Muleshoe Celebrating Public Schools' Week; Open Houses And Science Fairs Are Featured

FIRST SHIPMENT — Rudy Wiedebush and Arvis Grog are examining a pheasant cock which was part of a 200 bird shipment received in Muleshoe this week. The birds will be distributed to local farmers who will eventually release them in the area. Other shipments have been ordered by the group which will attempt to stock the entire Muleshoe area with the birds.

Awards To Be Presented For Pupils Best Science Exhibits

Good schools build good citizens for a better community and country. In short that's the theme of "Public Schools' Week", which the Muleshoe Independent School District will celebrate next week.

Highlight of the week-long affair will be an all encompassing Science Fair at both grammar schools. For several weeks now students at Richland Hills and Mary DeShazo have been building and detailing science-hobby exhibits to be displayed at the schools during open house.

Open houses have been scheduled at both Richland Hills and Mary DeShazo from 7 to 9 p.m. tomorrow, according to Milton Oylar and W. O. Coltrane, school principals.

At Richland Hills, the exhibits will be displayed on tables in the center hall. Grades 4, 5 and 6 will be judged prior to the open house and ribbons will be attached to the first, second and third place winners. There will also be to honorable mentions.

A grand prize winner will be presented with a blue ribbon by the judges, Mrs. Mary Scoggins, W. O. Harrell, and E. M. Dobbs, according to Oylar.

No formal program will be presented during the open house so parents will have more time to visit individual rooms and converse with teachers. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria from 8 to 9 p.m.

A similar program has been planned at Mary DeShazo where science exhibits will be displayed in the fourth grade rooms in the east wing and in the science rooms in the west wing.

Here also winners will be judged and ribbons presented by the judges, Bryan Brady, Willie McAlpin, and Mrs. Ruth Page. DeShazo teachers will be in their individual rooms from 7 to 9 p.m. to greet parents and display children's work, according to Coltrane.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

"The purpose of Texas Education Week is to give parents an opportunity to visit the classroom and observe the work of both their children and of the teacher," Coltrane stated.

Another open house will be held at the same time at Hilltop school. Although there will be no science exhibits, the affair will feature the selection of the school's three top spellers for entrance into the Muleshoe Journal's annual county-wide spelling bee. Refreshments will be served. (See School Page 5)

Three Mules Named To New All State

Three members of last season's history making Muleshoe Mules football team have been named to the first annual State-wide District Champions' Team. Dick Paylant was named as center of the AA offense team and two local backs were named as honorable mention. They were Scott Oliver, as half-back and Dan Smith as full-back, according to Ralph Sgevenson, Muleshoe High School principal.

Court Action

Two Muleshoe area residents plead guilty to various counts in county court and were fined and given jail sentences this week.

Floyd Lee Coffee, plead guilty to driving while his license was suspended. He was fined $100 and costs.

Leo Perea plead guilty to DWI and was sentenced to three days in jail and fined $100 and costs.

Mules' Band Enters Music Competition

About 60 students from the Mule High School Band entered the Interscholastic League Solo and Ensemble Contests at Lubbock Monterey High School.

Each student was allowed to play in two contests, with grading on quality of performance, preparation, interpretation of music, memorization of music and technical instruction.

The five different awards from Division one to Division five are ratings from "superior" to "very poor." Division I and II receive medals and certificates, respectively.

Muleshoe's Young Rocketeers Fizzle On The Launching Pad

Muleshoe turned out in force this week to attend the annual area Cub Scout Banquet. The turnout exceeded all expectations when about 240 cubs, parents, Scouts officials and supporters the American Legion Hall to overflowing.

Three separate events were to highlight the yearly affair. Two of the three, the presentation of flowers to den mothers in recognition of their efforts and the presentation of cub awards went off without a snare.

The third event, a series of rocket races, never left the launching pad because of a number of reasons. First the races were delayed because it took much more time than anticipated to feed the large group. Next most of the rockets behaved much like America's early experiments — they fizzled on the pad. And then to top the young missmen's night off, the whole thing collapsed on the floor.

Officials decided it might be best to run the races at another time.

Flowers were presented to Den Mothers, Mrs. Hugh Alexander, Mrs. D. T. Garth, Mrs. Dale Fischgrabe, Mrs. Richard Puckett, Mrs. Boyd Magby, Mrs. Benny Chapman, and Mrs. Glen Kenner.

Area's Labor Problems Come Under Study

Bailey County Building Program Committee discussed the increasing farm labor problem in Bailey County at a meeting of the organization's leaders this week.

Members of the labor committee, which is headed by Virgil Nowell, believe the situation will become worse next year because of the ending of the Bracero Program.

Dick Poteet, manager of the local Texas Employment Commission, suggested the answer to the problem might be a labor camp where transit labor might live until obtaining a job.

It was decided the committee members would call a meeting of area farmers to discuss the problem.

In other business new officers for the organization were elected. Bobby Airhart was elected chairman; Horac Hutton, vice-chairman, and Mrs. J. G. Arns, secretary. Harmon Elliot presided over the meeting, which was attended by 15 persons.

500 Members Attend Annual Co-Op Meeting

More than 500 persons attended the annual meeting of the Bailey County Electric Cooperative Association Friday to witness 500 members elect E. W. Locker and Clarence R. Mason new directors.

Other directors who will serve on the board this year are Clarence Cobell, Chester Setliff and Jessie Clayton.

E. W. Locker was elected to serve as president of the board of directors and Clarence Hamilton and Chester Setliff were elected to the posts of board vice president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Election Judges were Lloyd Haire, Sherman Inman, Glenn Splawn, R. E. Buhman, George Gross, H. J. Arns, W. H. Lee, O. M. Self, and E. W. Bass.

The chief address was presented by J. R. Cobb, general manager of the Texas Electric Cooperatives.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Rena Quisenberry And Don Layman In Richland Hills Baptist Church

A candlelight ceremony united Miss Rena Quisenberry and Don Layman in marriage Friday in Richland Hills Baptist Church. The double ring service was read at 7:30 p.m. by the Rev. M. B. Baldwin, Earth, before an archway of greenery entwined with red carnations. Candelabras stood on each side of the arch and before it was a satin-covered kneeling bench.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Quisenberry, 224 West 10th Street and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Layman, Earth.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk chiffon over bridal taffeta featuring a bateau neckline, long sheer sleeves, a fitted bodice and controlled bell-shaped skirt. A Watteau train was attached to the back neckline and accented by a soft fabric bow. The bride's headdress of pearl and crystal beads held a tiered, shoulder length veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade arrangement of white feathered carnations centered by a white cymidium orchid on a white Bible with red and white streamers, the bride's chosen colors.

Traditional wedding selections were played by pianist, Mrs. J. C. Shanks, who also accompanied Miss Virginia Bowers, soloist, as she sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Always."

In tradition, something new was her gown; something blue, a garter; something borrowed was a strand of pearls, her only jewelry; and something old was her Bible, a gift from her father when she was small.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

The timely issue of coming elections in this area is a subject we feel should be sparked with more widespread, sincere and intelligent interest on the part of all of our citizens. The particular issue we speak of, as mothers, is the approaching school board elections.

We, the undersigned, feel there women (as well as several more-than-capable men) who would make good school board members. We are interested solely in the election of the most competent calibre persons, those who are invested in the necessary qualities of interest in schools, teachers, administrations and especially OUR CHILDREN.

We therefore feel it would be well to have at least one woman nominated and elected to each school board. Women are the half of the parents who usually attend to the school needs of at least grade school youngsters, attend the functions of their children and as a general rule are the ones who help most with homework and are more in contact with their children's teachers than the fathers.

Women are most personally interested in school management and business operations — because their children are involved. Balancing a budget is a difficult problem but most women contend with this in the family budgeting of grocery - clothing-household expenditures every day. We feel that women are qualified in this matter.

However, the urgent problem is getting a woman to agree to be a candidate for school trustee in her district. (The same holds true for other qualifie dmen.) The deadline for filing is: 5 p.m. March 4, Wednesday.

Children are America's most vital asset and as mothers, our most cherished and prized interest.

We urge all thoughtful citizens of our area to consider this issue with us today — and to act in the best interests of your community and your children by participating in our election system. Sincerely yours,

Red Hot Run And Shoot Offense Gives Bula A Shot At The Title

By GENE AWTRY
Bula High School

A red hot run and shoot offense coupled with a full court press shot the Bula Bulldogs to a berth in the Region I Tourney this week-end when they topped Anton 91-55 this week.

Bula's first-round foe will be Channing, a 42-33 winner over Nazareth in another bi-district tilt Tuesday.

Bula's Pat Risinger and Curtis Archer combined for 48 points to almost equal the out-classed Anton team. Two other Bula cagers scored in double figures as Anton fell before the high-scoring attack.

Larry Crews was high for Anton, tossing in 20 points, but Willy Bell was the only other Anton cager in double figures as he canned 11 points.

Pat Risinger meshed 27 points for individual scoring honors, while Archer added 21. Gene Awtry and Mike Risinger chipped in 14 and 13 points, respectively.

Anton kept within striking distance through the first period, but Bula claimed a 19-10 lead after one quarter. Bula went into high gear in the second period and rang up a 31-11 advantage before Anton narrowed the margin a little by halftime, 38-22.

Anton rallied in the third quarter, cutting the gap to 10 points, but Bula pulled away and kept building up a big edge in the scoring. Bula's fullcourt press had Anton off balance much of the night, and Anton couldn't cope with the deadly marksmanship of Bula from the floor.

Bula lost three starters via the personal foul route in the third and fourth quarters, but reserves came in and kept increasing the margin. Anton lost Mike Couch in the 5-foul route. Awtry and the Risinger brothers were the Bula players whistled out.

Bula carried a fine 21-5 won-lost record into the region tourney. Anton wound up the season with 20-8 season. Anton was the 5-B champion, and Bula was the 6-B title winner.

It has been said that a black bass by any other name would still be a heckuva fighter. No doubt this is true. And surprisingly, you don't find black bass by many other names. Just plain bass seems to satisfy most everyone.

But in this respect, the black bass is in a select class. Other fish are burdened with aliases and nicknames. A man not familiar with local jargon might be catching one of his hometown favorites and never realize it.

For example, in the Highland Lakes of Central Texas he might take himself a mess of crappie. But over in East Texas he'll be catching white perch, although it is one and the same fish.

In North Texas, anglers take an astronomical number of sand bass. But in Central Texas it is the white bass, and in parts of East Texas the striper.

The bullhead catfish seldom goes by its true moniker. Rather it is called either a mud cat or a pollywog.

King mackerel are better known as kingfish and Spanish mackerel as simply mackerel.

Spotted weakfish are called spotted trout and channel bass are redfish.

The bowfin in East Texas is known as a grindle, and the pickerel as a jack or pike.

Flathead catfish are more commonly known as yellow cat, and channel cat frequently are called forktails.

Even though a fish may sometimes go by the same spelled name, pronunciation will vary with different areas. Crappie are smallmouth bass. But it certainly isn't a true smallmouth bass. Actually it's a distinct specie of its own.

In some areas the bigmouth blackmouth bass might be called a trout or green trout, but generally just the handle "bass" will suffice.

There is one fish, however, that seems to carry just one name no matter where you might find it. That's the carp. Fishermen everywhere have called the carp many impolite names which can't be repeated here, but when it gets right down to facts, the fisherman probably will admit that he's just caught himself a carp.

Same can be said for the gar. It goes by the simple handle of gar just about anywhere you find it.

But the carp and gar are in the minority. Most of our gamefish are showered with nicknames and aliases.

Still, it is as the man said, a black bass by any other name... still remains the black bass.

IT'S THE LAW ★ in Texas ★

THE NINE

The Chief Justice of the United States heads the Supreme Court, but except for presiding and a few ceremonial duties, his work is much like that of the other justices. In fact his vote on a decision counts only as one.

In ceremonies, he leads when the justices walk in a procession. As a rule, he gives the oath to the President at his inauguration. Should a President be impeached, he presides at the Senate hearings.

Of the associate justices, only one, Samuel Chase (1796 to 1811) has been impeached, that is, accused of a wrong for which the Senate could remove him. Chase did lack "judicial temperament," he made political speeches and denounced the President from the bench. But such things are not crimes. His impeachment failed. The Senate would not remove him from office.

How can we be sure that a man will become a just, honest, and able justice of the Supreme Court? What are his legal qualifications?

None: The Constitution sets no formal requirements. He does not have to be a lawyer, though all of them have been. The President may name any one he chooses; and, with U. S. Senate approval, he goes on the bench. But the informal qualifications of a justice of the Supreme Court are great. For a seat in the U. S. Supreme Court is a lawyer's highest honor.

Before a person goes on that high bench, should anyone doubt of his character or learning, the Senate holds hearings and can refuse to confirm this appointment. And this has happened.

And then is up to the President to name another and another, until the Senate confirm his nominee. The Senate cannot nominate its own candidate; it can only approve or disapprove the President's.

Membership of the U. S. Supreme Court changes quite often. Justices take office for life, but a fair number retire from time to time for health reasons. For as a rule, such honors come late in life.

BUILDING YOUR HOME

When you are ready to build, you will find that the law helps in many ways to make your home enjoyable and secure.

Have you decided on the type house you want and the amount you want to spend? If so, then let's go into details!

1. Your lot: Junior's school or your church may be nearby, but find out —

(a) Whether they are planning to run a highway through the area or nearby, or make any improvement for which you can be assessed.

(b) What "Covenants" or restrictions run with the land? To protect residents, the plats or basic deeds of some neighborhoods call on you to build a certain size or type of house. Do you want to and can you afford to?

(c) Easements: Either you or your neighbors may need to run pipes, or string wires over each other's land or to share a driveway. Have the abstract checked carefully to disclose any easements.

2. Zoning Ordinances: For your protection the local government frequently zones some areas, for example, for single houses only, for multiple dwellings; for retail stores, for manufacturing, etc.

Unless the local governing body changes its zoning ordinance, no filling station, for instance, can go up next to you in a residential area. Neither could you turn your home into a store. In any case, you should find out what your neighborhood zoning rules are.

3. Building Codes: Be certain the plans and construction will meet the requirements of the local building code as to size, location and structure. Municipal ordinances usually impose strict standards for the building, the plumbing and the electrical wiring. In many cases only licensed building tradesmen are permitted to make the installations.

4. Financing: Financing contracts protect both you and the lender. Unless you pay cash, you will use credit to pay for your house, most likely a deed of trust or a land contract. Your installments often include principal, interest, insurance and taxes.

Under a land contract the lender holds title to your house until you pay for it. If you fall behind, the holder can take the house back. With a deed of trust, the lender has a lien which he can foreclose if you default. You may get some of your money back on the principal; but you may also have to make up any loss the lender makes in re-selling the house.

Well worked-out contracts can help make your dream house come true. A construction contract or a so-called "earnest-money" agreement or receipt is no job for an amateur. Too many legal details are involved. Your lawyer is trained by education and experience to protect your best interests in contracting and closing real estate deals.

You know what you want. You should be careful to get what you want through careful planning and a properly prepared and executed contract.

Yarborough In Washington

Dear Fellow Texan:

Last year the United States imported a billion pounds of meat from foreign countries — MOSTLY FROM Australia and New Zealand. The United States has secured from these countries a voluntary agreement to a six per cent reduction in their exports to this country.

Without this agreement, their exports to the United States would have gone up eight per cent in 1964. Not only has that eight per cent increase been prevented but by the voluntary decline over last year's exports to the United States.

I have received a letter from Mr. Tom M. Harper, secretary and general manager of the Hebbronville Auction and Commission Company of Hebbronville, Texas, on the plight of the cattle business. He said:

At the rate in which foreign meat and livestock now are coming into our country, a livestock man doesn't have a chance. The importation of foreign meat and livestock should be cut off or at least slowed down. The livestock business is about the only thing left without controls, so let's keep it that way. And if there is anything you can do, it would be greatly appreciated by livestock producers."

Now, fellow Texans, we've been working on this. The new agreement for a reduction in imports is a step in the right direction, but it is not enough.

What does it mean to Texas? Livestock production in Texas has been valued at about one billion dollars a year. In actual meat production, it is a half billion dollar a year industry.

This reduction will mean an improvement of three to four dollars a head on Texas beef, or a total improvement of 10 to 15 million dollars on beef in Texas. This is not due to the cutback alone but to the fact also that had there been no cutback agreement there would have been a further increase in foreign meat stock industry. We have over 10 million head of cattle in Texas. Due to the increase in population in the United States, there will be an increased market for meat. So we will have the natural increase in this domestic market for our own producer, plus the six per cent cutback on imports from last year.

This is an important agreement but it is not enough. We have hearings starting in Washington on April 28th before the Federal Tariff Commission to determine the conditions of competition in the United States as between beef and beef products produced domestically and those produced in foreign countries. I'm hopeful that these hearings will provide even more protection for Texas

Today's Meditation
"Strength to Spare"

One of the most wasteful habits in the life of the average Christian is the worrying he does about duties, experiences, temptations, or difficulties before they have actually arrived. Knowing that we must face some severe test, we begin pleading with God for strength; and the more anxious our prayers, the greater the drain on our spiritual resources. Thus, in many cases, instead of preparing us for our experiences, our praying only has the effect of exhausting us. This does not mean, of course, that one should not pray under such circumstances. It only means that frantic petitions which bend us to prayer in a worried moment are in a sense strange because we have not been in a state of continuous prayer each day. To call upon God in prayer twice a year rather than every day is like calling on a neighbor twice a year who really does not know you nor you the neighbor.

If we pray without ceasing each day, then we may be sure of several things. We will have the strength to do the thing we have to do when it has to be done. The man who is determined to do the will of God will know what that will is when he is compelled to make a decision.

Anxious, tense, frantic praying closes the doors of the soul against the assurances of the Holy Spirit. Faith does not consist of a prayer to God to be with us, it consists of a willingness to walk out to meet life knowing He is with us.

"Rejoice evermore. Pray without ceasing. In everything give thanks for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you." — 1 Thess. 5:16-18.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER FROM SENATOR JOHN TOWER

Committee Banking and Currency Labor and Public Welfare

I want to talk to you today about a matter that is of extreme importance to farmers and ranchers, not only in Texas, but throughout the United States. Not only that, it is of great importance to a whole group of related businesses and industries that depend upon our agricultural community for their economic well-being.

The price of cattle has dropped drastically in recent weeks and months. This has meant a loss of millions of dollars in income for our ranchers and stock farmers. And before those of you who live in the cities begin to feel good about all this, and think that the ranchers' loss is your gain, I want you to consider a few facts that will be brought out in this report.

In 1962, the total weight of live cattle, beef and veal imported into this country jumped drastically. In 1957, these imports amounted to only 3.9 per cent of our domestic production. In 1962, this had gone up to 11 per cent of our total domestic production. In 1963, it went up still further, to more than 12 per cent.

A few of us in the Congress became alarmed at the prospects facing our domestic livestock industry. As you may know, our livestock raisers are not under a federal subsidy. They operate in a free market, and must adjust their herds over the years to take into consideration such factors as droughts, feed prices, land values, labor supply, and many other things that go into successful ranching and farming.

We could see that if the import trend continued, our domestic livestock industry would be in dire straits. So we introduced a bill in the Senate, S. 557, that would establish annual quotas for imported cattle, beef, and veal, and were prepared to extend this to mutton. The quotas would be determined by averaging the past five years, including the high year of 1962, and the more-or-less normal years preceding 1962. Imports over and above this quota would have paid extra import duties. The bill was cosponsored in the Senate by Senators Simpson of Wyoming, McCheser of New Mexico, Young of North Dakota, Jordan of Idaho, Bennett of Utah, McGee of Wyoming, Goldwater of Arizona, and myself. It was fought by the Administration's spokesmen in the which I thought strange in that one would think that the United States Department of Agriculture ought to be concerned with agricultural interests in the United States. At any rate, they were successful in opposing our bill. They said that imports were not the real reason prices were falling, despite the very clear evidence that this was the prime reason. American consumption of red meat has climbed dramatically, from 46.4 pounds per person in 1932, to 95.1 pounds per capita in 1963. In the face of increased sale of beef and veal during last year, the price of beef fell from an average of $30.13 per hundred pounds in November of 1962, to less than $24.00 in late 1963. (During the first eight months of 1963, on a carcass weight basis, according to reputable authorities, beef and veal imports were 22 per cent above those for the same eight months of 1962.) Finally, the Administration was forced to admit the obvious truth - that the deluge of meat imports was having a drastic effect on our domestic livestock industry. I do not doubt for a moment that there are many in the Department of Agriculture, and who could care less. They would like to see livestock producers, who have long resisted subsidies, driven to the wall and placed in a position where they will have to accept federal control in return for federal handouts.

In opposing our bill, the Administration said it would seek voluntary curtailment of imports from the exporting countries. They have now announced the results of their endeavors, with claims of high success. Basically, and stripped of its verbiage, the Administration's actions amount to this: Imports, now at a level that have driven prices down, will be frozen near the present high level and guaranteed. There will be a minute reduction for the time being (election year) and then imports will again begin climbing. I regard the solution, if it is that, as wholly unsatisfactory, and if livestock raisers believe their problem has been solved by this, they will believe anything. It amounts to nothing more than a massive snow job, designed to stock industry. From livestock raiser to the corner meat market I believe that this Administration is trying to do something about a problem it has refused to face realistically.

In closing, I thought you might like to know: The United Nations has now decided to proceed with plans to establish a livestock improvement center in Cuba, at a cost of more than $1 million, 40 per cent of which will be paid for by American taxpayers through their U. N. contributions.

MARINES NEAR CYPRUS The United States has twice as many marines as usual in the Mediterranean, it has been reported. There are about 3,400 marines and two amphibious task forces available for use in Cyprus if a decision is made to send in a NATO peacekeeping expedition. Such a move has been rumored but not confirmed by President Johnson.

OVERTIME PAY PLAN
President Johnson's proposal to create more jobs in some industries by imposing double overtime pay rates won warm labor support but reaction in Congress was split.

The Johnson proposal was a long step toward labor's demands for double overtime and a 35-hour work week as measures to reduce chronic unemployment that now stands at 4,000,000.

NOT PARIS OR BONN
President Segni of Italy has told President Johnson his country would tolerate neither French nor German domination of Western Europe — nor a combination of the two.

And the Italian Foreign Minister Giuseppe Saragat, told a news conference that the "Paris-Bonn axis" failed because it was an attempt to dominate Western Germany.

HOUSING DEVELOPMENT
President Johnson's housing and community development program was promised swift congressional handling, with the goal of a vote by summer.

The first major new housing proposal in three years, it places heavy emphasis on helping fast get public facilities and on relieving some of the hardships slum clearance programs have caused families.
