Douglas MacLean has a sprightly comedy in his latest picture for Thomas H. Ince, "Passing Thru," which will be the feature attraction at the Temple theatre today only. Doug, always clever and original, smiling and enthusiastic, has one of ne merriest pictures of his career, in which he plays the leading role of Billy Barton, a bank clerk.

Billy is one of those altruistic persons, cheerful, agreeable, always ready FRANKELL TO BE to help the other fellow. GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY—

Is the Church an asset or a liability to the community? It becomes a liability when it fails to uphold the moral standard. It is an asset as long as it advocates clean living and demands it of its members. Don't weigh religion by the demerits of the hypocrites. Weigh religion on its own merits and accept that which comes up to the standard of weights. Attend Church Services Sunday. J. W. McKINNEY, Church of Christ.
