MOVIE SLUSH.

The flood of utter rot written about the murder of a motion picture director has about run its course. Space writers, paid for the volume of their production and the scandal they could work into it, have written nauseous tales of life in the film colonies, made movie people out as degenerates in every sense of the word.

It is strange how people look on crime and criminals. If a preacher or a lawyer or a merchant or a laborer is killed, that does not condemn a whole community, yet that is just the effect that has been sought in connection with this case.

There is no reason, except that people are always willing to suspect the worst of any class that is in the public eye, and is anxious to have its suspicions verified.

DOG HILL PARAGRAPHS By GEORGE BINGHAM The headline's art seldom reached loftier heights than in a Cincinnati Enquirer headline which calls the Farm Bloc the "Buolic Band."

Of course it is none of our business but sometimes we wonder when the California movie colony will film the Ten Commandments.

Senator France wants Mexico recognized. Is this announcement the forerunner of another inspection trip?

Peace is about to cost us too much; it is said that resumption of diplomatic relations with Germany will bring Grover Bergdoll back to America.

DON'T TOO MANY AND DO'S TOO FEW EDUCATOR SAYS

CLEVELAND, Feb. 22.—"Socially and morally the world is chaos," R. G. Jones, president of the superintendent's department of the National Educational association, told the United Press today. Jones, who is superintendent of the Cleveland public schools, and one of the nation's leading educators, blamed the present lax standards on parents.

He intimated the examples set by mothers and fathers caused the new standard of morals and social conduct to which the present generation adheres. This, in large measure, he believed, created the so-called "modern girl and modern boy."

BLANTON IS SEEKING INQUIRY INTO W. O. W.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—A select committee of seven members of the house of representatives is called for in a resolution introduced Tuesday by Representative Blanton of Texas, to investigate the affairs of the fraternal order Woodmen of the World.

Discusses Order. The resolution is preceded by four and a half pages of closely typewritten whereas in which Blanton purports to discuss the internal affairs of the order, particularly with reference to the rate increases for insurance and the manner and extent of the increases of the salaries of the national officials since 1900.

FAIRMONT, Cal., Feb. 22.—The mass of teachers thronging to California from the East because of the higher salaries in this state is expected to begin to dwindle. A declaration has been issued by Will C. Woods, state superintendent of schools, that certificates will not be given the newcomers.

ARE YOU IN FAVOR OF 6 O'CLOCK CLOSING? ARTICLE NO. 5 Watch for No. 6 Tomorrow

What is the need of staying open after 6 o'clock at night, in this or any other town like Ranger? None, the merchants of nearly every town agree, by common consent.

Buying for most families is done by the women folk. They have more time in the morning or afternoon than they have at night. So they do their shopping.

The best the stores can hope to do by staying open after 6 o'clock is to catch a casual customer now and then, who buys a collar or other knick-knack.

I BELIEVE RANGER MERCHANTS WILL DO JUST AS MUCH BUSINESS BY CLOSING AT 6 O'CLOCK. THEY WILL DO IT WITHOUT WORKING AN INJUSTICE ON THEIR EMPLOYEES.

ALL THIS CAN EASILY BE MADE POSSIBLE IF ALL THE STORES WILL CLOSE AT A UNIFORM HOUR.

If they will not, they encourage procrastination in shopping. There may be a few people who will put off until tonight what can be done today.

RANGER PEOPLE. IT IS UP TO YOU WHAT RANGER MERCHANTS DO ABOUT THIS. IF YOU WILL TELL ALL MERCHANTS THAT YOU DEMAND 6 O'CLOCK CLOSING, THEY WILL CLOSE.

STOIC RUSSIAN PEASANTS AWAIT DEATH ON FAMINE SWEEP STEPPES

BY EDWIN W. HULLINGER
By United Press.

BULGARI VILLAGE, East Russia, Dec. 16.—(By Mail)—American food, given through the A. R. A., is helping to preserve life in this, one of the most ancient spots in Russia. Thirteen hundred years ago one of the three "Bulgarian" princes of the old Slav dynasty settled here with his retinue and followers. There were three brothers. The other two established themselves in Vienna and Sophia, respectively.

On the heights commanding the Volga grew a city of 30,000 inhabitants which covered the country for miles around. Remains of the old city wall are still standing and the American Relief Administration's children's kitchen, in the little schoolhouse, is only a few yards from the site of one of the palaces. For hundreds of years, however, Bulgari has been a village, with about 1,500 inhabitants.

Of these 1,500 half have disappeared since summer, and unless help comes from outside, most of the others will be missing by next summer. Then the cycle of fate will be completed and in the space of six months history will have sprung back fourteen hundred years, restoring Bulgari as it was when the Black Prince encamped upon the promontory.

For miles in every direction stretch the level, treeless steppes, infinite in loneliness, extent and cruel beauty. Not a fence nor hedge or house breaks the skyline. In fact, there hardly seems to be any skyline at all, as I write this, so perfectly does the white of the snowfields blend into the light gray of the sky, overhung with snowclouds. A "Dutch" windmill, its four arms motionless, nearby, stands in opaque relief, like a cross, against the background of snow and sky. A few stunted trees on both sides of the road climb the little incline from the plains to the top of the mole.

Across the frozen Volga, a mile wide, our caravan of four Russian sleighs drove this afternoon into Bulgari. The snow stopped falling as we turned into a front yard of the log cabin school house where the A. R. A. gives ninety children one "supplementary" meal a day. This supplementary meal, however, is supplementary only in the technical sense of A. R. A. phraseology. Actually, it is all the children get to eat. And actually, also, it is enough to keep them alive.

We rolled out of our sleighs like huge balls of snow. The village lay around us in stillness and snow, each hut seemingly snowbound for years. Near the schoolhouse were the ruins of three old buildings, dating from the fifteenth century.

Inside, the schoolmaster and his wife greeted us with far western cordiality.

There was still fuel, so the school had not suffered the fate of so many in the famine region for the schools are closing rapidly now, as the wood-piles in the backyards disappear.

"We have very few books," the schoolmaster explained. "But we do the best we can. We have almost no paper and pencils."

Then he told how all activity—economic and social—had ceased during the last several months. How, the simple peasants who were left after the cold weather checked the migration quietly withdrew themselves into their log cabins to await death in stoic silence.

I visited scores of these homes during the tour through the Tartar

BRECKENRIDGE BOY IS KILLED BY TRUCK

BRECKENRIDGE, Feb. 22.—Bobbie Saylor, 5-year-old son of Mrs. Callie Fox of North Butte avenue, was killed Monday when he tried to crawl under a truck to reach a toy wagon which he had left in a pipe and supply company's yard, near his home.

The truck was one of a string of vehicles which was waiting to unload pipe at the machine shop. A number of men were standing on the other side of the vehicle, but nobody saw the small figure when the truck driver started to move up.

The boy was caught beneath a wheel and crushed.

THURSDAY.
The Thursday Bridge club will meet with Mrs. Saunders Gregg at 2:30 p. m.
Rotarian anniversary entertainment at the Gholson in the evening.

FOR THE MOTHERS.
With Meses. Chenoweth, Wood, Ratliff, Reed and Wiggins as hostesses, the Methodist Missionary society are entertained on Monday afternoon, in honor of the mothers. The league rooms were suitably decorated for the occasion. It was indeed an inspiring sight to see this goodly number of white-haired, sweet-faced mothers and to hear their voices mingled in such strains as "Old Black Joe." It took hold of the heart strings, and made all remember year back down the years of life, when mother's voice was strong and full, when she rocked us to sleep with that dear old melody. The following program was rendered, after which coffee, cookies and candy was served:

Trio, Mrs. Rowland, Reid and Newnam; "Mother Machree," Mrs. Reed; "Higher Culture," Merkel Mills; A Lullaby, little Miss Rosa Rowland; "Home," Chaney Brashier; duet, "Maggie," Meses. May and Ratliff; "Out to Old Aunt Mary's," Mrs. Sandford Terrell; "Prior to Miss Belle's Appearance," Mrs. Davis.
WEDNESDAY BRIDGE WITH MRS. CONLEY.
Mrs. Charles Conley entertained the Wednesday Bridge club Tuesday afternoon. There were three tables at bridge and when the scores were added up, Mrs. Leo Parr was awarded the first club prize, a silver vanity case, while the guest high score prize, a vanity, went to Mrs. R. D. Lavery. The club consolation, a colored linen handkerchief, was awarded to Mrs. Harry Logsdon, while the guest consolation, a similar handkerchief, went to Mrs. Lloyd Rhoades.
The hostess served a one-course luncheon to the following club members and guests: Meses. William Conway, Frank Brahaney, Leo Parr, Walter Burden, Harry Logsdon, R. D. Lavery, Arthur Kinard, C. H. Moffett, H. H. Maddern, S. S. Bergere, Lloyd Rhoades, J. L. Thompson.

THE THIMBLE CLUB MEETS.
Mrs. J. A. Martin was hostess to the Thimble club yesterday afternoon. Conversation kept pace with the click of the needles and the time passed very pleasantly for all present.
After the sewing was laid aside, the hostess served refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee to the following ladies: Meses. John H. Moyer, Harold Whitbeck, Ira Nourse, J. C. Pullen, V. C. Wiggins, Harry Reid, J. B. Haden, F. E. Langston, S. W. Bobo, C. N. Ochiltree.
The next meeting will be on March 7, with Mrs. V. C. Wiggins.
YOUNG MATRONS' CLUB ENTERTAINMENT.
The Young Matrons' club will meet next Monday afternoon with Mrs. Frank Brahaney, instead of on the regular day. Members please note the change in date.
