

Save from $52 to $78 a year

You will be amazed to see how the use of "Bull" Durham will cut down the cost of your smoking.

How is it possible to give you quality at the low cost of 10 cents for 50 cigarettes?

ANSWER: The government tax alone on 50 machine-made cigarettes is 15 cents—5 CENTS MORE THAN THE COST OF 50 "BULL" DURHAM CIGARETTES TO YOU!

The average smoker saves $1 to $1.50 a week by "rolling his own" from "Bull"—or from $52 to $78 a year. This makes quite a Christmas fund—or pays for a fine trip.

HAGEN CONTENT WITH HIS GOLF LINKS LAURELS

Proposer in Future to Devote Much Time to Exhibition Work.

By HENRY L. FARRILL. (United Press Sports Editor) NEW YORK, May 9.—Regardless of what he does in the coming British open championship, Walter Hagen, winner of the 1922 championship and the first home-bred American golfer to win the British classic, is not going back to England after this year.

Hagen thinks he reached the goal of all golfers when he annexed the British title, and he believes he is paying off any debt of courtesy that might be incumbent upon him, by going back this year and defending his title.

Bill Tilden did the same thing when he won the British tennis championship twice and, like the king of the courts, the big monarch of golf thinks that there isn't enough glory attached to grabbing the title more than twice to recompense him for his time.

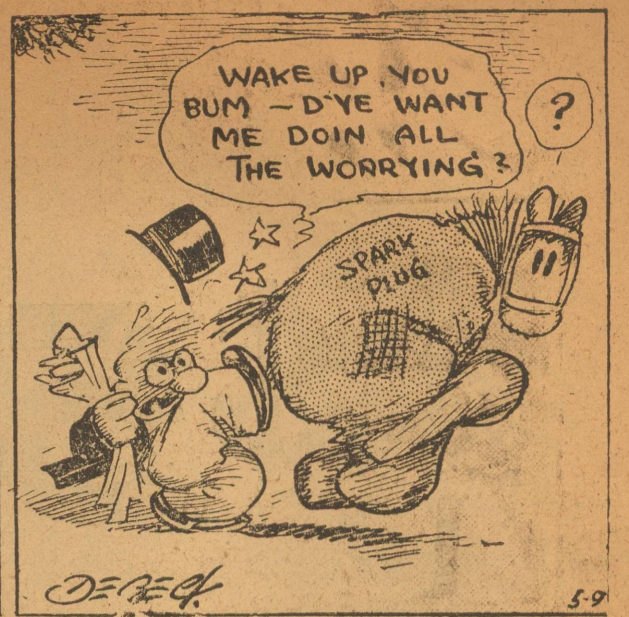

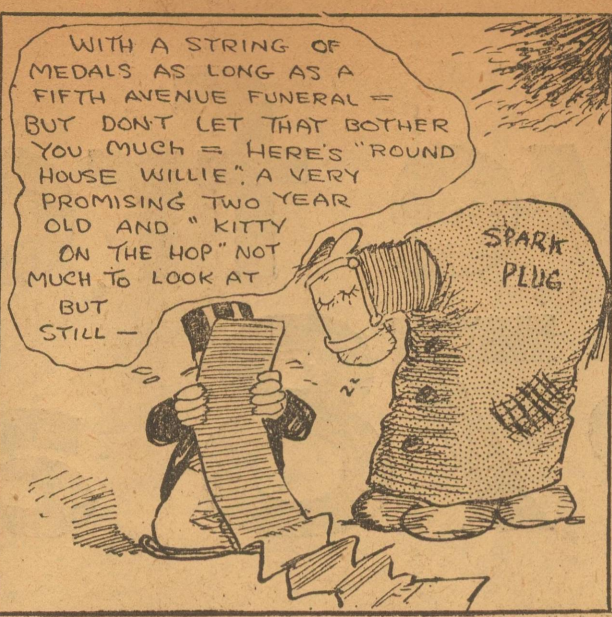

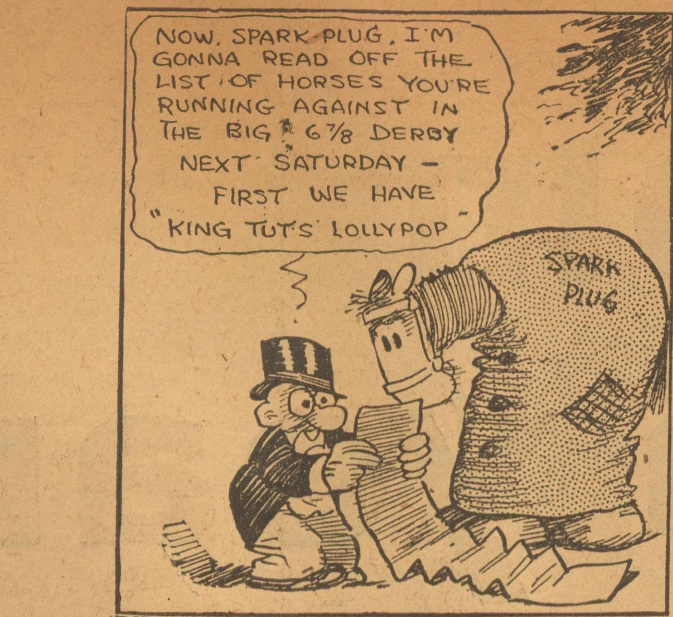

Nearly everyone expects Walter to repeat his last year's victory, because he stands out now as one of the greatest players of the decade and the opposition he will be compelled to face this year may not come as much from the British quarter as it might from his own teammates.

Slump in the form of most of the leading pros was shown recently in the Rochester tournament, the opening classic of the British season, when Abe Mitchell, J. H. Taylor and George Duncan went out in the first round, and Edward Ray went down in the second.

Hagen has become so much in demand for exhibition work in the United States that it is financially unwise for him to take up much of his time by playing on the other side.

Heavy hitting perhaps will continue indefinitely in the new Yankee stadium. Not that it is a handbox park built to make slugging less difficult, but because of the attention paid to details in building the background. Although it is the most valuable space in the park for advertising purposes the Yankee owners would accept no big signs for center field and the batter at the plate has a soft green curtain as a background to make the ball clearer in its flight from the pitcher. The bleachers are all green and turf slopes up on a grade away from the cinder track in centerfield, giving a touch of green grass color that is even less severe on the eyes than the green painted fence and bleachers.

Charley Paddock, world's champion sprinter, runs the risk of being declared a professional if he competes in the University of Paris games, according to William C. Prout, president of the A. A. U. Paddock probably will not worry, as he knows, and everyone else knows, that the A. A. U. never could get away with such a high-handed act.

Gillespie County Plans to Become Big Pecan Grove

FREDERICKSBURG, Tex., May 9.—Budding of 25,000 native pecan trees, said by J. K. Burkett, pecan specialist of the state department of agriculture, to be one of the largest projects for the advancement of the pecan industry in Texas, is the ultimate aim of Gillespie county.

Under the direction of R. S. Miller, county farm demonstration agent 16,000 trees have been budded with the famous San Saba "paper-shelled" pecan. Practically every community of the county started the budding simultaneously and is continuing the work.

Moral Value of Recreation

SERVICE WITH FIGHTING MEN—Article Two

FOR the first time in history a demonstration of mass games and play-for-all will be part of the program of the Olympic games of 1924 in Paris. The idea and its application are an American contribution. Strange as it may seem, the war gave opportunity and impetus for the spread of these things as never before. Outdoor games, basic in the formative life of most Americans, from childhood up, the American way of reasserting individuality, an ideal way of gaining worth by self-mastery and co-operation. While American athletics are distinguished by fine and complicated technique, it is in America too, that group and section of our population showed a natural tendency to divide its athletics between the great majority, the "fans," on the one hand, and the actual teams on the other. The goal was to make participants of all. There were gathered in the summer of 1917 in the 16 officers' training camps who were to be junior officers. Here the Y.M.C.A. sent some of its foremost physical directors. They were pioneers, thrown largely on their own resources, but pioneers in fertile territory where they won from future officers that co-operation which ultimately produced the gigantic total of 75,000,000 participants in various games at home and overseas. With congenial occupation provided for leisure time, the great majority of soldiers freely chose it in preference to indulgences. They found contests and games so arranged that not the picked men of a group but all the men were matched against all of a similar group. The major results were concrete. They contributed directly and immediately to the primary task. They helped to make good soldiers. They increased physical agility, stimulated the fighting spirit, promoted team work, and fostered moral fitness; strengthened elements essential to civic and military efficiency. The most trying period for our army in France followed the armistice. The words, "we want to go home," then gained real meaning. The real job seemed finished. Here again athletics proved of extraordinary service. Features of that time were the building of the Pershing Stadium near Paris and the holding there of the great games which have had a volume devoted to them—"The Inter-Allied Games." There were many other forms of entertainment. One phase has had still another volume given to it, "Entertaining the American Army," published by Association Press in 1921. Winthrop Ames said: "Entertainment has been discovered to be not a luxury but a necessity—as vital as sugar or food." And Augustus Thomas put it: "As necessary as a change of air in a room." Ames and Edward H. Sothen, returning from France, reported on April 23, 1918, to the largest group of the theatrical profession ever brought together. The result was the organization of the Over There Theatre League. Funds and management were fur-mass games have had their largest development. The moment that the young men of America began to be drawn into the cantonments it became necessary to provide entertainment and relaxation. This task was relatively as formidable as organizing the military undertaking; both had to be achieved on an unprecedented scale. Officers had neither time nor experience for directing recreation, so the problem became one for the welfare organizations.

ENDLESS RESTRAINT COULD NOT BE ENDURED

The first lessons of the recruit could be left to his own resources in times of relaxation. It is in the relief from discipline after battle that rapine, debauchery and gambling have come in to destroy morals, weaken the individual.

An army properly representative of America must not only be a well-equipped, well drilled army, but a victorious army, no matter what the tide of war. Both officers and folks at home determined that it must be a happy, healthy army, a clean army. They were united in the determination to provide proper recreation as a change from the monotony of endless restrictions and for relief from the strain of front-line service.

ITALIAN TROOPS IN AFRICAN DESERT HAVE CLASH WITH NATIVES

TRIPOLI, North Africa, May 9.—Two hundred natives have been killed in fighting with Italian troops in the desert, dispatches received here today stated. Nineteen Italian soldiers also are dead. Fierce fighting began when a column under Colonel Ruggeri, on May Day, occupied Tolera, an oasis 40 kilometers south of Misurata, and continued for three days as the Italian troopers moved further into native strongholds.

Natives forced the Italian attacks, 20 kilometers south of Tauorga, resisted strongly and only withdrew to permit occupation of the place after force had been slain.

ANGORA GOAT INDUSTRY BECOMES MORE IMPORTANT

Early in 1920, the Census enumerators found 1,753,000 goats in Texas which number has increased by 12 per cent a year later. On Jan. 1, 1922, however, the number had decreased 9 per cent from what it was the year before and a further decrease of 5 per cent was noted on Jan. 1, of this year. It is estimated that there were 1,655,000 goats in the state on Jan. 1, 1923, or 95 per cent of the number on Jan. 1, 1920. With a continuation of fair prices for mohair and a popularization of chevon, the Angora goat industry in Texas will become increasingly important and one of the most valuable assets of the state.

Practically 77 per cent of the goats in Texas are in the south central district.

Five Factors in Complex Problem Vital to Entire Greek Population; American Red Cross is Active

Here are five living factors in the problem that three capable gentlemen are trying to solve. The children do not know that they are factors or problems. They probably think of themselves as just plain kids. The gentlemen, Col. William N. Haskell, American Red Cross Commissioner to Europe, Dr. A. Doxiades, the Greek Minister of Public Assistance and Major Edmund L. Daley, Colonel Haskell's deputy, realize that there are some 999,995 factors and that the problem presented is as serious as the faces of the children themselves.

The children are typical of the million refugees who were transplanted to Greece with little warning as an outcome of the Greco-Turkish war. Colonel Haskell and Major Daley represent the organization which since the emergency arose has been caring for, feeding, bathing, vaccinating, clothing and delousing the neediest of the refugees, as an emergency measure to alleviate the suffering which such a mass movement of population is bound to entail and to check the threatened epidemics which menaced all Greece.

The work accomplished was effective. If a million of the dependent refugees were fed daily by the American Red Cross. Before the end of March more than $2,000,000 of American Red Cross funds had been expended to provide the food and medicines, the doctors and the nurses and to meet the other expenses of the operation. Judge John Barton Payne, Chairman of the American Red Cross says "American charity has prevented the refugees and the population which received them from experiencing disaster in the fullest sense of the word."

"If the refugees are to remain in Greece," Judge Payne continues "the time nears when the Greeks themselves should take over what must resolve itself into a lasting obligation. If return of the refugees to their homes or other solution of their problem through redistribution is to be effected, the operation is outside the scope of Red Cross funds or our proper responsibility."

Consequently Colonel Haskell has been told to notify Dr. Doxiades and the other representatives of the Greek government, that the American Red Cross intends to arrange transfer to local authorities and charities of the work now conducted and financed by it in Greece.

KANGAROO COURT MAKES BREAK IN PRISON LIFE

DALLAS, May 9.—"Judge" W. S. Scrivener, has been re-elected head of the Kangaroo court of tier No. 1, after serving a year in that capacity. Scrivener, serving time in connection with the sensational Jackson street postoffice robbery here in January, 1921, had a successful year on the "bench," he said.

Fines assessed by the "judge" have not only kept the "regulars" in the cell tier in smokes and other luxuries, but have kept newcomers busy with such duties as sweeping, mopping, making beds, etc. A new prisoner is usually tried and found guilty by the kangaroo court. If he has no funds, he must work out his fine.

FINAL MEETING OF SYMPHONY CLUB.
The final meeting of the Ranger Symphony club was made doubly interesting by the report of Mrs. C. S. Bronstad, delegate to the recent state convention of Music clubs at Wichita Falls. She reported the state organization as making every effort to secure a state supervisor of music and music supervisors in all high schools of the state. Reports of prize offers made at the convention showed that $100 had been offered by the Tuesday Music club of San Antonio for the best lyric drama beginning with Bible times, which will represent the music of all nations; the federation also pledged $1,000 to be paid in the next two years toward a fund for the education of the blind. The chairman of extension of the National Federation of Music clubs is offering $100 to the state which makes the most consistent increase in club membership during the year which will close with the biennial at Asheville in June.

An interesting paper on the main theory of Wagner's operatic art was read by Mrs. R. M. Schmuck, and a splendid paper on the works of Brahms by Mrs. Earl Taylor. A vocal solo by Mrs. A. L. Leake, accompanied by Miss Mamie Ruth Langston were much enjoyed.

At the business meeting which followed it was decided that the annual luncheon would take place at 1 o'clock on Tuesday the 22nd and that it would be served by the ladies of the Methodist church in their church rooms. All those intending to be present at the luncheon and to bring guests are asked to notify Mrs. C. C. Craig not later than Saturday, May 19. A guarantee of 35 plates has been made but it is thought that probably 50 ladies will attend, and it is necessary that all reservations be made as early as possible.

PORT ARTHUR, May 9.—It's a break-neck speed we Texans live these days. For instance:
On June 10, 1910, E. S. Cunningham, now a resident of Port Arthur, mailed a postal card to his wife and little girl who were visiting in Platon, Texas. The family later moved to Houston, thence to Denison and then to Port Arthur.
The card was delivered to them here May 2, 1923. It had been en route almost thirteen years.
The little girl mentioned on the card is now married and lives with her husband J. B. Whitman in Dallas.

TEXAS UNIVERSITY WILL CELEBRATE ITS FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY

By United Press.
AUSTIN, May 9.—Tomorrow will mark the opening of the three-day celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the University of Texas. Elaborate plans have been made by student organizations, university officials and former students' associations for the affair.
The celebration will be opened Thursday afternoon with an address by Governor Pat M. Neff, Dean T. U. Taylor of the engineering school, and President Robert E. Vinson. A tour of the university campus will follow the formal opening.

Thursday night, the annual coronation of the "Queen of Varsity," Miss Maria Taylor, will take place in the university gymnasium. An all-university ball will follow this feature.
Probably the outstanding feature of the celebration will be the historical pageant which will be staged Friday night. The pageant, which is to be directed by Dr. Milton R. Gutsch, of the university faculty, will depict the growth of the university since its founding in 1883. The university's growth will be depicted by songs, statures and dances, motion pictures, slides and tableaux.
