

LEAGUE OF NATIONS COUNCIL HOLDS ITS FIRST MEETING

FLU CASES IN CHICAGO ARE INCREASING

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—A marked increase is reported today in the number of deaths in Chicago from influenza and pneumonia, five of these being from influenza alone. One death is reported at the Great Lakes naval training station which has been quarantined. The influenza cases are of the abdominal type, resembling cholera, but less dangerous, the health authorities report that they have found following an investigation.

TELLS PLAN OF WORK OF STATE CONTROL BOARD

AUSTIN, Jan. 16.—Those who expected immediate and sensational evidence of the hand of the board of control in the management of state affairs are likely to be disappointed, according to S. B. Cowell, chairman of the board.

This body is a pioneer on an explored path, Mr. Cowell said, and each step is being taken carefully. Not the smallest task which confronts the board is keeping within the funds provided for it. With half of the $60,000 appropriated directly to the board for the next two years required to pay the salaries of the three members, and a portion of the appropriations for the four abolished departments expended before the board took control, finances of the body "look bleak, if not tight." Mr. Cowell said that by consolidating the four departments several clerks and stenographers can be eliminated, but even this step has to be taken slowly, for the work formerly done by the departments must be continued, and the board is in the position of the man who has to live in his house while it is being remodeled.

The board is in operation, however, and the best proof of this is the fact that opposition to their actions is developing according to Mr. Cowell. The recent decision of the board that all those submitting competitive bids for state contracts will be required to submit a sworn affidavit that they have not violated the anti-trust laws and have not communicated their bid to a competitor "has been met with a subtle opposition," he said. Heretofore bidders have merely submitted statements, and there has always been more or less gossip of collusion in bidding.

Refusal of consents to meet the new requirements would be practical admission of the truth of this gossip, Mr. Cowell said, and too much opposition to the filing of the affidavits, which is in strict compliance with the law "may lead to investigations with possible unpleasant disclosures." Contracts for practically all state supplies and work done for the state are awarded upon bids, and if this bidding will have taken a long stride towards justifying its existence," according to Mr. Cowell.

The order issued to superintendents of state institutions and such departments to come under the jurisdiction of the board that all contemplated purchases be submitted to the board for approval has also brought a protest. Some of the superintendents said that they cannot comply with the provisions of the new law.

New Is Given Life Term by the Jury

His mother, Mrs. Lillian M. Berger, was not present. The court room was crowded to the doors and the verdict was read under dramatic circumstances.

They will be on sale at the Texas Real Estate company's office, as well as the Chamber of Commerce and other places to be named later.

64 Square Miles Now Embraced in Desdemona Field

FORT WORTH, Jan. 16.—Approximately sixty-four square miles of territory in Eastland, Erath and Comanche counties is now embraced in the Desdemona field. A very small percentage of this territory is actually producing oil in any great quantity now, but there is some production over most of the territory extending from the Jordan well in Eastland county south to the Jaynes well of the Leon Oil company in Comanche county, and from the Weaver well in Erath county west to the Erwin well of the Magnolia Petroleum company. It is approximately eight miles between the extreme northern and southern outposts of production, and about the same distance across the field east and west.

There are two points of particular interest just now in the field. One is around the Jordan well, northern tip of production, which has just been brought in, and the other is around the Carruth and Erwin tracts, four miles west of town, which form the western outpost of production.

DORSEY SELLS MAIN ST. LOT FOR $100,000

The 59 by 140-foot lot at the intersection of Main and Austin streets, on which the P. & Q. Realty building and the Texas Drug company building now stand, has been sold by E. N. Dorsey, rig contractor, to Bernstein & Weinberg, local jewelers, for a consideration of $100,000. The deal was made directly between the parties concerned.

Bernstein & Weinberg are now negotiating for the purchase of the building, located on the lot. This makes the second $100,000 lot sold here in the last few weeks.

The corner lot directly across Austin street from the P. & Q. building recently sold for $100,000 to Simon and Seng, of Dallas, through the Craven-Marowitz Realty company.

Bernstein & Weinberg came here from Kansas City several months ago and opened a high class jewelry store in the P. & Q. building. They have been so impressed with the possibilities and future of the town that they decided to acquire some business property. The lot which they now own is one of the best in the city.

Marines Aid In Stopping 300 Haitian Rebels

Meyer No. 7 of the Prairie has a show, from 3,316 to 3,332 feet. In the south field, Sun company's Blackwell No. 3 has gone through the first sand and is drilling black lime at 3,197 feet. It is not making oil, but still has plenty of gas from the upper stratum.

THE HAGUE, Jan. 16.—Unless the Rhine, Meuse and other rivers speedily subside, Holland is threatened by one of the greatest fresh water floods in its history. The recent high water for a brief time receded, after weakening the emergency dikes, and the present high waters greatly endanger them.

IRISH DELEGATES SAY LEAGUE "ILLUSORY" AND U. S. IS INDIGNANT AT IT

PARIS, Jan. 16.—Representatives of France, Great Britain, Italy, Greece, Belgium, Spain, Japan, Portugal and Brazil, members of the council of the League of Nations, met in the cloak room of the French foreign office at 10 o'clock this morning for the first meeting in the history of the league.

The council of the League of Nations received its first formal protest to be presented to it almost before it came into being today.

The protest was from the envoys of the elected government of the Irish republic against "the unreal English simulation of an international league of peace."

The protest insisted that the league was illusory and incomplete, lacking authority and sanction, and declared that the "United States stood out of it in indignation and repudiation."

C. OF C. AND B. M. C. MEN CONSOLIDATE

Agreeing that Ranger cannot get the best results with two organizations representing the Chamber of Commerce and the Business Men's club, the latter a recently organized association, met Thursday and decided on a consolidation, to be celebrated by the booster banquet at which Mayor Bill Davis of Fort Worth has promised to be the principal speaker.

The Chamber of Commerce was represented by Dr. R. H. Hodges, Putnam Learned and George Hemmington; the Business Men's club by M. H. Smith, W. O. McNew, J. W. Jennings, C. P. Ezell and R. W. Mitchell.

A committee was appointed to work on the plans of the booster banquet proposed by the B. M. C. at which the 1920 program of the Chamber of Commerce, including the recently chosen slate of officers, will be submitted to the membership of the consolidated organizations.

Dr. Hodges and Messrs. Hemmington, Smith and Jennings will arrange for the banquet at an early date and similar gatherings will be held by the Chamber of Commerce at frequent intervals to promote civic co-operation and good fellowship.

BRITAIN MUCH WORRIED OVER BOLSHES' GAINS

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The attention of the British people is fixed on the Near East, where the recent Bolshevik successes have carried the Red Russian armies almost to the thresholds of India, Persia, Mesopotamia and Asiatic Turkey. Cabinet members and chiefs of the British army and navy were summoned hastily to Paris yesterday and today are conferring with Premier Lloyd George on military and naval matters in connection with the conditions in southwestern Asia.

THIS "TOUGH GUY" FAILED TO MAKE THE GRADE

DALLAS, Jan. 16.—The persistence of a self-styled "tough bird" from the east, seeking a "hard boiled Texas guy" won for him a "nest" in the city jail here. A patrolman, making his rounds one night, encountered the "tough bird" and inquired of his business.

"I'm looking for some of these hard-boiled Texas guys. I've heard so much about 'em," the visitor replied. "I've been to Fort Worth, but I can't find any there. I'm going to give Dallas the once over and if I don't have any luck here, I am going to Ranger."

"No, you're not. You're going to jail," answered the policeman. The "tough bird" was held on suspicion.

ITALY HAS NOT HAD HER PEACE CELEBRATION

ROME, Jan. 16.—Italy has not yet had its victory celebration. The ceremonies which were to have taken place early this month had to be postponed because of the clamorous incident and the unsettled political conditions. But preparations continue and when the palms of victory are handed to the heroes of the great war early next spring it will be a celebration not excelled since the most glorious days of the Roman empire.

Workmen are now engaged in making highways by which the troops may pass along exactly the route followed by the forces of Titus and Constantine when they returned to Rome along the Appian way and made their way through the Roman forum to the capitol. The victorious army will march under the famous arch of Constantine, through the arch of Titus, past the ruins of the Coliseum, which Titus built after his conquest of Jerusalem, through the historic ruins of the Roman forum, past what remains of the Temple of the Vestal Virgins, to the Capitoline hill to the Altar of the Father and, the monument erected to the illustrious Victor Emmanuel II.

Since the days of the empire the center of Rome has undergone many changes and it will require much temporary reconstruction to make it possible for troops to follow the ancient route of victory. Steps have replaced the ancient highway leading from the Roman forum to the capitol. Consequently it will be necessary to build wooden roads over these to accommodate the cavalry and artillery. Part of this road has already been constructed and rises generally from the ruins of the tribune where Marc Antony delivered the funeral oration over Julius Caesar to the level of the approaches leading to the capitol steps.

Cannon and ammunition carts and motor lorries will replace the chariots and mortars dragged up the famous Capitoline hill centuries ago. There will be no elephants and camels, no prisoners in chains. But aircraft will hover over the ceremony and attest modern man's conquest of the air, even though he has never been able to equal the achievements of pagan Rome when it was capital of the entire known world and all discovered portions of Europe, Asia and Africa were ruled from the very spot where Italian soldiers will receive their palms.

DEPORTED MAY BE TURNED BACK BY RUSS

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Jan. 16.—The radical agitators deported from America will be carefully examined before they are permitted to enter Russia, according to a statement given the Associated Press by M. Kishkin, secretary of the soviet delegation at Dorpat. Soviet Russia will not allow itself to be used as a dumping ground for agitators from America, he said.

PIPE BURSTS, SINCLAIR MAN BADLY HURT

Frank G. Judy, aged 20, a worker for the Sinclair company, suffered a fractured skull yesterday morning, when a stopcock blew off a high-pressure gas line and the pipe, which was suspended from a cable, struck him on the head.

The accident happened on the Ranter-Breckenridge road, about three miles north of town. Judy was brought to the Sinclair hospital, in the north part of town in the ambulance of the Milford Undertaking company.

It is thought that he will recover. He is unmarried and has no relatives here.

THEATERS

LIBERTY THEATER

"Yankee Doodle in Berlin" Back for Showing Today Only.
Some of the most wonderful gowns ever seen on the screen will appear in Mack Sennett's five-part super-comedy, "Yankee Doodle in Berlin," to appear at the Liberty theater today. The gowns are worn by Bothwell Browne, the famous female impersonator who takes the part of a young American aviator who vamped the kaiser in order to learn an important military secret.
"Mamma," complains the crown prince, "Mamma, every girl I get pa takes."

These is more truth than jest in this witty sub-title. The disclosures made since the abdication of the all highest indicate that Mr. Sennett has shown not only a new but a very beautiful angle of the kaiser's character.

Several instances have been recorded—now that the gossip of the palace has been released to the world—where the crown prince and the kaiser were rivals for fair ladies just as shown in this comedy.

In one place in the satire the kaiser is presiding over a war council in which he pauses to divide up the world on a map.

"I will take Europe," he explained in an airy way, "the crown prince the orient, my other sons can use America for golf links."

In another scene the kaiser is annoyed at von Hindenburg, who was interfering with the kaiser's flirtation with a "girl" who was really an American aviator in disguise. "Just for that," he says, "I won't let him lead the parade into Paris."

Iron crosses are the target for another witty jest. In his anxiety to get Hindenburg out of the way, the kaiser tells him to "take a day off and help yourself to an iron cross."

Never before have the pompous ambitions of the Hohenzollerns been so well described as in this five-part comedy-satire.

It is a fact now well known to the diplomatic world that the kaiser actually intended to divide up the whole world with his putty faced sons as assistant rulers. Poland was to have one son as king; a new Balkan empire was to be afflicted with another and so on.

Mr. Sennett has come nearer sounding the keynote of this amazing ego-fist than all the ponderous writers who have filled volumes with the glories and the misdeeds of the Hohenzollerns.

LONE STAR THEATER

That the path of a leading woman is not always lined with roses, Alice Lake, who has the leading role opposite Bert Lytell in his newest Screen Classics, Inc., production,

"Lombardi, Ltd.," can truthfully testify.

Playing in such a luxurious production as "Lombardi, Ltd.," one would suspect that Miss Lake would be adorned in gorgeous gowns and sparkling jewels. But, no. All the other girls in the cast wear the prettiest and society grand dames, and the way they flaunt their finery is a caution to Tito Lombardi, exclusive modist and her costume is a plain little blue frock with white collar and cuffs. She is like a modern Cinderella in the midst of a flock of step-sisters.

QUEEN THEATER

A story of the old west—the west of yesterday—the west of the day when the thousands flocked to the gold fields of California in '48—is what will be recounted on the screen of the Queen theater when "When a Woman Strikes" is presented by the management as the special attraction today. Four stars of the screen seen in action—Ben Wilson, Rosemary Theby, Neva Gerber and Murdock MacQuarrie.

TEXAS THEATER

Agnes Geary scored another big hit last night at the Texas theater. The packed house gave her such a well come on her appearance that on needed cotton in one's ears to keep from being made deaf. She sang a duet with Lew Morgan, entitled "I the Old Sweet Way," which everyone appreciated immensely. Harry Fieldman also made his appearance last night. He is one of these "I work once a week genius," but when he does, as he did last night, he certainly makes up for lost time. He was a laugh when he appeared on the stage and a riot when he opened his mouth.

Tonight's bill is "The Telephone Tangle," a very funny comedy. Saturday night they play for their closing bill in Ranger, "The New Troop."

Select Picture, adapted for the screen by Eve Unsell from Victoria Portons' popular novel of the same name, will be shown here at the Hippodrome theater tonight as a feature attraction.

The story deals with the struggles of a nobler nature of a young girl fought up amid the temptations of a gambling house conducted by her uncle, a prominent figure in New York's tenderloin. Bella Gerelle (Alice Brady), leads men on to play in her uncle's gambling house although her soul revolts at the thought of the ruin which she ultimately brings to many of the habitués. One of the most frequent visitors, Richard Bretton, falls in love with her, and in spite of her protests, goes to every length to provide her with costly gifts. His thefts lead him into court, where Judge Roverton, because of Bretton's youth and previously fine record, suspends sentence.

Tonight's bill will be a corker program—"Belle of Broadway." The company is more together on this bill than any that they have put on since their stay. This is also cabaret night.

TRAVELING IN ITALY IS LIKE A BAD DREAM

By PERCIVAL PHILLIPS, International News Service.

ROME, Jan. 16.—Traveling in Italy is still far from being a pleasure. Trains are crowded and noisy. You meet keen American banking agents, English commercial men, quite a number of French and even a few German representatives on the main highways. The Germans are creeping back slowly. Two of them sat in the lounge of a Rome hotel last night within arm's length of a British officer, and talked loudly of the "failure" of British policy in Syria.

The American "travellers" are driven to despair. Those I have met are making lightning trips to Italy and France for a rapid survey of the financial situation. They want to dart about as they do at home. Slow trains madden them; their passports drive them to despair.

The authorities make things as easy as possible. They are invariably courteous and helpful. Yet the regulations in themselves make traveling a leisurely business.

Departure by boat is an even greater trial. A good many people are waiting just now to go to Egypt. Permission is fairly easy to obtain; a berth is far harder. A fortnightly service from Taranto and another from Genoa and Naples are inadequate to carry all who wish to cross the Mediterranean. One company insists on half the passenger money being for food if the ticket holders do not sail. Four British passengers, detained beyond sailing time by congestion on the railways, had to pay $480 for the experience.

Union Printers Called to Meet at 3 p. m. Sunday

A meeting of all journeyman printers in the city has been called for Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock to be held in the Daily Times Annex. Further steps looking toward the organization of a local chapter of the International Typographical union will be taken. Preliminary meetings have already been held some days ago.

The meeting Sunday will be an important one, according to Herbert Foreman, chairman of the Times chapel, and all printers are asked to attend.

OIL PROSPECTORS CALL IN AID OF SPIRITUALIST

CARLINVILLE, Ill.—A group of Macoupin county oil prospectors gave Walton La Rose, a St. Louis spiritualistic medium $200 to come here and locate an oil well by communing with the spirits. Arrayed in an Indian costume, La Rose called up the spirit world but got a wrong number, for the hole he told the prospectors to dig proved a dry one and a very dry one at that. No, the prospectors were not "trough." They said they intended to dig fifteen feet from where the "spirits" indicated, anyway.

BACKACHE AND HEAVY FEELING

Weak, Nervous, Restless Woman in Arkansas Hears of Cardui, Tries It and is Greatly Benefited. Now Recommends It to Others.

Peach Orchard, Ark.—Mrs. Nonie High, who lives near here, states: "Sometime ago I began to have trouble with my back. I would ache and I could hardly get up when down. I was so weak I would just drag around and did not feel like doing anything at all. I was so nervous I felt I could scream, and such a heavy feeling I could not rest at all. It looked like I was going to get down in bed."

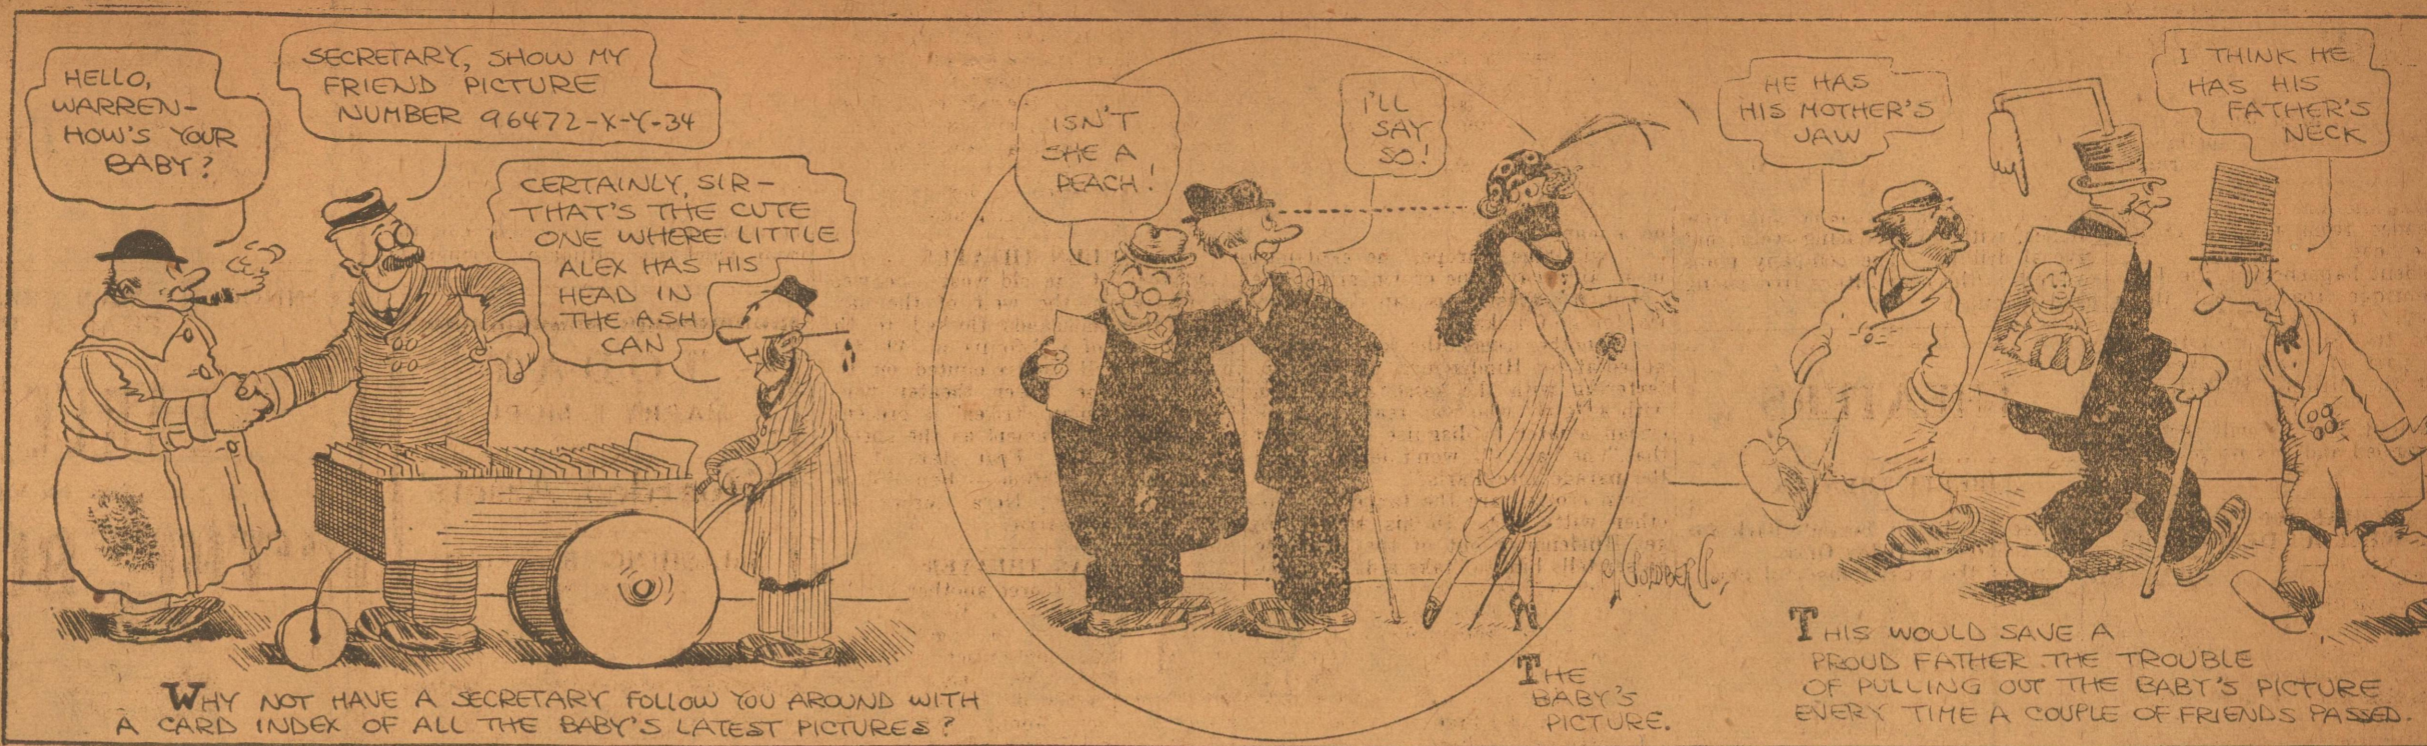

I heard of Cardui and thought I would try it and see what it would do for my case. After taking a few bottles I grew stronger. The bloated, heavy feeling left me. I wasn't so nervous, in fact, felt better all over. I took twelve bottles and certainly was greatly benefited and can recommend it to any one as a tonic or builder. I often tell others how it helped and strengthened me."

Cardui is a mild vegetable tonic, with no bad after-effects. Its ingredients act in a helping, building way, on the womanly constitution.

Ask your druggist. He knows about Cardui. Some druggists have sell it for 50c per bottle. Ask...

Six Cents Pay for Making Shirt

By FLOYD MACGRIFF, International News Service.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Conditions in London's shirt making trade, largely a household industry, in which help-less women are exploited, have not been improved since Thomas Hood wrote his immortal poem, "The Song of the Shirt." That is the finding of the Daily Herald, the labor paper, which has investigated the situation.

"If anything," says the Herald, "conditions have gone from bad to worse, for while wages have been at a standstill, the cost of living and the cost of cotton thread have leaped up."

"Shirtland—this sweated industry—is almost everywhere in London. Every back street in poorer London constitutes one of its thoroughfares. Leytonstone and Peckham, Islington and Hoxton, Poplar and Bow, no matter where you look you'll find broken women, sewing at shirts for as little as 6 cents apiece, giving her soul stitches in a garment for which an affluent man will gladly pay $6.

"What homes! What tragedies they could tell. In one sorry hovel the woman who toiled got ninetence (17 cents) for sewing a dozen shirts. She had to buy her own thread which cost 13 cents, and the spool ran out before she had completed her ninth shirt!

"In another dwelling, a woman said her daughter had been compelled to discontinue shirt making because her health had been broken by it, coupled with lack of sufficient food. The rate of payment was so low that to earn $6.90 she had to make forty dozen shirts.

"Here's a typical case in Peckham: The worker, a frail young woman, not strong enough to undertake harder work, said she made shirts and pajamas, for which her firm paid 8 to 9 cents apiece for the best work. Out of that price comes the cost of her sewing thread and she pays 63 cents weekly on her installment-plan sewing machine. The same firm pays 6 cents each for the sewing together of common shirts. She was working on men's-size pajamas, which required an hour and twenty minutes per pair to complete. She expected to get 10 cents each for the pajamas.

SEA LION HIDE WILL REDUCE COST OF SHOES

International News Service.

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., Jan. 16.—Premier John Oliver has been preaching the advisability of slaughtering sea lions which inhabit the British Columbia coast by thousands and work destruction among the cod, halibut, salmon and other food fish and tanning their hides to reduce the present world leather shortage.

James Cessford, who was once in the business of tanning sea lion hides, declares the industry can be put on an immensely profitable basis. When Cessford went to Alaska for gold during the Klondike stampede he saw vast herds of sea lions on the coasts of Queen Charlotte Sound only a few miles from the terminus of the Grand Trunk Railway. After eighteen years in Alaska, he started a sea lion tannery and made money until he was forced by personal circumstances to abandon the business.

"Three companions and I went on our first sea lion hunt to Queen Charlotte 700 in twenty days. The lions haul out of the sea on the most dangerous rocks to bask in the sun. These rocks are treacherous when the winds sweep the water over them. So there are only about three hours between tides when they can be hunted. The hunters climb upon the rocks above them and from this point of vantage can pick them off at their leisure. The lions always look straight out to sea and never detect the point from which death is being rained upon them. As long as they do not catch a glimpse of the hunters they do not plunge into the ocean, no matter how many of their companions fall about them.

"It takes a crack shot to kill them. Their only vulnerable spot is behind the ears. A bullet planted there cuts the jugular vein. Their hides are so thick that they turn a glancing bullet and if they are only wounded they flop into the water and sink instantly.

"The rocks haunted by the lions on Queen Charlotte Sound are of volcanic origin and their surface is like pulverized glass. It is impossible to slip on them even when they are wet. A pair of boots made of ordinary leather would be cut to pieces on them in a few hours. If cattle used these rocks as bedding places, their hides would be torn to shreds in a short time. But the hides of the lions are not even scratched. This is sufficient to demonstrate the quality of sea lion leather.

"A lion will weigh from 2,000 to 2,500 pounds. The hides are about an inch thick and make the finest of rough leather, such as is used for workmen's gloves and saddles. The chief trouble seems to be that it wears so well that manufacturers of other leathers buck it because it reduces sales.

"The sea lions of this coast would furnish an inexhaustible supply of hides. They should be killed not only because their hides are valuable, but because they destroy thousands of tons of edible fish every season. It takes fifty pounds of fish a day to feed one full-grown lion."

STATISTICS SHOW BIG DECLINE IN INFLUENZA

Good News For Tired Women

Renew Your Strength

It is a fact that any physician can easily verify — by looking over his Case Records — that the majority of women patients who come to him are more or less run down and debilitated, and that his remedies frequently fail to produce permanent and satisfactory results — unless they are supported and supplemented by a course of tonic and systematic strengthening treatment for the whole system, like "REOLO."

Young girls frequently need a tonic treatment during the period of delayed development, or maturity, when the first symptoms of anaemia, or nervous and digestive disorders develop.

A little later, when motherhood, both prospective and present arrives, a strength builder is needed to overcome the debility and maintain the vitality during this wonderful period of woman's existence. A strength renewer is especially needed where motherhood has weakened the resistive powers or where prolonged nursing has made too great a demand upon the mother's system.

Later, during the most critical period of a woman's life — "the change of life" — various serious disturbances are apt to occur; neurasthenia and even insanity manifest themselves.

The weakest point of the body is where the breakdown is most apt to occur, and it is only by the aid of a strengthening and revitalizing tonic and blood builder like "REOLO" that the resistance can be maintained, and this dangerous period bridged over successfully.

Later on, when old age approaches and there is an ever increasing lack of vitality — the exhausted tissue must be given renewed life and activity to enable the body to utilize to the utmost, whatever vitality and energy it still retains.

REOLO

Restores Vigor and Vitality

It has remarkable tonic and reconstructive properties. It improves the appetite, digestion and assimilation; increases the red blood cells and hemoglobin of the blood — tones up the heart and nervous system — and gives renewed strength and vitality.

WEST TEXAS C. OF C.

Ranger has an excellent chance to show the spirit of its business men and the pep that characterizes its every move in the wonder city of the West Texas oil fields by a representative attendance at the banquet of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Thursday, January 22, at Abilene.

Every director of the Chamber of Commerce is pledged to attend, and every Ranger member of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be canvassed on the possibility of being present. But the Ranger delegation should not be limited to these. Every Ranger man who can get away to make the trip, to show the character of the men who are making this city and to help get Ranger representation on the oil and gas board of the West Texas organization, should be there. A hundred members of the W. T. C. of C. all have invitations to the banquet and annual meeting which follows and all have the privilege of bringing one guest, so that provisions will be made for all from Ranger who can go.

If you are able to make the trip, and are not a member of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, or the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, bet in touch with George Hemmingson, at the Chamber of Commerce offices in the Marston building. He will see that you are included in the Ranger delegation.

CIVIC CO-OPERATION.

Evidence of the spirit that will make 1920 the greatest year in the history of Ranger's expansion and progress is afforded in the recent meeting of representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and the newly organized Business Men's club. With no feeling of rivalry, or antagonism, the committees selected by both organizations met and decided that best results would be obtained through amalgamation.

With that intention, a joint committee, representative of the Chamber of Commerce and the membership of the absorbed Business Men's club, was selected, to go ahead with plans for the hogster banquet which had been conceived by the Business Men's club. Programs for 1920 of the Chamber of Commerce will be presented at the banquet.

Other cities, their interest divided between two organizations of business men, divide their strength and find that in the movements calling for greatest effort, that the two camps

SCRIPTURE

Proverbs 4:1-10.
Hear, ye children, the instruction of a father, and attend to know understanding.

For I give you good doctrine, forsake ye not my law.

For I was my father's son, tender only beloved in the sight of my mother.

He taught me also, and said unto me, Let thine heart retain my words: keep my commandments, and live.

Get wisdom, get understanding; forget it not; neither decline from the words of my mouth.

Forsake her not, and she shall preserve thee: love her, and she shall keep thee.

Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom: and with all thy getting, get understanding.

Exalt her, and she shall promote thee: she shall bring thee to honour, when thou dost embrace her.

She shall give to thine head an ornament of grace: a crown of glory shall she deliver to thee.

Hear, O my son, and receive my sayings; and the years of thy life shall be many.

are working at cross purposes. Effort is wasted, the same ground covered twice and time lost in us less dissension.

Ranger has not wasted time with the trial of two commercial clubs, but before the new year is well under way, has brought the two organizations together, to work for the results which were the aims of both. A stronger Chamber of Commerce, representing more far-reaching interests, is the result.

THE DEMOCRATIC TANGLE.

Apparently it is a difficult matter for the democrats to get together. The caucus of the democratic senators at Washington the other day, called for the purpose of selecting a leader to succeed the late Senator Martin of Virginia, resulted in a deadlock with no one being named.

The recent split between President Wilson and William Jennings Bryan indicates the way things are likely to go, if there is not some medium by which the party can get together. The lesson of the split in the republican party through which they lost their chances to send a president to the white house, should be enough in itself to lead the democrats into the light.

This year, of all others, there is need of unity in the democratic ranks, for if the party is to put into the presidential chair its candidate there must be harmony in every sense of the word.

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspirinal, the two-minute cold and cough reliver, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspirinal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.—Advertisement.

revival is not impr.able in Europe if Poland is unable to hold back the onrush of the Russian bolshevik armies, is not enough in itself to be convincing, but without doubt it contains enough of probability and possibility to be disquieting. The advance of the bolshevik armies has apparently been unchecked and if we are to believe the press dispatches, their gains are increasing daily. The situation in Poland is continually growing more serious and General Bliss' statement certainly holds possibilities that should cause reflective thought, however true or untrue it may be.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

The action of the sheriffs and police officers in meeting to formulate some plan whereby the thefts of automobiles may be decreased should meet with the approval of every right-thinking citizen of the state. Automobile thefts have increased in practically every town and city of the state within the past few months, and it is time that some means is devised whereby the punishment for such thefts will be so severe that the miscreant will think long before he takes a car that does not belong to him.

Registration of Autos Shows Big Gain in Texas

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 16. — With 221,000 automobiles registered in 1919 an increase of 30 per cent over the registration of 1918, Texas showed a greater percentage increase than any other state in the union. Tennessee came second with 29 per cent increase, according to statistics of the Texas Highway Department.

Authorities of the department estimate that 70,000 of the motor vehicles registered last year were bought during 1919. They placed the production of automobiles during 1919 at 1,891,920, and said that Texas absorbed nearly one-twentieth of the total number of automobiles produced in the United States during the past year.

Total production for 1920 is expected to reach 2,650,000, and if Texas takes new cars at the same ratio as in 1919, 132,500 new automobiles will come into the state during 1920, and total registrations will hover around 450,000, according to predictions of highway officials.

With reports for 1919 still coming from counties, early in January, total motor vehicle registrations were 230,115; transfers 67,101; chauffeur's license 25,552; motorcycles 3,874; dealers' license 3,270.

Nationwide Prohibition Will Become Reality in U. S. Tomorrow

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. — Enforcement of nationwide prohibition, which becomes the law of the land today, will not begin until 12:01 a. m. on January 17, it was announced here at the office of Col. Daniel L. Porter, of the United States Internal Revenue Service.

“After that hour,” it was said, “not a barrel of intoxicating liquor, a case of wine or a keg of beer can be legally manufactured, sold or transported for beverage purposes anywhere in the United States, its territories or insular possessions.”

There will be no searching of homes or confiscation of intoxicants, the federal authorities declare, the law providing for seizure only in event that liquors are sold or in case a “home” is clearly shown to be a public resort.

While it has been announced that the “drys” are to raise a fund of $50,000,000 to continue their fight, prohibition leaders here say, most of the money will be used in “educating” the public as to the injurious effects of alcohol.

Latest internal revenue statistics show that the constitutional “dry” amendment puts out of business, or compels a change to other forms of industry, of 236 distilleries, 1,092 breweries and 177,790 saloons and other places selling intoxicants in the continental United States.

“There, little barroom, don’t you cry, You’ll be a drugstore bye and bye!” has not proved true, at least in New York. Most saloons, the owners of which have decided to remain in business, have been transformed into restaurants or candy stores.

Distilleries, elsewhere, it is said, are being utilized for making denatured alcohol for fuel, for use in the mechanical arts and for other legal purposes. Some are now creameries and cheese factories.

Breweries, in many cases, according to reports, have been turned into malt sugar factories, automobile works, meat packing and cold storage, and fruit and vegetable dehydrating or evaporating plants. Many employees of distilleries and breweries thus are retained at their old places but at new tasks.

Some of the things prohibition is alleged already to have done to the metropolis and other parts of the nation were pointed out here today by William H. Anderson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league and others. Mr. Anderson said: “Five years ago, on a zero weather night, 1,000 or more men applied to the Bowers mission for lodging. So far this winter less than a dozen have appeared on any cold night.”

“The Yorkville police court in New York, on Christmas day had only two drunks as compared with twenty-six the preceding Christmas. St. Lawrence county, up state, was going to spend $100,000 for a jail extension two years ago because of the number of offenders. This county covers 2,800 square miles, almost as big as Rhode Island.

“Camden, N. J.’s famous workhouse, or ‘paper pickery,’ where the drunks were sent to sort over paper for baling and which did a business aggregating $4,000, at last accounts had only four prisoners. The Chicago ‘bridewell’ or workhouse population is said recently to have dwindled to almost nothing.

“Thomas W. White, state supervisor of administration, of Massachusetts, reports that as a result of fewer cases many small courts which are now costing the state $500,000 a year can be eliminated by one-half. Milwaukee reports a ‘shortage of labor’ at the house of correction. The decrease in cases of intoxication there is officially given as 20 per cent during 1919.

WIDOW OF COL. BUTLER PLACED ON STAND

BROWNWOOD, Jan. 16.—Mrs. M. C. Butler, widow of Colonel Butler, for whose violent death Harry J. Spannell is on trial in district court here, was one of the witnesses presented by the state in rebuttal late yesterday.

The prosecution introduced several army officers as witnesses yesterday, including several who had known Colonel Butler since he entered West Point more than twenty years ago.

Judge Ragin and other citizens of Alpine, Texas, where Colonel Butler and Mrs. Spannell were shot and killed July 20, 1916, while on an automobile ride with Spannell, gave testimony in direct reference to the fateful ride.

ARCHES DON’T FALL, THEY TURN OVER, SAYS EXPERT

International News Service.

BOSTON.—“There is no such thing as a fallen arch of the foot. It just looks like an arch and even at that it does not fall, but rolls over if it gives away,” says Dr. Frederic J. Cotton, a foot expert of Boston.

“If you want to get rid of this weakness, practice the rolling exercise, which is, weight on feet, body steadied by support of chair or table, roll outward twelve to thirty times twice daily. Then for a second exercise—up and out, rise on toes and pull heels in.”

“Worth All the Money in World” Says Maitlen

“For the first time in two years,” said H. C. Maitlen, residing at 1016 Taylor avenue, Fort Worth, Texas, in an interview recently, “I am able to eat without suffering afterwards, and I can’t sit down to the table without feeling thankful for what Oregate has done for me.”

Mr. Maitlen is a well known barber but for the last few months has been unable to work his trade owing to his illness.

“What I would eat caused a severe pain in the pit of my stomach and I could not even drink a glass of water without suffering agonies afterwards. Doctors had every kind of treatment but I could not think of my case with out believing my suffering and even took X-ray photographs trying to find out what my trouble was. I could not rest and would get so nervous I did not know what to do. I was continually losing weight and did not have enough energy to follow up my work, in fact, I began to think I could never be cured.”

“Well, sir, nothing ever helped me until a doctor suggested that I try Oregate, and that is saying a good deal for it seemed to me I had tried everything. Really, before I took it I did not have much faith in the treatment as everything else had failed, but since the first week I have improved rapidly. I can eat just anything now and since my food digests properly I never have that severe pain in the pit of my stomach. My nerves are normal and work is a pleasure to me. I can truthfully say that Oregate Treatment did me more good that week than all other medicines, treatments and doctors I ever tried put together. I cannot praise this meritorious preparation too much as it has been worth more than all the money in the world to me.”

Oregate is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment absolutely free from alcohol in any form and is sold in Ranger exclusively, under the personal direction of a special Oregate representative.—Adv.

COFFEE HOUSE TO REPLACE THE BAR IN THE U. S.

International News Service. WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The United States, long recognized as the largest coffee consuming country in the world, may, as a result of nationwide prohibition, greatly increase the consumption of this beverage by the establishment of the once popular “coffee houses” of England in this country to supplant the “bar.”

Receipts approximating normal, high-record shipment, and increased average prices mark the movements of coffee to and from the United States in the fiscal year 1919. Receipts exceeded those of the “peace” year 1914 by only 4.5 per cent and were 8.2 per cent below those of 1918, the last full year of the war; shipments (exports and re-exports to foreign countries and sales to contiguous territories in the United States), on the other hand, were 87.4 per cent greater in both quantity and value than in 1918.

RY. COMMISSION PLANS NO FORCE IN GAS TANGLE

FORT WORTH, Jan. 16.—Representatives of the Fort Worth and Dallas city governments today resumed their effort before the Texas railroad commission at Eastland to get better gas service. Today's session developed a bitter attack on the gas company by Mayor Davis of Fort Worth, who threatened to take the matter to the courts if the railroad commission was unable to give relief.

Special to The Times. EASTLAND, Jan. 16.—Maj. George C. Butte, chief supervisor of the oil and gas department of the railroad commission, and Clarence Gilmore, member of the commission, told owners and representatives of companies with producing oil and gas wells, pipe line owners and representatives of gas consumers here that it was the purpose of the railroad commission to approach the operators on a basis of co-operation and mutual benefit and not with a view of passing regulations that would limit or hamper the complete development of the oil and gas resources of the state. Mr. Gilmore said "that it was not his intention, and they had no desire to ride the proposition with boots and spurs."

The conference called by the railroad commission was attended by about seventy-five men representing the producers, pipe line owners and consumers. The three chief subjects discussed at the afternoon session included: First, the finding of a market for gas that would encourage the conservation of gas and induce operators to drill for more; second, to find some practical methods that could be used to conserve the gas now escaping from wells producing both oil and gas and to permit the production of oil from these wells. Third, the best methods that the railroad commission would follow to insure the compliance with their laws.

The three groups represented at the meeting held a separate conference at which time they assembled to discuss and receive reports. Mr. Gilmore said that the present wastage of gas in Texas was nothing short of criminal, and that something must be done to correct this.

"LUSITANIA" IS BARRIER TO HUN TRADE OUTLOOK

International News Service. LONDON, Jan. 16.—Correspondents of German firms who are endeavoring to re-establish business relations with England are finding the word "Lusitania" a troublesome barrier.

The Evening Standard quotes the following typical correspondence: Writing from Merscheid-Solingen, the Germans started in this matter-of-fact style: "Gentlemen—It is a long time since we heard from you, and we trust that our friendly business relations will soon begin again. We wrote you December 28, 1918, but had no reply. We should like to know how you are, and hope to have a reply from you shortly."

Then follows this cheerful postscript: "We are all well." The reply of the British firm is to the point: "Gentlemen—Your letter of the 21st ult., the first we have received from you since the outbreak of the war, reached us on the eve of the day which is now and will forever be known in this country as Lusitania day. "We do not know how far you have been permitted to learn the details of his crime against humanity. A sheer brutal murder of 1,100 civilians, of whom innocent women and children formed a large part, and in celebration of which a commemorative medal was struck on your country. "Our relations with you personally prior to the war were always most amicable, but we cannot discriminate between one and another and for the sake of mere financial gain bring ourselves to resume relations with a people we regard as being entirely unworthy of consideration and with whom we do not desire to associate. "We regret that gentlemen of your education believe every word newspapers write. No medal has been struck in celebration of the destruction of the Lusitania. All German hearts were distressed when learning of the great loss of lives of so many women and children caused by this torpedoed shot. But do you not know that ammunition has been carried on board? If not, one shot never would have destroyed this big SS. The order to sink her had been given by one man in a second's time, in order to destroy ammunition, which was destined to kill many thousands of our soldiers. The destruction of ammunition and the big cargo ship was considered a victory. "We think that it is high time to forget the cruelties this war has created on all sides. "You have broken our necks, we

HOME FOR BIRDS TO BE BUILT IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—Animals and birds of all kinds may some day find a wonderful home in the suburbs of Chicago. A thickly timbered forest preserve tract near Riverside, Ill., the gift of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, is to be converted into an extensive zoological garden. It will be a haven for the scattered tribes, with the Desplainer River running at one side of the forest, and the Salt creek winding through. Not only deer, elk or moose may run wild but the carnivora, bear and even mountain lions may find pits to house them, and other animals long banished from northern Illinois. Birds, too, will be welcomed there with the one exception of the English sparrow.

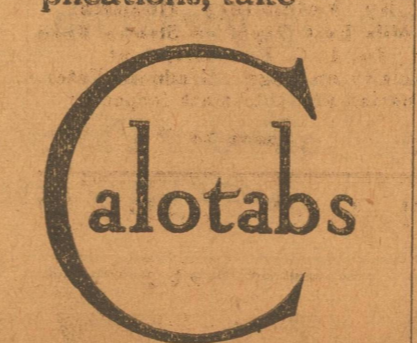

The land comprising about 150 acres, adjoins a tract of sixty acres already acquired from Mrs. McCormick by the Cook county forest preserve. The county plans to develop a park that will eventually equal the zoological parks of New York, London, Paris, Tokio, Hamburg and Calcutta.

In accepting the gift the Cook county commission directed that the tract should be known as the "Edith Rockefeller McCormick Zoological Gardens of the Forest Preserve of Cook County."

LAZZ IS "SATANIC MUSIC" SAYS PASTOR

FALL RIVER, Mass.—"Satanic and diabolical music" was what Rev. Jas. J. Quinn, of 366 Mary's church, called the jazz playing of a Providence orchestra hired to play in a local dance hall. He said complaints had been made referring to the orchestra as "playing immoral and devil's music, and added: "These immoral stretches after the division of the world, would leave it empty, having made an evening of debauch for the young people of Fall River." Father Quinn said that he had been successful in having barred the dance, which was to have been held in a hall in his own parish, near the shore itself. He took the matter up with the police and the orchestra was indefinitely barred from the city.

Nothing Scandalous

A conversation between two women, one of whom was hard of hearing, interested the passengers of a Glenwood avenue car. "I saw her on the street down town with a man." "Is that so?" "Yes, and it was after 10 o'clock too." "The very idee." "I never suspected her of flirting before." "No, nor me either." "But you can never tell." "Ain't it the truth?" "It is that."

In forecasting the approach of big storms, cold waves and floods, the weather man is always right, Humphreys said.

"PAINLESS" GAS MAY BE USED IN THE FUTURE WARS OF WORLD

By GENERAL SIR LOUIS JACKSON
International News Service.
LONDON, Jan. 16.—It is quite clear that we are on the eve of the most extensive modifications in the art of war known to history. The changes made in the recent war were only the beginning. It is necessary to develop new arms with the knowledge that the nation which does so will have a great advantage in the next war.

There are people who were crying for a reduction of armaments and who declare that another war is an impossibility just as, six years ago, they declared war with Germany was an impossibility. In future wars we shall be exposed to much greater dangers than in the recent war. Germany has not refrained from saying that she hoped for revenge some day. I believe that one of the greatest developments in the art of war will be brought about in mechanical transport. The tank was a freak which was called into existence by exceptional circumstances which are not likely to recur, and which if they do recur can be dealt with by other means. The outstanding feature of the tank has been that they made mechanical transport independent of the roads. That is going to influence most deeply the tactics of the future. If the whole of the transport of an army is carried by vehicles with caterpillar wheels it will be independent of the roads. There would be no long columns of transport. An army would advance in open order on a broad front carrying guns, munitions, supplies and men. At the same time, fast cars and motorcycles would be useful for sudden blows at long distances.

With regard to the use of gas in future wars, there is no more reason to forbid its use than to forbid the use of rifles. There are gases which kill painlessly, and it is easy to conceive cases in which it would be more humane to use gas than explosive shells. It might be possible to come to some agreement that no gas should be used which would cause unnecessary suffering. Commercial progress and prosperity in the twentieth century will depend on chemistry, and chemical productions must have a great effect on all future warfare.

We do not trouble ourselves yet with flying destroyers, or flying concrete forts, but in twenty years' time the air force estimates may be the most important part of our preparation for war. Bombing and reconnaissance machines will be developed by commerce, for the machines used in commerce can easily be adapted for war purposes, and civilian pilots can be taken over with the machines. For fighting machines special types are required, and highly specialized military training is necessary for the personnel.

One result of a return to open warfare will probably be the bombers will not have the same targets near the front of the armies and will secure better results by going farther afield and bombing the centers where munitions are manufactured, stores accumulated and troops trained.

Wireless telegraphy will be the principle means of communicating with aircraft and a development of the electrical listening posts used in trench warfare; a ground wireless system will become the standard means of communication between advanced infantry and the headquarters controlling them. I believe also that smoke and light signals, a pillar of cloud by day and a pillar of light by night, will be used by troops to show the positions they reach.

There has never been a war before in which such an extreme variety of weapons were employed. The long rifle has seen its day and should be replaced by a short carbine which would be accurate up to 500 yards. Each man should also carry a good dagger which might be made attachable to the carbine like a bayonet. I do not think the automatic pistol will survive and I am not sure that the grenades will not also go, if assumed that in future we will have open warfare.

The artillery must be of a character that it can be brought to the required position in the shortest possible time. Caterpillar traction should be employed, and if we allow for a daily advance of twelve miles, the guns must be capable of a range up to 18,000 yards.

The soldier of the future must be absolutely different from his predecessors. The days have gone by when initiative was considered not only unnecessary but dangerous. In addition to his rifle, the soldier should be able to handle a Lewis or machine gun, and to help the artillery. He should

MEXICO'S EXPORT OF COTTON GOODS INCREASES

By Associated Press.
EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 16.—Mexico's exports of cotton goods have increased 200 per cent this year, according to reports made to the government by Edward F. Feeley, United States commercial attaché here.

Formerly the United States took all but a small part of the cotton shipped out of Mexico but in 1918 30,000 bales were exported to England, according to the commercial attaché's report.

The Laguna district, in the state of Coahuila, will produce 140,000 bales of cotton this year, according to Mr. Feeley, and if President Carranza will permit exportation of this product without tax, 50,000 bales will be exported.

At a conference of the Laguna commission of cotton growers recently, the attaché reported the growers expressed their desire to do business directly with England, instead of permitting the United States to act as middleman, as heretofore.

AUTO LICENSE FEES PAID TO J. E. T. PETERS

A letter from County Judge C. R. Starnes to Constable R. L. Faircloth contains much of interest to the public regarding automobile licenses and recent legislation in this connection. The following extracts from the letter are of particular interest.

"The law of this state makes it an offense punishable by a fine of not less than $10 and costs, to operate any kind of motor vehicle upon the roads without a distinguished seal. For the year 1919 this seal was circular with a five-pointed star printed in it and the year '1919.' For the year 1920 this seal is oblong, with the year '1920' and a number printed on it. The law provides that each owner of an automobile has all the month of January to renew the license for the automobile he owned in 1919. So, therefore, every man should have upon the front of his automobile either a 1919 seal or a 1920 seal, and if he has neither he should be arrested by you and prosecuted. This case can be filed in the city or justice court, or in the county court, at your option. The highway law is a little peculiar in this respect, that whenever an officer finds a man operating an automobile without a seal on, or going at too rapid speed, he has a right to arrest him, but such man has a right to give a bond without sureties for his appearance within five days at the court designated by the officer. The law makes it an offense not to appear under this bond. This is given you for your guidance.

"Every man who does not pay his automobile or truck license makes more holes for all of us to go through for all of this money goes upon the road."

Some features of the automobile laws not generally understood were mentioned by Justice of the Peace J. E. T. Peters in an interview this morning. For instance, the law requires highway numbers to be displayed on both front and rear of a car. It is against the law to leave a motor running on a public street or highway with no driver in attendance. It is unlawful to buy or sell a second-hand motor vehicle without actual physical transfer of the tax collector's license receipt for the year of sale. The penalty for violation of this law is from $10 to $2,000, or not more than one year in jail, or both fine and imprisonment. People should be careful to preserve their license receipts.

In selling a car, a bill of sale must be made out according to a prescribed form, in duplicate, before a notary public. The purchaser of the car retains one copy and the other should be filed in the office of the county tax collector.

Justice Peters, whose offices are at the corner of Austin and Pine streets, can attend to all matters of registration and securing new license for cars. The following information is necessary in securing new license for a car: Name and model of car, year of model, engine number, highway number, factory serial number, horse power, person purchased from, name of owner and his address. Of course the license fee is also a requirement. It runs from $2.70 on a Ford to $17.50. This includes both state and county license fees. The rating is according to horsepower.

EXCHANGE FOR RANGER BEST IN WEST TEXAS

When completed, it will be the most modern and complete telephone exchange in West Texas.

Manager McCluskin of the Ranger exchange says that the new exchange will be designed to meet the present and all future needs of the city, provision being made for additional units as the list of subscribers grows.

RICHEST INDIAN TO GO ON SPENDING WARPATH

FORT WORTH.—Jackson Barnett, reputed to be the richest Indian in the United States, is about to spend a goodly portion of his "roll." He has had an income of several thousand dollars per year from some Texas oil lands, and a federal commissioner of Indian affairs has announced he may spend some of it.

Barnett said he would start right in by giving the Baptist church $200,000, and then purchase an automobile and hire a chauffeur to run it.

Every man who does not pay his automobile or truck license makes more holes for all of us to go through for all of this money goes upon the road."

Judge Peters scored the practice of running without lights, declaring it to be frequently done here, to the great peril of other vehicles and of pedestrians.
