

Garner Bill Provides For Big Spring Building

Home Talk by Betty
We call special attention of our readers to a series of articles being started today on county taxation.

In view of the fact that no industry has been hit more violently by the world-wide crisis of the oil companies which produce from the Howard county field...

The splendid financial condition of Howard county is due in a great measure to the oil industry.

We have heard officials of three of the largest concerns doing business in Howard county say that "this is no time to lower our renditions of property values for tax levying purposes..."

Followers arguing today at the luncheon counter about how Texas would vote on a referendum to decide whether the eighteenth amendment would be repealed.

Our idea is that if you put the question to a vote of men only Texas would vote for repeal.

Reckon that's one of the things women are for anyway.

See where Granddahl is going to bring the Akron, back across the country over the southern route followed on the trip to the west coast.

Let us hope had weather doesn't deal the Akron and her crew so much misery this time.

But, if she's just got to hang over one town several hours due to bad weather we hope its Big Spring.

Time Of Rites For Local Man Not Yet Fixed

J. O. Tamsitt, 57, Victim Of Heart Attack Here Thursday

James Oliver Tamsitt, 57, resident of Big Spring since 1887, who died unexpectedly at 11:45 a. m. Thursday of a heart attack at his home, 207 Johnson street, will be buried here either Saturday or Sunday afternoon.

Time of the funeral service, which will be held at the First Presbyterian church, had not been fixed this afternoon, pending arrival at 4:40 or 9:15 p. m. Friday of his daughter, Mrs. A. L. Kent, from Gibsland, La.

Mr. Tamsitt started as an apprentice in the Texas and Pacific railway shops here about 1880 and after becoming a machinist held a position in the shops until the railway strike of 1922.

Shortly afterward he was made deputy sheriff of Howard county in charge of tax collections and served efficiently in that position until 1920, when he accepted a position as tax assessor for the city of Big Spring.

Mr. Tamsitt was born in Bloomington, Ill., in 1875. He is survived by his wife, an aunt, Mrs. Jenny Arnold of Minneapolis, Minn.; two nieces, Mrs. John Seymour of Houston and Mrs. Harry Williamson of Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Cam Powell, pioneer Big Spring couple, are the parents of Mr. Tamsitt's widow. Rev. W. L. Shepherd will have charge of the funeral services, with the song service under direction of the Presbyterian church choir. Burial will be in New Mt. Olive cemetery.

Sheriff Gus White of Dawson county Friday delivered four prisoners to Sheriff Jess Slaughter of Howard county, for delivery here late Friday or Saturday to the state prison system.

Attorneys said the petition alleged the 1919 conspiracy was to control crude oil, and that of 1929 refined products. The state admitted that "crude" was copied from pleadings in earlier trust litigation.

Just before recess Judge Moore indicated a change in the new allocations will be required. He said the present language "seems to indicate" that other defendants than those so charged were connected with the taking over of stock of Texas companies. The state conceded that was not the intention.

W. C. T. U. Declares War On Hotels In Chicago After Being Refused Lobby Space

Howard county and the City of Big Spring were complimented Thursday by Ollis B. Webb, assistant to the president of the Texas & Pacific Railway company, for the common sense and breadth of vision shown by their public officials in handling financial affairs during this year and last year.

At the Kiwanis club meeting Thursday another speaker was Penrose H. Metcalfe, representative in the legislature from this district. He pointed out that citizens of Texas appeared before the legislature during last session asking for a total of $30,000,000 more in appropriations than were finally voted.

Financial condition of the city of Big Spring and the county of Howard is better than that of most cities and counties, he declared. He commended the city manager and commissioners and the county judge and commissioners for their accomplishment toward reduction of expenditures and lessening of tax rates and charges for public services rendered through the city government.

SPORTS ON PARADE
 By CURTIS BISHOP

A week of rest, with only competition among themselves to disturb the placidness of practice rounds, lies in store for the Country Club linksmen before the journey to Sweetwater on June 5 for their first bit of the year with Chas. A. Nye, Clyde Southworth, Ed Hennig and Co. Placed on the ladder will be fought over enthusiastically, but the rankings will probably be the same on Saturday, June 4, with Shirley Robbins meeting the deliberate capable Nix in the feature match, and followed in order by Porter, Bristol, Coffey, Hicks, Stephens, Alkins, and Latsen. Stephens, Coffey and Hicks have shifted back and forth all season.

John J. McGraw, "the Little Napoleon" of the diamond, recalls many of his escapades while on the roster of the old Baltimore Orioles in this week's edition of a popular weekly magazine. One of the stunts in which McGraw specialized was skipping bases in the days when one umpire covered the entire game. Another favorite trick was to grab a runner by the back of the belt as he rounded third base and either hold him temporarily or throw him out of stride. Once, however, the tricky McGraw came out second best. Matt Donovan was standing on third base when the batsman hit a long fly to center field. It would be a question of inches in the throw in to the plate, and of course McGraw was adding over as to obtain a good grip on Donovan's belt. As the ball landed in the fielder's glove Donovan started for the plate. Midway he stopped and pointed back at McGraw who was holding the belt in his hands, for Donovan had loosened it.

The Wichita Falls netters are heading the North Texas Inter-city tennis league as the result of a sweeping victory over the Byers netters. Charles Cook, playing No. 1 for the Wichita team, trounced Lidgett of Byers 6-0, 6-2, while Tom McCarty, playing No. 2, defeated Allen, 6-1. McCarty and Cook together won their doubles match 6-2, 6-0.

McCarty is the present holder of the West Texas singles championship, won on the local courts last summer over Theo Ferguson of Midland and in four sets. Cook is the small, good-looking player that with Raymond McPhail went to the doubles final, losing to M. M. Ballard and Elmo Lowe of Abilene.

Cosch Bennie Winkelman of Central High (Fort Worth) is teaching his gridders tap dancing or rather he having Miss Addie Scruggs do it. It promises better co-ordination, Winkelman says. Cosch Ole Bristol turns thumbs down on the idea, declaring that his men know too much about dancing already.

The Abilene High relay team will leave Monday for Chicago, where they are entered in the annual national interscholastic and field meet. The schoolboy classic will be staged Friday and Saturday of next week. The Eagles will arrive in Chicago Wednesday, leaving them 48 hours to acclimate themselves to the Illinois region.

Should Dewey Meahew's flying squadron negotiate the mile to the same time at that which brought a record and a championship home to the mat Austin they are very, very liable to show their heels to the pack at Chicago. San Angelo won the national classic a year or so ago.

Drastic curtailment in Yale's intercollegiate athletic program with shifting of primary emphasis to intramural sports for "fun and informality" were outlined today by President James Rowland Agnew in announcing acceptance of a report of committee's recommendations.

So reports a dispatch from New Haven. The Elis will reduce their gridiron schedule to five games, and eliminate scouting, class teams, and the 150 pound club. Stress will be placed on sports for all students, with little practice and as much competition as they want.

Evidently then—there won't be a "little boy blue" to take the national championship away from Harvard this year with a field goal in the final minutes of play. The 125 mighty atom, Albie Booth, is incidentally almost recovered from an attack of puerility that threatened to blight permanently the career of the Eli all-around athlete, and took part in athletic competition for the first time recently since his "blaze of glory exit" against the Harvard Crimson last November. In addition to football, Booth starred in basketball, track, and baseball.

W. "Barry" Wood of Harvard, however, did even better. Wood was an All-American quarterback last year, as the Texas University football team will testify. He plays, in addition, lacrosse, hockey, baseball, basketball, track and tennis. Hockey finds him at his best, although he affords plenty of competition to the ranking stars in tennis and would be a threat for the intercollegiate if he could find time for the sport in his busy college day.

the MAN HUNTERS BY MABEL McELLIOTT

The church was dark and old. There was about it none of the feverish activity usually associated with a wedding. There was no canopy nor was there a strip of crimson carpet. There were no flowers massed in nave or chancel. Nevertheless the little group awaiting with hushed expectancy the arrival of the bride had about them an air of tender excitement often absent from ceremonies boasting greater pomp.

Outside were the high winds and blue sky of one of spring's more beneficent days. A group of chattering girls broke away from the door as the organist began to finger the strains of Lohengrin. March he was playing now, that tune which has always power to evoke memory and tears. The chattering girls sobbed and began to struggle down the aisle. The clergyman, solemn in his vestments, came to the door of the sanctuary to gaze anxiously toward the back of the church. The organist played softly. Not yet was he willing to break into the crashing chords which announce the arrival of the bride.

A tall, pleasant-faced girl prettily dressed in dove-gray was whispering to some friends in the third pew. They were listening to her words with interest.

"You could have knocked me over with a feather last night when she called. It was about nine o'clock. I knew they were thinking about it but I didn't know it was to be so soon."

"Pat Rose," protested a small, chubby girl demurely. "I think this is the nicest way to be married—without any fuss and sort of like a surprise party."

"I thought it was all off," put in another girl, nodding her head.

"Her aunt told my mother yesterday afternoon that she was going down to the country to live and Susan would probably go with her. When she called to say she was going to be married this afternoon I nearly passed out. What do you suppose happened to make them rush it so?"

Rose smiled cryptically. She thought how eagerly they all would pounce on the details she knew if she were indiscreet enough to reveal them. How Susan had decided the day before to give up Bob for his own good. How she had changed her mind. How Bob, goaded by his father's interference and pursuit, had deliberately seemed to fall in with the latter's plans for him even to the extent of making an engagement for one o'clock today—the very hour of his wedding. All this Rose kept locked in her heart.

The chubby little girl began to whisper excitedly again but she was interrupted by the resounding chords of the wedding march, played now with dramatic meaning.

"Here they come," Rose murmured. Every head was turned toward the door and back again toward the chancel from which the bridegroom, tall and fair-haired, now emerged. Another young man was at his elbow. Of the 20 or 30 guests gathered in the church, nearly all were women. The whippers were hushed as Susan, unwontedly pale, approached on the arm of a smiling, sandy-haired gentleman in

Ray stopped on the steps outside the church to put on more lip salve. In the mirror she saw that her eyes were red. "I look a fright, no kidding," she thought.

She felt a touch on her arm. It was Jack Waring.

"Can I give you a lift downtown?" Waring looked kinder somehow. The familiar mocking smile was gone. Ray thanked him almost timidly. Susan was glad to see them away together. Poor Ray!

It was all a golden dream—the all young man at her side—the joking—the journey to the station in the house alone, the girl begged her aunt.

Aunt Jessie scoffed. "I'm going down to Fonatella as soon as my boots can carry me. I've been wanting to make a good long visit there for years. Maybe I'll stay if I can get rid of the house."

Susan kissed Rose. She kissed them all. The white dress and the little flowered hat were packed in a way in one of the big bags. She wore the fawn-colored suit.

"Goodby, goodby. Don't forget to write to me!"

The bell clanged and the little group of faces under the station lights began to fade into a blur. Bob's arm stole around Susan. "I'm here," he whispered.

She gave him a shy smile. Was he really here—this splendid young man with the soft voice and the dark blue eyes? It scarcely seemed possible.

They sat, hands linked, on the platform of the club car.

"I'm sorry you had to make your father angry, Bob."

The young man shrugged. "He'll come around. He always does."

"I'm glad though that we're not starting off with a lot of money," said Susan thoughtfully. "I think that would be a handicap."

The boy stared at her. "You're a wonder to say that."

"But I mean it!"

"There's no limit to what we can do together," Bob told her with enthusiasm. "It's great to be on my own for a change. We'll show them—"

They talked on as lovers do. War it less than a year ago, Susan wondered, that she had been so discontented, so impatient for things to happen? Now she had love and a happy future. What else mattered?

The night wind grew colder and the sky above the rushing train shone with a scattering of stars.

"I've been so lucky," Susan said, nestling close to her husband. "I don't know what I've done to deserve so much."

She lifted her eyes to his. The boy put a kiss in the palm of the hand he was holding.

"Funny," he mused. "If it hadn't been for father and Denise—both of them bent on separating us—we probably wouldn't be together tonight. Denise especially. We didn't really want me. It just made her mad to think anyone else did."

"Call it Denise," murmured Susan, her eyes darkening. "Of course it—"

The train plunged westward.

Sam Morris Speaks At Fundamentalist Church

The all day fellowship meeting Thursday at the Fundamentalist Tabernacle at 205 Gollad street was one of the most uplifting meetings held in the city for some time. There were speakers from Lamesa, Lubbock, Stanton, Riscoe, Sweetwater, Klondike, Ackerly, Knott, and Stamford.

Rev. Sam Morris, pastor First

Baptist church Stamford spoke at the 11 o'clock hour on the second coming of Christ, to at least 300 persons. A beautiful lunch was served at the noon hour to all present.
Rev. Morris spoke for one hour and 40 minutes.
He promised to come to Big Spring for a revival meeting in the near future.

Chairman Of Picnic For Local Athletes Thanks Cooperators

Mrs. A. M. Ripka, chairman of a women's committee in charge of the affair, Friday asked that all those who contributed to success of the picnic given in City Park Wednesday evening honoring athletes of Big Spring high school be thanked for their cooperation and assistance.

Memorial Day Sermons To Be Preached In Two Of City's Churches Sunday

Veterans Of Foreign Wars To Attend Episcopal Church In A Body In Morning; Legion To Go To Methodist In Evening

Memorial Day will be observed in the city's churches Sunday with special music and topics. The Legion and V.F.W. will take special part both morning and evening. The music and the floral decorations will represent the spirit of Memorial Day and will be, in themselves, beautiful tribute to those who have passed away, both soldier and civilian.

The Veterans of the Foreign Wars will attend the morning services at St. Mary's Episcopal church in a body. The veterans will assemble at the Settles Hotel mess hall at 10:30 and march in a body to the church. The vicar, the Rev. W. H. Martin, will deliver a Memorial Day sermon and the quartet will render special music.

The evening memorial services will be held at the First Methodist church. The American Legion will participate in these services, which will commence at 8 o'clock. The members are asked to meet at the Settles Hotel at 7:30 in order to march together to the church. The pastor, the Rev. J. Richard Spann will take for his topic, "In Memoriam." H. G. Keaton will sing a special solo for the occasion.

The sermon topic for the morning service at the First Methodist church will be "Church and Christian Education." Mrs. Joe Faucett and Mrs. V. H. Flewellen will sing a duet.

At the East Fourth Street Baptist church, the Rev. Woodie W. Smith, newly elected pastor of the church will preach his first sermon as pastor of the church. The Rev. W. L. Sheppard, who is filling the pastorate of the Presbyterian church will be the speaker there Sunday.

Walter Adams, of the A. C. C. faculty, will speak Sunday morning and evening at the Church of Christ. George Wilke will conduct the services at the First Christian church Sunday morning. The choir will render special music. There will be no evening services.

The Rev. H. C. Goodman will preach special sermon Sunday night at the Tabernacle at 205 Gollad St., on the subject of the Jews. His theme will be: "Has God Set Aside the Chosen People and Does the Church Take the Place of the Jew?"

Thursday Club Disbands For Summer Months
Mrs. Garland Woodward entertained the members of the Thursday Luncheon club this week with the last session until fall, when the club will resume its activities. After a delicious luncheon the afternoon was devoted to bridge. Mrs. Timmons made high score and Mrs. Porter second high. Both received attractive gifts.

Those attending were Meses. E. V. Spence, C. S. Bloomshield, J. E. Kuykendall, G. A. Porter, Fred Primm, H. C. Timmons, J. L. Webb and one visitor, Mrs. Louis Payne.

Teachers Paid 90 Per Cent In Cash, Warrants

As the 1931-32 session closed, Friday teachers in the Big Spring public schools had been paid 90 per cent of the session's salaries, in cash or warrants.

Each teacher had been given two $100 maintenance fund warrants, which bear interest and mature on or before three years from April 1, 1932. Many of the teachers have disposed of these warrants.

School officials said that the teachers would be paid the remaining 10 per cent of their salaries in non-interest bearing, non-negotiable warrants, payable after the maintenance fund warrants have been retired.

The teachers voted some time ago to voluntarily cut their salaries 10 per cent of the sum they were to receive for the entire session, provided they could obtain the remaining 90 per cent in cash.

Since it was necessary to pay part of the 90 per cent in warrants, the non-negotiable warrants were to be issued as the next best method possible for paying all salaries for the year.

Payment of a month's salary to all teachers was made possible by a loan of $10,000 made to the school district by Tom Good, local cattleman.

Nancy Bell Philips Gives Charming Piano Recital

Mrs. W. H. Martin presented Nancy Bell Philips in a piano recital Thursday afternoon to which several of her friends were invited. Nancy Bell played several difficult compositions with ease and showed not only a fine technique but an interesting manner of interpretation.

The program was opened with two solos by Wayne Martin, "To You," by Oil Spreader and "Mother Moon" by Heller. Nancy then played "Playful Sunbeam" by Kathleen Cotter and "Grandmother Minuet"

VITAMIN B IN BRAN. RESEARCH REVEALS

Also Has "Bulk" to Further Assist Elimination, and Iron for Blood

One of the functions of Vitamin B is to help tone the intestinal tract, and promote elimination. Now, laboratory experiments show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains this valuable vitamin.

In addition, ALL-BRAN brings a plentiful supply of "bulk"—which provides the "ballast" needed to exercise the intestines.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Inside the body, it is different from the way you see it in the package. It absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, milder, more palatable.

Another healthful element brought by ALL-BRAN is iron. Tests show this cereal has twice as much usable iron as the same weight of best liver.

Check common constipation—with its frequent headaches, loss of appetite and energy—by eating this delicious cereal. How much pleasanter than taking pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

by Edward Giteg and T'Arabeque by Bergmuller. Champs Philips gave a reading, "My Dad," very entertainingly. Nancy Bell concluded the program with "To a Wild Rose" by McDowell and "Watchman Song, by Greig.

Attractive Bridge Club Luncheon Is Tendered Visitors

Mrs. Ben R. Carter was hostess to several tables of bridge guests for a very dainty bridge luncheon Thursday at her home in Washington Place.

A charming color scheme of pink and green was used in the decorations of sweep peas for the tables. Larkspur in pink and purple shades combined with white furnished the color notes for the rooms where the visitors played, following the three-course luncheon.

Several Sweetwater visitors attended. They were Mrs. Joe Brown, Frank Murchison, M. B. Howard, Blanche Dehaley, L. L. Ar-

Good Coffee Is Most Economical

When money is scarce the housewife, naturally, saves everywhere she can and one of her first moves is to reduce the cost of the family table. In one way this is a simple matter today for prices of virtually all food commodities are at their lowest point in over a decade.

In another way it is an extremely difficult problem, particularly for the housewife whose family is accustomed to the best cuts of meat, the finest vegetables, the richest desserts and all the "trimmings." But in both cases there is a danger of false economies with the result that the menu may be cheapened out of all proportion to the saving effected.

An apt example of such economies is the theory that money can be saved on coffee by keeping the left-over liquid from one meal and adding it to the coffee made for the next. This is no economy at all, but it is probably the worst crime in the cookbook, for no one with any sensibility of taste could actually enjoy left-over, warmed-up coffee.

The chief virtue of coffee is in its stimulating taste and fragrance, both of which are lost when it is allowed to stand. Coffee must be freshly brewed and served to be good. There is no other way to obtain drinkable results, even from the most expensive blends on the market.

Today coffee is very low in price, one cup costing considerably less than one cent. If a saving of one or two cents per pound must be made, the only wise procedure is to brew only as much coffee as will be drunk at each meal.

But if coffee cannot be made well, the better plan is not to make it at all. It should be fresh, it should be fragrant and it should be either piping hot or frigidly cold, never in between. The best proportion, by whatever method it is brewed, is a heaping tablespoon to the cup of water. The coffee should not be kept in contact with the water any longer than necessary or certain bitter properties will be extracted from the grounds and the taste ruined.

Dempsey Not To Attempt Big Play Now

Turns Down Much Money For Fight With Carnera In Reno

By GEORGE KIRKSEY United Press Staff Correspondent CHICAGO (UP)—"King Levinsky of Chicago and Max Baer of California will meet in a 20 round bout here July 4"—Reno news item. This is nothing much to get excited about, but it means that Jack Dempsey has abandoned his plans to try a comeback this summer. Dempsey was offered $300,000 in real money by a Reno syndicate to meet Primo Carnera, Levinsky, Baer or a leading heavyweight in the Nevada city July 4 and turned it down.

Instead he will turn to the promoting end again, despite the fact that he lost a lot of money trying to stage fights at the Chicago coliseum two years ago. Some say this wasn't Dempsey's money but anyway he failed because he overpaid the fighters. When he went after an attraction he wouldn'ticker, but would pay the price asked and managers soon found this out.

Dempsey will sponsor the Levinsky-Baer bout, probably will referee it and will share in the profits, provided there are any. If there are any losses he'll come up about probably will stand them. The Reno bout itself isn't expected to make money, but to attract sportsmen and spenders to the gambling tables, hotels and resorts.

Dempsey might now have been in training for a return to the ring if difficulties hadn't come up about getting Primo Carnera, giant Italian, to return to this country.

Carnera was the one opponent Dempsey wanted, feeling that Carnera's bulk and style were made to order for him.

Treatment Of Cancer

(One of a series of ten articles on cancer issued by the Texas Medical Association.)

Surgery, radium and x-rays, in the hands of skilled physicians, are the only effective methods of treatment for cancer. The relative merit of these methods depends upon the variety and the location of the cancer to be treated. In some cases surgery alone is the most suitable method. In other cases radium or x-rays are preferable. Sometimes a combination of surgery, x-rays and radium gives the best results. The choice of method in every case should be a matter of medical judgment.

The early application of proper treatment is very necessary for the cure of cancer. In some forms of the disease the chances for a favorable result decrease considerably with each week's delay. In the face of such a rapidly advancing condition it is evident that a case which may be curable during the first month becomes hopeless within six months.

In breast cancer, for example the time of operation is the most important factor in its treatment. Results have shown that when the operation is performed in the early stage of the disease, 70 per cent of the patients are still alive and well after five years. Whereas when the disease is far advanced, 95 per cent will not be alive at the end of five years. Thus, with the nature of the disease the same, and the operation the same, the stage of the disease makes all the difference between success or failure.

Every case of cancer is an emergency, and until it is recognized as such the prospect for the patient is unquestionably bad. Many lives are sacrificed by trifling with home remedies and other unscientific methods of treatment. Procrastination and incompetency always mean failure. Promptness and skill will often produce a cure.

MY, BOBBY, DID YOU EVER SEE SUCH FOAMY LATHER! I DON'T KNOW HOW I'D EVER GET YOU CHILDREN CLEAN WITHOUT KIRK'S COCO HARDWATER CASTILE!

PLEASE, MOTHER, CAN I HAVE A SHAMPOO? IT MAKES MY HAIR SO SOFT AND NICE.

SAVE PLENTY OF SUDS FOR ME, MOTHER. I SLID HOME ON MY EAR!

Clean as a whistle

When rough-and-tumble youngsters rub the dirt right into their skins—and they all do—it takes lots of good lather to get it out again! Ordinary soaps don't dissolve freely enough—especially if the water is the least bit hard. They give a stinging lather, leave a dirty, soapy film on skin and hair. What's needed is a special soap—and no soap softens and loosens dirt, in any water, like Kirk's Coco Hardwater Castile.

Oceans of lather—Instantly!

Here's the difference: Kirk's is made from 100% pure coconut oil. It bursts into lather instantly—even in the hardest, coldest water. It rinses off completely—leaving skin and hair as fresh and clean as a spring morning. Body odors disappear like magic. Try it today—for hands, for bath, for a wonderful shampoo. And for economy! Of the four leading toilet soaps, Kirk's is half again larger, yet the price is the same! Avoid imitations. Look for the arrows. Always ask for Kirk's by name.

Largest Soap Makers In America

Both Keynoters For National Conventions Found Taking Care Of Relatives On Senate Payroll

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
United Press Staff Correspondent, WASHINGTON, (UP)—The family payroll racket is so all-pervading in congress that even the two senators chosen as national convention keynoters, the leaders selected to stir the sobriest political impulses on the eve of a great presidential election, are found to be taking care of relatives in the senate payroll.

The Republican keynoter, Senator L. J. Dickson, Iowa, also a member of the senate special economy committee, has tightened down his family list since he was in the house. He has a son-in-law as a secretary and the young man is a conscientious worker. Until Dickson left the house for the senate in March, 1931, his son was one of his clerks and the son-in-law was a messenger in the house post office. A second office clerk was employed at half the son's salary.

Senator Allen W. Barkley, Kentucky, who will be the Democratic keynoter if his current high-tariff views on the tax bill do not disqualify him, carries a son as a clerk at $3,900, the maximum salary. A daughter is carried as L. L. East at $1,500. The son is out of the city for the time being. The daughter appears at the office only occasionally. Senator Barkley explained she helped him at home and that he had no apology to make.

Holden, opposing Senator John Thomas, charged that Thomas had his daughter, Mary Thomas, and his sister, Mollie T. Youl, on the senate payroll as clerks at $2,200 a year.

Holden charged that the daughter had been on the payroll for a year and a quarter and that the sister was employed July 1, 1930, and "was still on the government payroll when the last report was made."

The real nature of the family payroll racket as sometimes practiced is not always apparent on the records themselves. Take the eminent case of Rep. Green of Florida, chairman of the committee on the disposition of useless papers.

This correspondent telephoned Green twice to check up on a report that George Johns, employed at $2,700 as secretary of this committee, is Green's nephew. But each time the telephone was cut off just as the person who said he was Congressman Green was asked if Johns was his nephew.

Anyway, Green has an elderly father, who is practically never in Washington, on the payroll at $291.60 a month, while the young lady, who does most of the office work, draws $125 a month—showing her in the congressman's judgment apparently, to be one-third as valuable to the government as the congressman's father in Florida.

Just a few days ago Green's father impulsively burst forth—it was in reference to his own family payroll—and he suggested in the house that the mileage of federal judges be abolished.

"The salaries of judges can not be decreased, but everybody else is taking a cut, and there is no reason why they should not," Green told the house.

Administration Spokesmen Hit Garner Plan For Relief, Calling It "Shock To Public Confidence"

WASHINGTON—Bearing the approval of house democrats, the $2,100,000,000 Garner relief bill was completed Thursday night almost coincidentally with announcement of a statement from administration spokesmen that a public works program would be a "shock to public confidence."

The Garner bill carries a $1,047,000,000 public works provision. It also would provide $100,000,000 to be administered by President Hoover for direct relief and would add $1,000,000,000 to the capital of the reconstruction corporation for loans to states, cities, counties, individuals and corporations that could furnish proper security.

The expression of administration opposition to a public works program came from Secretary Mills in a statement dealing specifically with the program advanced several nights ago by former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York.

Public Borrowing
He said "public works means public borrowing, an unbalanced budget and a shock to public confidence."

The Garner measure does not specifically provide for a bond issue, but Speaker Garner explained to his colleagues in a two-hour session behind closed doors that the treasury already was authorized to issue bonds up to $38,000,000,000 and to issue treasury bills, certificates and notes up to $10,000,000,000.

With the public indebtedness around $17,000,000,000, Garner said the treasury could finance the public works program under existing authority. However, the measure provides for a tax of one-fourth of a cent a gallon on gasoline to meet the interest and sinking "and requirements on the bonds issued by the treasury for the program."

The measure removes restrictions on the reconstruction finance corporation and gives it broad latitude in order that loans may be made "aid in financing agriculture, commerce and industry and other products and to assist in the relief of unemployment."

R. N. A. Have May Day, Mother's Day Program

The Royal Neighbors of America, Camp No. 1277, held a combination of May Day and Mothers' Day program at the W. O. W. Hall Thursday afternoon at 2:30. Purple and white larkspurs furnished the floral notes.

The following program was rendered: "America," a violin duet by Elmo Martin and Leon Rogers, accompanied by Mrs. Morgan Martin; reading, "Dad," by Mary Pond; reading, "Mother," by Marvin Hall; violin solo by Elmo Martin; reading, "Children's Hour," by Sylvia Pond; vocal solo, "Rock of Ages," by E. A. Nance, Jr., accompanied at the piano by Miss Hazel Nance; reading, "Matilda Jane," by Mary Evelyn Lawrence; piano solo, by Hazel Nance; piano solo, by Mrs. Morgan Martin.

The oldest and youngest mothers, Mrs. W. A. Masters and Mrs. Ford Pierce, respectively, were given lovely bouquets of flowers.

The program was concluded with the singing of "Blessed Be the Tie" after which Mrs. Shelby Hall and Mrs. Christine Robinson conducted the several games. The prize winners in these were: Mrs. A. A. McElrath, Elmo Martin and Sylvia Pond.

Refreshments consisting of lemonade, cake and sandwiches were served to those on the program and the following: Mrs. D. S. Orr, R. J. Barton, F. W. Thumser, Morris Burns, M. C. Lawrence, J. F. Byers, D. H. Petty, J. E. Pond, A. C. Wilkerson, Claude Wright, F. L. Van Open, A. L. Nelson, Glass Glean, J. F. Orr, J. S. Nabors, E. C. Boatler, Miss Clara Bailey, Opal Pond, Juanita Nance, Clarice Petty, Etta Ruth Pierce.

Whiteman Sued

HOLLYWOOD, (UP)—A municipal court suit against Paul Whiteman, orchestra conductor, was filed in behalf of Robert C. Kerr, who charged that his house suffered $402.25 damages while Whiteman occupied it. Installation of a small bar, spilled liquor and cigarette burns on furniture and rugs contributed to the damage, Kerr charged.

Congressional Printing Termed Most Expensive Petty Racket Now Extant In National Capital

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
United Press Staff Correspondent (Copyright, 1932, By United Press)

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Of all the forms of petty racketeering here, the congressional printing racket probably is one of the most expensive.

An squad of expert accountants would be necessary to check up the complete cost because it is scattered in so many places.

For instance the house folding room is trying to dispose of more than 1,000,000 pieces of surplus printed material originally ordered for congressmen to distribute to constituents. This includes 187,000 copies of eulogies of deceased members. It includes 615,000 copies of the agricultural year book, for various years, some dating back to 1906. The yearbook is a cloth bound volume running 113 pages for the 1931 edition and priced $1.50 at the government printing office—only very few are ever sold. Of the 400,000 copies printed, the department of agriculture took 20,000 and the remaining 380,000 were turned over to congress for distribution to constituents. This entire lot is being sold at the official price, should have sold at $60,000.

Sell Surveys
The department of agriculture is laboriously publishing roll surveys of each county in the country. The law under which this is done requires that each senator shall have 500 of these and each congressman 250, which is more than the population of some rural counties.

These cost something under 40 cents a copy. They are so scientific that one congressman complained he had no use for them and had stored them in the barn where the rats gnawed them.

Printing for congress cost $2,800,000 last year.

The government printing office last year turned out 71,941,308 copies of publication and sold 8,697,247 copies. On the Wickersham report, $100,000 was spent printing it and practically no copies were sold.

Four-fifths of the farmers' bulletins issued by the department of agriculture are printed for circulation by congressmen. They are franked out to voters mailing lists often with the congressman's name stamped on them.

Draw freely
As the campaign comes on, congressmen are drawing more heavily on the free mailing privilege which goes for anything they first have printed in the congressional record. This week the house attempted to give blanket authority to every congressman to "extend his remarks on the so-called beer bill. It was blocked by Rep. O. Derhill, Rep., Mass., who said: "To throw it open to all members of the house rather adds nor subtracts anything from the merits of the question. It has been settled for this session and it is only incurring expense that ought not to be placed on the taxpayers."

A page and a half of the record this week was taken up with a sermon on the Lindbergh baby, inserted in the record by Senator Moses, Rep., N. H. The clergyman may now have this circulated free under some senator's frank—and at that it probably is better to circulate a sermon than some of the trainloads of printed matter that are now burdening the mails.

Rhodes Drilling Company Is Given Sabine Oil Rights

AUSTIN, (UP)—Rhodes Drilling company of Fort Worth held a tentative contract for recovery of oil beneath the state-owned bed of the Sabine river in East Texas.

The company's bid represents an ultimate revenue of about $3,250,000, the state board of mineral development estimated. The award is subject to final action by the state supreme court in the case of F. B. Jackson vs. State Land Commissioner J. H. Walker.

Jackson claims he has the right to lease and develop the river bed under an old law. The contract recently denied Jackson a mandamus to force Walker to issue the lease. He filed motion for rehearing, which has not yet been acted upon.

The tentative contract is for development of 780 acres. The company bid three-eighths royalty plus a bonus of $5,125 for each well. Oil experts estimated a maximum of 114 wells would be required.

Idle Art Bridge Club Enjoys 'Pink' Party

Mrs. Cecil McDonald was hostess to the members of the Idle Art Bridge Club Thursday evening at her home in Washington Place for a very enjoyable party.

A single color scheme of pink prevailed in all the accessories in a most unusual fashion.

Miss Robinson made club high score and received a pink boudoir pillow. Miss Ford made guest high and received a bread knife and board. Miss Runyan cut for high and received a pink Colonial doll, a handkerchief holder.

The guests of the evening were the hostess' sister-in-law, Mrs. Clarence Matthews; Misses Zillah Mae Ford, Theo Fuller, Eva Mae House, Emma Louise Freeman.

The members were Misses Veda Robinson, Inocence Runyan, Margaret Battle, Maxine Thomas, Lena Kyle, Bobby Rix, Polly Webb, Jennie Barley; Mmes. Harold Lytle and Tommy Jordan.

Mrs. Lytle will be the next hostess.

Bill Re-Writing Proration Statute Being Drafted

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—A bill re-writing Oklahoma's proration statute in line with the United States supreme court decision upholding the states' oil curb will be introduced in the next legislature, David M. Logan, Oklahoma county representative said today.

"The fight to repeal proration is dead, once and for all," declared Logan, a candidate for the state senate in the thirty-second district this year.

Logan, who headed the oil and gas committee in the last House, said the movement that caused 120,000 petitioners to ask the 1931 legislature to repeal proration, has been definitely killed.

"The supreme court has pointed the way, and we can now re-write the conservation act so it will cover the situation as we want it to," said Logan.
