STATE OF TEXAS MUST PAY THE BILL, SAYS LANHAM

BUILDING AND LOAN ASS'N IN RANGER ON WAY

Preliminary Canvass Shows Many Citizens Ready To Help Form Organization.

Predictions that the chamber of commerce auditorium on the mezzanine floor of Guaranty Bank building, may be entirely too small to hold the crowd that will attend to- night's mass meeting to further the plans for the organization of a building and loan association were freely made today, when it was revealed that an hour's canvass by business men of a small area of territory as a feeler, had resulted in procuring pledges for something more than $50,000 of the proposed association's certificates.

The active work was undertaken by E. A. Ringold, special tax collector; S. A. Lillard Jr., vice president Ranger State Bank; Hall Walker, cashier Citizens State Bank, and J. M. White, merchant. Among these pledging subscriptions to the proposed association's shares, in addition to the four engaged in the canvass, are:

J. T. Killingsworth, M. H. Hagaman, W. E. Hickey, School Superintendent Holloway, Dr. W. C. Palmer, Dr. H. A. Logsdon, Dr. J. A. Shackelford, T. B. Tharpe, Dr. C. Craig, Walter Murray, E. S. Tunnell, E. H. Mills, L. H. Flewellen, Dr. L. C. G. Buchanan, A. N. Larson, R. B. Stroud, F. L. Carroll, C. C. Patterson, T. E. Henshaw, C. E. Maddocks, Abe Shaw, S. P. Boon, J. E. Beavers, Ida Ward, E. George Jr., Leo Underwood and R. V. Galloway.

This covers only a small restricted territory where the business men could be found Thursday, it was stated. "It is merely a cross section of Ranger's citizenship," one man said, adding, "It represents exactly thirty two people seen, all thirty-two of whom readily agreed to invest in the association."

The meeting tonight is called for 8 p. m. It will assemble at the chamber of commerce auditorium and adjourn to some more commodious quarters, if necessary, it was announced. It is probable that some persons thoroughly conversant with building and loan plans will address the meeting. Tonight's meeting, it was made plain, is not to be restricted to any commercial or other body but will be open to all.

COACH AND TEAM TO SEE T. C. U. ARKANSAS GAME

Coach Blair Cherry left Friday for Fort Worth to arrange for the coming season's basketball games in which he hopes to repeat last year's history, and attend the football game between T. C. U. and Arkansas Saturday. Practically the entire Ranger team will join him there tomorrow and see the game, it is said.

It is recalled that, last year, the Ranger team of basketballers went to Fort Worth, stayed over four nights and came home with a record of several Fort Worth high school teams of the belt. They lost only one game on the trip—to a crack T. C. U. team. And that, by only a small margin. That is the bit of brilliant history the Ranger coach hopes to repeat during the mid-winter season this year.

REPUBLICANS MAY PUT OUT COUNTY TICKET

Dr. H. B. Tanner Expects They Will Enter Contest For All Offices.

That the Republican party will, as for the last several years, have a full county ticket in Eastland county for the coming election, contesting for all offices, is the opinion of leaders of the party in Eastland County. "It is early yet and I could not say just what we will do, but am sure we will have out a full ticket for county offices," Dr. H. B. Tanner, chairman of the Eastland precinct, stated.

At the last election in Eastland county the average vote polled by the Republican candidates was 650, while the average for the Democratic candidates was around 5,300. In the race for governor in the last election Butte (Republican) got 2,519 votes as compared with 3,506 for Mrs. Ferguson, the Democratic nominee. For president, Davis (Democrat) got 4,584; Coolidge (Republican) 973 and La Follette, 102 votes in the county.

UPTON COUNTY WILDCAT WELL REPORTED FLOWING

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE. FORT WORTH, Nov. 13.—Republic Production company—Marland Oil company No. 1 Baker, Upton county wildcat, was reported flowing a steady stream of oil in reports reaching Fort Worth from all quarters in West Texas Thursday afternoon. The reports were to the effect that the well was producing at the rate of between 4,000 and 5,000 barrels each 24 hours. However, these reports had not been verified late Thursday afternoon by operators interested in surrounding acreage and pending verification most operators were inclined to be frankly skeptical of this report.

The test made a sudden head Thursday morning, together with a puff of gas which ignited from faulty wiring in the derrick, with the result that derrick and rig was burned. F. I. Miller, field superintendent and an employe named Moore were burned painfully but not seriously.

The test had a control head in place and could not now be flowing unless it had been opened up again after the fire.

When the flow started the drill was at 2,215 feet and was still on the oil saturated lime from which the production to date has been obtained. The drill topped this lime some weeks ago at 2,156 feet, and has been at it since.

DRILL GETS FLOWING OIL AT ONE SITE, DUSTER AT OTHER

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE. OLNEY, Nov. 12.—Drilling 16 feet into the richest sand yet encountered in the pool, the top of which was reached at a depth of 886 feet, the Camp Oil-Texhoma company's No. 5 K. Campbell, in section 1483, T. E. L. survey, Camp-Texhoma pool, north Young county, is flowing a stream of oil estimated at between 500 and 550 barrels per day. For the first 24 hours its output showed 520 barrels. The well, which is the best so far completed in this new pool, uncovered a month ago by the Camp-Texhoma joint companies, is located 300 feet north of No. 2 and farther north on the lease. Additional storage acre is being rushed to the site to take care of the surplus production.

TESTIMONY OF MRS. LANSLOWNE CAUSES ALARM

Prosecution Wants Court To Strike it From Record. Army Plans Counter Evidence.

By United Press. WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Prosecution leaders in the courtmartial trial of Col. William Mitchell, charged with insubordination in outspoken comments on the army and navy directing heads, today took up the question of answering charges by Mrs. Zachary Lansdowne, widow of the late commander of the dirigible Shenandoah, who accused Capt. Paul Foley, judge advocate of the naval court which investigated the Shenandoah disaster, of attempting to influence her testimony before the court.

Foley told the United Press he had asked to appear before the Mitchell court and reply to the charges and the war department had assured him he would be summoned as soon as Mitchell had finished presenting his testimony. He refused to say if he was the author of the notation which the pretty widow said was unsigned and which she had torn up.

Col. Sherman Moreland, prosecutor for the court of generals trying Mitchell, said he would decide later whether to call Foley and Mrs. Geo. W. Steele, wife of the New Jersey air station commandant, who Mrs. Lansdowne testified, delivered the communication said to have come from Captain Foley.

When the court opened today, Col. Moreland made a motion to strike Mrs. Lansdowne's testimony from the records.

By United Press. WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Dropping for the moment the probe into the alleged irregularities in connection with the testimony of Mrs. Margaret Lansdowne at the investigation of the Shenandoah disaster, the courtmartial today studied how much gas it would take to force evacuation of an area the size of the District of Columbia.

This line of inquiry was taken up after an unsuccessful effort by the prosecution to strike from the records the testimony of Mrs. Lansdowne, Brigadier General Drum, assistant chief of staff, precipitated a controversy by declaring it would take vast quantities to force evacuation.

Col. J. Edward Cassidy, chemical warfare reserve officer and consulting engineer at Washington, regarded as the "ranking" chemical warfare service officer in the United States was the first witness called.

LETTERS MAY BE READ IN OPEN COURT

Correspondence Between The Young Aristocrat and His Plebian Bride Pending Evidence.

By United Press. WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 13. Four of the fervid letters written by Alice Beatrice Jones to her "love dove," Leonard Kip Rhinelander, are to be read in the supreme court as the young aristocrat once more goes upon the witness stand in his suit for annulment of his marriage on the ground that his bride deceived him as to her negro blood. The missing thus far introduced have analyzed minutely the course of the misalliance between the youthful scion of an aristocratic house and the uncultured daughter of a taxi driver.

The attorney for the defendant has protested repeatedly against introduction of the letters and, when objections were overruled, he warned Isaac Mills, counsel for Rhinelander, that letters written by Leonard would be read on cross examination. This interchange marked the acceptance of the defense's challenge in the opening address of Attorney Davis that if an attempt was made to blacken the morals of Mrs. Rhinelander he would show the kettle just as black.

TAXPAYERS TO BE SURE GOATS IN ROAD SUITS

Highway Commission Will Assess Cost of Fight on Attorney General Against People.

By United Press. DALLAS, Nov. 13.—Legal expenses of the state highway commission intervention suit, in which the state highway commission and the governor of Texas will endeavor to prevent cancellation of road maintenance contracts between the highway commission and a certain road building company in an effort by Attorney General Dan Moody, to save money for the people, will be paid by the state, Frank V. Lanham, highway commission chairman, said today.

The highway commission, acting on Governor Ferguson's suggestion, is attempting to stop suits to cancel various road maintenance contracts, notwithstanding that the commission only a few days ago urged Attorney General Moody to use speed in bringing such suits so the rights of the road building contractors might be determined.

Lanham said that legitimate expenses of the highway commission included purchase of right of way, legal expenses and the regular expenditures of the department. As yet the highway commission lawyers have not been paid retaining fees, Lanham said.

Lanham left this afternoon for Austin, where the suit instituted by Attorney General Moody for the state and the highway commission's intervention proceedings are set for hearing next Monday morning.

CLARENCE DARROW GAINS POINT FOR HIS CLIENTS

By United Press. DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 13.—Defense in the trial of Dr. Osian H. Sweet and 10 other negroes, charged with murder and conspiracy to murder, won an important point today when Judge Murphy told the prosecution that it had thus far failed to prove conspiracy and until that was proved the court, he said, would instruct the jury to disregard testimony involving the principal defendant in any possible bearing on the other defendants.

Leon F. Bricker was shot to death the night of Sept. 9 during inter-racial trouble, near the home of Dr. Sweet.

The court's ruling followed testimony by a police inspector who testified he visited the Sweet home the day before the killing and told Dr. Sweet and three others of the defendants that "the police are prepared to give you all the protection you want."

Clarence Darrow, chief defense counsel then asked the court to instruct the jury that anything told to four defendants should not be considered in connection with the charges against the other seven defendants.

Policeman At Game Entirely Too Ready To Display His Gun

A policeman with a drawn gun in a big crowd and another with a club which he is said to have used too vigorously to stop a little fight in the bleachers at Cisco during the game, are subjects of unfavorable comment from hundreds of people. What was only a little episode was magnified by the vigorous action of the police.

The crowded condition of the bleachers compelled the management to seat many strangers and Cisco fans in the Ranger bleachers. Some young men, scarcely more than mere boys, seated near the Ranger pep squad, got into an argument which led to blows. With a large number of policemen (or firemen acting as police) at hand, one of them is said to have used his club with vigor on one of the boys while another drew his revolver in that dense crowd, endangering lives, it is thought. The spectators seemed of one mind in ensuring the officers for their alleged unnecessary display of force.

DELPHIANS HAVE INTERESTING MEETING.

The Delphian club not only had an interesting meeting Thursday afternoon, but they had an increase in number present. Mrs. E. H. Chaplin presided over the meeting, which was ably led by Mrs. F. L. Carroll. The subject for the afternoon was "Arcuated Architecture and Early Christian Art." The different sub-subjects under this topic were handled in a very interesting and graphic manner. Mrs. George Bohning added materially to the program in presenting some pictures of some of the early Roman buildings, as well as some stones taken from their ruins, which she secured while in Rome.

Mrs. LaPrelle sang "The Earth is the Lord's." A short business session was held during which time it was decided that on account of the late of the next program falling on Thanksgiving day, that program would be combined with the program to be given on Thursday, Dec. 10.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 25 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 percent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. T. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 day's FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Speed Law Violators Will Be Prosecuted Says City Attorney

Violations of Ranger's speed law and careless driving are to be prosecuted with vigor, according to City Attorney A. A. Diehl, who says there is an insistent demand for a rigorous enforcement of the ordinance for the protection of life, limb and property.

Flagrantly disregard for the law are said to be too numerous. A business woman of Ranger was crossing a street when she saw an approaching car speeding and hurried to get out of the way, just reaching the sidewalk in time, but the driver of the car, instead of veering away, drove so close to the curb that a woman in the car with him screamed thinking the car had hit the woman trying to get out of its way.

"There have been a number of cases which make it necessary for city officials to act with decision," the Attorney Diehl said. "We are going to make arrests and if the jury clears one, we will go right ahead and arrest the next violator and keep it up until people learn that the speed laws of Ranger were made for the protection of the people."

The speed limits anywhere within Ranger city limits, is eighteen miles an hour, it was pointed out, and ten miles anywhere within the fire limits—which means practically in the area of brick pavements. Many of the violations are people living outside the city, it was said. Fines for violation of the law range from $10 to $100. Careless driving which imperils life, it is said, may be classified as a felony.

SERVICES SUNDAY AT RANGER METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday will be a very important day for the membership of the First Methodist Church. Every member of the Sunday school is urged to be present on time (9:45) and have a banner attendance. The pastor will bring his last sermon messages for the conference year at the morning and evening worship hours. The league and junior church will meet as usual. The pastor, Rev. A. W. Hall, said: "Let each member of the church who has not contributed to the conference collections make out his check for the largest amount you can afford for the spread of Christ's kingdom and see that it reaches the hand of the pastor not later than Sunday. First Methodist Church is making a great report. Let it not be marred by the failure of any recreate member in these last hours." Wild life is being protected and preserved by state and by national governments and seems to be doing well in most of the thickly settled communities.

MAY SEYMOUR FOOTLOOSE

BY BEATRICE BURTON

THE STORY SO FAR:

May Seymour, whose husband killed himself because of her love affair with Jim Carewe, returns to her home town after a year's absence. She sells her property, and with her whole tiny fortune in cash, sets out to find and marry a man with money. At Atlantic City she meets Herbert Waterbury and Dan Sprague, through a divorcee, Mrs. Carlotta Frelking, who is in love with Dan. May believes Waterbury to be rich, and sets her cap for him. When he proposes she accepts him and turns over her money to him for investment. He disappears immediately, and the money with him! Penniless, May sells her jewelry and fur coat to buy a railroad ticket to Los Altos, Calif., where Carlotta has a bungalow. On the way she stops off in her home town to see her friends, the Dick Gregorays, and meets a wealthy widower, Ulysses Forgan. He falls sincerely in love with May and asks her to be his wife. But she refuses, explaining that she likes him too much to marry him without love. Then she leaves town and goes to Los Altos to visit Carlotta, but stays there only a few days, owing to Carlotta's unwillingness to let her live there without paying her board. May drifts to Los Angeles, hoping to find a job, and fails. She leaves her baggage at the Alexandria hotel, unable to pay her bill there, and moves to a cheap boarding house. By this time she has lost so much as a five-cent piece. She sells her last piece of jewelry for $20, and wires to Ulysses Forgan, asking him to lend her enough money to pay her hotel bill and buy a railroad ticket home. Then she writes to the Gregorays to ask them if she can make her home with them for a short time.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

When May found herself back in her home town a week later, it seemed to her for a moment that the last 18 months of her life had been a bad dream. The world beyond the railway station seemed suddenly remote and unreal to her. Had she ever really been away from home? Had she really ever known such people as Carlotta and Dan and Herbie Waterbury? They seemed like dim figures in a half-forgotten dream, now that she was back here where she belonged! When the taxicab drew up before the white house with green shutters where lived the young Dick Gregorays, and Gloria herself came out to welcome her, May knew suddenly that she could never go away from her home town again. Why, it was home to her! And these friends of hers were all she had to live for, now that everything else seemed to have turned to dust and ashes before her very eyes! "You lucky girl!" she said to Gloria, when she had eaten a late supper of chicken sandwiches and tea, and the two friends stood beside Dicky Junior's little white bed in the big white nursery upstairs. "You lucky girl!" she said again. "Don't you know that this little white house, and the husband and child who live here with you, are the real joy of living?" She said it breathlessly as if she had just made a great discovery. But Gloria only laughed—the gentle, happy laugh of a woman who has found the glowing heart of life, in herself. "Of course, I know it," she answered in a half-whisper as not to waken the baby. "Marriage and motherhood—that's the highest happiness any woman can have, May. That's what we're born for—we women."

"First call for breakfast," came the voice of Gloria.

troubled waters. She slept like the baby in the nursery across the hall. For months she had not had a night's sleep like this. In hotels the sound of doors closing, of telephones ringing in nearby rooms, had broken her sleep. The rattle of trains had always kept her awake when she was traveling. Then, too, she had had her money to worry about, and her future to ponder over. But now that she had reached the very rock-bottom of bad luck, what else was there to worry about? Nothing, so far as May could see! She would stay here with Dick and Gloria until she was rested and refreshed, and then she would look for a job. She had worked once—she could work again, even if she hated work! Her whole future, as she saw it, was as plain as ABC—and just about as exciting. She unfolded her napkin and drained her glass of orange juice before she went on: "I wish you'd seen the boarding house in Los Angeles that was my last stopping place! Dirty and old and smelly! And the meals! Oh, Gloria, I wish you'd seen some of the meals!" She shuddered. "I thought Ulysses Forgan's check never would come!" she cried. "I thought I'd have to stay in that horrible place forever!" She looked up at her friend and saw that her eyes had lost their friendly gleam. "Ulysses Forgan's check?" Gloria repeated. "Why, how did you happen to be taking money from Ulysses Forgan?" May flushed. "I wasn't taking money from him!" she said, and two red spots of fiery indignation burned on her cheekbones. "I simply asked him to lend me enough money to bring me home!" Gloria slowly shook her head. "I still don't understand why you borrowed from him. Why couldn't you have asked Dick to send you money?" she wanted to know. May shrugged her shoulders under the pink silk sleeves of her bed jacket. "Oh, I don't know!" she said airily. "I just happened to think of Forgan!" "But you hardly know him!" "That's true enough," May admitted. "But, still—I know him well enough to have had a chance to—marry him!" Gloria opened her big brown eyes wide. "And you didn't take him?" she asked. May shook her head. "No, I liked him too well," she explained, "to hang myself around his neck like a millstone. You know how people here treat me because of John's suicide! Like an outcast, don't they? And I couldn't let Ulysses Forgan in on that!" "People don't look upon you as an outcast," Gloria contradicted. "Only the other day Lola Hough was asking about you. All that talk about you has blown over—as talk always does! I'll bet you anything you like that all your old friends would welcome you back here, if they knew you were here!" But May only laughed a little bitter laugh. "I remember how Myra Gail welcomed me home the last time I met her on the street!" she said. "Refused to speak to me!" "Oh, well! Myra Gail's such a snob that she never speaks decently to anybody, anyway," Gloria said. "If she were presented at court, she'd probably snub the king and tell the queen her crown was on crooked." "To get back to this Ulysses Forgan matter," she went on after a minute or two. "How much did you borrow from him?" "Two hundred dollars." "Well," Gloria knitted her brows. "You've got to borrow two hundred more from Dick, and pay Forgan. And you've got to do it today. It's not decent for a woman to owe money to a man!" "Dick's a man," parried May. "Dick's my husband, and I'm your friend—so that's that!" said Gloria. She went out into the hall and called Dick from his breakfast. "As soon as you get to the office, send a messenger boy out here with $200 in cash, please," she said, pretending not to see his puzzled look. "May owes some money and she'd rather owe it to you than to the man she borrowed it from! See?" Dick didn't quite see. But he sent the messenger boy, in turn, sent it by messenger to Ulysses along with a graceful note of thanks. Ulysses found it lying on his desk when he returned to his office from his lunch, that day. He turned it over and over in his hands before he read it, and when he had torn it up and tucked the money into his wallet, he picked up the telephone.

But the Gregorays' line was busy. It was busy 15 minutes later when Ulysses tried the number again. It was still busy at 3 o'clock when he left the office to go to a business meeting a block away. "Doggone it!" he said, crumpling his hat down over his eyes, and slipping into his overcoat. "I don't believe that phone's really busy! These telephone girls don't know their business, half the time!" But the telephone girl knew her business perfectly, as most telephone girls do. And the Gregorays' line was busy. For Gloria was calling up all of May's old friends, including Myra Gail, to ask them to play bridge at a party she was giving for May "on next Thursday at 2." To May's surprise and to Gloria's relief, all of them came, including Myra Gail. A little cold and curious they seemed at first—these women who had once been May's warm friends. But as the afternoon wore on, and the lamps were lit to dispel the purple dusk of the winter day, and when she made its appearance, they began to thaw and chatter in their natural, light-hearted way. And May began to feel as if the cruel hands of Time had turned back two years, as if she were the careless, slangy May of the old days—the spoiled wife of the husband who adored her, the reckless woman who had let Jim Carewe lead her along the flower-bung precipice of disaster. How different she was now from that other May! How much more sober and quiet! Life had tamed and taught her a thing or two, as it teaches us all a thing or two. "Now, didn't it go beautifully?" cried Gloria delightedly when the door had closed upon the last guest. "You see! I told you people were ready to welcome you back to the fold, didn't I? And you see, they were!" May didn't answer, and she went on, with a knowing look in her clear eyes. "If we'd all just learn to meet people half way in the world, there wouldn't be half the heartaches that there are. By the way, Dick and I are having 'open house' on Christmas day. If there's anybody you'd like to ask, particularly?" "Hmm—you might send a card to Ulysses Forgan," May answered, trying to make her tone casual and indifferent. As a matter of fact, she was longing to see Ulysses again! (To be continued.)

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cash and Mrs. and Mrs. Paul Lucy composed a foursome that motored to Cisco for the game yesterday afternoon.

G. A. DAVISSON REPORTED IMPROVING IN HEALTH

Reports from G. A. Davison of Eastland, who has been seriously ill for the last two or three months and who recently went to San Antonio for the benefit of his health, are to the effect that he is improving and hopes are entertained for his complete recovery within a short time.

How to stop BOILS!

There's only one way to stop boils. Stop the cause of boils! That's common sense—isn't it? All right. Boils thrive because the blood gets so weak in healthy, red cells that it can't throw off the impurities that get into the body. There's not enough rich, red blood to purify the system. Now—S. S. S. builds back the blood to fighting strength. S. S. S. builds red blood-cells—builds them by the millions! Boils dry up! S. S. S. is the thing. Impurities that cause boils and other skin eruptions can't stand up against the rich, healthy, red blood that S. S. S. builds. That's all there is to it. Stop boils with S. S. S. It's the way. Get it at any drugist. The larger bottle is more economical.

APPELLATE COURT AFFIRMS ONE CASE, REVERSES ANOTHER

The case of the State of Texas vs. Raymond Garza of Ranger has been affirmed by the Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin. Garza was convicted in the early part of this year on a charge of aggravated assault, growing out of the injuring of Dave Henson when he was struck by an automobile on the Eastland-Ranger highway on the night of January 4 of this year, and fined $400 and cost. He appealed the case. Henson who had stopped at the side of the road to assist some ladies with trouble they were having with their car, had his left leg mangled and is still going on crutches.

The case of the State of Texas vs. Doc Elliott, charged with selling whiskey, has been reversed and remanded by the Court of Criminal Appeals. This case, in which Elliott, got a three year penitentiary sentence was tried just before former County Attorney Ove E. Overson went out of office. It was affirmed once, but take up again on a motion for a re-hearing about two years ago and finally reversed and remanded a few days ago.

GROCERY CHANGES HANDS WILL ADD MEAT MARKET

The Star Cash Grocery in the Queen building, Ranger, has changed hands. Floyd Doyle, has bought the interest of his partner, V. W. Blanchard, and is installing necessary fixtures to conduct a meat market in connection with the business. Brock Hazzard has been employed as butcher and the market will be opened in a short time, it is stated.

PEOPLE WHO WERE ONCE GOOD LOOKING

A heartrending and yet interesting thing happened in a downtown store when a middle-aged lady got into a loud argument with a clerk. "I know what I want," she kept saying. "I have tried all those other things, but I know from what I saw it do for some friends of mine that it is Black and White Ointment which gets rid of these pimples and blotches. I was just as pretty as any girl when I was young, but I got careless and now I am in the fix you see." So many people are now insisting on Black and White Ointment and Black and White Soap, to get rid of pimples, blotches, eczema, rash, tetter, ringworm, "breaking out," etc., because they see and hear of the thousands of others who now know they can depend upon it. And they are more economical, too. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the liberal 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and Soap.—Adv.

FORMER RANGER CITIZEN RETURNS AND BUYS HOME

C. P. Simons, retired capitalist, who is said to have made a small fortune in Aanger and who left during the boom for more quiet surroundings in Weatherford, has returned to Ranger and bought a home where he will move his family and take up his residence immediately, it is stated. They will occupy the home purchased Friday from J. P. Russell at 509 Melvin street.

Mr. Simons is well known to all the old time Ranger people. He ran a restaurant here at one time on Main street near the Texas and Pacific freight depot. LIBERTY THEATRE TODAY AND TOMORROW WILLIAM FOX presents BUCK JONES in DURAND OF THE BAD LANDS ALSO COMEDY 10c ADMISSION 35c

"Poor Betty! She always looks tired" BETTY was the office mystery. Once pretty, her beauty now lay masked behind an unwholesome complexion. Once vivacious, she now seemed eternally tired—a drooping figure of disappointment and dismay. Too bad she didn't realize that it was constipation which was stealing her strength. But many men and women rid themselves forever of this devastating disease, by the simple, pleasant means of eating two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day—or in chronic cases, with every meal. As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system, its fiber remains unchanged. It is what doctors call a bulk food—a bulk food which sweeps the intestine clean—a bulk food which absorbs and carries moisture through the intestinal tract, stimulating natural, healthy action. Some thing habit-forming pills and drugs can never do. Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, sprinkled over cereals; cooked with hot cereals; in soups, or made into the many recipes given on the package. Delicious with fruit, baked apple, etc. Caution: Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. A part-bran product can only be partially effective. Kellogg's is the one, only and original ALL-BRAN. All grocers sell it. Buy a package today. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or the grocer returns the purchase price. Served in leading restaurants and hotels. The original ALL-BRAN—ready-to-eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

FOOD FOR FALL DAYS SOMEWHAT HEAVIER TYPE

Expert For The Kellogg Company Discusses Change From Light Summer Food.

"Food for Fall Days" is discussed by Barbara Brooks of the home economics department of the Kellogg Company at Battle Creek, Mich., in connection with recipes for several good sandwich fillings and for baked bean soup. She writes: "Fall days are associated with foods of a heavier type than those we have been eating during the summer. There is something very comforting about a hot meal when the temperature hovers around forty degrees and the wind blows with a chill which seems to penetrate our bones. Hot cereals, thick soups, toasted sandwiches, and steamed puddings come back to the menu after a long summer's rest. "Soups form a satisfying luncheon dish. Cream of tomato is always popular; beans and peas may be made into delicious purees; corn and potatoes can be put with milk in chowder. Soup, bran muffins, and fruit are a good and wholesome combination for the noon or evening meal. If something heavier is desired, serve bran in the soup in place of croutons and add sandwiches to the menu. "Have you ever prepared baked bean soup? The following recipe is from a standard cook book: 3 cups cold baked beans, 3 pints water, 2 slices onion, 2 stalks celery, 1 1/2 cups stewed and strained tomatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon chili sauce, salt, and pepper. Put beans, water, onion and celery in saucepan; bring to boiling point and simmer thirty minutes. Rub through a sieve, add tomato, and chili sauce, season to taste with salt and pepper, and bind with the butter and add flour cooked together. "A toasted sandwich is always enjoyed more than a plain one, and this type of luncheon offers infinite variety. The bread may be toasted on one side and a filling be put between the slices, or, the sandwich may be prepared in the usual way, dipped into a mixture of egg and milk and fried in butter. Good fillings for this latter kind are chopped ham mixed with cream or dressing, cream cheese or sliced American cheese, lobster, shrimp, or some other sea food which has been mixed with a thick cream sauce. "Speaking of these sandwiches which are made in the same way that we prepare French toast re- minds us of a popular camp recipe which lends itself equally well to home cookery. Slice Bermuda onions and fry them in butter until golden brown, dredge with flour, season with salt and pepper, and add milk to make a gravy. Serve on French toast." INSTRUMENTS RECORDED Warranty Deed—V. H. Chapman et ux to Mrs. Iris Bishop, part of lot blk 12, town of Gorman, $6. Warranty Deed—R. L. ### Jugo-Slavia Proposes Law To Be Long Step Towards Prohibition

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Reports reaching here from Belgrade indicate that Jugo-Slavia is taking steps toward the definite adoption of prohibition. The ministry of health recently completed the draft of a bill to restrict the manufacture and sale of alcoholic drinks.

This represents nothing short of a revolution in a land of flowing wine and rakia—brandy distilled from plums and the Serbian national drink.

One clause of the bill provides that the unregulated production of alcoholic drinks shall cease, and that in future every producer must get permission from the competent authority. Also no worker under 18 years of age may be employed in the production of alcohol, while the produce must not be sold on the premises where it is produced.

The bill in its present form insists that the producer of alcohol must publish a balance sheet showing the gross profit made, and that ten per cent of this profit must be paid over to the Society for Fighting Against Alcohol.

Further, if the concern produces liquors containing more than 30 per cent of alcohol it must hand over to this society an extra 10 per cent.

A further clause considerably restricts the sale of alcoholic drinks. In Jugo-Slavia at present the sale of drink is virtually unrestricted except during three days at election time.

Also no alcoholic drinks are to be sold from 6 a. m. on Saturdays until 8 a. m. on Mondays.

This is a particularly drastic clause. Following the continental custom, the Serbs do most of their drinking during the week-end when frequenting the cafes to hear music and sip wines.

No drinks are to be sold on railway trains or passenger steamers, and station buffets are to be allowed to stock only drinks containing less than four per cent of alcohol.

The bill in its present form is so drastic that many in influential quarters are doubtful whether the necessary organization to secure its successful application could be attained.

PISGAH NEWS

Special Correspondence.

PISGAH, Nov. 12.—A song service is held in this community at the schoolhouse each second Sunday in the month at which the old-time songs are sung.

The rains of the past few days have interfered with the gathering of crops, but with a few days of sunshine the work will be resumed and rushed to completion.

The chicken supper given Saturday night at the church was well attended despite the cold weather that blew up that afternoon. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Seranton orchestra and was thoroughly enjoyed.

Among those from other communities attending church here Sunday was Roy Williams and family of Seranton. They were the guests of E. F. Speegle and family at the noon hour.

BILIOUS ATTACKS

From Which Kentucky Man Suffered Two or Three Times a Month, Relieved by Black-Draught.

Lawrenceburg, Ky.—Mr. J. P. Nevins, a local coal dealer and farmer, about two years ago learned of the value of Theford's Black-Draught liver medicine, and now he says:

"Until then I suffered with severe bilious attacks that came on two or three times each month. I would get nauseated. I would have dizziness and couldn't work. I would take pills until I was worn-out with them. I didn't seem to get relief. After taking the pills my bowels would act a couple or three times, then I would be very constipated."

"A neighbor told me of Black-Draught and I began its use. I never have found so much relief as it gave me. I would not be without it for anything."

"It seemed to cleanse my whole system and make me feel like new. I would take a few doses—got rid of the bile and have my usual clear head, feel full of pep and could do twice the work."

YELLOW MOUND NEWS

Special Correspondence.
YELLOW MOUND, Nov. 13.—In spite of the cold, disagreeable weather, several came out to the pie supper Friday night. The funds for the sale amounted to almost $25. We had some real peppy contests, for prettiest girl and the ugliest boy. Thelma Reagan was chosen as the prettiest girl—only by a few votes, for Wilbourne Tankersley and Ernest Sneed gave him a close race. The first basket ball game for our school boys this year was played on the home court Thursday afternoon against Pleasant Grove. The score was 14 to 11 in Yellow Mound's favor. Although our boys had had only a few days of practice together, they played some good ball. We anticipate a real team in a short time. We were quite surprised to hear that the wedding bells had been ringing in our adjoining community, Morton Valley. Miss Edna Fisher and Mr. Alvie Thompson were married in Eastland Saturday afternoon and Miss Dausie Carter and Oliver Hogan motored to Cisco and were married Sunday afternoon. We wish for these young people the very best in life. They deserve it. The singing at the Mound, Sunday night, was pretty good. We had several singers from Cisco. The first Sunday night in December is league night, and the league meets at Yellow Mound. We cordially invite all who like to sing or enjoy singing. Our society meets next Friday night and a real good program is being prepared. Come and see the children perform.
