CUCUMBER PICKER . . . This mechanized cucumber picker was in operation Thursday in a field owned by Max Bush, several miles north of Progress. The machine can go over 10 acres of cucumbers in one day. This is actually an experiment to see if cucumber pickers would be beneficial to this area. The machine pulls up the vines and all, so only one picking is needed. Carl Ritter, field man for Western Vegetables, Inc. of LaJunta, Colo. was present when this picture was taken. He said that these cucumbers would be shipped to Colorado to their processing plant there. Shown in the picture on the machine are V.T. Tanner who runs a cucumber grading station at Progress, Max Bush, owner of the field, and Charles Benscheidt, machine operator.

Factory Will Open Plant In Muleshoe

Applications To Be Taken Here Monday

Hensley-Russell, Inc. has authorized Bill Loyd, president of the Muleshoe Industrial Board, to announce the purchase of the Muleshoe Manufacturing Company from Byron Gwyn and W.Q. Casey.

Irvin St. Clair, representing the Muleshoe Industrial Foundation made the initial contracts with the purchasing firm.

The plant will be needing immediate help since the plant does want to begin operating as soon as possible.

Hensley stated that there are presently 31 machines in the present location but he would like to expand as much as possible in that building, adding more machines and of course, more employees.

The plant in Cameron started out in facilities like the ones available here and then expanded into a newly built building.

The new manufacturing plant in Muleshoe shows that Muleshoe, with the right contracts, can establish industry here.

1971 Cotton Crop Worst In 25 Years

AUSTIN - - The 1971 Texas cotton crop has a special distinction: it was the worst in per acre yields in 25 years. The 1971 Texas Cotton Statistics reports that Texas production in 1971 totaled 2,579,000 bales; this was produced from 3,940,000 acres with a harvested yield per acre of 385 pounds.

Value of the lint alone was almost $340,000,000. During the season, prices ranged from 18 to 27 cents per pound. Texas easily retained its number one position in the nation, producing almost one million bales more than second-ranking Mississippi.

Three counties in Texas produced more than 100,000 bales of cotton during 1971. They were Lubbock, first in the state, with 155,900 bales; Dawson, second, with 116,800; and Hidalgo, third, with 110,700 bales. Other top ranking counties were Cameron, 99,100 bales; Hale, 96,100 bales; Lynn, 90,100; Terry, 88,800; Hockley, 88,400; Lamb, 88,300; and Gaines, 80,800.

Vandalism Reported In City This Week

A rash of vandalism has apparently broken out in the Muleshoe vicinity with several break-ins and other acts of vandalism being reported this week.

Thursday night there was extensive vandalism reported at the Muleshoe High School. Superintendent Neal Dillman reported to the Journal Friday morning that 18 windows in the school were broken out, several telephone lines were chopped into, lawn hose were chopped into and a tree in front of the school was chopped down.

Dillman stated that he was "offering a $50 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of vandals who destroyed school property."

Dillman also reported that black paint had been spread on the building at Richland Hills and on several other homes, businesses and fences in the city last week.

Claude Riley, the golf pro at the Muleshoe Country Club reported that on Wednesday night three privately owned golf carts were taken out of the club facility and run over the grounds, and into each other. The carts were knocked around quite a bit with each of them sustaining some damage. Riley estimated that the damage to the carts would be in the neighborhood of $100 to $150. He also said that the damage to the greens would be unestimatable until he could see whether the grass could continue to grow in the damaged areas.

The Bailey County Sheriff's office is handling the investigation at the schoolhouse and Deputy Pete Black was at the school all morning Friday tracing leads to a possible suspect or suspects.

Adult Classes Will Be Held This Year

The Muleshoe Independent School District will sponsor an Adult Basic Education Program beginning Monday, October 2, 1972.

Level I, Level II and Level III classes will be offered if enough interest is demonstrated by local participation. A minimum enrollment of 20 students per level should be maintained.

Registration for the Adult Basic Education Classes will be held Monday, October 2, 1972, in Room 23 at Muleshoe. Cont. on Page 3, col. 2

Youth Employment Program Successful

After marking up final totals in the summer employment program for youth, officials handling the program have concluded that, even though all the youth who registered did not get jobs, the program as a whole was a success.

The goal of the program was to attempt to get each youth who wanted to work some type of job. Co-sponsors of the program, Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, and the Texas Employment Commission, were pleased with the reception given the program by the business community and employers in the Muleshoe area, but at the same time felt that more participation by more employers would have added immeasurably to the program.

The Texas Employment Commission referred 121 youth from the Muleshoe area to jobs and of this number 89 were actually hired and went to work. Most of the jobs were in agriculture with the next largest number being in a service type of job such as restaurant work, yard work, service station work, etc. There were jobs in the clerical and sales field as well as construction and building trades. A total of 115 youth were registered or had been previously registered for summer jobs.

The co-sponsors praised the cooperation given the program by the Bailey County Journal and Radio Station KMUL. Glen King, Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture and Lonnie Merriott Texas Employment Commission, agree that this was a worthwhile community project and it is hoped that the program can be operated again next summer.

Free Lunch Program Explained In Detail

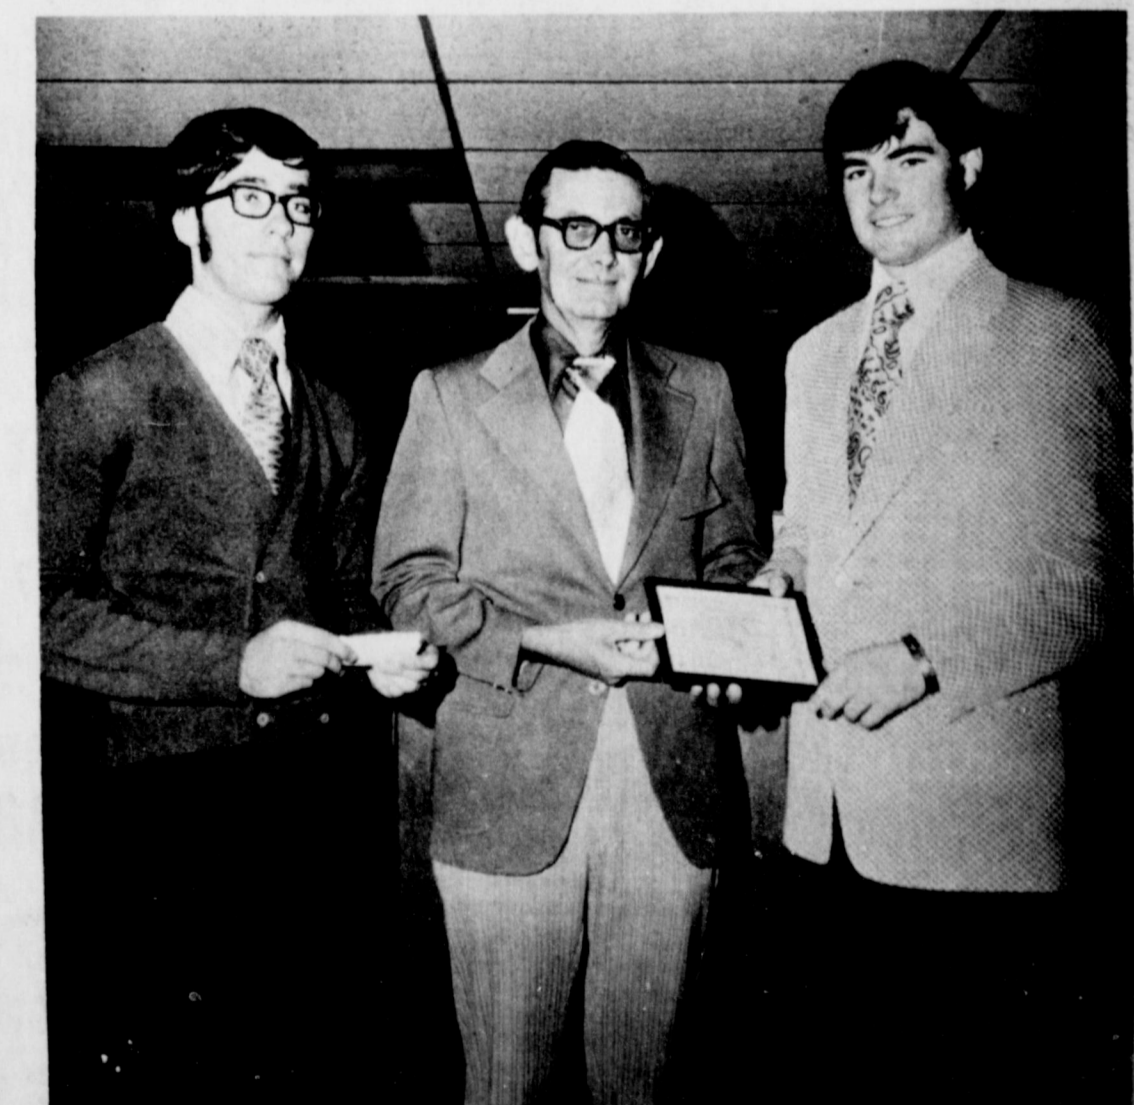

Muleshoe Schools has long recognized the need for helping meet the nutritional needs of its students. The following schools, Richland Hills Primary, Mary DeShazo Elementary, Muleshoe Junior High and Muleshoe High School serve a well-balanced nutritious lunch each school day. The charge to students who pay is 35 cents for first and second grades, 40 cents for third, fourth and fifth grades and 50 cents for the sixth through 12th grades. However, since some families find it difficult to pay this full price, the school will provide these lunches free of charge or at a reduced price to those children determined by the Director of Special Programs to be unable to pay the full price for their lunches.

Families who feel that their children may be eligible for free or reduced price lunches may apply. Copies of the application form were sent home in a letter to parents earlier this week. Additional copies may be obtained from each building principal. The complete application, signed by an adult member of the family should be returned to the building principal. Such applications will be reviewed promptly and within one to three days the family will be notified as to the decision made. All information provided on the application will be held in the strictest confidence. Decisions for approval will be based on income levels.

Any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school lunches, such as prolonged illness in the family, unexpected expenses due to fire, flood or any other disaster of this nature; seasonal unemployment and similar emergency situations, will also be considered.

CORN HARVEST . . . Corn harvest is in full swing this week, with many of the fields around Muleshoe being harvested. This corn crop will be used for insilage at nearby feed lots. A tremendous corn crop was turned out this year in the Muleshoe area. This county produced more corn this year than it has in many years past with some of it being contracted out to Frito-Lay and some of it going into insilage.

John Tower United States Senate COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

Our nation is facing an energy crisis. Our needs for energy sources are growing rapidly but we are beginning to experience some severe shortages. On occasion, some cities, industrial users and even family consumers have found that the energy they need is simply not available.

For too long, our national policies have been geared to keeping the price of energy low. That is a laudable goal, but it has been pursued over the years with excessive zeal. Now we are beginning to reap the result and the result is insufficient supply.

In our efforts to keep consumer prices low, we have made it unprofitable for the domestic petroleum and natural gas industry to explore for and develop the vast reserves that geologists tell us lie beneath the ground waiting to be tapped. Tapping this energy supply requires the expenditure of large amounts of risk capital. Investors have been hesitant to make these expenditures because prices have been too low to make the risk appear profitable. Our national policies have taken away the incentive for investment and exploration by excessive trimming of the potential profits. Oil and gas has provided about three-quarters of our energy sources. Even some of our electric power companies use oil or natural gas to generate electricity. The lack of incentive to seek oil and gas is now resulting in a lack of oil and gas supplies. We are left with a severe energy crisis.

Part of the reason for our energy crisis is the increased desirability of natural gas. Natural gas is a clean-burning fuel. It does not pollute. As air pollution regulations take effect, more industries and residences are turning to natural gas as an energy source. The demand is growing rapidly, but regulations, designed to keep prices low, have failed to generate needed exploration and there simply is insufficient gas to meet the rising demand.

Remedies for the declining domestic petroleum exploration are directly related to the lack of an economic climate in this country which is conducive to the generation and investment of the tremendous amounts of capital needed to explore for and develop the country's vast undiscovered petroleum reserves.

The domestic oil and gas industry has experienced a definite cost-price squeeze. This has been reflected in its lowered earnings which have been consistently less than those for the average U.S. manufacturing firm.

It has been said that we could make up our energy deficiencies by importing more crude oil from foreign sources. No doubt import increases will have to come about since the lead time required to discover and develop a new oil field is a number of years. But increased dependence upon foreign oil sources tends to compromise our national security and our foreign policy considerations. We should never allow ourselves to be placed in a position in which a new ally of the Soviet Union or Red China could suddenly cut off a significant portion of our energy supply. We should never allow ourselves to be placed in a position in which a new ally of the Soviet Union or Red China could suddenly cut off a significant portion of our energy supply. We should never allow ourselves to be placed in a position in which a new ally of the Soviet Union or Red China could suddenly cut off a significant portion of our energy supply.

source of oil, that situation, too, is changing. The foreign oil producing nations have now formed an alliance. The result is extremely effective collective bargaining. Faced with threats of embargo, our importers have agreed to pay higher prices to the producing countries and those higher prices are being passed on to consumers. That situation can be expected to intensify and there is no guarantee that foreign oil will always remain less expensive than domestic oil.

To solve our energy crisis, we need to re-shape our policies and let the natural supply and demand laws of the marketplace have a greater effect on prices. If we do that, prices will rise and supplies will increase. In all likelihood, the eventual prices will not be excessively high because increases in the supply will have a positive effect on prices.

In the Senate, I have offered legislation which would tend to de-regulate the price of natural gas and which would provide tax incentives to encourage domestic exploration for both oil and gas. These bills have not received sufficient attention in this Congress, but the Congress should address itself to the energy crisis before large numbers of consumers find themselves without a sufficient energy supply.

The problem is no longer one of finding ways to provide a sufficient energy supply, providing a sufficient supply has not been considered a position of consumer advocacy, but I suspect that it will, and in reality it is.

Ware Family Holds Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNeil and Mr. and Mrs. Dan McNeil of Muleshoe attended the Ware family reunion on Sunday, August 20, at Wheeler in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Ware Jr.

Twenty-eight family members were present. Those attending were Dr. and Mrs. W.F. Pittman of Holtville, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. E.A. Ware and Scott, of Alva, Okla.; Rev. and Mrs. Phil Ware, Debbie, Pat and Christi of Jink, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Adair Brown, Roger and Randy of Pratt, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Swires, Justin, Susan, and Anna Jane of Canadian; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Keeling of Wheeler; the host family and their children, Bobby, Kent and Gary; and the Muleshoe group.

by two of the bride's sisters for their weddings, held the elbow-length veil of illusion. The bride carried a bouquet of white daisies centered with a cluster of yellow rose buds atop a white Bible. The old, new, something borrowed and something blue tradition was also carried out in the bride's attire.

Mrs. Jim Tucker of Muleshoe was her sister's honor attendant. She was attired in a deep purple formal gown designed with an empire waistline. She carried a nosegay of orchid and purple asters.

Renea Barksdale and Crystal Darnell were the flower girls. They wore lilac formal gowns and white carnation wrist corsages. Each carried a small white basket of lilac petals.

Kevin Martin of Lawrence, Kansas, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer. The ring pillow, designed by the bride's mother, was of white satin trimmed on the outer edges with orchid lace and the rings were secured by orchid ribbon on the center of the pillow.

Mrs. Dale Martin of Lawrence, Kansas, and Mrs. James Vaughan of Abilene, Texas, sisters of the bride, served as candlelighters. They were attired in identical orchid formal gowns of empire design and wore corsages of purple and orchid asters.

Dr. Jim Tucker, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man. Mike Carpenter and Kenny Carpenter, both brothers of the bridegroom, served as ushers.

The ceremony closed with Mrs. Lynch singing "The Wedding Prayer".

The bride attended Paducah Schools until her senior year and graduated from North Lamar High School in Paris in 1971. Her husband, a 1967 graduate of Muleshoe High School and a former student at South Plains College, is presently employed by the Muleshoe Animal Clinic.

Special honor guests attending the ceremony were the bride's great-uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Norman McIntire, of Pattonville.

The bride's parents honored the newlywed couple with a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church immediately following the ceremony.

Mrs. Gary Chapman presented a variety of piano selections for the reception entertainment. Two orchid candles in crystal holders accented the piano top.

The reception table was covered with orchid satin overlaid with a white lace cloth and featured an arrangement of orchid and purple asters, flanked by orchid tapers. White napkins embossed with "Deborah and J.R." complemented the crystal service from which Judy Allred served punch. The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with purple and orchid spun sugar flowers and greenery was topped with the traditional miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Jack Butler served the wedding cake.

Presiding at the guest register table was Carolyn Allred, and Terri and Edna McLaughlin distributed rice bags to the guests.

For travel to points of interest in Oklahoma, the new Mrs. Carpenter wore a baby blue jump suit with white accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow rosebuds from her bridal bouquet.

The newlyweds are making their home at Route 2, Muleshoe, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Carpenter were hosts for a noon luncheon, Saturday, August 12, at K's Cafeteria, in Paris, Texas, honoring the wedding party. Approximately 25 guests attended the luncheon.

Women Of The Year Named By Epsilon Sigma Alpha

Mrs. Jo Blackwell and Mrs. Patricia King have been selected Outstanding Young Women of America for 1972, according to an announcement today by the Epsilon Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority. They were nominated by the organization earlier this year on the basis of their achievements.

Now in its eighth year, the Outstanding Young Women of America Program recognizes young women between the ages of 21 and 35 for their contributions to the betterment of their communities, professions and country.

More than 6,000 young women are nominated annually as Outstanding Young Women of America by civic organizations, churches and college alumni associations throughout the country. Complete biographical sketches of all nominees are featured in the annual awards publication, OUTSTANDING YOUNG WOMEN OF AMERICA.

The women included in the 1972 edition are now in competition for further state and national awards. This fall, fifty of them -- one from each state -- will be named as Outstanding Young Woman of the Year. From the fifty state winners, the national Ten Outstanding Young Women of America for 1972 will be selected.

The Outstanding Young Women of America Program was conceived -- and is today guided -- by leaders of the nation's major women's organizations. Serving on the program's Board of Advisors are the national presidents of women's clubs, headed by Mrs. Dexter Otis Arnold, honorary president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

In November, the 1972 edition of OUTSTANDING YOUNG WOMEN OF AMERICA will be published. The volume, to be distributed nationally as a reference publication, will include special introductory messages by U.S. Rep. Martha Griffiths (D-Mich.) and Amy Vanderbilt, the nation's leading etiquette authority.

Mrs. Max (Pat) King is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Barrett and the daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Harold King, all of Muleshoe. The Kings have three sons, Brett, 4, Lance, 3, and Kevin, 1. Mrs. King is the immediate past president of Alpha Zeta Pi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and is now serving on the board and as social committee chairman for the Sorority. In 1970-71 Mrs. King served as vice-president and was named as the outstanding member. She is a charter member of the local Beta Sigma Phi Chapter.

Mrs. King is currently president of the Ladies Country Club Association of the Muleshoe Country Club. She is an inactive member of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority and a past member of the Llano Estacado Civic Club.

Mrs. King graduated from Muleshoe High School in 1960 and from Texas Tech in 1965. The Kings are members of the First United Methodist Church where Mrs. King was director of Vacation Bible School this summer.

Market Report

COLLEGE STATION--When hot weather blues hit foodbuying, homemakers might rely on the many sausage meats available for quick and easy summer meals, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension service, advised this week.

In other sections of the meat market, beef prices remain the same as for the past few weeks, the Texas A&M University specialist noted.

"Most markets are featuring various cuts of beef at special prices, so check the counter for family preferences. In general, best beef values include chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, round steaks and liver," she added.

With pork prices remaining about the same as last week, best values generally will be shoulder roasts and steaks, hams, ham portions, picnics and quarter loins cut into chops.

"Egg prices are fluctuating but generally are edging upward just a bit due partly to the hot weather, which affects production," the specialist explained. Grade A large size eggs continue to offer the best combination of quality and economy for the month.

Turning to poultry, Mrs. Clyatt listed fryer chickens as "an excellent choice, price-wise." Frozen turkeys are available in most stores at economical prices, she added.

At fruit and vegetable counters this week, items in good supply at the most economical prices include bananas, prunes, cantaloupes, plums, nectarines, seedless grapes, potatoes, dry yellow onions, cabbage, carrots, corn and cuscushaw, the specialist said.

Junior Set Learns To Cook

Cooking is an art that can't always be learned from a book. To teach our Junior Set some of the basics, take advantage of this summer school recess period to get them into the kitchen. Marbled Cheesecake is a good beginner recipe—and it's sure to win praise from the rest of the family. Make up a packaged cheesecake mix, the kind that requires no baking and comes with both the filling mixture and the ingredients for crumb crust. Before starting, melt one square of unsweetened chocolate, either over hot water or very carefully over low heat in a saucepan. While that's cooling, the crust can be formed and the filling beaten up according to the package directions. Then pour half of the filling beaten up according to the package directions. Then pour half of the filling into the crust and drizzle with half the melted chocolate, repeating with the rest of the filling and chocolate. Then comes the fun part—ziggag a spatula through the mixture, and your young chef will have the prettiest marbled cheesecake anyone ever saw!

Christian Women's Fellowship Plans Programs For 1972-73

The Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church met Monday at 4 p.m. in the home of Mrs. T.R. White. It was a called meeting to plan the year's program.

Mrs. White, the president, passed out the year books and study material.

Mrs. Sena Stevens, worship and study director, discussed the year's program. She explained, "The first two meetings will have the program 'Six Hundred Million Neighbors: India and Nepal' which deal with the influence of the United States and Canada on India and Nepal as well as the effects of these Asian nations on the west." Mrs. Stevens pointed out that "the study will show how the welfare of one-sixth of the world's people is closely related to our own. The work of Christian Church missionaries and the co-operation of various church groups are described."

"The rest of the meetings will deal with 'Lighting Up Life' which discusses the interdependence in the light of Jesus' teaching the Sermon on the Mount," related Mrs. Stevens. "The study will show that the Christian's response to God's love should result in a growing sense of interrelatedness and interdependence which ultimately encompasses all mankind. Jesus accepted the old command to 'love thy neighbor' but universalized it to include all persons. In the Sermon on the Mount he even stressed the love of enemies as well as friend," commented Mrs. Stevens.

"While persons are interdependent, the conflict between self will and selflessness within each person makes this an uneasy alliance. How do persons find life fulfillment in spite of interpersonal tensions? These and other questions are explored in the study," concluded Mrs. Stevens.

The first meeting of the year will be Tuesday, September 12, at 4 p.m. with Mrs. LeVina Pitts, hostess, and Mrs. Joe Costen in charge of the program.

Those present were Mrs. S.E. Goucher, Mrs. Sena Stevens, Mrs. LeVina Pitts, Mrs. Bobby McGee, Mrs. Joe Costen and Mrs. White.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has some reflections on national political conventions this week.

Dear editor:

The trouble with politicians is that they frequently are too far behind the people. Take the national conventions. Everybody knew there were going to be demonstrations outside the hall in Miami Beach, had known it for four years, and while there's nothing like a televised confrontation outside the hall to break the monotony of a roll call vote inside, the costs of controlling such things are getting out of hand.

As I understand it, it costs the city of Miami Beach at least two million dollars just to provide all the extra police protection, not to mention with many stores boarded up and closed and hometown people afraid to venture out, it's almost impossible to make a cost of hauling all those buses to form barricades, and profit out of a convention any more.

But since there seems to be no way around holding one and since any city hereafter is going to think twice before letting one in, and I certainly don't want one held out here on this farm, the thing for the politicians to do is build a permanent convention hall recognizing the facts of life. Build it, before all states pass zoning laws against it, out on the prairie somewhere, but underground, with fifty-mile-long tunnels leading to it from all directions. Once inside, a delegate couldn't come out till somebody was nominated.

With some of the tunnels only decoys, so a few policemen dressed up to look like delegates could roar in by car, circle around and come out another exit out there on the prairie, demonstrators would be hard pressed to make much of a scene. On, it'd be all right for one of the cars now and then to slow down long enough for somebody to stick an ice pick in a tire, and just to keep in the spirit of the thing the tires could be filled with tear gas. The networks are entitled to some consideration in holding up their ratings.

If they're going to continue to hold conventions, politicians have got to wake up to the times we're living in. Everybody except them knows it's no longer practical to hold one out in the open.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Computers Pitting Bugs Against Cotton

COLLEGE STATION - - Somewhere in a Texas cotton field a maturing cotton plant is being surveyed by a boll weevil with dinner on its mind. The situation by itself is not too surprising; it happens millions of times each day. What is surprising is where all this is taking place.

The cotton plant and the boll weevil are in a computer -- as part of an experimental program taking place at Texas A&M University and three other schools in the nation.

Scientists there are beginning to grow, on a day-by-day basis, theoretical cotton plants using computers. They utilize the computer's speed and ability to introduce a large number of variables in growing a cotton plant in less than a minute of computer time -- quite a difference from the 200 days an experimental growth plot may take.

The idea is a recent one to agricultural research. Some of this pioneering work is being done by Dr. Donald Baker, a plant scientist at State College in Mississippi, who is consulting with Texas A&M in the development of their program.

Baker and his colleagues have developed a simulated cotton plant which responds to changes in the weather and other environmental influences. This program, called SIMCOT II for simulated cotton, will be linked to a program being developed at Texas A&M that will predict the effect of parasitic insects on cotton pests. This program, appropriately, is to be called BUG.

It all means that, in the future, researchers will be able to simulate cotton plants and then predict the effects of such factors as weather, parasites, cultivation, insecticides and harvest time.

Though the program has obvious advantages to such researchers as agronomists and entomologists -- not to mention farmers -- another field, agricultural economics, stands to benefit, according to Dr. Ray V. Billingsley of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Billingsley, an economist with the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology at Texas A&M, believes that the data from the computer can be used to calculate the costs and returns of different cotton production and insect control methods. The computer will allow the economist to observe a greater number of cotton production methods and calculate their costs in a much shorter time.

The recent banning of DDT and other non-biodegradable (persistent) insecticides was used by Billingsley as an example of how certain factors influence the economics of farming.

Since these insecticides are out, Billingsley said, the farmer may in the future use parasitic insects to control some cotton pests. The computer can predict the effect of the parasitic insects on the pests and allow an economic evaluation for the best control at the least cost.

Farmers need such research now, Billingsley said, even though the program has been given a three-year grant. He added that each method that seems feasible in the computer will be checked by work in experimental plots before the results are given to farmers.

LAUNCHES SPUTNIKS
Moscow -- The Soviet Union recently fired eight sputniks into orbit aboard one rocket. The eight unmanned sputniks was an exercise that simulated the launch of a military multiple-target missile. It was believed to be the fourth test of this kind.
