SPRING REUNION OF SCOTTISH RITE MASONS OPENS EARLY IN MAY

DALLAS, April 20.—The spring reunion of Scottish Rite Masons in Dallas will be held from May 7 to May 10. John H. Cowles, 33 rd degree sovereign grand commander of the Southern jurisdiction of the United States will be the honor guest of the reunion. Andrew L. Randall, past grand master of Texas, now the directing head of the Masonic Service association of the United States, will come to Dallas from his headquarters at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, to participate in the conferring of degrees. Mr. Randall is master of the thirty-first degree.

R. E. L. Sauer of Dallas is chairman of the entertainment committee and plans are being made for the usual social features during the four days' reunion. Fraternal delegates will be in attendance from each of the other Scottish Rite consistories of Texas and a very large class is expected.

Applications are being received daily at the office of J. L. Stephens, secretary of the Dallas bodies. Candidates who are planning to attend the reunion will be given special reduced rates on all railroads entering Dallas. Ample provisions have been made for them and the class room will be arranged so as to make everyone comfortable. Seats will be provided for all.

Rehearsals by degree masters and their casts have already begun and all will be in readiness for the opening day of the reunion. John H. Dunn and Boyd Brown will have charge of the class of directors.

BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL PLANS TO BE TESTED

State Agricultural Department Will Advise Farmers As To Efficiency.

AUSTIN, April 20.—Tests of all machines and substances claimed to be capable of boll weevil control will be conducted during the coming summer under the direction of the state department of agriculture, R. E. McDonald, state entomologist, announced today. The experiments will be conducted in an effort to determine what purported remedies are most efficient, it was stated.

All persons and firms selling or manufacturing boll weevil control devices or interested in such are urged to submit such devices to the state department for test, McDonald said. Tests will be conducted under rules announced today. Efficiency of the control method will be determined on the basis of profit and by its actual performance, the announcement stated. The rules for the tests in brief follow:

Applicant for test shall select two blocks of cotton on lands of similar nature; one block will be treated for the boll weevil, while no treatment will be administered to the second; plots will be examined by representatives of the state department from time to time; plots shall not be smaller than two acres each; careful accounts will be kept of the cost of machinery, current wages, interest on investment and other expenses; final inspection of the plots will be made between Aug. 15 and Oct. 15, by a representative of the state department, accompanied by two witnesses, to determine the results of the test; average production shall be determined; reports of results will be filed with the state department. Estimates of the various factors governing production also will be made by agents of the state department at various times during the growing season.

Concerning the control methods and testing plans, McDonald said: "The farmer is being besieged on every hand by people selling machinery or poisons to control the weevil. He does not know which to accept and which to reject. It is reasonably certain that many of these remedies are useless and that others possess more or less merit. One thing is certain, that they have not been tested with sufficient care to demonstrate beyond a doubt that they are efficient. The only test that is worth anything is the test of production."

"All persons and firms interested in boll weevil control machinery or poisons of any sort or cultural methods are requested to submit these remedies to a fair test in 1923 under the direct supervision of the department of agriculture. Details have been worked out whereby tests can be conducted in any part of the state in which the boll weevil occurs and be judged by a jury of practical cotton growers from the vicinity in which the test is carried out. "It is hoped that the program mapped out will aid in developing something worth while. At this time we know of no remedy of universal application. The department is prepared to begin immediately to test out methods submitted. It is hoped that farmers will apply cultural methods for weevil control and that

WOMEN ORGANIZE THEIR OWN K. K. K.

The first parade of the Order of American Women, supposed to be the female branch of the Ku Klux Klan, made an impressive showing in Dallas, Texas, the stronghold of Klanism. More than 7,500 women took part in the procession, 2,000 of them coming from Fort Worth alone. The delegation from Waco is shown here, headed by a woman on horseback. The leaders of the masked organization are shown in an automobile, leading the parade.

prizes may be offered by cotton interests for those making the best showing."

SMALL CARS WILL HAVE TEST ON BOARD TRACK

KANSAS CITY, April 20.—Automobile speed kings from the United States and probably two from Europe will compete in the race here July 4, according to L. J. Smith, manager of the Kansas City Speedway.

Kansas City was awarded the Independence Day speed classic from a list of contestants from several parts of the country.

The outstanding feature of the race will be the introduction of a new style racing car on a board track. The 122 cubic inch creations will make their initial bow to the racing world on Indianapolis' brick track on Memorial Day and be sent directly to Kansas City for the July race.

The length of the race has been reduced from 300 to 250 miles, the standard of board speedways in this country.

Reduction of wheelbase, while cutting down the tremendous speed on the track, will not slow up the race, according to local speedway officials. The time lost changing tires on heavy cars will be partially eliminated by using lighter cars and action of the track kept at an average.

Tommy Milton, winner of last year's race, drove his small car at the rate of approximately 115 miles an hour in a recent test at Los Angeles and declared that more speed could be developed.

RADIATION PYROMETER TRIES BUT FAILS TO REGISTER SUN'S HEAT

CHICAGO, April 20.—An instrument capable of measuring extreme temperatures without coming in direct contact with the source of heat is now being used in a number of industrial plants to determine the amount of heat in kilns or furnaces where raw materials are being burned or melted, according to officials of the Structural Materials Research Laboratory of the Lewis Institute here.

The instrument is known as a radiation pyrometer, and consists of a small telescope containing a piece of colored glass and two small wires, attached to an indicator box. Standing back some distance from the kiln or furnace, the operator sights the little telescope at the spot where the glow is hottest. The glass focuses the heat on wires, which expand and register the degree of temperature on a dial on the indicator box.

In Portland cement plants, where a temperature of from 2,500 to 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit is needed in the kilns to burn the raw materials to a clinker, the common mercury thermometers are useless, because mercury reaches its boiling point at 75 degrees. By using the pyrometer, a direct check is kept on the kiln temperatures, although some operators have an almost uncanny sense of determining this by sight. At one of the cement mills recently the pyrometer telescope was turned on the sun. The little needle in the indicator box immediately sprang over the maximum figure, bouncing against the sides of the box in its effort to register the heat on the sun's surface, 93,000,000 miles away.

Cuero—The second unit of its dam over the Guadalupe river here has been completed by the Texas Central Power company. Power is transmitted from this plant to neighboring cities, this being one of the company's big generating stations.

"STATES" DINNER EVENT OF GREAT BRILLIANCE

Certainly no more delightful social event has taken place in Ranger in many months than the novel and entertaining "States" dinner which was given Thursday night at the Gholson hotel by the ladies of the Presbyterian church. The banquet hall was especially pretty with its decorations of hanging baskets, green boughs, flags of various sizes and yards of red, white and blue bunting. Decorations for the occasion were in charge of Mrs. J. C. Wright, whose effective work played a large part in the success of the occasion. Handsome palms and potted plants added to the beauty of the decorations, which were also enhanced by the attractive arrangements of the individual tables.

Fully two hundred of Ranger's leading citizens attended the banquet and enjoyed the program, which was carried on during the dinner. Texas being the most largely represented by a party of 66, was first called upon by the toastmaster, Lytton R. Taylor, the response being given in a splendid flight of oratory by Aubrey Jameson. The long table was decorated with brilliant red stars, which were used as center pieces and place cards, and also bouquets of verbenas and bluebonnets. The Texas response was followed by a song, "Texas," charmingly rendered by Mrs. T. J. Holmesley.

One of the delights of the evening was the quartet by W. H. Fouke, E. D. Finney, Gus Coleman and Bob Lacy, the words of which were a play on the names of the various states.

One of the most original tables of the group was that of New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma, Mrs. Lytton R. Taylor, an oil derrick model being used as the center piece with Indian blankets, pottery, weaving and bow and arrow in evidence over the table, while quantities of purple wild flowers completed this lovely table. The state song, New Mexico, was pleasingly sung by Miss Margaret Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Besse Luke. The place cards bore the significant oil derricks, which are plentiful in these states.

Decorations and place cards for the group of states which are along the Pacific Coast, in New England, in New York and New Jersey, were illustrative of the various products of each state, with a center vase of lilacs, which are found in nearly all of these states. Mrs. Charles G. Norton was the hostess, and the response was interestingly given by Earl Taylor, a native of Oregon.

The spirit of the Southland hovered over the table of Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and Tennessee, where Mrs. George H. Bohning presided. The center pieces were small wagons of cotton surmounted by smiling little negroes, placed on reflectors which were surrounded with green boughs and sprays of lilacs. Lilac blossoms were scattered over the tables and place cards bore sprays of the same flower. The clever response of M. H. Hagaman was one of the fine points of the evening, while the song, "Out Where the West Begins," by Mrs. J. M. Dodson, and a piano solo by Miss Nell Tibbles were much enjoyed. Frank Bohning's reading of a darky sermon gave a touch of local color to this group.

The Middle Central States, presided over by Mrs. J. B. Fitch, were effectively decorated with sheaves of wheat, an "Ole Swimmin Hole," cattle, and other suggestions of that productive part of the country. Favors for natives of Illinois were candy suckers, as this is the "Sucker" state. A center piece of pink carnations and sprays of greenery were springlike additions. Response for this section was given with a touch of delightful humor by Dr. W. C. Palmer, and a James Whitcomb Riley poem was recited by Mrs. J. H. Moyer.

It remained for "Pete" Finney, as representative of Maryland, and other states, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, for which Mrs. Finney was hostess, to effect real merriment into the evening when he got back at Aubrey Jameson's glowing tales of Texas with facetious remarks about the biggest state in the Union. It was all done in the kindest of spirit, and the immense gathering bubbled over with laughter at the innocent fun poked at the boast of Texans. Mrs. Finney's table was especially lovely with glowing yellow candlesticks in silver holders, the lights being almost outdone by the brilliant yellow marigolds which decorated the table. The place cards, decorated by Mr. and Mrs. Finney, carried Baltimore Orioles for Maryland, and oil derricks for West Virginia. It was pointed out that most of the men seated at this table had their wives with them from the same state as themselves, while in most cases couples were separated at different tables.

Colorado, Nevada, Missouri and Arkansas were sponsored by Mrs. C. E. Maddocks, whose table carried suggestions of the various states, including a burro, and bouquets of wild flowers and lilies. The place cards were dainty ones with delicate white flowers in the corner.

Response for Pennsylvania, given by Dr. A. N. Stubblebine, gave a glowing bit of American history, and made each and everyone feel that his or her state was the best, and that America is a great country.

The lovely voice of Mrs. Besse Luke was heard at the close of the program in "The Cradle of Love" and "Thy Beaming Eyes," by MacDowell, accompanied by Miss Wilson. The opening of the program with the singing of America, and the closing with singing of "Star Spangled Banner" made it a truly national affair. Mrs. C. S. Bronstad played for this singing, as she did for the entrance march, which was arranged by states and an appropriate song used for each state, as "Dixie," "Yankee Doodle" and "Maryland."

The dinner was a delicious one including fruit punch, perfection salad, hot rolls, roast chicken, with dressing, mashed potatoes and cranberry sauce, and dessert of brick ice cream, cake and coffee.

Those in charge of the dinner were Mrs. W. H. Fouke, general chairman, assisted by Meses. Harry Pearson, J. W. Cash, Wolf, Ben Owens, Bronstad, Getts, Gray Powell, McKay, Coomber and Miss Flynn.

A group of young ladies of the Presbyterian church, under the direction of Miss Mabel Baker, made efficient and attractive waitresses.

MRS. MENDENHALL HOSTESS AT BRIDGE LUNCHEON.

Entertaining in honor of her visiting sisters, Mrs. Kenney and Miss Bergere, Mrs. H. J. Mendenhall was the charming hostess Thursday at a bridge luncheon. Bowls and vases of pink flowers were used in decoration and refreshments were served on the individual tables.

High score was won by Mrs. Conley, who was awarded a bridge luncheon set. Low score, a set of bridge score cards, went to Mrs. McGinley. Those present were, Mrs. Kenney, Miss Bergere, Meses. E. D. Finney, A. L. Bergere, E. E. Crawford, C. A. Conley, F. T. Brahaney, John Thurman, Saunders Gregg, C. O. Terrell, Ed Maher, Garrett Bohning, Butler and Cratz, of Eastland, O'Brien of New Mexico, J. T. Gullahorn, and W. J. McGinley.

MESSES MURRAY AND HEYDON ENTERTAIN.

Members of the T. E. L. class of the First Baptist church were delightfully entertained Thursday afternoon in the basement of the church by Mrs. J. L. Heydon and Mrs. Walter Murray. Several contests furnished amusing entertainment and refreshments were served. Those present were, Meses. R. L. Ross, Wright, Duncan, Jacobs, Edgar, Webber, J. A. Pitecock, H. U. Pond, W. S. Adamson, Jackson and the hostesses.

ICE Costs You Less Than a Cent a Pound

You can buy enough beans, flour, sugar coffee or anything else but ice to do you a month in advance.

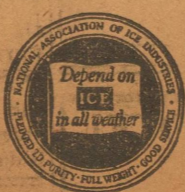

You can cook them up two or three days ahead and ice will keep them fresh and sweet for you. But the ice must be delivered regularly, the supply certain, the delivery dependable, and the whole works for LESS THAN A CENT A POUND.

Other lines doing a good business the year round consider several cents per pound a fair MARGIN OF PROFIT, but the ice man does not even get a cent a pound for ice, profit, service and all, and his season lasts only 100 days.

We are often cited to instances where ice has been sold at a very low price, but when we ask about the plant that could afford to do this we invariably find that "That old man sold out to So and So," or usually "That plant just run down to nothing and was sold under the hammer."

EVANGELIST PHILLIPS AT CHRIST CHURCH

Conducting Revival Services and Relating Bible Love Stories

Though inclement weather prevailed Thursday night, a splendid audience greeted Evangelist O. E. Phillips at the revival services of the church of Christ. The speaker's message was the first of a series of discourses on a "Bible Love Story," whose principal characters are Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph, Moses, and their ancient worthies, the culmination of which is the advent of the Messiah.

Mr. Phillips is a fluent and forceful speaker, combining eloquence, wit and pathos in that marked degree which sends his message home to the heart, carrying conviction.

Using Abraham's faith in God, proven by the offering of Isaac, as a divine pattern for the worshippers of today, the evangelist pictured the love and devotion that men must sustain to God, placing Him first and above all things else. He dwelt at length upon the magnitude of paternal love—of Abraham's love and devotion to his only son, yet, how he suffered no earthly possession nor human affection to come between him and his obedience to God. And that as the "father of the faithful," his trial and his faith were but examples of the trust that God requires of his people today.

Delivering a rebuke to that class whom he designated as "half-hearted, semi-idolaters, sermon-tasters," the evangelist said in part: "Nothing in the Bible is recorded merely as literature, nor for entertainment; but everything for a specific purpose, and that to make men see and realize the supremacy of Jehovah, and his first claim upon our praises, sacrifices and devotions. And that in demanding the sacrifice on the mountain, God did not want Isaac, but was after Abraham. And just so with the account of the Saviour's speech to the rich young ruler who had kept the commandments from his youth, to 'Go sell what he had and give to the poor.' Not that the poor were poorer than they had ever been, nor that their needs were greater than before, nor because God needed his treasures and possessions—they all belong to Him anyway—but because those things were between him and a whole-hearted service and worship. God was after the man, not his possessions. And that lesson is to us today. If we don't love Him enough to sacrifice time, money, earthly ties and self-gratification, all for His glory and the extension of His kingdom in the salvation of souls, we don't love Him as we ought."

Services are held at 10 a. m., and 7:4 p. m. Good singing features each service. All are invited.

KELLOGG'S CORNFLAKES, KELLOGG'S BRAN HAVE THAT 'MORE' TASTE

Children cry for it, mothers buy it. Cry for what? Why, Kellogg's Cornflakes, of course. The most delicious and always the freshest of all breakfast foods. Good also for luncheons when the kiddies come home hungry from school.

Cornflakes can be eaten with milk, or with fresh or canned fruits, as one prefers, and delicious cakes and other cooked dainties can be made with them. If you don't believe it just get a box and try.

Kellogg's Bran, is a new product of this justly famous factory, but has been on the market long enough to prove its worth as a food and adjunct. It is nature's own laxative. One who eats bran regularly in this palatable form does not need to take disagreeable doses of drugs.

The Kellogg products are the best of their kind on the market, the name Kellogg being a sure sign of something good to eat in every package. If your groceryman fails to have Kellogg products don't accept any other so-called "just as good" brand—phone the Ranger Daily Times, 224, and we will gladly tell you where to buy Kellogg products.

REAL ESTATE AGENT GROWS ELOQUENT WHEN OFFERING TO SELL LOT

By United Press
LOS ANGELES, April 20.—California real estate men with their never-ending ability to use up all the colorful superlatives in the dictionary are generally supposed to be a modern institution.

But apparently the germ grows in the soil. At least it was going strong in 1875, if an advertisement by a real estate dealer describing the coast-line land he had for sale at Santa Monica, published in a small paper there in that year, is any indication. It read:

"On Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock we will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder, the Pacific Ocean, draped with a western sky of scarlet and gold; we will sell a bay filled with white winged ships; we will sell a northern horizon, rimmed with a choice collection of purple mountains, carved in castles and turrets and domes; we will sell a frostless, bracing, warm, yet unanguid air, braided in and with sunshine and odored with the breath of flowers.

"The purchaser will be presented with a deed to a piece of land. The title to the land will be guaranteed by the present owner. The title to the ocean and the sunset the hills and the clouds, the breath of the life-giving ozone and the song of the birds, is guaranteed by the beneficent God who bestowed them in all their beauty and affluence upon the land and attached them thereto by Almighty warrant as an incorruptible hereditament to run with the land forever."

There is no data to show whether or not the dealer sold any land.

SPORTS

Making Gentlemen of Football Squad, Is Idea of Coach

By HENRY L. FARRELL, United Press Sports Editor.
 NEW YORK, April 20.—Some of those who hold that football does not warrant the important place it holds among college undergraduates should stop and ponder over a few words spoken by Percy Haughton when he took over the coaching job at Columbia:

"It will be my purpose to teach the men what they should learn in order to better prepare them for life after they leave the university. If I can do that, if I can contribute towards qualifying them for the finest type of citizenship, I will be satisfied."

Football, as it is being conducted now at many of the major universities, is far removed from the old game in which the main essential was considered to win at any cost. The virtue quality which football exacts of a young man can be turned to other purposes than the mere running and stopping of the ball.

Tud Jones has had several disappointing seasons with the Yale football team. Old guards yelled for his scalp and critics said he spoiled wonderful prospects, but Jones holds on.

In reply to critics he said after the close of the last season that he might be considered a failure if he was to be judged on the games won and lost by the Yale team, but he was not directing football merely for the purpose of winning every game.

He said he felt that he had succeeded in a vastly more important mission in that he had sent out on the field a team of gentlemen, a team of fine sportsmen and a bunch of boys who were being trained under the most trying conditions to act the same way in after-college days.

It will be remembered that Charley Buell, the guiding genius of the Harvard team, went into the last game with Yale in a very bad physical condition. One or two hard falls would have removed him from the lineup and it had been proved earlier in the season, if it needed proof, that Harvard was not the efficient football machine without Buell that it was with the smart little general in command. Instead of playing the old game of "getting him out," the Yale players purposely "went easy with him" and they lost the game.

For after it has been forgotten which team won the 1922 Harvard-Yale game, that sparkling piece of sportsmanship will be remembered and the impression it made on all who heard about it will do more moral good than 10 touchdowns would have done for Yale.

BRUNK'S COMEDIANS WILL BE HERE ALL NEXT WEEK

Under the Auspices of the Ranger Fire Department.

Local playgoers have an unusual treat in store in the forthcoming engagement of Brunk's Comedians, opening a week's offering of high class plays here Monday night. Mr. Glen Brunk has spared neither time nor money in winning for Brunk's Comedians fame as the most successful and popular repertoire show that is on tour in the United States today.

Mr. Glen Brunk spent the entire winter in New York city and California, where he devoted his time to the securing of the latest popular plays to be released for this company during the present season.

This famous company of players, vaudeville stars and musicians will open Monday night with "Granny," one of the most popular comedies that has ever been offered on the American stage.

There will be an entire change of program each night including new and up-to-the-minute vaudeville between each act. Brunk's Comedians this year includes a company of 30 able players who have the assistance of Brunk's concert band and orchestra, one of the most popular musical organizations on tour.

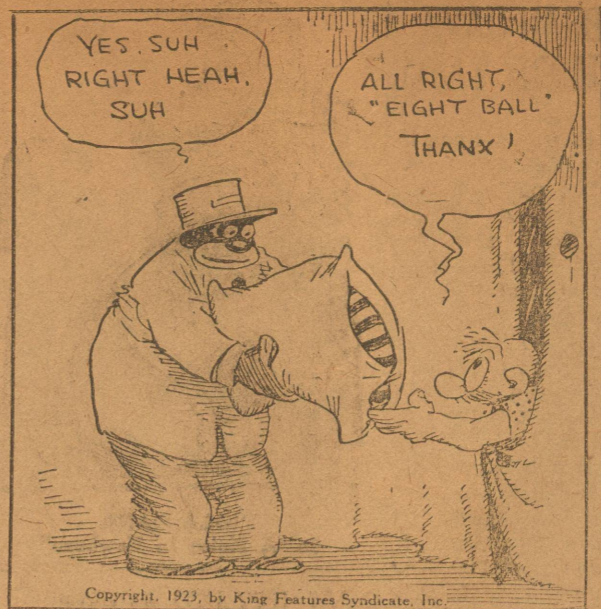

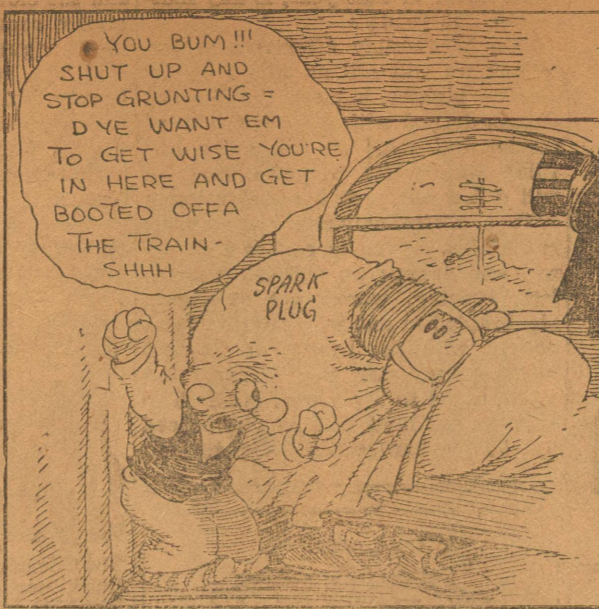

There will be a band concert on the streets at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, and at 7 o'clock every night. Doors will open at 7:30. Brunk's Comedians will offer their plays in a large waterproof tent that is electrically lighted and equipped with hundreds of comfortable seats. All of the most modern stage appliances are used in staging these elaborate productions and local playgoers will have an opportunity to see some of the best plays that are being offered on the American stage.

HOUSTON.—Seventy million dollars in extensions and betterments will be spent in Houston by three concerns in the near future according to plans announced. They are Southern Pacific Railroad, $30,000,000; Houston Lighting and Power, $10,000,000; The Texas Company, $10,000,000.

SAN ANGELO.—C. E. Calder, president of the Texas Power and Light company, in an address to the Kiwanis club here last week, told of the wonderful expansion of electric service in Texas and the widespread ownership of securities of public utilities companies by their customers.

Women Would Not Compete in One Horse Show Event

Contest for Riders Over Fifty Years of Age Had No Entrants.

BERLIN, April 20.—Women competed in almost all the events of the Berlin spring horse show except one. That was the contest for riders over 50 years old mounted on their own hunters. Baronesses, countesses and untitled princesses, but not a single woman appeared to acknowledge half a century of age.

Prince Frederick Sigismund, son of Prince Frederick Leopold, participated in many of the events and won a number of ribbons. He is a skilled hurdler and has been a prominent figure in German horse shows for many years. During the war he was a captain in the Black Hussars, to which the crown prince belonged.

Prince Frederick wore his regimental uniform while riding in the show, and was one of many smart-appearing officers who competed. His father is the irascible cousin of the former kaiser who lives on a great woman without end drove and rode, even in the stiffest sort of hurdle estate near Potsdam and is always involved in litigation growing out of fights with tenants and neighbors and officials of the Prussian state.

Count and Countess Hohenau, Baron Langen, Major Burkner and Fraulein Kitty Mannheim were conspicuous among the riders. Baron Langen always was a favorite in the hurdle races. Any horse he rode was heavily backed because of his unusual skill.

Major Burkner stood out prominently among the officers who competed in the various hunter classes, exhibiting chiefly army horses. All the horses shown in the recent show, with few exceptions, have been trained since the armistice, as the French and Belgians were given nearly all the thoroughbreds under the Versailles treaty.

Fraulein Kitty Mannheim was a favorite in the hurdling contests and would be a great card even among the women rough riders at the Pendleton round-up. She rode astride in the rougher hurdling events. This is something of an innovation for German women, who cling to the saddle for park riding and even for hunting.

Hope for the Deaf

Acoustic Vibrations, Made to Impinge on Palm of Hand, May Be Substitute for Ear Drum.

CHICAGO, April 20.—The development of a hand to replace the ear as an organ for distinguishing sounds, has been carried by Professor Robert H. Gault, of Northwestern university, to the point where university authorities have announced that he believes he is uncovering a new field, which may lead to direct help for the deaf.

Prof. Gault has been able to train John Crane, a student, who is not deaf, to recognize certain spoken words through the palm of his hand. The vibrations of a voice, speaking through a long tube, are made to impinge on Mr. Crane's palm, while the sound is shut off from his ears. Professor Gault is arranging to experiment with an acousticon in the hand of a stone deaf person, with the speaker a long distance away. He says of these experiments:

"I have concluded that John Crane, when he correctly interprets words and sentences by means of the impressions received on the palm of his hand through a long tube, does not hear these words or sentences. In the first place, his ears have been plugged either with cotton or putty or with both, his head tightly bound with a thick bandage and a motor has been operated nearby. In the second place his brother George, who has done the speaking, has been distant 30 feet in another room. There are two intervening walls, and even if John were not muffled from sound, I doubt his ability to hear anything. None of us who stood at John's side could catch the words George spoke through the tube.

"My theory therefore is as follows: The sound vibrations are conducted by the nerves from the delicate area in the hand to the general association areas of the brain and there are directly transmitted to the mind. John does not hear the words or the phrases in the accepted sense of the term. It is true that when he is learning a new word he says he thinks he hears it when it is repeated, but when this word impression has been indelibly made, John admits that all thoughts of hearing leave him, and as quickly as the vibrations strike his hand, he repeats the word automatically."

Professor Gault is working out a definite process and theory which he hopes to prove of practical use. He thinks it will not be difficult to perfect an instrument that will be easily portable and of use for the deaf.

Commenting on the experience of Willetta Huggins, a deaf girl of Janesville, Wis., who says she hears by means of an acousticon held in her hand Professor Gault says he is convinced that she does not hear with the ear, but receives the vibrations in the general association areas of the brain. He adds:

"A tuning fork may be placed upon the head or the brow of a stone deaf person, and its vibrations will be clearly detected. A person extremely deaf may go to a telephone and hear a conversation. These are demonstrated facts. It is so remotely possible that the sound actually reaches the auditory nerves in some of these instances that I am convinced that John Crane gets no help from his auditory nerves, when he pronounces words just spoken by his brother, and that Willetta Huggins does not hear at all, but receives the sound impressions by another route."

REV. W. H. MATTHEWS IS VISITOR IN RANGER

The Rev. W. H. Matthews of Fort Worth, formerly presiding elder of the Fort Worth district and now commissioner for the Methodist hospital which the Central Texas conference of the M. E. Church South is planning to build, was in Ranger Thursday on his way to Breckenridge to attend the district conference in session there yesterday and today.

Under the direction of Dr. Matthews, the Methodists in Fort Worth raised $500,000 for the hospital and now he is directing a campaign to raise another $500,000 in the Central Texas conference outside of Fort Worth.

ANNOUNCEMENT EXTRAORDINARY

BEGINNING TODAY, APRIL 20,

AT 8 O'CLOCK OUR ENTIRE STOCK OF MEN'S CLOTHING AND FURNISHINGS, SHOES FOR MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN WILL BE

CLOSED OUT IN A GIGANTIC SALE

We have decided to close out our entire line of Men's Clothing and Furnishings, also entire stock of Shoes, in order that we may convert our store into one of the largest and most up-to-date exclusive Ladies' stores in West Texas. In doing this we have a great confidence in Ranger's future growth and believe this town is large enough to support a large, exclusive store for women. We will carry one of the finest lines to be found in the State of Texas.

Prices are cut until it hurts, but we fully realize that in order to close out a large stock quick you must sacrifice all profits and then some. That's what we have done. So get busy and save some real money during this great sale.

Ranger's finest men's store to be closed out in one mighty selling campaign. Such lines as Stratford Suits, Edwin Clapp Shoes, Stetson Hats, Munsing Underwear—everything goes to the block at unheard of prices. During this sale strictly cash—no credit.
