

BIG VOTE BEING CAST TODAY IN OKLAHOMA

GLASS FACTORY BONDS OFFERED HERE IN RANGER

Only Small Amount Yet Unsold And Coming of New Industrial Plant Seems Sure

Several committees were appointed this morning, at the weekly breakfast of the Chamber of Commerce at the McCleskey hotel, to get out this afternoon and sell the remaining amount of unsold glass factory bonds. M. R. Newnam, president of the Ranger State bank, who is heading the committee which is promoting the sale of the bonds, told those present the remaining bonds must be disposed of today.

H. H. Howard, glass manufacturer of Shreveport, La., who last week made his decision to locate his new and bigger factory in Ranger, told the industrial committee that his expansion plans made necessary the sale of first mortgage bonds on his plant machinery and that he preferred to float the bonds in the town or city in which he located his factory.

The industrial committee, Saturday, after investigating his factory proposition, decided to recommend Howard's bonds to the Ranger public. More than half of the $20,000 bonds were sold Saturday and yesterday's sale of bonds brought the figure within striking distance of the amount to be sold.

The bonds bear 8 per cent interest and are retireable at the end of three years. The company's physical assets are collateral for the bonds.

HINDENBURG, RELIGIOUS, SPENDS MUCH TIME AT PRAYER AND SPEAKING

By GUS M. OEHM, United Press Staff Correspondent. BERLIN, Oct. 2.—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, the grand old man of Germany's military days, today is 76 years old.

The old field marshal opened his mail this morning to find dozens of good wishes and congratulations from his admirers all over Germany. The press was full of tributes to the former war leader, especially those with a reactionary editorial policy. Last year friends of the old marshal presented him with a big album of pictures depicting the public life of Hindenburg. Hindenburg makes his home in Hanover, where his fellow citizens have furnished him with a comfortable villa as a tribute to his military record.

Despite his age, Hindenburg rises early in the morning, taking a stroll through the streets as an appetite raiser. The old man is very religious, spending much of his time at prayer. He derives a small income, sufficient to keep him in comfort during his old age, from a few interests in industrial concerns. He receives a petty pension from the government, which at the present value of the German marks means very little.

Whenever Hindenburg appears in public at reviews, etc., he wears his field marshal regalia, though about Hanover he is usually seen in civilian clothes. Hindenburg makes a lot of noise regarding the possibility of a return of the old order, even occasionally advocating the use of force. However, most of his speeches are mere repetitions of what he has said before—a lot of generalizations about a united Germany.

Despite the fact that Hindenburg wears his old uniform on occasions he is no longer in any way connected with the military forces. Though he has many adverse critics he is generally considered the national hero—Germans always liking to remember him as the man who saved them from the Russians at Tannenberg.

Hindenburg is not a man of marked intellectual achievements. He knows little of the sciences and letters. He once said that following his graduation from school he never opened any books except those relating to military affairs and his prayer books.

COTTON FALLS RAPIDLY FROM HIGH CLIMB

Government Report on Condition of Crop Sends Prices Tumbling.

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Publication of the government cotton report sent cotton immediately down, dropping from 100 to 180 points and $7 to $9 a bale.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The condition of cotton September 26 was 46.5 per cent of normal as compared with 54.1 per cent August 25 and 57.5 per cent average on September 26 for the last 10 years, the department of agriculture announced today.

This condition forecasts a yield of 137.7 pounds per acre, and a total production of about 11,015,000 bales of 500 pounds each, the department estimates.

The final output may be larger or smaller as conditions prove more or less favorable than the average. Last year the cotton crop numbered 9,761,817 bales. The average production for the years 1915-18 was 11,481,084.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—A cotton report issued today by the department of agriculture showed that 1,500,000 more cotton bales were ginned than last year, which places the figures at 11,015,000 bales. The forecast, the last of the season until December, was 227,000 bales more than indicated last month. The forecast on the cotton crop on Sept. 1 was 49 per cent normal.

The conditions in Texas on Sept. 25 were favorable and the forecast 56 per cent normal.

Ginning by states to Sept. 26, including Texas, was 2,185,219 bales.

SPOTS MOVE UP AND DOWN BUT LITTLE SOLD

Spot cotton in Ranger was ranging from 27 cents to 28.50 a pound today, the widest variance cotton has been known to be on the Ranger cotton market this year. Fifteen bales had been ginned at the Moss cotton gin up to noon today. Moss was bidding 28.25 for cotton early this morning but found no sellers, the price down town being higher. Later the price began to fall and early this afternoon had gone as low as 27 cents, the lowest for more than 10 days.

December future cotton in New York opened at 28.75 and at 2:30 p. m., it was quoted at 27.92; January opened at 27.84 and at 2:30 it was 27.50.

Oklahoma Legislature May Be In Position to Call Session at Once

COTTON PRICES CLIMB HIGHER VERY QUICKLY

Small Ginning Figures Induce Advance of More Than $4 a Bale in Few Hours

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Unexpected small ginning figures and a strong Liverpool market caused a jump of between 31 and 48 points at the opening of the cotton market here today, which was followed by an advance that carried October prices to 29.55 and December to 29.19. This was more than $4 a bale above Monday's close and within 20 points of the highest prices of the season.

GINNING FIGURES ARE SMALLER THAN EXPECTED

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Cotton ginned prior to Sept. 25 totaled 3,215,394 bales, including 111,038 round bales, compared with 3,866,296, including 76,958 round bales, ginned prior to the same date last year and 2,920,392, including 70,263 round bales, ginned prior to the same date in 1921, the census bureau announced today.

DEPUTY AT GROVE IN DELAWARE COUNTY STOPS ELECTION THERE

GROVE, Okla., Oct. 2.—A half of dozen election clerks were arrested this morning by Deputy Sheriff Morgan for conducting an election here. The deputy stated that he had instructions from Ira Mitchell, the new chairman of the state election board and Governor Walton to stop the election.

Those arrested were taken to Jay to be placed under bond. Friends prepared habeas corpus papers to get the men released if they were held. As fast as the men were arrested other officials were named to take their place. When it became apparent that the officers intended to arrest all of those appearing at the polls, it was decided to suspend voting entirely.

JEFF DAVIS COUNTY NOW PRODUCING FINE HONEY

ALPINE, Oct. 2.—Jeff Davis county of the big bend section is placed among the largest honey producing sections, per colony, in the state this season by reports of the U. S. department of agriculture, just made public here. The estimated production of this county is from 70 to 80 pounds a colony.

Regarding the Texas production of honey this year, the federal report stated:

"Texas presents one of the widest ranges in honey yield of any state. The crop of the state is reported to vary from nothing in many apiaries in the south Texas to a yield of 70 to 80 pounds a colony in Jeff Davis county in the extreme western part of the state."

The report declares that indications are the honey crop will be the shortest in years.

The big bend section is declared to be highly adapted to honey production. The long seasons permit the blooming of honey producing flowers almost throughout the entire year. The white bush, which is said to make a pure white, highly flavored honey, grows in great abundance in Jeff Davis, Brewster, Presidio, and other western counties.

LOCKHART.—Striking of a large number of anvils for an extended time was one of the ways used by Mexicans here to inform citizens they were observing Mexican independence. The Mexicans continued their celebration for four days.

GOVERNOR EXPECTED HOWEVER TO CARRY ELECTION TO COURTS IF VOTERS OF STATE DECIDE ISSUE AGAINST HIS WISHES.

By Associated Press. OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 2.—Voters who went to the polls today, did so with the expectation that their action would be challenged by the governor and courts appealed to to determine the legality of the election.

The state constitution provides that an issue initiated is legal after it is officially determined that a majority of the voters have cast their votes in its favor.

This means that unless a contest is made by the governor in the event the voting goes against him, the legislature will be in a position to meet and carry out its impeachment program before the end of the week.

GOVERNOR'S AID SAYS BALLOT HAS LOST INTEGRITY

By Associated Press. TULSA, Oct. 2.—Voting began at 7 o'clock this morning under a guard of 1,500 deputy sheriffs and Sheriff Sanford.

R. R. Stevens, head of the governor's civilian forces here, declared the "special election already won by the Klan." "We concede we are beaten before the election is held," he said. "We have received several reports that ballot boxes have been stuffed. As the sheriffs have charge of the ballot boxes we have not been able to make an investigation. The integrity of the ballot already has been destroyed."

GOVERNOR WALTON'S SECRET SERVICE "ARMY" SHOVED INTO BACKGROUND BY STATE SHERIFFS

In Four Counties and Part of Fifth County Polls Are Closed, But Elsewhere Voting Is Active. Governor Declares Election Illegal and Issues Call for Another Dec. 6.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 2.—Governor Walton went on record today as permitting the election under protest.

Denying the authority of the state's chief executive to stop the voting, the polls were opened throughout the state today on the initiative bill to authorize the legislature to meet on call of the lower house and four other issues, all submitted to the people in a special election.

Thousands of deputy sheriffs commissioned at the eleventh hour guarded all the polling places. Walton's special secret service men, said to number 22,000, were placed in the background. Two days ago the governor said these special officers would keep the polls padlocked and arrest all election officers. Failing in his final efforts to prevent the election by proclamation, injunction and threats, the governor announced he would ignore the result of today's voting and call another election for December 6, to determine the same issues.

"This election is illegal and I will not recognize it," said the governor.

National guardsmen were nowhere in evidence today. "The military will not be used to influence the election," the governor said. The voting booths are open in all but five of the counties, but in these five the local officials are obeying the governor. W. C. McAlester, secretary of the state election board, notified the officials of these counties they would be arrested and prosecuted for unlawful interference with an election.

"You and any other men who interfere with this election will be arrested and sent to the penitentiary," he told Sheriff Conn of Bryan county. Sheriff Cavnar and his deputies are guarding the election booths in Oklahoma City. The deputies are all carrying six-shooters despite the governor's orders that they disarm. Martial law in Oklahoma City was virtually abandoned today. Military headquarters were closed on orders of Adjutant General Markham.

The military court sessions also were abandoned, the hearings being temporarily transferred to Chickasha and Cushing, where the governor said they would uncover new evidence of whipping parties by masked bands.

Reports from over the state generally said a heavy vote was being cast and there was little interference of any kind at the polls. Sheriff Cavner and his deputies are guarding the election booths in Oklahoma City. The deputies are all carrying six-shooters despite the governor's orders that they disarm. Martial law in Oklahoma City was virtually abandoned today. Military headquarters were closed on orders of Adjutant General Markham.

WALTON HAS NOT ASKED U. S. GOVERNMENT FOR HELP IN OKLAHOMA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—If the United States mails or courts are interfered with in Oklahoma, the United States government will intervene immediately, it was said at the White House today. It was declared the president had received no request for intervention by the governor of Oklahoma, and an appeal to maintain law and order, the only reason that could induce the United States government to intervene, would necessarily come from the governor.

The president is not sure the Oklahoma legislature would have the power to request federal interference. In Bryan county the sheriff barred the election, in compliance with the governor's orders. Efforts yesterday to obtain an injunction to prevent him from interfering with the election failed.

In Cimarron and Harper counties there was no voting because the election supplies had not been received from the state election board, and in Jefferson county a shortage of ballots kept most of the polls closed.

Everywhere the election proceeded quietly. In most instances deputy sheriffs were at the polling places or held in readiness to prevent trouble. The polls were open and ballots were cast in Nowata and Murphy, where it was believed no voting would be permitted today, according to dispatches received by the Oklahoma Times. Reports late last night indicated that county officers would prevent the opening of the polls in those two places, but the reports proved erroneous.

NEGROES IN TULSA REPORTED VOTING HEAVILY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 2.—Governor Walton remained in seclusion at his residence, where he kept in touch with the situation throughout the state.

Reports from Tulsa declare that the negroes are voting heavily in North Tulsa.

Sheriff Ledbetter of Muskogee obtained a writ of mandamus at to compel the secretary of the elections board to conduct the election and certify the returns. This action was taken, it was explained, to forestall the interests hostile to the election to prevent balloting or the certification of returns.

HOUSTON.—An ideal summer resort in the heart of busy downtown Houston has been built by S. F. Carter, owner of the Carter building a local skyscraper. On the roof of the 18-story building Carter has laid out a "summer retreat" complete with sleeping quarters, shower baths, dressing rooms and other conveniences.

EXECUTIVE'S THREAT GETS SLIGHT HEED

Avails in Only One County to Prevent the Special Election

By Associated Press. OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 2.—Oklahoma's special election, at which will be decided the question of whether the legislature shall meet to consider impeachment charges against Governor Walton swung into line today with reports that the polls were open throughout the state except in four counties and part of a fifth county.

Reports from Bryan, Harper, Cimarron and Johnston counties said that all voting places in those counties were closed, and in Jefferson only six out of 28 polls were open.

Johnston county appeared to be the only county in the state where the threat of the governor to close the polls by force of arms was carried out. There 100 state police held all election supplies and would not permit them to be removed.

In Bryan county the sheriff barred the election, in compliance with the governor's orders. Efforts yesterday to obtain an injunction to prevent him from interfering with the election failed.

In Cimarron and Harper counties there was no voting because the election supplies had not been received from the state election board, and in Jefferson county a shortage of ballots kept most of the polls closed.

Everywhere the election proceeded quietly. In most instances deputy sheriffs were at the polling places or held in readiness to prevent trouble. The polls were open and ballots were cast in Nowata and Murphy, where it was believed no voting would be permitted today, according to dispatches received by the Oklahoma Times. Reports late last night indicated that county officers would prevent the opening of the polls in those two places, but the reports proved erroneous.

ALDRICH BLAKE DECLARES FIGHT ON KLAN PROCEEDS

By United Press. OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 2.—Aldrich Blake, executive counselor to Governor Walton, who left the city recently without announcing his departure, returned today but refused to say where he has been.

"The result of today's election won't mean a thing," he said. "I came back to see the fight on the Klan go through to the bitter end." Blake would not admit he had been soliciting funds to keep up the fight, but said he had held conferences with leading men in some of the big cities. "They are for Walton and against the Klan," he said.

A. & M. COLLEGE TENT CITY REPLACED BY BUNGALETTES

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 2.—The A. & M. college "tent" city is being abandoned. The tents, which were loaned to the school last year by the government to accommodate an overflow of students, are being replaced by bungalettes. These new temporary structures will take care of the excess students this year.

Work is under way on completing eighty of the miniature homes. It is estimated that 300 students will be housed in this way. The enrollment of the college for the present term has passed the 2,000 mark, making it impossible to accommodate all of the students in school dormitories.

The tents were no longer serviceable, according to President W. B. Bizzell. The new structures will be more comfortable and satisfactory for student quarters, it is said. They are being put up at the rate of about ten a day.

PUNCHING HOLES IN EARS OF BABY GIRLS FOR EAR-RINGS DISCOURAGED

EL PASO, Oct. 2.—City health nurses, who conduct clinics for the educating of American and Mexican mothers in the rearing of children, are trying to persuade Mexican mothers to discontinue the custom of punching holes in the ears of baby girls.

The Mexican mothers, when a baby girl is a few weeks old, the nurses assert, pierce the ears of the child with a needle or with another sharp instrument and draw a string through the holes. The string is tied and left in the lobe of the infant's ear to keep the flesh from closing. The string is left there until the family is able to buy a pair of ear-rings for the girl. Then, the string is removed, and the ornaments inserted.

This practice is almost universal among the Mexican people with whom she has come in contact, according to Mrs. Lois Huffaker, head city nurse. She tells the mothers that it mars the baby's appearance; that later the custom of wearing rings in the ears may disappear and the child will have been done an injustice.

"It's a Knockout"!

HEAR the children talk when you serve them Karo!

"It's a knockout!" shouts Sammie. "Certainly tastes like more!" agrees Annie.

And Karo is just the food they need, too. Among its highly nutritive elements is a large percentage of Dextrose, which, your doctor can tell you, is not only necessary but indispensable for building and preserving health.

Remember the need of Dextrose for growing children is in Karo—the Blue Label and the Red Label. Serve plenty of it on sliced bread—daily.

YOU could not live long without Dextrose. The starch and sugar in all food you eat—bread, vegetables, potatoes—must be changed into Dextrose before your system can use it as an energy food.

PELS DRUB CATS, 11 TO 0, MONDAY

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2.—New Orleans Pelicans drubbed the Fort Worth Cats unmercifully here yesterday, 11 to 0, after the Cats had taken two straight games at Heine-mann park. The Pels battered Lefty Johns, Paul Wachtel and Sam Ross to a farewell, while Dixie Walker was holding the Cats to four scattered hits.

The 1923 series now stands three and two in favor of Fort Worth, which makes it necessary for the two teams to travel to Fort Worth for the fifth game, which will be played Wednesday. If the Cats are defeated in the next game, a coin will be tossed to decide the city in which the final game will be played.

The Pels made a run in the first inning, which was enough for them to win. The box score:

ELKS CIRCUS HERE AND ALL IN READINESS FOR OPENING TONIGHT

Glyndon Burns, versatile performer of the Elks circus, who will be seen tonight in the feats that made Captain Blondin, Niagara's famous tight wire walker, famous. In clown-make-up, Burns navigates a thread of steel, suspended high in mid-air, with his feet shackled and encased in an ordinary soap box. By way of diversion, he does the same feat on a stick of wood, defying all laws of equilibrium.

With tents high in the air, the performers ready, the Elks of Ranger and vicinity rehearsed in their duties of handling the business end of the show, the Elks' circus is all ready for the opening tonight at the ball ground, and the grown-ups, as well as the small boys and girls, will doubtless have their circus innings.

Breathes there a child with pep so dead, that unto its parents hath not said: "I do not want to go to bed, the Elks' circus is in my head, all thoughts of sleep from me have fled; the funny clowns with faces red, are ready to make us laugh, 'tis said; one is fat, with a great big head, another is thin and looks unfed; one funny fellow by a goose is led, and one rides around on a deep sea sled; I want to stay up tonight instead, I have a date to it I'm wed, they cannot show without me and Fred."

This is a revised list of the committee heads who are putting the circus over: Dr. H. A. Logsdon, exalted ruler; Raymond Teal and J. B. Heister, general chairmen; Joe Fry and George Myers, concessions; J. B. Krause, ticket sellers and takers; Sam Wasaff, ballyhoo man; J. F. Dreinhof, auditor.

In the circus exhibition will be seen: The Beckman-Shepard trio of aerialists; Younger, Younger & Co., Martin & Martin, Conley & Conley, Glyndon Burns, the Vannerson troupe, Allie Johnson, the Four O'Doies, Flying Franklin, Paul Mraehard troupe, Mons. Le Baud and others.

In the laugh department, Hank Sy-low is boss, with Rube Walters and 13 other funmakers in the line-up. Music will be furnished by the Gorman municipal band.

On Wednesday, the Ranger Rotary club will be entertained at noon luncheon by the Aloha sextette, the feature of the annex department of the circus. These dusky sons and daughters of Uncle Sam's mid-Pacific isle play the plaintive music and dance the ceremonial dances of the natives, using ukuleles and steel guitars. This troupe of Hawaiians have never been seen in this country before, having arrived from Honolulu Sept. 20.

Tomorrow night there will be a public wedding in the main tent, in addition to the circus exhibition. Well known residents of Ranger will be the principals and a local clergyman will officiate. The merchants of this city have presented the couple with many presents, a list of which will appear in these columns tomorrow.

Hotel Men Seeking Location in Ranger. Tee Pee building, a three-story brick building on South Commerce street, opposite the entrance to the Texas & Pacific railroad passenger station, originally occupied by the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company as administration offices during the great oil production period and later converted into a hostelry, the Theodore hotel, has been sought after by a Ranger hotel owner to be again operated as a hotel.

The negotiations fell through, however, and the hotel owner is now seeking another location.

At present the lower floor of the building is used as an auditorium by the Central Baptist church, whose frame church building was burned down several months ago.

REALTORS OF TEXAS MEETING IN HOUSTON

HOUSTON, Oct. 2.—Realtors of Texas gathered in Houston yesterday for the annual meeting of the Texas Association of Real Estate Boards which will end Oct. 5.

The real work of the convention began today with an address by President Wallace Rogers of San Antonio. Reports of state officers, conferences of board secretaries and other business matters will be taken up.

Discussion of the proposed law to license all real estate agents as is being done in numerous other states is the most important question before the realtors. It is in general favor among the delegates who believe it will do away with many fake hand firms.

KELLOGG'S CORN FLAKES MADE FROM BEST CORN

Could you go to the Kellogg factory and see the care and trouble taken to produce the toasted corn flakes you would understand why they are so palatable.

First, only the finest and best of corn is purchased. Secondly, it takes four carloads of corn to produce one carload of the "corn grits" or the "sweetheart" of the corn that is eventually manufacturer into the flakes.

The corn is taken by elevators, from the cars to the top floor, where it is washed, yes indeed, actually washed and done with the centrifugal motion that guarantees every particle of foreign material will be whirled away. Might add that there are 16 concrete tanks for the handling of the corn, and that each tank holds a mere trifle of 40 thousand bushels, if your mind will comprehend that, even when figured out that it would mean 640,000 bushels in all—not attempting to reduce it to pounds.

At any rate, once the corn is cleaned, it is taken by mechanical means (elevators) to the machines called degerminators. The kernels of corn go into this "almost human" machine and come out minus the rough, or tough outer hull, and before they are finished they have been polished down to only 50 per cent of their original size, to have only that hard part of the corn which is the best food and which gives the best "flakes."

What is done with the rest? Indeed it is not wasted—it is made into cattle food.

DENTON—Whirled dizzily around the swiftly revolving shaft of the machinery in a local gin plant, Morris Ford miraculously escaped instant death. Ford's right arm became wrapped around the shaft while replacing a drive belt. A fellow worker ran the length of the plant and turned the power off. It was impossible to turn the machinery back and Ford's body had to be turned round and round the shaft until released. He suffered numerous broken bones and bruises.

Rah! Rah! Rah! The Circus Has Come to Town. See Elks in the Menagerie. Some Guys Find Entertaining Side Show

By P. G. T.

Tonight we have with us a real honest-to-goodness circus, consisting of tents, clowns, sawdust, acrobats, wild animals, press agents, managers, stake drivers, canvasmen and lots of other junk which we don't know about.

The telephone tinkled timerously and Some Guys left his easy chair by the office fire with a groan at being interrupted in his active business and answered.

"Is this Some Guys?" said a voice in a deadly tone. "This is George Owens at Milford's undertaking parlors. I have something important and interesting to show you down here, drop around when you get time."

Some Guys discovered himself in front of Milford's and with some trepidation entered.

"Is George Owens here?" he asked, "he phoned me that there was something I should see in this place."

Johnny Milford, "but let us see if he is in the back of the house."

Some Guys followed him through a narrow passage toward the embalming room. They came out of the hallway, Johnny, stopped.

"You see that picture molding up there," he pointed. "I shot a rat running along there with my air gun yesterday, got him in the head, he fell right down here to the floor."

And Johnny's finger described the course of the unfortunate rat to finish pointing at a diamond back rattler five feet long poised to strike.

Some Guys screamed hoarsely, and Some Guys who were used to snakes stepped away and grabbed for the nearest stick. Every guy got a heavy stick out of it and then John Milford or Georgia or who ever happened to be in charge of the morgue picked up the snake and shows how disgustingly natural one can be when filled properly with cotton.

An agriculturalist about four miles from Ranger brought this twisty beast in after shooting him. He says he has a whole den of 'em on his farm and when winter comes he is going to blow the family up with a heavy charge of dynamite and then we will have a nice snake shower for a while.

FANGS OF RATTLESNAKE JUNCTURE AUTOMOBILE TIRE

By United Press.

MINERAL WELLS, Oct. 2.—Earl Tomerlin is the first motorist in this section to report a punctured tire caused by a rattlesnake bite.

While driving along a road near here Tomerlin saw a huge rattler directly in his path. The wheels of the car passed over the snake. When he got out to inspect his kill one of the snake's fangs was missing and his tire was punctured. Tomerlin believes the snake, in its death agony, sank one of its fangs into the tire. The rattler measured five feet and two inches in length and was nine inches in diameter.

A navy flier has succeeded in reaching a speed of 259 miles an hour. That's about as fast as falling.—Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

Dalrymple Talks In Eastland on Ku Klux Klan Issue

Special to the Times

EASTLAND, Oct. 3.—More than 1,000 people heard A. V. Dalrymple of Fort Worth, attorney, speak on Ku Kluxism here last night in the municipal auditorium. Many people stood. His talk was delivered under the auspices of the Eastland County Constitutional club.

Rev. W. H. Moon was announced to speak at Cisco on Oct. 15 under the auspices of the club.

The speaking began 30 minutes later than advertised but the crowd waited patiently until the chairman escorted the speaker to the stage. Dalrymple, who served in the intelligence department of the United States army in Europe during the war, defined Ku Kluxism as "brute insanity." He said the klan was organized for the purpose of making money. "Men went into it for the money and the political power it would get them," he declared. He said this was one of the classes of men to be found in the klan and he enumerated a number of other classes.

"Another class includes preachers, lawyers, doctors and business men," he continued. "They went into the klan so they could build their business up on the wrecks of their fellow men by the weapon of boycott."

"The great common herd of the klan, the ignorant, misinformed, the well-meaning went into it because they thought they could do some good. They believed they could stop bootlegging, thievery and criminality."

"I say to you there is damn little chance for you if you stay in."

Dalrymple excoriated the heads and organizers of the klan for their moral reputations. He referred his hearers to the congressional record as a witness to the character of E.

Y. Clarke, former imperial wizard; William Simmons, emperor, and Mrs. Tyler, a woman organizer of the klan.

He took up the aims of the klan, law enforcement, defending the purity of womanhood, Christian tenets and drew illustrations from the daily press, personal experiences and political campaigns in which the klan has played a conspicuous part, which he said would show that the klan does not carry out its announced intention.

He charged that lloggings and mistreatment of white men and women in the South has increased more than 11,000 per cent and whippings of negroes more than 300 per cent since the klan came into being "and they tell you the klan is for law enforcement," he said.

He said the klan organizers played on the prejudices, passions and feelings of people in their campaign for "memberships at $10 each."

"In the South, where there are not a great number of Catholics, they will tell you the pope is coming over to 'take America' and that the Catholics are scheming for political power. Let me see how much of that is true."

He took a copy of the World almanac and began reading religious figures. He read off about 10 states in which he said the Catholics numbered more than all of the other religious sects combined. "In all of those states there is only one Catholic who is governor of the state. There are 30 states in which the Catholics number more than any other single denomination. If you believe the Catholics are conspiring to elect their members to political offices, look over the congressional directory."
