MOODY NAMES JOE BURKETT AS "FRIENDLY"

Alleges Highway Commissioner Obtained Contracts For Hoffman Construction Company.

AUSTIN, Nov. 14.—Disregarding the efforts of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and members of the state highway commission to halt his efforts, Attorney General Dan Moody today filed his third suit for cancellation of road maintenance contracts and refund of money. Directing it against the Hoffman Construction Company, the attorney general asked for the return of $100,000 and alleged that the company was awarded the contract through "personal obligation."

The petition alleges that the Hoffman Construction Company sought road contracts similar to those granted the American Road Company and that Burkett was induced to agree that he would endeavor to obtain the consent of the highway commission to the making and awarding similar contracts to the Hoffman Construction Company.

Frank V. Lanham, chairman of the commission, yielded to Burkett's wishes, the petition alleges. Although the highway commission recently cancelled the contracts of Hoffman Construction Company at the request of the company, the attorney general ignored the order and asked the court to make the cancellation.

Hearing on the injunction asked against the American Road Company is scheduled for Monday in the 53rd district court of Travis county. It has been pointed out that should the court deny the right of the attorney general to bring the suit and thus settle the highway commission's argument, the only body then left to act would be the state legislature. Governor Ferguson is opposed to a special session and Speaker Satterwhite of the Texas house made a statement several days ago in connection with the filing of the suit against the American Road Company in which he declared the allegations were "ugly" and could not be overlooked.

John W. Hornsby, Travis county attorney, said Friday night that he had declined to appear as counsel, either in his official capacity or otherwise, for the highway commission in its intervention to deny the right of the attorney general to bring the cancellation suits without being asked by the highway commission or directed by the governor to do so. Hornsby said he had consented to meet the lawyers for the highway commission in conference, but no more than that.

MEN WHO GO TO BOTTOM IN SUB BELIEVED DEAD

Doubt Expressed If Sunken U-Boat Has Really Been Located.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Hope that life yet exists among the sixty-eight men trapped in the huge undersize monitor M-1, believed to have been wrecked off Start Point, Isle of Wight, was officially abandoned today. The admiralty, at the king's instigation, sent messages to the next of kin declaring that the circumstances of the submarine's disappearance leave no doubt the men in it have perished.

At the same time there is some question if the object found off the coast of Devon was originally the M-1, as reported yesterday. The spot where the monitor went down is strewn with the wrecks of the war, British ships sunk by German U-boats. The water is very deep at this point, forty fathoms not being unusual, and at this depth the steel sheath of a submarine is supposed to crack up under the water pressure. The vessel snagged by the grapple yesterday may be some merchantman that went down during the war.

Congressman Will Ask Supreme Court To Save Him From Jail

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14.—Appeals to the United States supreme court will be perfected immediately by counsel for Congressman John W. Langley of Kentucky and Milton Lipschutz of Philadelphia, whose conviction on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act has been re-affirmed by the federal court of appeals here.

The appellate court, in upholding the Covington, Ky., tribunal which found the two guilty of sentenced them to two years in Atlanta penitentiary, and to pay fines of $10,000 each, denied the contention that the lower court had erred in convicting the congressman and Lipschutz, who were found guilty of conspiracy to withdraw illegally 1,400 cases of bonded whisky from a distillery at Lawrenceburg, Ky.

COLLEGE GIRL DISAPPEARS FOLLOWING CHUM'S DEATH

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 14.—Search for Alice M. Corbett of Eliot, N. Y., 21-year-old Smith College student who disappeared yesterday following the accidental asphyxiation of her friend, Jean Robinson, in a dormitory, continued tonight without any trace of her being found.

Grief Stricken over her chum's death, Miss Corbett is believed to have become unbalanced and it is feared she may have gone away with the intention of taking her own life, college authorities said.

A farewell note was found in her room and it became known today she had tried to take poison.

ONE OF TWO HI-JACKERS RAIDING GAME IS CAPTURED

DALLAS, Nov. 14.—A thrilling few minutes followed an attempt of two hi-jackers to raid a dice game this evening in the Savoy Hotel. F. E. Pate, one of the dice players, was shot and seriously wounded, and E. E. Mayers, one of the raiders, was captured. The other hi-jacker escaped with $1,500 in cash.

After one of the robbers had shot Pate, the pair continued to gather up the money as they were leaving upon her, a man about 50 years of age shot himself in the chest here today and is in a hospital not expected to live. After her conversation with the man, the maid left the room and soon afterwards a shot was heard. The man is said to have been despondent and told the maid he wanted to end his life.

EVACUATION OF COLOGNE TO BEGIN DECEMBER 1

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The council of ambassadors today decided to begin evacuation of Cologne December 1. The session scheduled for Monday, was advanced at the request of Germany, so this news might save off or offset the effect of a nationalist demonstration planned in Germany for Sunday. This concession to Germany was deemed a direct result of the new peace spirit.

Girl Jilts Fiance and Becomes Reporter When He Opposes Her Plans for Career

BARBARA HAWLEY

Barbara Hawley starts to work today as a reporter for this newspaper and back of this announcement is an unusual story.

For some time she had been engaged to a prominent young man. They had made plans for their marriage. But Barbara, a young woman of 25, was ambitious for a career as well as marriage. When she informed her fiance of her determination to seek success for herself in newspaper work, he objected so strenuously that she promptly broke off their engagement.

Efforts of the young man to effect a reconciliation have failed and she applied to this newspaper for a reporter's job. She seemed so determined to succeed that she got the job.

"My fiance was quite impossible," Barbara said, in frankly explaining her reason for seeking a job. "He called me selfish—said I would never get anywhere in a profession—that no woman did, except sour old maids and monstrosities."

"But it's the men who are selfish ones. They're jealous of women. They've had their own way in business for so long that they can't bear to let women in."

Love and ambition called to Barbara. She chose ambition. Did she choose the right course?

Whether you approve Miss Hawley's decision or not, watch for her stories in this newspaper. Anyone who is willing and as determined to succeed as she should make a star reporter.

President Begins Preparation of His Message to Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—President Coolidge has determined the general line of his message to congress next month and tonight began preparation of the document. Convinced that the policy which contributed to his election last year is what the people want, Mr. Coolidge will emphasize the importance of economy and the court of nations. Important portions of the message will suggest:

Farm relief through the establishment of a bureau in the agricultural department to further co-operative marketing and minor legislation to facilitate farm credits, but opposition to government price fixing through a federal export corporation, as has been proposed.

Legislation for the voluntary consolidation of railroads during a fixed period, after which the government can force consolidation.

BORDER PATROL FIGHTING FOR DRY COUNTRY

Enforcement Forces Seize Cars and Liquor and Confuse The Smugglers.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Mounted border patrols working under instructions from Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, chief of the prohibition enforcement forces, are guarding the entire Mexican and Canadian boundaries of the United States to prevent and stop liquor smuggling.

Andrews has eleven patrols on the Canadian border and ten on the Mexican border. These patrols have been operating less than one month and already have seized thousands of gallons of liquor intended for thirsty tips in the United States. Not only have large quantities of liquor been seized from the rum runners, but 200 automobiles confiscated after seizures have been turned over to the border patrol, although some of the patrols prefer to use horses.

The patrols operate in conjunction having a detail of dry agents with the customs collectors, each collector having a detail of dry agents, and they have been doing effective work.

MINISTER GETS ENTANGLED WITH JEWEL THEFT

Indicted For Taking Gems As Collateral For Loan of $263,000.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—An indictment charging the Rev. Samuel Dorsman, a New York minister, with receiving stolen goods has been returned by the grand jury, it was revealed here today. The indictment charges that Dorsman accepted a half-million dollars worth of jewels from Harry Arnov, a jewelry salesman, as security for a loan of $263,000.

The gems, indictment charges, were part of a stock of jewels worth $1,116,000 which Harry A. Cohn is accused of having obtained on credit and having disposed of illegally. According to evidence presented to the grand jury, Cohn turned over the jewels to Harry Arnov, formerly of Los Angeles, and Alexander Arnov of New York to sell for him. Harry Arnov, the State charges, took a half-million dollars worth of the jewels to Dorsman and, with the jewels as security borrowed $263,000 from him.

HORSE RACING APPEARS POPULAR AT SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, China, Nov. 14.—With the opening of a third track on the borders of the International Settlement, Shanghai will be able soon to claim rank as one of the world's greatest racing centers.

For many years past two race clubs have operated tracks here, providing racing practically every Saturday and holiday during the Spring and Fall seasons and several special meetings.

Only China-bred ponies, diminutive in size but remarkably fast and sturdy, are permitted under the rules of the clubs. The jockeys, in accordance with British traditions, are all amateurs, but pair-mutuel machines and sweepstakes are conducted and take in huge totals.

Of the two clubs now in existence, one is purely foreign and the other foreign and Chinese in membership. The new club is being organized by Chinese.

Accusation Against Captain Paul Foley To Be Investigated

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A sweeping inquiry into the accusations of Mrs. Margaret Lansdowne against Capt. Paul Foley, of the Shannadoah inquiry court, was announced today.

Almost simultaneously with acceptance by Secretary of Navy Willbur of the resignation of Capt. Paul Foley as judge advocate of the Shannadoah court of inquiry, summons were issued for Mrs. Lansdowne, Mrs. George W. Steele, wife of the commandant of the Lakehurst air station; Mrs. Paul Foley, wife of Captain Foley, and Dr. and Mrs. William B. Mason, relatives of Mrs. Lansdowne at whose Washington home Foley was said to have discussed with Mrs. Lansdowne her testimony prior to her appearance before the board.

ANTI-FOREIGN LAW IN MEXICO IS ALARMING

U. S. Ambassador Instructed To Watch Proposed Legislation Closely.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Considerable alarm is being expressed here in some quarters over continued activity of the Mexican authorities in pressing for the adoption of an amendment to Article 27 of the Mexican constitution, further restricting foreign property holders.

Under the proposed law, which is reported to have been agreed to in principle by the Mexican Chamber of Deputies, Americans and other foreigners would be restricted to narrow bounds. Although state department officials declined to discuss it, there is reason to believe that James R. Sheffield, American ambassador to Mexico, has been asked to keep in close touch with all considerations of the proposed law. Sheffield, it is believed, will make representations to the Mexican government concerning features that may affect American interests. President Calles is said to have recommended modifications to make the bill less stringent.

Stephenson Convicted Of 2nd Degree Murder, Two Comrades Freed

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Nov. 14.—David C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Indiana ku klux klan, was found guilty of second degree murder by a jury here early tonight for the death of Miss Madge Oberholzer.

Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry, alleged conspirators with Stephenson in the abduction of Miss Oberholzer, were found "not guilty."

The conviction carries a penalty of life imprisonment under the Indiana law. The jury was out five hours and 24 minutes. Stephenson laughed scornfully when the verdict was read, but walked back to his cell with a downcast air, although smoking his usual cigar.

Marshall Oberholzer, brother of Madge, was the only representative of the Oberholzer family in the courtroom. He would make no statement. Klenck and Gentry were jubilant when the jury's verdict was read.

FUGITIVE ACCUSED OF TRYING TO FOOL POLICE

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Authorities here are convinced that Martin Durkin, alleged murderer and refugee from justice, is hiding somewhere in or near Chicago, and that evidence found yesterday to indicate that Durkin had committed suicide was a hoax to lead detectives astray.

Charles Mason, chauffeur, identified Mrs. Hattie Galow, a cousin of Durkin, as the woman he saw fleeing from the Michigan Boulevard bridge over the Chicago River just before bits of Durkin's clothing and a farewell note from him were found.

TWO MEN AND TWO WOMEN FAIL TO KILL INFANT

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 14.—Police are searching for two men and two women who were frightened away from an attempted infanticide here recently.

Hearing pistol shots along the bank of a drainage canal in one of the suburbs a gendarme reached the spot in time to see a group of four well-dressed men and women firing at an object floating in the water. They fled at his approach and were driven away in an automobile.

Of the sixty-seven charter members of the association, twenty-two are understood to be prospective borrowers for home building purposes.

Experts Address Meeting. The outstanding features of Friday evening's meeting were addresses by R. H. McCulloch and Bruce McHarg, both of the Tarrant County Building and Loan Association, oldest association of its kind in Fort Worth. The talk by Mr. McCulloch, who made the somewhat intricate principle of building and loan appear simple and answered questions was very interesting. In fact, for an hour, Mr. McCulloch was kept on his feet conducting a regular school of motives, methods and achievements of the building and loan associations. The high lights in his address were:

The building and loan dates back to 2000 B. C., with China as its original home. It entered England in 1780. The first in the United States was organized Jan. 3, 1831, at Frankfort, Pa. The first in Texas, sometimes in 1913, soon after the first building and loan law became effective. Fort Worth did not organize until 1921, at which time Dallas already had sixteen active organizations. The Fort Worth organization, (the Tarrant County Building and Loan Association) has doubled its assets and more every year. In that, as in all organizations run on the same plan as proposed for the Ranger organization, the porter gets precisely the same returns for his dime as the president of the company does for his dollars invested, it being co-operative and mutual throughout.

State Supervision. Each association is under direct supervision of the State commissioner of insurance. Its initial expenses are taken care of by membership fees, as will be the case in the Ranger body, cancellation fees, or a

ONE A WEEK.
 "A woman, a dog and a slippery elm tree, the more you beat 'em, the better they'll be." I wonder. Men used to punish their wives for insubordination and they had good wives—wives that to the eyes of the world appeared to "marry and live happy ever-afterwards." A man has to be master of his own home, it was ordained that way, and when he for fear of offending his lady love, lets the bars down sufficiently for her to get the upper hand, its good-bye to love and happiness. Even the children soon lose respect for a man who is woman bossed. Personally, I am opposed to corporal punishment, but there are times when I think a husband would be justifiable in telling his wife "where to head in" instead of taking her tirades like a noor fish, for after all a spoiled wife is just like a spoiled child and what corrects one's faults should correct the other. I know a woman whose husband actually beats her up, and yet she can't live away from him and has borne him a number of fine children, who all look up to "Dad" for in this family Dad is the captain of his own soul, the master of his own home. I don't really think a man should beat his wife, but I do think that he should never let her get so far out of bounds that he feels like doing it.

 Dr. A. N. Harkrider and his hunting companion, Mr. McKinney, returned home this morning from a week's hunting in the wilds of New Mexico. AD LIBITUM CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. WALKER.
 An autumn color motif was cleverly developed by Mrs. Hall Walker, when she entertained the members of the Ad Libitum Club, at her home on Young street, Thursday afternoon, by the artistic use of masses of huge yellow "mums" and score cards suggesting autumn leaves and scenes. A handsome tapestry table runner was first prize and went to Mrs. Steve Lillard, Jr., while a lovely frosted glass powder jar, in powder blue, went to Mrs. William McDonald.

Mrs. Walker served chicken salad, crackers, fig preserves, fruit cake topped with whipped cream and coffee to the following club members: Mesdames W. J. Cash, H. B. Clifton, Gus Coleman, D. L. A SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.
 The Fidelis class of the First Baptist church sprung a wonderful surprise on their teacher, Mrs. C. H. Dunlap, and Map, and Day, Friday night, when they entertained for them with a mock wedding in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. And it was a surprise affair, too, which made it all the more merry. Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap, who are both prominently connected with the life of the Baptist church, were advised that their presence was desired at a meeting in the basement of the church, Friday night, and good church members were there, waiting there on time. When they entered the room, which had been literally transformed into a bower of loveliness, Miss Hortense Ross stepped up to Mrs. Dunlap and laid a bridal bouquet in her arms, and turned to Mr. Dunlap and pinned a flower on the lapel of his coat, then the class, all young ladies, greeted them, and asked them to walk down the aisle, and after that the far end of the room. This aisle was the duplicate of any regular church wedding aisle, and the pews were wrapped with pink and white crepe paper and caught with chrysanthemums and led as all wedding aisles do, right down to the altar, which was a lovely flower covered affair. Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap were escorted to the marriage altar by the entire Fidelis class, acting as bridesmaids, and were met there by Rev. Mr. W. H. Johnson, who after Betty Dutton, the daughter of the bride and groom sang a lovely nuptial song, said a few words of congratulation to Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap, and then presented them the gifts of silver that had been placed on the altar. These gifts were very lovely—mugs expressing of the love and affection the pupils of Mrs. Dunlap have for their teacher, and of the appreciation of Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap by other friends who were present. Music was furnished by Miss Nell Tibbels at the piano and Mr. Leo Underwood and Mr. Brewster. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and tea were served to the some 35 or 40 guests that were present. After the mock wedding ceremony was over, the evening was spent in music and conversation.

dressed in pink and white crepe, the colors of her dainty dress harmonizing with the general color scheme employed in decorations and refreshments. The McDowell home was beautifully decorated in roses and other colorful autumn flowers, and the floral decorations made a pretty setting for the birthday festivities. The dining table, where the children were seated, was decorated with white cake was especially appealing, having as it did a birthday cake, gorgonzola in its pink and white icing and its four gleaming tapers for its centerpiece. A row of autumn leaves outlined this and around the autumn leaves were little pink and blue baby shoes, filled with candy, which were favors, as were pink and white balloons. Games suitable to the little hostess and her guests were enjoyed by the 35 youngsters present. Mrs. McDowell was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. R. A. Tunnell and J. E. Eby. Little Cecilia was the recipient of many lovely gifts, among them being a cedar chest from her mother and father.

FEDERAL COURT INVOKED TO SAVE GERALD CHAPMAN.
 By United Press.
 NEW HAVEN, Nov. 14.—A writ of habeas corpus, ordering Warden Scott of the State prison to produce Gerald Chapman in the federal court at Hartford, Nov. 25, will be signed here Monday by Federal Judge Edwin T. Thomas, he announced last night after counsel for Chapman had appeared before him. Counsel for Chapman will contend that, under the writ by which the bandit was produced in the State court to stand trial for the murder of a New Britain policeman, for which he was convicted and sentenced to be hanged, he is still a federal prisoner and must serve out the sentence of twenty-five years at Atlanta before the State of Connecticut may hang him.

The robber was captured unharmed.

RANGER PAVES WAY FOR NEW BUILDING ERA.
 combination of the two. The increment is derived from the "spread" between monthly turnovers and semi-annual dividends, which makes every dollar pay interest on interest and thereby builds up estates for its members at a rate often believed impossible by those who have not stopped to figure what compounding and retaining profits will do. The borrowers is not primarily much interested in the rate of interest charged, as he is a part of the association and his profits on the savings side of the account, balance and offset his payments through interest channels. Objectives sought by borrowers—purposes for which they build up estates as named by Mr. McCulloch, include: Provision against dependence in old age, the education of children, building homes, providing for future pleasure, peace of mind, a retribution for thrift, creation of a sinking fund to discharge some term loan with lien on property, as a trustee for wards of guardians, provision against losses in business, provision for a day on which to retire from business, etc. Among the advantages of the building and loan plan of investment were named: safety, availability of funds at all times, privilege of borrowers against the certificates, and other items.

Resolution of Thanks.
 Dr. Buchanan, presiding Friday night, took occasion, as a Rotarian, to pay a high tribute to the Lions Club for taking the initiative in the organization and a vote of thanks to that club and the committee, S. A. Lillard, Jr., F. A. Ringold, Hall Walker and J. M. White, and to Messrs. McHarg and McCulloch for valuable assistance to the new organization, was given.

Both in the meeting and more pointedly afterwards, Mr. McCulloch stressed the fact that nearly all similar bodies had made the mistake of not providing an ample field for economizing in the item of salesmanship at its inception, and there-growth, a thing later corrected. That the Ranger body will make provision for this was indicated.

MRS. JANIE WHITE LAID TO REST IN MERRIMAN
Funeral services for Mrs. Janie White were conducted Saturday afternoon in the Ranger Methodist Church by the pastor, the Rev. A. W. Hall, following which interment was made in the cemetery at Merriman by the grave of her husband, who died about ten years ago.

The ballbearers were the four sons of the decedent, Dr. H. D. White of Monterey, Mexico, Rev. A. P. White of Harlingen, Texas, L. M. White and Frank White of Fort Worth, and her two son-in-laws, Dr. A. K. Weir of Ranger, and O. T. Hazzard.

The floral tributes from friends were numerous and beautiful and a large number of people attended services at the grave.

LAST OF CASH PRIZES ARE PAID TO STUDENTS
The last of the fire prevention week cash prizes awarded by the three Ranger insurance agencies, were paid Saturday morning. The recipients of these prizes are: High school pep squad, first prize for best trimmed window (for W. E. Davis) $25; best essay on fire prevention, to Miss Janet Yonker, $15; best painted poster on fire prevention, by a number of pupils working together in the Sisters of Saint Rita Academy, $10; best fire prevention slogan, to Miss Cubian Smoveland, $2.50.

These winners have all been previously announced except Miss Smoveland and the numerous pupils at Saint Rita's whose names are withheld, so credit goes to them as a school.

Caught 'Em

Miss Rita Jarvis, 13-year-old daughter of a farmer living near Memphis, Tenn., won a $1,000 reward for the capture of three bank robbers who had broken jail. She discovered them hiding on her father's farm, led a posse to the spot and the men were recaptured.

PROTESTS LICENSED BREWERIES.
Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania has asked Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to notify the state authorities before granting permits to breweries. He charges that 64 non-permit breweries have been entered by state police and 600,000 gallons of illegal beer have been destroyed. He asserts that federal permits are now issued to 48 breweries, some of whom have been arrested, but there is no state control over these breweries, and that five licensed breweries will make all the legal beer the market can consume.

This correspondence opens an old argument on this question that has put the treasury department under suspicion and it is probable the matter will receive the attention of congress.

This One-Profit Unit-Built Studebaker offers you 3 major advantages in Quality, Price and Protected Investment

THE average man on the street today knows that through more efficient manufacture, standardization of parts, etc., all makers offer him more for his money than ever before.

All makers claim greater things for their product — and can prove them. All makers rest their case on more economical manufacturing due to quantity production under modern efficiency methods. All cars are fair value but there is a best value.

Few motor car "manufacturers" have foundries, forges, etc., to make their own engines—yet one-fourth of the cost of an automobile is in the engine. Even fewer build their own bodies—yet one-third of the cost of a car is in the body.

Only two makers have adequate facilities for making all bodies, engines, clutches, gear sets, springs, differentials, steering gears, axles, gray iron castings and drop forgings: Ford in the low-price field and Studebaker in the fine-car field.

One-Profit Value

Because of its unique manufacturing facilities, Studebaker eliminates profits which all other quality car manufacturers must pay to outside parts or body makers. Savings effected in this way run to hundreds of dollars on some models. Thus Studebaker is able to use finest steels, finest woods, finest engineering and superlative workmanship in its cars; then to add costly extras . . . and still charge no more than competing cars.

Unit-Built Construction

One-Profit facilities result, too, in Unit-Built construction. In cars designed and built as units. The hundreds of parts used in a Studebaker car are Studebaker. They function together as a unit, resulting in longer life, greater riding comfort and higher resale value for you. Scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation thus are built into Studebaker cars. Records of more than one hundred thousand miles are not uncommon.

And "No-Yearly-Models"

As a natural outgrowth of those two factors, a third great advantage to the buyer is attained . . . "No-Yearly-Models." Because all phases of manufacture are directly under Studebaker control, Studebaker cars are constantly kept up-to-date. Improvements are continually made—not saved up for spectacular annual announcements which make cars artificially obsolete. Resale values are thus stabilized. As an example of the value One-Profit manufacture makes possible, see the Studebaker Standard Six Sedan.

Studebaker's Lowest Priced Sedan—but all quality

THE fine Studebaker Standard Six Sedan illustrated below is a real four-door sedan. It is upholstered in genuine wool cloth. Carpets are wool. Windows are real plate glass.

The equipment includes an 8-day clock, gasoline gauge, ash receiver, rear-vision mirror, stop light, dome light, safety lighting control on steering wheel, automatic windshield cleaner, coincidental lock to steering gear and ignition controlled by same key operating door and spare-tire locks, and full-size balloon tires. All instruments are grouped under glass on a silver-faced dial set in a beautiful walnut finished panel.

But the most important superiorities of this Sedan are concealed within the framework of the body and in the chassis.

Body pillars, for instance, are of northern white ash, cross-members of hard maple. We pay a premium for steels of extra toughness.

Run the engine—the most powerful in any car of its size and weight, according to the rating of the N. A. C. C. and the Society of Automotive Engineers. The motor is not built for excessive speed, but rather for smooth, trouble-free service at 5 to 55 miles an hour. It is built for a long, quiet life—not for spectacular stunts.

We will gladly demonstrate this car and finance its purchase on Studebaker's fair and liberal Budget Payment Plan.

TEXAS LONGHORNS DEFEAT ARIZONA, SCORE 20 TO 0

By United Press.

AUSTIN, Nov. 14.—The Wildcats will howl long into the night tonight for the Texas Longhorns over ran the Arizona pigskin warriors with a score of 20 to 0 here today. The three winning touchdowns were made by consistent aerials and line work. In the first quarter, a pass brought Texas to within three yards of the Arizona line and it was an easy matter to go over. In the third quarter, King caught a 20-yard pass and with a plunge reached the goal. King also made the third touchdown in the same quarter.

Texas made seventeen first downs to Arizona's seven. The Longhorns were predominant in the orange lineup until the last few minutes of play, when the first string men were called out. Texas got within scoring distance of the Texas line only once and the Longhorns quickly kicked out of danger.

PRINCETON TRIUMPHS OVER YALE, SCORE 25 TO 12

By United Press.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 14.—A ferocious claw-sharpened tiger filled with the blood-lust of last week's victory over Harvard, battered his way to the championship of football, setting back Yale 25 to 12, before 20,000 fans today in the huge Yale bowl. Jack Schlagie and Joe Pendergast, tiger backs, came out of the fray with enough glory to pass it around unselfishly to the rest of their teammates. Schlagie ran 80 yards through the entire Yale team for the tiger's first touchdown and Pendergast, almost unaided, smashed his way 40 yards for the final touchdown. In between these two backs, the latter being in for Tom Dignan, performed nobly. Rarely was Schlagie stopped without gain.

DARTMOUTH DEFEATS CHICAGO PUTTING THEM AT THE TOP

By United Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—A steam roller from Hanover, N. H., that is known to the football world as Dartmouth's big green team, crashed Stagg's University of Chicago maroons here this afternoon by a score of 7 to 3 in the biggest intersectional game of today.

It was Dartmouth's last game of the season and, since it is the only undefeated, untied team east of the Mississippi, Dartmouth claims the national championship.

Major General Hull, Army Judge Advocate, Lauds Wasaff's Book

The following letter received by Captain Samuel K. Wasaff, Ranger lawyer and military man, came as a response to a book written and bound by the Ranger man, which has been submitted to the war department, which is, in effect, a reduction of the manual for courts-martial to a system of questions and answers which men in general praise. The letter: "Nov. 9, 1925. Captain Samuel K. Wasaff, P. A. Res., Ranger, Texas. My Dear Captain: I have just received your quizzier on the manual for courts-martial. The work represents a vast amount of painstaking labor, has been very well done, and reflects the enthusiastic interest you take in the work of the judge advocate general's department.

"I will have the quizzier put in the library and will make use of it when occasion arises to publish such a work to the service. I have also caused a copy of this matter to be placed on your record in the office.

"I herewith thank you for the relinquishment of your rights of publication.

(Signed) J. A. Hull, Major General, the Judge Advocate General."

Only three copies of the work have been bound. The book is said to answer 3,400 important military questions.

BONES OF HANGED MEN AMONG "CURES" OF 1613

By United Press.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Crabs' eyes, pearls, snails, vipers, the thigh bone of a hanged man and other equally surprising "remedies" are described on a book of pharmaceutical prescriptions published in 1618 and recently uncovered in a London book store.

Dr. Whinfred Cullins, professor of Physiology at London University, commenting on the book, declared that horrible as the "remedies" were, there was still a class of people today who bought alleged panaceas for all ills, whose ingredients while clothed with better sounding names, were probably no more helpful in curing disease than the crabs' eyes, snails, etc., of the 1618 prescriptions.

Drilling Slows Down Temporarily In the Ranger Oil Field

Operations in the Ranger oil fields are feeling the effect of fall vacations, according to oil men. A number of operators are off hunting in the mountains as is usual at this season of the year. Work is slowed down, but by no means stopped. Wells already begun are being drilled at about normal speed and with no unusual developments. Several new locations have been made and one tool concern is known to be getting together rig and tools for three wells to be begun soon, locations of which are not to be announced until the tools are moved onto the ground.

Barkley & Gholson are drilling a well on the Mead place, 11 miles southeast of Ranger and about 14 miles from Eastland. They are down 1,450 feet and are setting pipe after having made one set at the 1,100-foot depth.

Mihlsted & Mook have spudded in a mile east of Olden, in what is practically a wildcat well, there being no production in the immediate vicinity.

Barney Carter is down 400 feet on the Falls lease, six miles south of Ranger.

The presence of several oil scouts with unrevealed purpose, has caused some speculation in oil circles. However, no marked new activity has been reported for several days.

Ranger Cotton Gin Continues Receiving Staple For Ginning

Cotton continues to come into the Moss gin in Ranger and probably will continue coming for several weeks, according to H. L. Stewart, manager, who reported 33 bales arriving Saturday.

To date 1,444 bales of cotton have been ginned in Ranger and Mr. Stewart looks for 200 bales more, at least, which will make a total of close to 1,650 bales, a material increase over last year.

NEGRO BOY HELD ON CHARGE OF BURGLARY

E. M. Worley, colored, who gives his age as 13, arrested Saturday on a charge of burglary committed on the Waples-Platter Grocery Company, Ranger, recently, when candies, gum and the like said to be valued at around $20 were taken, was sent to the county jail, where he is being held for trial. Hints of an older accomplice have been docketed.

FLOUR MILL IS EQUIPPING FOR MAKING FEEDS

Only Big Mill Between El Paso and Weatherford Expanding to Take Care of $60,000 Crop.

Equipment is now reported about complete and state tags as required by law received Friday in Ranger completing arrangements for putting out a large line of feed stuffs by the fifty barrel K. G. Jones mill of Ranger, the only flouring mill of any size and believed to be the only one now operating between Weatherford and El Paso. This involves not to a wide belt of territory stretching to a wide belt of territory stretching across from two to four counties on either side of unit line.

The taking on of this new enterprise marks an epoch in the operation of this comparatively new Eastland County concern. The manufacture of a full line of poultry feeds, mixed feeds for stock, balanced rations, and, later buttermilk feeds, is included in the present program, it is stated.

With these lines added, this mill now be not only the sole flouring mill in Eastland, Stephens and Erau counties and the only one of its size and in active operation in the territory named, but one of the few stock feed manufacturing plants in Texas, it is said.

That next year's Eastland County wheat crop will in all probability run around $60,000, which will mean a restoration to the old standard normal crop, is the opinion of Mr. Jones who has made a very careful survey of conditions. The return to farms abandoned in oil boom days and an exceptional sowing season are credited with this very healthy prospect. This territory is characterized as a sort of "Mason and Dixon line" between the hard and soft wheat belts, the milling running to about equal figures in each. This is said to be an advantage enjoyed by few other territories and few mills.

The Jones mill opened in Ranger two years ago, since which time its business has been entirely satisfactory, it is stated, justifying this expansion into new lines.

EASTLAND DWELLING HOUSE SAVED BY QUICK WORK

Quick work by the Eastland fire department when they responded at 1:15 o'clock Saturday morning to an alarm, saved the residence of Mrs. Roper, in the northwest part of Eastland from total destruction by fire. As it was, considerable damage was done to the building.

Fire Chief Hommesee stated that the fire originated in the bath room and that spontaneous combustion was the only way he could account for the fire starting, as there was no heater in the room and no electric wires. A pile of wet clothes in the room seem to have been the starting place of the fire.

LIONS ADOPT RESOLUTION ON DEATH OF MRS. JOSIE COLLIE

Following is a resolution passed by the Eastland Lions' club upon the death of Mrs. Josie Collie of Gorman, mother of Wilbourne B. Collie of Eastland and a member of the Eastland Lions' club, and M. K. Collie of Ranger: To Our Fellow Member and Brother, Hon. Wilbourne B. Collie: As we are assembled together for good on this date, your presence is greatly missed. Our heads are bowed to the will of the Great Redeemer while the shrouded mystery of death creeps into the midst of your family and plucks from this earthly sphere the one whose sweet sentiments have, through the years, shed its fragrance upon the lives of her posterity, rendering your joys and successes possible.

It is heretofore unanimous that the Lions' club of Eastland extend to you, personally, as our brother, striving with us for good and the betterment of all mankind, and to your brothers and sisters, our deepest sympathies in your sad misfortune and sorrow through the passing of your dear mother, whom, we are advised, is being laid to rest on this date. And in this hour we recall that:

In making up his jewels, And gems of precious worth; The Lord sent forth his Angel, And plucked one from this earth. And from the countless millions, And gems of beauty rare, He gathers from the number, The fairest of the fair.

Yours in true comradeship, LIONS CLUB, EASTLAND, TEXAS. (Signed): By Tom J. Cunningham, L. R. Hogan, S. Nemir, Committee. Nov 10, 1925.

EXPENDITURE FOR LUXURIES MORE THAN FOR EDUCATION

By HERBERT LITTLE (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—People of the United States spent $15,000,000,000 a year for luxuries and non-essentials. They spend $6,000,000,000 annually on buildings. They spend $4,000,000,000 on passenger automobiles, and save something like $10,000,000,000 a year. But they spend less than $2,000,000,000 a year on education through tax-supported schools. This mass of figures on extravagant America was shot forth today by the National Education Association to prove that school costs are not more than society can bear. The research division of the association has just completed a painstaking investigation of the expense of running American schools and other American institutions. People guard against rainy days by paying insurance premiums of around $4,000,000,000 a year, the study showed, but education's preparation for the future doesn't fare nearly so well. The cost of education is 56-100 of one per cent of the nation's estimated wealth of $320,803,000,000. It was pointed out. The total educational expenditure for 1922 was found to be $1,799,383,894, of which elementary and secondary schools took $1,580,671,296. W. G. M'FARLAND WILL BE BURIED AT CLEBURNE The body of W. G. No more RHEUMATISM

IT'S GONE! That awful agony! Rheumatism can't stand the rich, red blood that S. S. S. helps Nature build.
 But rheumatism will bring pain and misery to your joints and muscles just as long as you are without plenty of rich, red blood in your system.
 It's the red-blood-cells that S. S. S. helps Nature build that drive out of your system the impurities that cause rheumatism. And until you do build up your blood to where it is pure and rich and red, you simply can't get rid of rheumatism.
 And S. S. S. is the thing. Red blood conquers rheumatism. Everybody knows that.
 S. S. S. means millions of red-blood-cells—means health all over. No more rheumatism. Nights of rest—days of joy, filled with the happiness of accomplishment—made possible by a body brimful of red blooded life, energy and vitality.
 That's what the end of rheumatism means—that's what S. S. S. brings to you. Get S. S. S. from your druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

MAY SEYMOUR
FOOTLOOSE
 by BEATRICE BURTON

THE STORY SO FAR:
 May Seymour, whose husband killed himself because of her love affair with another man, returns to her home town after a year's absence. She sells her property, and with her whole tiny fortune in cash, sets out to find and marry a man with money.
 At Atlantic City she meets Herbert Waterbury and Dan Sprague, through a divorcee, Mrs. Carlotta Frolking. May sets her cap for Waterbury, whom she believes to be rich. When he proposes she accepts him, and turns over to him all her money for investment. He disappears immediately, and the money with him!
 Penniless, May sells her jewelry to buy a railroad ticket to Los Altos, Calif., where Carlotta lives. On the way she stops off in her own town to visit her friends, Dick and Gloria Gregory. There she meets a wealthy widower, Ulysses Forgan. He falls in love with May and asks her to be his wife. But May refuses, explaining that she likes him too much to marry him without love.
 Then she goes to Los Altos to visit Carlotta, but stays there only a few days owing to Carlotta's evident unwillingness to let her live at her house without paying board.
 May drifts to Los Angeles, fails to get work, and finally wires Ulysses Forgan asking him to send her enough money to buy a railroad ticket back home. When she arrives, she goes to the Gregorys, intending to make her home with them for a time. Gloria gives a party for her and May is surprised to find that all her old friends are glad to see her. Later Gloria plans a Christmas party, and invites Ulysses Forgan for May.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:
 May awakened late on Christmas morning and lay in bed for a long time, lazily listening to the cheerful sounds of life in the Gregorys' little house.
 In the baby's room across the hall, Dicky Junior was making wild, gurgling noises over his first tiny Christmas tree. Every now and then May could hear Dick's deep voice telling him that "this is a rattle! And see the horse!"
 From the kitchen downstairs came the faint hum of an egg-beater in action. That, May knew, was Gloria hard at work making cake for the party this afternoon.
 "I suppose," she thought yawning, "I ought to go down and help her."
 But it was an hour later before she made her appearance in Gloria's kitchen. By that time there were four layer cakes cooling on the table, and Gloria had begun to make thin sandwiches.
 She stopped her work to get May's breakfast, and had a cup of coffee with her, standing at the kitchen sink.
 "I just love to get ready for a party," she said happily, her eyes shining and her cheeks pink with heat and excitement. "It used to cost us so much to give one that we were dead broke all the time. But now that I've learned how to cook, it's awfully inexpensive."
 May shook her head. "I don't see how you manage it all—the housework, and the cooking, and the baby, with no one to help you but that little nurse-maid," she declared. "And you used to be so lazy that you wouldn't hang up your own clothes! I never knew anyone to change the way you have, Gloria!"
 Gloria's eyes were grave as she piled the cake pans and May's breakfast dishes into the dishpan and began to wash them.
 "Everybody changes," she said. "That's what life is for—to bang us and bump us into something better than we were."
 "It certainly has banged and bumped me enough!" May cried, with a bitter little smile hidden somewhere in her eyes. "And it hasn't changed me a bit—I'm just the same old May that I always was."
 "Oh, no, you aren't!" Gloria contradicted. "You've changed a lot the last year or two, May. You're more serious, and you pay more attention to what people say than you once did. In the old days you did exactly what you pleased, and if people didn't like it they could go to the Dickens for all you cared!"
 "That's true," May answered shortly, watching Gloria stuff the Christmas turkey with sage dressing, "but the real change in me is one that you'd never guess."
 "Remember how I used to hate the thought of being married and settled down? Well, now my idea of earthly Paradise is a little house like this, and a husband and a family! Now, what do you think of that?"
 Gloria smiled a bit wistfully. "I think it's the most natural thing in the world for you to want," she said. "And I wish with all my heart that you had what you want. May, isn't there any man anywhere for whom you care at all?"
 May considered this for several minutes before she answered. "Yes, there is one man in the world I care for. But not in the chills-and-fever way that a woman ought to care for the man she marries. This man is just my good friend—and I love him as my good friend, not as my lover. Do you see?"
 Gloria laughed. "Yes, I see perfectly!" she answered. "That was the way I loved Dick—as my good friend. And that's real love, you silly goose! The chills-and-fever stuff is just infatuation!"
 She waited for a moment to let this sink into May's mind, and then went on: "Girls are given the wrong dope about love, anyway. The movies and the plays and the novels all tell us that unless love shakes us to pieces like an earthquake, it isn't love at all. As a matter of fact, real love is as peaceful and quiet as twilight." May went upstairs wondering if her feeling for Ulysses Forgan was as "peaceful and quiet as twilight." She didn't know.

 But the thought of seeing him that afternoon brought a deep sense of satisfaction to her. She dressed herself carefully, so as to seem as beautiful to him as possible—water-waving her hair, polishing her nails, delicately making up her face.
 And after dinner while Gloria was washing the dishes, she lay down for an hour's sleep, so that she would be fresh and sparkling for him.
 He came at 5 o'clock when the little house was packed with people who had dropped in to wish Dick and Gloria "Merry Christmas."
 With him was his daughter, Sally, and her latest admirer, a callow youth who blushed when he was looked at, and whom Sally introduced as "Mister Zex Thompkins."
 "I don't know where she picked him up," Ulysses confided to May, and his tone was worried. "She gathers around herself the queerest looking birds I've ever seen. And then threatens to leave home when I question her about them! Gadzooks! I don't know what to do with her. I swear I don't!"
 They were sitting in a quiet corner of the dining room out of earshot of the gay crowd across the hall. And suddenly Ulysses turned and took May's hands in his.
 "Look here," he said when he had nervously cleared his throat. "Have you changed your mind? And will you marry me?"
 May drew her hands away. Then suddenly she laid them in Ulysses' palms again. "I want you—only as a friend," she said. "I never dreamed of having a good friend like you. But—that's all."
 He made a queer, gruff sound in his throat, and May went on: "Through all these last terrible months—and I give you my word they've been terrible for me—you've been a wonderful friend to me, even though we barely knew each other.
 And oh, I've been so unhappy!" She shook her head tragically, and slowly told him the whole story of her life since Dr. John's death.
 "Do you know why you've been unhappy?" Ulysses asked, peering at her over the top of his eyeglasses.
 May shook her head. "Because you've lived a thoroughly selfish life," he surprised her by replying. She sat up stiff and straight, questioning him with her eyes.
 Why, what do you mean?" she asked at last.
 "Just what I say," Ulysses answered, calmly. "Not only for the last two years, but always."
 He cleared his throat again and went on with the air of a man who has something "on his chest" and intends to get it off.
 "I wouldn't talk like this to you, May, if you hadn't said you were unhappy. I say you're unhappy because you're selfish. You live for no one but yourself. You take yourself too seriously."

 He broke off for a second, startled at the blaze of anger that flamed into May's eyes. A flush mantled her cheeks like a scarlet danger signal.
 But Ulysses went on with what he had long wanted to say to May Seymour:
 "For instance, you make up your mind that what you most want is a millionaire husband who can give you all the playthings you want. You're like a spoiled child. You don't think of what you can give to the man you marry, but of what he can give you!"
 May held a warning hand.
 "You stop right there, Ulysses Forgan!" she cried in a voice that shook with fury. "How do you dare to talk to me like this! What I do is none of your business! Remember that!"
 Ulysses surprised both of them by laughing suddenly. "Sure it's my business," he said, "because I love you. I hate to see you unhappy, and so I'm telling you how to be happy! You'll never be contented so long as you go through life asking people to give you things—asking them to take care of you."
 "Why, what do you mean?" May interrupted. "I never ask anything of anybody."
 Ulysses raised his heavy brows. "You just finished telling me that you never paid your friend, Carlotta, any board—and that she got tired of keeping you," he said.
 "And before that you told me how you had tried to marry a man named Waterbury because you thought he had money and could give you the things you wanted! Right now, you ought to be making some sort of effort to support yourself instead of living here with the Gregorys."
 May put a hand to her throat, and pressed her fingers against the pulse that beat wildly within it.
 Could it be true that she was a parasite—that she was "living on" the Gregorys when she ought to be taking care of herself?
 In a flash she realized that they really couldn't afford to feed an extra mouth—that she had no right to add extra expense to their little household budget.
 But the fact that what Ulysses had said was the truth did not make her admire him for it—or like him. Indeed, at that moment, she hated him with all her soul.
 He had hurt her, shamed her.
 She turned to him, and spoke with a visible effort.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By E. R. Waite, Secretary Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

That you should say with enthusiasm the good things you advertise in praise of your city.

That you should make your city noted for its progressiveness and as a good city in which to trade.

That the merchants of your city are progressive and have a forward vision.

That these merchants advertise, knowing that advertised goods are the backbone of a profitable business.

That they realize that the printed page reaches every home.

That you should read the advertisements to find where, when and what to buy.

That you should not handicap yourself by buying from distant cities. Buying away from home is costly, as you cannot see what you buy and the goods sometimes are not as represented.

That you can buy advertised merchandise in your own home—goods that you can see before buying.

RUSSIAN AGRICULTURE HAS HAD BOOM YEAR

MOSCOW, Nov. 15.—This has proved a boom year for the Russian industries and agriculture. The industries, which last year turned out only about forty per cent of the pre-war output, have jumped ahead and already reached seventy per cent of pre-war production.

Even at this increased rate of production they cannot satisfy the demand of the country for goods; and it is only lack of capital to build and equip new plants which prevents the industries from attaining and even surpassing the pre-war levels of production.

The Russian harvest this year is by far the best which the country has known. The total yield of the grain crop is estimated at 2,446,000,000 bushels, as against a yield of 1,650,000,000 bushels last year, when the drought in the Lower Volga provinces and in the Ukraine constituted a serious bar to agricultural progress. In view of the anticipated harvest it seems certain that Russia will export several million tons of grain this year.

BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT BARRED IN ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 15.—The Boy Scout movement has been characterized in Argentina as a harmful influence on the younger generation because of its militaristic tendencies. This opinion was formally expressed by a special committee of the National Council of Education here when recommending that the National Association of Argentine Boy Scouts be denied the right to organize troops in the public schools of Buenos Aires.

"The Boy Scouts which are organized in this country present a military character which is not in accordance with the fundamental principles of our pedagogical ideals," said the committee's report.

British Empire Knit By Air Lines Heart of England's Aviation Policy

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Britain's hopes for linking together her far-flung posts of empire by means of air routes, as voiced by Sir Samuel Hoare, air minister, are being discussed today throughout England.

"I want to see air communication between every capital in the Empire," declared the air minister. "I want to see the journey from Australia reduced from six weeks to two weeks, and the journey to India reduced to one week, and I am sure that within twenty-one years the linking up of the empire will have been achieved. The longer the journey the greater the advantage of flying."

"As long as our main flights are between London and Paris, or London and Brussels, the full value of flying to the trade and intercourse of the country can never be realized. We must fly greater distances. The British Empire, has more to gain than any other nation in the world from long distance air communication."

The first practical step in this direction which he had set himself to accomplish, said Dr. Samuel was the development of the airplane route to India.

"We have got one section of that route already working in the military mail between Egypt and Bagdad. I want to see that become a regular weekly mail service between Egypt and India. Later when the two giant airships of 5,000,000 cubic feet capacity have been completed and are in operation, I hope to see them take over the carrying of mails and passengers directly from London to Karachi, India. Their construction is about to be started and they should be completed in two years time.

"My belief is that if these two new ships are successful, as we expect them to be, we shall in the course of time see commercial line developed over the whole empire."

ON THE RANGE AT RANGER

By THE FENCE RIDER.
(Items for this department must be phoned in to the Fence Rider, by 12 o'clock daily in order to insure their insertion. Don't be bashful. Jingle the telephone bell.)

There's a new little Little in Ranger.

The most popular melody in Ranger today is "Home, Sweet Home." The new building and loan association has made it popular.

Hello, stranger! Come to Ranger. Our building and loan will build you a home.

Friday, the 13th, was Ranger's lucky day. On that day it launched the biggest enterprise in recent months—started off a big, strong building and loan association with the largest initial subscription obtained in the shortest time by the most evenly distributed representative citizenship perhaps ever shown by any town in anybody's state. It was a $50,000 an hour clip.

It was a great day when Ranger struck hit. It will be a greater day when Ranger builds homes. And she bids fair to make a big strike in that line.

Me and the old bronc ranged out to that million-dollar cemetery Friday—at Merriman. It was the writer of a poem on that sacred spot which made it immortal. The writing of a story about the city; flowing gold helped make Ranger famous.

Did you ever stop to think what it is that advertises a town? For instance, me and the old bronc have been whinnying and spouting about Ranger's industries and all that and one little spurt, which made folks wonder if Ranger wouldn't be in the running for state championship with a winning football team, got much trading into the big dailies. Now, with a high school almost up to a college, a home building program which can be made to house the people from other towns and the nucleus for a real team next year, why not start right away laying plans to build up and bring in—by entirely legitimate methods—the timber to build the team—build the school—to build the town and put it on the map big next year. It won't just happen. We've got to make it happen.

Egg-Laying Contest For Dallas County To Begin Dec. 1st

DALLAS, Nov. 14.—Everything is to be in readiness shortly for the Dallas County egg laying contest.

On December 1, a contest which will last one year will begin. Farmers all over the county have shown considerable interest in the move, and have enlisted their pens for the test.

The building at Grand Prairie which will house the contesting hens is being rushed and will be completed in ample time for the hens to be

A. B. Jolley, County Agricultural Agent, will be in charge of the affair, and is urging all farmers and breeders of poultry who have not entered their stock to do so. The results ought to be very significant he thinks.

"At the end of the year, the farmer will absolutely know which hens are producers and under which conditions the best results were obtained," Mr. Jolley says.

Prizes will be paid to winners, but the chief object of the egg-laying contest will be for the poultry raisers to learn, from experience, how to select and care for their stock in order to get the best results. It is pointed out by poultry experts that no strain has a marked advantage over another, it being the selection of the pullets, and not the strain, that is responsible for winning birds.

American Ice Cream, Candy, Hot Cakes, Capture Favor of Argentine Populace

By United Press.
BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 13. — The Yankee invasion of Argentina has passed three important milestones in its advance during the past two or three years the population of Buenos Aires has succumbed to ice cream sodas, American candy, and that famous American institution, hot cakes.

"Hot dog" sandwiches, known locally by a variety of names among which "Bow Wow Calientes" is the most popular, are well established in the parks and amusement places of Buenos Aires. Ham and eggs, recent runner-up in the competition for New York's most popular dish, holds a prominent place on the menus of Argentine restaurants. The dish is known locally as "Jamon a Caballo," which literally translated means "hame like a horse," an idiom derived from the fact that the ing pompously on the back of the eggs enter the scene of action riddham.

Three years ago, an American and a Scotchman began the offensive

Riffles 'Em

Sam Walters, secretary of the Pittsburgh Pirates, doesn't need to count the tickets he sells. He just holds a pack to his ear, "riffles" them quickly—and knows the exact number. He says his ear detects the flips of the pasteboards and gives him the total in a twentieth of the time he could count the number.

that has won Buenos Aires to ice cream sodas, hot cakes, and malted milk "leche maltado." They started business with a small store which was christened "The Kandy Shop." Today they have three large stores in Buenos Aires, and are in business in Mar Del Plata, Montevideo, and Santiago, Chile. The firm has a candy factory in B. A., and is preparing the erection of a factory in Santiago where ice cream, candy, and bread will be made.

Another American firm recently sent a representative to Buenos Aires who is now superintending the erection of an ice cream factory. The same firm contemplates the installation of a similar factory in Montevideo.

An American who educated the population of Montevideo to an appreciation of pop corn has retired with a substantial fortune. He was able to double his profits by working in Atlantic City during the busy season there, and by vending his pop corn in Montevideo during the "off" season in the United States, which is the busy season in South America.

Jade and Pearls

We may not hear so much about earrings lately as we did a few years ago, but that is because they have become a staple in the wardrobe. Every woman wears them, and we now take them for granted. This pair shows a fascinating combination of jade and pearls, and goes to great length to be lovely.

ALL CARS MUST HAVE HEAD AND TAIL LIGHTS

Cars without head-lights and tail-lights will be run in and their drivers prosecuted, according to L. C. Corbin, justice of the peace in Ranger, who functions in Ranger in matters of that sort. In a little walk around the busy section of Ranger, Saturday, half a dozen cars minus one of these two warning signals were discovered.

Complaints of car out on the highway running without lights which, in a number of instances recently, have come near to causing serious if not fatal accidents, have caused the authorities to take this matter in hand, it was stated.

TWO SUITS FILED FOR OIL AND GAS RETURNS

Suit has been brought in the district court of Eastland county against the Phillips Petroleum company for $10,000 by E. J. Miller of Brown county, for alleged back pay for oil, gas and casinghead gasoline from a one fifty-fourth interest of 100 acres of land in the southern portion of Eastland county known as the E. F. Akin tract.

J. W. Jones et al. have filed suit in Eastland county district courts against the Republic Production company for $200,000, the alleged value of casinghead gasoline made from gas on lands in which they have an interest.

'Whoa Dobbin—I Do—' Married

Miss Una Fairman and Donald Cumming, both of Seattle, Wash., like horseback riding. So when they got married they sat on their horses while the ceremony was performed. Then they rode off into the mountains for a horseback honeymoon.

Our last criticism of those one-piece bathing suits is they don't make good winter underwear.

The things you think you get for nothing cost more than those you think you pay for.

This is the month in which to begin some bad habits to swear off on New Years.

The dangerous thing about shoveling snow is you are so liable to fall down on the job.

It is estimated a great many people will get strong exercise to keep warm this winter.

Only time some men think they have no kick coming is when it comes time to kick in with some cash. (Copyright, 1925, NEA Service, Inc.)
