DESDEMONA FIRE COSTS $100,000.00

Special to The Times.

DESDEMONA, Jan. 27.—Desdemona this morning surveys the ruins of a burned out block of frame buildings representing a fire loss estimated at upwards of $100,000. It is the result of the second disastrous fire in the last two weeks. Starting in the rear of a drug store on Main street, Monday afternoon, the flames spread rapidly, making futile the efforts of the volunteer fire fighters and inside of an hour these places were in flames: The Liberty and Majestic theaters, a barber shop, filling station, three cafes, a garage, a dry goods store, an auto accessory shop, two grocery stores, two hotels, a pool hall and two meat markets.

The flames, with too large a start to permit checking, were discovered at 2 p. m. They had done the bulk of the damage and were under control, without fire-fighting, by 4:30 p. m. No one was injured in the fire.

Telephone service was crippled in several directions from Desdemona and inquiries coming from nearby towns and cities and from Fort Worth and Dallas had to be relayed through other stations.

Because of the waste oil from operations in town, the congested conditions in the oil camp and the large fire hazard due to frame construction, fires have been anticipated all this winter. This is the most disastrous loss the oil town has experienced.

The loss includes: Smith & Davis grocery store, Liberty theater, Majestic theater, Travelers hotel, Marshall cafe and hotel, Central Motors company, Economy drug store, Baum Dry Goods company, B. & W. cafe and hotel, Desdemona meat market.

MICHIGAN COURTS INVESTIGATE U. S. SENATOR

GRAND RAPIDS, Jan. 27.—United States Senator Truman H. Newberry and one hundred twenty-three men prominent in Michigan politics went on trial today in the federal district court charged with conspiracy, fraud and corruption in the 1918 senatorial election.

The importance of the issue involved, the prominence of the defendants and the imposing array of legal talent presaged one of the most notable cases in the legal annals of the state.

Prince Employs Only Ex-Soldiers

LONDON, Jan. 27.—The prince of Wales, recently such a popular visitor to the United States, has set an example to other nobility by employing only ex-service men as servants in his new bachelor home, York house. One of the footmen wears a wound stripe and military medal; another has a Mons star. All of the men servants in the establishment have war ribbons.

Draw the Line. The Chairman—"Don't you think, gentlemen, in view of the high cost of living, we ought to increase our pastor's salary?" Vestryman—"That's all right. But don't pay him for overtime on his sermons."

WOMAN LAWYER TO CONDUCT CLASS IN SALES IN CAPITAL

Miss Florence Etheridge.

Miss Florence Etheridge, U. S. probate attorney for the Choctaw Indians at Vinita, Okla., is in Washington at present for the purpose of teaching her class in sales at the Washington College of Law. Miss Etheridge is well known in Washington where she has been very active in the interests of federal employees. She is now vice president of the National Federal Employees' union. She is also famous as the originator of the inaugural suffrage parades held in 1913.

C-C WORKERS URGE VOTERS TO PAY TAXES

Committeemen of the Chamber of Commerce, headed by E. R. Maher, chairman of the poll tax committee, and including Dr. R. H. Hodges, A. C. Kerley and P. Learned, today are active in a campaign to bring procrastinating voters to the tax collectors' office in the Marston building, to pay poll taxes.

They are making an active and thorough campaign in the business district in an attempt to boost Ranger's registered list of voters, including both men and women, to somewhere near its proper size. Only 730 have paid poll taxes. The committeemen mean to multiply that figure by two, or three, before the close of their canvass.

OIL LINE WILL CONNECT TEXAS TO EAST COAST

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 27.—The United States Producers & Refiners company, through its president, E. W. Hartman, today announced the company's intention to connect Wichita Falls with the east coast by a parallel oil line, 1,000 miles in length, to cost approximately $58,000,000. The line will pass through Fort Worth and Dallas, supply those cities, as well as others along the route, with gas for fuel, and will have casing head plants every 200 miles. Its eastern terminal will be Charleston, S. C.

Even With All He Has to Anticipate Bill's Discouraged

MAYENCE, Germany, Jan. 27.—German newspapers here publish a letter from former Emperor William to a personal friend, in which Count Hohenzollern expressed his absolute discouragement and says he does not even want to return to Germany. He says he believes his return would cause a split in the German factions.

From every county in the state there are reports of payment of poll taxes rapidly now by the women. Reports indicate that more than a hundred thousand have already paid, but the League of Women Voters is urging a rush of poll tax paying this week that will bring 500,000 women voters into the primaries and general elections this summer and fall, and make certain the holding of the reforms that the women voters made possible in Texas.

RANGER MOVES AHEAD, BUILDS AT RAPID CLIP

Building operations in Ranger are forging ahead at a rapid gait, in spite of weather and building shortage. Most of the brick work on the Guaranty State bank, on Main street, has been completed and carpenters are working on the interior.

The three story office building of Simon & Sangster on the 50x140-foot lot where the Guaranty State bank has its temporary quarters, is now partially completed to the second floor. The building is being constructed around and over the small structure now occupied by the bank. It will be of brick and steel, with a plate glass front extending across the Main street end and back to the alley on Austin street.

The new Wilson hotel, also on Main street, is taking the semblance of a building. Concrete moulds for the basement are in place and the hotel will be up to the level of the street.

The small but well constructed office building on lower Main, owned by Mr. Bebo, will soon be completed. It is of concrete frame construction, and when completed it will be an example of good taste and permanent, solid construction.

The Moore & James theater, south of the McCleskey hotel, is making progress. Early spring should see the building ready for occupancy, with a chance of completion sooner. It will be modern in all respects, and will furnish another first class and well appointed playhouse for this city.

The Lamb theater, on Main between Austin and Marston, is practically finished. It has a seating capacity of 960, the largest theater in Ranger at this time. It is well finished and the furnishings will be of the best.

The new Baptist church building, near Marston and Walnut, is making some progress. Shortage of materials has held up work on this building. As fast as materials arrive they are being used. The structure is now well past the basement and work on the main floor has been done. The church will be one of the best in this section of the state.

Work on the new Methodist church building, on Elm street west of Marston, is progressing. The building is still in the first stage and the date of completion will depend largely on the material and labor situation.

Other business houses are under way. Some contractors complain of the inability to get materials, especially structural steel, but on the whole the situation seems to be improved, to some extent at least.

It is doubtful if any town in the state the size of Ranger can show half as large a building program at this time.

Work on the new Methodist church building, on Elm street west of Marston, is progressing. The building is still in the first stage and the date of completion will depend largely on the material and labor situation.

PROSECUTION NOT SET FOR BARNES CASE

EASTLAND, Jan. 27.—Judge E. A. Hill returned Monday from Abilene, where he has been holding court for Judge W. R. Ely of that district. He announces that business next week will be interesting with the court engaged with a batch of criminal cases. A large number of cases called "pipe cases" will be first on the call.

Included among the first cases will be called Ike Barris, Sam Eichenholtz, G. W. Davis and W. H. Dawson, each being charged with receiving stolen property or theft of pipe. It has been suggested by the state that at least two important witnesses for the state are absent in the cases of Fonzo Barnes and Leon Wilson, each charged with murder, and that probably neither of these cases will be for trial at once. Another case against Barnes and Wilson is set for next Thursday and a special venire of 125 men for jury service has been summoned. But with the pipe cases the district court is expected to be very busy next week.

Judge Ely, in exchange with Judge Hill, disposed of six cases while here. The most important was that of Leroy Stone et al. vs. O. J. Light et al. This suit was over the title to the M. T. Stone 120-acre tract six miles north of Eastland. The children of Mrs. M. T. Stone deceased, sued for the land because they inherited of the community homestead of their mother. The defense claimed title because M. T. Stone had made deed to the homestead in order to pay off community debts. The jury held that the defendants got a good title and the plaintiffs lost their case. An appeal was announced.

Other civil cases disposed of followed R. L. Harton et al. vs. J. W. Mancill, for partition of lands; W. S. Reece et al. vs. J. T. Lykins et al., for dissolution of an injunction; William Patterson vs. Josie Patterson, for divorce; Fannie Butler Nichols vs. Alice W. Allen et al., for change of venue; and May Enlow vs. J. T. Enlow, for dissolution of an injunction.

Special to The Times. EASTLAND, Jan. 27.—When the district court convened Monday it was expected that a large number of criminal cases, referred to as the "pipe stealing cases," would be put on trial. But when the first of these cases was called, the defendant, represented by John Mays, announced that the leading attorney for the defendants was at Fort Worth at his home quarantined on account of diphtheria in his family.

The defendants had been notified by their attorney that they need not come to court today as the case would not be tried. Counsel for the state demands a forfeiture of the bonds. After full consideration, Judge Hill ordered that the cases would be called for trial at 1 o'clock p. m. Tuesday, and unless the defendants were present their bonds would be forfeited. There being no other cases set for trial today, the jury for the week was excused until Tuesday at 1 o'clock p. m.

It seems very certain that the old group opposed to woman, suffrage and the enforcement of prohibition and white zone laws are waiting anxiously till after January to see how many women pay their poll taxes, as they know an extensive campaign to get control of Texas again is useless if 500,000 mothers and sisters of Texas qualify to vote.

HUMBLE GETS BEST WELL ON SKINNY STRIP

Humble Oil & Refining Company has made its first real strike on the State Land strip, in No. 6, which struck the top of the big pay at 3,515 feet and carried on to 3,540. It is making 2,500 barrels. The State Land strip, an excess survey that is claimed by the Humble and yet is under litigation, was expected to prove a strong holding because of its position, paralleling the Texas & Pacific Coal & Oil Company's G. E. Norwood on the west.

It is a long, thin sliver of land, running the length of the Norwood, a distance of nearly three miles, yet contains but eighty acres of land. Other completions on the tract have been small.

Prairie has a couple of producers on the R. A. Maddox tract, a joint operation with the T. P., northeast of Pleasant Grove. Together they are doing 1,000 barrels. A No. 1 has sand 3,498 to 3,526 feet, and is making between 100 and 200 barrels; A-3 has sand 3,505 to 3,533 feet and is making 800 barrels.

FORFEIT FACES ACCUSED MEN IN PIPE CASES

ED HOUGHTON BUYER OF OAK STREET HOTEL

Ed Houghton of Fort Worth and Ranger has purchased the Beuld hotel on Oak and Houston streets from Mrs. R. C. McElmurry. The structure has twenty-six rooms. Mr. Houghton is an experienced hotel man, and plans to operate a first class establishment. The deal was made through the Sadler Realty company.

A Toigo and associates have purchased a butcher shop at 432 Hunt street, a block east of the new depot of the Wichita Falls, Ranger & Fort Worth railroad. They will conduct a modern market. This deal was also made through the Sadler Realty company.

Another sale by the same firm was closed yesterday. By the terms of this deal Mrs. J. L. Whiteside, formerly of Ranger, purchased a 60 by 140-foot lot a block and a half north of the postoffice, together with nearby interests. She plans to erect a modern apartment house and several dwelling houses and a store, with a total investment running into five figures.

After an extended trip through the north and east Mrs. Whiteside decided to return to Ranger, as business possibilities here appealed to her more strongly than in any other place she visited.

Jim Steel, Veteran of Many Years, as Deputy in Eastland

EASTLAND, Jan. 27.—Jim Steel, deputy sheriff of Eastland county, has held down the same job for the past twenty-seven years, and says that he is going to hold it for a longer time than that.

He was born in Alabama but moved here with his father when he was very small. In those days, the present square where the court house and most of the business houses are now located was a forest with a road running through it. The city of Eastland at that time boasted of three saloons, a combination dry goods and grocery store, a drug store and one livery stable.

LONG FIGHT ON SUBJECT OF JURORS

By Associated Press. MONTESANO, Wash., Jan. 27.—In the trial of the alleged International Workers of the World charged with the murder of four American Legion men in the Armistice day parade at Centralia last November, indications are that the week will be consumed in the selection of a jury. As a result of the first day's work, but two jurors had been chosen.

International News Service. MONTESANO, Wash., Jan. 27.—The trial of the eleven alleged I. W. W.'s, accused of the murder of four ex-service men at Centralia, Wash., on Armistice day, began in the superior court here Monday.

The defendants have made innumerable pleas for a change of venue from Montesano to Tacoma or to any other point in the state, giving as their ground the prejudice and in some cases hate of the people of southwestern Washington. A change of venue was granted from Chehalis to Montesano.

Superior Judge John M. Wilson of the Thurston county court is presiding. Judge Wilson formerly was prosecuting attorney of Thurston county and at one time was assistant attorney general of Washington.

Attorney General L. J. Thompson of Washington is representing the state. He is assisted by Frank P. Christensen, assistant attorney general. Christensen is a graduate of the Boston university law school.

Herman Allen of Chehalis, prosecuting attorney of Lewis county, is acting as one of the prosecutors, representing the people of Lewis county. Others who are contending at the prosecutors' table are W. H. Abel, a prominent attorney of the Gray's Harbor country, who will act as special prosecutor; C. D. Cunningham, another special prosecutor, also of Lewis county, and John H. Dunbar, assistant in the office of the attorney general.

George F. Vanderveer is the attorney for the defense. Vanderveer formerly was prosecuting attorney of King county. Incidentally he has held several boxing championships in his time. Vanderveer defended William D. Hayward and ninety-seven other I. W. W.'s convicted last year in Chicago of violation of the espionage act.

The intense interest of the people of Washington and of the entire Pacific Northwest in this case was evidenced during the preliminary proceedings, when the court room was crowded to capacity. A spirit of hostility pervades the court room and Vanderveer, attorney for the defense, has repeatedly stated that his clients must have adequate protection.

Guards are stationed in the court room and in the hotels throughout the city to prevent disorder of any kind. Ten of the eleven accused men are directly charged with the murder of the four ex-service men, who were shot in the course of a procession at Centralia last Nov. 11. The eleventh member of the defense is charged with complicity in the murders.

It is believed the trial will extend over a period of from six to eight weeks.

RUSSIA'S WAR PRISONERS DIE BY THOUSANDS. GENEVA, Jan. 27.—Nearly 375,000 of the half-million Austro-Hungarian prisoners of war taken by the Russians have perished in Siberia from smallpox and typhus, according to Vladivostok dispatches to the International Red Cross headquarters here. The rest have been kept alive only by the efficient work of the Japanese, American and English doctors who have been assigned to different towns along the trans-Siberian railroad.

Captain John Weir.

Captain John Weir, Indiana,olis attorney who served as assistant judge advocate in the Le Mans, France district during the war, has been accused by Capt. Karl Detzer, on trial before a general court martial for alleged cruelty to soldier prisoners in the Le Mans camp, with having persecuted Detzer in a "frame up." Weir denies the charges.

ON THE JOB.

The Times, receiving the news of the $100,000 fire at Desdemona from the Ranger office of the Southwestern Telephone and Telegraph company, was the first on the job, as usual, and supplied the news to Ranger readers with an extra at 6:50 p. m. Monday, less than two hours after the flames were under control. The Times' extra was twelve hours ahead of its nearest competitor on the story.

Louis Grantaire sat apart from the other men around the stove in the smoke-reeking bunk-house of a lumber camp. He was a newcomer in the big woods. LeBlanc, the local bully, reeled over to the silent man and said he would like to print the calks of his boots on his face. Shortly afterward the lumberman had to pry LeBlanc from under Grantaire's knees.

From camp to camp Grantaire wandered, breaking brutes. He trounced the bullies of the woods and sent them slinking into the forest planning revenge.

Not until he matched his might against the charms of a girl did he fall into the ranks of the vanquished.

Annette Bossent, a girl of Evangeline's country, subdued the brute breaker for his own good.

The story of Grantaire and Annette is to be shown at the Operahouse today in "The Brute Breaker," a Universal photodrama with Frank Mayo and Kathryn Adams in the principal roles.

Lynn F. Reynolds directed the production at Universal City with a cast including Harry Northrup, Jack Curtis, Burwell Hamrick, Bert Sprotie, Frank Brownlee and Charles LeMoine.

Frank Mayo's unusual physique serves him to splendid advantage in the work, and Kathryn Adams makes an appealing modern Evangeline.

LONE STAR.

Author Sold First Play Four Times.

Just ten years ago a pathetic looking young man got off the Cleveland Express in Jersey City. He was the tallest thing you ever saw, blonde, pale and disconsolate and unknown. He immediately invested the savings of hard years as a reporter on the Cleveland "Leader" in a New York hall bedroom and a typewriter and made four carbon copies of a play he had brought with him. He sent it to four managers at once. Brady got it because he telegraphed his acceptance, while the other three waited to write theirs. The play was "Clothes," the author was Avery Hoodwood. His greatest farce, "Fair and Warmer," will be seen on the Lone Star theatre screen tomorrow, starting May Allison.

Oh, Yes, such things do happen. You can verify this from Hoodwood any night you catch him at the Lambs club. He is still tall but no longer quite so pathetic. "Clothes" made

PARIS CERTAIN CARPENTIER IS TO BE VICTOR

BY NEWTON C. PARKE, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—In the opinion of French fight critics Jack Dempsey should enter the ring at least a 2 to 1 favorite over Georges Carpentier, but there is no doubt at all the French heavyweight champion will be heavily backed by his countrymen when he encounters the American title holder for the world's championship.

Carpentier's easy victory over Joe Beckett in London brought the most dubious French critics rallying to his support, and some of the men who once thought he would be pie for Dempsey are now questioning their own early opinion.

"Many American sportsmen consider as a joke the thought that our Carpentier might defeat their Dempsey," writes Tristram Bernard in the Petit Parisien. "Dempsey has an excellent record, but none of his performances is more conclusive than those of Carpentier."

Willard won the world's championship from a tired Johnson. His prestige, even after this victory, seemed mediocre enough. It was this same Willard who had not fought for a long time who was beaten by Dempsey. Dempsey is now pictured to us as a scourge whom no one can resist. He has about the same reputation as Beckett had in England, with this difference, that he is heavier than Beckett and that his previous performances were better.

"But Carpentier has an advantage over all the other leading heavyweights—he was not born a heavy-weight. He went through all the categories of pugilism, fighting successively as a bantamweight, middle-weight, light heavy and then as a heavyweight. His weight increased progressively with his science and his strength. Nearly all the other heavyweights entered the ring as heavyweights; that is to say, at the moment of their entry into the ring they had to replace a weight which did not correspond to the force of their muscles or to their abilities as boxers. As a result they were slow all their lives."

"We should not confound what we call swiftness in boxing with the frequency of the blows. There are terrible tornadoes which are only the tornadoes of light blows, but frequently a man less vigorous of muscles and of lungs shows himself capable of giving, one or two times a round, the effective blows which finally win the combat. It is an affair of precision and decision, two qualities which our Carpentier possesses to the supreme degree."

"For all these reasons I have very great confidence in the result of the match which will see Carpentier oppose the present champion of the world."

FARM PROSPERITY CAUSES RUSH TO CANADA.

International News Service.

REGINA, Sask.—The value of Saskatchewan dairy products increased 18.70 per cent for the year ended April 20, 1919. The total amount of butter produced in the province was 5,909,000 pounds. Of this, 2,425,000 pounds valued at $1,215,000 were exported, much of it to the United States. A few years ago Saskatchewan imported butter for her own use. Now it imports none. Nearly a million dollars is invested in creameries in the province.

Saskatchewan formerly was regarded as exclusively a wheat province. Wheat production is still enormous, but the farmers have ceased to carry all their eggs in one basket. Diversified farming is becoming the rule and livestock and dairying are important adjuncts of farm wealth.

Farming prosperity is attracting settlers in unusual numbers. Immigration officials predict a great rush of homeseekers in the spring. With this increased demand for farm lands in prospect, farming opportunities have been materially enlarged by the present action of the Hudson Bay Company in closing out to settlers the lands remaining from its once vast territorial empire. These tracts are located in every township of Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Alberta south of the North Saskatchewan river and have remained uncultivated in the midst of richly developed farming districts.

MAY EXHUME OTHER BODIES IN "MUSTARD MURDER" CASE

Dr. A. J. Freudenberg, Mrs. Nettie Duffies and the Duffies home.

Police officials of Markeean, Wis., are working on the theory that the arrest of Dr. A. J. Freudenberg may solve the mystery surrounding the death of at least one other member of his wife's family. Dr. Freudenberg is charged with killing his mother-in-law, Mrs. Nettie Duffies, who died November 1, last year, by injecting a solution of mustard into her bladder. Mrs. Duffies' second husband, Alfred, died two years ago. Police are planning to exhume his body and the bodies of other members of the family who have died within the last three years. Mrs. Duffies left an estate valued at half a million dollars to her daughter. Although Mrs. Minnie Willard, a nurse, testified before the coroner's jury that Mrs. Freudenberg told her she believed the doctor was responsible for her mother's death, Mrs. Freudenberg now says she will devote the entire fortune willed her in clearing her husband.

AUSTIN, Jan. 27.—The stay order issued by the United States Supreme Court which restrains Texas officials from enforcing the anti-pool room law and which was scheduled to expire Monday is still effective, according to a telegram from Attorney General Cureton, who argued against the order before the supreme court yesterday.

Cureton said that the matter had been taken up for advisement by the court and the stay order perpetuated until the decision is handed down.

CALL YOUNG T. R. CHIP OFF THE 'OLD BLOCK'

BY WARREN W. WHEATON (International News Service Staff Correspondent.)

ALBANY, N. Y.—"A chip off the old block" That's the terse summing up New York state legislators and high officials make of Lieutenant Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, son of the late former President, who took his seat in the state assembly at the opening of the 1920 session as a Republican from a Nassau county district.

Big things, politically, are expected of him. The political eyes of the state are glued upon him. His every word and action are being closely followed. Already followers of the game in which votes count are linking him with the Republican state ticket as candidate for lieutenant governor when the party seeks success at the polls this coming fall.

The head of the Republican state ticket is still behind the veil of uncertainty and has not yet taken definite shape. Three candidates for the governorship loom up strongest at this time—Speaker Thaddeus C. Sweet of the assembly; Secretary of State Francis M. Hoppo, and State Comptroller Eugene M. Travis.

Colonel Roosevelt is close to Sweet, in fact, with the campaign now practically under way, he has many appealing engagements with the speaker, and if Sweet gets successfully by the primaries Roosevelt is expected to be lined up with him on his ticket. The colonel has the decision of his late father. He is grooming himself rather than being groomed for whatever the political world holds out for him. And there is promise at this early date of having the shoes of his father ready for him to jump into, and they landed the father into the governorship of this state before leading him to greater things and ultimately the presidency of the United States.

Colonel Roosevelt is quiet. He is unassuming. He is interview-proof, and in this respect says of himself: "I'm like Sam Weller in 'Pickwick Papers,' 'Dumb as a drum with a hole in it.'"

He adds: "I'm studying the entire situation. When I speak I'll feel, too."

And that's all that can be gotten from him on his plan as an assemblyman and possible candidate for lieutenant governorship.

However, it would not be surprising, close friends say, if the colonel could sponsor and lead the fight for whatever "welfare" legislation the lawmakers will pass. One of the bills he is expected to introduce early in the session is a measure calling for the establishment of a minimum wage for the workers of the state. Friends say it will have "teeth" in it. It will differ from the one advocated by the Democratic minority and backed by labor.

War Stamps Buyers Are Not Cashing in Their Holdings

DALLAS, Jan. 27.—That practically none of the buyers of War Savings stamps and Registered Treasury Savings Certificates are cashing in their holdings is shown by the fact that the redemption of stamps sold during 1918 and 1919 in the entire United States is just a little less than 11 per cent, with sales of savings stamps during the last two years totalling nearly $2,000,000,000, according to Dinsmore W. Hume, federal district director of the government savings division.

In the eleventh federal reserve district, composed of 304 Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and New Mexico counties, less than five per cent of the combined sales of War Savings Stamps for the years of 1918 and 1919 have been redeemed. This fact, Hume declares, is a remarkable record. Practically all of the redemptions in the district have been made by persons who necessarily forced to cash their stamps, Mr. Hume said, or in 1918 by "paper patriots" who bought their stamps to get a check record in the purchase of government securities during war times but with no intention of holding their stamps.

CONVERTS AT MEETINGS FALL OFF SINCE PROHIBITION

International News Service. BOSTON—Prohibition has affected the number of converts at Boston revival meetings and in other parts of the Trotter meetings in Tremont Temple. This was announced by the Rev. D. R. D. Lockrow, leader of the Tremont Temple Brotherhood, under whose auspices the Trotter meetings were held.

"The Trotter revival was very successful, but we have had demonstrated to us that prohibition has lowered the number of persons converted at these meetings," he said.

"Many men have taken to drink occasioned by trouble in their own home or otherwise, then come down hill and visited one or more of these revival meetings. These meetings all over the country have done wonders for this type of offenders. Now this shows you the usefulness of prohibition. We do not have any more of these drunkards who want to reform. People ask why we do not get more converts."

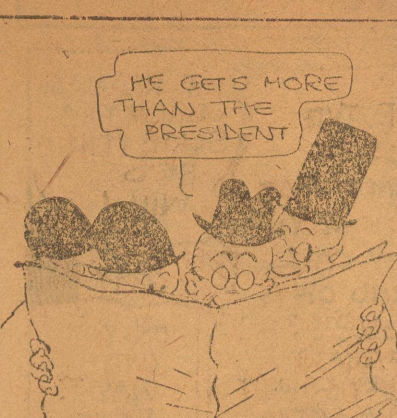

"We have been very successful in awakening dull consciences in these Trotter meetings and converting many to the right path. But what I want to urge is that prohibition has proven itself a mighty factor in keeping men out of tempting influences of the saloon. I believe the world is getting better. I believe Boston is a better place to live."

"The revival meeting of the future will be a meeting of the common sense of the individual and to men and women who have not done wrong through drink."

GORILLA-LIKE MAN IS CAPTURED IN DEN HIGH IN COLO. MOUNTAINS

DURANGO, COLO., Jan. 27.—Spare of frame, tall and ungainly, with the smell of wild beasts hanging about him; his head thatched with a wondrous growth of hair, straggling but firm beneath a cap many sizes too small, all ragged and torn, until the crown, held together by patches sewed on with thongs, is all that is left; long whiskers matted and snarled around his face in growth until they bristle like those of a hedgehog; roving eyes, a long, aquiline nose, like the beak of an eagle, with distended nostrils, his body clad in skins of wild animals, his feet protected by strips from the hide of a grizzly bear, slain in his own mysterious way, is fairly a good picture of a "wild man" of the hills as he paces to and fro like a caged animal from the wilds in his narrow cell in the insane ward in the county jail, and who was captured a few days ago by Sheriff Alexander and his deputies, George Sioack and John Clark, in a half-cave high up under the rimrocks of the Animas canyon a few miles from Rockwood.

The story told in lucid moments by this wild man, who says his name is "Jacko, the Monk," and slowly repeats it the second time, is full of patches, of thrills and hairbreadth escapes, of forty days of cold and suffering, of vain efforts to brush away the cobwebs of blankness which ensnare his faculties, of utter abandonment and of a life of the wild. Man is between 30 and 40 years old. Apparently between 30 and 40 years of age, this man, whose body is as hairy as that of a gorilla, says he has roamed the high hills of the San Juan for many a year, or since that day in the long ago when a golden-haired maid, after months of wooing, jilted him. The buoyant lover-lad was crushed overnight, the black clouds of disappointment warped his reason, and he fled to the hills. How he sustained life, no one knows, but live he did, to roam and roam, like a wild beast.

During all the years of his roaming he kept a picture and a lock of hair, given him by the girl who would not be his wife. When captured and his few effects searched, a little black bag, tied with a faded and frizzled ribbon, was found, and which, when opened by the officers, was found to contain only a faded card and a few strands of golden hair; the unmounted picture evidently having faded away from so much exposure and constant handling, except one corner which showed dimly the outline of the woman's hand. When officers made as if to keep the black bag and its contents, the "wild man" snarled like a wolf, bared his teeth and tried to spring upon them.

Den is Located Under Rockwood. It was through information furnished by residents near Rockwood that the officers were able to locate and capture the "wild man," of whom many weird stories have been circulated. For two weeks or more the man occasionally was seen flitting through the timber but would scamper away when anyone got near him. Finally, however, his den was located by his bare hands and sticks, he had dug out the foggy earth under the rimrocks. In the long, narrow tunnel he had cached his supplies and utensils, a portion of the carcass of a bear and an old, rusty bucket. He also had two or three pieces of weather-beaten canvas for a bed. At the entrance of the tunnel, cleverly concealed by branches from evergreen trees, he had excavated additional space for a fireplace. Fires he evidently started by rubbing dry wood or flint rocks together as no matches were found upon his person or in his den and he has never been known to approach a house.

er fortune seekers had migrated. Ten riders going each way, with changed horses every twenty-five miles, brought the pouches of mail across the thousand mile wilderness. The pony express, with its fast riders, among them "Buffalo Bill" (Col. William F. Cody), then a young man, was one of the most romantic features of the great western country. Many were the adventures these daring riders had. They averaged seventy-five miles a day, but often covered double that distance. "Buffalo Bill" once made a ride of 384 miles from the messenger who was waiting was killed. Often chased by Indians or "sniped" by outlaws, the pony express riders were exposed to death at all times, and they braved rain and snow storm, as part of an everyday duty.

One of the memorable achievements of the pony express was the delivery of Lincoln's inaugural address in 1861, when all the western country was waiting for the momentous news from the capital. The address was hurried to St. Joseph, Mo., the "taking off place" of the pony express. Wrapped in oil skin and put in saddle bags the address was started on its way amid wild cheers. Fresh horses waited at every ten miles, and the final ten miles before reaching San Francisco was made in thirty-one minutes. The message was carried by the riders a total of 1,950 miles in 185 hours, an average of a little more than ten miles an hour. That was wonderful in those days.

PLAN AIR ROUTE FROM ST. LOUIS TO FRISCO NOW

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—Just sixty years ago the pony express which carried letters from St. Louis to San Francisco in eight days was inaugurated. Today plans are being made to establish a transcontinental airplane mail service, and trail-blazing flights have been made as far west as Omaha. It was a great achievement when the pony express was started to carry the mail to the young and bustling state of California in 1860. Its inauguration was preceded by the publication in a St. Louis paper in March of that year, of the following advertisement.

"To San Francisco in eight days. The first carrier of the Pony Express will leave the Missouri river on Tuesday, April 3, and will run regularly weekly thereafter, carrying letter mail only. Telegraph mail eight days, letter mail ten days to San Francisco."

The population of San Francisco and other California towns eagerly welcomed this service, brining them into touch as it did with the states from which the gold hunters and other

LIBERTY. The History of "Experience"—Coming Tomorrow.

No play in recent years has enjoyed the remarkable romance which is attached to the story of "Experience," a play which at one time went begging for lack of a producer, which was at first a financial failure, and which has now been turned into one of the biggest successes ever known in the theatrical business and likely to make a fortune of a million dollars for its producers, F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest, during the next five years. It is now in its sixth season, and comes to the Liberty theatre Jan. 28 and 29.

Several years ago, George V. Hobart, a successful writer of farcical comedies and of light opera librettos, was asked to write a burlesque on the various morality plays which have been produced from time to time during the last three hundred years. In olden days, morality plays were fostered by the church because of the moral lessons they taught. Mr. Hobart accepted the commission to write the burlesque, but upon beginning the work, found the subject so absorbing and was himself so deeply impressed with the wonderful power of the theatre as an instrument of good, that he decided to write a "straight" morality play, modern in every way yet retaining the old idea of naming his characters after the various traits and attributes of the human race.

The result was a one-act play entitled "Experience," produced privately at a Sunday school convocation of the famous Lambs club in New York. It dealt with Youth going forth into the world in search of Fame and Fortune, and made such a great success that Mr. Hobart elaborated it into a full evening's entertainment.

The one-act play was thereupon expanded into the three acts shown in the present version, as Mr. Hobart was able to add many new adventures to the career of the Youth in the great world. F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest bought it and produced "Experience" at the Booth theatre, New York, in October, 1914.

From the front page of the Times, in accusing letters, it has confronted you, warned you, urged you.

In vivid poster colors it has compelled your glance on the streets, in the hotel lobbies, in cafes.

From the screens of the motion-picture houses, as you settled yourself comfortably to the adventures and delights of the silent drama, it has flashed out at you.

In your morning's mail, perhaps, the appeal has come.

On your pay check, or business letter, it has been rubber-stamped.

It can't be that you have missed it.

But there is a good chance that you have not needed its request and paid over, at the city tax collector's office in the Marston building, the $1.75 that makes you an active American citizen for the year 1920. If you are an adult, man or woman, and have been a resident of Ranger prior to November 1, you are eligible to pay poll tax, to vote in the July primaries and to take part in the greatest exercise of the rights of citizenship, in the election of a United States president next November. If you are an American, you will do it.

With the extensive publicity that has been given the payment of poll taxes in Ranger, it is hardly possible that it has not been called to your attention at least once, probably several times.

There is the old excuse of so much to do, and that is the one that the unheard-from majority are offering. There's a plenty to do in Ranger, and that's a fact, but is there so much that you cannot find time to be a citizen?

Is there so much that in the battles of peace-time you cannot do your part? There were three million and more of us who were not too busy to give all our time to the country's interest in a recent struggle to preserve the ideas and ideals on which our country—and yours—is founded.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce today started a drive to reach those of Ranger's 2,000 potential voters, exclusive of service men, who have not registered. They will reach them in a personal canvass and hope to accomplish with direct contact what an inclusive publicity campaign has not.

They will ask that you do today what you have neglected to date.

Through your ballot, you will defend exactly the same ideals that the men in khaki and blue fought to defend.

They were worth dying for. They are worth voting for.

BETWEEN TWO EXTREMES.

A note of caution is being heard amid the chorus for laws to deal severely with "parlor reds" and home-town agitators. This reminder is timely and it may save the country from legislation which will defeat its own purpose and prove more detrimental than beneficial.

Freedom of speech and of the press has been sadly abused in this country and powerful organizations have cloaked their insidious thrusts at the vitals of the nation under its protective shadow. But it should be borne in mind that freedom of speech and of the press is the surest safeguard against autocracy, graft and oppression.

The problem of dealing with radicals who speak and write things detrimental to the government and calculated to undermine or destroy the time honored institutions of the land, and at the same time to preserve intact the right to honest criticism of laws of men when such criticism appears needful, is a difficult one.

The alien and sedition laws were intended to preserve the government against attack by individuals, but these two laws proved to be foils for the workings of despotically inclined officials, and their enactment caused the most overwhelming defeat ever suffered by a great party in American politics.

The problem which confronts congress is to pass laws which will check the spread of "red" propaganda among American born citizens and at the same time avoid even the appearance of evil in restricting the freedom guaranteed by the constitution. This problem is difficult of solution. If it comes to a choice, it will be much better to drop the pending legislation on the subject and deal with radicals only when they commit overt acts recognized under existing laws as crime than to pass laws which may be made the basis of political oppression and the means of unscrupulous persecution.

As long as enlightened Americans are allowed to speak their minds freely on all questions of law and policy, the reds cannot take the country. The most vital essential of America today is an unmuzzled press and a citizenship ready to indulge in constructive suggestion and criticism.

IRISH TROUBLE HAS HAUNTED LLOYD GEORGE

International News Service.
LONDON—"The history of Mr. Lloyd George with regard to the Irish question is somewhat peculiar," says T. P. O'Connor, member of parliament, in the London Star. "It must always be remembered that for some years after his entrance into the house of commons Mr. Lloyd George did not care for it; he felt himself out of place there; he did not like the house, and did not think the house would ever like him. He regarded himself then as a fervid propagandist to whom the platform would be much more acceptable than the legislature; he came to the house after long intervals and spoke rarely."

"Two things drove him back to the house and to a prominent share in its proceedings. The first was the influence of that wonderful old uncle who was more than a father to him."

"The second influence which brought back Mr. Lloyd George to the house was the presentation by the government of a rating bill—to which Welsh Liberal nonconformity was vehemently opposed. It happened that as a young apprentice in a solicitor's office Mr. Lloyd George had learned all about rating; he was able to bring to the discussion of the bill this knowledge of his early days. The house listened to him discursively on rates, as if always listens to every man who evidently knows his business, and as the house took to Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Lloyd George took to the house. So began his rise."

"In the negotiations of 1916 Mr. Lloyd George, as is known, took the leading part. He had promised to resign if his scheme was not adopted by the government; the scheme failed of adoption, and Mr. Lloyd George did not resign."

"When Mr. Lloyd George became prime minister it was hoped he would again tackle the question, the seriousness and urgency of which he felt. But he stood in awe of Sir Edward Carson and of the break-up of his ministry, which that formidable politician might, he thought, at that moment have been able to consummate. I do not think myself that Sir Edward Carson could have done it. If Mr. Lloyd George had then taken his courage in both hands we might have had already for two years a liberated and a tranquil Ireland. Instead he made a rancorous speech which brought him into immediate conflict with the Irish members."

"Then came the convention—Mr. Lloyd George's own proposal. In March or April, 1918, Sir Horace Plunkett presented to him the report of the convention. Two months previously Sir Horace and the convention had received a letter from Mr. Lloyd George in which there occurred this passage:

"At the same time it is clear to the government, in view of previous attempts at settlement, and of the deliberations of the convention itself, that the only hope of agreement lies in a solution which, on the one side, provides for the unity of Ireland under a single legislature with adequate safeguards for the interests of Ulster and the southern Unionists, and, on the other, preserves the wellbeing of the empire and the fundamental unity of the United Kingdom."

LEAGUE MUST HEED CLAIMS OF SUFFRAGE

By WILLIAM L. MALLABAR, International News Service.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—"The League of Nations has got to fully recognize the woman suffrage movement in every way or the women of the world will have to take drastic and telling action."

This was the declaration made by Miss Chrystal MacMillan, first recording secretary of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance, on her return from Spain, where she has been for the purpose of arranging for the international convention of the organization next May. This will be the first international convention held since a year before the war, and in the meantime many changes have occurred, several countries having given full or partial suffrage to both sexes.

"In spite of the fact that many of the countries of the world have granted equal rights to women," continued Miss MacMillan, "it is a fact that there are many so-called intelligent nations which deny equal rights to women, Italy and France in this hemisphere and all the South American nations in the western world refuse to recognize the right of women to have an equal decision with the men in vital matters of social and political interest. This is going to be altered and all the energies of the Woman Suffrage Alliance are going to be devoted to seeing that these nations, together with China and Japan, give us what we should have."

"After seven years, the International Alliance is going to hold its full convention in Madrid from May 2 to May 8, inclusive. This meeting, held at so critical a period of the women's movement and the first after so many years of separation, is of supreme importance. Since our last convention, held at Budapest in 1913, thirteen new countries have given the suffrage to women, but many still remain in darkness.

"There are also the women of the East, for many of whom the work of emancipation has hardly begun. Even in the countries which have the suffrage for women there is much to be done, for in no country does there exist an equal moral standard, full economic opportunities or equality in marriage relations. This must be altered and we must—and will—insist on our rights in these matters."

"The League of Nations must incorporate in its rules such amendments or orders required by the free women of the world. The time has come at last when we can demand our rights and full recognition, and only by concerted action can we obtain what we desire."

"Delegates to the convention will represent from all over the world. India will send a strong and representative delegation, and there will also be representatives from China and Japan. We believe that the convention will have a marked effect on the progress of the world and that results of our deliberations will be studied by the various governments in the countries interested."

Opponents of suffrage have done everything they could to deter women from paying poll tax. This litigation which was originated in McLennan and Austin counties was merely a bluff, started with the hope of scaring women off from taking out poll tax receipts. The statute granting the women the right to vote in the primaries in Texas was drawn by very competent lawyers, men versed in the constitution of the state, and there is no doubt it will be finally upheld.

Very little grade work on the new road has been done in the city limits. However, with a large force at work this strip of grade should be completed in a short time. Weather since January 1 has prohibited the start of the big steel-laying program.

SHAW TO DIRECT MINERS' NATIONALIZATION CAMPAIGN

International News Service.
LONDON.—George Bernard Shaw, who directed the dynamic publicity campaign of the British railwaymen during the recent strike, will play a leading part in the miners' campaign for nationalization of the coal mines. The campaign will reach its climax in February.

In addition to writing attention-compelling miners' propaganda, Shaw plans to take the platform before mid-class audiences, explaining the miners' case.

SUES "TIPPING TRUST" FOR $25,000 SHE COLLECTED IN RESTAURANT AS CHECKER

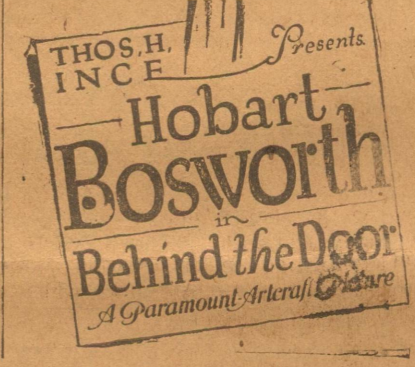

Miss Hannah Stires.

In two years Miss Hannah Stires says she drew $25,425 in tips from patrons of Chicago restaurants through her pleasant smiles while a hat checker. All of this money she was forced to drop into a camouflaged iron box. This money was collected by the "Chicago Tipping Trust," which had the checking concessions at the restaurants. Now she is suing the "trust" for the money. She names three men in her suit and charges that they pay girls from $9 to $15 a week and compel the girls to turn over all tip money.

Mr. Henry and his followers within the Democratic party have declared war on suffrage and suffragists; Mr. Ferguson and his American party have declared war on suffrage and suffragists, and now the Republican party in Texas has adopted the Henry-Ferguson-et al platform plank on suffrage in spite of the fact that the national Republican party is advocating suffrage everywhere else.

Negroes are being urged to pay their poll taxes. This leads one to wonder who is getting ready to fuss with whom. Watch out, ladies, there's blood in the moon! A million dollars will not buy you a poll tax receipt next July, when these opponents of yours unite to take from you even 'hat suffrage' that you have, and take 'have' again of the government of Texas.

The secret of a certain political movement in Texas is the effort to gain control of the delegation from this state to the national Democratic convention. The Texas women who pay poll taxes will have the opportunity to assist in the selection of these delegates—and they know their friends and also their opponents. It will not be the first time the women of Texas have brought political plotters to grief.

HEALTH AUTHORITIES WARN THE PUBLIC TO BEWARE OF EPIDEMIC

Reports Show That Influenza Epidemic Is Gaining Headway in Many Sections of the Country.

LAST YEAR'S RECORD BROKEN IN CHICAGO

Persons Weak and Run-down Are Easy Victims. Fortify Against Attack by Taking Tanlac.

According to late press reports issued by state and city health authorities, influenza is again becoming epidemic in many sections, and much alarm is now felt that it may become general over the entire country.

The disease has made its greatest progress in Chicago and vicinity, where thousands of new cases are reported daily. Recently 2,514 cases were reported in Chicago in one day, breaking last year's record when the epidemic was at its height. Reports from other sections are as alarming, and the disease is gaining headway in some sections of Texas, Virginia, the Middle-West, and on the Pacific Coast. It has also appeared in other communities, although it has not yet reached its epidemic stage.

Owing to the lateness of the season it is not thought possible that the disease can become the great and terrifying scourge that it was last year, when it swept the entire country and claimed its victims by the hundreds and thousands. The danger is too great, however, to take any chances, and everything possible should be done to ward it off.

In a generally run-down condition or catch cold easily, this warning should be heeded promptly. You are really in danger if exposed to the disease, because it is generally believed to be very contagious, and you are apt to fall an easy victim if you come in contact with the germs.

People who are weak and strong are not likely to contract the disease because they are able to throw it off. The common-sense way to keep from taking it is to fortify the system against attack by building up the constitution, in other words, begin immediately to build up your powers of resistance.

To accomplish this it has been demonstrated that nothing on earth will strengthen you and build you up like Tanlac, the powerful reconstructive tonic which contains the very elements needed to build up the system and give you fighting strength to ward off the influenza germ.

First of all, Tanlac begins to work by creating a good, healthy appetite for wholesome, nourishing food, and assists every organ of the body to perform its natural function, thus helping to build up health and strength in the natural way.

Tanlac is also an ideal strengthening tonic for persons who are suffering from the after-effects of influenza, Grippe, and bronchial troubles, and hundreds of thousands are using it daily with the most gratifying results.

In connection with the Tanlac treatment it is necessary to keep the bowels open by taking Tanlac Laxative Tablets, copies of which are enclosed with every bottle of Tanlac. It is also important that the every-day rules of hygiene be observed; that is, sleep in well-ventilated rooms, get plenty of fresh air and exercise, and keep away from crowds.

Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Phillips Bros., and in Eastland by Butler Drug Co.—Adv.

Viewing the parchment.

In connection with a lecture before the bureau chiefs of the state department on "Americanism," Secretary of State Lansing recently displayed the original parchment on which the federal constitution was written. The parchment is preserved with other great documents in America's history in a safe in the state department. It was the first time since 1902 that the historic sheet had been opened. The photo shows Secretary Lansing, at left, and Breckenbridge Long, assistant secretary of state,

FOXY CENSUS ENUMERATOR WINS IN AGE DISPUTE

International News Service.
STUEBENVILLE, Ohio.—A foxy census enumerator learned a woman's age against her will.
This enumerator is working in one of the rural districts in Eastern Ohio.
All the information that a certain woman would give this enumerator relative to her age was that she was twenty years younger than her oldest sister.
"After arguing with her in vain, I remembered that her sister was dead," said the enumerator.
"So I went to the nearby cemetery and found the age of the dead sister on a tombstone.
"Then I subtracted two and put the woman down as sixty years, which is twenty years older than she looks," explained the enumerator.

DENVER BOYS PUT CRIMP IN PRIMING OF HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS.

International News Service.
DENVER, Jan. 27.—Now come the boy students of Denver's South Side High School to put a crimp in the prosperity of Denver beauty shops.

Recently Miss Anne McKean Schu-ler, woman dean of the University of Denver, issued a ukase forbidding the co-eds at that institution using powder puffs. Miss Schuler declared that a beautiful new rug that adorned the floor in front of a large mirror in the women's study at the university was becoming "horribly ragged" because so many girl students lingered in front of the mirror to use their powder puffs. Also, she said, men students breezing through the corridors can see the undignified performance.

At a meeting of the Mothers' Congress and Parent-Teachers' Association a report was read from the boys and girls of South Denver High School denouncing the follies of girl students who "doll themselves up" in drug store complexes and issuing a warning that youthful school girls who appear in class room attired like chorus beauties will be ostracized from social functions.

"No tips that are rouged, no cheeks that bloom like a drug-store blush will appear at a dance with us," the boys told the Mothers' Congress.

Among other things tabooed by the boys are: Bobbed hair, vanity cases, short skirts, low-cut waists, flimsy hosiery.

CHICAGO SCHOOL CHILDREN MEMORIZE AMERICA'S CREED

International News Service.
CHICAGO.—Every pupil in the seventh and eighth grades of the Chicago public schools has been ordered to memorize the "American creed," and a copy of it will be furnished every public school pupil in the city by the Illinois Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

The creed reads:
"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies."

3 ATTRIBUTES AMERICAN WOMEN NEED MOST

International News Service.
CHICAGO.—Thrift, caution and good sense are the three attributes needed most by the women of America.

This was the declaration here of David B. Forgan, prominent financier, addressing the leaders of the women's division of the Federal Securities corporation.

"Never plunge into investment," advised Mr. Forgan, "without the advice of some man who knows. After you have had his advice go to another of equal good judgment. Compare the two. If the jibe, it's pretty safe to go ahead."

Women should have knowledge of the handling of money in all its branches, Mr. Forgan declared, and urged that they study financial conditions as a stepping stone to success.
"Spend prudently, save systematically and invest wisely," he advised.

RED CROSS SPENDS HUGE SUMS IN SIBERIAN AID

International News Service.
NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—More than $15,000,000 was expended by the American Red Cross in Siberia alone before the downfall of the Kolchak government, according to the central committee for Russian relief here, which is co-operating with the Red Cross. It is estimated that officials that there are 25,000 anti-Bolshevik refugees in Estonia, Latvia and Poland pox and typhus have broken out in the Russian Caucasus, where the population for months has been suffering famine.

THE TIMES' DAILY SHORT STORY

WANTED—A BUNGALOW

By L. H. Raybold

(Copyright, 1920, by the McCare Newspaper Syndicate.)

"This is our first quarrel," said Jack, gloomily.

"I would hardly call it that," returned Sally, in dulcet tones, whose very sweetness was more apt to kindle than turn away wrath; "rather a disagreement. You say that the only way to find a place to rent is through agents, while I maintain that the best method is to look around oneself."

"Well, apparently neither way is likely to get us very far when there isn't a place vacant within a ten-mile radius of town," declared Jack in disgust. "It sure looks as if we would have to begin married life in that abomination of abominations, a boarding house."

"I say, Jack, let's make one more try. You go to every last agent, and I will look out through the suburbs. Come over tonight and we'll compare notes. Sally really didn't want to quarrel during these very last days of being engaged, but Jack was so pig-headed when once he got an idea in his mind!

"All right, dear," agreed Jack, running down the steps as his car appeared in the distance. He had stopped in on his way to the office. "I'll let my system find us a habitation." It would never do to let a mere woman, even the very best one in the world, put it all over him when it came to a question of carrying a thing through. He mentally registered a resolution to worry every real estate agent in Wrentham until in sheer desperation one handed over the keys of a desirable rent.

Sally herself barely saw Jack aboard his car to wave him a last farewell before she set forth on a regular house hunt, with a succeed-or-perish expression on her pretty face.

It was quite sadly true that houses to rent in Wrentham were decidedly at a premium. Sally and Jack had been searching for weeks now, the very date of their wedding hanging fire until a home was secured into which to go on their return from the honeymoon. No wonder that both had become slightly rasper by the situation and a bit inclined to take it out on each other.

Sally, swinging along, let her thoughts wander to the joy it would be actually to find a place and to be able to plan for its occupancy. In her mind's eye she saw herself measuring for curtains and rugs or appraising bare rooms with a view to the purchase of furniture most suited to fill their emptiness.

Lost in this pleasant meditation, Sally noticed a suburban car slowly up to let off a passenger. On the spur of the moment she stepped aboard. Thinking that she would go on to Hillview terrace, Sally sat idly looking out on the green fields and occasional pretty shingled cottages she was passing.

Suddenly she started. There was some sort of sign or other on a house she had just gone by. She jumped up and signalled to the conductor. When the car finally stopped, it had carried her some distance beyond, and as she walked back she reflected cynically that it was probably just her luck to have the sign say "For sale" instead of "For rent."

However, before she could read the sign she was able to see that the cottage was a "perfect darling." Small enough for two people to start in, it yet had an air of individuality and charm all its own. Gray shingled and roofed, it nestled into the landscape as if it fitted there.

A few young trees set out promised future shade; a pocket handkerchief of a lawn was compensated for in back by a spacious garden plot.

Breaking rudely into these slightly premature dreams, the sign thrust itself upon Sally's view. Tacked to the veranda railing, "Fresh Paint," it read.

At that moment a young, trimly dressed woman opened the door of the cottage to place a letter in the mail box. Seeing Sally, who stood eyeing the house almost vindictively, she hesitated.

Sally, in despair, broke forth: "I don't suppose you could tell me of any place around here for rent?"

"Why, that's funny," said the other slowly, "we decided last night to rent this place. We had been fixing it up to sell, fresh paint and all, but now we think we'll rent. My husband was going to the agent this morning to put it in his hands."

"Well, you don't know how glad I am!" cried Sally, fervently. "That is, if you will rent it to me!"

The woman looked doubtful, but only for a minute. "I don't know why not," she said. "I'm sure the agent hasn't had time to do anything with it."

A few minutes later Sally stood waiting for her car. In her bag was a very precious document, a receipt for $10, half of the first month's rent, to bind the bargain.

That evening Sally waited for Jack with great elation, mingled with a very tiny bit of apprehension. Her method had worked, she actually had found a place, and it was just the sort of home Jack would like. But—and herein lay her qualms—would Jack think she should have waited and consulted him? She hadn't dared do that. Even to take a refusal would have been risky, she actually had already in the hands of an agent.

Fully ten minutes ahead of his usual time, Jack's quick step sounded on the veranda. Enterive, he snatched a hasty kiss, then took Sally in his arms and executed a speed fox trot around the room.

"I've got it! I've got it! Sally!" he cried. "The house of our dreams, and half of the first month's rent paid for!"

For Sally was standing back, still in dismay, rushing him from her with a desperate look. "For the love of God," she cried, "don't let me hear about it! It's that rent's a house, both our methods worked—yours of scouting around, mine of going to headquarters."

"But I know something better than that," giggled Sally. "Our first month's rent is paid! Come on, let's finish our dance before telephoning the Brownells to straighten matters out. It's a dance of celebration!"

And she held out slim, inviting arms.

BEACH HOTEL AT CORPUS NOW OWNED BY GOVERNMENT

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Jan. 27. The Beach hotel has been formally transferred to the ownership of the government with the payment of the warrant here by D. E. Simmons, United States district attorney, to the former owners.

The hotel, which stands near the shore line of Corpus Christi bay on North beach, was one of the three buildings on that section of the beach left standing by the storm of last September. All occupants and many who had sought refuge in it were saved.

The hotel was completed and placed in operation in the summer of 1912. It was operated as a tourist hotel until the spring of 1917, when it was leased by the United States junior naval reserve, which maintained a school in it for several months, turning it over to the war department as a hospital for convalescents from the Southern department and for overseas casuals.

No announcement has been made by the government of the future disposition of the building, but it is known that officials of the public health service have recommended that a bulkhead be built around it and the first story filled in solidly with sand as a protection against future storms.

THOUSANDS ACCEPT KESSINGER'S THEORIES

Right Living and Right Thinking Are Most Important Factors to Health, Declares Celebrated Authority—Wholesome Food, Exercise and Fresh Air Also Necessary.

THE UNITED STATES HAS PRODUCED MANY PHILOSOPHERS AND TEACHERS AND HAS BEEN ELECTRIFIED BY MANY ORATORS OF WORLD RENOWN, BUT NEVER IN THE HISTORY OF THIS COUNTRY HAVE TEACHINGS TAKEN SUCH DEEP ROOT AND SPREAD AMONG ALL CLASSES SO RAPIDLY AS HAVE THE PHILOSOPHY AND THEORIES OF HEALTH AND RIGHT LIVING PROPOUNDED BY HARRY KESSINGER, THE NOTED LECTURER AND ORIGINATOR OF ORGATONE TREATMENT.

FROM AN ATTITUDE OF DISBELIEF AND CRITICISM LEADERS OF THOUGHT AND ACTION HAVE BEEN BROUGHT TO INVESTIGATE THE SPREADING PHENOMENA OF THE GROWING POPULARITY OF THIS MAN'S PHILOSOPHY AND HUNDREDS OF SKEPTICS HAVE FOLLOWED THE THOUSANDS UPON THOUSANDS OF THE MASSES OF THE PEOPLE IN BECOMING NOT ONLY DEVOUT BELIEVERS IN HIS TEACHINGS BUT PRACTICE AS WELL.

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS ARE NOW TAKING ORGATONE, BUT THE MOST CONVINCING PROOF OF THE CORRECTNESS OF HIS THEORIES IS THE TESTIMONY OF THE VAST NUMBER OF WELL KNOWN MEN AND WOMEN FROM ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTRY WHOM HE HAS ACTUALLY BENEFITED.

CO-OPERATION OF PATIENT NECESSARY

IT IS NOT UNLIKELY THAT HARRY KESSINGER MAY DECIDE TO VISIT RANGER AT AN EARLY DATE. IN THE EVENT THAT HE SHOULD DECIDE TO INCLUDE THIS CITY IN HIS WESTERN ITINERARY IT IS HOPED HE CAN BE INDUCED TO DELIVER AT LEAST ONE LECTURE WHILE HERE AND GIVE THE PEOPLE OF THIS CITY THE SAME BENEFIT OF HIS STUDY AND MEDICINE THAT HE HAS GIVEN THE PEOPLE OF SEVERAL OF THE LARGER CITIES OF THE EAST AND WEST.

HARRY KESSINGER IS A MAN OF RARE TALENT, MAGNETIC FORCE AND CHARM OF MANNER. HE NEVER CEASES TO SURPRISE YOU WITH THE INFINITE VARIETY OF HIS KNOWLEDGE AND ITS ABSOLUTE CORRECTNESS AND THOROUGHNESS.

The following is an extract from one of Kessinger's recent lectures on health and hygiene:

"Don't expect to get over physical disease by taking my treatment and waiting a few days. It takes a long continuation of abuses to stomach and other vital organs to produce an invalid and even with the aid of medicine, time is necessary to restore health. Tissue must be rebuilt and the entire system put in working order—and kept that way by food and habits that render health possible."

"Right living and right thinking are the most important factors to health. Medicine only gives the individual a chance. Don't try to live on Orgatone or any other medicine. Wholesome food, exercise, recreation, cheerfulness, fresh air, sunshine and work are the things for you to use every day and you will notice I didn't put alcohol or tobacco on the list. Stimulants and narcotics are seldom necessary."

"The people who make and sell Orgatone are interested in each and every sufferer in this country. We don't want the Orgatone treatment to fail in a single instance, and we do not believe it will where suffering of any kind results directly or indirectly from the disordered stomachs, catarrhal condition of the mucous membrane or liver and kidney derangements.

"But we do say, here and now, that the faithful co-operation of the patient is absolutely necessary. Use your head and restrain your desire. Don't overload the stomach just because the medicine is beginning to do you good and then expect Orgatone to keep you progressing towards health. If you have been on liquid diet, do not expect the first dose of Orgatone to digest solid food. Remember this, right now and forever, no medicine in the world can continue to save you from the consequences of improper living. Attention to the diet and keeping the bowels open is a matter of first importance.

"Remember that Orgatone is composed of the most beneficial oils, roots and herbs known to science. It is vegetable and contains no ingredients to produce violent or sudden effects. Medicines that bring immediate stimulation invariably have an injurious reaction that is dangerous to the system.

"Orgatone is none less powerful in its final results. It builds, strengthens and tones the system as fast as nature can correct conditions and it causes new tissues to grow. Any so-called cure that works quicker than this will do more harm than good. They poison and weaken for a time. You must be satisfied to assist nature and await her slow but inevitable action if you would regain your health. Trying to force nature is disastrous.

On one occasion Harry Kessinger was asked whether or not Orgatone would relieve rheumatism, catarrh of liver and kidney trouble and a dozen other ailments and in this connection said:

"I am convinced that the stomach regulates the condition of the blood and is the fountain head of health or disease as the case may be. As I have repeatedly stated in the past, my treatment is intended primarily for the regulation of the stomach and correction of catarrhal inflammation but it is no uncommon thing for persons who have used the Orgatone treatment to come to me and explain that it has relieved them of rheumatism, kidney and liver disorders and many ailments not generally recognized as having their origin in stomach trouble."

The announcement that this famous treatment has been placed on sale in this city where it is being explained by a special representative has created widespread interest and it is a safe conclusion that hundreds of Ranger people will call at the local drug store within the next few days to obtain the Orgatone treatment by the Ranger Drug Company. MUD HOLDS UP DELIVERIES TO RANGER FIELD.

Mud is greatly interfering with the movement of freight out of the local railroad yards. In some cases it is almost impossible to remove heavy freight from the cars.

Oil well supply houses have suffered in particular. Not only has it been out of the question to get supplies out of the cars, but the condition of roads leading out of town has greatly reduced the amount of hauling to the different fields.

"Business has been very light with us since Christmas," said an official of one large supply house. "But we rather welcome a breathing spell. We have had too much work to do."

In some cases, as many as four teams are hooked to one wagon to carry a light load of supplies to the field. The roads are said to be in worse condition than at any time during the last year. Inland towns, like Breckenridge and Desdemona, are experiencing great difficulty in getting necessities of life, while the almost prohibitive cost of hauling is preventing much city development. Most investors prefer to wait until a railroad reaches them, and thus effect a great saving in the cost of building operations.

Mineral Wells Sends C-C Sec. to Oil League

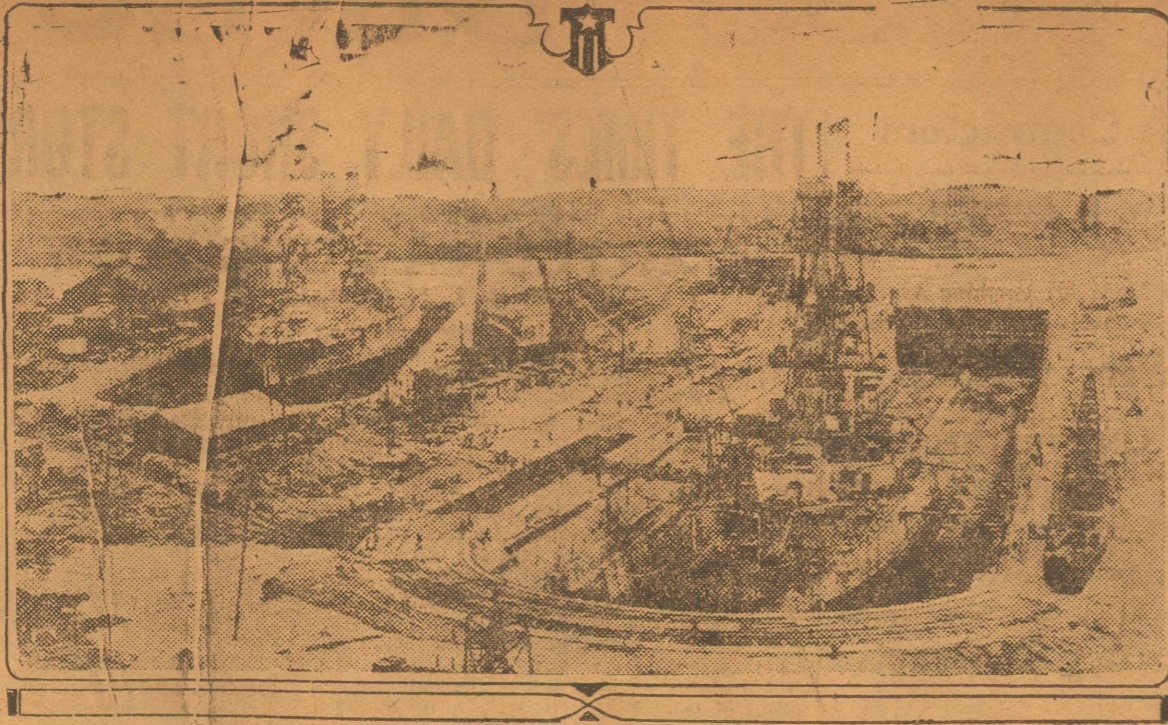

Mineral Wells will be represented at the meetings of delegates from oil towns of the Ranger field Friday at the McCleskey hotel with the idea of forming an oil league, with baseball clubs from six towns composing the circuit.

H. L. Miller, manager of the Mineral Wells Chamber of Commerce, this morning telegraphed R. Hoese Wick, who is associated with W. Z. McCulloch and H. R. Williams in the Ranger Baseball and Amusement company, that he would be present at the meeting. Eastland has been heard from and word is expected from Thurber, Cisco and Abilene before the conference.

Members of the city board of commissioners this afternoon will consider the granting of a ten-year lease on the city park to the baseball company, which wishes to erect grandstand and bleachers and club rooms for home and visiting clubs.

TRAIN SERVICE BETTER; SUNSHINE FOUR HOURS LATE

Train service was nearer normal today than for some time past. The Sunshine Special was four hours late, but other trains were nearly on time.

Passenger traffic is getting back to normal after the holiday rush, according to local officials. In the last two months all records for hauling passenger were broken on the T & P railroad.

COMING TO THE LONE STAR THREE DAYS—Commencing Friday

Come On, Flames Red Braces, Silver Cords Are R'arin' to Go

Yesterday at the freight station the federal agents seized a small package suspiciously resembling a quart of the well-known Sunny Brook. The package was addressed to Ranger's fire chief. Upon opening the bundle, ten pairs of suspenders of that well-known barbarous red were discovered. Ten silver cap cords in gaudy splendor were found beneath the blazing suspenders.

Further investigation revealed that Ranger's fire fighters will wear the suspenders and cap cords. Chief Smith considered it only appropriate that his firemen should, after the fashion of larger cities, especially Kansas City, wear red suspenders and silver cap cords.

Chief Smith ordered these suspenders and hat cords from Dan O'Connell, with whom he was formerly associated in Fire Station No. 5, Kansas City.

Iowan Is Named Sec. Agriculture

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Edwin T. Meredith of Iowa, editor of Successful Farming, is to be named secretary of agriculture to succeed Carter Glass. President Wilson is expected to send the nominations of both Meredith and Glass to the Senate today. As soon as Meredith qualifies, Glass is to take his seat in the senate, to succeed the late Senator Martin of Virginia.

"He brought his best girl to a singing one night," said Mr. Scott, "and while they were in the house I took a couple of friends with me and we went out and put the rear wheels of his buggy in front and the front wheels behind."

"On the way home he didn't say a word for three miles, and neither did his girl. But at last she broke the silence and remarked:

"I've lived around here all my life and I never noticed no such steep hill before."
