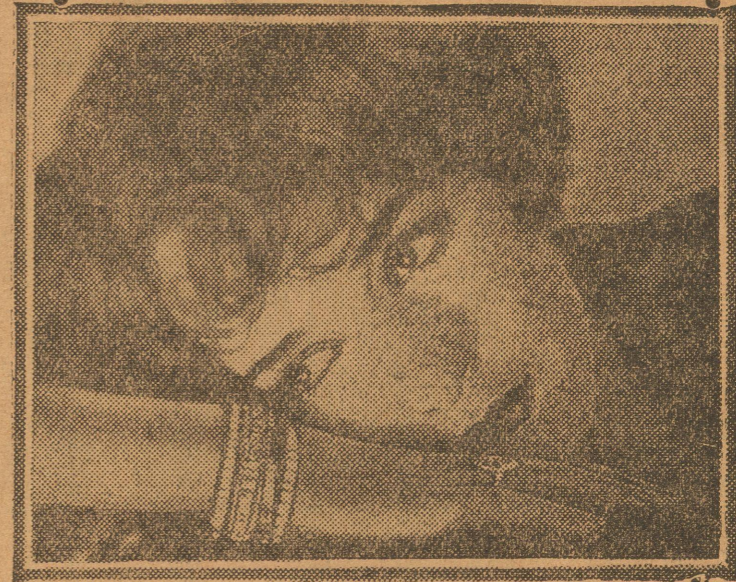

Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, of Great Britain, head of the list of distinguished guests. The liberator of Jerusalem, who drove the Turk out of Palestine and Syria and put him definitely out of the world struggle, will be one of the speakers at the opening session.

Major Georges Scapini, war blinded member of the French chamber of deputies; General John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the A. E. F. and new honorary national commander of the American Legion; Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, world aviation's foremost figure; Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, czar of baseball; Will Rogers; William A. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Lady Edward Spencer Churchill of England; Lady Allenby; Lady Drummond, of Canada, and Mrs. Alfred J. Brousseau, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, are other invited guests of the Legion and the Legion Auxiliary.

To entertain the thousands of visiting Legionnaires, San Antonio has prepared a lavish program of entertainment. Headlining this program is a world's championship rodeo, attracting all the leading contenders for the titles in the various contest classes.

 SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 8.—Impressive services in honor of the world war dead, the introduction of distinguished guests, the well-coming of visitors by high Texas state and city officials, and important committee meetings and reports, constituted the opening day program of the tenth annual national convention of the American Legion, which opened in the magnificent municipal auditorium, here today.

The first day's program reached its climax when the thousands of Legionnaires and Auxiliary members paused between 12 and 1 p. m. to pay solemn tribute to the memory of comrades who died in the service from the training camps to the Meuse-Argonne during the world war. Throughout the United States, at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National cemetery, at a shrine in Centralia, Wash., where four Legionnaires were slain by Industrial Workers of the World, and everywhere Legion posts are found, tribute was paid to world war dead simultaneously with the services here in San Antonio.

Among the distinguished guests who appeared before the convention on the first day were General John J. Pershing, retired, commander in chief of the American Expeditionary Forces; Lord Allenby, Field Marshal and Viscount of Megiddo and Palestine; Mrs. Irene McIntyre Walbridge, national president of the Legion Auxiliary; Pelham St. George Bissell, chief de chemin de fer, Forty Hommes et Eight Chevaux, "40 and 8," the fun and honor society of the Legion; and Frank T. Hines, director of the United States veterans' bureau. These distinguished ones were introduced by National Commander of the Legion, Edward E. Spafford.

The visitors were welcomed by Dan Moody, governor of Texas; C. M. Chambers, mayor of San Antonio; Walton D. Hood, commander of the Texas department of the American Legion, and Nat M. Washer, general chairman of the Legion committee preparing for the convention. Paul R. Younts, of North Carolina, a national vice commander of the Legion, responded in behalf of the visiting Legionnaires.

The program opened at 9 a. m.

with music by the Monahans Post band, Monahan Post No. 64, Sioux City, Ia., and the Miami drum corps, Harvey Seeds Post No. 29, Miami, Fla., the national champion Legion band and drum corps.

Promptly at 9:30 a. m., National Commander Spafford called the convention to order. Invocation was pronounced by national chaplain of the Legion, the Rev. Gill Robb Wilson, Trenton, N. J., a distinguished war-time combat aviator. There was advancement of the colors and the singing of the "Star-Spanbled Banner" by Madame Martha Atwood, of the Metropolitan Opera company, the daughter of a sea captain. The reading call of the convention was given by National Adjutant Barton.

At the memorial services, Madame Atwood sang "There Is No Death." There was held a silent prayer, taps and the retirement of the colors. At 3 p. m. Monday afternoon a meeting is scheduled of all convention committees at the municipal auditorium.

Although most of the visiting Legionnaires are already in the city, having arrived as early as Thursday of last week, the few stragglers who are arriving into camp are being greeted with much gusto.

A solid round of entertainment has been planned for the visitors from early in the morning until late at night during each day of the convention. Excursions to the Mexican border are also planned for those who care to witness the bull fights and Spanish fiestas, given in honor of Legionnaires' visit to the southwest.

 Sunday's issue of the Ranger Times carried an ad announcing the Ranger Garage under new management. It should have read "Ranger Garage Shop," as Lee and Danley merely took over the shop and Mr. Speegle continues his service station as in the past.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
Sybil Thorne, social butterfly, finds herself courted on shipboard by a fascinating and dangerous lover, Richard Eustis. Subconsciously Sybil is seeking romance, and Richard, with his mad, modern notions, very nearly sweeps her off her feet. Her own love life has been tragic. When she was 18 she fell desperately in love with a young soldier, John Lawrence, who never returned from France.

Several years later, when all Boston society is talking of her indiscretions, Craig Newhall, most popular bachelor in the city, asks her to marry him. In order to please her father, who is very ill, Sybil becomes engaged to Newhall. But her father dies. And then Tad, her adored brother, is married to Valerie West, an inconsequential thing whom Sybil instinctively distrusts. Hopelessly at sea, Sybil decides to take a trip with Mabel Blake, a social worker admittedly anxious to get married.

On the boat they meet Richard Eustis, whom Mabel promptly seeks to annex. But Eustis has fallen violently in love with Sybil. They talk of marriage and Richard tells Sybil that she would make a wretched wife. "You're not stupid enough," he informs her cheerfully. "And me—I'd make a rotten husband. I'm Love was a physical thing. And he had shrugged his shoulders in that disdainful way he had, indicating that, whatever it was, it could not by any means interest him.

"You make me sick," Sybil had retorted. "You're perfectly dreadful."
"No, darling." He had shaken his head wisely. "Only sane and very candid. All men love in the same fashion. The rest are hypocritical about it."

Now she faced him solemnly. "I can't understand you, Richard," she said, and her voice was cool as the moonlight. "You are unalterably opposed to marriage. Your nature demands that your life shall be perpetual love. And you believe that you could not love any woman except transiently. How can you then be willing to make a legal contract to love me as long as I shall live? You don't even believe in fidelity."

"But all that," he cried, "was before I knew you!"
She smiled gravely.
"Oh, no," she said. "Five little days and a new experience have not changed you at all—not basically. You have an absolute obsession regarding marriage. You believe that it murders love. That once you fetter romance, you have killed it. Then why are you asking me to marry you?"
"Because," he told her bluntly, "it's the only way I can get you."

"Oh! Oh!" she cried, and beat his chest with her fists. "I hate you, I hate you!"
"But you're going to marry me," he retorted.
The moon shone full on his face. His skin was very pale. He seemed almost translucent. On one cheek there was a scarlet mark where her lips had brushed it. And his lips, from her kisses, were crimson. His hair had fallen across his forehead. Blond hair, beautiful in the moonlight.

"Darling," he bragged mockingly. "I'm the only man who's ever been perfectly honest with you. My life will be ruined if I cannot make you listen to me."

"Will you marry me, Sybil?"
"Richard Eustis!"
"Will you, Sybil?"
"But Richard," she cried, "you don't know what you're saying. No," he told her firmly, "I don't. But I want you. I want you so much that it seems as though I could not live without you."

"But, Rich..." She faltered helplessly. "You've only known me five days. You—you—you've let emotion sweep you away, Richard. You don't really want to marry me. Marriage is positive anathema to you. You've said so loads of times. You'd hate me if I married you. And—besides—I don't want to. I loathe all your ideas about love and marriage. I think they're simply sickening. I—I—wouldn't marry you for the world. I've told you so hundreds of times."

She was remembering what he had said the night before—
"Darling," he bragged mockingly. "I'm the only man who's ever been perfectly honest with you. My life will be ruined if I cannot make you listen to me."

"I don't know what Mab will say," she faltered.
"The devil with Mab!" he muttered, and throwing back his long blond hair, began his favorite subject.

"The trouble with marriage," he proclaimed, "is this—there's no sense in physical attraction—no rime nor reason. It's blind as a bat. People mistake a powerful physical attraction for love, and so they get married, and expect the thing to last. That's idiotic."
"Listen to me," she directed. "I've a few ideas on the subject myself. I quite agree with you on the importance of honesty. I believe that if love could be honestly discussed, there'd be a great deal more happiness. I think that every human relation should be based on decent understanding. There is never any harmony unless there is understanding."

"I was going to say that we bring all our little deceptions and prideful follies, about which we've builded all our lives, right on to love and marriage. And that, of course, is disastrous. That's why marriage flounders. Lack of honest understanding."
"You can't expect compatibility if you haven't understanding. And incompatibility is back of every divorce. Back of infidelity, and the thing that masquerades as love and affection and respect. Back of desertion and non-support—back of everything that takes men and women to courts, to throw dirt, and cry for freedom. Men and women who loved each other!"

When she stopped for breath he laughed at her seriousness.
"Darling," he bragged mockingly. "I'm the only man who's ever been perfectly honest with you. I have thrown discretion to the winds, and begged you to marry me. But I'm not telling you, Sybil, that my life will be ruined if I cannot make you listen to me. For there are other women as beautiful and older women as charming. But you're here. And I'm here. And, oh, my dear, you'd search the wide world over before you'd find a man who could love you so."

"Richard," she assured him solemnly. "I'm sure you're crazy."
"Listen, darling," he besought her. "Did you know the captain could marry us—here in the harbor?"
"Look, Rich!" Shrilly she interrupted him. "Morro Castle through the mists. Over there beyond the fog! Oh, Rich, isn't it thrilling!"
"Thrilling!" he snapped.
"And now," she told him calmly, "I'm going down and take a shower, so I won't look like a wreck. And I'll see you on deck in 15 minutes. I'll bring Mab up with me. And we'll ask John Arnold to go ashore with us—shall we?"

"Darling," moaned Richard, and turned his back on Morro Castle, "there are times when I could slap your pretty face. But you're going to marry me today, so I'll hide my wicked temper."

scornfully. "He's the dirtiest creature I ever knew."
"The Good Gray Poet" men called him," he reminded her, and, capturing her hands, began again to talk of love.

"Sweetheart!" he implored, "you know I'm crazy about you. I can't make pretty speeches to-night. But I've done something I never meant to do. I've begged something of you no other woman on earth could bring from me. I'm on my knees, beseeching you to marry me. There's not a concession on earth I wouldn't make to you, dearest.—Legality. Respectability. Bah, I make myself sick!—Like a lovesick bumpkin I crave your hand in honorable marriage. See, Sybil!"

He dropped to his knees, and clasping hers with his arms, cradled his face against her legs.
"I should think," she told him icily, "that you would appreciate the need of keeping your independence for the sake of other romantic adventures. Why write 'finis' after this one?"
She took his elbows in her hands.

"Get up please, Rich... please. Come sit in our deck chairs."
Once she thought he had gone to sleep... the watch changed, and men walked past their chairs. A bell rang. And, by and by, a little breeze stirred, so that she shivered in her dress of this stuff. But when she moved, he put out his hand to keep her. And presently he got up, and found a robe, and tucked it about her.

"It's almost dawn," she said. "I don't know what Mab will think. I ought to go."
"But I can't let you go," he groaned. "We've got to straighten out this thing out."
Fifteen minutes later he spoke again.

"We're going over this from the beginning," he told her. "And I'm going to try to be truthful with you. Men are never truthful with women, any more than women are absolutely truthful with men. But I shall try to be honest. And I want you to be as fair with me, Sybil. Will you?"
"Yes," she promised meekly, "I will try."

He leaned back then in his chair with eyes on the morning star.
"See, darling?" He pointed. "How dim it grows as dawn's pale fingers come creeping up the sky. Shall we stay until the sun comes up, and the last star's gone?"
"I don't know what Mab will say," she faltered.

"The devil with Mab!" he muttered, and throwing back his long blond hair, began his favorite subject.

Doctors Believe Operation Will "Make Bennie a Good Boy"

By NEA Service.—Tulsa physicians are about to tackle a job that has always stumped the parents of 11-year-old Bennie Elliott; they are going to try to make Bennie a good boy.

Nobody has had much luck along that line so far. Bennie's father and mother, who live in Sand Springs, Okla., admit they can't do it. Various county and state officials have taken a try at it, and they haven't been able to get anywhere, either.

So Bennie will presently be taken to a hospital and a delicate operation will be performed to remove a piece of bone that is pressing on his brain. And the doctors who have examined him believe that Bennie will be well-behaved and obedient after that.

Six years ago Bennie was in a railway accident and received a severe blow on the head. Ever since then he has been the town's "bad boy"; and doctors believe that if the operation is not performed he would sooner or later get into very serious trouble.

Not long ago an attendant at a filling station in Bennie's home town caught the lad preparing to light a pool of gasoline which he had drawn from a pump. A dangerous conflagration and explosion probably would have resulted if Bennie had done it. Other fires in Sand Springs, including a $30,000 lumber yard blaze, are now recalled, and the police are wondering if Bennie didn't have something to do with some of them, too.

Once Bennie was sent to a state home at Enid, but his father soon effected his release. Later the boy was sent to the Pauls Valley reformatory, but the superintendent there did not believe it was the place for him, and sent him home.

County authorities, puzzled by the lad's escapades, finally had him examined by doctors and won his parents' consent to the operation.

It is recalled that whenever the boy was caught in any wrong doing he would say, "You know my head isn't right." Doctors now believe that the youngster was simply telling the truth. They are confident that the operation will end his troubles.

STATE HEALTH OFFICERS URGE CLEAN APPLES

Warns Against Use of Apples That Have Not Been Properly Washed and Wiped.

(Eastland Telegram) Dr. E. R. Townsend, city health officer, and Jay Phillips, city sanitation officer, have received letters from Dr. J. C. Anderson, state health officer, calling attention to the apple sanitation confronting all health officers of the state. He writes:

"Apples are sprayed with a solution of arsenic to kill the insects common to growing apples in the dry districts of New Mexico and Colorado. The arsenic remains on the ripe apple and must be removed, either by wiping or washing in a one per cent solution of hydrochloric acid."

"Of course, this process is somewhat expensive and the small dealers are either trucking these apples uncleaned, or selling to trucksters who bring them into Texas."

"I wish to ask your cooperation in this matter by having frequent inspections made of all trucks containing apples, as well as the inspection of shipments by rail. The tolerance for apples this year is .02 grains per pound of fruit."

"The sale of all uncleaned apples should be stopped until they have been washed in an acid solution and I would appreciate a report of your work along this line."

Bob Shuler To Speak In Eastland Night of Oct. 13

(Eastland Telegram) Those in charge of the Anti-Al Smith forces in Eastland county have received word that Rev. E. P. Shuler, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church, Los Angeles, California, will speak in Eastland at the City Hall, Saturday, October 13th, at 8:00 p. m.

Rev. Bob Shuler is a speaker and orator of note and well known all over Texas. He came to Texas when a young man and started his ministerial career in this state, where he was a pastor of some of the leading churches until he was transferred to the Trinity Methodist Church at Los Angeles, where he has been for the past 7 or 8 years. He took the place of Dr. C. C. Seelman in Los Angeles, when Dr. Seelman left the Trinity Methodist church and there to become president of the S. M. U. at Dallas.

It is expected that a very large crowd will come from all over Eastland county, as well as adjoining towns and counties, and arrangements are expected to be made for loud speakers.

THE JAY-BUYER

You know the jay-walker—in fact, you've probably burned your tires at one time or another in avoiding him. He crosses the street wherever and however he pleases. He takes intersections on a diagonal. He's never content to follow the regular path. He thinks he's saving time. But is he? The dodging, jumping and backing use up more time than it would have taken to follow the regular path, and he's taking a needless risk.

Mr. Jay-walker has a brother—the jay-buyer. He always knows a way to buy things cheaper. He knows of a man who sells radios dirt cheap—"makes them himself." He has found a little unknown tire maker—"his tires cost about half what you pay for advertised ones." He's found a way to "beat the price of gasoline." He thinks he's saving money. But is he?

Somehow or other he just can't make his income go as far as Bill, across the way. Yet Bill has the habit of reading advertisements and buying standard goods.

Whoofus Whiffletree's Woozy Wonderings

Coach Blair Cherry's North Siders of Fort Worth had the misfortune to meet the Forest Lions of Dallas as their first conference foe, he score was 56 to 0 in favor of Forest. As North Side scored twice against Cleburne, though losing to the Yellow Jackets by a 30-point margin, it would seem that Forest has a club that may be heard from in the State race. Last year, Cleburne and Forest met in a bi-district game, Cleburne winning, one touchdown to nothing. That may be a new way to state a football score but memory is in doubt as to whether the counting was 6-0 or 7-0.

Cherry was handicapped, with lack of experienced material and, against Forest, he could not place his star fullback in the game, due to injuries.

Seems to us that we noted a few days ago where Wallace Davis' Bryan street (Dallas) team went down by a topheavy score. As the ex-Ranger assistant coach had a hard time getting enough players to have a team, very little can be expected this season. At the first turnout, only 10 men reported.

Join us in shedding a few tears for Hillsboro. They shattered the Ranger Bulldogs' record made in 1927 when 11 players—exactly a full football team—were lost through ineligibility. Hillsboro sees the 11 and raises it four—or something like that. Fifteen Hillsboro players, including every letter man, were declared ineligible because of failure to make their grades but anyway Clifton lost, 6 to 0. We deduce from this that the men were ineligible only for that game and not for the season—as was the case with the 11 Ranger players last year.

How would you feel if your team scored six touchdowns—but lost? The freakiest score we have noticed this season was that 93-to-31 game between Michigan Normal and Carroll of Waukesha, Wis.

Brown's famous eleven iron men of two seasons ago have competition. Davis-Elkins, who defeated the Navy 2-0, played the entire game without a substitution. Honk Irvin, former Cisco Lobo star, was at tackle. He got off a great punt for 65 yards out of bounds on the Navy's two-yard line. When Navy endeavored to kick, the punt was blocked and Davis-Elkins scored the safety. The week before defeating the Navy, Davis-Elkins trounced the strong West Virginia university eleven.

The Southwest is still thrilled at the thought of the great fight put up by S. M. U. Saturday against the famous Army team. The Mustangs, defeated by a single point, had half a dozen chances to win. They failed to kick a field goal. Hopper fell down after catching a pass with no one in front of him and the goal line. Another Mustang dropped a pass with a clear field. And as the game closed, after a series of brilliant passes, the exhausted Reed fell after catching one when if he could have kept to his feet he would have scored. Which may sound like ragged football—but it's not. It simply shows how hard-fought, the game was and due allowance should be made for the strain that players are under in such an historic battle.

By proving themselves virtually the equals of the Army, S. M. U. demonstrated to the East that football in the Southwest must be accorded far greater recognition than in the past. The aerial game of Morrison's men was a revelation to that section.

The long trip doubtless handicapped the Texans at least enough to account for a one-point margin. If that game had been played in Dallas Saturday—with a temperature of 90—the behemoths of the Army would have staggered and reeled and the Mustangs, accustomed to the climate, would have won by 30 points—just as they did over Missouri last year.

World Series Crowds Break Record

Here's a part of the biggest world series opening day crowd in history, estimated at more than 70,000, that jammed the stadium at New York when the Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals met in the initial contest. Thousands were waiting in line when the gates were opened, eager to get good seats.

TWO OFFICIAL GAMES SCHEDULED THIS WEEK

Ranger Meets Eastland and Cisco Tackles Brownwood Lions.

Breckenridge's overwhelming victory over Eastland, Ranger's inter-sectional win over Fort Worth Central, and Cisco's triumph over the strong El Paso Tigers are convincing evidence that the Bulldogs, Buckaroos and Lobos are in the race for the oil belt championship.

"What of the Abilene Eagles' 79 to 0 victory over Coleman?" you ask.

The score sounds impressive. However, according to the Abilene Reporter, Coleman—the week before—lost to "Santa," the latter probably being a typographical error, Santa Anna being meant, in all likelihood. As Santa Anna is a class B school and, so far as we have observed, was never up in the pictures even in "B", a victory for the Eagles over a team that lost to Santa Anna is rather a hollow triumph.

In fact, the Abilene sports writer concedes as much in effect. "The light visitors, aside from vicious tackling once they were able to thrust themselves in the way of Abilene runners, were almost helpless," he writes.

"Abilene didn't look so hot on pass defense, the Bluecats chalking their two first downs through the air."

Lack of knowledge of the game on the part of Coleman led to one of the numerous touchdowns. A bluecat tackled Smith after he had signalled for a fair catch.

So Abilene continues the enigma of the oil belt district. The Eagles' 7-0 win over Anson was a wretched exhibition of football. Their 13-0 victory over the Daniel Baker reserves was better, though the "reserves" were a picked-up bunch who had never even scrimmaged together. The 79-0 win has a somewhat convincing sound and yet the caliber of opposition offered by Coleman was slight.

The next game—according to the schedule—will likewise mean little in determining whether the Eagles possess power for they will meet Haskell who was defeated in the first game of the year by Cisco by a margin of 56 points and therefore is not sufficiently potent to give Abilene a real test.

However, all the oil belt elevens are considering Abilene very much in the race—until, if any when, last year's state finalists are defeated.

Ranger Bulldogs engage in their first conference game of the year this week against the Eastland Mavericks. The game will be played at Eastland. In view of the upset administered last season to the Bulldogs, considerable interest attaches to this tilt.

Cisco likewise will "hop off" when they meet the Brownwood Lions this week in a conference game. Before the game is dismissed too lightly, it should be noted that the Lions in their last appearance showed up well, beating Brady 25 to 0, and Brady has always stood out in class B circles. In the Brownwood-Brady game, the Lions made 17 first downs, which included 185 yards on running plays and 72 yards on passes. Gilliam, Brownwood half, is rated as a flashy back and he and Hicks, who did the punting, averaged 38 yards, which is a nice figure.

GRIDIRON TEAM DESERTS SPORT FOR MATRIMONY

Now Texas Football Coach is Looking for Permanent Bachelors.

EL PASO, Tex.—Coach "Doleful Doc" Stewart of the School of Mines, branch of the University of Texas, built a good team last year, but it had one weakness, its romantic heart. Cupid made touch-down after touch-down.

Six of Doc's players have discarded moleskins and pigskins. A seventh has married, but may return to the gridiron anyway.

Stewart is looking for an entire team for the season of 1928.

Even before the season started last year Blaine McNutt, bidding for the backfield, married Laura Pearce of El Paso, hen halfback Lee Cherry Smith, star broken field runner, heard the signal for the eternal knot formation and was thrown for a loss by Martha Pearce, McNutt's sister-in-law.

Meanwhile, Billy Clark, tackle, got his signals crossed and rushed away to marry Eleanor Gossett of Austin. That ended the first half.

Then in April, Felix Ducharme, halfback, and Alice Rodehaver of El Paso, and Buster Smith, lineman, and Lutene Crowder, also of El Paso, figured in a double pass that gained valuable yardage for Cupid.

Bill Bulger, guard and tackle, married Lola Mae Crowder of Las Cruces, in June. Then Bill Powell, end, and Freda Gibson of Monahans, were married the middle of the summer.

Now "oc" says that the next team he whips into shape will be composed entirely of bachelors who want to stay that way.

Hooks and Slides

Personal Experience Maybe

Previous to all of the world series snatches in what might be called the McGraw period, there have been weighty discussions about the style of pitching in the two major leagues.

For reasons that are usually explained only by "Well, it is" the National League has come to be known as a curve-ball league and the American League as a fast ball league.

There isn't much doubt that McGraw is partial to curve ball pitching and his influence may have had its effect in setting a distinctive style of pitching in his league.

The advantages of a change of pace and a style that permits of mixing them up need no discussion, but McGraw seems to have a preference for a pitcher who can twist them against a hurler who can throw them past the batter.

He has given evidence of being crazy about curve ball pitching and this flair of his caused Freddy Lindstrom to remark recently to an American League player: "I wonder if Mac could have had a terrible weakness against a curve ball when he was hitting. He never led any leagues that I know of."

Little Runs Count

The distressing position in which the New York Yankees found themselves at the tail end of the season was largely the result of physical misfortune. But there may have been a factor of negligence and carelessness in their work that caused them to lose games before their man power was impaired.

While the Yankees were going so well in mid-season and before they had even thought of danger, Bib Falk, White Sox outfielder, said they were threatened by two dangers.

"They may get some awful bad injuries that will almost wreck them and that is the big danger," he said. "But they'll have another handicap if they get in a tight race. They have been so good for so long that they have forgotten how to scramble for one run. They have the habit of waiting for one big inning and they have no fear of waiting for the eighth or ninth inning for the big rally. We would rather have one or two runs whenever we can get them. They will win tight games and the one big inning doesn't always come when you have to press to get it."

Hold That Dough, Buddy!

Joe Dundee, the world's welter-weight champion, has signed a contract to defend his title against Young Jack Thompson in Tex Rickard's Garden on Nov. 16.

Thompson knocked Dundee out a while back in a fight in Chicago in which the title was not at stake and because of this there is a disposition to feel that things will be just to bad for Dundee when they meet again.

Before laying any dough on the line, remember that Eddie Roberts once flattened the same Dundee and in a return bout it was just too bad for Master Roberts.

There are other parallel cases if you have time to look them up.

HARMONICA KID IS TRANSPORTED BY OWN MUSIC

So Swept Away, He Says Misdemeanor Occurred While in a Daze.

By United Press

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Strains of "The Unfinished Symphony" sounded at central police station, died away and were immediately followed by the lilting melody of "Muddy Waters."

Then Chester Lock, the Harmonica Kid, lowered his instrument, brushed his mouth with the back of one grimy hand and grinned in acknowledgment of jail-mates' wild applause.

Chester was in his element. Music, it seems, hath charms to soothe the Kid—especially if he makes it himself on his own beloved harmonica.

The instrument is wheezy, but its music is not. It is seductive, alluring, hypnotic. The Kid goes about frequently, dazed by his haunting tunes.

That, he explained between numbers, is why he rented an automobile, drove it to Ashland, Wis., and abandoned it. He had his ol' harmonica and he didn't give a whoop.

The Kid carried even less when detectives went to Davenport and brought Chester back with them. He's been in jail before.

"They never take this old baby away from me in jail," he boasted, patting his battered instrument. "So what's the odds?" Whereupon he closed his eyes, raised his "baby" and drifted into the intricacies of "Kitten on the Keys."

Sometimes Rules Work a Hardship

Special to The Times.

AUSTIN, Oct. 8.—Circular number two of the 1928 series of letters sent out by the interscholastic league bureau of the University of Texas to high schools of the state participating in league football has been mailed, according to Roy Henderson, director of athletics.

In regard to the application of eligibility rules, Mr. Henderson has the following to say in his letter: "No set of rules, or laws of any kind, can be made to fit each and every case with absolute justice. All that can be expected is that they will do the greatest good to the greatest number. Many times a worthy boy is debarred because of some rule but this is unavoidable; it is the price that must be paid if these extra-curricular activities are to be protected from those who would exploit them—who would destroy the educational values. It will never do to relax and allow a lot of exceptions; therefore, if you have a boy whose case conflicts with some rule, regardless of extenuating circumstances, don't write to the office and expect an exception to be made. We have no authority to make exceptions. It is our duty and the duty of the district executive committee to enforce the rules as they are written."

URGES TEXANS TO BE LOYAL TO DEMOCRACY

Congressman Guinn Williams Makes Splendid Appeal For Support of Democratic Leader.

Although the audience gathered Friday night at the City Hall to hear the Hon. Guinn Williams of Texas, member of congress from the 18th Texas representative district, urge loyalty to the democratic party and praise Governor Al Smith, democratic orator of such ability and prominence was not as large as orator of such ability and prominence was entitled to address, the warm night was in large part responsible.

Called from the north where he was speaking in support of democracy, Mr. Williams said he was touring North and West Texas at his own expense, making an average of two speeches a day. He declared himself an original "dry" and an earnest temperance advocate. He blamed the republican party for failure to enforce the prohibition law and he blamed also many who call themselves prohibitionists. He said that wanted prohibition for others, but not for themselves.

"If you will live half as dry as you talk and vote it will help enforce the law," he declared. Mr. Williams said it was embarrassing to be called on to ask Texas democrats to be loyal. He declared there was every reason why they should be loyal, picturing Governor Al Smith as a leader who would stop abuses of the federal banking system that had become menacing under republican administration, being relief to the farmers they were unable to obtain from the republicans, and enforce prohibition. He made a strong and earnest appeal to avoid religious prejudice, declaring it belittles a people.

Mr. Williams aroused much enthusiasm among his hearers and many remained after he had concluded to meet him and thank him for his splendid address.

UP AND ATOM! By Fred Press. LEICESTER, Eng.—In future, instead of threatening to blacken a man's eye, one should threaten to knock some of his electrons out of their orbits. So declared Prof. Leonard Hill, the scientist, in a speech here recently, when he expressed the hope that we would apply our knowledge of electricity and the atom to common speech.

"If we could annihilate a single drop of oil," the professor said in another part of his speech, "and thus release the energy in it, the power thus set free would be sufficient to drive the Mauretania across the Atlantic."

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY.

Why mothers get gray is because they are so busy worrying about their children. They are always thinking of ways to improve their children's lives, and this is a noble and commendable thing to do. But it is also a source of stress and worry, which can lead to gray hair.

HORNED TOAD NOT MERE CURIO BUT USEFUL AS INSECT EATERS

Friends of the horned toad have reasons for their demands for protection, because these animals are valuable allies in the never-ceasing warfare between man and insects, according to the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. They feed almost exclusively upon insects, and take such destructive kinds as grasshoppers, caterpillars, wireworms, blister beetles, leaf beetles, weevils, and chinch bugs. They prey especially upon ants, pests of man, which are cases finally starved to death. In any event they are certainly removed as possible breeders of their kind. Fear has been expressed that the horned toad business is making too great inroads on the stock in some regions, and there is demand that the business be controlled.
