CONOMIC SECURITY' PROGRAM STARTS BATTLE

Omnibus bills providing for unemployment insurance, old age pensions, federal-state aid for mothers and dependent children, a broadened public health service and job assurance through public works were brought forward by Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, and Representative David J. Lewis of Maryland, Immediately after President Roosevelt's message on "economic security" had been sent to congress. Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, supervised the half-year study in which the program was shaped. Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, among others, criticized the program as not going far enough. Advertisements are a guide to value

EXPERTS can roughly estimate the value of a product by looking at it. More accurately, by handling and examining it. Its appearance, its texture, the "feel" and the balance of it all mean something to their trained eyes and fingers.

But no one person can be an expert on steel, brass, wood, leather, foodstuffs, fabrics, and all of the materials that make up a list of personal purchases. And even experts are fooled, sometimes, by concealed flavs and imperfections.

There is a surer index value than the senses of sight and touch . . . knowledge of the maker's name and for what it stands. Here is the most certain method, except that of actual use, for judging the value of any manufactured goods. Here is the only guarantee against careless workmanship, or the use of shoddy materials.

This is one important reason why it pays to read advertisements and to buy advertised goods. The product that is advertised is worthy of your confidence.
