TAILOR TELLS OF CRUELITIES AT GATESVILLE

S. L. Spivey of Dallas Quit Job at Reformatory Because of Brutalities Practiced.

GATESVILLE, Texas, Oct. 8.—More witnesses were called today in the investigation into conditions at the Gatesville training school, and it was believed the probe may be continued into next week.

S. L. Spivey, Dallas tailor, was the most important witness called late yesterday. Spivey told the board that he quit his employment at the school after working there seven years, because of the cruelty practiced on the boys he taught. He said he was at the school for the first three months of the Twyman regime as military instructor. "I went to Superintendent King and told him Twyman's cruelties would cause trouble some day," Spivey declared.

Spivey said King would not listen to him, so he quit. Spivey said that he had about thirty boys under him.

"I saw Twyman take a boy named Andrew Munshaw by the collar and hit him fifteen times in the face and then hit him in the stomach," Spivey said. "I saw him knock Al Hilliard, another boy who worked for me, over his face when he raised his hand from 'pulling toes' and then kick him several times."

Jaws Swelled. "I have seen him hit boys until their jaws swelled. He hit them in the stomach until they doubled up, and then hit them again when they straightened up."

"I have seen him knock a boy down by striking him in the face."

"I had one boy working for me who was nicknamed 'Butterbeans.' On one occasion they whipped him so hard that Twyman had to send to the shop for a new pair of pants. This was repeated several times."

Spivey said he reported all of these whippings to King.

The question of drinking again cropped out at the probe. Spivey said that before prohibition there had been considerable drinking, but that since the dry law went into effect, it had grown less. He said he had never drunk with Twyman.

MULES ARGUE WHILE SPEEDING TRAIN TAKES DALLAS FARMER'S LIFE

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 8.—The stubbornness of two mules was responsible for the death of G. A. Benedict near here late yesterday.

Benedict was driving a buggy hitched to a mule, and leading another one. As he started to cross the Katy tracks in front of a train, the mules became excited. One decided that the best way was to go forward. The other thought safety lay in retreat. While the argument was still in progress, the train struck the buggy. Benedict was killed. The mules escaped uninjured.

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 8.—On the day that Fred Skinner, alias Davis, convicted and sentenced to fifty years for the murder of Edgar Bullock left for the state penitentiary, Goldie Davis, at whose shack the attack on Bullock occurred, was indicted for murder. Skinner was tried and sentenced eighteen days after the crime.

Babe Crippled, Game Is Rained Out

DAD FALLS DOWN

ON JOB AS SIRE OF PRODIGAL SON; CALLS COPS WHEN LAD COMES BACK

By United Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Carl, the 23-year-old prodigal son of Carl Steiler, Sr., was home today, after spending $45,000 in two years, but the fatted calf was not prepared. Instead, Carl's father turned him over to the police, declaring the son obtained a share in the $234,000 mail robbery at Whiting, Indiana, in 1919.

The boy confessed. He told of leaving Chicago with a neighbor girl after the robbery, their marriage in Los Angeles, where he spent large sums on airplanes, diamonds, racing autos, fine clothes and in high living.

With his bride, he traveled across country in an airplane to Texas, where his money ran out. The bride, who was soon to become a mother, and who was blamed by Carl's parents for urging him to take part in the robbery, scrubbed floors in order that they might live.

The wayward couple beat their way home on freight trains, and knocked at the door of Steiler's home last night. The father immediately called the police.

American Legion Post at Houston Condemns Priest For Insult Offered Flag

HOUSTON, Oct. 8.—The local American Legion post last night adopted a resolution stating that "we do hereby, individually and bodily condemn the Rev. J. F. EASTERN OILS GIVEN THIRD PRICE BOOST

Well Running Wild Near Tampico Spouts 40,000 to 50,000 Barrels Daily.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8.—The Ohio Oil company at Lima today announced an advance of 25 cents a barrel on Lima, Ind., Wooster, Ill., Princeton, Plymouth and Waterloo oils, making the third 25-cent advance in two weeks, advices to local companies stated.

The same company raised Wyoming oils 15 cents and 20 cents a barrel. These also are the third advances in this period.

Pittsburgh oil companies operating in Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, received word today that Homer and Eldorado oils have been raised to $1.50 a barrel, Caddo light $1.50, Caddo heavy $1.10 and gulf coast $1.00.

The great upturn in oil started here two weeks ago when Pennsylvania crude was advanced 25 cents to $2.50. During the most of last year this grade was $6.10 a barrel and the great reduction last spring resulted in practical abandonment of all field work in this territory. As the cost of drilling is not covered by the present advances operators maintain further price appreciation is expected. It is generally thought here that Oklahoma oils will go to $2.00 and Pennsylvania to $4.00.

WELL RUNS WILD.

HOUSTON, Oct. 8.—From 40,000 to 50,000 barrels of oil is going to waste daily and covering the surrounding country at the International company's well No. 3, at Toteco, seventy-five miles below Tampico, according to word received by the Oil Weekly here today. The well came in as a big gasser Sept. 13 and breaking loose last week it has been running wild since, according to the dispatch.

All efforts to stop the flow of oil have failed so far, the report said. Special care is being taken to prevent the waste oil from being ignited. It is feared that unless the well is put under control the Toteco pool will be drained as was the result of similar action by the Dos Bocas well near that field some years ago.

YELLOW FEVER!

EL PASO, Oct. 8.—According to reports reaching here from the west coast of Mexico, forty persons have died of yellow fever in and around Mazatlan, and five at Culiacan. Four Americans were said to be among the victims. Many families were moving north to escape the epidemic, according to the report.

PACKING HOUSE WORKERS VOTE ON STRIKE TODAY

Union Employees Numbering 65,000 to Decide on Attitude as to "Open Shop."

By United Press.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 8.—The vote of 65,000 union packing house employees throughout the country was cast today on whether they favor striking to accepting the employers' declaration of an open shop.

Officials of the Amalgamated Meat Packers and Butcher Workers' union made every effort to obtain a 100 per cent vote. No question of wages was considered in the strike vote. The only question up for decision was whether the men would strike or accept the announcement made by the "Big Five" packers when the Alschuler wage agreement expired on Sept. 15, that they would operate on the "American plan" in the future.

Bursom of New Mexico said last night at a dinner here that he believed President Harding's cabinet would recognize Oregon and send an ambassador to the southern republic.

LOWER RATES DEPEND ON REDUCED WAGES OPERATORS DECLARE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Railroad rates cannot be reduced until operating costs, including wages, are lowered, a committee of railway executives told President Harding today.

Enactment of the railroad refunding bill would mean work for thousands of idle railroad men, the president was told by the committee. The executives had been called by President Harding to discuss the question of reducing rates as a means of stimulating industry.

RANGER HIGH TACKLES EASTLAND HIGH TODAY

Ranger High school footballers are in Eastland today for a game which will go far toward determining the county championship. Ranger has not played a game with an Eastland county team thus far, but its showing in the games with Dublin and Comanche indicates the team is fully twice as strong as last year.

RUMOR OF OIL INCREASE HERE UNCONFIRMED

Rumors that another 25-cent increase in oil had been posted could not be confirmed today at any of the pipe line or oil company offices here or at Breckenridge. Pipe line companies here stated that the only information they had was unofficial and that the report originated in Breckenridge. Reports from Breckenridge this afternoon stated that the rumor of the fourth increase had started there yesterday afternoon but had not been confirmed.

GULF POSTS RAISE TULSA, Oct. 8.—The Gulf Pipe Line company today announced an increase of 25 cents a barrel for Oklahoma crude oil of 30 gravity and above. This brings the price of Oklahoma crude to $1.75 a barrel.

DUBLIN, Oct. 8.—The Sinn Fein delegates who will open the Irish peace conference with Premier Lloyd George in London on Tuesday, left for that city today. They were given a great ovation as they boarded the steamer.

Last Sunday

The Times was the only paper on sale in Ranger carrying a word about the Ku Klux riot at Lorena.

It was the only paper carrying the holding without bail of H. G. Twyman, as the latest sensational development of a boy's brutal killing at the Gatesville training school.

It carried many other exclusive items of lesser interest.

It carried the only account of the Biggie trial, in which many persons were interested.

In addition, it carried more than 5,000 words of local news, ranging from important developments to social happenings.

ARMY'S APPEAL CAMPAIGN IS TO BE EXTENDED

Four-Minute Speakers in Theatres Will Tell Rangers of Need of Funds.

As a means of overcoming the apparent lack of interest in the appeal of the Salvation Army for funds, an educational campaign to acquaint the Ranger public with the aims of the Salvation Army here and the urgent need of funds to carry on the work will be opened tonight in the theatres. Four-minute speeches will be made in all the theatres and the public urged to liberally respond to the appeal. Ranger ministers will be asked to announce the purpose of the appeal from their pulpits tomorrow. In this manner it is expected to reach a large part of the citizens and bring before them the purposes of the appeal.

The educational campaign was decided on yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the advisory board of the organization and other means of interesting the public in the appeal discussed. Salvation Army officials state that the lack of interest in the appeal is due mainly to a lack of understanding of the needs for relief here. Many citizens, they state, who gave $50 last year have only subscribed $1 this year. The relief work in Ranger especially during the coming winter will be increased by the unemployment conditions, it is pointed out, and the need of funds will be far greater than last year.

The amount collected since the appeal started Monday is some $2,000 less than the amount used by the Salvation Army last year in actual relief work here, it is stated. The appeal which was to have ended today will be carried on into next week.

Speakers for tonight at the various theatres are announced as follows: M. H. Hagaman, Majestic theatre; Rev. J. W. Winsett, Liberty theatre; John M. Gholson, Temple theatre, and M. H. Smith at the Manhattan theatre. Other speakers will be chosen to present the appeal of the Salvation Army at other times during the week.

The estimated wheat yield is a decrease of 13,203,000 since the estimate of Sept. 1.

Winter wheat production was placed at 543,879,000.

FEUD!

EAGLE PASS, Texas, Oct. 8.—The bodies of Sam and Fred Bass, brothers of this city, are en route from Tampico, Mexico, where they were killed yesterday in a cattlemen's gun feud with their cousins, the Chisholm brothers, also of Eagle Pass, according to telegraphic advices received this morning.

Disagreements a year ago, followed by dissolution of partnership, were responsible for the feud, it was reported.

DELUGE GIVES HUGGINS' MEN DAY'S RESPITE

Yanks' King Sluger Laid Up With Infected Elbow, Perhaps for Series.

By HENRY L. FARRELL, United Press Staff Correspondent.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Rain, which began at 1 o'clock and continued steadily until after 2, forced a postponement of the fourth game of the world series. Though both managers expressed themselves as sorry to disappoint the crowd, it probably was a welcome respite for Miller Huggins of the Yanks, who faced the prospect of a lineup crippled by the absence of his big slugger.

Babe Ruth, "the Big Bertha" of the attack and propelling charge of the whole club was out for the day—and perhaps for the series.

While the king slugger of baseball was laid up with an infected elbow, his teammates stood around the club house in dejected groups seeing a margin of one game on the Giants suddenly appear very small.

Skies Are Dark.

Gray clouds hung over the big arena and made it almost as dark as dusk. A chilly wind swept in from the river with a noticeable supply of moisture. Ground attendants got the big canvas overcoat of the field ready for use in a hurry.

While the band played "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here" the Yanks in white uniforms strutted from the club house at 12:45 and got busy immediately with their bats. The bleachers were practically filled and only a few seats remained in the upper stands. The reserve section of the lower stands was rapidly filling.

For the first time during the series the Giants were given a reception when they trotted across the field wearing their blue-robed uniforms. It pleased them and they all smiled.

The clouds dropped lower and a few drops of rain fell at 1 o'clock. Babe Ruth appeared at the club house and said he would be able to play tomorrow. He had his arm in a sling and went up into the stands to watch the game. The rain then started falling hard and the bleachers became a mass of white newspapers over the fans' heads. The downpour increased at 1:10 and the players all went to the club house. The groundskeeper stretched canvas over the pitchers' box and the home plate. Many of those in the bleachers ran to cover under the stands.

The steady downpour increased and gave every evidence of lasting all the afternoon and shortly after 1:30 the postponement was announced.

YOUTHFUL YEGG BLAMES CRACKED MIRROR FOR ILL-LUCK OF HIS GANG

Four Breckenridge Lads, Woman Believed to Be "Fagin" of the Bunch, Are Taken Into Custody for Daylight Robberies.

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 8.—Four youthful newsboys, none over 14, believed responsible for a series of daring daylight robberies, the woman charged with buying the goods from them and a man believed by officers to have led the boys in their activities were placed under arrest yesterday by county officers.

J. C. O'Connor, former county attorney, reported that two boys had knocked at the door of his residence and inquired for a fictitious character when he answered the door. He watched them, and they repeated the performance down the street. He reported to Sheriff Head and in a few hours, the sheriff and Constable Garner had rounded up four boys, who made complete statements, officers said, admitting a series of house robberies in the last month.

"Toughie" Thomas a Member. The boys are Otto Spratt, 14; Dale Tudor, 14; John James, and D. T. Thomas. The first three have families here. Thomas' father lives in Eastland and the boy has been here

"on his own." He is known to his familiars as "Toughie," and has made his living in the street and his bed in the composing room of a Breckenridge newspaper.

Mrs. V. Vanderborg, proprietor of a photograph studio here, was arrested and admitted buying articles from the boys, according to officers. Much of the loot has been recovered and is held at the sheriff's office, awaiting identification.

"Fagin" is Pinched. Marvin Keith, 30 years old, believed to be a sixth member of the gang, was arrested when he came to the court-house to protest that he had nothing to do with the house robberies. Any part he played in the affair had not been suspected by officers until he appeared, but he was arrested and officers later stated they had discovered evidence which indicated he was leader of the boys.

A mirror broken in a raid on a residence several weeks ago was held by one of the boys to be at the bottom of their arrest. He held that their ill luck had resulted from the accident,

MAIL ROBBERY IN DETROIT MAY BE $300,000

Several Suspects Held After Registered Pouches Taken From Canadian Truck.

By United Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 8.—Several suspects were held today in connection with the robbery here of a Canadian government truck of twenty-six mail pouches. Authorities today checked up on the loot, which they believe will total close to $300,000. All but three of the pouches were supposed to contain registered mail.

One of the stolen pouches is believed to have contained the day's receipts of the Kenilworth race track at Windsor. Other pouches carried valuable securities consigned from Canadian banks to Detroit financial institutions.

Authorities are convinced that the bandits had information from someone inside the mail service regarding the value of the mail sacks on the truck.

FAIR AT DALLAS GETS AWAY TO A GOOD START

By United Press.

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 8.—The Texas state fair opened here this morning. With exhibitors crowding every inch of space allotted to them, and the "street" of entertainment features lined with more attractions than ever before, the thirty-fifth annual fair got under way to an early start.

Each train was bringing its quota of farmers from all parts of the state for their yearly "spree." Hundreds of farmers and their families were coming to the fair in automobiles, and parking space was at a premium.

The gates of the fair grounds were thrown open early to the public. The formal opening will be held tonight, when the Texas centennial pageant will be held at 8 o'clock. More than 5,000 people from all parts of the state, the country, and even from foreign countries, will participate in this great drama. The coronation of the queen, who is as yet unknown, will be the climax of the pageant. Opening day dawned cool and clear. The temperature clung to the 50 degree mark.

The funeral will be held at Eolian, with members of the American Legion post there and from Breckenridge taking part.

PUT IT IN HOUSES.

With the sprightly self-assurance that marks the damsel of 17 when she tells the mother of six children how they should be reared, the Times editor ever and anon sets himself to the task of informing the world. Some of these efforts seem to meet with approval, at least in certain quarters. Some possibly bring forth dry grins of which he knows nothing because they evaporate into the genuine drouth we have with us.

This latter is especially true when he cranks up the trusty typewriter and tells the farmers how to farm, the oiler how to oil, the restaurateurs how to rest, and all that sort of thing. The technical aspects of various crafts are truly more intricate than their simple outward aspect warrants their being. Anyway persons come around and tell us the exact words to put in a heading over a newspaper article, without realizing that headwriting is a mixture of mechanics and civil engineering, and that rubber type is never used. Therefore, editors are entitled to some revenge.

However, the subject of a third increase in the price of oil is one upon which a general argument should be reached. No reason is apparent why such increase should be sneered at and viewed through pessimistic eyes. Without one barrel more of production, without a single operation, it would be beneficial, just as John Jones is benefitted when his pay is raised, whether he throws another shovelful of dirt or sells an additional necktie.

Practically, of course, the increase means that since the oil operators have more money, they can make improvements to better their properties, which could not be afforded while the low price prevailed. These improvements will enable the properties to produce more, or more economically. They will put men to work. If the increase appears permanent, drilling will undoubtedly be stimulated.

These things being done, quite possibly a surplus would remain. If Ranger could induce oil men to put this surplus in good houses, it would be to the mutual advantage both of the town and the operators. For houses here will bring good returns on the investment, and Ranger's population would be increased some hundreds if it had real houses in which to put people who live in real houses elsewhere.

Latest Labor-Saving Device

The latest invention in the way of labor-saving devices is the apparatus pictured here, which takes the place of twenty men, according to the inventor. It is an auto-truck attachment which automatically bores post-holes. It consists of a huge earth-boring auger on the end of a twelve-foot, geared shaft, mounted on the front of the chassis of an ordinary automobile truck. The power plant of the truck furnished the power for the boring machinery—the simple expedient of disengaging the clutch of the truck and throwing in that of the boring apparatus being the only operation necessary in digging a hole of any depth down to ten feet. The driver operates the entire mechanism from his seat on the truck. After the hole is bored the permanent derrick on the body of the truck lifts the pole from the roadside and drops it into the hole ready for the army of "tamperers" who follow.

PRETTY GIRL 'AD' PASSE IN ERA OF MALE APATHY

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 8.—The day of the "pretty girl ad" has passed, Mrs. Christian Fredericks told delegates to the convention of the Affiliated Advertising Clubs of America here.

A man wouldn't buy a safety razor twenty years ago unless the box flashed the image of a Bowery burlesque queen, she recalled, nor were they attracted to tooth paste, cigarettes or handkerchiefs unless the wrappers bore pictures of vivid feminine types. She indicated that nowadays men are satisfied to purchase these things for purposes of shaving, brushing their teeth, smoking and nursing a cold.

"We middle-aged women loathe the picture of a chicken," Mrs. Fredericks remarked, explaining that old-time posters showed women in evening gowns operating washing machines. She appealed for honest advertising.

Blonde Alice Le Beau, first of her sex to be tried in New York state for highway robbery, convinced eleven of the jurors before whom she was tried that she was really a "hold-up girl." But the twelfth man held out for acquittal, and at 12:30 in the morning the jury, hopelessly deadlocked, was discharged. Its deliberations had lasted since 3 in the afternoon.

Alice probably will be released on bond, and the chances are she will not be tried again. She was charged with having assisted in the robbery of a chauffeur and the theft of his taxicab.

BLOODY AUTO MYSTERY IN HOUSTON IS STILL UNSOLVED PUZZLE

HOUSTON, Oct. 8.—Redoubled efforts were put forth today by officers investigating the finding late Tuesday of a blood-stained automobile, riddled with bullets, and the disappearance of C. M. Kimball, former Elgin, Texas, youth, who had rented the car.

Two Rice Institute students and two young women and another male companion of Kimball are involved. The automobile was ditched in an outlying section. Fresh blood-stains were found on the driver's seat and numerous bullets had pierced the body of the car.

Kimball was seen Wednesday in Houston, officers were told, but it is certain that some occupants of the car when it was ditched were either killed or seriously injured. Officers hope to determine from the Rice Institute students, said to have been seen in the automobile at one time Tuesday, who the occupants were at the time of the shooting.

PROGRAM

TEMPLE—Charles Ray in "19 and Phyllis," also big comedy, MAJESTIC—"Dangerous Curve Ahead," also Harold Lloyd in "Never Weaken."

MANHATTAN.

"Life's Darn Funny," is the expressive title of the comedy-drama in which Viola Dana is starring and which is now showing at the Manhattan theatre.

The screen production is a camera version of Christine Joep Slade's Saturday Evening Post story, "Care-takers Within." It was scenarized by Molly Parro and Arthur D. Ripley.

Dallas Fitzgerald who directed Miss Dana in her four most recent productions, supervised her work. Mr. Fitzgerald's work has been closely associated with that of the vivacious Viola through his masterly direction of "Blackmail," "Cinderella's Twin," "The Offshore Pirate," and "Puppets of Fate."

Miss Dana enacts the role of a struggling little violinist who, after many years of trials and tribulations, sacrifices her ambition to attain the pinnacle of success in the music world in order to find happiness in another way.

"Life's Darn Funny" is Miss Dana's first picture since her return from New York, where she spent six weeks purchasing new gowns and reviewing all the Broadway shows.

"Home Stuff," an original story of Frank Dazey and Agnes Johnson, written especially for Miss Dana, was her last picture before going east.

This Dallas M. Fitzgerald production for Metro was photographed by John Arnold. The art settings were designed and executed by A. F. Martz. For her leading man, Miss Dana has Gareth Hughes, Metro's youthful featured player, who consented to delay work on his own featured pictures so as to appear in "Life's Darn Funny," as the impetuous out-of-luck painter who turns costume designer. Other members of the supporting cast includes Eva Gordon, Mark Fenton and Kathleen O'Connor.

TEMPLE.

Charlie Ray is to be seen in a new and delightful feature, "Nineteen and Phyllis," in his latest star picture showing at the Temple theatre for the last time today. In this photoplay he appears not as a rube, but as a small town dandy, Andrew Cavanaugh Jackson, out to win the heart of pretty little Phyllis, whose part is played by winsome little Clara Horton, blonde and sixteen. Lincoln Stedman, a big smiling fat boy who has appeared in other Ray pictures, has the role of the hero's deadliest rival for the hand of Phyllis, Jimmy Long.

When Jimmy appears at a dance garbed in the first suit of evening clothes ever worn by a young man in the town, Andrew is greatly chagrined. Without delay he gets a mail order house to outfit him and place him in the same fashionable standing with Jimmy. And Jimmy's next move to eclipse Andrew is to come driving down the street in his own racer and Andrew feels that his every chance is gone.

Then a burglar gets mixed into the plot. Andrew and the thief grapple on the roof of Andy's house at night. They fall from the roof and Andy's most cherished possession, a handsome stove-pipe hat is crushed and the splendor of the evening dress nearly ruined. And he was to appear at a party that night, now what could he do with a torn dress suit and a captured burglar on his hands? The picture is a delightful romance of youth, tinged with a fine bit of humor and with plenty of fascinating action with Charlie Ray in a lovable part.

MAJESTIC.

There are so many excellences in the new Goldwyn picture, "Dangerous Curve Ahead!" which shows at the Majestic theatre for the last time today, that it is difficult for the reviewer to point out one that stands out above another. Perhaps the author, Rupert Hughes, deserves first thanks for writing an original story that is neither a rehash of old plot ideas nor a copy of any of his innumerable short stories or novels. He has taken a few years of the life of a young married couple and let us into the secrets of their differences.

their joys and their final adjustments to each other's temperament. It was a difficult story to do simply and sincerely, yet the Goldwyn company gathered one of the most competent small casts that ever made a picture live on the screen. The roles of the young wife and the young husband are remarkably played by Helene Chadwick and Richard Dix, the latter a veritable "find."

In view of the virtuosity of their impersonations, it would seem that when they were acting together, each would be tempted to stop in sheer admiration of the other's performance. But they lost themselves so completely in their roles, that the result is a series of perfectly acted scenes.

Many excellent touches are conveyed by Maurice B. ("Lefty") Flynn, a former Yale athlete, who has developed, under the Goldwyn banner, into a rarely fine actor. James Neill, Edythe Chapman and Kate Lester, in less important parts, complete an almost perfect ensemble. "Dangerous Curve Ahead!" has been given a splendid production by the Goldwyn company. It was directed by one of the ablest men in motion pictures, E. Mason Hopper.

LIBERTY.

One of the interesting events for lovers of the photoplay of the season is occurring at the Liberty theatre, where James Oliver Curwood's latest story of the Northland, "Isobel, or The Trail's End," today only. This film drama is a product of the directorial talent of Edwin Carewe, and is presented with a cast which features House Peters and charming Jane Novak.

Of all the Curwood stories, it has been acknowledged that none has the breadth and human appeals of his famous novel, "Isobel," from which this interesting epic of a Northland romance was adapted. Those who have read this volume will find that the photoplay version adheres closely to the lines of action and character portrayal as laid down by the author. Edwin Carewe, in fact, has been said to have given photoplay fans their first real glimpse of Curwood; in other words, he has retained the full power of the author's sweeping character portrayals and his tense and exciting climaxes.

When presented for the first time at the Hotel Astor grand ball room in New York recently, reviewers declared it was the greatest story of the Northwest ever filmed. It comes to this city after repeating its successful New York premiere in other large cities of the country.

TOO MUCH CORN!

Two Rangerites sought corn liquor instead of a fire when the northern struck Ranger yesterday and as a result had rundered a considerable quantity in their efforts to keep warm, when they fell into the clutches of the police last night. In default of bonds they were held for trial in police court Monday.

Miss Agnes L. Henry Tells How Cuticura Healed Eczema

"I had eczema which began in small pimples on my face and feet. At first they were red and hard and then turned to scales. They burned and itched nearly all the time and I scratched them. I could not sleep three hours at a time.

"I was treated but it did not seem to help. The trouble lasted six months before I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and when I had used three cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Agnes L. Henry, Box 26, Bowie, Maryland.

Clear the pores of impurities by daily use of Cuticura Soap and occasional touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed to soften, soothe and heal. They are ideal for the toilet as is also Cuticura Talcum for powdering and perfuming the skin.

SEVEN AGES OF HAPPINESS AS FIXED BY 'LIFE'

Thus does "Life" allot the Seven Ages of Man's Happiness:

At 20 years of age he is certain happiness is to be found in marrying the girl he is in love with.

At 30 he discovers that work is the real source of happiness.

At 40 he finds that children offer the means of happiness.

At 50 charity and devotion to the community seem to point the way to happiness.

At 60 philosophy suggests the road to happiness.

At 70 he learns that grandchildren hold the key to happiness.

At 80 he realizes at last that true happiness is to be found only in tobacco.

But you'll have to ask someone "older'n we be" if Life is right.—Thomas Dreier, in Forbes Magazine (New York).

THIEF TAKES $40; SAYS HE'LL RETURN THE MONEY

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8.—A thief who stole $40 from a dresser drawer in the home of Mrs. Mary Carr, took the trouble to write a note in her absence yesterday. It was unsigned and said: "Sorry, but will return more than this next week if no police trouble. Trust me. Need this to go and get my own money. Will pay all debts in seven days."

But Mrs. Carr trusts no one. She showed the note to police.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8.—“I will quit my profession if I cannot pose in the nude.” Audrey Munson, famous sculptor's model, said today following her acquittal on a charge of immoral posing. The jury, which deliberated only five minutes, also freed Dan M. Judd, her manager. Showing of the picture “Innocence” in which Miss Munson stars at the Royal theatre last Saturday night resulted in the arrest of the model and Judd.

Miss Munson shook hands with each juror after the verdict was read, saying it was a just decision.

VETERAN ACCUSES MAN OF ASSAULT WITH AUTO

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—James Palen of Beacon, has been ordered to appear in police court there today to answer a charge of having assaulted Myron Talmadge, a former service man, with his automobile.

The complaint made by Talmadge is unique in that Talmadge charges that Palen willfully assaulted him by deliberately running his automobile over the complainant.

Molla Bjurstedt, the tennis champion, began playing the game at the age of 12.

Generations of Soused Rats Prove That Demon Rum Is Painted Too Black

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—This is a tale of soused rats. But take it seriously; for the rats got soused in an entirely scientific spirit, and there may be more connection between an alcohol assimilating rat and his two-legged alcohol assimilating buddy, man, than you ever dreamed of.

Of course, alcohol may not have the same effect upon a human being as it has upon a rat. On the other hand it may. But it turns out through a series of experiments conducted upon rats, during the past five years, that alcohol not only isn't so very bad for them but in some respects it's actually good.

Many Volunteers.

“Why not have a series of experiments upon human beings?” of course you will inquire—getting ready to volunteer. Don't enthuse over the prospect, for you wouldn't get a drink out of it. The rats which have been experimented upon have not had alcohol to drink. They have achieved their brannings through inhaling the stuff—and inhalation doesn't sound very appealing, does it?

The soused rats have been put through the sprouts at the Carnegie Institute Station for Experimental Evolution down at Cold Spring Harbor, L. I. Dr. E. C. MacDowell had handled and observed them. He has put 472 of the little animals through 8,784 tests. His observations have shown him these things:

The descendants of the “treated” rats (as Dr. MacDowell calls them—though without punning) grow more rapidly, apparently are stronger and reproduce more frequently than the descendants of the “water-wagon” rodents.

POSITIONS THAT PAY WELL AND ARE ALWAYS TO BE HAD

The perfecting of typesetting key-boards has brought new and unusual opportunities in the printing business. The business that gives development to great minds.

Positions of this kind always have paid well and perhaps always will, and doubtless they will always be plentiful, because the printing business expands as civilization develops. Anybody who could learn to operate a typewriter can learn to operate a typesetting machine. If you want to learn how to do the work of a monotype machinist; if you want to learn to do the work of an intertype or a linotype machinist; if you want to learn to operate any of these machines; if you want to learn the work of the business office—if you want to get into a work that will always pay you well, and if you can spare three to four months for preparation, write for Prospectus to American Publishers' and Southern Publishers' TYPE-SETTING DEPARTMENT of the GEORGIA-ALABAMA BUSINESS COLLEGE, Macon, Ga.—Adv.

Teetotalers Brainiest.

These latter, however, have larger families, when they do have families, and show a trifle more gray matter under the hood by being able to extricate themselves more speedily out of a trick trap—a sort of mystic maze—in which they are placed to test out the relative merits of their beans.

Dr. MacDowell started out with two pairs of white rats. To one pair he gave alcohol fumes every day until they were literally “woozy.” They were as stewed as Greenwich Villagers on Spanish Looie's hooch. The other pair were kept away from the booze and remained as sober as clerks in W. H. Anderson's office.

It was their descendants, however, that the scientist was most interested in. The hooch-descended rodents were bigger and stronger, although a trifle less numerous, while their cousins, smaller and meeker, were a little bit better equipped beneath the bonnet.

“Did you ever stage a battle between a rum-hound rat and a white-ribbon rodent?” Mr. MacDowell was asked.

“No, we never got to that,” he said, “but I dare say the stronger rat naturally would have the advantage, physically.”

No Race Suicide.

Mr. MacDowell admitted the original Mesdames rat had done pretty well for the race, since their children and grandchildren and so down the line number 427. The doctor, however, wouldn't commit himself as to whether the parallel would extend to humanity. His answer to a query along that line was:

“How far the specific findings here reported for white rats may apply to different animals, including man, is a matter for further experiment and conjecture.”

And, of course, he knew that old story about the rat that fell in the whisky barrel, swam out after a great struggle, licked his whiskers and said, “Now, where in hell's that cat that's been running me ragged?”

Many of the irreverent, hearing of the rodent experimentation, last evening offered themselves as willing subjects for a human test—they'd go the whole route, they said. Others wanted to know: “Why not feed champagne to lions?” or “Why not give some of this present-day ‘Gordin gin’ to a few bulldogs?”

TAX ON BOOZE!

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—A tax of $5 a gallon on all alcoholic spirits that are withdrawn from bond for industrial, medicinal and other purposes, has been agreed upon by Republican leaders as part of the tax revision program. This increase of $1.80 a gallon on alcoholic spirits is expected to yield $75,000,000 in additional revenue per annum.

Is the Church an asset or a liability to the community? It becomes a liability when it fails to uphold the moral standard.
