MR. WIRTZ SPEAKS UP. Now comes Senator A. J. Wirtz of Seguin and speaks right out against the meeting called by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Abilene to discuss water rights in the state of Texas.

MR. WIRTZ IS PROBABLY looking at the meeting from one angle and the people of West Texas are viewing from an entirely different angle.

SURELY Mr. Wirtz, the rice growers of South Texas nor the Syndicate Power company expects the people of West Texas to permit themselves to be robbed of their water rights without at least making a protest.

WATER conservation and irrigation have been West Texas' fondest dreams for many years. And now that the time appears near when these dreams may be realized, West Texas is about to wake up and find out that it's all a dream.

NO—it is not all a dream. West Texas is waking up all right but it is waking up with the fighting spirit. This section of the state is fighting for its rightful heritage and we have no doubt that justice will prevail in the end.

BROTHER OF RANGER MAN DIES IN FORT WORTH. Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Searcy of the Searcy Candy Factory, Ranger, were called to Fort Worth yesterday on account of the death of Mr. Searcy's brother, Will Searcy.

Rev. Green Will Preach To Elks At Eastland

In the evangelistic services being held on the High school grounds in Eastland by Col. Guy W. Green of Kansas City, Mr. Green delivered last night what many declared to have been his best address of the series.

Col. Green took as his subject the words of the apostle Paul recorded in the third chapter of Philippians, and that of the thirteenth and fourteenth verses, "But this one thing I do, forgetting the things that are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the calling of God in Christ Jesus."

The opening services were very interesting and uplifting, Rev. F. E. Singleton offered a very fervent prayer as the invocation. Rev. L. R. Hogan read the scripture, Rev. W. J. Nelson made the closing prayer very fervently closing with a benediction.

TONIGHT the B. P. O. Elks will attend in a body, and Col. Green will speak on "Where Was That," an address specially suited to the occasion. The Eastland band and orchestra will play a program from 7 to 8 o'clock.

TOMORROW night the Knights of Pythias and their ladies will be the special guests, also the Lions club and their ladies. Delegations from Baird.

TEXTBOOKS for the rural schools of Eastland county are being received at the office of Miss Beulah Spear, Eastland county school superintendent in Eastland.

MISS SPEER states that virtually all of the rural schools of the county have closed contracts with teachers for the coming term, many of which will open during the month of September.

RANGER GIRLS ON RADIO PROGRAM AT DALLAS

A radio program of particular interest to Ranger people on account of Miss Laura Schmuck and Miss Virginia Brookes, Ranger girls, having a part in it, will be broadcast this evening from station WFAA Dallas, at 8:30 o'clock.

THE program will be presented by members of the Mickwitz club which consists of persons who have been trained by Harold von Mickwitz, world known as teacher and composer.

MISS LAURA SCHMUCK and W. P. Martin will be the vocal soloists and Miss Virginia Brookes will be one of three pianists.

MINERAL WELLS MAN TO OPEN HOTEL IN RANGER

THE Texas hotel, over J. C. Smith store, Ranger, has been leased by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Tarver of Mineral Wells and will be opened up on Sept. 1.

J. C. SMITH, who leased the building to Mr. and Mrs. Tarver, stated that they would arrive in Ranger on Aug. 17 and would entirely remodel and refurbish the hotel.

MR. and Mrs. Tarver have lived in Mineral Wells for the past 14 years and have had a hotel there. On account of the tourist camps in and near that city taking such a large amount of trade from the hotels, and on account of Ranger seeming to be such a live town, they decided to leave Mineral Wells and locate here, Mr. Smith said.

U. S. CLAIMS COMMISSIONER DISCUSSES MEXICO'S FUTURE

By MARK H. KNIGHT,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 11.—A high steel railway bridge across the North American continent, spanning the Rio Grande river, was built many years ago. The family of the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt are now principal owners of this bridge. It is looked to as one of the threads to eventually bind two great nations—Mexico and the United States—into a unity of action that would make history in the progress of mankind.

From that bridge—an international structure—one may look over a great expanse of territory to the north, then over another to the south, and indelibly engrave a picture on his mind of the Mexico-United States problem, which future observation and study will expand and confirm, but not alter.

The future of Mexico, as outlined by Judge E. B. Perry, American representative on the special claims commission, in which the problem of reparations for murder of Americans by Mexican revolutionists (or bandits) in 1916 at Santa Isabel, was considered, is one of ultimate success, but only after a firmly united action has been taken between Mexico and the United States.

"A few days ago," Judge Perry remarked, "I was reading the book of an authority on India. The author remarked that India is just where it was 6,000 years ago, with no advancement beyond the boundaries of foreign financed expansion and improvements."

"Much of what this student of the east said of India, could be as aptly applied to Mexico, a nation 6,000 years in arrears in its civilization, where the progress has been largely organized and financed by American and other foreigners.

"Go to Mexico City by rail. On the international bridge, high over the surrounding country, you will be stopped by customs inspectors. Get off to stretch your legs, and take a bird's-eye view to the south. You see across the river Mexico, at your feet; a squalid city in the foreground, with sewers, without modern buildings, a city of poverty and depression. Look further, beyond the outskirts of the town, and you view the mesquite, the cactus and sacbrush just as nature placed them thousands of years before. Man has robbed nature of her beauty, but he has given nothing in its place.

"About face and look northward on the other side of the Rio Grande. There is Laredo, Texas, a beautiful city bedecked with all that the genius of mankind can offer: a city planned for the twentieth century, which has made the most of everything nature had to offer, and molded it into things of even greater beauty.

"Beyond this city you see a rolling plain which a few years ago presented the same depressive, dismal, arid monotony that lies at your back. Now it is the most beautiful garden you can imagine. The view is broken at pleasing intervals by the architectural beauty of a country home, resting on a terrace of green, surrounded by shrubbery, bordered by paved highways, with churches, schools, factories and parks.

"The reason for this difference is easy to determine and with the reason an answer to the Mexican solution is clearly implied. Want of cooperation and lack of organized ability has kept Mexico undeveloped.

"Go back over the cycle of American development and you see the most amazing period of advancement in industry that the world has ever known, but you must go back still other ages through the slow but steady advancement of the Nordic peoples of Europe, ancestors to the Americans. Success has been built through industry, through ability to develop and organize.

"Industry can pull humanity from the poverty and misery in which it dwelt for so many centuries. The power of industry was born in the Nordic countries of Europe, but it developed into the saviour of mankind in America, and only in America do the laboring classes enjoy its fruits to the utmost.

"Mexico must have industry, but she can't develop it herself, because she has neither the money nor the background upon which it must be founded.

"This statement is no reflection upon the Mexican people. In music, art, handicraft and gentility, Mexico has no superior on the western hemisphere. But these do not provide living wages for her people. Good wages will come with organized industry."

When Mexico in 1926 undertook to enforce new laws, she wrote the beginning of the end of the old era, and paved the way for a great era of expansion which cannot be far distant, Judge Perry believes. The laws, which prohibit foreign ownership and exploitation of Mexico's natural resources, were passed ostensibly to force industry upon a people who were allowing foreigners to develop their nation. But the effect, he feels, has not been what was anticipated.

Drawing from his pocket a memorandum, the judge recited figures showing that since an attempt was made to enforce the laws the two staples of the country—oil and silver—have fallen off tremendously, and with this decline has come a curtailment in the federal revenue which must sooner or later drain the treasury and force a change for the better.

In 1923 Mexico produced approximately 25 per cent of the world's oil supply. This had fallen in 1926 to 13 per cent, a comparative reduction of 44 per cent. Silver in the same period fell from 35 per cent to about 18 per cent, a comparative reduction of about 48 per cent. This shows that the country's two main industries, on which it must depend for a revenue in order to make progress possible, fell off in two years approximately 46 per cent.

With few exceptions it is said that American oil companies have virtually ceased operation in Mexico and many American and other foreign mining interests have taken the same attitude. They will not resume, Judge Perry believes, until they are guaranteed the same rights that foreigners enjoy in other civilized countries.

PROOF GIVEN ALLIED AGENCIES GOVERNMENTS' MOUTHPIECE

By ED L. KEEN,
General European Manager
United Press
ARTICLE III
LONDON.—If any proof were needed that the allied news agencies—the European news combine of official, semi-official and other agencies—are the recognized mouthpiece of European governments, it was emphatically supplied at the recent Warsaw conference of that organization.

The meeting was held in Warsaw at the invitation of the Polish government, extended through the official Polish Telegraph agency, one of the members of the combine. Between sessions of the conference, which took place in the assembly hall of the ministry of agriculture and which lasted five days, the delegates, who were all principal executives of the various member agencies, were sumptuously entertained by the government with dinners, garden parties, excursions on the historic Vistula, and with a visit to Cracow after the termination of their labors.

The very first action of the conference was to elect unanimously as its presiding officer M. Grzybowski, head of the Polish government's propaganda department. Grzybowski is the government official to whom is generally attributed responsibility for the new and drastic domestic press decree recently promulgated in Poland, and which is patterned after Mussolini's famous press restrictions in Italy.

Throughout the conference, the governmental affiliation of the organization were repeatedly emphasized, one of the most significant features being a speech by the delegates by the Polish foreign minister, Auguste Zaleski (referred to in the preceding article), in which he characterized the allied news agencies as organs which supplement the ministries of foreign affairs of European governments which "without your efficacious aid would be deaf instruments, devoid of resonance and echo."

Special attention had been attracted to this Warsaw meeting, among European newspaper publishers and editors, in view of the general press conference which is to begin in Geneva, on Aug. 24, under the auspices of the League of Nations. The leading newspapers of the world, various news agencies and press associations—both allied and independent—and the official press bureaus of various governments will be represented at the forthcoming Geneva conference, which among other questions will discuss the resolutions adopted at the preliminary meeting of news agencies and press associations at Geneva last summer. The most important of these resolutions was the one in which it was declared that "official news emanating from governments or state institutions cannot be made the subject of any exclusiveness." Although the allied agencies outnumbered the independent agencies at last year's conference, this resolution after considerable opposition on the part of the official agencies represented among the allies, was formally accepted by all.

Consequently, there was considerable speculation among European editors and publishers as to whether any attempt would be made at the recent Warsaw conference of the allied agencies to upset what their members had agreed to at last year's Geneva meeting. In the Warsaw conference, nearly the full membership of the allied organization was represented, 25 in all, whereas at the Geneva meeting only nine were represented.

The conference at Warsaw was held in secret; none of the proceedings or conclusions were officially published, and the only information divulged was that obtained by methods more or less successfully employed in reporting executive sessions of the United States senate. In this way it was learned that nothing was formally done by the delegates to interfere with the resolutions to which their colleagues had assented at Geneva. However, there was much private discussion on the subject, and not a little dissatisfaction expressed by some of the delegates who felt that deprived of exclusive-

RHEUMATISM

May be relieved by rational treatment—it can not be rubbed away.

Are you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, commonly called rheumatism, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried almost everything. Went to Hot Springs . . . then finally decided to try S.S.S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S.S.S. is the best."—Earl C. Campbell, 143 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

From youth to later years S.S.S. is a proven tonic—give it and take it where a tonic is indicated. S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Wily Moore Is Proving Big Aid To Yankee Team

Pitcher Wily Moore of the New York Yankees is a big favorite with the Gotham fans.

The Yankees lineup fairly bristles with outstanding stars, names like Ruth, Penneck, Gehrig, Lazzeri and so on down the line and often among them is Wily Moore.

At the opening of the American league season, Pitcher Wily Moore was given little or no consideration as a regular. If any of the critics had ventured the opinion that he would be a valued member of Yankee pitching staff by the middle of May, his sanity would have been questioned.

Yet such a thing has come to pass and it wouldn't surprise me in the least if the unknown Wily Moore of 1926 got a fair share of votes as the most valuable player in the American league contest of 1927.

Since the opening of the season it has been just one tough spot after another for Wily Moore and he has seldom failed to make good as proved by his record.

Never Worries.

Some years ago the late "Silk" O'Loughlin created much discussion by insisting there were no close decisions, the runner was either out or safe.

Of late years, Bill Guthrie, umpiring in the majors and minors at various times, came forward with about the same sizeup of the so-called critical plays in a game by saying:

"To me they are either 'Dis' or 'Dat,' meaning out or safe. Bill would purposely use the rather ungrammatical expression to make his opinion more forceful.

Recently, when I asked Wily Moore, doing his first year in the big show, if he didn't get a lump in his throat occasionally when he was dropped into a tight game with the bases filled, he laconically replied in his peculiar southern drawl:

"Not me. What's the use of worrying? I just say as I walk into the box, well here is where I do or don't. Maybe I haven't any nerves but it's no strain on me."

Rare Style.

Moore is one of those pitchers who depend almost exclusively on a one style delivery for success. While he dabbles with a curve and is learning a change of pace, his one best bet is his fast ball. It is a most unusual one.

A fast ball, delivered with a side-arm motion and kept low, has enabled Moore to baffie the best batters in the American league. Ernie Shore, for years a member of the Boston Red Sox, is the last pitcher I can recall who used a similar delivery.

Moore's fast ball sinks as it nears the plate, much after the manner of a spitball. The batter usually tops it, driving the ball into the ground for easy rollers to the infield.

Moore won 30 games and lost four last season in the South Atlantic league, yet all the scouts passed him up. This year he will win 15, possibly 20 in the American. No wonder they sing the blues when he registers a win for the Yankees.

Bomb Explosion At Geneva Kills One Injures 14

GENEVA, Aug. 11.—One person was killed and fourteen wounded last night at Basle when a bomb exploded in a telephone booth at the Grand Palace street car station, dispatch from that city said today.

The bomb was believed to have been placed by Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers although there was no direct evidence. Police arrested several young men described as communists.

Hunt is Declared Best Backfield In A. & M. History

BRYAN, Aug. 11.—Joel Hunt of Waco, captain-elect of the 1927 A. & M. football team, is the greatest backfield player in A. & M. history, in the opinion of James Sullivan, business manager of Aggie athletics.

Hunt is known as a star broken field runner, forward passer, punter, and drop kicker. He is as fast as a streak, and is as dependable on the defense as on the offense.

He is expected to again play quarterback for the Aggies.

INDUSTRY TO SAVE MEXICO, AMERICAN JUDGE THINKS

President Calles Of Southern Republic Is Characterized As Very Conscientious Man By Judge Perry

By MARK H. KNIGHT (United Press Staff Correspondent) LINCOLN, Neb. — "President Calles of Mexico," said Judge E. B. Perry, American member of the Santa Isabel Claims Commission, in discussing with the United Press the future of the Republic to the south, "is, I believe a very conscientious man."

not remain backward for long because her people live too close to the United States. Mexicans are learning, gradually but steadily, of the luxuries on the United States side of the Rio Grande. They are learning both through direct and indirect contact with their neighboring nation.

Twins United After 43 Years

When Etta May Cleaver and her twin brother Edward A. Cleaver were but six months old, their mother died and the two babies were adopted by different families near Harrison, Ohio. That was in 1884. Until five years ago, neither twin knew of the other's existence.

at the same time it would improve the earning power and living standards of Mexico. "Competitive industry, would develop in industrial centers, at first perhaps under American initiative, but later under Mexican ownership and executives."

Salute Is Fired For Erwin As He Passes Ranger

An explosion near the Ranger high school last night caused the populace in that vicinity to think a Sacco-Vanzetti bomb had gone off, but investigation proved that it was James A. Boze, former aviator, giving a salute to his old friend and brother aviator, Captain Bill Erwin, and his plane "Dallas Spirit" as they passed over Ranger at 7:15 o'clock.

Boze had an anti-aircraft gun arranged on the lawn back of the high school and when he sighted Erwin's plane, flying a little north of the City County hospital, about 2,000 feet in the air, he fired a fusillade of presidential salute shells. This can be heard 25 miles and there is no doubt that Erwin knew who was saluting him as he passed over Ranger.

According to Boze, Erwin was in Ranger last year when the American Legion had its Flying Circus.

Captain Erwin is also well known to George R. Kelly, editor of the Ranger Times, as he at one time went to school to Mr. Kelly and was well known to him during and since the World War.

Now Comes a Beauty With "It"

The custom of glorifying mere beauty recently stirred up a rebellion in the University of Utah at Salt Lake City. A personality contest was decided upon and pictures of 46 co-eds were submitted to business men. They chose 15 and these 15 were sent to Elmer Glyn. Of the number the writer chose six who had "It." Margaret O'Rourke (above) led the list.

WOULD HAVE TOMB OF LINCOLN SERVE AS AIR TRAFFIC BEACON

By United Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 11.—A Lincoln tomb and monument 500 feet high, to be surmounted with a powerful searchlight would serve as a beacon for aviators in Illinois has been suggested in a carefully worked out plan by Herbert Wells Fay, custodian of the Lincoln tomb and monument here.

Fay's plan would put to an end a charge that the state has been unappreciative of its great statesman as far as building a suitable memorial for him is concerned.

Fay asserts that the present memorial is sadly in need of repairs and entirely inadequate considering the prodigious increase in the number of tourists who visit it daily. In its place he suggests the construction of a 500-foot monument which would be visible for 20 miles, to serve as the air traffic beacon.

Fay's carefully worked out scheme calls for a competition between architects for a gigantic statue of the emancipator 200 feet in height mounted on a base 300 feet high. This structure would be surmounted by a powerful searchlight to make it visible at night, especially to air pilots.

The grounds owned by the state totaling nine acres are adequate for such a monument, according to Fay. Around the base it would be possible to build a memorial hall to match the proportions of the monument and accommodate Lincoln memorials.

The present tomb and monument were erected in 1874 at a cost of $350,000. The memorial at Washington completed a few years ago cost nearly $3,000,000.

Fay, in pressing his suggestion, declares that 400 people visit Lincoln's shrine daily whereas five years ago the number per week hardly equaled that. Last year 150,000 tourists signed the register at the tomb, whereas in 1920 but 30,000 signatures were attached. It is claimed that recent works on the life of Lincoln, coupled with a general increase in tourist travel in the middle-west accounts for the increase.

Fay, in describing his plan for the monument and memorial, says, "make three circles of rooms. On the outer wall arrange to record the principal events in Lincoln's life, especially from the cradle until he went to Washington. In frames on the walls and in show cases put pictures of every spot he ever visited, letters and speeches he wrote, things he said, stories he told, friends, documents and surveys he made. A systematic arrangement of all of these would give a panorama of his life that would give a patriotic thrill to every visitor, American or foreign."

"In this exhibit could be shown a copy of every letter, speech, survey or document he made in chronological order. Pictures of every person mentioned and place visited could be shown. There could be shown all publications about Lincoln, authors of books, photos of the scenes and everything. Make it answer every question asked about Lincoln. Have every country of the state represented."

"In the center circle reproduce his birthplace, probably exact size, showing its surroundings. Build in miniature the contour of the country and make it show all the places he frequented in Kentucky."

"Then in the next room faithfully reproduce the Indiana home and vicinity. In adjoining rooms of the center circle show a miniature of the Decatur home of Thomas Lincoln, the Coles county home, and reproduce the New Salem log cabin village. One room could be devoted to the Black Hawk war, showing the contour of each county traveled."

"Rooms could be set aside showing Vandalia, the campaign for congress, Lincoln-Douglass debates, battles of the civil war, the assassination and funeral. Another room could be set aside to the Lincoln memorials erected in his honor.

"The inner circle of rooms next to the base of the statue could be devoted to a display of paintings of Lincoln, scenes of his life depicted in sculpture and photographs. To get such a collection offer $10,000 each for the five best pictures of Lincoln or pertaining to his life and $5,000 for the next five best. Offer smaller sums for mixtures of Lincoln transparencies, scenes or photographs."

The home and tomb of Lincoln attract more attention over the world than any other single feature, probably more than all put together, according to Fay.

All Presidents Must Worry Over Foreign Affairs

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON.—The question of where to draw the line between wicked imperialism and high-minded, altruistic aid of small nations has bothered other periods in American history.

How to solve problems of this nature? While the anti-imperialists have shouted their heads off at the present administration's policies in Latin-America, Calvin Coolidge, the silent and unemotional, has given no indication of perturbation. If he has sought divine guidance, as did McKinley while trying to decide whether the Philippines should be held under the American flag, the country has not been so advised.

How McKinley Solved it.
McKinley frankly admitted the puzzlement which the question had caused him and explained his method of solution in a speech to a group of churchmen as follows:
"I walked the floor of the white house night after night and I am not ashamed to tell you, gentlemen, that I went down on my knees and prayed Almighty God for light and guidance more than one night. And one night it came to me this way—I don't know how it was, but it came. There was nothing left for us to do but to take the bull, and to educate the Filipinos, and uplift and civilize and Christianize them, and by God's grace to do the very best we could by them as our fellow men for whom Christ also died. And then I went to bed, and went to sleep and slept soundly."

The McKinley policy, which when finally formulated became the policy of the Republican party, was expressed in much the same fashion as it has since been echoed by Roosevelt, Wilson and Coolidge.

"The Spanish war," said McKinley, "has brought new duties and responsibilities which we must meet and discharge as becomes a great nation on whose growth and career from the beginning the Ruler of Nations has plainly written the high command and pledge of civilization."
