MINERS RENEW DEMAND FOR SIX-HOUR DAY

SHOT WILL TEST NEW FORMATION IN HAMON WELL

Deep Hole on Daniels Opens Up Considerable Territory to Development.

A sixty-quart shot is nesting in the Hamon Estate's Daniels well, twelve miles west of Ranger, which struck pay at 3,750 feet ten days ago and has since been making seventy-five or a hundred barrels daily. Caving prevented firing the shot with a spark, but it is expected to go off at any time.

This well has opened a considerable area to deep production, and is being watched with interest because of this and a new formation struck after passing through nine feet of gas sand. It was gone into for twenty-four feet but a sample of it could not be obtained, as oil followed the tools from the hole.

The well is expected to make several hundred barrels after the shot. Rig up on Newnam.

Ramey and associates of Breckenridge have a rig up on the B. B. Newnam tract, to the northeast of the Nannie Walker-Stewart pool near Frankel, and will spud in a few days. This test is on top of the hill in the same neighborhood as McMichael Bros., well on the McCollum, which recently came in with 25,000,000 feet of gas in the shallow pay, and after braden-heading the gas, is being drilled to the 3,600-foot sand.

CONTRACTORS RESUME WORK ON CISCO DAM

Special to the Times

CISCO, Feb. 18.—The construction of the million-dollar dam at Lake Cisco, which was suspended last June, was resumed here yesterday following a satisfactory agreement between the city and the Priestedt Construction company of Chicago. The small force now engaged on the work will be increased to 400 or 500 men by April 1, and the dam will be completed as rapidly as possible, representatives of the construction company state. Terms of the agreement will be announced later. An electric line from the city to the site of the dam is now being rushed to completion in order that no delay will be encountered in pushing the work on the dam.

The work was halted on June 12 as the result of a disagreement between the city commission and the contractors. The company brought suit on Nov. 7, in federal court at Abilene, asking judgment for the specific performance of the contract and an injunction against the city restraining it from interfering with the contract. A temporary injunction was granted by the court and by agreement the cases were combined and placed in the hands of R. Davidson as master in chancery. The taking of evidence at Cisco and Dallas was completed on Jan. 23. No findings have been rendered by Judge Davidson, but under the compromise agreement effected in the last few days the action before the master in chancery is to be called off.

The lake formed by the dam when completed will have a capacity of 15,000,000,000 gallons, sufficient water to supply Cisco and adjoining towns. Under the supervision of J. H. Richardson, machinery is being placed in readiness, new machinery ordered, cables have been stretched and the work of pumping out the water that has gathered in the low places, repairing the cave-ins and starting new excavations, will start in the next few days.

SCRAP IN SIBERIA.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The capture of Khabarovsk by troops of the Far Eastern republic last Tuesday has been accomplished, according to dispatches received here today by the special delegation of the republic, by a sharp offensive in which the bandit army equipped by Japanese has been cut off from its supplies, disorganized and is retreating in panic toward the Japanese zone in the maritime province.

"The troops of the Far Eastern republic captured a considerable amount of supplies, prisoners and cannon and are following up their victory," a statement issued by the delegation said.

COP OUTBOXES BOXER

By Associated Press.

SHEVEPORT, La., Feb. 18.—Bobby Waugh, Fort Worth boxer, and Traffic Policeman William Best this afternoon were charged with disorderly conduct which followed a fist fight which resulted in medical attention being given Waugh. The encounter, it was said, was the result of a recent contest between Waugh and Young Wallace in which Best, who was referee, gave the latter the decision.

CASTLE'S CLAIM TURNED DOWN BY SCHOOL BOARD

Says Contract With Tullock Only One Ever Made; Plans Slightly Changed.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon, the Ranger school board declined to recognize the claims of David S. Castle of Abilene, that he had been awarded the contract to draw the plans for the new High school, prior to the action of the board last Saturday, when the tentative plans of John Tullock, architect of Sherman, were accepted and approved.

Mr. Castle, whose representative has been here off and on since the action of the board last week, appeared at the meeting yesterday in person and presented his brief. Members of the board had no comment to make on his claims except that the board considered that the only contract for the school plans had been let to Mr. Tullock last Saturday. The latter appeared before the meeting adjourned and submitted floor plans, in which a number of minor changes were made by the board.

NAVY YARD CUT SPELLS RUIN TO PORK BARRELS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Members of congress have gained an impression at the navy department, it was learned today, that under Secretary Denby's announcement of the policy of "the navy afloat first," the shore establishment, particularly along the Atlantic coast would be the first to feel the effect of naval reduction. Cutting the navy appropriations of $250,000,000 or less than has been suggested in the house naval committee hearings, Denby asks for $300,000,000 to keep the fleet at 5-5-3 ratio strength provided for under the naval limitation treaty.

The secretary's purpose to make the fleet his first consideration caught the attention of members of both house and senate from navy yard states and districts. They have inquired at the department just what navy yards might be abandoned should the indicated slash in funds be made. They were told no definite plans had been laid. It was said to be obvious that only two Atlantic yards, New York and Norfolk, would be regarded as vitally essential to the fleet and that even at these, reductions of a radical nature would be made if necessary for the sake of keeping the maximum fleet strength. Congressmen are understood to feel that Denby would recommend the closing of all other Atlantic yards.

GIRL ASKS TO KEEP RING IN RETURN FOR HER TIME

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—"No girl whose entire time has been monopolized by one man should be forced to return such a trivial reward for mispent time as a $300 engagement ring."

Alice Carsterns so declared in appealing a jury verdict which ordered her to return the ring.

PASTOR SAYS BELSHAZZAR'S FEAST WILL APPEAR TAME

By Associated Press.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Feb. 18.—The Rev. Dr. John Broomfield says public morals are increasing in laxity here to such an extent that, "if some of the stuff already pulled off by the younger set is any criterion, then the community can expect things that will make Belshazzar's feast look tame."

ORDERS CLOSE SEVEN CAPITAL CITY THEATRES

Largest Amusement Houses in Washington Show Structural Weakness.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Seven theatres, including the new National and Felo, two of the principal downtown theatres, were ordered closed tonight by the board of commissioners, the governing body of the District of Columbia.

The order was issued after an inspection of playhouses in the district had been completed by a board of five engineers. The inspection grew out of the collapse of the Knickerbocker, which cost ninety-eight lives.

Other theatres closed were: Metropolitan, Columbia, Maryland and Forsker, motion picture houses, and the Cosmos, vaudeville and motion pictures. The Metropolitan and the Columbia are two of the largest downtown theatres. The former is owned by the Crandall company which also owned the Knickerbocker.

CHINA WOULD SELL NAVY TO PAY SALARIES

By Associated Press.

PEKING, Feb. 18.—Officers of the Chinese navy have proposed to go the Washington Armament Conference one better by scrapping the entire Chinese navy and selling it to pay their salaries which are in arrears.

(The Chinese navy consisted in 1920 of six protected cruisers, three destroyers, eight torpedo boats, three torpedo gunboats, four gunboats and a considerable number of river gunboats. Nine of these, however, were under control of the Southern Chinese government located at Canton.)

The Chinese officers proposed also that all battleships and cruisers should be scrapped.

Not Peace Move.

The Chinese press asserts that it is in the interest of their salaries rather than of the ease of the world that the Chinese naval officers proposed this drastic step.

As in the case of many government departments of China at the present time, salaries for many back months are due the officials and personnel of the navy, and the conference of officers was called to consider ways and means of forcing the ministry of finance to allocate to the ministry of marine sufficient money to make up these deficits.

Feeling that sale of all naval property and abolition of the navy was the surest way of obtaining the necessary funds, the officers decided to put this proposition before the people.

Their alternative, in case this scheme failed to meet with approval, was that officials who had illegally withheld their pay from them be made personally responsible.

GERMAN PROPAGANDA STOPPED ALONG RHINE

By Associated Press.

COBLENZ, Feb. 18.—The inter-allied high commission has refused to grant Captain Karl von Mueller, former commander of the German cruiser Emden, permission to give lectures in the occupied area, it was announced today.

The commission has learned that a series of lectures on responsibility for the war was being organized throughout the occupied territory and it issued the order prohibiting the lecture on the ground that they were liable to disturb public order.

BEDBUGS WORRY PRISONER; COURT LETS HIM MOVE

By Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 18.—Bed bugs in the county jail here aroused a complaint by Mrs. Clarence Smith after Federal Judge Fitzhenry had sentenced her husband there for three months for bootlegging.

Eastland Driller Admits He's Nervous Over Klan Warning

Not Cowardly, But Goes on Job to Give Time for Investigation.

Special to the Times

EASTLAND, Feb. 18.—On the advice of influential citizens Ed Ransom, driller, who was warned to leave town last Tuesday by the Ku Klux Klan of Eastland, has departed temporarily, according to his statement made tonight on leaving for a camp eight miles from this city. Ransom stated that he was leaving for a few days, as he had a fishing job at the well where he is employed and had decided to give the Klan time to investigate his life in Eastland.

"I hope the public won't think me cowardly, but I can't deny that circumstances since Tuesday have made me a little nervous," Ransom stated, and explained that he was leaving town for the time being on the advice of influential citizens.

"If I had done anything detrimental to the town I would have been gone before this," he added.

Engle Also Stays.

The driller and Henry Engle, at present said to be unemployed, were given forty-eight hours in which to leave Eastland in communications purporting to come from the Eastland Klan No. 152, last Tuesday. Both men failed to heed the warning within the time limit and made statements protesting their innocence. Ransom claimed that the adverse information furnished the Ku Klux concerning him had come from an enemy and Engle declared that the implied accusations against him were mistakes and that he "courted the fullest investigation." Engle is still in Eastland and has not announced his intention of leaving any time in the near future.

The nature of the accusations against the men were not made known in the communications, which simply after referring to "facts known to them" ordered the men to leave "for the protection of womanhood." At the time the communications were received, both men lived at the same hotel.

'HIDES' ARE POCKET CHANGE AT JUNCTION

By Associated Press.

JUNCTION, Texas, Feb. 18.—"Catch your possum and be there."

So ended an advertisement appearing here announcing an entertainment in one of the county school districts, at which admittance was gained by payment of varmint hides. That Kimple county folk are not worrying much over financial depression was indicated by the advertisement, which fixed admittance as follows:

"General admission, one possum hide. One fox hide admits two. One skunk hide admits three. One coon hide, five. Children under 7, old maids and widows, free."

Merchants here accept hides in exchange, there being a stronger demand for this commodity than almost any other.

PLANE CROSSES MOUNTAINS.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—For the first time, a commercial airplane has flown across the Atlas mountains in Morocco, according to a message received at the London air station.

The Atlas range is 15,000 feet high. The pilot was Tlan J. Cobham, an English aviator.

WHADDA YOU MEAN SMALL DISORDERS?

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—What appeared at first to be a general uprising near Guatemala City Thursday during the election to choose a successor to former President Herrera was suppressed after slight disorders, according to word received at the state department today from the American legation in Guatemala.

The dispatch stated that in one small town, not named, the commandant had been murdered and some ten men killed in election rioting.

Advices received here today by supporters of the provisional government of Guatemala declared that the country was quiet following disorders at the opening of the election.

ANOTHER BIG CASINGHEAD PLANT TO HANDLE PLEASANT GROVE GAS

Special to the Times.

EASTLAND, Feb. 18.—The construction of a gasoline absorption plant three miles north of Eastland on the Dr. J. L. Johnson lease was announced today by Butler Bros., Pennsylvania capitalists. The plant, it is stated, will be completed within ninety days at a cost of $300,000, with a capacity of 12,000 barrels of gasoline daily. It will be the first unit of a series which it is planned to construct in the near future, involving the investment of $1,500,000. Such a series would have a daily capacity of 40,000 barrels, the backers claim.

The first plant to be constructed will serve wells in the vicinity of Lake Eastland, the wells of the States Oil corporation and wells in the vicinity of Pleasant Grove.

S. and H. Butler are the sons of Congressman Butler of Westchester, Pa. Associated with them is Phil Sharples, son of the cream separator manufacturer, and several officials of the States Oil corporation.

EASTLAND OFFICER'S STORY OF STRUGGLE WINS ACQUITTAL

Special to the Times.

EASTLAND, Feb. 18.—John Hennessy, night policeman of Eastland, was acquitted at 10:30 tonight for the killing of W. H. Simmons, farmer, last fall, by a jury reporting in the Ninety-first district court. The verdict followed Hennessy's testimony on the stand this afternoon in which he claimed that the trouble had resulted when he had searched Simmons' buggy in the Mexican quarter of the town and removed a bottle containing liquid from the buggy.

Simmons, he stated, had come upon the scene and when ordered to put up his hands, after several suspicious actions, had seized his arm as he was attempting to remove his gun. Hennessy claimed to have wrest himself free from his assailant only to be seized again as he turned to prevent Simmons' horse from bolting. It was fired, the bullet lodging in Simmons' body. Fatally wounded, Simmons is said to have struggled vainly for several minutes before he submitted to arrest and crumpled up on the ground. He died shortly after he was removed to the hospital.

The officer explained that Simmons had interrupted him in the act of smelling the bottle to ascertain the contents and that he could not say what it had contained as it was dropped in the struggle.

FLEWELLEN IS CANDIDATE FOR CO. ATTORNEY

By Associated Press.

"Bootleggers, gamblers and murderers need expect no favors if I am elected county attorney, for they will receive none," L. H. Flewellen, city judge and local attorney, declared last night in announcing his candidacy for the office, subject to the Democratic primary in July. "I will, if elected, do all in my power to impartially and vigorously enforce the law," he said.

Flewellen was born in Bel county and was educated at the Belton High school and the University of Texas, at the latter institution obtaining an academic and law degree. He practiced law in Dallas until war was declared when he entered the first training camp at San Antonio. On receiving his discharge he practiced law in San Antonio for a year and then became connected with the department of justice. Three years ago he came to Ranger and has practiced law here ever since. On July 7, 1920, he was appointed judge of the corporation court.

KENTUCKY GUARDSMEN ALSO WAR ON BOOTLEGGERS

By Associated Press.

NEWPORT, Ky., Feb. 18.—Two raiding parties of Kentucky guardsmen on strike duty at the plant of the Newport rolling mill, started from their quarters at the mill today to resume the work of cleaning up Newport.

After issuing his orders to the troops, Colonel Dinhardt announced that the raids will not cease until Newport is free of liquor sales and obtain food.

PANAMA FORTS ARE OBSOLETE ARMY FOLK SAY

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Guns in existing defense of the Panama canal are outraged thousands of yards by the rifles of foreign warships now afloat. It is regarded by the military experts as wholly possible that an enemy fleet could lay off the Pacific entrance forts, far out of range, and pound the defense to pieces at their leisure, without risk to themselves.

Joint army and navy maneuvers planned for this winter but abandoned because of the retrenchment policy, were expected, it was learned today, to have demonstrated this weakness of the canal defenses in striking fashion. Forts on the Pacific side of the big waterway were to have been the object of attack by the combined fleet as one phase of the war game. The purpose was to test in simulated war conditions the adequacy of the defenses and to obtain further data for their modernization.

Under the naval limitation treaty the maximum size of guns on existing or future capital ships is to be limited to 16-inch weapons. It is to be expected that under the treaty schedule all ships will come to be equipped with guns of approximately that size and power. The canal fortifications were planned when ever the British fifteen-inch naval rifle was in an experimental state and when the American naval big guns, just being talked about, was the fourteen-inch. Since then both American and Japanese navies have gone to the sixteen-inch and ships armed with the twelve-inch that was most generally in use at that time are rated today as pre-Jutland and obsolete, not powerful enough to lie in the line of battle.

ARABS FOUND STARVING IN PENNSYLVANIA TOWN

By Associated Press.

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 18.—Because they are followers of Mohammed, and their religious scruples will not permit them to seek aid or beg from an unbeliever, more than one hundred Arabians were found sick and starving in an old hotel in Farrell. When the big steel plants closed down they were unable to find other employment. Their money became exhausted, they were unable to obtain food.

STRIKE MATTER WILL BE LEFT TO REFERENDUM

Today's Action Taken Over Protest of Union Leaders and Presidents.

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 18.—Renewal of the demand of union coal miners for a six-hour day, five-day week, a proposal that was made before the 1919 strike, was adopted today by the convention of the United Mine Workers of America as a part of the policy the union will seek to have included in new wage agreements effective April 1. This demand had the united opposition of the union's leaders, including all district presidents.

The convention's action for the shorter working day, however, was the only radical change in the wage policy proposed by the union's scale committee, which centered the union's policy toward retaining present basic wages for soft coal miners and gaining increase for anthracite workers under threat of a general strike. The wage proposals of the committee were adopted by an overwhelming vote. The strike recommendation, however, provides for a referendum to the union's members before an order can be issued.

In declaring for the six-hour day the delegates overrode the committee recommendation for an eight-hour day underground and also voted down a proposal limiting actual work time to seven hours.

Whether the six-hour day demand obtains for the anthracite district was an unanswered question when asked from the floor by a delegate, who pointed out that the anthracite workers were not pressing the proposal. President Lewis said he was unable to advise the delegate as to the six-hour day as affecting anthracite workers.

Besides the work day and wage proposals adopted by the convention, its other demands as adopted include the following:

Removal of the inequitable differentials in wages, which would result in increased wages in some fields; pay and one-half for overtime work; double pay for Sunday and holiday work; elimination of the automatic penalty clause of present agreement, providing for fining miners and operators for violation of contract, and all new contracts to obtain for two years beginning next April 1.

Convention in Disorder.

As soon as it completed the adoption of the scale demands, the convention was ready to adjourn but disorder broke out at announcement of the official vote by which the convention early in the day refused to consider the appeal of Alexander Howat and other Kansas miners for reinstatement in the union. The official vote, rejecting Howat's appeal by a vote of 2,073 to 1,955, was read amid disorder, which subsided somewhat when Frank Harrington, president of the Illinois miners and the anti-administration leader, announced that all Illinois delegates would hold a separate meeting here tomorrow afternoon. The roll call ending the convention's consideration of the Kansas case was marked by an outbreak during the morning that blocked allocation for a time, but quiet was restored by a speech by "Mother" Jones, an 82-year-old miners' organizer, who pleaded with the delegates to give respectful consideration to their officials who had expelled Howat and that the convention settle down to its main work—the adoption of the wage scale policy.

Lewis in a formal statement after the sine die adjournment of the convention said extensive efforts had been made to pack the convention so that it would overthrow the expulsion of Howat.

ROUGH SLEDDING FOR TREATIES NOW EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Despite the pressure of both Republican and Democratic senate leaders for prompt action, controversies are developing within the foreign relations committee which may lead to a long committee discussion of the arms conference treaties before any of them is brought to the senate floor for ratification.

"Bloc" Is Attempted. The party leaders on both sides of the chamber are satisfied that the disagreements and delays encountered will in no way endanger ratification of any of the treaties, but they are watching with manifest interest the attempt now in progress to consolidate into a fighting machine all the elements who are dissatisfied with the results of the Washington negotiations.

REAL MONEY FOR WORK CHEERS ROAD EMPLOYEES

EASTLAND, Feb. 18.—Work on the roads of the county will be pushed on a larger scale in the next few days, it was stated here today by representatives of Smith Bros., engaged in paying off the road bond in real money. SPORTS

COLLEGE STARS WHO STARTED GRID SCANDAL NOW DETROIT ROOKIES

By Associated Press.
DETROIT, Feb. 19.—Fighting for places on the Detroit Tigers' pitching staff this season will be two men who of the collegiate athletic scandal unconsciously were among the causes which already has resulted in disqualification of more than a score of university stars. These two men are Vernon ("Slicker") Parks, the Western conference's best pitcher when with the University of Michigan nine, and Johnny Mohardt, Notre Dame's all-American halfback and baseball star.

Exposure of the football scandal over the Taylorville-Carlinville, Ill., football game in which Illinois and Notre Dame players were pitted against each other in the efforts of small towns to put over a big town betting coup, really dates back to the disqualification of "Slicker" Parks a year ago, according to several conference coaches.

Kept Eyes Closed.
For years there has been a gentleman's agreement among the baseball coaches, it is said, that they would not protest players who took part in summer semi-pro games in violation of the conference rules. Most of the coaches favored summer ball and consequently were willing to close their eyes to violations of the rule against it, so the story goes.

Parks, however, was not satisfied with playing on small town semi-pro teams. Instead, he pitched with a team in the Pacific Coast league, a class AA organization, and even had a tryout with the Detroit Tigers. A certain coach decided that this was carrying the matter too far, protested, and Parks was disqualified.

This was, at the time, the biggest athletic scandal in many years. It caused a feeling among some coaches, it is said, that while minor violations of the rule were all right, it should not be broken too brazenly. They began to look around for other brazen violations of the rules.

Then, Carlinville, Ill., decided to clean up Taylorville, Ill., by importing college players and betting heavily on them against the Taylorville home town team. Johnny Mohardt was the first man sought. Carlinville could not get Mohardt, but they did get a number of other Notre Dame stars.

The story of how Taylorville learned of the plan and defeated Carlinville at its own game by importing Illinois players is history, but it was because Carlinville wanted Mohardt that the affair was started and so Mohardt, even though innocent of any implication in the matter, was indirectly mixed up in the causes of the game which brought all the scandal.

Mohardt later admitted playing in other professional games, although denying that he received money, and then signed with Detroit. Now, the two stars whose names a short time ago were headlines in the papers, are obscure rookies fighting for a berth on a big league baseball team.

RUBE MARQUARD IS SHIPPED TO BOSTON

By Associated Press.
BOSTON, Feb. 18.—John Scott, pitcher for the Boston Nationals, has been traded to the Cincinnati Reds for Pitcher Rube Marquard and Infielder Larry Kopf, according to a telegram received here tonight from George W. Grant, owner of the Braves, who is now in New York.

An automobile speedway race, scheduled for Armistice day, Nov. 11, 1922, over the Greater San Francisco speedway, at San Carlos, Cal., offers a purse of $50,000 and lap prizes of $25,000. It is believed that this is the largest prize money ever listed for such a contest.

STAR SPRINTER, WHO WAR WOUND SHORTENED LEG

By Associated Press.
GRINNELL, Ia., Feb. 18.—Leonard T. Paul, Grinnell college crack sprinter, is, despite his remarkable war veteran whom Uncle Sam is putting through college. It's an interesting story what service in France did for and to Paul.

Back of the lines when they were teaching the Yanks how to run down a fleeing enemy, Paul discovered he could outstrip his regiment. After the September attack at St. Mihiel, he came to in a hospital to discover that a shrapnel torn leg and a possible loss of eyesight threatened to end his scarcely begun career as a runner.

Surgical skill saved the sight of his left eye and almost completely repaired his damaged leg. But to this day Paul strides four inches further with his left leg than with the wounded right.

Back to College.
Returning to Grinnell college, where he had spent his freshman year prior to enlistment, Paul immediately reported to the physical training department for instructions in sprinting. Charles Hoyt, holder of records in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, had charge of that particular class and soon reported to Coach Huff that there was a promising prospective sprinter among the beginners. After two years of intensive training, Coach Huff added another to

INVENTOR SAYS NEW PUMP WILL MAKE OLD WELLS PROFITABLE

A gas-operated pump, automatic in its functioning, which its backers believe will result in the reclamation and profitable operation of many old wells, and greatly increase the production of the district, is to be manufactured and marketed in Ranger, according to the literature of the Get-Oil Pump & Wrench company, which has established offices here.

The pump has been perfected by Henry F. Hannold, Ranger driller, now working for Hughes & Orrick in straightening up the Webb well, seven miles southwest of Ranger. It has been tested out in several wells, with extremely gratifying results, he says. It is a combination of check valves and jets, so placed that the natural gas pressure will force the oil to the surface, or if there is no gas, gas or compressed air can be forced in from the outside to the same effect.

"With this pump," Mr. Hannold said this week, "the expense of pumping is greatly reduced, as once installed in a well, pulling is seldom if ever needed and boilers and engines can be discarded. The pump simply siphons whatever oil there is in a well to the surface.

"This, I think, will revolutionize the oil business in this vicinity. Any amount of oil, from one barrel a day up, can be pumped at a profit, and there are literally hundreds of wells in the Ranger field being junked because the amount of oil obtained does not pay the cost of operation. I know of some wells making thirty to forty barrels a day that are being plugged for just this reason. With this pump, they would still be valuable property."

Mr. Hannold has been in Ranger for four years, residing on South Hodges street. He drilled in the J. W. Jones No. 1, a mile west of Eastland hill, which was one of the big producers in the early days. Later he was field superintendent for the Humble company in Stephens and Shackelford counties. He came here from Pennsylvania, via Oklahoma.

The company, of which he is manager, also will market a wrench, warranted not to drop the tools.

Upward of $1,500,000 is spent each week in New York for taxi rides.

BOY BREAKS ARM

His left forearm broken in two places as a result of a fall out of a tree while playing with other boys close to the High school campus this afternoon about 2 o'clock, Alfred Wren, 7-year-old son of Mrs. Wren, who is employed at the Teacherage, was slightly shaken up but not thought seriously injured other than the broken limb. Immediately after the fall he was taken to the office of Dr. Jackson, where an anesthetic was given and the bones set into place. Dr. Jackson stated that probably an X-ray will be taken of the injury tomorrow.

According to statement by those who saw the boy fall, he was playing in the tree several feet from the ground when he lost footing and fell, with his arm pinned under him.

EVERYTHING HELPS.

A year or so ago, the casinghead industry started up in the Ranger vicinity.

"Oh, it doesn't amount to anything," the wisecracker said. "Casinghead plants don't work anybody." That was true, in a way. There is a comparatively small force working at each.

But today, there are at least a dozen such plants quietly working away around Ranger, or under construction. Men are erecting them, and laying gas lines for them. And when they are completed, eight or ten men are required to operate each one, besides an office force, and the indirect distribution of employment among other lines of business. Directly and indirectly, those casinghead plants probably furnish a livelihood for nearly one thousand Rangerites.

That might not count for much in New York, but in Ranger it is quite considerable.

And the beauty of it is, chances look brighter for the present number to be doubled in another year, with a resultant increase in the direct and indirect benefits. Surely casinghead plants do amount to something.

Even if the casinghead payrolls were not beginning to amount to quite an item, there would still be cause for congratulation. For they improve the value of properties, create new wealth for royalty owners and operators and thus spur them on to further developments.

We're for casinghead plants, strong. If you feel able to put one in, all right. If not, how about that spring garden or a yardfull of your own chickens. They also, considered separately, don't amount to anything for the community. But there again, the aggregate will create a big volume of new wealth.

PASSING OF MONITOR RECALLS BRAVE DEEDS OF SPANISH WAR

The Oregon's Dash, Dewey's Daring at Manila, No More Thrilling Than Harbor Battery's Voyage Across Pacific, With Threat of Sinking in Every Wave.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—An old, double turreted monitor, the Monterey, direct descendant of the original Monitor, the "tin can on a shingle" made famous in the battle with the Merrimac in Hampton Roads in the war between the States, is to leave her bones in the far waters of the Pacific. After thirty years of honorable service under the flag, brief years of high adventure and long years of plodding, humble, faithful duty as a station ship, she is to be sold Feb. 21 to any junk man who will risk a few hundred dollars in a salvage venture.

The Monterey was the first steel fighting ship built on the Pacific coast. Her keel was laid at the Union Iron Works, San Francisco, in 1889 and in 1893, with full ceremony and great public enthusiasm the flag was hoisted that marked her first commission.

"Betsy" Gets Publicity.

They had been great days, those of her building. For in her day the ship was a mighty one in gun power and defensive armament and all along the Pacific Coast the size of her rifles was talked of by people who never before had been interested in such a subject. The first of her two 12-inch guns was freighted westward with the folks turning out all along the way to look at the monster, blocked up on a freight car. It had personality. It had even a name: "Big Betsy" ran the lettering painted on the wooden housing and as "Big Betsy" it was affectionately described in endless newspaper dispatches telling of the great weapon's triumphal progress westward.

When it reached San Francisco the city made holiday to welcome the monster. Men, women and children poured in endless lines through the freight yards to look at it. A proud sailor, perched on the car at the muzzle, would occasionally lift out the huge wooden plug that protected the gaping mouth. Eager small boys lifted high in their parent's arms, thrust diminutive heads into the cavernous mouth of the gun, gazing down the vast, dark chamber of the bore with hair-raising visions of awful power that lurked there. They felt that discharge of this giant must wreck the universe.

Finally, still with the people taking a large part in every step, the gun was in place in the forward turret of the Monterey. Came then the sister piece and the two smaller 10-inch rifles for the after turret, and the

SCRIPTURE

1 Corinthians 15:20-23

But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept.

For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.

For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.

But every man in his own order: Christ the first-fruits; afterward they that are Christ's at His coming.

Then cometh the end when He shall have delivered up the kingdom to God, even the Father; when He shall have put down all rule and all authority and power.

For He must reign, till He hath put all enemies under his feet.

The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death.

For He hath put all things under his feet. But when He saith, All things are put under him, it is manifest that He is excepted which did put all things under him.

And when all things shall be subdued unto Him, then shall the Son also himself be subject unto Him that put all things under Him, that God may be all in all.

monitor was ready for her place in the navy at last.

Just Floating Battery.

She was not designed for fighting at sea. Her mission was harbor defense. She was just a floating battery, sitting low in the water so as to offer small target for an enemy's fire, her four heavy guns housed in walls of chilled steel to be a final barrier against any invader coming in from the sea. She was not designed to go outside except in smooth weather, for it took little heaving of the sea to send blue water foaming over her low decks. Her place was inside, riding at anchor most of her life, and a chief duty as her designers saw it, would be protection of the Golden Gate at need.

Up and down the coast the ship went, as the weather served, to show herself to the people at the various ports. She was a member of the "White Navy," spick and span and gleaming white of hull and the tan coloring of funnel and upper works setting her off as a picture of peace and beauty belied only by the gleaming steel of "Big Betsy" and her sisters nestled in the massive turrets. The ship was built to be almost a land-lubber, to live and die in the coastal waters, sheltered by friendly headlands from the storm and stress of deep water.

So her first years passed. There was no war cloud in sight and she was a show ship for the people of the Far West, the ship they knew best along the coast.

Great Naval Deeds.

Then suddenly came the war with Spain. On a dull, foggy day the Oregon, destined to become the hero ship of that struggle, plowed out through the Golden Gate on her historic rush around the Horn to the fighting front off Santiago. Over the cables drifted the story of Dewey's bold dash on Manila with his cruisers and gunboats—of his thrilling passage of the harbor forts in the darkness of early morning and his smashing victory over the Spanish fleet inside.

Inside the Golden Gate the tents were springing up as by magic as an army gathered almost overnight. It was only a matter of days until the first transports loaded with troops went out under a setting sun, bound eight thousand miles across the Pacific to end the century rule of Spain in the Philippines. And still the Monterey lay at her berth, ship and crew eager for a place in the fight, but without hope. She was a home guard ship, not a deep sea fighter and the fighting was thousands upon thousands of miles away.

But a rumor was astir that was to mean great things for this burly naval policeman. While down near Santiago the pride of Spain's navy was being bottled up against the day when, in heroic gesture, Cervera flung his whole fleet to destruction under the Yankee guns that waited outside, across the Atlantic a Spanish battleship, the Paleyo, was moving to intervene in the situation at Manila. She was started with attending cruisers and supply craft, to go via the Suez canal. The cables hummed with warnings flashed to Washington of Dewey's peril, for this single enemy ship had more fighting power than his whole fleet and there was no American battleship in Pacific waters to even the chances.

Then some one in Washington thought of the Monterey, thought of "Big Betsy" and those three other great guns in her turrets, of the foot or more of armor that belted the ship and guarded the gunners. If Dewey could but have that force to aid him there was never a doubt of the outcome.

Still, Dewey was across the Pacific. He had no fuel capacity for such a voyage. She had no high sides to help her battle a road to the scene of danger. Her decks stood less than two feet above the water with her ballast tanks empty. She would be a plaything to any storm, for small waves would bury her to the turret tops. No hatch could be opened.

A Desperate Voyage.

The situation was desperate. It called for desperate remedies and the wires carried to San Francisco orders that set the men and officers of the Monterey wild with joy. Against all odds, they were to take her over. Lashed down on her wide decks would go the coal she needed carried in sack and so laden the sturdy ship finally wallowed out into the eve of the westerning sun, going eight thousand miles to rescue comrades in danger.

Day by day, with life and perhaps the lives of hundreds of men down there with Dewey at stake, the men of the Monterey worked the ship across the ocean. They endured terrible discomforts as she rolled and bucked her way, half submerged in even calm seas. Down into tropic waters she plowed and the heat in her fire rooms was terrific, her crews quarters and ward room almost unbearable under closed hatches. Death might lurk behind any gathering of clouds. She was not designed to meet the sudden storms of the Pacific. But she plowed on, out of touch for weeks on end for there was no wireless then to tell her what lay before, until finally the entrance to Manila harbor loomed ahead of the sea-stained, rust-reddened bow and inside lay Dewey's fleet.

That ended all fear of the Paleyo. With the batteries of the Monterey to back him up, Dewey was eager for the battleship to come, but she had turned back at the canal. There remained only the last scene of the war to be staged, the capture of the city of Manila. In that scene the Monterey was to take a picturesque part.

Betsy Bluffs 'Em.

Just a few days after her arrival the monitor, her turrets overhauled and "Big Betsy" glaring ominously shoreward, moved into action. Behind her Dewey on the Olympia led the cruiser's fleet down to hammer at the Spanish fort and break the back of the Spanish trench line for the troops. Close in under the ancient walls of the old city, however, stood the Lunetta massive earthworks that housed Krupp guns of greater power than anything aboard the cruisers. It was on these the Monterey trained "Big Betsy." The ship steamed down inside the bombarding line, ignoring every other object. She planted her bulk, grey now in war paint, but still with the rust and stain of her long voyage upon her, squarely opposite those menacing Krupps. Broadside on and just a few under yards from their muzzles, she stopped, crouched like a bulldog in leash, her own ponderous ready to answer the first spurt of flame from the shore batteries.

It never came. The roar of Dewey's guns died away, succeeded by the mutter and crackle of rifle first ashore as the troops pressed home the attack. The dust kicked up by the shells settled over the wrecked fort where the cruisers' fire had centered. Straggling groups of Spanish troops passed sullenly backward over the Lunetta into the walled city. White flags appeared everywhere, on the walls, the battery earthworks, the clustering houses and then the blue-shirted, bare-armed men of the army swarmed out across the open to gather under the old walls and complete occupation of the city. The war was over.

For years the Monterey and the Monadnock, also a monitor, remained as guardians of Manila harbor. Their day had passed, however, and finally the Monterey's flag came down and she passed out of commission as a fighting ship. She still was useful to the navy, however, and as a station ship, a humble server of the newer, finer fighting craft that came and went, she served in many ports, in Chinese waters, finally in Hawaii, where she floats today, awaiting the wrecking crew that will turn her into junk.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY WEEK.

St. Valentine's day will retire now in favor of the birthday of the Father of Our Country, and should retire gracefully, as hostesses have been very lavish with Valentine decorations in the social functions of the past two weeks. Our national colors will no doubt be the dominant note in decorative lines this coming week, and after all what is prettier than our red, white and blue? I often think that our forefathers had colorful souls when they chose these lovely colors for our flag.

Prominent among the affairs of the week is the Knights of Columbus dance to be given Friday night at the Gholson hotel. Society folks are on tip-toe with expectation, as this dance promises to be something out of the ordinary.

Invitations are out for a bridge party to be given by Mes. F. A. Brown and E. E. Crawford, at the Gholson in the afternoon of Washington's birthday. This will no doubt be the largest private function of the week.

The Rotarians will entertain at the Gholson in the new ballroom in honor of the Rotarian anniversary, on Thursday evening. Rotarians and their families are looking forward to this event with a great deal of pleasure.

The birthday party given by Mes. Bohning and Finney on Wednesday for their two tiny tots will probably be the largest children's party of the week.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

MONDAY.

Woman's Missionary union of the East Ranger Baptist church meets at 3 p. m.

St. Mary's guild meets with Mrs. Chastain at Hodges Oak Park.

Presbyterian Aid society meets with Mrs. T. J. Holmsley.

TUESDAY.

Thimble club meets with Mrs. J. A. Martin.

Young School Parent-Teachers' meeting.

Call meeting of the 1920 club at 4 p. m. at the Gholson.

Wednesday Bridge club meets with Mrs. Charles Conley.

WEDNESDAY.

Mes. F. A. Brown and E. E. Crawford entertain at the Gholson.

Amusu club meets with Mrs. Walter West.

Finney-Bohning birthday party.

THURSDAY.

Thursday Bridge club, hostess to be announced.

Rotarian meeting in the ballroom of the Gholson in the evening.

FRIDAY.

Friday Bridge club meets with Mrs. J. C. Pullen.

Twentieth Century club meets with Mrs. Frank Reames.

Knights of Columbus at the Gholson in the evening.

SATURDAY.

Evening Bridge club meets with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pullen.

AID SOCIETY MEETING.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. T. J. Holmsley, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Cars will call at the Ladies' exchange for members on the West side who have no conveyance, and will stop for members on the East side. All members of the society and all interested in the church work are cordially invited to attend this social meeting.

FINNEY-BOHNING.

Don't get excited! It's not a wedding; it's a double birthday party and the following invitations are thrilling the "youngest set" almost to the breaking point: "Birthdays come but once a year, and our first is nearly here, So we ask you to our party, With wishes sincere and welcome hearty, There will be a cake and candles, too, We think we are quite grown-up, don't you? There will be lots of fun and everyone happy, So let's come feeling peppy and snappy. Let's have lots of laughter and never a sob, So come to our party, Signed: Peaches and Bob." Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 p. m. at the Finney home, in honor of "Peaches" Finney and Bob Bohning.

CENTRAL WARD PARENT-TEACHERS' CLUB MEETS.

The members of the Central Ward Parent-Teachers' club had a very interesting meeting Friday afternoon, the occasion being the twenty-fifth birthday of the National Parent-Teachers' association. Miss Jennie Haire read a message from the state president of Parent-Teachers' associations, which was a birthday message to the various clubs. Mrs. H. D. Wood gave a history of the association and of some of its accomplishments in the quarter century of its life. Scott Neal and Dixie Neal gave readings.

The main part of the business brought before the club centered on the entertaining of the Northwest Texas district meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association and inasmuch as there will be only one more meeting of this club before the convention convenes, it is very urgent that every member should be present at the next meeting, which will be on March 3.

A DOUBLE BIRTHDAY PARTY.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. "Pop" Endicott on Friday evening, Mes. Endicott and Ira Nourse entertained in honor of Nora Endicott, who was 11 years old on that date, and Eugene Nourse, whose thirteenth birthday it was. The house was very attractively decorated with Valentine suggestions, which lent a most festive air to the party.

Games of all kinds were played and added to the other pleasure of the evening was a program. Readings were given by Marguerite Adamson, Elizabeth Brock, Edgar Perry, and Mrs. Carroll Clark. Fannie Balckwell, Katherine Shea and Nora Endicott rendered several very beautiful numbers on the piano. Nora Endicott favored her guests with a fancy dance which was very greatly appreciated. Both of the honor guests received some nice gifts from their little friends. Ice cream and cake was served by Mes. Endicott and Nourse, assisted by Mrs. Carroll Clark.

Those wishing Nora and Eugene many happy birthdays were: Fannie Blackwell, Lynda Baxter, Veda Crabe, Nittie Blackwell, Lorena Lingle, Marguerite Adamson, Rosa Bunch, Buella Miller, Maybell Brooks, Katherine Brooks, Elizabeth Brock, Rosa Gales, Audrey Cornell, Barney Heerell, Lonnie Herell, Bill Ash, John Bishop, O. L. Davis, Herman Murray, Welton Murray, Preston Lingle, Joe Stewart, Homer Perry, Edgar Perry, Terren Crabbe, Brantley Cole, Donald Champion, Max Pellerton, L. T. Bumper, Carl Lloyd, Bill Lloyd, Clarence Mows, Durard Pool, Oliver Pellerton.

YOUNG MATRON'S CLUB.

Mrs. J. S. Hill was hostess to the Young Matron's club Friday afternoon. Bridge was the diversion and Mrs. Garrett Bohning was awarded the guest prize, a large wicker serving tray, while the club high score prize, a card table cover, went to Mrs. E. E. Crawford. The consolation prize, a pair of gold candles, was given to Mrs. Charles Conley.

Following the awarding of the prizes the hostess served a salad course to the following club members and guests: Mes. Arthur Kinard, Charles Conley, E. J. Barnes, C. C. Craig, Walter Burden, M. K. Collie, Frank Brahaney, D. M. Steele, Eben Finney, Garrett Bohning, R. D. Lavery, E. E. Crawford, Leo Parr, L. A. Vandervoort, Scott Hill, Jack Gullahorn, Ed Maher.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS DANCE.

Next Friday night the Knights of Columbus will give a dance in the Gholson ballroom, which promises to be one of the most elaborate affairs of the season. Everything is moving along nicely and most extensive preparations are being made for the entertainment of the guests. The ballroom will be especially decorated for this occasion and the hosts are going the limit to see that everyone is comfortable and has a good time. Different reception committees will look after the guests on arrival. The orchestra for the evening is reported to be "a peach."

There will be card tables arranged for those who do not care to dance and there will be punch and smokes. Sam Wasaff will give some original Yiddish readings, which are realistic enough to make one think that he is a real Yiddish boy. Don't forget the date, Friday, Feb. 24, at 9 p. m., in the Gholson hotel ballroom.

NUTRITION CLASSES HAVE STARTED.

The nutrition classes have begun their work and are moving forward with all the zest of youth. One feels that if the children were told that rocks would make them stronger, it would be rocks that they would attempt to eat. The classes were met at Young school Monday with excellent attendance, at Central school Tuesday with such a crowd that one felt it would be necessary to resort to nails to hang the overflow of children on. Cooper school Wednesday had a small attendance, but they made up in enthusiasm for the deficit. The small attendance at this school was due to the fact that Cooper has not as large an average attendance as the other two schools. The nutrition classes are surely going to march under the banner of health and their slogan that "Health Makes the Nation" will be one that will spread over the entire town and all Ranger will take up the fight for stronger boys and girls, which means stronger men and women. The clubs sponsoring this movement feel very grateful to the public for their generous contributions, which have made these classes possible.

WHO WILL VOLUNTEER?

The Red Cross shop is going to ask for volunteer shopkeepers during the month of March. It seems that there should be many that would be glad to do "their bit" by contributing an afternoon or two of service in keeping the shop, whilst Mrs. Clegg gives the outside work of the shop some attention. Spring is coming on and while you are renovating and cleaning out, don't forget your contributions of clothes for the shop, for it has its spring season, as well as other shops, and its customers aspire to something new, just as milady does when the first spring days turn one's fancy to clothes and hats. The motor corps will soon come into existence again but in the meanwhile should you get up a bundle of clothes for the shop, kindly notify Mrs. Clegg, at the Oil Cities Electric company, and she will see that they are called for, or better still, just bring it yourself, and pay the shop a call—then you will see how the other half manages for its clothes, and you will get an inspiration from the work being done. Three hours a day isn't much to give. How many hours we devote to pleasure, how few to the really essential thing of life—and it's awfully interesting keeping shop. You just come in contact with lots of folks and you broaden in your sympathies and get a real thrill out of your shop keeping.

The lists are open. Who will be the first to give an afternoon?

YOUNG SCHOOL CARNIVAL.

The carnival given by the Parent-Teachers' association of the Young school Friday night was a "howling" success financially and otherwise, and the boost given the entertainment fund for the Mother's congress which convenes here next month, was a very substantial one. The spirit of carnival was abroad and if anyone doubts that this carnival lacked any of the earmarks of a real carnival, they are certainly mistaken, for it was all there, and it was all sold out. The negro minstrel in charge of Mes. Roberts, Dean and Miss Irene Wansley, had about fifteen or twenty "black faced comedians" that out-minstrelled Al Fields. Mes. Burden and Getts presided over the "Sells" booth, where was shown the headless lady, the swimming match and a number of like sells that we all fall for. Mrs. Rickard had charge of the fishing pond, which was very popular, and remunerative. Mes. Maddocks, Killingsworth and Fulcher had charge of the hamburgers, and proved themselves adept salesladies as well as concoctors of hamburgers. The peanut, popcorn, candy and ice cream was in charge of Mes. Scott, Jenette, Baker and Miss Ratliff, and they also did a rushing business. The coffee booth was very ably taken care of by Mrs. Capps and Hinton. Mrs. E. L. Chaney had charge of the free show, where the following very interesting program was rendered: Piano solo, Mrs. Gorman; reading, "Keeping House," Pauline Low; reading, "What the Trouble Was," Florence Kerr; vocal solo, Mrs. Finney; reading, "My Sister's Best Friend," Ellie Joy Ingram; reading, "Getting Acquainted," Marjorie Maddocks; Costume song, Lavora Chambers and Lora Phillips; reading, "Si and I," Mrs. E. L. Chaney; reading, "Sister Caroline Studies Elocution," Edith Dennis; action song, Gladys Harding.

COMING SOON.

At the Liberty theatre on Rusk street at an early date will be given a farce on the District School, and the Bachelor's Dream, with music furnished by the Pickville orchestra. Rehearsals are in full swing for this tremendous and stupendous affair which is given under the auspices of the 1920 club for the purpose of raising money for the entertainment of our company that is coming to see us in April. The date will be announced soon.

CALL MEETING OF 1920 CLUB.

There will be a call meeting of the 1920 club at the Gholson hotel Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. It is very important that members should be present at this meeting.

HIGH SCHOOL PARENT-TEACHERS TO ENTERTAIN.

The High school Parent-Teachers' association will give a benefit program on Tuesday, Feb. 28, in the evening. The place will be announced later. The proceeds will go towards entertaining the Mothers' congress.

FRIDAY BRIDGE CLUB.

The Friday Bridge club met with Mrs. Ira Nourse Friday afternoon. The approach of Washington's birthday was evidenced in the decorations. Streamers of red, white and blue were brought from one corner of the room to the other, while strips of the national colors formed portieres between the living room and the dining room. Mrs. J. B. Haden made high score, receiving a fancy apron as the prize. The consolation, a hand-made towel, went to Mrs. J. A. Martin.

Refreshments of potato salad, cherry pie, topped with whipped cream, and coffee was served to the following club members and guests: Mes. F. E. Langston, J. H. Moyer, Harry Reid, P. F. Davis, J. B. Haden, J. C. Pullen, B. C. Wiggins, J. A. Martin, Harold Whitbeck, Carroll Clark, Donald Lander, Miss Douschka Bobo. The next meeting will be with Mrs. J. C. Pullen.

PURELY PERSONAL.

Mrs. J. B. Haden spent Saturday in Breckenridge.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Morey, formerly of Ranger, are spending a few days in the city. Since leaving Ranger, they have traveled through fourteen different states via motor.

Miss Alfa Winston was a visitor in the city Friday.

H. Fair and family have returned from Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Harness left last night for Graham, where they will make their future home. This popular couple will be greatly missed in Ranger.

W. B. Holmsley of Midland is the guest of his brother, T. J. Holmsley.

T. C. Danner and daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwards of Caddo, spent Saturday in the city. They were accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Marks and Mrs. W. R. Flaherty, who will spend the week-end in Caddo.

J. J. Clemons of Abilene is spending the week-end in Ranger.

Miss Beulah Harrison of Eastland is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. E. May.

POSTAL CARD LOST IN MAILS FOR THREE YEARS.

MULDOON, Texas, Feb. 18.—A card was received here this week by Miss Ruth Foster that had been "somewhere in the mails" for three years, four months and nineteen days. It was postmarked at Long Island, N. Y., at midnight, Sept. 25, 1918. Where this card had been between its mailing and its receipt here is a mystery.

UNCLE SAM'S MEN HERE FOR INCOME TAXES

T. J. Adams and M. M. Boynton, deputy collectors of internal revenue, will be at the Peoples State bank from Monday until Friday to assist income tax payers of this section in making out their reports. All blanks necessary will be obtainable at the bank where the deputy collectors will keep office hours all morning and all afternoon. Persons unable to visit the bank during office hours are invited to call on the collectors at the Gholson hotel, it being explained that they are here to serve the people of the community and would render all explanations of the intricacies of the return blanks and other assistance necessary.

All persons would do well to confer with the collectors, whether or not they think they have a tax to pay, it is said.

AT THE TEMPLE.

Scene from MARY PICKFORD'S "LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY"

Mary Pickford has probably never done a photoplay in which so little location work was required as in her current United Artists' offering, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," to be featured at the Temple theatre beginning today.

With the exception of a trip to Burlingame, Cal., where the castle exteriors were taken, the entire picture was made in Los Angeles at the headquarters of the Pickford force.

This has not meant, however, that "Little Lord Fauntleroy" is an economical picture. On the contrary, it is by far the most expensive cinema undertaking Little Mary has ever attempted. The cost of the sets alone runs into figures that sound like a statement of America's war debt. In addition to the largest interior set ever built, there were several exteriors that were gigantic in size and stupendous in cost. Despite the fact that every effort was exercised to bring sane expenditures, the nature of these settings necessitated a tremendous outlay of money in order that they might be interesting, realistic and artistic.

The eye is permanently blinded, the spindle of the top having pierced the eyeball.

An automobile owner, when paying his income tax, may deduct from the gross income the amount paid for state license fee. He may also deduct the tax on gasoline, which is now imposed in a number of states in the union. The cost of a new car and fines paid for violation while the car is being driven for pleasure purposes are not deductible items.

$14,000 STOCK LOST 90 YEARS, WORTH $500,000

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Nearly ninety years ago, Aug. 19, 1833, a certificate for sixty-seven shares of stock in the Mechanics Bank of New York, now the Mechanics & Metals bank, was issued to Archibald Cornell. It was lost.

Some years ago Alfred W. Seymour of Seattle, Wash., going over some papers with his sister, found the certificate. Its original value was $14,000. Today it is worth almost $500,000, the result of accrued dividends.

Demand on the bank for the value of the certificate or a new one which would be saleable, was met with the defense of outlawry. The appellate division supreme court of New York has now decided that the bank is responsible, that the obligation has not been outlawed and that a new certificate must be issued to the Seymours. Their attorneys in this city soon will start suit for the $500,000, alleged present valuation of the stock.

The automobile club of America has a motor vehicle for every 1,497 persons; Argentina, one for every 296; Chile, one for every 456.

TWELVE THOUSAND BEDS PLANNED FOR VETS MENTALLY DISABLED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Detailed recommendations for additional government hospital construction in various parts of the country for former service men, framed by a conference of specialists on mental diseases, were made public tonight by the veterans' bureau. The proposed program would include a total of 12,000 beds needed for the care of mental patients.

The program was said to be under consideration by the bureau which was awaiting the action of congress upon pending legislation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—President Harding today signed the co-operative marketing bill, in the presence of members of the congressional agricultural bloc and heads of leading farmers' organizations.

Practically no foreign automobiles are being imported into Germany.

WOMAN CHARGES GOVERNMENT NEGLIGENCE OF INDIANS

Miss Elizabeth Haupt, Indian missionary and literary authority, of Washington, D. C., now visiting California, charges that government neglect has deprived Indians of California of a home and maintenance. The reservation near Chico, Cal., once their home, has been taken from the native redskins because of nonpayment of taxes, and Miss Haupt's report to the government agents will include many other charges of neglect. The territory grant near Chico was the gift of the late Mrs. Bidwell, widow of the famous General Bidwell. No government money has ever been granted, Miss Haupt alleges.

FEEDING MADE BOY A PRODIGY MOTHER CLAIMS

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Eugene Edward Ford, Jr., is a boy prodigy. He has been fed scientifically all his life, his mother said. Eugene broke school records in this state two days ago by being admitted to the Jamaica high school at the age of 10, after having passed his entrance examinations with an average of 95 per cent.

Here is how Eugene was kept a 100 per cent boy: No eating between meals. Eating at regular hours. No sweets.

Calls Precocity Natural. His mother, Mrs. Eugene Ford, spoke of Eugene's precociousness not as extraordinary, but as natural. She says:

"All of my three children have been very bright. My daughter Katherine entered a private high school in Jamaica at the age of 11. I realized that Eugene was mentally advanced beyond his age and I have always tried to keep him back, as I feared the mental strain would handicap him in his health."

"However, he entered St. Mary's Parochial school when he was 6 years old. It took him only six months where it ordinarily took a year to finish a term. His teachers pushed him ahead as soon as they saw he knew his grade. So Eugene finished grammar school when he was ten."

Feeding is important. "Children should be fed scientifically. That is the way to make them mentally and physically alert." Eugene's favorite subjects in school are English and science. He wants to be an engineer.

GIRL, 13, GIVEN LICENSE TO PREACH IN OKLAHOMA

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 18.—A 13-year-old girl was among seven persons granted a license to preach the gospel by the North-eastern Oklahoma conference of the Methodist Episcopal church here Friday. She is Miss Fay Emery of Miami, Okla., who began preaching last summer in the mining districts near her home. She is in the seventh grade at school and says her ambition is to become a foreign missionary.

DISHPAN SERENADE FOR AGED BRIDEGROOM CAUSES BIG BATTLE

VIGO, Spain, Feb. 18.—Eight persons were wounded, two of them seriously, as a result of a protest by the villagers of Born against the marriage of 70-year-old Juan Tenorio Cortegosa to a 16-year-old girl.

The villagers serenaded Cortegosa with kitchen utensils, whereupon the bridegroom, with relatives and servants, attacked the protesters with sticks. To this the villagers replied with revolvers and knives. Cortegosa and a brother of the bride were wounded seriously.

"TOP KICK'S" DAY!

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—First Sergeant William Lyons, "top kick" of Company I, Twenty-second infantry, stationed at Governor's Island, today accepted Uncle Sams' reward for faithful service and prepared to enter business in Baltimore.

Lyons was retired at the age of 40, after twenty-three years of service, and will receive a pension of $105 a month. He entered the service at 17, receiving double credit for time served in the Spanish-American and World war and on the Mexican border, giving him a total credit of forty years.

The "top kick's" company gave a farewell dinner in his honor, presented him with a $150 purse, and then paraded before him in full dress uniform.

PANDIT ASSISTS VICTIM IN RAISING PARALYZED ARM

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Anthony Ferraro, a produce dealer of Brooklyn, has a paralyzed arm, but when a bandit said "Hands up," he made Ferraro put both of his arms up over his head.

Ferraro protested that he could not put his left arm up. The bandit took hold of the arm and raised it and made Ferraro hold it there with his right hand. When the bandit had relieved Ferraro of his watch he started to run. Ferraro gave chase, at the same time blowing a police whistle. The police captured a man, who says he is George Glassey.

PARDON FOR INNOCENT MAN AFTER TEN YEARS

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 18.—John A. (Dogskin) Johnson was released from prison today after serving ten years and six months of a life sentence for the murder here in 1911 of 7-year-old Annie Lemberger, a crime which Governor J. J. Blaine is convinced Johnson did not commit.

It was after ten years in prison that "Dogskin" Johnson protested his innocence and applied to Blaine for a pardon. He then claimed that his plea of guilty to the charge of first degree murder had been made because of fear that he would be mobbed.

FULL DISPLAY OF SPRING MODES

Now at Joseph's

—Lines of Spring Apparel are arriving almost daily, and a full selection of the best styles are here for your approval. Prices are much more reasonable than last season, due to decline in wholesale prices and, too, we are operating on a smaller margin of profit.

More Spring Dresses

—Another shipment of those nifty Taffeta Dresses has arrived and there was not a single disappointment in the lot. In fact they surpass the ones that we have already had and to the ones who have not been able to find just what they want in Taffeta Dresses we offer you this choice lot to select from.

—Or if you happen to be one of those stout ladies and can't wear Taffeta, we have a nice assortment of stouts in Canton Crepe. They're made especially for the ladies who are hard to fit and we are extra glad that we have them for you. Priced $29.50 to $35.00

THE NEW WRAPS

—Your new Wrap is quite likely to be a Cape, Madame, unless all signs fail. And such enticing new Capes, at that. Soft gleaming silks, fashioned in big tucks from shoulder to hem and topped by an enchanting collar like a huge Pierrot ruff. Cloth capes in picturesque folds, some with yokes, some with snug caracul collars. Whatever else may or may not enter into your Spring plans, one of these new Capes must be included beyond all question.

THE NEW SUITS

—As Paris sees them, apparently they have the naggiest of short square box coats with possibly a half-belt or tie of self material. Coat sleeves flare a bit toward the wrist, and are not quite long sleeves. Skirts have acquired a few additional inches of width as well as length, and trimmings have a world of new loveliness all their own. Some very popular Sport Modes from $15 up.

NEW HAT AND DRESS ACCESSORIES

This is a new line that has recently been added to our Ready-to-wear department and already has had the approval of our customers. A nice assortment now in stock and we will add more from time to time.

"SURE SIGNS OF SPRING"

A bird (it sounded like a Robin) chirped this morning, there is a welcomed warmth in the breezes, a few green things are venturing forth, and

Charming Spring Togs are Arriving Daily

The Suit—

The first to appear on the Spring skyline is the SUIT. A smart suit always mingles with your thoughts of the early bird, the first leaf and bud. And entirely worthy of this consideration are the new models.

—Tweed, of course, acknowledges its importance, and is conspicuously "among those present" in sports attire.

For all other wear, however, suits of twill, piquette, piquette, cordine and twill cord are supreme. Three-piece ones with matching cape and dress, suits that declare the waistline at the hips, and those with interesting almost—mandarin coat are all graceful in line and entirely charming. Navy blue prevails, but black, doeskin and Pilgrim gray are very successful. And the prices are interestingly reasonable.

The Dress—

And they are beautiful—and they are really exceptional at the price.

Satin frocks—rich, soft and graceful in every line—draperies and uneven hem-lines to add smartness.

Cloth frocks—tricotines, serges and twills. With a splash of peasant embroidery—a loose Russian sleeve, or a lovely colored Oriental lined panel.

Canton crepe frocks—exquisite quality. All the lovely new Spring shades including delightful interpretations of the becoming pheasant shade.

Taffeta frocks—an undeniable attractive variety. Full-flaring skirts—narrowed bodices. Adorned with a bouquet in a lovely contrasting shade or with a bit of ribbon twisted about a lowered waistline.

The Frocks, Coats, Capes and Blouses portraying the Spring modes are here.

WINES AND BEER SCORED BY SENATOR; WOMEN ATTACK DRY LAW

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 18.—Volstead law was made effective, and movements to bring back light wines and beer in the United States were scored by Senator Frank B. Willis of Ohio here before the state dry law convention. This is the most certain method, he declared, of setting the prohibition amendment at naught. "Because of its bad record," Mr. Willis said, "the saloon was chased off the show grounds by an infuriated people and ordered never to return; it must not be permitted to crawl in under the flap of the tent just because it has pinned on a light wine badge."

"Is anyone so feeble-minded as to suppose the light wine and beer traffic would stop there?" he asked. "It would simply become a cloak to hide the dispensing of hard liquor; it is a mere subterfuge—the first step in the program craftily formed and definitely announced to break down the eighteenth amendment and bring back the saloon."

If the prohibition amendment is disliked, there is only one recourse, Mr. Willis said—obtain the consent of two-thirds of each house of congress and the ratification of thirty-six states on a proposal to repeal it.

Proposals that money for a national soldiers' bonus be obtained from a tax on light wines and beer were condemned by the Ohio senator. "The attempt to gain respectability for a bad cause by hooking a beer wagon at the tail-end of the soldiers' adjusted compensation is as insulting to the soldiers as it is disgusting to the rest of the people," Senator Willis declared.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Only one woman of more than thirty stood up Friday at a meeting of the Woman's Democratic club when the chairman called for a rising vote of those in favor of prohibition.

The vote followed an attack on the Volstead law by Miss Elizabeth Marbury, only woman member in this state of the Democratic national committee. She declared it was her belief that the prohibition laws never would be observed and that fully 80 per cent of the people of New York city violated the Volstead law continually.

"We women," she said, "would never advocate the return of the unrestricted corner saloon, but we have not to do something. We know that the Volstead law is not being observed and I throw down my gauntlet here and now and say it never will be observed. I clamor here and now for a provision that will give us light wines and beer."

Miss Marbury said she had been informed by welfare workers that drug addiction had increased since the Volstead law was made effective, and that the workers were always hopeful about curing intemperance but less hopeful about the addicts.

Mrs. George H. Childs, president of the club, then called for a vote, declaring that she didn't think anyone took the law seriously. Mrs. William Brannan of New Jersey, stood.

Then she explained that she was not in favor of prohibition, but rather of enforcement of the law, and added that she drank home brew whenever she could get it.

KNEE PANTS FOR HARVEY AT PRINCESS' WEDDING

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The sartorial details of Princess Mary's wedding have been fairly well standardized. Everybody who is fortunate enough to have an invitation to Westminster Abbey knows what he or she should wear, and there are only three notable departures from the strict styles as laid down by His Majesty's Lord Chamberlain.

Of these three, the outstanding departure will be King George himself, who will wear the uniform of colonel in chief of the grenadier guards, departing from precedent of all previous royal weddings, when he has appeared in the full-dress uniform of an admiral of the fleet, in deference to the senior service.

Harvey's Make-Up. The second departure will be that of the American ambassador and his attaches. It is explained that since American envoys do not possess the gorgeous uniforms of other foreign diplomats, Ambassador Harvey will appear in "court costume," the most prominent items of which are black silk breeches, silk stockings and steel-buckled pumps, in addition to the long-tailed coat, white tie and black waist coat.

The prescribed uniform of American diplomats is the conventional evening dress, but officials of the embassy declare that this would make for an appearance at a function in which court costumes are demanded. Consequently, Colonel Harvey will make his first public appearance since childhood in knee breeches.

SAYS HE BEAT SPOUSE, ASKS TO BE ARRESTED

PORT HURON, Mich., Feb. 18.—Roy Kelley, 30, entered the police station and asked to be locked up, stating that he had "just beat up" his wife and wanted to be locked up lest he forget himself and "kill her."

He had endeavored to induce his wife to return home from a dance hall. She refused, and brandished a knife, according to the story told to the police.

CAST FROM TRAIN BERTH, WOMAN IS GIVEN $5,000

DETROIT, Feb. 18.—A $5,000 verdict was awarded Mrs. Anna M. Holland in the $50,000 action for damages against the Michigan Central railroad.

Mrs. Holland was thrown from an upper berth, Dec. 24, 1919, near Kalamazoo. She alleged injuries she suffered were due to the train's excessive speed.

SHOOTS WIFE, THEN LITTLE SON MAKES FLYING TACKLE

LONG BEACH, Cal., Feb. 18.—Frank O. Ames, held for shooting and seriously injuring his estranged wife, Maud Ames, was captured through the efforts of his 12-year-old son.

The lad, who has been living with his mother, pursued Ames and tackled him around the knees in football fashion, holding on until the officers arrived.
