'I WILL STOP GAMBLING,' SAYS CHIEF COOPER

Knows What People Want and Will Strictly Enforce Law.

"Gambling will cease even if I have to get search warrants and go into the remote districts; whisky selling in Ranger will no longer be tolerated and immoral women who persist in plying their vocations will fall into the clutches of the law. My men were instructed to this effect last night and told that if they could not carry out these instructions to the letter they would be discharged regardless of their standing." These statements were made this morning by Chief of Police George T. Cooper with the request that it be published.

Chief Cooper declared that since taking office two weeks ago he had been criticized and had been called before a committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants' association and was told that his work was not satisfactory to the people. At one of the meetings Mayor M. H. Hagaman was present. Chief Cooper said that both he and the mayor explained that when he took over the police department he was requested not to hurry things, but to look over the ground and investigate conditions.

Ready to Act.

He has now acquainted himself with the situation and is ready to act, he declared.

"If operating slot machines and punch boards come under my jurisdiction, they will feel the power of the law also," Chief Cooper added.

The cabarets were closed last night, he continued, and would stay closed so long as music went on and women solicited men to buy drinks. "My men and myself are servants of the people and the people have spoken. I know what they want and if my men cannot give it to them, then I can get men who will. The city commission is our superior and it has defined a policy which must be followed," he asserted.

When appointed as chief of police the commission made it clear to Chief Cooper that it would not tolerate open gambling, whisky selling or the parading of immoral women. Members of the commission who have been interviewed since declare that they mean just what they said at that meeting.

Mexico's Enemies Keep White House Uninformed, Says

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 14.—Charges that information of the petroleum intrigue has been unable to reach the White House, but is turned to the attention of the state department, which is overrun by lobbyists representing interests working against Mexico, are made by Roberto Resquina, a former representative in the United States of President De la Huerta, in a statement embodied in a report to be made to the provisional president.

The Resquina report asserts that there are two main groups in the United States most active in their opposition to Mexico. The first of these groups, he says, is composed of 'coyotes,' including speculators and money brokers who have acquired ill gotten gains under various factions contending for power in Mexico, but now banished by the new order of things in Mexico who have flooded Washington hotels and state department corridors with unceasing hostility to Mexico.

The second group, he alleges, is composed of an association of oil operators, which also has carried on an active campaign against Mexico but has shown a willingness to wait until Mexico decides the petroleum difficulties in an equitable manner.

THOUSANDS OF AIRMEN MEET IN NEW YORK FOR ARMISTICE DAY DINNER

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Airmen of the army and navy including many who won fame by their exploits during the war will gather here on the night of Nov. 11 to celebrate the second anniversary of the signing of the armistice. The committee in charge has made reservations for 3,100 diners who will be arranged according to squadrons, flying fields and other units to which they belonged.

Military rank will be forgotten at the dinner, according to announcement by the committee. Generals will be mere pilots, exchanging stories of war experiences with airmen who served with lower rank.

COMMUNITY OWNERSHIP GIVES WOMEN VOTE ON BONDS

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 14.—Ownership of an interest in community property qualifies a woman, provided she is otherwise qualified, to vote in bond elections, according to an opinion from the attorney general's department here. All property acquired by husband and wife during marriage, except that which is separate property of one of them, is held to be community or common property under the laws of Texas.

YEAH, BACHELOR GIRL SHOULD USE CARE IN SELECTING BURGLAR

Last night a bachelor girl purchased and carried home some silk—when you want to know, ask the missus. She also was wearing a variety of the same kind which she removed—you know these darn newspaper reporters find out everything. The collection placed on a trunk near an open window which was not screened. This a sad circumstance to relate but a burglar without the instincts of a gentleman took 'em. Yeah, carried 'em away. And the bachelor girl came near having to don pants to get to town. Even a bachelor girl needs something on besides a skirt to come down town. However a friend came to the rescue.

Which points to the moral to always have an extra pair in reserve.

EXPRESSED WILL OF VOTERS MEANS NOTHING TO G.O.P.

—GOVERNOR COX SAYS "BRAZEN CONSPIRATORS" PLAN TREASONING MANDATE OF PEOPLE WITH CONTEMPT.

VAN WERT, Ohio, Oct. 14.—A new line of attack on former President Taft's position on the League of Nations was made here today when Governor Cox opened a three-day campaign in his home state.

Referring to Taft's statement that in the event of Cox's election there would still remain enough Republicans to defeat the treaty, Governor Cox declared this indicated a plan to disregard the decision of the "league referendum."

"It means that it is the purpose of brazen conspirators in the senate to treat the mandate of the people with contempt and turn their backs on the expressed will of the electorate," he declared.

WANT BASKET BABY? WRITE CAPTAIN LYNN

The third basket baby to find a home in Ranger within the week was placed yesterday afternoon by Captain J. T. Lynn, of Dallas.

The baby was one week old.

As in the other two cases, where in a girl and boy baby were placed, this boy found a home as quickly as the Times which carried its story was on the street.

Captain Lynn said that this was the last trip he would make to Ranger, except to bring babies already placed, but that other persons wanting to adopt babies may address him at Box 325, Dallas with their pastor's reference and he would do the rest.

MEXICAN REPRESENTATIVE SPEAKS AT DALLAS FAIR

DALLAS, Oct. 14.—Friendship and co-operation between the United States and Mexico with neither "doubt nor darkness," was predicted here today by General Jacinto Trevino, minister of industry and commerce in the cabinet of the provisional government of Mexico. He spoke before a committee of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, which welcomed the minister and a large party of Mexican officials and business men to the State Fair of Texas.

"From now on there are two flags together, the Mexican and that of the United States," he asserted. "Linked in close friendship, no power on earth can separate those flags."

FREIGHT INCREASE COSTLY BLOW TO CORPUS CAUSEWAY

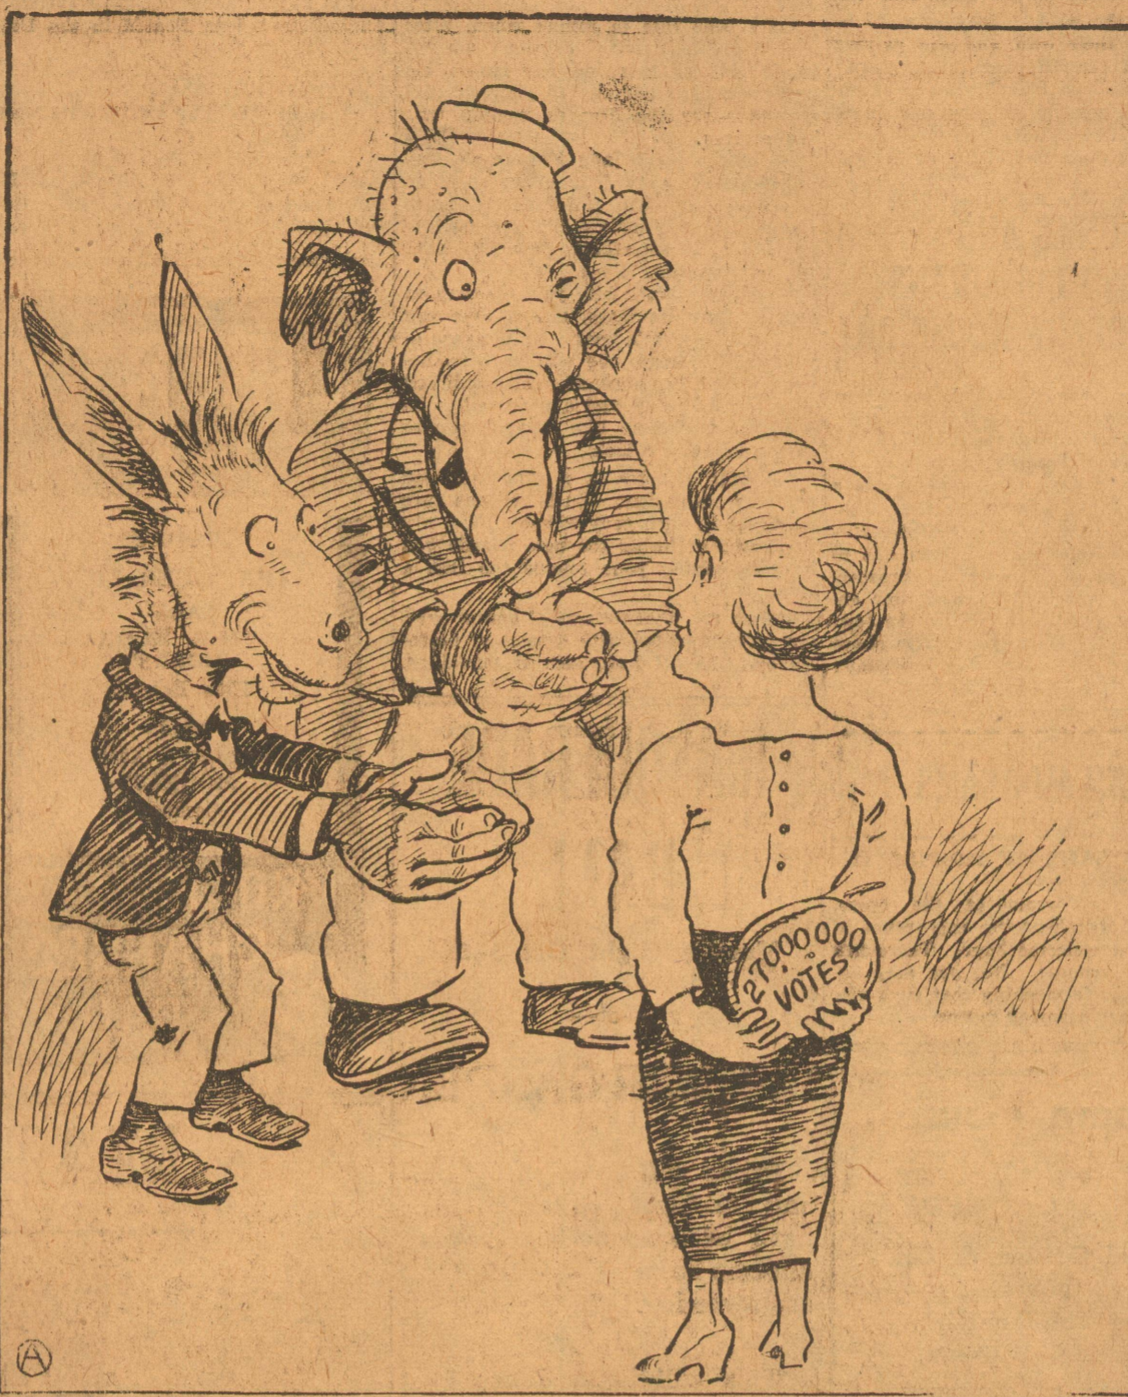

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Oct. 14.—The increase in intra-state freight rates granted by the Texas Railroad Commission will result either in "skipping" the breakwater under construction at Corpus Christi, or in the city financing the project to the extent of $41,000 in addition to the $800,000 already provided for the project, according to city officials.

Trawler Aground.

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., Oct. 14.—The trawler James Carruthers is reported aground on Whiteland island, forty miles north of here, with four men missing of the crew of thirty, according to wireless messages received here today from the United States steamer Surveyor.

J. H. Sudderth Gives Impetus to 'Repopulate Farm' Movement

Texas' Biggest Paper Sends Staff Writer to Cover Movement.

So novel and widespread has become the idea of tenantry the farms that the Fort Worth Star-Telegram has sent Silliman Evans, special writer, to Ranger to get full details of the story.

No other city in the state or country has ever advanced this idea, nor has there ever been a Chamber of Commerce that has tried to put the idea into effect. With the printing of the story in the Fort Worth paper it is expected that hundreds of untold letters will be added to those already received. From the mass can be found citizens that are an asset.

Thus it is that the newspapers fill the mission for which they were created. The Times advanced the idea that if the farms were repopulated the city. It followed with a news story, a staff reporter sent the story to the Dallas News, other papers picked it up, and letters began to come to the Chamber of Commerce. This organization took the matter up and several public spirited citizens offered farms rent free. Thus it spread all over the United States and from every section letters are being received.

The publicity accruing for Ranger from the movement is of untold value. It gives to the outside world a vision of wideawakeness that is uncommon to many towns and cities. In addition, if plans of the chamber of commerce mature thoroughly and co-operation is furnished by landholders, 6,000 people will be added to the wealth producers of the city. The rent free idea is attracting many from other sections who are responsible and have the means of caring for themselves. They are not shiftless tenants. But to get them some inducement is contained in the rent free idea.

NEW HOSPITAL OPENED FOR SHELL-SHOCKED MEN

PERRYVILLE, Mo., Oct. 14.—A new government hospital for the treatment of former soldiers suffering from shell shock has been opened by the United States Health service with the transfer of 100 patients from the temporary hospital at Cape May, N. J.

Special care and treatment of mild types of mental disorders embraced in the term "shell shock" is offered. In addition to the main building, home-like surroundings are available in numerous individual cottages.

There are over 12,000 discharged soldiers, victims of shell shock and kindred disorders, under treatment at the present time, 5,578 of whom are in hospitals operated by the Public Health service and the remainder in hospitals where contracts provide proper care and treatment.

D. L. Howard of Johnson County Is First Rent-Free Tenant.

Concrete results were obtained yesterday in the "repopulate the farm movement" which is being staged by the Chamber of Commerce, when John H. Sudderth, who leased a farm rent free to D. L. Howard of Johnson county. The farm is of 148 acres and lies on the Eastland county line north of Ranger. The only stipulation required by Mr. Sudderth was that the tenant keep up the fences and keep the place in a good state of repair.

Mr. Howard is from Johnson county, near Cleburne, and his knowledge of farming comes from an experience of years, years in which he has made the business pay. He is not of shiftless tenantry that flees from place to place each year. He knows the value of cows, hogs, and poultry to the farmer and has them all in numbers. His teams are of the kind owned and used by those who make a success of farming.

For the coming year, as he has in years past, he expects to make his chickens, hogs and cows show a profit above living expenses.

Other men who have appeared in answer to the publicity which has been given to the movement have been referred to landowners, results from these conferences have not been obtained.

CONDUCTOR YIELDS $10.00 TO HIJACKER

C. B. Carlyle, a Hamon-Kell freight conductor, was hijacked by a lone highwayman between the station offices and Hunt street about 10 o'clock last night. He had just received orders and was on the way to his train when the robber stepped from behind a box car and made the customary demand. He took $10 and the conductor's train book. The book was later found near the scene.

Officers searched the neighborhood but no trace could be found of the highwayman.

Sudderth's Success Is an Example of Rewards for Industry.

Thirty years ago a man in a covered wagon leading a pinto pony drove into the Caddo valley north of Ranger and bought small farm. That man was John H. Sudderth, who yesterday exhibited the trait that is known as public spirited when he leased a farm rent free in order that the city and county might be helped to that extent.

Mr. Sudderth is probably 60 years old now, but will be absorbed as a whole by the city. Next year the farm will pay dividends, and the present loss may be several dollars, but the gain to the community cannot be computed. He has probably settled a family in the community who will be permanent residents, producing wealth from year to year that will be absorbed as a whole by the city.

Next year the farm will pay dividends, and the present loss will be more than covered. Mr. Sudderth's own experience teaches him that if he can settle a real farmer on his farm that the future income will more than take care of itself.

Any man who will raise livestock, chickens and produce will not only make a living in the Ranger district, but will have a cash surplus as well. The "old line" farmer who persists in raising cotton almost exclusively will not do so well. Mr. Sudderth has shown the way.

Letters continue to come to the Chamber of Commerce by each mail. More than 300 have been received. From other sections who are responsible and have the means of caring for themselves. They are not shiftless tenants. But to get them some inducement is contained in the rent free idea.

AMERICAN VESSELS OUTNUMBER FOREIGN BOATS AT GALVESTON

GALVESTON, Texas, Oct. 14.—Vessels of Uncle Sam's lusty merchant marine are crowding foreign-owned vessels for supremacy in world trade, according to customs reports here.

American ships clearing in foreign trade in September number eighty-four as compared with forty-five foreign-owned bottoms, seventy-nine vessels entering the port floated the Stars and Stripes from her masts, compared with thirty-nine carrying foreign flags.

THREE LITTLE GIRLS AND INVALID FATHER NEED IMMEDIATE AID

Three little children at Olden, one of them suffering from spinal meningitis, are badly in need of tubercular. The father is in bed with tuberculosis and has not been in a condition to work for months. He is in need of night shirts.

The children are 2, 5 and 6 years old. The mother of the brood needs many things, but as usual her need is forgotten in the suffering of those she loves. Bed sheets and quilts would fill a real need to the stricken family.

Mrs. Grace Harrington, Red Cross nurse, is visiting the family nearly every day and is providing such necessities as she can, and she is appealing to the folks of Ranger to help provide the needed clothing. Almost anything that is serviceable will be acceptable.

REPRIEVES FOR GUNMEN RILE CHICAGO CHIEF

All But Three of Thirteen Murderers Escape Noose.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Frank Campions, convicted of implication in the robbery and murder of a local saloon-keeper, and James Reese, a negro who confessed to killing his wife with a hatchet, were hanged here this morning.

Frank Zagar, under sentence to hang for killing two Greeks, will die tomorrow.

Thirteen men had been sentenced to hang today and tomorrow but reprieves and stays of execution have been granted by the state pardon board to all but three.

Chief of Police Garrity in discussing the reprieves said: "The fact that all but three of thirteen murderers have escaped the noose is an invitation to gunmen to go back to their profession."

Gin Burned at Wichita Falls, Believed Set

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 14.—Fire early this morning destroyed the J. B. Jamison cotton gin here. The loss is estimated at $21,000. Fire Chief McClure says the blaze bears every evidence of incendiary origin, though Jamison declared he had received no warning of any kind. McClure has advised all gin owners to employ armed guards and give them instructions to fire upon all prowlers.

CHICAGO GRAND JURY SEEKING EVIDENCE OF BIG WHISKY RING

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Walter Sadler, a New York broker whose confession of participation in illicit whisky selling on an enormous scale has sent federal authorities throughout the country on a hunt for other members of the alleged "ring," appeared today before the federal grand jury here.

Reports that his confession had been made public too soon caused rumors that important witnesses had taken warning and escaped. This was denied by government officials.

GREEK KING, BITTEN BY MONKEY, DANGEROUSLY ILL

ATHENS, Oct. 14.—The condition of King Alexander, who is suffering from an infection as the result of the bite of a monkey on Oct. 2, is still critical, according to Dr. Vidal, the famous physician. Vidal said the case is of the most critical sort, but is not hopeless.

The king was bitten by the animal when he interfered with its assault on a pedigreed cat.

ONE-ARMED ATHLETE IS NOW PLAYING FOOTBALL

With an enrollment of 1,408, the school has an increase of approximately ten per cent over the enrollment at this time last year. French follows as a close second in popularity.

PUBLIC FORUMS OF C. C. MEMBERS TO BE RESUMED

Meeting Next Week Will Discuss Plans in New Depot Matter.

The next public forum meeting of the Chamber of Commerce which will be held some time next week will take up the question of the new passenger station for the Texas & Pacific railroad. This was decided yesterday afternoon when the public forum meetings were resumed.

At this meeting three committees were appointed, composed of twenty men each, that will act as an entertainment committee, good-fellowship committee and attendance committee. The importance of the forum meetings was discussed by Dr. W. C. Palmer, its chairman.

Dr. Palmer declared that the gatherings and discussions of the membership was a guide to the action of the directors, which would save them much valuable time in hearing complaints from individual members. It was explained however, by the speaker that he did not mean that complaints should not be registered but that they, or the majority of them, should be heard at the meetings of the entire body and the directors act on them later.

It is probable that the meeting next week will decide upon what decisive step to take in regards to the present railroad station if some action has not been taken by railway officials before that time.

Several steps that are under consideration will be discussed.

Showers Bring Pleasing Relief From Dust Evil

A six weeks' drought which has been accompanied by south winds that filled the air with dirt, probably will be broken today. At least such rain as has fallen will bring relief from the dust that has been prevailing.

If the promise of the morning is fulfilled it will provide ample moisture for fall plowing for Ranger's new crop of farmers, as well as fill depleted tanks, from which oil companies receive their water supply for drilling operations.

The rain is being accompanied by a chill wind that brings on a consideration of the heavies that have been laid away for many months.

Rain Is General. FORT WORTH, Oct. 14.—Rain extending to many points in the cattle and grain country north and west of here began falling this morning.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Cuba has appealed to the American government for aid in overcoming recent financial difficulties. The appeal has been taken under consideration by officials to determine whether a plan of assistance can be worked out.

COTTON PICKERS 'RETIRE' TO SPEND INCOMES

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Oct. 14.—Cotton pickers in Nueces county who have "retired" until they spend their earnings have brought the cotton picking season in the county to an earlier close than was expected early in the summer. Contributory factors to the early close, however, were the low price of cotton and the high price of ginning.

About 95 per cent of the crop has been picked and it is expected that most of the remainder will be allowed to remain in the fields. One large plantation said to have more than 500 bales of long staple cotton left in its fields which probably will not be picked because of the scarcity of labor.

LAMB

An ambitious young violinist, a self-sacrificing sister, an uncouth Westerner with a heart of gold, a family of aristocratic ne'er-do-wells—these are the principal factors in the story of "The Point of View," a Selznick picture starring Elaine Hammerstein, which is showing at the Lamb theatre last time today.

Dramatically presented, and excellently directed by Alan Crosland, this photograph depicts the trials of a family obsessed by aristocratic traditions without having the requisite wealth to maintain them. The girl, Marjory, played by Elaine Hammerstein wants to see her ambitious violinist brother attain his goal of fame. The family is too generous to send him to Europe for completion of his musical education, so she contracts a loveless marriage with an uncouth, good-hearted, wealthy Westerner in order to further her relative's ambitions.

The violinist does not succeed, other plans do not materialize, and then a situation arises which brings the question of her love and marriage in the balance. It is one of those big crises that win through their sheer naturalness, and it serves as a fitting finish to one of the best photoplays that has been witnessed here this year.

OPERA HOUSE

New Phase of Breach of Promise

A pretty girl at a sea-coast town has been picking up breach-of-promise cases around the bathing beaches pretty freely, and filling so many suits that she got "caught up with." It was a case of getting the law on her. This sophisticated young woman always wore one-piece suits of economical cut, which are subject to ruling by local authorities and are generally barred by law, indifferently enforced. While quite up to the minute, the lady in question had happened to hear of this law until she received a note from her latest prey, stating that a certain proposal of marriage be, for gotten, as such marriage contract was invalidated by the ordinance, and, moreover, that her scarcity of costume rendered her liable for other court proceedings. This terse note closed with a warning, P. S. that she might better keep "under cover." Her pastime—avocation maybe? ended—she faded. Beware of the type, boys.

Now Margarita Fisher in "The Week-End" doesn't exactly do this kind of a stunt. In attractive bathing attire she leads on the man she loves to propose to her, then turns him down flat—partly as punishment for his too impulsive kiss the night before.

Any one who has read "An Exchange

W. H. MORSE, of Seattle, Wash., who says he can now turn out as much work as he could thirty years ago, in spite of his age. Gives Tanlac credit for his splendid health.

"I am in my eighty-fifth year, but since taking Tanlac I am as hale and hearty as I ever was and can do as much work as I could thirty years ago," declared W. H. Morse, of 52, Blaine St., Seattle, Wash. Although in his eighty-fifth year, Mr. Morse is still daily to be found engaged in hard work at the Ames Shipyard and is remarkably well preserved for his years.

"Last spring I had an attack of the flu that left me in a very badly run-down condition and so weak that I could hardly get around. For a long while I had a very bad cold that I couldn't shake off and my bronchial tubes were so choked up that I was coughing all the time. I had no appetite and in fact ate so little that I was steadily losing weight. I couldn't sleep at nights and became very much worried about my condition, because I couldn't find anything to straighten me up and restore my lost strength.

"I saw by the papers what fine work Tanlac was doing for other folks, so I got some for myself. It did me good right from the start, for in a very short while my cough left me, and I was eating fine and sure did enjoy every mouthful. I slept better at nights and—as soon as I felt much better in every way, I have gained seven pounds in weight and am so much stronger that I can turn out about as much work as most any other man, in spite of my years. Tanlac certainly must be a great medicine to put me on my feet like it has, and I'm glad of the chance to tell everybody about it."

Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Phillips, Bros. and in Eastland by Butler Drug Co.—Adv.

of Wives" by Cosmo Mamilop, has some idea what he may expect from this later success by the same author, and when he takes into consideration that Margarita Fisher is supported by Milton Sills and Bertram Grassby as rivals for her hand and heart, there will be no special urge to the him to the Opera House theatre Friday for an unusual entertainment. The cast also includes Harvey Clark, Mayne Kelso, Mary Lee Wise, Beverly Travers and Harry Lonsdale.

TEMPLE

An excellent picturization of the popular stage success, "Civilian Clothes," with Thomas Meighan in the stellar role, came to the Temple theatre last evening for a two-days' run.

The story deals with an army captain who married a society girl in France, while she was dazzled by his handsome appearance in uniform, and discovered upon his return to America, after having been reported killed in action, that she was reluctant to own him in his over-loud civilian clothes. To cure her in her household, and become a butler in her household, and after several dramatic developments that fell exactly in with his plans, convinced her that clothes don't make the man.

Mr. Meighan is assisted by an able supporting company headed by Martha Mansfield, the pretty Follies girl who was also John Barrymore's leading woman in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," Marie Shotwell, Warren Cook, and Frank Losee are also in the cast. The picture was produced by Hugh Ford and is a Paramount release. It marks the elevation to stardom of Mr. Meighan, who has played the leading male roles in such conspicuous successes as George Loane Tucker's "The Miracle Man" and Cecil B. DeMille's "Male and Female" and "Why Change Your Wife?"

FRITZ FIELD'S FOLLIES BECOMING A HABIT WITH MUSICAL COMEDY FANS

The plays at the Majestic seem to be improving every week. Manager Tom! better known to the players as "Daddy Teal" knows just the kind of plays the Ranger people love and that is what he is giving them. Since the opening of the Majestic, the Fritz Field's Follies have never done better acting than they did the first of the week. They seem to be coming into their own and are gaining the favor of the "Ranger" theatregoers. The play, "College Days" was an exceptionally good comedy of snap and sugar and spice. Thine audience enjoyed every moment from the rice and fall of the curtain.

PRETTY GIRLS AND JEWISH COMEDIANS ON OPERA HOUSE BILL

The musical comedy which opened at the Opera House last night for a four day engagement, played before a packed house and was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. The scenery of the play was a cabaret filled with pretty girls. Two comical New York Jews were interested in buying the cabaret, so it was left to the cabaret girls to entertain prospective buyers. They had a great time entertaining them and soon relieved the Jews of their money. Its a good little show comes, dances and jokes for everyone's liking.

JOHN-A-DREAMS

CLXIII. DREAMS OF HORSES (1.)

In most cases, dreams of the horse, man's friend, betokens the appearance of a friend at a welcome hour. There are exceptions, of course. But you may accept it as a basic meaning that such visions are of a reassuring nature.

To cite the most conspicuous example of all: When you dream that horses run away with you, no matter whether you are riding, driving or are being driven, the omen is very good, though it signifies that, were you left to your own devices, things would not go well with you. The meaning is that you will be on the verge of doing something very wrong, or very foolish, or very hurtful to yourself or some one else, when a good friend—or several of them, according to the number of horses you see in your dream—will rescue you from yourself, will prevent you from committing the wrong deed.

Only bear this in mind: when, after such a dream, a friend cautions you not to do this or that, do not ignore his or her advice; but say to yourself that the hour for the dream's coming true has arrived.

To ride a horse in a pleasurable way is a sign of many jolly hours spent in good company. To fall from a horse means that you will suddenly come into possession of something that you have wished for many times.

To have a horse bite you, or snip at you, or bare its teeth, means that you will have a lover's spat. In the case of a married woman, she will have an argument with her husband, which will end in a reconciliation and a peace gift. So don't mind dreams like that; they are better than they look.

To heat a horse is a sign that you are very impatient. Such visions are warnings to curb your temper. You are in danger of losing the best friends you have by giving your tongue too free a rein.

Remember, that dreams of horses must not be confounded with dreams of horseracing, which I have already explained.

GETS THIRTY-FIVE YEARS FOR KILLING NEWSPAPER MAN

GALLATIN, Mo., Oct. 14.—Hugh Y. Tarwater today was found guilty by a jury of second degree murder in connection with the death of Wesley Robertson, a veteran newspaper publisher, who was shot on Dec. 23, 1919. Tarwater was sentenced to thirty-five years in the penitentiary.

France has made every preparation to pay the entire amount of the $250,000,000 loan due in New York, Oct. 15. This sum is France's share of the $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan floated in the United States during the war.

ESCAPED PRISONER IS SOME MARATHON RUNNER

International News Service. ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 14.—Robert Morgan, a negro convict, should have entered the Olympic games so County Warden

Charlie Collier informed Judge Calhoun when Morgan was arraigned for escaping from the county convict camp.

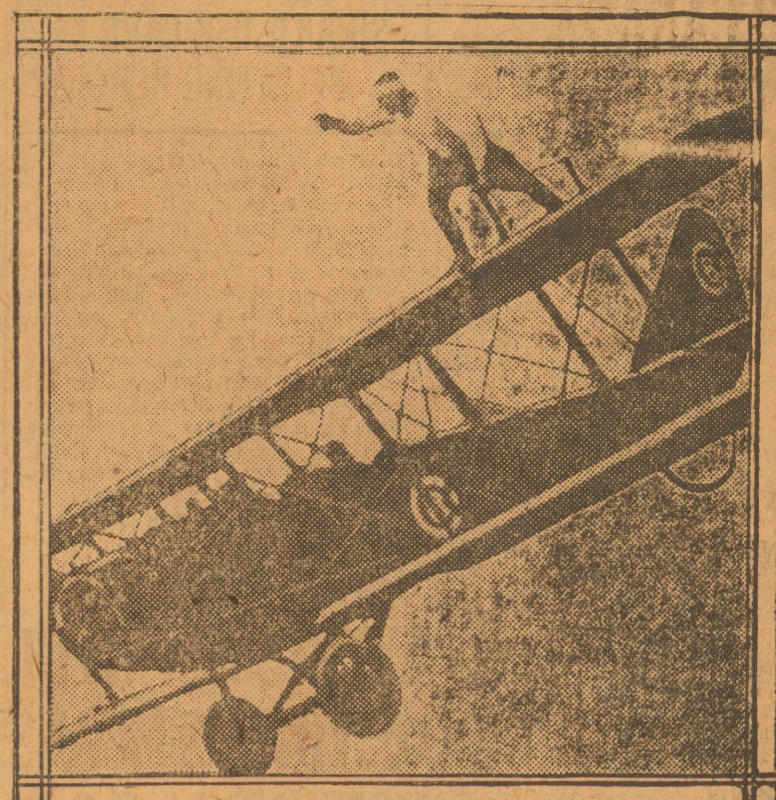

The warden's suggestion was based on his statement that the convict outran him and a posse of officers for a distance of twenty-five miles.

"That negro is the fastest runner I ever saw—if he had entered the Olympic games he would have been an easy winner," remarked Warden Collier to the court.

Asked by the judge what caused him to escape, Morgan replied:

"The guard had to lay down his gun for a moment, and I thought it was my chance."

He was given an additional six months for his break. He already was serving a term of eighteen months.

SPEAKER GOES TO CANADA ON FISHING TRIP

By Associated Press
 CLEVELAND, Oct. 14.—Members of the championship Cleveland baseball team began to disband today and by night most of them will be enroute to their homes in various parts of the country. Manager Tris Speaker will return to Texas after a week's fishing trip in Canada with Lee Nunamaker and other friends. Nunamaker will rejoin Speaker later in Hubbard City, Texas, and the two will hunt and fish for several weeks this fall on the Gulf coast.

WOMEN SHOW GREATER INTEREST IN BASEBALL

By Associated Press
 ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 14.—The growing interest which women are taking in baseball is evidenced by attendance figures for thirteen "ladies' day" games here during the past season, which have just been made public by officials of the American league club.

In all, 11,896 women attended on the days when their only entry fee was the ten cents war tax. In April, for two games, the total was 377; May, two, 621; and in June, August and September, with three games each, the respective attendance was 2,820, 2,849 and 5,219.

Prior to the war, officials say, the average attendance was never more than 300.

It is also noticeable, officials add, that many women now do their own scoring—a phase of the game to which they formerly paid little attention.

'BIG TEN' CHAMPS HAVE WEAK LINE THIS YEAR

By Associated Press
 URBANA, Ill., Oct. 14.—Development of the line has proved to date a big problem of the 1920 football season. Followers of the team regard the back field as far stronger than the university had last year, but have felt that this advantage is offset to some extent by the weakness in the line.

Jack Watson, captain of the 1915 team and rated as one of the best linemen who ever wore the orange and blue, is helping with the line candidates, as is Lundgren and Belting, both former varsity players. Watson was coach of the Utah Agricultural college team, 1917 champions of the Pacific Coast conference. He is taking almost complete charge of the forwards.

CERTIFICATE OF MERIT NEW AWARD TO ATHLETES AT TEXAS UNIVERSITY

Special to The Times.
 AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—Another feature has been added by the athletic council of the University of Texas to its system of athletic awards. This new feature is a certificate to be awarded to each "T" man upon his completion of his athletic career. The certificate has spaces for the complete record of the athlete, the sports in and the seasons during which he participated, and any special honors he may have attained. Each certificate will bear the signatures of the president of the university, the chairman of the athletic council and the director of athletics.

Under the plan now in operation wool sweaters are awarded to those making a letter in any major sport for the first time. Football players will receive a white coat sweater, baseball players a gray "V"-neck sweater and track men a white "V"-neck sweater. All sweaters bear the orange letters. Those making a letter in any major sport for a second time receive the beautiful Longhorn fob. Upon winning a third letter in any major sport the athlete receives another wool sweater with service stripes on the left sleeve. He also receives an extra bar to be worn on the Longhorn fob. Members of the teams winning a conference championship are given a special award.

SUSPENDED SOX HUNG AROUND A WHILE, AFTER EXPOSE, SAYS BIB FOLK

Special to The Times.
 AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—"We didn't know anything about the scandal before we saw it in the papers," said "Bib" Folk, member of the Chicago White Sox who has just returned to resume his work in the college of engineering of the University of Texas, when he was questioned about the baseball fraud in last year's world's series. "Those fellows were around the club house for a few days and then disappeared. We kept up our end of the work and even though St. Louis was down on us when we played the last game of the season there, they were our friends before we left. We showed them that all of us were not that kind of players."

"I think that this investigation which is going on now will throw light upon some more fraud. But I do not think that it will cause people to lose interest in the national pastime. I believe that it will increase the interest if some of the crooked work is uncovered. Fellows expecting to go into baseball will have a better chance after things are cleaned up. Professional baseball will start on a better standard after this investigation is over. It is a great game and there are lots of chances for the non-professional aspirant."

ARMY AVIATORS 'BLOWN FROM PLANE' IN LATEST PARACHUTE 'JUMP;' STARTLING BUT SAFER

International News Service.
 SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 14.—A safe jump with a parachute from an airplane speeding at seventy-five miles an hour has long been one of the problems of aviation which now bids fair to be solved.

No longer will the parachute jumper leap from the rear cockpit of the speeding plane and drop through space until his parachute finally opens. Army fliers at Kelly Field, near this city, have just tried a new parachute jump and pronounced it far superior to jumping from the cockpit. They do not "jump" in fact, but are literally blown or yanked off the top wing of the airplane by the opening parachute.

Sergeants Kemensky and Shoemaker, of the Air Service Mechanics school, are the ones who have successfully tried the new style of jumping. They used the regulation army parachute pack, but fastened it in front. They clung to the top of the upper wings lying prone, and at a signal from the pilot the plane pulled the ring of the rip-cord of the parachute pack. This opened the pack and released a small parachute, known as the pilot chute. It opens quickly and pulls the main parachute out of the pack. When the main parachute starts to "break out," or fill, its resistance to the air yanks the parachute jumper from the wing.

Takes Back Dive.
 He literally takes a back dive and swings clear of the plane with none of the terrifying drop experienced when jumping from the cockpit of the plane. By this new method he merely remains flat on the top wing until the opening parachute yanks him from his perch and then, after a few violent swings, he descends easily.

Old Method Dangerous.
 Army aviators say the new method is much safer than the old. Under the old method the jumper, with his pack, leaped into space from the cockpit of the plane. Down he dropped like a plummet. He counted two after jumping, thus allowing two seconds to be clear of the plane and then pulled on the ring of the pack to open it. After it had opened he still fell, descending at ever increasing speed until the pilot chute had filled out the main chute, and that had begun to fill. There was always danger of pulling the ring too soon and having the parachute catch in the tail rigging of the plane. At other times the jumper had difficulty in pulling the ring and opening the pack while he was shooting down through space. There were times when the pack opened slowly and the chute was slow in filling. This oftentimes meant a sheer drop through space of 2,000 feet before the parachute checked the descent and the jumper realized that he was safe, for the present at least.

Under the new method the jumpers are far out on the wings next the ailerons, there is no danger of the chute fouling with the tail of the plane. They pull the ring and cling to their perch until the chute is out of the pack and, streaking in the air behind them, is filling with air. Then they feel a tug at the harness about them, are picked up bodily from the wing and swing behind the wing in a huge arc. In a few seconds they are sailing slowly earthward with the parachute fully opened. The new method will soon be adopted by parachute jumpers at all of the army aviation stations and also by exhibition jumpers as well, for it is far safer than the old terrifying jump from the cockpit.

TEXAS LEAGUE WILL SEEK HIGHER CLASSIFICATION

FORT WORTH, Oct. 14.—President Walter Morris of the Texas baseball league will seek a higher classification for his circuit at the forthcoming meeting of the minors at Kansas City. The fight may be based on claims that Texas clubs have a population of a million people and that the Texas League baseball is faster than that of the Southern, as shown by the defeat of Little Rock by Fort Worth in the post-season series.

The United States made loans to the allied governments of $12,000,000,000 during the world war.

SOVIET END SIGHTED

It is written in the Ten Commandments, "Thou shalt not steal," and all over human history it is written, "Thou shalt not keep on stealing."

And the Commandment, which is also the law of life, applies to governments, nations and peoples even as it applies to individuals. It is no more to be escaped by Russian communism than by Prussian militarism, by Lenin and Trotsky than by Attila the Hun, or Napoleon.

Communism in Russia is collapsing because, though professing to be a form of social and economic justice, it is in reality based upon robbery—the robbery of the honest worker of the fruits of his labor as well as the robbery of the aristocrats of the fruits of their pillage.

On the surface Sovietism seems a device for despoiling the rich, but in substance it is a method of robbing all that labor honestly in order to equalize the reward for all that do less than their share.

No nation, not even the richest, could live for a year by confiscating the wealth of the wealthy. Stocks and bonds, mansions and diamonds will not feed a people that refuses to work.

A few months were sufficient for the Soviet to confiscate the last visible rouble of Russian nobility, and now it has come down to burning the wooden shoes of the poor in order to keep itself warm; to taking all but the last rag from the back of the poorest peasant.

The harvest has failed and winter is advancing.

Winter, the worst of Russian enemies, now threatens to complete the work of Wrangel in the south and of the Poles in the northeast. But the Soviet was doomed neither by winter, Wrangel nor the Poles—it was doomed from within and from the day of the Commandment, "Thou shalt not steal."

Radicals will write its story and vainly attempt to prove that communism failed only because of external aggression but in the pages of history it will be recorded merely as another illustration of the eternal truth: "Thou shalt not keep on stealing."—San Francisco Bulletin.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

The Eternal Boy. Four little hoodlums they were—full of life, soiled of countenance, pockets bulging mysteriously—and they boarded a subway local in which the Woman was proceeding down town.

They broke ranks and sat two on each side of the train facing one another. Then the contents of the pockets came out—heads of cat-o-nine tails—and the boys started to pelt them at one another. It was a lively barrage. Finally one pot could stand the strain any longer and it burst open, revealing to the astonished city archers much fluffly white fuzz. The current from an electric fan carried it aloft and the first wisps released found their way to the immaculate groomed young man in a dark blue suit who had patiently been trying to read his newspaper during the early stages of the riot.

He furiously demanded that they "cut it out." The youngsters snickered. Now that they realized the possibilities of their game, they broke the cat-o-nine tails in to bits. The revolving fans and the open windows of the train did the rest. No stage snowstorm could have been more effective. Passengers began to leave for adjoining cars as if there were a case of smallpox on board. The Woman, already badly covered, decided to see it through. At the next station the conductor escorted the offenders. He was gruff and positive. The boys left riotously, but as a parting salute, blew a handful of fuzz in through one of the windows.

It was then that the conductor sat down beside the Woman, the only passenger left in the car. His eyes were twinkling. "They didn't have no electric fans when I was a kid," he confided. "But," slapping his knee reminiscently, "we did have the cat-o-nine tails and milkweed every fall. Tee hee!"

Breaking It Gently. The Woman was spending a quiet week end in Suburbia with old friends. She and her Hostess sat cozily by a tiny wood fire which the cool evening justified, awaiting the arrival of the Hostess' two sisters who were due from the city to join the party, and the kindly, scholarly absentminded Host was, as usual, immersed in books in his library across the hall.

"We love Suburbia, but marketing is ather a problem," confessed the Hostess. "I wrote Hattie and Anna to bring us out one sort of seafood for Sunday supper and I hope they won't forget it. John thinks it a breach of hospitality to ask such favors of a guest, even a sister guest, so I didn't mention it to him."

Just at that juncture John came to the door, looking perturbed. "They have just telephoned you a wire from Sister Anna," he said to his wife. "You must not be anxious, dear, for I'm sure that whatever new fangled thing Hattie has will be only a slight illness and that both the dear girls will be able to come out soon. I wrote it down as I took it from the operator—and, adjusting his glasses, he read aloud: "I have been detained. Sister Hattie has started with the scallops. Some Style."

Although educated in America, the ice man hails from sunny Italy. His eyes are large and black, fringe dwith long, curling lashes and has seen eighteen summers and owns his own wagon.

After heaving fifty pounds into the ice box he rested from his labors, wiping the sweat from his brow with the sleeve of his silk shirt.

"Some life!" he remarked genially, "and not much in it at that. Could you guess what I make a week in this back-breaking business?" Considering his youth and station, the Suburban Lady thought she was liberal when she suggested $25. "Twenty-five a week? Golly!" He covered with mingled derision. "And silk shirts $15 each and silk socks $3.95 a pair!! And, say, what about my girl's ice cream sodas, 28 cents each! Ed cut some swell figure on Sundays on $25 a week. But do you think I'm going to be an ice man all my life? Not much, I'm working out a scheme right now to net a million, and then a house on Fifth avenue for little me and a wife who can play the piano. Say, I'll make Ponzi look like an infant." And he swung down the garden path and onto his wagon carolling a snatch from "Lucia."

TINKER BOB

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

RED HEAD AND HIS MATE. for if we waited till tomorrow a storm would overtake us and we would be swept away into the great ocean and be lost."

"The Moon Knows All About It." Then Red Head pecked some more. "Well, what does Mr. Moon know about it anyway?" asked the King.

"The Moon knows all about it, and if we don't listen to the words of Mr. Moon we are sure to be lost. He tells us when it will be fair weather and when to fly by night and when to fly by day. But I must keep on pecking for I must find my mate before sun-down or we cannot leave till the storm is over. And then the nights will be dark, for Mr. Moon goes on a vacation every month and when the storm is over will be just the time for his vacation to begin."

So Red Head went to pecking for all he was worth, and the sound was carried to the uttermost parts of the Forest. But do one care.

"What will you do if she never comes to answer your call?" asked Tinker Bob as he watched the head of Mr. Woodpecker bob up and down while he pecked the tree.

"Oh King, she will come if she is in the Forest and alive."

"But what if she has gone on her way to the land of the South?"

"Oh King of the Forest, she would not do such a thing as that. She would not leave me here alone in the Forest."

"Thief, thief," came the familiar sound ringing through the trees, and Jerry the Jay came swiftly through the air.

"Come," said he, "there's a prisoner held on the river bank," and the King hurried away.

Tomorrow—Red Head's Mate. President Wilson is a member of the American Legion.

RIPPLING RHYMES

YEARS AND WISDOM. I've lived about a hundred years, and as I lived I looked around; and in the course of time, my dears, some chunks of wisdom, I have found.

I've found that kindness always pays; it smoothes the path we have to tread, and takes much anguish from our days, and lulls us when we go to bed. Speak kindly of the man next door; he'll hear the unkind things you've said, and they may make his spirit sore, so he will come and punch your head. Speak kindly of the grocer's clerk, who stung you when you bought some rice; he's wearied by his grinding work, and so got balled up on the price. Speak kindly of all men who pass; they need kind words to make them glad; they're trying hard to cut their grass, and hands are tired and hearts are sad.

My life has been a joyride great, because I hate no man on earth, and in the cheapest kind of skate, I try to find some sign of worth. I have about a million friends, who smile upon me when we meet, and when my little journey ends, my funeral will be a treat. The boys will boost me on that day, not for the silly rhymes I grind, nor for my wreath of fragrant hay, but for the fact that I was kind.

President Wilson is a member of the American Legion.

San Francisco Lifted the Lid for Democrats; 'Good Time Had by All'

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—With city and federal officials admitting they connived to supply Democratic national convention delegates with forty barrels of whiskey and gin, in violation of the prohibition law, the federal prohibition situation in San Francisco has reached sensational proportions.

An unnamed Democratic politician, high in the councils of the government at Washington, gave orders for the "lifting of the lid" during the Democratic convention here, and caused large quantities of liquor, illegally withdrawn from bonded warehouses, to be distributed to the delegates and their friends, it was revealed by John S. Dunningan, clerk of the board of supervisors, who supervised the liquor distribution.

Refuses Name of "Tiler."
In explaining his part in the transaction today Dunningan declined to name the "high official" who had approached him before or during the convention and told him it would be "all right" to remove liquor from the bonded warehouses for use by the delegates.

Dunningan said he did not himself secure the permit for withdrawal of the liquor. The requisition for the liquor, signed by Dr. William C. Hassler, city health officer, as purchasing agent for the San Francisco hospital, was for an unnamed amount.

From time to time Dunningan withdrew liquor in various amounts on presentation of the certificate and saw that it was properly delivered.

The Lid Was Off.
Acting Mayor Ralph McLean, commenting on the disclosures of the distribution of liquor to the delegates, today said the story amused him.

"Everybody knew it," he said, "the roof of the house was off and San Francisco was entertaining in the San Francisco-know-how way. There was no prohibition officer in town, Mrs. Annett Adams, who was then United States district attorney, was away. The lid was off. And as a result newspapers all over the country praised San Francisco's hospital."

"Attorney General Palmer was here, I don't know whether he got any of the booze or not, but there was plenty if he had wanted it."

Dr. Hassler readily admitted signing the permit for the withdrawal of the liquor. He said:

"If there is any explaining to do in this matter, let the others do it. I am not explaining."

The forty barrels were distributed among the headquarters of the Democratic national committee, Cox, Palmer, McAdoo, Tammany, and the lesser candidates, according to report.

It consists of the brief history of the "Development of Child Study," of a thorough study of infancy and the growth and development of the baby from month to month physically and mentally; then follows a study of childhood which considers the mental capacities and interests of children at different ages and requires the actual presence of children in the laboratory. For this laboratory observation, and experimentation, the children of the kindergarten of the college are used. Child instincts, capacities and interests are fully gone into, as are also heredity, environment, and subnormal and defective children and the moral and religious nature of the children.

DUTCH RELAX RULES IN ORDER TO INCREASE TOURIST BUSINESS

By Associated Press.
THE HAGUE, Oct. 14.—Holland has lifted a number of travel restrictions upon foreign visitors who have heretofore been subjected to considerable difficulties and annoyances. The new regulations do away with the former compulsory police registration in respect of American, British, French, Italian and other tourists from Western Europe, but it is still imposed upon Germans, Russians and others from western countries, owing to the fear of bolshevist infection.

As a result of the former stringent rules, Holland has had very little tourist traffic this summer.

EXTENDED PAVEMENTS GIVE HOME BUYERS A CHANCE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 14.—The Home and Housing association which was formed here last year by civic organizations to finance the construction of residences and relieve the shortage now has more than 100 houses completed or under construction.

Labor troubles will cause the association to fall behind on the program which called for the erection of 200 homes this year, it was said.

The buildings are thoroughly modern, and sell from $5,500 to $8,000. Purchasers are required to make an initial payment of 10 per cent of the cost of the houses, and the balance is spread out over a period of 10 to 12 years.

C. I. A. GIRLS STUDY ART OF REARING BABIES

DENTON, Texas, Oct. 14.—The College of Industrial Arts is offering a unique course of study under the title "Child Study," which is not offered in any other college or university in the country.

The course consists of lectures, library readings, and psychological laboratory work, and is intended to fit the young woman for being the mistress of a home and the mother of a family.

OIL MEN WILL MEET OCT. 23, WICHITA FALLS

Texas-Louisiana Division of Mid-Continent Association Holds Banquet.

The Texas-Louisiana division of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association has mailed to its members an invitation to attend the second annual banquet of the association, to be held at the Wichita Club, Wichita Falls, Texas, on Saturday evening, Oct. 23.

The annual meeting of the membership will be held at 4 p. m., in the district court room of the county court house at Wichita Falls. A report will be made to the membership at that time on the activities of the association in the interest of the oil industry in Texas and Louisiana and at the same time discuss problems that will confront the industry the coming twelve months.

Some very important matters will be discussed and a new executive committee will be elected. An excellent program is now being prepared which will include addresses by several prominent speakers.

The Wichita Falls membership is making elaborate plans to take care of the crowd that will be present and promise a royal time.

Those desiring to visit any of the adjacent fields such as Burk Burnett, Northwest Extension, Electra, Petrolia or K-M-A, need only to make their wants known to the chairman, or any member of the entertainment committee, and they will be very glad to provide cars to make the trip.

An effort is now being made to obtain the motion picture entitled "The Story of Petroleum," which was shown at the Independent Oil Men's association at Denver, Colo. at its annual meeting. This is a four-reel motion picture film telling the complete story of petroleum including prospecting, production, refining, distribution and its numerous uses. It was made by the bureau of mines in cooperation with the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation.

Set out below is a schedule of the trains. Excellent connections can be made and every line running into Wichita Falls carries Pullmans.

Fort Worth & Denver.

Leave Fort Worth 8:50 a. m. Arrive Wichita Falls, 12:55 p. m. Leave Fort Worth 10 a. m. Arrive Wichita Falls 2 p. m.

Leave Fort Worth Friday 10:25 p. m. Arrive Wichita Falls Saturday 2:50 a. m. Pullmans are set out at Wichita Falls and you may sleep until a. m.

M. K. & T. Leave Dallas 10:30 p. m. Arrive Wichita Falls 6:30 a. m.

Pullmans are set out there and you may sleep until 7 a. m.

Inasmuch as a larger crowd is expected at Wichita Falls than the present Pullmans will accommodate, members are to advise the secretary, Howard Bennette, P. O. Drawer 1507, Dallas, by Oct. 19, of Pullman reservations so that additional Pullman equipment may be secured.

Likewise members should advise by Oct. 19, whether or not they expect to attend the annual banquet as it is absolutely necessary to know in advance the number, so that ample provision may be made for you.

The banquet is informal and no charge of any kind will be made.

Ancient Superstitions. Superstition plays a large part in the life of the Gypsy. One of the many ancient customs which still survive among the women is to beat themselves frightfully if one of their children dies. They believe that death has been caused by an evil spirit having entered the body of the child as well as of the mother and that if they chastise themselves the spirit will depart.

One Rumanian Gypsy whom an American relief worker visited was apparently about to die of pneumonia. The doctor found numerous bruises all over her chest.

BUCHARIEST, Rumania, Oct. 14.—Of the dozens of different peoples in Rumania, none is more picturesque than the Gypsies. Like their prototype in America, they rove the country in great caravans, earning stray pennies by begging, dancing and playing and telling fortunes.

The high cost of living which has drawn tight the strings of every purse has brought double hardships to these wanderers. No matter how well they play their violins, no matter what good fortune they see in the stars for those about them, they find it hard to coax pennies from the empty pockets of the war-oppressed Rumanian people. Many of them have starved to death.

Rock Salt Bed 800 Feet Thick Found at Pecos

PECOS, Texas, Oct. 14.—After drilling through 800 feet of rock salt formation the drill of the Torah Bell Oil Co. has at last reached another formation, a hard lime rock. The rock salt formation is reported to be one of the deepest found in any part of the world. It was originally struck at 800 feet and continued in an almost solid mass to 1,630 feet. Analysis of this formation shows it to contain rock salt in commercial quantity and a good content of potash. Arrangements to continue the well until oil is struck or to more than 3,000 feet have been completed.

Another heavy flow of artesian water has been struck by the Arthur Pitts Oil Company of Texas. This flow is in the Valley well, struck at 1,357 feet, and exceeds the flow from the River well of the same company. Lakes have formed about both wells, and the surplus water is diverted into the River as the irrigation ditches of the country to the east of Pecos.

PICTURESQUE TOUCH GIVEN RUMANIAN LIFE BY WANDERING GYPSIES

BUCHARIEST, Rumania, Oct. 14.—Of the dozens of different peoples in Rumania, none is more picturesque than the Gypsies. Like their prototype in America, they rove the country in great caravans, earning stray pennies by begging, dancing and playing and telling fortunes.

In the cities they sometimes earn their "bread and unions" by shining shoes, peddling lemonade or acting as porters.

The high cost of living which has drawn tight the strings of every purse has brought double hardships to these wanderers. No matter how well they play their violins, no matter what good fortune they see in the stars for those about them, they find it hard to coax pennies from the empty pockets of the war-oppressed Rumanian people. Many of them have starved to death.

Among the Gypsy women and girls are to be found some striking types of beauty. Dark of complexion and hair, with shining long lashed eyes, they are a delight to look upon. They have not yet acquired the art of using cosmetics as their sisters in the United States do.

Ancient Superstitions. Superstition plays a large part in the life of the Gypsy. One of the many ancient customs which still survive among the women is to beat themselves frightfully if one of their children dies. They believe that death has been caused by an evil spirit having entered the body of the child as well as of the mother and that if they chastise themselves the spirit will depart.

One Rumanian Gypsy whom an American relief worker visited was apparently about to die of pneumonia. The doctor found numerous bruises all over her chest.

MEXICAN LABORERS DESERT, CAUSE HEAVY LOSS TO FARMERS

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Oct. 14.—Many farmers in this district of Texas are facing forfeiture of bonds given when employing Mexican contract labor and other financial loss due to desertion of the Mexicans, according to reports received here. Mexicans have been employed by the hundreds under an agreement between Texas farmers and Mexican officials, the latter establishing a Mexican labor bureau at Nuevo Laredo, Mex. In employing the laborers farmers agreed to return the men to the international boundary at the end of the term of their employment and gave bond for faithful performance of their part of the agreement. In the event the laborer jumped his contract the government agreed to undertake his capture but all expenses must be borne by the farmer.

"DATE" IS DEFINED BY MISSOURI "U" CO-EDS International News Service.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 14.—If a girl meets a young man and has a soda and a chat, it isn't a "date," but if she spends more than half an hour in his company after 7 p. m. that is a "date." This is the edict laid down by girl students of the University of Missouri, in mass assembly, to establish rules for the social conduct during the present year. Unanimously agreed that "mere man" couldn't interfere with their search for knowledge, the fair co-eds also resolved to confine their "dates" to four a week and to insist on their male callers leaving before 10:30 p. m., except on Friday and Saturday evenings, or the evenings preceding a school holiday. They also agreed to attend dances only on Friday and Saturday evenings or holiday eves.

111 N. AUSTIN ST. RANGER, TEXAS

School Books and Hamburgers Stock of Student-Worker

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 14.—Unusual indeed is the method used by W. S. Gatewood of Canyon, to pay his expenses at the University of Texas. Gatewood came to Austin in the fall of 1919, and within a few days procured from the downtown district a "War Savings Bank" used in war time, had it moved to a location directly opposite the campus of the University, and opened a second-hand book store. As the season progressed, he added school supplies and note books. Still later, as the cold weather created a demand for warm lunches, he installed a gas stove and began to dispense hamburgers, to be accompanied by either soda water or milk according to the taste of the customer. Candy, gum, mints and fruit were added, and finally hot chocolate, in response to the demand from hungry students.

During the present school year Mr. Gatewood has sold already more than $3,800 worth of books, according to his statements. This represents a total saving to the student body of $1,250, he says. In addition he has on hand now about $2,000 worth of books which he expects to dispose of later in the year.

"I have made more money with this small business in the year that I have owned it than I made in four years of teaching school, and at the same time have been able to attend the University," said Mr. Gatewood.

Mr. Gatewood employs several part time assistants, students with one exception, and thus has time for his University work.
