SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR LIBRARY KEEP COMING

Friends of Ranger High School Showing Their Loyalty And Goodwill

The drop in temperature did not in any manner cool the ardor of citizens engaged in the high school library drive, according to J. P. Pickett, secretary and treasurer of the library committee. Subscriptions are pouring in faster than they can be tabulated, according to Mr. Pickett, who wishes it understood that the subscriptions published do not by any means represent all that have been made but only such as reached him in time for tabulation. In one instance, some cards, the amounts of which total something more than $15, were not plain and will have to be gone over and verified before a report can be made on them.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO ABILENE FRIDAY, WILL CARRY CHEERING RANGER FANS TO SEE GAME

"On to Abilene with the winning team!" was the cry in Ranger today. Business men and fans are assuring Coach Cherry they are behind him and his team to the last ditch, and hope that Ranger will come home victor in the prevailing sentiment.

The special Texas and Pacific train is now assured. Coaches to carry 250 passengers who already have arranged for tickets, will be run, leaving Ranger at about 8:30 Friday a. m., the exact hour to be named later. The fare for the round trip will be $2.00. The train will leave Abilene immediately after the close of the game.

Railway and chamber officials say it will be necessary for as many as 250, possibly 500, to procure their tickets early as only enough accommodations will be furnished to take care of those wanting to go. It is thought that there will be something like 500 on the train although that is speculative.

Whether the confidence felt in Ranger's team of fast healing cripples, is misplaced or not, only Friday's game will disclose. However, fans are taking heart from an interview with Coach Jones of Abilene published in Tuesday's Abilene News-Jones, while saying his team is going in to win Friday's game, thinks it has its supreme test in that game. After having seen Ranger play recently, he regards the Bulldogs as his strongest contenders and states very frankly that should Ranger win from his team Friday, the Bulldogs will have as good a chance as any to win in the district, as he does not believe any team will remain undefeated. To quote him further:

"In Shell, captain and tackle, Cherry has probably the best lineman in the district. Harvey, quarter and Walker, half back, are also great players. Walker is the boy who returned a kick-off 90 yards against Dreckenridge for a touch down.

"My team is in good shape. We will be given the first real test of our strength and will find out whether we really have any strength or not. Ranger has the advantage of having had stiff opposition. I am in doubt about the outcome of the game myself but we will give them the best we have."

The officials for Friday's game will be Ricketstein (A. & M.) referee, Swanson (A. & M.) umpire, Lipscomb (Centre) head line man.

Damascus Reported Half In Ruins From Shelling of City

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Jerusalem dispatches today said the French estimated at least 1,000 persons were killed in the recent bombardment at Damascus, while the Arabs believe as many as 25,000 casualties resulted in the fighting.

Damascus is partly in ruins. The French guns wrought great havoc, but the French claim that vandals in the town were mainly responsible. The rebels, reports said, attempted to storm public buildings and burned the Azma palace housing the Moslem museum. This act of vandalism is thought to have been a mistake, however the mob is reported to have thought it was the headquarters of the French general.

JEWEL THIEVES AGAIN RAID APARTMENT STEALING GEMS

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—While the New York police, still seeking the thief who stole Mrs. Jessie Woolworth Donahue's pearls, were capturing a suspect, other thieves broke into the apartment of Mrs. Julia "Lichtenstein" on a fashionable west end avenue, and got jewels valued at $85,000. The suspect held by the police is Frank Adams, said to be a professional crook, who is wanted as a material witness because he is alleged to have said that a "certain English crook" took the Donahue gems. Mrs. Lichtenstein's jewels disappeared from her apartment while she slept behind closed doors and windows, she taking unusual precautions because of her husband's absence. When she arose in the morning, the doors and windows were locked but the jewels were missing.

The well recently drilled in on the M. J. Collins farm, three or four miles east of Carbon, by C. D. Woods et al., has been placed on the pump and is making 25 barrels of oil per day, together with an abundance of gas, according to Editor Davis of the Carbon Messenger, who was in Eastland Tuesday afternoon.

The well being drilled on the Jesse Thurman farm, three or four miles south of Carbon, is drilling at a depth of about 1,000 feet, Mr. Davis said.

LAD ACCIDENTALLY CUTS MOTHER WITH CORN KNIFE

Mrs. L. M. Graw, living six miles south of Ranger, is suffering from a severe cut on the wrist accidentally inflicted by her son with a corn knife. Mrs. Graw was at the field watching the lad cut corn when she got too close and the boy, not seeing her, gave the knife a hard swing so it cut through the stalk, made a circle and inflicted the wound. The knife cut to the bone and barely missed an artery, it is said.

The two auxiliary bodies of the convention are the Woman's Missionary union and the Pastors' and Laymen's conference. Both of these groups will meet two days before the opening of the convention.

Decision to postpone the convention followed requests from virtually every section of the state for delay in closing the convention year, due to late crops all over the state. The churches have not been able to take the best collections because of the delay in the crops.

TRUCK DRIVER INJURED WHEN CAR OVERTURNS

Jeff Bransford, employee of the Ateck Construction company, was severely injured Wednesday at about 1:30 o'clock, when one of the company's trucks driven by George Brooks skidded, ran into the curb at the corner of Main and Marston streets in Ranger and turned completely over, imprisoning both men under it. The truck carried a heavy water tank, adding to its weight. The impetus of the car carried it part way over the two men. Brooks escaped with only slight injuries. The car was damaged considerably.

Bransford's injuries are confined to his face and head. A deep cut over the right ear penetrated to the skull, but, it is believed, not fracturing it. Bruises and lacerations on both cheeks where the bones protrude, cuts about both eyes and other contusions mark him almost beyond recognition. Dr. Palmer, to whose office he was carried, could not determine whether any of the facial bones were fractured without inflicting unnecessary pain in the primary examination. His wife was sent for and he will, if able, be taken to the camp and if not, to a hospital, it was stated.

The men were on their way to the company's camp where they are paving the Pleasant Grove-Breckenridge road when the accident occurred.

BIBLE THOUGHT.
 A Much Needed Prayer: Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me.—Psalm 51:10.
 Prayer: Come thyself, O Lord, into our hearts, and then they will be continually renewed.

COUNTRY OR CREED
 In his address to World War veterans, members of the American Legion, assembled in convention in Omaha, President Coolidge gave this country a creed it may well adopt and follow. He said:
 "Let us cast off our hatreds. Whether one traces his Americanism back three centuries to the Mayflower, or three years to the steerage, is not half so important as whether his Americanism of today is real and genuine. No matter by what various crafts we came here, we are all now in the same boat."

In pleading for tolerance the president is courageous enough to recognize the fact that there still exists in this country the spirit of the witch-burners. There still live men and women of Puritanical ideas, bigoted Jacobins and superzealous sans culottes who set up their own Goddess of Reason. Unfortunately, those who are tolerate, often become intolerant in their attitude toward given us by the president. Let us be this class. Let us adopt the creed tolerant in all things. Let us admit that even though our neighbor disagrees with us he is as sincere and as honest in his opinion as we are in ours and no man has a right to say another man is wrong.

Truly, we are "all in the same boat"—all bound for the same end. The time never was and never will be when all men will think alike. There will be differences of opinion as long as the world endures and he who fails to recognize this fact must be classed as a bigoted, intolerant or mentally deficient soul.

THE LOCARNO CONFERENCE

While the result of the international conference at Locarno does not guarantee peace to Europe, it is one long step toward that end. The conference has resulted in agreeing to arbitration by the League of Nations, and not by the World Court. England and Italy agree to defend France in case of attack by the other nations. In other words, the conference has restored territorial values and thus eliminated the most pronounced bone of contention.

Germany was admitted to membership in the League of Nations, and the next step will be the admission of Russia—if Russia desires membership.

It is openly asserted, however, that the United States must now join the League if it proposes to pose as a world power. But the United States seems to wield a greater power in international affairs outside the League than would be possible were it muzzled by membership. This was illustrated at the Locarno conference when certain American interests not members of the conference applied the "big stick" to Germany and compelled her to accept the terms provided on threat of withholding German credits in this country.

With the billions of American investments in Europe and the steady hand of financial supremacy over all nations, the United States is anything but "isolated." It would be isolated, however, if it became a very small minority in a League whose chief purpose in life is to settle their own quarrels. When that is done world peace will be assured.

The average annual per capita utilization of electricity in the United States has now reached 518 kilowatt hours.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT SUGGESTS HALLOWEEN.

The bridge tournament, given by the ladies of the Ranger Country club yesterday afternoon at the Gholson hotel, suggested Halloween in its general color motif and its bridge table appointments. Roses, cosmos and stately "mums" were used in profusion throughout the entertaining rooms, with yellow as the dominant note. At 3 o'clock the players were invite into the Green room, where they partook of a buffet lunch of salads, coffee and cakes, Mmes. O. L. Phillips and W. C. Palmer pouring coffee. The dining table, which was covered with an Italian cut-work cloth, over yellow, was centered with yellow marigolds, their vivid colors holding harmoniously with the tall yellow tapers in the silver candlesticks that flanked each end of the table.

The serving of refreshments in the middle of the games was a pleasant innovation and everyone present expressed themselves as being delighted with the change.

After leaving the Green room, cards were again resumed in the parlors on the mezzanine floor and in the final count prizes for the afternoon were awarded to Mrs. P. J. O'Donnell, who won a lovely pair of silk hose for making high score; Mrs. Charles Overly of Eastland, who also received a pair of silk hose for second high score prize, and Mrs. Walter Brabhan, who won the cut prize, a bottle of bath salts. There were 14 tables at bridge and scores of the players were filed away for the final county at the end of the series.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Harry Logsdon, J. P. Bailey, A. J. Shaw and Walter Burden.

CHEERFUL WORKERS MEET

Miss Eunice Inness who has been in El Paso for the past two months is in the city.

GLEE CLUB HAS PEPPY MEETING.

In spite of howling clouds and a forecast of cold weather, a crowd of some 15 or 20 was on hand last night at the Gholson to participate in the Glee club practice. Songs from the song book were sung and the bridal chorus and "At Dawning" were practiced. A short business session was conducted and several committees were appointed. Mrs. A. G. Jure and J. M. White were appointed on a committee to select the music for the Christmas program and Mmes. W. W. Housewright, J. M. White and Mr. Walton were appointed on a committee to select the place for the Christmas entertainment and to name the date for same. At the next meetin it is hoped that actual work will begin on this Christmas program. There were several new members out last night, but still those who are fostering the movement wish to greet more new members. This is not an invitational club. It matters not whether one has been asked by some other member or not. It is for the musically inclined folks of Ranger and the club needs the assistance of every man and woman that can lend a voice or play an instrument. The Glee club will meet again next Tuesday night and everybody is welcome. Miss Christine Carter is an able director and it's quite a privilege to enjoy the training that she will give during the coming months.

WEEK-END MARRIAGE
 Every Saturday afternoon between five and five-fifteen a man enters the subway station at Park Place, Newark, en route for New York. About three-quarters of an hour later a key turns in the door of my apartment and the man enters. A bouquet of flowers, a basket of fruit, a box of candy, a load of intriguing packages are hurriedly deposited for the affectionate kisses of greeting.

The man is my husband and we are about to enjoy our regular week-end marriage.

It is just eight years since we entered upon our week-end married life. Eight years, I believe, is a pretty good test. Surely a significant detail of the success of our system is that for both of us Saturday is no longer merely the last day of the week. It is the best day of the week toward which we both look with anticipation through all the others.—Martha Stanley in Hearst's International-Cosmopolitan.

TO THE PUBLIC.

From an interview in the Oil Belt News of yesterday by Judge R. N. Grisham, a charge is by inference made that the stockholders of Lake Eastland corporation are solidly opposing the taking over of the gas company by the city through selfish motives on their part.

Lake Eastland corporation, as such has no interest or concern in the gas controversy, and the stockholders are not all agreed with reference to the advisability of the city taking over the gas plant, some are for it and some against it—they are using their own individual judgment as every citizen should. At any time the city desires to take over Lake Eastland corporation all the stockholders will gladly sell—in fact will give the city a preference.

Oklahoma's Phantom Guard At Coal Mines Wends Way Homeward

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 28.—Oklahoma guard troops of four men came out of the mine area Tuesday. When the secrecy over their troop movement was raised, with instructions that the military was no longer needed in the face of a federal injunction restraining union miners on strike from picketing the mines, it became known that the state force on guard duty consisted of four men.

The "phantom" regiment at Henryetta withdrew without disorder, three men returning to their homes. In Pittsburg, where a strike had threatened, Capt. John H. Cary of Oklahoma City entrained for his home.

TRADE CIRCLES SEE ROSY GLOW ON THE HORIZON

Conditions In Eleventh Federal Reserve District Look Very Promising

By United Press.
DALLAS, Oct. 28.—Development of a more optimistic feeling in trade circles together with actual increases in distribution of wholesale merchandise were the outstanding features in last month's business situation in the Eleventh federal reserve district, according to a survey released by the Dallas federal reserve bank today.

Buying was light in the drought sections partially offsetting the good showing of other districts, the review stated.

Warm weather retarded trade in department stores during September. Sales were greater than the previous month but 4 per cent less than September a year ago.

Widely distributed rains materially benefited late crops and rendered soil in a recipient condition for sowing small grains. Resulting increased feed supply will greatly reduce farmers' expenditures. Rains curtailed premature opening of cotton, but on the other hand retarded picking and conduced boll and leaf worm activities.

Ample fall and winter pasturage is assured.

Livestock movement is expected to be lighter than usual due to heavy shipments earlier this season. Range trading continues active with stockers in demand. With higher market values and ample feed, the livestock outlook is regarded favorably.

Liquidation at commercial banks has been heavy and deposits are rising at a rapid rate. However, there were 46 business suspensions in the Eleventh district against 66 in August and 34 a year ago. Loans to member banks have not decreased appreciably on account of the financing of the fall movement of cotton.

Building permits show a decline of 12 per cent from the August total. This, however, is 17 per cent increase over last year.

Demand for farm labor with increased industrial employment has absorbed the large supply of labor existing earlier in the season.

For the fourth consecutive month daily average of crude oil production has shown a decline. During September, daily average production amounted to 453,961, against 455,792 during August.

DEATH CLAIMING MORE VICTIMS OF TRAIN WRECK

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 28.—The death toll of the wreck of the Frisco "Sunnyland" express was placed at 19 this morning as three more victims died during the night. T. J. Sandy, a brakeman, Youngue Jordan, 12, and Arthur Jordan, 10, of Carrollton, Ga., were added to those who were killed outright or died shortly after the train went over a thirty foot embankment. The Jordan boys were two of a family of five in the crash, their parents and a small sister being less seriously injured.

Several now in hospitals are expected to die.

Lead Teams

Here are the captains of two of the best football teams in the country. Fred Henderson of Chicago and Joe Wilson, Pennsylvania. They are due to lead their eleven against each other in the great intersectional battle at Philadelphia, Saturday. Both players play tackle positions. NO EXCUSE FOR PIMPLES AND BUMPS ON THE FACE

The boy or girl who is always conscious of their pimply, blotchy, inflamed or rough skin, and really drawing more attention to it when they keep making excuses for not looking good, don't get any sympathy because folks now know that it is not necessary to keep putting up with this sort of thing.

Since Black and White Ointment, and Black and White Soap, were introduced in this country, thousands of people who had been troubled with pimples, blotches, dark, rough skin, full of bumps, for years are now happy, because they find it gets rid of them so quickly.

Black and White Ointment is economically priced. In liberal packages, the 50c size contains three times as much as the liberal 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and the Soap.—Adv.

CARBON FAIR PROMISES TO BE ATTRACTIVE

Livestock And Poultry To Be Exhibited. Dates Nov. 6 And 7

The Carbon community fair, which is to be held Friday and Saturday, Nov. 6 and 7, is creating considerable interest and bids fair to be a much better show than last year's, which was a decided success from every standpoint.

The fair committee met recently and completed arrangements and plans for the fair. It was decided to add to the poultry show the English white leghorns as well as the American strain, and to judge them according to utility rather than by the American standard of perfection.

Every committee was urged to promote its department as much as possible and every person in the community is urged to save good specimens of crops and animals to be placed on exhibit at the fair.

The Carbon fair has been the agency through which the town and the outlying communities have been drawn closer together, and has proven very valuable socially and otherwise, to all classes of people.

Every committee was urged to promote its department as much as possible and every person in the community is urged to save good specimens of crops and animals to be placed on exhibit at the fair.

MAY SEYMOUR FOOT LOOSE

by BEATRICE BURTON
SEQUEL TO "The FLAPPER WIFE"

ONEA

"You cheat! You piker!" May said between clenched teeth.

He tells her things that aren't strictly true, about himself, just to appear more attractive in her eyes. I do have a house up in Pittsfield, as a matter of fact, but it's mortgaged up to the hilt—"

He looked pleadingly at her, for an instant.

"You did the same thing, yourself you know," he continued. "You tried to make me think you had a lot more money than you really have, now, didn't you?"

May shook his hand from her shoulder. "Where is that check I gave you?" she asked, and there was ice in her voice.

He shook his head, despairingly. "May, you're going to regret this—" he began, but the dangerous glint in her eyes silenced him.

"Where is that check of mine?" she asked again. "Now, I'm not fooling, Herbert Waterbury! Either you give me back that money of mine, or I'm going straight over to the desk for the house detective!"

Waterbury saw that she meant what she said. He rose heavily to his feet, leaning upon his gold-headed cane.

"It's upstairs in my room, in a despatch box in the left-hand drawer of my dresser—if you want to know the exact spot," he answered, flushing darkly.

"Go up and get it!" May commanded.

ed, looking at the clock above the door. "I'll give you just five minutes—"

He nodded without looking at her. She watched him lurch toward the elevator, and disappear within its elaborate, gridded door, remembering the first time she had seen him standing there. How handsome he had seemed to her then—how utterly desirable as a prospective husband!

"And he's nothing but a crook!" she thought. "My stars! What queer men a woman does meet when she's knocking around the world alone!"

She thought over the men she had met the last year: Waterbury, Dan Sprague, vicious young Jack Danley, Ulysses Forgan—

But Ulysses was in a class by himself.

"Why, he's so honest and so generous that he didn't even pay himself a commission when he sold my house for me!" May thought. "When I get that money back, I must send him a check. I can't let him do things for me, without being paid."

She realized then that 10 minutes had passed, and Herbert had not returned. She waited. Five more minutes crawled by.

At last May got up and walked over to the room clerk.

"Will you please call Mr. Waterbury in 312 for me?" she asked.

The dapper, young clerk, who looked like an ad from men's clothing, shoved the telephone across the desk.

May called room 312.

There was no answer.

Bewildered, May hung up the receiver, and walked over to the elevators. As she stood there, one of them descended, and several people stepped out. But Herbert was not among them.

"Where can he be?" she asked, dazedly.

Twenty minutes had gone by since he had left her, promising to be back in five minutes.

"I guess I'll go up and see."

She stepped into the elevator, and got out at the third floor.

The door of room 312 stood open, and the key hung from the lock.

Within, every light was blazing. May went in, and stood in the center of the room, looking about her. Drawers stood open, a torn collar lay upon the floor, the end of a necktie hung over the edge of the waste-basket.

But even then, what had happened did not dawn upon her.

She heard a noise behind her, and turned sharply. A chambermaid had come in, and dumped a pile of clean linen upon the bed.

"The gentleman who has this room—" May began.

"He's just left, ma'am," the girl answered primly, "about a quarter of an hour ago—taking, if you please, even the silk shades from the lamps!" She pointed a thick forefinger at the electric lights that shone nakedly on either side of the dresser.

"You wouldn't believe there was folks like 'im in the world, ma'am," she said, "unless you'd worked around 'otels as I 'ave. In Bristol, England, where I come from, 'twas the same. 'Ot water pitchers they'd take, and bath towels—anything they could lay their 'ands on!"

She shook out a sheet, and began to make up the bed, as she talked. And May stood there, listening, because she was incapable of sane thought or action, for the time being—so dumbfounded was she by Herbert's flight.

"I don't know how 'tis," she said went on, "but folks who wouldn't steal a pin's point from anybody, will take everything they can from a hotel, and think it's all right! I've known 'em to steal the very forks and salt cellars from restaurant tables, or from their mornin' breakfast trays, ma'am! And yet I've no doubt they calls themselves honest folk."

May shook her head.

"A person who'd steal a towel from a hotel would commit another other sort of crime, I think," she said slowly. "In fact, I know it."

Her eyes were on the maid's red-cheeked face, but she was speaking to herself. At last she knew the truth about Waterbury: that he was not a gentleman and a millionaire, but the commonest sort of crook—a thief who would steal thousands of dollars from a widow with the same casual air that he would strip a hotel bedroom of its silk lampshades, its towels, and bathmats—even in his flight he had stopped to do that!

Without being aware of how she had come there, she found herself presently outside the hotel. She was hurrying down the Boardwalk as if she were late to keep an appointment with someone—and yet there was not one soul in the gay resort whom she knew. They were all gone—her queer friends—Waterbury, Dan, Carlotta, even Francie Lee.

She was utterly without friends! Even such doubtful friends as they had been.

She stood beside the railing, looking out at the sea, trying to think.

What was she going to do, now?

She had almost no money—not more than three or four dollars that were in the bead purse dangling from her arm.

She didn't even know Waterbury's name, or where to find him. And what use was there in trying to find him, anyway? She had signed her money over to him—no court would convict him of robbing her. That was certain.

No, she had been a fool. She had

He paused a moment and then went on.

"But don't kid yourself that you fooled me—I saw right through your little game from the very start," he said coolly. "I knew you were down here fortune-hunting, like many another widow who's looking for a new meal ticket! I've met your kind before, Mrs. Seymour—plenty of times!"

May pulled herself together, mentally, before she spoke again. And when she did, her voice was curiously calm. It sounded far away to her own ears.

"How much chance have I to get my $14,000 back from you?" she asked.

He stared at her.

"Because I've just made up my mind to get it, now, tonight—even if I have to go to the hotel detective about it," she said simply.

He caught her again by the shoulder, turning her toward him.

"Look here, May, do you really believe all this tommy-rot that Carlotta's been telling you?" he asked.

She made no answer and his grasp tightened on her soft shoulder.

"Of course, I'll admit that some of the stuff I told you was just 'plain tales from the hills'," he said, laughingly. "But every man dresses himself up a bit for the woman he loves."

May Seymour, whose husband killed himself because of her love affair with another man, returns to her home town after a year's absence. She disposes of her inherited property, leaves the sale of her house in the hands of Ulysses X. Forgan, and with $8,000 in her handbag, sets out to find and marry a man with money.

At Atlantic City she meets a divorcee, Carlotta Frothing, and her two friends, Herbert Waterbury and Dan Sprague. Both men pay suit to May, greatly to the distress of Carlotta, who has been in love with Dan for many years.

May, however, sets her cap for Waterbury, having made up her mind that he is the millionaire husband she is looking for. She spends almost all of her ready money on jewels, a fur coat, and expensive clothes to create the impression that she is a wealthy widow. Finally Waterbury proposes, and May accepts him.

She plans to marry him within a week before he has a chance to slip through her fingers, and when the $12,000 from the sale of her house arrives, she turns it over to him to invest for her in Dan Sprague's oil well. But immediately regrets it, when Carlotta, on the eve of her departure for her California home, warns May not to trust Waterbury too far. She hints that he, Dan, and a mysterious third man named "Oliver M. Brunell" work together to put over shady stock deals.

May immediately goes to Waterbury, tells him what Carlotta has said about him. And while he is strongly denying it, May sees a special delivery letter in his hand, addressed to "Oliver M. Brunell."

brought this thing upon herself! And here she was stripped of every penny she had—with nothing but the clothes she wore, and a few more on the hangers in her closet in the hotel. And think! Think of the bill she owed at the hotel!

May drew in her breath, gripped the railing with both her hands. Her fingers were sore and bruised. But she felt no bodily pain. She began to cry—not with tears—but with the dreadful whimper of an animal that has been caught in a hidden trap. She stood there in the darkness, rocking back and forth in her agony.

"I'm done for! I'm done for!" she sobbed.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

S. M. U. PREPARING TO MEET LONGHORN ELEVEN

By United Press. Dallas, Oct. 28.—Coach Ray Morrison of the Mustangs is putting the pony crew through a stiff daily grind in preparation for what is considered the biggest game of the southwestern conference season here Saturday, when the Red and Blue meets the Texas Longhorns.

Expert opinion indicates that the Longhorns will avenge the stinging defeat at the hands of S. M. U. last year. At the end of one of the fiercest struggles ever witnessed at the Fair park bowl last fall, the Mustangs triumphed 10 to 6, and earned their victory.

This year the Ponies are strong, but it is thought that the Longhorns are stronger. Morrison has a heavy, versatile backfield in Cortezgia, the big Wop, and Bull Visor, beefy halfback, and others, and the Red and Blue is a scoring machine. If they break through the powerful first line of the Texans, however, they will earn the ground they gain.

WHAT PROHIBITION ACTUALLY DOES

"Years ago I stood on historic King's Mountain and saw the smoke of 38 government distilleries. I saw no macadamized roads, scarcely a schoolhouse. I saw saloons everywhere. There were only two or three factories, giving employment to two or three hundred people. Some years after the people had driven out this curse, I stood in the same place. I found macadamized roads in almost every part of the country. I saw magnificent churches of almost every denomination. I found schoolhouses in every district of that county. There was not the smoke of a single distillery, but instead I saw the smoke of 43 of the largest cotton factories in the United States."

—Federal Judge E. Y. Webb, Western District of North Carolina.

Prohibition in America has resulted in the children of the lesser-paid artisans being well-clothed and well shod," said Dr. Mayo, of Chicago, at a luncheon given by the American Society in London in connection with the visit of seven hundred American doctors.

DISTRICT COURT ORDERS.

The following decisions have been handed down by the Eastland county district courts:

Eighty-eighth district: Exparte application of H. T. Bumgarner for removal of disabilities of a minor. Order removing disabilities.

Exparte application of Ida Lou Andrews for removal of disabilities of a minor. Order removing disabilities.

R. H. Wells vs. R. W. Edwards et al. Judgment for defendants.

Ninety-first district: Mrs. Gladys Talbot vs. Lacie S. Talbot, divorce; judgment for defendant.

REST EXERCISE

Here are a few simple directions for rest exercise: Manufacture and mix your own drugs that keep your body going. Be superintendent of your own plant yourself.

Rest your thyroid, which produces your iodine or energy for the body. To rest your thyroid, relax the whole region where the thyroid is. Relax your neck and every time it tenses or starts to tense, stop it.

To rest your thyroid still more, use less of its product.

To use less of its product, distribute what you have it make, where it belongs.

To distribute what energy you make where it belongs, practice any form of exercise you like which intensively balances the body. By balancing the body—the most effortless exercise there is, an exercise which is done better the less effort it takes—the friction in the body which has kept calling on the thyroid for ten times as much iodine as any one has a right to ask it to make, comes to a stop, and at the same time that you are relaxing your neck, and making iodine less, the body stops drawing on it for more.

MAYOR URGES CO-OPERATION

"There will not be any liquor prohibition in Oklahoma and perhaps not in America, ten years from now. Liquor cannot now be obtained openly or in quantities, nor are there any flagrant violations of the prohibition law in Oklahoma City.

"Enforcement of the dry laws is a matter of complete and unhesitating co-operation between all authorities, city, county, state, and national. And without that co-operation, local enforcement will mean only a matter of how far out of the city a drinker must go to get his booze."

PALE, NERVOUS West Virginia Lady Says That She Was in a Serious Condition, But Is Stronger After Taking Cardui.

Huntington, W. Va.—"I was in a very weak and run-down condition—in fact, was in a serious condition," says Mrs. Fannie C. Bloss, of 1964 Madison Avenue, this city.

"In my left side the pain was very severe. It would start in my back and sides. Part of the time I was in bed and when up I didn't feel like doing anything or going anywhere.

"Life wasn't any pleasure. I was very pale. I was nervous and thin, and so tired all the time.

"My druggist told me that Cardui was a good tonic for women and I bought a couple of bottles. I took two bottles, then I noticed an improvement. I kept on and found it was helping me. I have taken nine bottles. I'm stronger now than I have been in a long time."

Cardui is made from mild-acting medicinal herbs with a gentle, tonic, strengthening effect upon certain female organs and upon the system in general.

GENERATING ELECTRICITY IS SMALL PART OF COST

These facts are worth hearing in mind says the Texas Public Service Information Bureau:

Niagara Falls furnishes only about 4 1-2 per cent of the nation's electrical energy.

Muscle Shoals, when entirely completed will generate less electrical energy than any of the plants in Chicago general is now.

If all the streams in the country were harnessed we would be little better off, for 28 per cent of the country's available water power is east of the Mississippi, which section uses 79 per cent of the electrical energy.

When advocating the generation of electricity at the mine, many people overlook the fact that electricity can only be generated economically near large bodies of water. It requires 400 to 600 tons of water for condensing purposes for each ton of coal burned.

The cost of generating electricity is only about 20 per cent of the total bill. The other 80 per cent is the cost of delivering the power and rendering service to the customer.

The cost of electricity has steadily decreased since 1913 while the price of all other commodities has increased and now is 65 per cent above the 1913 level.

EVERYBODY TELEPHONES IN THE UNITED STATES

Describing, in an interview in the Manchester Guardian, a recent trip to the United States, Sir Alexander Roger, chairman of the Telephone Development Association, London says:

"In America telephoning is as common as talking. Americans live on and by the telephone. It is the cornerstone of their business life and their social life. It would hardly be an exaggeration to say that the great industrial structure they have built

"What I saw amazed me. It is up rests ultimately on the telephone, body telephones to everybody. Babies the land of non-stop phones. Everywhere the telephone with their first 'Oliver.' Let me put it in another way. In New York City, there are at this moment more telephones than in the whole of Great Britain, and a similar preponderance prevails throughout the country."

COMMON SENSE OF THE TYPICAL QUAKER

The typical Quaker is credited with having had much common sense in spite of his reputation for generous hospitality. A story of a man who went to a Quaker friend for advice in buying a horse reflects the almost gruff brevity of their speech.

"I want a horse," said the man, "that must not cost much, but which shall be nice and quiet for mother to drive out with and take rides in the afternoon, one broken to the saddle so that I may go back riding in the morning, one that is strong enough to draw the carriage when we go to church, a horse that can and that could be used to go back be equipped to draw a load of hay and forward to market. Can you tell me where I can find such a horse?"

"No," said the Quaker, quietly. "I know of no such horse, but as these looks fore one why dost thee not get one that is also a good milker?"

During the last ten years, industrial use of gas has jumped 1,000 per cent and all indications are pointing toward the establishment of a new record in industrial gas use in 1925.

Altho August is considered an "off" month, during last August the electric surface cars of Chicago carried more passengers than ever before. During that month these street cars transported a total of 125,002,113 passengers.

Electric service is now starting on its 44th year. On September 4, 1882, the first metropolitan electric service company began operations. This was the plant built by Thomas A. Edison to supply electricity to the lower part of New York City.

MOST WOMEN SUFFER FOR SAKE OF MODESTY

They Endure Intense Pain Month After Month Rather Than Make Grievous Condition Known. G. F. P. Can Be Used in Privacy of Home Without the Knowledge of Anyone.

The subject of the peculiar ways in which girls and women suffer is the one which they prefer not to discuss with others, yet they know that as long as they don't get relief, they are doomed to remain in misery.

Knowing this, and feeling that they will be serving such suffering girls and women in the privacy of their homes, the discovery of St. Joseph's G. F. P., have scattered the rays of this wonderful medicine as broadcast as possible so every woman can go or send to her favorite drug store and simply get G. F. P., without asking questions or giving any information about her condition.

It is deemed a sacred duty to let sister, daughter, wife or mother know that in nine cases out of ten the derangement in their ovarian functioning which causes pain, irregularity, nervousness, irritability, despondency and swelling of limbs and joints during pregnancy, as well as continued suffering during the change in their lives, is due almost entirely to the hold which the dreadfully malady—catarrh, has on their organs.

Many a miserable and suffering woman, influenced by that fear of others knowing and too modest to find reliable help, has endured such distressing ailments just because she had no way of getting relief such as she can do now by simply getting G. F. P. from the nearest drug store.
