Irene Dunne Stars In "No Other Woman" At R & R Ritz

Hoxie Is Star This Week In Western Film

"Law and Lawless", Third Of Series, Opens Here Friday

Majestic Pictures is certainly making good its claim that their current series of six Jack Hoxie Westerns would top any that the famous two-gun man had ever made!

"Gold," which opened the series, and "Outlaw Justice," which followed it, were knockouts, but "Law and Lawless," the third, which will be seen Friday and Saturday for the first time locally at the Queen.

This fast-paced Oliver Drake story is packed to the hilt with whirling action, has a swell story, considerably more humor than is usually found in a western, and a remarkable cast to boot.

"Law and Lawless," casts Hoxie in the made-to-order role of an ad-

"The Big Broadcast" Opens Run Of Three Day At Queen Theater With Many Radio Headliners As Stars

Bing Crosby, Kate Smith, Vincent Lopez And Cab Calloway Orchestra, Mills Brothers, Boswell Sisters Included

Bing Crosby, Kate Smith, the Boswell Sisters, the Mills Brothers, Cab Calloway and his band, Burns and Allen, Arthur Tracy (The Street Singer) and Vincent Lopez—all on one bill is that entertainment? That's the line-up which Paramount has assembled for "The Big Broadcast," a screen version of the play "Wild Waves," opens today at the Queen Theater for a 3 day engagement.

It is not to be supposed, however, that "The Big Broadcast" is merely a glorification of the personalities of the various radio stars, for their songs and romances are all incidental to a straightforward, believable and amusing story, which featured Stuart Erwin, Lella Hyams, of the film, along with the have terrorized the local home-steaders.

The revelation of the identity of their leader provides a whirlwind surprise ending, which it would be unfair to divulge here.

Hilda Moreno, famous Pollux beauty, provides the love interest, and proves that she is an excellent actress as well as a great beauty. Wally Wales, famous western star in his own right and Yakima Canutt, champion rider of the world and ace stunt man, play two of the "heavy" roles. Others who do good work are Julian Rivero, as Pancho, Hoxie's pal and rival in love, who supplies most of the comedy; J. Frank Glendon, famous screen veteran; Edith Fellows, talented child actress; Helen Gibson the serial Queen and Jack Mower, not to forget Jack's beautiful and clever horse, Dynamite and his little dog, Bunk.

Take our word for it—this one's a whale of a western with more thrills to the celluloid foot than half a dozen usual westerns. Armand Schaefer has done a grand directing job.

kingdoms and queens of radio. But with Bing Crosby as more-or-less himself, the Boswell Sisters as telephone operators in the radio station, George Burns as the president of the station and Gracie Allen as the reception clerk—well, the authors of the script haven't overlooked the possibilities of such a cast.

According to the story, Bing Crosby is a popular radio singer, adored by women in general and by Anita Rogers (Lella Hyams) in particular. Anita, some time before, had left her home in Texas and her fiance, Leslie McWhinney (Stuart Erwin), to become secretary to the president of Station WHAM, Mr. Alkenhead, in order to be near her idol. But alas! Bing is interested only in a popular dancer, Mona Lowe (Sharon Lynne).

Leslie, having met a hundred thousand dollars to a widow from Waco, comes to New York to see if he can find Anita. He and Bing meet in a speakeasy on the night they must be all for one and one for all. Leslie takes the arrangement so seriously that when he learns the studio is about to go under and all will lose their jobs, he buys it. Moreover, he does everything in his power to help Anita get what she thinks she wants—the fact that Bing would just as leave not be bothered with Anita.

In order to put the studio on the radio map, Leslie arranges the Big Broadcast, featuring Bing and including all the other big stars of the air waves. And he might have achieved his purpose of turning the unwilling Bing right into Anita's arms, if Mona Lowe had not succeeded that very night in obtaining a divorce from her millionaire and coming back to Bing. So while Bing's dulcet voice sings to Anita of the charms of Leslie, Anita begins to realize that dear, dependable Leslie is really the one she loved all the time.

There are two new songs in the picture introduced by Crosby and by Arthur Tracy and both have the earmarks of hits. "Here I'm Love" is another one of these things—low and mean and oh, so sad—while "Please," on the other hand, is a light and captivating dance rhythm.

The whole film is paced fast and furious and amusing. Not for an instant does the interest lag, and if you're not laughing, you're listening to sweet music or sparkling dialogue. It's a big broadcast and a big entertainment. You'll like it!

Cagney Has Mary Brian As Partner

"Hard To Handle" Title Of Curly-Haired Lad's Newest Film

High powered press-agency and advertising with James Cagney providing all the high power from the basis for Warner Bros. picture, "Hard to Handle" which opens Tuesday at the Ritz Theater.

"Hard to Handle" marks James Cagney's return to the screen after an absence of seven months. It is his first picture since "Winner Take All." He is the big nose behind the exploitation of marathon dances, eighteen day diets, treasure hunts and reducing creams which furnish the comedy material bearing the punch of Cagney's trademark. The bad boy of the screen has quit seeking females for the time being in favor of stirring up the public with his wild-eyed publicity schemes.

Cagney's romantic partner in this film is Mary Brian, who comes to the screen for the first time as a striking blonde. Ruth Donnelly, who scored such a success as the secretary in "Blessed Event," is cast as the mother who shares comedy honors with Cagney.

The cast is further enhanced by such competent players as Allen Jenkins, Claire Dodd, an enticing beauty who adds further complications to our hero's love life; Gavin Gordon, who, as the other man, makes the path of love not so smooth; Emma Dunn, Robert McWade, John Sheehan, Matt McHugh, Jack Crawford and Stanley Smith.

The direction was in the hands of one of Warner Bros. ace directors, Mervyn LeRoy, who combines the power of his recent achievement, "I Am A Fugitive From A Chain Gang," with the fast comedy of his "High Pressure" in making this film a Cagney picture.

Lee Tracy In "Doctor X" At Ritz Theater

Fay Wray Provides Romantic Interest Friday, Saturday

The magic of the screen adds to the thrills of another well known stage play which has been dramatized with great effect, "Doctor X," the play by Howard W. Comstock and Allen C. Miller, has been given a thorough screen treatment by Robert Tasker and Earl Baldwin and produced by First National. When it comes to the Ritz Theater Friday and Saturday of this week, it promises to give its audience something new in the way of mystery melodrama.

Thrills and surprises form the main content which deals with Doctor Xavier and his associates in a medical research center. They are brought under suspicion by the mercantile arts.

Miss Puckett, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Puckett, is a major in business administration and an English minor. She is humor editor of the Daedalian Annual, the college yearbook.

Besides these principals, all-star cast of well known names promises a well-acted production. The other doctors in the medical center are played by Preston Foster, John Wray, Arthur Edmund Carewe and Harry Berensford. Other feminine roles are given to Lella Bennett and Mas Bush, while the balance of the cast contains such names as George Rosener, Robert Warwick, Willard Robertson, Thomas police when a series of murders committed only at the full of the moon, take place in the vicinity of their academy. To avert scandal, Doctor Xavier conducts his own investigation to discover the mysterious murderer. Much against his better judgment and against the opposition of all involved in the investigation, a breezy young newspaper reporter trails the story to the Doctor's weird country home, where he complicates matters for himself by falling in love with the Doctor's daughter. He falls heir to a series of adventures and misadventures in this eerie atmosphere, and is happily on hand to form a solution of the crimes while the others are handcuffed to their chairs during an experiment. The splendid romance and light comedy of Lee Tracy, who again sticks to his long record of reporter roles, help lighten the tense melodrama of the plot. Fay Wray provides the romantic interest opposite Lee Tracy by being cast in the ingenue role as the Doctor's daughter.

The title role of "Doctor X" brings to the screen Lionel Atwill, actor and director of stage plays, whose performance in this picture is reported to be one of the outstanding characterizations of the year.

Charles Bickford Plays Role Of Husband In Powerful Play Opening Here For 2-Day Run

Gwili Andre Is Enchantress, Eric Linden Young Inventor In Cast Of Picture

The man of brawn becomes the man of brains and then, with success, riches and fame becomes just a fool over a woman who twists him around her crooked little finger. This in spite of the fact that he had once vowed that there could be "no other woman" than his wife!

"No Other Woman" is the apt title of the RKO-Radio picture coming to the Ritz Theater today and Monday with Irene Dunne playing the wife, Charles Bickford the husband, Gwili Andre the enchantress and Eric Linden the young inventor whose formula made possible their fame and fortune.

Against the glare and the heat of great steel furnaces is introduced Jim Stanley, who feels like a god because he is a strong fellow who makes steel and draws the biggest pay envelope. Jim loves Anna, though he thinks she has some half-baked notions that she'll get rid of once she marries him.

To begin with, Anna hates steel towns—hates Jim for his pride in his swamy job—declares she will never marry a steel worker—but declares in vain. Her love for him—his attraction for her—is too great, and they are married. It's a true steel town wedding, with Anna's wedding gifts being paper money pinned to her dress.

Determined to get herself and Jim out of steel town, she uses the money to start a boarding house. In two years she has worked and scrimped so much that Jim is becoming quarrelsome on the subject. One night he goes off on a drunk and is so repugnant that he consents to her savings being used to organize a company for the marketing of a dye formula invented by Joe, an ambitious young Slav whose success is largely due to the encouragement Anna gave him. Anna always stood behind anyone who was ambitious to get ahead—to get out away from the grime of the steel mills and see lovely things, meet nice people.

Jim proves to be as clever a business man as he was a steel worker, and prospers, but he promptly falls into the clutches of a woman who is determined to get him away from Anna and marry him herself. Jim says he can never leave his son—never give Anna such an unfair deal. Yet one day finds man and wife in court in a sensational divorce scandal with Jim making amazing accusations—and Anna making a starting confession!

"No Other Woman" is told from the viewpoint of modern morals. It is powerful and sincere. J. Walter Ruben directed from the screen play by Wanda Tuckock and Bernard Schubert. The cast, besides its four principals, includes Buster Miles, Lella Bennett, Christian Rub, J. Carroll Nash and others.

Jackson, Harry Holman and Tom Dugan.

Michael Curtiz, who directed the Richard Barthelmess picture, "Alias the Doctor," so realistically, is responsible for much of the fine technique with which "Doctor X" has been filmed in Technicolor.

John McCormick To Sing In Abilene

Abilene-West Texas music lovers will be treated to the star concert by a world-famed artist when John McCormick, Irish tenor, sings at the Simmons University auditorium here on the evening of Friday, February 24. Announcement of the concert was made today by the Simmons artist course management, which has just sponsored the appearances of MacManisoff and Kreiser.

John McCormick, who has been called "the world's most beloved tenor," began a trans-continental tour with a concert at Boston on January 15. After his appearance in Abilene, he will continue across the continent, ending his tour just before Easter.

Last year he toured England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales. He appeared four times in one hall in London within a period of six months. Just before leaving for Europe, he gave his 180th concert in Carnegie Hall, New York City. Every seat in the house, including extra seats on the platform, was filled.

This will be McCormick's first appearance in Abilene or this section of the state. Advance sale of reservations will start at once, the artist course management said.

West Ward PTA To Give Tacky Fete

Date For Tuesday Evening, February 21, At Last Regular Meet

The West P.T.A. met for its regular February meeting Thursday afternoon at the school building with Mrs. John Tucker in charge. The meeting opened with the Lord's prayer in concert.

During the business session the association voted to send a wire to the representative of this district urging that he use his influence to oppose the repeal of the law admitting six-year-old children as schoolmates.

Mrs. Holmes reported $14.33 receipts from the tacky party and the members voted that because illness prevented the attendance of so many the P.T.A. would have another tacky party Tuesday evening, February 21 at the Settles Hotel.

The president thanked the association for the flowers sent her during her illness. Mrs. Agnell's room had the most mothers present and Miss Fowler's second.

The next meeting will be an observance of Founder's Day.

The low fourth pupils of Miss Georgia Fowler put on the program in observance of Washington's birthday. The number consisted of "The Twenty-second of February," by Naomi Pifer; "The Little Red Stamp," by Joyce Dean Neal; "The Making of Old Glory," by eight boys, J. C. Watson, R. E. Creek, Cleo Carter, Jack Graves, Leo Walling, W. D. Cunningham, Hershell Harris and Grover Cunningham; "The Birthday Lesson," by Marie Dunham and a song by the whole class.

Mrs. Agnell read a paper on "Your Child and Mine."

The members attending were: Mmes. J. S. King, J. C. Holmes, W. D. Cunningham, G. B. Cunningham, Thos. Hildreth, R. L. Baber, E. L. Odom, Cecil Wasson, Robert Hill, Frank Covert, G. E. Dunham, Marjelle McDonald, Harry Luehring, A. A. Edens, John Tucker, Della K. Agnell, Misses Eleanor Antley and Ione McAllister.

Mrs. Ben Carter Gives Nice Valentine Party At Settles

Mrs. Ben Carter entertained at the Settles Hotel Friday afternoon with a pretty Valentine party honoring Mrs. Frank Morgan, formerly of Dallas, who is now making her home in Big Spring.

The tables cleverly carried out the red and white color scheme by the use of Valentine scorecards and tallies. The lovely salad course included a heart-shaped moulded salad and other dainties in the person's colors.

Mrs. Morgan was presented with a red ivy ball. Three other prizes were awarded. Mrs. Ford, who made high, was given a triangle boudoir pillow. Mrs. Hardy was given a makeup box for high cut. Mrs. Nesbitt received a box of Valentine candy for consolation prize.

The guest list included, in addition to the honoree, Mmes. W. D. McDonald, Jim Terry, George Oldham, Steve Ford, L. A. Loeb, Bob Middleton, W. B. Hardy, Ray Simmons, Vivian Nichols, J. Y. Robb, Roy Carter, Clarence Nesbitt, M. H. Bennett and Mae Battle.

Spread Of Machine Gun Among Bandits Combated In Bill

AUSTIN (UP)—A measure designed to check the spread and use of machine guns by bandits and criminals was introduced in the Texas legislature by Senator Clint

Small. The measure would make it punishable by from 10 to 50 years imprisonment for illegal possession of a machine gun in perpetration or attempted perpetration of a crime and possession of illegal machine gun "shall be prima facie evidence such machine gun was possessed for use for offensive or aggressive purpose."

It defines a machine gun as any weapon "from which more than five shots or bullets may be rapidly or automatically, or semi-automatically discharged." The measure also provides that the presence of a machine gun in any car, boat, or vehicle "shall be evidence of possession by each person occupying the room, boat, or vehicle."

Copies Of Books For Tech Course Received

Mrs. Pauline C. Brigham, county superintendent, who is in charge of an extension course on "Great Plains History" offered here by Texas Technological college, has received five copies of books required and will be issued to those enrolled.

Charges of juvenile delinquency have been preferred against Bill Collins, 15-year-old Lincoln, Nebraska, waif.

Billie was arrested near here Monday by Sheriff Jess Slaughter in connection with a horse theft.

The boy told officers he was "riding toward Lincoln." He said he had run away from a home for dependent children in Beatrice, Nebraska, beat his way to San Antonio and El Paso, came to Big Spring, where he remained until he took the horse.

Spread Of Machine Gun Among Bandits Combated In Bill

AUSTIN (UP)—A measure designed to check the spread and use of machine guns by bandits and criminals was introduced in the Texas legislature by Senator Clint

Small. The measure would make it punishable by from 10 to 50 years imprisonment for illegal possession of a machine gun in perpetration or attempted perpetration of a crime and possession of illegal machine gun "shall be prima facie evidence such machine gun was possessed for use for offensive or aggressive purpose."

It defines a machine gun as any weapon "from which more than five shots or bullets may be rapidly or automatically, or semi-automatically discharged." The measure also provides that the presence of a machine gun in any car, boat, or vehicle "shall be evidence of possession by each person occupying the room, boat, or vehicle."

Copies Of Books For Tech Course Received

Mrs. Pauline C. Brigham, county superintendent, who is in charge of an extension course on "Great Plains History" offered here by Texas Technological college, has received five copies of books required and will be issued to those enrolled.

Books were loaned by the Texas Loan Library. Those requesting books must return any they already have out, said Mrs. Brigham.

Mrs. B. O. Jones and daughter, Mrs. Monroe Johnson, accompanied Mrs. Jones' sister, Mrs. L. L. Blackburn and daughter, Mary, of Baird, to San Diego, California, where they will visit for a month. They left Saturday morning by automobile.

Mrs. Wilson Hostess For Pretty Valentine Party Friday P. M.

Mrs. W. S. Wilson entertained with a pretty Valentine party at her home Friday afternoon.

Heart-shaped tallies in Saint Valentine's colors and other accessories in red and white were used throughout the afternoon. At the refreshment hour a moulded dessert course also carried out the heart-shaped motif.

The high prize was a large-shaped Valentine box of candy and this was won by Mrs. Lloyd. Consolation prize, smaller box of candy went to Mrs. Diltz. Cut prizes at each table were small, heart-shaped boxes of candy and these were drawn by Mmes. W. W. Pendleton, W. R. Ivey, R. C. Pyeatt and Violet Cox.

Congenial Members Play At Mrs. Carters

Mrs. C. C. Carter was hostess to the members of the Congenial Club Friday afternoon, taking the club for Mrs. Raymond Winn, whose son had the measles.

Mrs. C. E. Shive and Mrs. Musgrove were visitors. Mrs. Musgrove made the higher score. Mrs. Sanford scored high for members.

The hostess served hot punch during the games and hot waffles and coffee afterward. The members present were: Mmes. W. H. Renzie, W. K. Edwards, Jimmie Mason, D. C. Hamilton, Barber, L. S. Sanford.

Mrs. Barber will be the next hostess.

Rev. H. H. Ward Accepts Los Angeles Pastorage

Rev. H. H. Ward is resigning the pastorate of the Neighborhood Chapel of the Church of God, located at Main and Tenth streets, to accept a pastorate in Los Angeles, California. Mr. Ward will be able to continue work on his Master's degree at the University of Southern California.

The Sunday services at the Church of God will be at the regular hours.

Mrs. Todd Fuglaar and daughter, Vijeane, have returned to their home in Luling after visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Horton. Florence Rankin accompanied them on the return trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morgan have moved here from Dallas to make their home, and are now located in Washington Place. Mr. Morgan is associated in the tire business with Jack Ellis.

FEBRUARY FURNITURE SALE

TWO BIG PIECES IN JACQUARD

You're buying more than eye appeal in this Sale suite. You're getting an 80-inch Davenport. A high, button-back Chair. Two-tone Jacquard velour covering from the best looms in the country. Seasoned hardwood frames. And plenty of deep, tempered steel coils in seats and backs. All of this in February for only $49.95

$5 Down $6.50 Monthly, plus carrying charge

Two Sale Specials!

A Coil Day Bed

We worked a long time to get a smart automatic coil day bed at a price like this. It's good size—a 6-footer can stretch out comfortably on it. Restful too. The 30 pound mattress, Jasper covered, and coil spring see to that. And it's handy. The mere flip of your finger opens it to a full size bed.

Gateleg Table

new square type heavy legs. Rounded corners. Opens to 36x48 inches. You'll want one at $9.95.

Butterfly Table

True Colonial style with a solid walnut top. Opens to 20x28 inches. Here's $5 worth of table for only $3.95.

6-PIECE WALNUT FINISH DINETTE SET

This started out to be a 5-piece set, but we liked it so well we added the buffet and made it 6. The lines are simple as you can see. The table extends to 5 feet. The 4 chairs have jacquard velour seats. And the buffet is dustproofed. Every piece of seasoned hardwood, finished a rich walnut. In the February Sale it's only $39.95

$4 Down $5.50 Monthly, plus carrying charge

American ORIENTALS

With Colors Woven Through to the Back

Copies, yes—but there's not a commonplace thing about them. They're skillful reproductions of Persian Sarouks, Ispahans, and Royal Kashans—with colors woven through to the back. They're woven of fine all wool yarns and finished with a deep fringe. And they're the same rugs as a leading 5th Avenue New York store sold recently for many dollars more.

Bedroom Chair

We took a sturdy hardwood Wing Chair with spring seat. Covered it with quality patterned chintz. Added a flounce around the bottom. And priced it at a generous saving in the February sale! See it tomorrow.

The Need for Emergency Powers

The present session of Congress has accomplished one very useful thing. It convinced the country that the lame duck session ought immediately to be abolished and as a result the Norris amendment has been ratified. There remains one other useful thing for this Congress to do. That is to convince the country that the ordinary legislative procedure, the business of Congress, should not and must not be tolerated in the special session of the new Congress. For what good is there in working out policies and plans and measures by which the government can lift the country out of the depression if there is no government in Washington capable of taking prompt and certain action?

The country is entitled to feel assured, I believe, that the incoming Administration will have a comprehensive program and that this program will follow faithfully the principles laid down in the Democratic platform and in Mr. Roosevelt's speeches. The country knows also that the Democratic Party has a large majority in both houses of the new Congress, and it is entitled to assume that for the first few months at least the Republican opposition will not attempt to obstruct. The stage would seem to be set, therefore, for the swift execution of those measures which the responsible leaders are agreed must be taken. Yet the stage is not set. As Congress is now organized it is almost certain that minorities, lobbies and factions, not to speak of individual adventurers, will delay, mutilate, and defeat vital elements in any program. This is the crux of the matter. The nation can not look for help from the government until there is a government that can govern.

The present legislative machine in Washington is incapable of governing during an emergency. It does well enough perhaps in ordinary times when legislation can be evolved slowly, out of long debate, through the gradual education of opinion. But this is an emergency. This is a time when it is necessary to do extraordinary things quickly, and Congress, as now organized, is altogether incapable of doing them. Congress is impotent except to delay or to obstruct. A radical reform in the procedure of Congress is the paramount need of the hour.

It is to this end that the party leaders and managers ought to devote their first attention. It is on this point that public opinion ought now to be focused. It is for this reform that the nation ought now to bear down upon Washington with undiminished insistence. Nothing important can be done until this is done. It is all very well to argue that balancing the budget, or about tariff, currency and debt adjustments, or about farm relief, or unemployment or the scaling down of domestic debt, or about large schemes for developing natural resources; all of these things and many more besides are necessary, desirable and promising; they will come to nothing if Congress is not organized and disciplined and subjected to executive leadership. Until and unless Congress is reformed, the best laid plans will provide material for debate; ending in deadlock, paralysis and confusion. The kind of program which the Roosevelt Administration is pledged to propose can come to nothing unless there is a Congress which will not and can not obstruct and destroy it.

Therefore, the initial measure introduced into the new congress should have two objectives: first, to give the president, for a period say of a year, the widest and fullest powers possible under the most liberal interpretation of the constitution; second, to suspend temporarily the rules of both houses, to limit drastically the right of amendment and debate, to put the majority in both houses under the decisions of caucus. That done, the

The Fatalist's Philosophy

Some gunmen tried to kill one Marie Diamond, Cleveland gang leader, recently. Their bullets missed him; and Diamond, talking to reporters afterward, explained that he was a fatalist and hence was unworried.

"I know my time is coming sometime, and when it comes I'll go. So why worry?" he remarked.

But a reporter asked him why, if he were a fatalist, he ducked when he was shot at. And Diamond explained, "Well, it wasn't my time yet."

And this, it seems to us, is about the way most fatalists act. They believe that when it is time for them to go they will go, and that they can't avoid it; but just the same, when somebody shoots at them they duck. A fatalistic philosophy has to be pretty strong to check the old instinct of self-preservation.

Mrs. F. W. Harding Hostess To Study Club At Her Home

Mrs. F. W. Harding entertained the members of the Big Spring Study club at her attractive country home Friday afternoon for a regular club meeting.

The club combined two programs to make up for the time lost through illness. The topics were "Democracy" and "Citizenship." Discussions were held on "True Democratic Ideals in Our Schools" and on "Good Citizens."

Mrs. J. R. Manion talked on "Making of an American" and Miss McAllister on "Flag Etiquette."

Mrs. Koberg gave a parliamentary drill, after which the hostess served delicious refreshments.

The members and visitors were: Mmes. J. R. Manion, Charles Koberg, L. E. Eddy, Roy Pearce, Felton Smith, J. P. Dodge, J. C. Lane, Will J. Crawford, Cecil Ellis and Miss Ione McAllister.

Mrs. Koberg will be hostess on February 24 at which a Washington's Birthday program will be given.

Four Teams In City League Tied With Only Four Games Remaining

Final Drive In Basketball Race To Be Opened With Games Of Monday Evening

With the race knotted four ways and only four more games remaining of the schedule, city basketball leagues is expected to launch a torrid home stretch campaign Monday evening.

Christians will battle their old foes and Jinx, Collins Bros. while Fourth Street Baptist meet the rapidly improving Aces.

Skipper LeRoy Merrick jumped about in unexpressed glee last week when his Christians ran rough shot over the favorite Baptist. Occasionally he ejaculated something about "the old machine is clicking" and in the same breath inquired how much time remained.

The Aces, fresh from a whirlwind victory over Collins, will face the embittered Baptists who let go of what they thought was a certain win last week.

Games are scheduled to start at 7:30 with Baptists and Aces appearing in the opener.

Farmers Open Price Revolt

Hidalgo County Seat Of Move; Picketing Organization Formed

WESLACO (UP).—A revolt against low prices for winter vegetables spread among all farmers in the noted lower Rio Grande valley, with one county's indignation in full flame and a strike organization perfected with 500 members.

Farmers of Hidalgo county—an area almost as large as the state of Delaware—formed plans for a strike, perfected a picketing organization to prevent shipments of low priced produce, and announced picketing would begin Sunday in a meeting here last night.

Hidalgo count revolt will join that with a valley-wide meeting at Harlingen. Cameron and Hidalgo counties comprise 90 per cent of the Magic Rio Grande valley, important truck and citrus growing area.

Demand was made today on Tom Gill, sheriff of Hidalgo county, for deputies' commissions for R. C. Roseboom, Donna, who was elected general of the picket army, and eleven captains who will direct actual picketing in eleven units of the striking organization.

While the captains were assigning men to patrol roads day and night to stop vegetable trucks, a price-fixing committee from the strikers was drafting a scale of fair prices which will be demanded from shippers, effective tomorrow. Most shippers met demands of $5 ton for cabbage and 20 cents a crate for carrots, beets and turnips, but indications were the committee would seek even better prices.

Today's Sport Parade

BY HENRY McLEMORE United Press Staff Correspondent

DATONA BEACH, Fla. (UP).—Hundreds of men have driven their tiny roaring machines around the red-brick track of the Indianapolis speedway since inauguration of the 500-mile speed classic, but how many of them possessed the combination of skill and daring that makes for great drivers?

Just ten. That's the opinion of T. E. (Pop) Myers. Pop ought to know, for in his position as vice-president and general manager of the speedway, he has seen them come and go for 23 years. Pop here to serve as official referee for Sir Malcolm Campbell's attacks on the land speed record, says that Joe Dawson, Frank Lockhart, Jimmy Murphy, Tommy Milton, Harry Hartz, Peter Depaolo, Fred Frame, Bob Carey, Ralph DePalma and Billy Arnold are the only men he has seen whirl around the speedway that he would classify as kingpin drivers.

The order in which the men are listed means nothing. We asked Pop to rate them in order, to tell us the outstanding pilot among the ten.

"Couldn't do it," he said. "That would be impossible, for no two of them drove alike."

"Some say Lockhart, who came out of the west in 1926 so unknown that the gatekeeper refused him admittance to the grounds, and who won the race that year, was the greatest driver America ever produced. But was he? Did he have anything on Jimmy Murphy? Murphy lacked the showmanship of the flaming Californian, but he knew more about the handling of a car, had more fitness."

"And how about Tommy Milton and Joe Dawson? You couldn't very well overlook Milton, the only man who has scored two victories in the 500-mile grind. Like Murphy, Tommy wasn't very spectacular, but how that boy could nurse a car along. I guess he could get more out of a slow car than anybody I ever saw."

"And whoever saw a better bit of driving than Dawson displayed in winning the 1912 race? Twenty miles behind the leading DePalma with only 30 or 35 miles to go, he came on to win. Of course, Joe was aided by DePalma's engine trouble, but even so, he put on a magnificent finish."

Pop said Hartz must be given a place in the Big Ten if for no other reason than that he made more money than any of the other drivers.

Pop awarded Fred Frame his place largely because of his winning the 1932 race despite six or seven trips to the pit.

"When you stop that many times," Pop said, "you've got to have something more than luck."

In Pop's opinion, Peter DePaolo, when he started, was the "rottenest" driver of all time.

"But the little Italian who always carried a pair of his baby's shoes in the cockpit of his car would be discouraged, and built himself into one of the game's real masters," he said.

Pop believes that Bob Carey, 1932 A. A. A. champion, and not Billy Arnold, 1930 champion, is the brightest prospect among the current drivers.

Return From Grave By Slain Mother Awaited By Mountaineer In Cell

INEZ, Ky. (UP).—A Kentucky mountaineer of 36, subdued after hours of hysterical screaming in a cell, waited confidently for his mother to rise from her grave. "Born anew without sin," and thus save him and eight relatives from prosecution for her slaying.

John H. Mills, accused of beating and choking Mrs. Lucinda Mills, 73, to death in a frenzy of hysteria after days of fasting and dancing in an isolated mountain cabin, will be arranged tomorrow, with the eight other prisoners. For hours yesterday and last night he raved in his cell, screaming gibberish which members of the cult he heads referred to as "the tongue." He was handcuffed and bound to the bars of his cell lest he harm other prisoners. Late at night, however, he grew calm and offered his prediction that his mother would "rise from her grave as did Christ."

Seven relatives were held in jail with Mills and an eighth, Mrs. Trixie Mills, 23, daughter-in-law of the slain woman, was released on her own recognition because she is an expectant mother. The eight all were present, deputies said, at the rites which ended in the death of Mrs. Mills.

During the past week, when the mercury went as low as 7.4 degrees below zero you were WARM! That comfort was due to no accident—but to the untiring labor of hundreds of employees of an organization which spares nothing in its efforts to serve you. While you enjoy perfect comfort these men battle the elements to serve you with gas. The result of their effort is SERVICE.

Natural Gas, without service, is of little advantage. When, however, it enjoys the companionship of a whole-hearted service, which we are always striving to give, it becomes the most beneficial, economical and dependable fuel known to man.

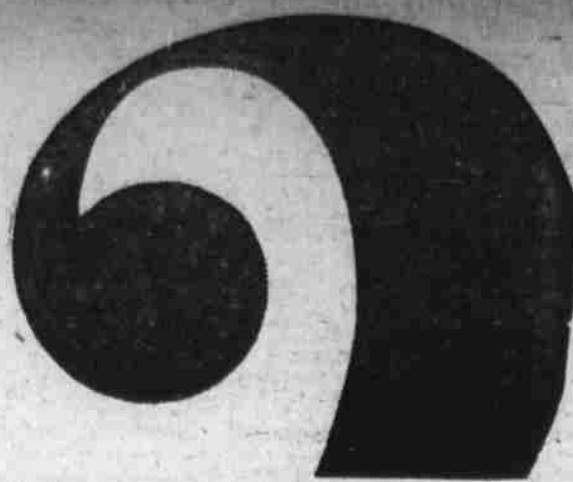

One of the items of service is to maintain a capacity of gas, the year around, that will equal the coldest blizzard—even though this capacity is not required except a few times each year. The capacity of our gas supply has not been equaled this year.

Double Taxation Confronts President-Elect Roosevelt

State And Federal Governments Increasingly Bent Upon Taxing Same Items

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
United Press Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1933, By United Press)
WASHINGTON (UP)—One of the first questions to come up in the new Roosevelt administration will be whether it is a sporting thing to hit the staggering taxpayer twice in the same place. Reports to the United Press from its bureaus indicate this doubling up process, with the federal and state governments both taxing the same items, is increasing. In Indiana, for instance, bills providing for sales, income and tobacco taxes are pending. The Oregon legislature also is considering a sales tax.

President-Elect Roosevelt has invited all state governors to meet with him on the first working day after his inauguration. This double taxation problem will be one of the foremost on the agenda. Double taxation results from the scramble of the state and federal governments to get at the few remaining dollars which are left in the pockets of the taxpayers. A special investigation for the house ways and means committee has disclosed 328 duplications between federal and state taxes. Mr. Roosevelt as a member of the governors' conference during his two terms as governor of New York has had much discussion of the consequences of these duplications. It is argued that they are not only irritating but that they result sometimes in overloading convenient sources of revenue. Complaint is being made on this score about the gasoline tax. State officials have objected to the recent invasion of this field by the federal government. Some argue that duplication results in serious variations from state to state which have a dislocating effect on business and causes injustice. In Mobile, Alabama, for instance, when the automobile owner puts a gallon of gasoline in his tank he pays the following taxes: Federal, 1 cent; state 6 cents; county 1-2 cents; city 1 cent, total 9-2 cents. Figuring ordinary gasoline at 10 cents a gallon, that is almost a 100 per cent tax.

Thirteen states add their own taxes to those of the federal government on cigars. Whether cigars are a necessity or a luxury is presumably a matter of individual taste. On an ordinary 15 cent package of cigars the federal tax is 6 cents. One state tax runs as high as 5 cents. That makes a total tax of 11 cents on a 15 cent article. The smoker who consumes one pack of 15 cent cigars daily pays $40.15 a year in cigars taxes in Arkansas and $29.20 cents a year in Kansas, Ohio and Utah.

Chief Hope
The chief hope is that by cooperating there can be a general division of taxes. In plainer language it is thought that the taxpayer might not mind so much if the federal government searched one pocket while the state tax collectors went through the other pocket, instead of the two fighting now to get into both pockets at the same time. When taxpayers in 23 states finish making out their federal income tax returns, they can then have a large sigh and turn to filling out their state income tax blanks. Boxing tickets carry federal taxes plus state taxes in twenty-one states. The federal government and a varying number of states double up in taxing general admissions, automobile, bond and stock issues and transfers, candy, deeds, fire-insurance, foreign insurance premiums, mechanical refrigerators, oleomargarine, playing cards, transportation of oil by pipe line, and malt. The combined federal and state tax on a $1 admission ticket in Mississippi and South Carolina is 20 cents. Federal and state duplications are found also on cameras and lenses, cheese, fur, flour, jewelry, watches, narcotics, radios and photographs, sporting goods, toilet preparations and tires.

Hazel Ruth Phillips Birthday Is Observed

Hazel Ruth Phillips celebrated her ninth birthday with a Valentine party Friday afternoon. After several games had been played, guests were invited to the dining room where the birthday cake was cut and served with hot chocolate. Candy and valentines were given to those present. Attending the party were Edna McKeen, Janice Carmack, Nell Ruth Hewart, Marguerite Glendening, Dorothy Bugg, Margaret Smith, Billie Boy Phillips, Dorothy Carmack, Brookdale Nell Phillips, and the hostess.

Start Next Week
Oil bills were introduced to repeal the production law and to divorce filling stations from other branches of the oil industry. Electrification would be abolished under a bill calling for hanging in county jails between 11 a. m. and sunset. Robbery by firearms would have a death penalty only on second offense under another bill.

Ten years in which to pay taxes that were delinquent on February 1, this year, is given in a bill providing for payment in ten installments; first to be made by June 30. Bills creating an appointive state utility commission of three members and one prohibiting rate discrimination by utilities between communities were offered.

It will cost less to run an old automobile than a new one, if another bill of the day becomes law. It makes the license fee on any passenger car the first two years $6 a year; $5 a year for the third and fourth years and $4 a year after that. Single number plates for motorcycles, trailers, semi-trailers and tractors are proposed in another.

Representative Harry Graves of Georgetown offered the bill sponsored by the state efficiency committee reorganizing the entire state government into 19 departments. Another bill proposes to have a central mailing bureau for the Austin departments. Escheat of unclaimed funds on deposit and of proceeds of sales of stored property over the amount of charges is called for in a bill.

Another proposes repeal of the state barber board law. An election bill is sponsored as curing an alleged defect under which errors made in certification by election officers cannot now be remedied. A tax on acrobatic performance is another revenue measure put in the house bill hopper. Another would require the state to maintain highways as they pass through cities of 10,000 population.

PASTORS' CONFERENCE CALLED FOR MONDAY

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the Big Spring Pastors' Conference will be held Wednesday morning at 11:30 at the East Fourth Street Baptist church. Rev. Woodie W. Smith will be the host and have charge of the morning devotions. All pastors of the county are urged to be present.

Fourteen Bills Of Indictment Returned

Fourteen bills of indictment were returned by the 32nd special district court grand jury in session Thursday and Friday. No capias had been returned to District Clerk Hugh Dubberly Saturday afternoon. Two indictments were for driving while intoxicated. Two were on charges of burglary, while only one dealt with a violation of the liquor laws. Others charged forgery or attempting to pass forged instruments.

China is about six times as large as the state of Texas.

"I want my telephone put back, please"

HARDLY a day passes but that some person who gave up his telephone service in recent months orders it restored. In many cases, people feel that it is false economy to be without a telephone... that the small cost of the service is repaid many times each month in convenience, in time and actually in money saved. Others mention the loss of many pleasant, impromptu social "get-togethers" when their friends are unable to reach them by telephone. It is all true... what these customer friends of ours say. Telephone service costs so little and its value is so great that in most instances it really doesn't pay to try to do without it. If you are missing your telephone... just get in touch with our business office. We'll send a man out with a telephone in a hurry. Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

CHAPTER XXIX

Jerry, wearing a dinner coat, looking assured and elegant, sat at a table close to the square cleared for the dancers. At his side was a young girl in a pretty yellow dress. A very pretty girl.

She could scarcely believe her eyes. Jerry here in New York! He knew her address yet he had not tried to reach her. Of course he had no way of knowing that she would be dancing at this club.

She tried to think. Had Jerry recognized her? There was no time to speculate. The master of ceremonies was nodding to the orchestra, raising one hand to quiet the applause. Again the spotlight crossed the floor to find Ted and Sheila. Again they were dancing.

The encore was an Apache number, requiring only the swiftest changes of costume. Ted had caught up a hat and Sheila a handkerchief which she tied about her waist. They circled the floor in perfect union. Ted bent over Sheila, manfully but without touching her. Sheila evaded gracefully.

Suddenly Ted seized her, swung her roughly this way and that. She slid across the floor, crumpled easily and waited. He caught her up again and they danced together. She swayed past the table where Jerry sat, paused, could have touched him but did not meet his eyes. Did he recognize her?

Only when at last the dance was ended and she and Ted ran forward to receive the burst of applause was Sheila sure that Jerry knew her. She sat at one of the tables, Ted Rodney opposite. Now the men and women who had been watching them were dancing. She saw Jerry excuse himself from the others at his table. He was making his way across the room toward her.

"But I did call you," he was insisting a few minutes later. "I called the minute I got in. They told me you were dancing here and that's why we came."

"Who is 'we'?"

"My sisters and my brother-in-law." He explained that Marcia, the older of his two sisters, was married and the other man in the party was her husband. The girl in yellow was his sister, Jean.

Jerry added that he had rearranged their plans for the evening, insisting that they should come to the Club Volens in order to see Sheila dance.

The situation was awkward. Then Ted Rodney saved the day. "Won't you all down?" he said to Jerry. A few minutes later Ted drifted away. He and Sheila had danced their last number for that evening.

The girl looked across at Jerry.

He had come to New York without writing to her. This was the trip that had been planned so that he might see her yet here he was with a group of friends, talking to her only because chance had brought them together.

She could not believe that he had telephoned.

"I don't want to keep you from your friends," Sheila said, half-rising to end the conversation.

Jerry rose too and stood beside her. He seemed relieved. Wasn't he going to introduce her to his sisters?

Apparently he was not. "It's been great to see you again, Sheila," he said. "I'll call you tomorrow."

She told him any time in the morning would do. As she watched him rejoin his party she was sure that he would not call. Well, she would save her face there. She would not be at home to miss the call!

Trying to the dressing room Sheila slipped a nickel in the coin telephone and gave the Samper's number.

Tillie answered the call. Sheila asked shakily, "May I come up and stay all night? Something has happened. Oh, no—it isn't serious! I just don't want to be alone."

Tillie Samper said cheerily that they would be glad to have her. Was she afraid to come to the Heights alone? If so one of them would be glad to call for her.

"I'll take a taxi," Sheila said wearily. "I'm all in anyhow."

Two hours later she was crying herself to sleep in Tillie's bed.

"Why don't you stay here all the time, Sheila?" the sisters suggested. The suggestion seemed a good one. The following Saturday Sheila moved her trunk to the Samper apartment.

Jerry telephoned to Ma Lowell's rooming house twice. The second time Sheila was there and talked to him. No, she said, she wasn't angry. She had engagements, that was all. She should have let her know when he was coming.

"You are being silly," Jerry told her, laughing. It was not a serious matter to him. "Why not have dinner with me tonight?"

"You mean with you and your sisters?"

"Hardly! How on earth could we talk with them around?"

"When am I going to meet them?" she asked in a voice she scarcely recognized as her own.

"I don't know. Do you really want to?"

"Of course."

"Well, then I'll fix it up some time, but that's not the point. I want to know if you're dining with me tonight?"

"Call me at 6," Sheila told him. At 5:30 she slipped into a movie theater, feeling very forlorn indeed. Thus she missed Jerry's call and wept because she missed him.

Sheila found that living with the Sampers was pleasant. The girls' father and mother were old-fashioned parents. They had lived in the same spacious apartment for years. Mr. Samper at one time had had holdings of considerable value on New York's lower East Side. Recently these had shrunk. He had retired and with the salary the girls earned the family lived as comfortably as before.

None of the sisters were beautiful but all were attractive. They had found themselves on the stage by unusual circumstances. Tillie, Clara and Evelyn, riding together on a Fifth Avenue bus and thinking themselves the only passengers, had been crooning to each other in close harmony. It happened that Jake Tolman, a theatrical agent, sitting a few seats behind, heard them. It was not until the bus had reached Washington Heights that he had convinced them he was not a masquerade on a cheap flirtation.

Even then they declined to give him their names. Gradually he followed to their address, learned their name and eventually won Mrs. Samper's favor. He promised that if the girls would let him act as their agent they could go on the stage as headliners. They would never have to begin on a lower rung of the ladder.

They appeared on Broadway first in a musical show, a fast moving, nautical piece in which they were an instant hit. Mother Samper, in a hired car, escorted them to and from the theater. Thus they seldom met other stage folk.

The five girls crooned in close harmony but only four signed with Jake. This left the fifth for fill-in dates. Any one of the girls could take a night off without even asking permission. The fifth took her place and no one could tell the difference.

Sheila roomed with Eva, the youngest and prettiest Samper. She liked the neighborhood, the friendliness and the homelike atmosphere in which she found herself.

Jim Blaine, back in town, came to see Sheila and after that dropped in frequently.

"I believe he likes Tillie," Eva confided. Jim admitted as much

PA'S SON-IN-LAW

Now I understand why Dr. Holden recommended it. It will be one of the most enjoyable books on the list.

I want to recommend it to all other West Texans and to all people who like adventure stories, from the ages of 10 to 100. Its advantage over the average story of early Texas is that it is written by a man who knew how to write. Jennings was a well-educated Easterner who came to Texas soon after the Civil War and became a Texas Ranger. Afterward he went back East and worked on a New York newspaper. One day he decided to put his Texas experiences into book form. He knew how to write and also how to select incidents of stirring interest, and for this reason the story carries on along breathless pace of a fictitious adventure yarn.

I also want to commend the Southwest Press for the extremely readable form in which the book has been reprinted. The good quality of paper, the generous spacing of the lines, and the general attractiveness of a book as a whole also the splendid introduction by J. Frank Dobie make it a book that one enjoys reading, enjoys owning and would also enjoy buying as a gift.

Mrs. Benbow Entertains The Friday Contract Club

The Friday Contract Club met with Mrs. Paige Benbow this week and played in her apartment at the Settles Hotel.

Mrs. Beth H. Parsons was the highest scorer.

Delicious refreshments were served to Miss V. H. Flewelling, Albert M. Fisher, R. Homer McNew, Garland Woodward, C. W. Cunningham, Seth H. Parsons and George Wilks.

Mrs. J. D. Bass will be the next hostess.

Ralph Shuffler, publisher of the Odessa News-Times, was in Big Spring Friday afternoon to meet Walter D. Cline of Wichita Falls, who arrived on the 4:40 train and was carried to Odessa by Mr. Shuffler to deliver the principal address at a Chamber of Commerce banquet Friday evening.

Mrs. Bob Walters, of Chicago, is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. L. Rogers, and her friend, Mrs. J. L. Webb.

The committee will consist of five, or more, members and be composed of bankers, business men, and farmers, with three members constituting a quorum, with authority to consider applications, approve or reject, and to make recommendation to this corporation on the applications approved.

Congress has made an appropriation of $75,000,000 for the use of the secretary of agriculture to make crop production loans, and we assume that the chairman who served on the committee for that purpose last year will be again requested to serve in like capacity this year. It is suggested that we do not ask one man to serve as chairman of both committees, though no doubt men who have served on the crop production loan committee, will make valuable members on your committee, if they are in position to render that service.

Applications when received by the committee will be considered on the information and facts as set out in the application, and on all applications tentatively approved, subject to inspection of the lands where the crops will be raised, and collateral offered; said committee will request an inspection, and upon receipt of the inspector's report, will make final approval or rejection after inspection, and if approved, make their recommendation to this corporation that the loan be made.

4. The inspector will be appointed and paid by this corporation and will be an employee of this corporation, and will make confidential reports to this office, and be, in all things, subject to the instructions of this corporation and its management.

5. All local expenses other than the payment for the services of the inspector, will be taken care of locally, and applicants will pay for recording fees, and other necessary expenses for the closing of their loans.

6. All applications for loans, after approval and recommendation of county or district committees, must be approved by the loan committee of this corporation, before said loans are closed.

County or district committees will submit to this corporation all applications for loans of $1,000 or more, with its recommendation, and statement of any necessary conditions to be imposed, for the approval of the loan committee of this corporation, before requesting an inspection.

Generally speaking, it is not intended that the regional agricultural credit corporations will handle "split lines" of credit. A regional agricultural credit corporation should either meet all of the applicant's current borrowing requirements of a character which would be classified as "agricultural loans" or none of them.

7. Loans should be made for the period of time such loans are customarily made in the locality, or drawn to maturity at such time liquidation of the loans may be expected from the crops at the usual time of marketing. The rate of interest at this time is 1 1/2 per cent per annum. Banks for the use of the applicants in filing applications, and other forms for the use of the inspector, and the notes and chattel mortgages for closing the loans will be furnished by this office. All papers in connection with the loan, we take it, will be prepared and handled by the committee serving the applicant.

present there is no hope in this direction." Paul-Boncour told a friend who asked him about M. de Jouvenel's mission: "It's just wasted effort and Italian Fascism will follow its own road to the end."

Fascism

Fascism becomes in all things more intransigent and the dictatorship more rough. Not only are members of the Senate and the Assembly nominated by the government and all the forms of free election abolished, but even the small local administrations are entirely in the hands of the Fascist machinery. Of course the press may print nothing without official approval.

A recent official decree announces that all posts in the service of the state will hereafter be reserved exclusively for members of the Fascist party. No one will be permitted to compete for such a job unless he can produce a party registration card.

Such a policy has sometimes been adopted in countries where political conditions created an emergency but this is the first time in modern history that it has been given the force of legal sanction.

Indulgences

The declaration by Pope Pius XI that 1933 will be a "Holy Year" took Europe by surprise. There is nothing in Catholic tradition to a count for it. There is much in economic conditions to make the designation a matter of interest.

The faithful who visit Rome during the Holy Year, April 2, 1933—April 2, 1934, will be granted full remission of sins if they make three visits to one or more of four Roman churches designated for the purpose. The encyclical provides that this can be accomplished by visiting the same church three times in one day. At the same time all indulgences are suspended in all other churches throughout the world. A voyage to Rome is the only way in which remissions may be secured.

The day that L'Osservatore Romano published the encyclical it also announced the formation of a committee under Vatican auspices to encourage tourist trips to Rome. All the tourist agencies of Italy have been mobilized to develop the movement. But there is no certainty as to the financial success of the Jubilee under present world conditions of impoverishment.

Hungary

The Archduke Otto of Hapsburg, son of the last Austrian Emperor, stirred up quite a furore by a recent ignominious visit to Berlin. He travelled under the name of the Duke de Bar, which was the title used by the old Emperor Francis Joseph on his unofficial jaunts.

Otto's mother, the Empress Zita, issued a statement to the effect that the Archduke's visit had no purpose except to gather material for his Doctor's thesis at the University of Louvain.

This statement was taken with salt. Zita's most ardent ambition is to gain the throne of Hungary for her eldest son. She is a loyal Catholic and has strong sympathies in Vatican and especially Jesuit circles. But her problem is very difficult. She has eight children and no money, and the Hungarian monarchists need financing.

German and Austro-Hungarian reactionaries have tried to get together on a plan for royal restorations, but so far without appreciable results.

Germany

Germany is following up her claim for equality of armaments by naming military and naval attaches to her most important embassies. These jobs do not go to colonels or smaller fry. Nothing but generals will do, and frequently generals of considerable distinction. The general assigned to Washington has had a wide experience of international military questions, especially in connection with the League of Nations.

This gesture has caused unfriendly comment in interested European quarters.

England

David Lloyd George at 70 is still busy pouring forth political vitriol in speeches, articles and interviews. He carries on although his only following in the House of Commons consists of three members of his family. His theme song is the collapse of the Liberal Party, which he says has no further reason to exist since it has abandoned free trade principles.

It is true that the Liberal Party has nearly disappeared but Lloyd George himself had as much to do with that as anyone. All his political life he has been very adept at swapping policies but has always leaned to socialism rather than traditional British Liberalism. The present day Liberals—made from the tiny Lloyd George group—are nothing more than Conservatives who still pay lip service to former party principles.

Customs Union

Nearly all of the 35 counties in Europe have adopted high tariff policies, which have added to the economic chaos. Now an effort is being made to bring together Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg in a free trade Customs Union.

Population is extremely dense in these three countries. The three are equal to the state of Maine but together have an area approximately their combined population is nearly as great as that of New York and Illinois combined.

A vote was taken among the leading merchants and manufacturers of the three nations: as to the desirability of a customs union. Eighty-seven per cent were in favor of it, 6 per cent against it and 7 per cent did not vote. Curiously, the percentages of the vote were almost exactly the same in both Holland and Belgium.

If this economic union works out it will be the first effort at reconstruction along these lines in Europe. It may become very important as a practical example to other nations.

Fat

Roumania is in a desperate financial and economic condition, surrounded by potential enemies and torn by internal dissension. But it seems—according to an official government communique—that the principal worry of the King and his court is the tendency of Crown Prince Michael to get too fat.

The communique formally announced that neither diet nor exercise—nor even the assignment of a Colonel to instruct the Prince in Swedish gymnastics—have prevented His Royal Highness from continuing to put on weight. Other measures are put at but delighted Europe asks "What measures?"

Czecho-Slovakia

Czecho-Slovakia is to embark on an ambitious publicity campaign in the United States. Having learned a lesson from the sad experience had in launching inspired glorification of the Czechs will confine themselves to strictly commercial propaganda featuring their export articles.

The Czechs and Slovaks are the only people among the debtors of the United States who can really meet their obligations by an increase of exports to that country. This could be effected even under present tariff conditions. (Copyright McClure Newspaper-Syndicate)

In boards in the airport operations office where maps and other notices will be posted immediately upon receipt, and to provide supply of additional copies of the map sufficient to meet the requirements of everyone engaged in flying.

Meanwhile, in recognition of the fact that the maps are very much desired by operating personnel at the airport and that the delivery of the map from point of reception is not adequate the department is looking into the matter of providing a messenger service covering immediate delivery of maps to the airports as soon as they are received and duplicated at the radio station.

Messenger Plan

"We are not at all sure that the expense of this messenger service will be such as to permit us to continue it until the time distant control is installed and the communication station located at the airport, but if it is found to be a considerable improvement over the present situation it may be necessary for us to ask the cooperation of the airport and transport companies in the matter of continuing the messenger service on its equivalent," wrote Mr. Neely.

The most benumbing thing that can happen to the human intellect and the greatest danger to our state and to our political estate is a feeling of futility of the social and political order. We view the paradox of the world's greatest nation filled with poverty and suffering in the midst of plenty. If an organization is contributing anything worth maintaining at a time like this it certainly should be.

Rehearsals Advance For Lions Club Home Talent Show Friday, Saturday

Rehearsals for "Henry's Wedding," home talent show to be staged here Thursday and Friday are being held regularly under the direction of Miss Papes. Proceeds from the show will go to the Lions club milk fund and to a fund for under privileged children work.

Besides the regular cast to appear in the comedy, more than a score prominent Big Spring professional and business men will take part in the production as distinguished guests at the wedding. Each is to be garbed in an outlandish garb of the gay nineties, some masquerading as belles of a merrier day.

Special musical numbers are being arranged featuring a quartet composed of R. T. Cardwell, E. W. Potter, E. B. Bethell, and Herbert Gush. They will be assisted by a group of high school chorale club members.

The Mystic Shine, colored clique, will inject a bit of negro lore into proceedings when the shrine is summoned to solve the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the leading character.

First performance is Thursday evening and the second and last will be given the next evening. W. C. Blankenship, as the 1930 traffic cop, will be special announcer of the "beaus and belles of grandmother's time." Among those taking part in this feature are R. L. LeFever, Wendell Bedichek, Dr. E. O. Ellington, E. B. Ribble, J. E. Payne, John Colin, H. C. Hooser, L. B. Edwards, L. L. Gulley, Harry Lester, C. T. Watson, Clyde Tingle, Eddie Price, Dr. W. B. Hardy, Gordon Graham, W. R. tainly should receive the thought and assistance of everyone. "I wonder if we should not stop considering this period as a depression. It is a depression and plus. We may as well admit that this is a real revolution covering your community, state and nation. It is wonderful that we have ability to absorb punishment. If we had more Latin blood in us rather than the more stable Anglo-Saxon foundation we might be more demonstrative at this time. That is the difference between a peaceful and demonstrative revolt.

Revels "Iowa boasts of more native born residents and a greater proportion of home-owners than any other state. Yet it is in Iowa where we have taken the law into our own hands. Whether we agree with actions taken there or not it is a revolt against organized society. Can't we agree that the only other time this condition existed a wise God, who in my opinion is still running this show, sent his own Son to solve the problem?"

"It is not loss of material wealth that is hurting us. What really happened in that in 1928 and 1929 we were flying in a direction that could not have kept the government together another generation. God knew that and we have been given a well-deserved spanking. Now that we've gotten it let us hope that we will quit measuring success in material things and begin to put first things first, and go back to what our mothers said was right all the time. We've had what we West Texas well diggers call having our ear knocked down. "We have lost nothing worthwhile. If we made our last will and testament we would bequeath

By Herald Reviewer If physical fear motivates spiritual repentance, Cecil B. DeMille's stupendous cinema, "Sign of the Cross" will cause many to halt on the "broad road" that leads to death, and ponder upon the efficacy of the mode of life that brings one to the "straight and narrow path."

Preview of the picture, to be shown at the Ritz Theater here at a 11:30 p. m. matinee Saturday, February 25 and through Sunday and Monday, February 26 and 27, was witnessed Saturday morning at the Ritz by fifty persons invited by the management.

Mr. DeMille's technique varies none from that employed in his pictures "The King of Kings" and "The Ten Commandments."

He translates profane and inspired history of a medieval period into modern speech, knowing all the while that the passions of the men and women who act in his picture will be identical with those who witness the picture in the year 1933 A. D.

Speech is modern, but scenes, dress and plot are as of the year 64 A. D.

Christianity vs. Paganism is the conflict that moves the narrative. Scenes and lines that are beautiful the finest educational system the world ever saw, the finest churches the world ever saw, the greatest means of communication, the greatest physical properties, the finest agricultural development—everything except the idea that we could grow up and ignore cultural, moral and spiritual things and get away with it."

lifel, sensuous, virtuous, depraved, cruel, unselfish. Scenes and lines of beauty, of depravity, of cruelty, of virtue, all are molded in this picture into a spectacle that pricks the physical senses into alternate reactions that cause one to shudder, to applaud, to weep, to hope, to fear.

Opinion of the clergy, one may easily understand, will differ upon the merits of the picture as an evangelic vehicle. The proposition will be, it appears to this reviewer, whether it is expedient, or right, to employ scenes and words that are un-Christian as well as anti-Christian, in an effort to more indelibly impress the futility of satisfying the fleshly appetites.

But, upon the question of whether the picture succeeds in being absorbingly entertaining, there can hardly be any doubt.

Strongest argument in support of the worthiness of the picture from the viewpoint of the teacher or believer in Christianity, will be that creature of flesh and blood must, after all, digest spiritual food as fleshly creatures; that spiritual food must be served so as to bring understanding of its power and saving influence in terms of the physical.

Frederic March as Marcus Superbus, Elissa Landi as Merida, Claude Colbert as Poppaea, the empress; Charles Lington as Nero, Ian Keith as Tigellinus, Vivian Tobin as Dacla, Harry Beresford, Ferdinand Gottschalk as Glabrio Arthur Hohl as Titus, Joyzelle as Anarcia, Tommy Conlon as Stephanus, Nat Pendleton as Strabo, Clarence Burton as Servilius, William V. Mong as Licinius, Harold Healy as Tibull, Richard Alexander as Vitellius, Robert Manning as Philodemus and Joe Tomoms as The Mute Giant, with 7,500 extra people, are seen in the picture.

whose helpless beauty is pitted against frenzied beast, passionate life at the summit and depths of depravity, are all molded into the spectacle. The suffering of martyred Christians and their passive battle against the pagans, are etched with fire and blood.

Justice Department Probes Further Into Extortion Of Lindy

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—Two United States government investigators moved about in unannounced quarters Saturday in their investigation of the Roanoke extortion plot against Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

John M. Keith, investigator from the department of justice and T. N. Stapleton, district agent, questioned Joe Bryant one of the suspects, for more than two hours Saturday.

Keith said from testimony Bryant gave he could not link the suspects with the kidnaping of the first Lindbergh son.

COSDEN LIQUID GAS OILS WHERE HAVE THOSE DOLLARS GONE that used to circulate freely in business channels? Well, it is conservatively estimated that $145,000,000 left here last year for gasoline manufactured elsewhere and brought into Big Spring. Had these thousands of dollars, representing prices at refinery, been spent for COSDEN LIQUID GAS, made in Big Spring, they would be here now, circulating.

The Comforts of the American Home

IT IS a well-known fact that, home for home, the American household has more comforts and conveniences than that of any other nation. In foreign lands the modernized dwelling is found only in the better sections of the larger cities. In America, even in remote rural districts, you find the radio, the vacuum cleaner, washing machines, up-to-date heating systems, telephones and numberless labor-saving appliances. There is a well-kept look about residence, store or outbuildings with an atmosphere of prosperity and content. Did you ever stop to realize why this is so; how this condition was brought about? It is largely due to advertising. And a big share of the credit belongs to newspaper advertising. Stop and think how many of the foods you eat, the things you wear and other articles entering into your every-day life, you first heard of through newspaper advertisements. You will then realize what a part they do play, or should play, in your daily life. Read the advertisements in the newspapers regularly and thoroughly, if you are not already doing so. They mean more to you than you can tell.

Six Boy Scout Troops Attend City Churches

Part Of Anniversary Week Observance Calls For Services

Boy Scouts of six Big Spring troops will attend as many churches in troops Sunday evening as part of Boy Scout anniversary week.

Pastors of various churches are planning special services for the boys, pastors of the city having heartily endorsed the affair in regular conference.

Troop No. 1 with V. O. Hennes as scoutmaster will attend the First Presbyterian church. Troop No. 2 with Rev. D. R. Lindley as scoutmaster will listen to their leader preach in the First Christian church. Troop No. 3 with Raymond McDaniel as scoutmaster will attend the First Methodist services. Troop No. 4 will stay at their Fourth Street Baptist quarters with D. J. Wright acting as scoutmaster. Troop No. 5 with Joe Pickle as scoutmaster will hear Rev. R. E. Day of the First Baptist church deliver an address. Troop No. 7 with John R. Hutto as scoutmaster will probably attend services at the Mexican Baptist church.
