A 25-cent boost in the price of crude oil for six eastern grades, the second in a little more than a week, added to the belief of Texas producers today that there will be an advance in mid-continent prices at most any time now.

Producers are looking for an increase most any morning. The Prairie Oil & Gas company, the largest purchaser in the midcontinent, it is expected, will iraugurate the next price change, although there is an almost good reason for expecting it from the Sinclair Oil Consolidated, Inc.
