Frankell Merchant Shot Dead

FAMILY QUARREL BELIEVED

Brother-in-Law Brings Man to Hospital, Then Surrenders.

H. H. Simmons, merchant of Frankell, is dead in a Ranger morgue as the result of a family feud. He was shot five times last night by his brother-in-law, C. C. McGill, according to McGill's statement. Shortly after the shooting McGill placed the wounded man on a train and brought him to the Ranger hospital, where he died a few hours later. After seeing that his brother-in-law had proper medical attention, McGill, in company with W. H. Edmonson, hunted up Deputy Sheriff John Barnes and surrendered himself and the weapon with which he said he did the shooting.

In a statement made this morning to a Times reporter, McGill said that he had had trouble with Simmons for several years and that last night the dead man threatened to whip him, and that during the quarrel they both made a dash for the pistol, a Colt's .32 caliber automatic, which was lying on the bed of a back room of the store. McGill declared that he reached the revolver first and pointed it at Simmons with the threat that if he did not stop he would be killed, and Simmons continued to crowd him until he fired in self defense.

Five Shots Hit.

Five bullets entered into the body of the dead man. Two in the abdomen, one in the right arm, one in the left leg and one at the pit of the right arm. None of the missiles passed through his body. Simmons was a large man, weighing perhaps 200 pounds and was six feet tall. The man who did the shooting is small of stature and would not weigh more than 140 pounds. On information secured from Frankell, it is said that the deceased was known as a bad man; also that the men were partners in the store where the killing occurred. Without committing him to jail, Officer Barnes held the prisoner until he was taken into custody today by officials of Stephens county. Both the men have people living at Sipe Springs and De Leon, who have been notified of the death of Simmons. Until funeral arrangements are made the Milford Undertaking company will hold the body.

SIX PERSONS DIE IN TRAIN WRECK AT ERIE

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 20.—Six persons are known to have been killed and at least fifteen injured when the Chicago-Boston limited on the New York Central line sideswiped the Buffalo-Cleveland train, westbound, at the West End station here today. Four bodies taken from the wreck were those of women.

'Twas Woman Who Wrote OF NEW LEAGUE PLAN

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Letters from France received by Senator Joseph France of Maryland, proposing a change in the organization of the present League of Nations, were from a woman and not a man, the Senator said today. The proposal dealt chiefly with the desirability of calling an "international convention of the friends of peace," he said. Senator France, however, said the offer was very much the same as that made to Senator Harding, and although the writer said she believed she was expressing the views of the French people, the senator said the government of France was in no way connected with the affair.

LEON WILSON ASKS JUDGE HILL FOR INJUNCTION, ALLEGING COPS INTERFERE WITH LEGAL BUSINESS

Judge Hill's Letter:

"There was presented to me at noon today an application for a writ restraining you, as officers, from closing a cabaret in your city.

"The attorneys represented to me orally (not in the petition) that such action would be agreeable with you and would not be resisted. In the exercise of caution, I refused to grant the relief prayed for because I do not desire to interfere with officers in the discharge of their duty. But I did issue a notice to you to appear if you so desired and show cause why the writ of injunction should not issue.

"On the face of the sworn petition it would appear that he would be entitled to his prayer.

"Please advise what you desire in the premises.

"E. A. HILL, Judge of the Eighty-eighth Judicial District."

"The injunction will be resisted to the last ditch."

MAYOR M. H. HAGAMAN, M. R. NEWNHAM, R. D. LINCOLN.

(Commissioners Davenport and Deffebach could not be located.)

COMMERCE AND CYPRESS NEXT PAVING STEP

Will Make "Loop" and Also Establish Weather-Proof Outlet to North.

City commissioners at their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon engaged in an informal discussion of the paving program, with particular reference to the work north of Main street.

The consensus of opinion was that a concrete dike should be built across the creek on Marston street, that the extension of the north Commerce street paving to Cypress street and the paving of Cypress with bitulithic would care for the necessary development in this section.

This scheme will give a loop drive in the northern part of town, motorists being able to go out Commerce street and return by Austin without leaving the pavement. It also was pointed out, in the argument as to whether Rusk or Commerce should first be paved through to Cypress, that if Rusk street were first paved, it would entail construction of a dip similar to the one on Austin street, which also would not be negotiable to vehicles during the high water caused by heavy rains whereas, the creek is already bridged on Commerce street. By the method adopted traffic from the north will be able to enter the downtown district regardless of weather conditions.

This program will give one outlet to the north in all kinds of weather, and three under normal conditions—Marston street, Austin street and Commerce—and it was felt that the loop should be built first. Rusk street will be paved, however, between Walnut and Cherry.

Routing of the Bankhead highway through the city is still undetermined. Mayor Hagaman stated that the county authorities favored it running out South Commerce street. The commission appeared to favor a Marston street outlet. County engineers were at work yesterday selecting feasible routes southward.

MOTORMAN'S MURDER APPROACHED FROM TWO ANGLES AT FT. WORTH

SPECIAL LEASED WIRE. FORT WORTH, Oct. 20.—The sheriff's department and the police have different theories as to the circumstances under which James E. Acord, motorman, met his death Sunday night at a lonely spot near the end of the Arlington street car line.

The police detectives believe that Acord was shot through jealousy by some unknown assailant, and are working on the case from this angle. A woman in the case has been discovered, they say.

The sheriff's department does not credit the jealousy theory, but says that the shot that killed the dead motorman was fired while the car was moving at a fast rate of speed. They believe supports the argument that the gun was fired by some angry passenger who was passed up by the car, and that McCord being hit was a matter of luck. Other cars have been fired upon, they say, by residents who were left by speeding cars.

NO REDUCTION IN TAXES PROBABLE FOR YEARS, SAYS TREASURY HEAD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Government expenditures of $4,000,000,000 during the next fiscal year were forecast by Secretary of the Treasury Houston in an address today before the convention of the American Bankers' association, in session here. The secretary covered a wide range of the financial and economic problems of the nation.

Mr. Houston outlined the treasury's program in handling the war debt liquidation, which he said must go steadily on in order that the nation's financial redemption would be accomplished without disturbance to national life. He appealed for a strict economy not only in our expenditures for federal, state and municipal government, but also for thrift on the part of the people. The secretary added that the war debt liquidation necessitated the maintenance of taxation "after this fiscal year on a level of not less than $4,000,000,000 annually."

McSWINEY SUFFERS DELIRIUM

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Lord Mayor McSwiney suffered a serious attack of extreme delirium on the sixty-ninth day of his hunger strike.

CHINESE MINE DISASTER KILLS FOUR HUNDRED

PEKING, Oct. 20.—An explosion and fire at the Long Change coal mine, in Shidai-Li province killed more than 400 Chinese laborers last Thursday, according to news received here today. Official figures of the mining company place the number of dead at 422.

What's This? Alexander Not Dead?

(Some Papers Must Have Exaggerated.)

By Associated Press. ATHENS, Oct. 20.—King Alexander passed a better night, with a slight improvement noted, it was announced here today. The condition of long congestion in the wound caused by the bite of the monkey is improving, but examination of liquid extracted from the king's lungs showed the presence of pneumonia germs.

COAL STRIKE SETTLEMENT MUST BE FINAL

—LLOYD GEORGE
Negotiations Under Way Promise Speedy Solution in Britain

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Negotiations which might settle the strike of British miners are today believed to be assured. Government officials and labor leaders, who outlined their positions before the opening session of Parliament, have shown a desire to reach an understanding.

The belief is general today that proposals are in preparation by both sides. Premier Lloyd George has declared he is ready to enter into negotiations but has laid emphasis on the fact that the government wants a final settlement of the differences which brought about a cessation of work last Saturday.

LANDLORDS—BEWARE!

By Associated Press. MEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 20.—As proper punishment for profiteering landlords a six months' jail sentence and $700 fine were advocated for those found guilty of unfair dealings with tenants by Wilbur Drew president of the Medford Hillside and South Medford Tenants' league at a meeting of that organization.

Morphine Shot Brings Young Men Near to Death; Man Held for Peddling Dope

Death was very near to R. C. Smith, 20 years old, and Dick Tolan, 23 years old, as they lay in acute agony last night in the police station as the result of taking their first injection of morphine, and the price was only $1 for them both. They agreed to this arrangement. (Just how Smith lost his money and his coat he does not know. Upon returning to town they stumbled upon Patrolmen Ingram and Daniels, who carried them to the police station and summoned medical aid. This quick action is probably all that saved their lives.

Both Suffering. This morning both men were in a weakened condition as a result of the injection and both were suffering from the sickening effect of the drug.

The police department has an accurate description of the other man who helped administer the drug and hope to have him in custody before the day has passed.

FUEL OIL COST RAISES FORT WORTH CAR FARES

SPECIAL LEASED WIRE. FORT WORTH, Oct. 20.—Street car fares will be raised to seven cents on Friday. The fare at present is six cents, which was a raise of one cent by permission of the city commission several months ago. When the increase to six cents was allowed the street car company said that it might have to ask for the 7-cent rate.

One of the reasons offered by the company for asking the additional raise is that fuel oil now costs $3.50 a barrel, which only cost them 90 cents under a contract which has recently expired.

NO CLEW TO KIDNAPING OF SHERIFF'S DAUGHTER

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES. FORT WORTH, Oct. 20.—Several suspects have been examined in connection with the kidnaping of Sheriff Clark's daughter Monday. No arrest has been made.

As a result of the episode, Sheriff Clark has declared relentless war on all gambling and bootleggers.

Court Move Follows Closing of Cabarets and Arrest of Entertainers; City Will Fight Case.

E. A. Hill, district judge, has issued an order to the mayor, the city commissioners and the chief of police of Ranger to come into his court tomorrow and show cause why a permanent injunction should not be granted restraining them from interfering with the business of the Main Street cabaret.

The fiat is directed to George T. Cooper, chief of police; Mayor M. H. Hagaman and Commissioners A. Davenport, T. C. Deffebach, M. R. Newnham and R. D. Lincoln. It sets forth that Leon D. Wilson appeared before the court and alleged that about one month ago, at a cost of $4,000, he rented and remodeled a building on the Main street of Ranger, the front being used by the plaintiff for a cold drink stand and the back as a cabaret; the place being known as the Main Street cabaret; that said cabaret is being used as a place of entertainment and not for any unlawful purpose, and that defendants, who are officers of the city of Ranger, have closed plaintiff's place without just cause, thereby denying the plaintiff his revenue therefrom and causing plaintiff irreparable damage and he has not remedy at law for such injuries.

The prayer is that the defendants be enjoined from closing and interfering with plaintiff in the possession and use of said building as a cabaret and for costs and general relief.

The petition was presented to Judge Hill by Mays & Mays, attorneys for Wilson, who advised the judge that the city officers of Ranger were willing to open the place or allow Wilson to open it provided the judge would grant the injunction. The writ was refused but the court set Oct. 21 as the day when the hearing will be held.

Judge Hill explained that upon the face of the petition it might appear that the cabaret is being conducted in a perfectly lawful and decent manner and that if this was true the allegations of the petition would justify an injunction.

Closed Last Week. The petition praying for the writ has arisen from the action of George T. Cooper in closing all cabarets several days ago. Chief Cooper was acting at the direction of the commission. Monday night the Main street place was re-opened and the police arrested seven girls who were employed there and charged them with vagrancy. The girls arrested made appearance bonds and their trials are set for this week. Following this action the injunction was asked for yesterday.

The letter at the head of this column was received in the mayor's office from Judge Hill, and Mayor Hagaman flatly denied the statement wherein the writer says that attorneys represented that the injunction would not be resisted. Instead, he declared, the prayer would be fought to the last ditch. This statement was also the sentiments of Commissioners Newnham and Lincoln.

CLAIM BROKER'S MISTAKE CAUSED WHEAT'S BREAK

Trade Commission Opens Probe of Chicago Board of Trade's Activities.

By Associated Press. CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—The federal trade commission today began an investigation into operations on the Chicago board of trade to determine the cause of the recent depression in wheat prices. The hearing was caused by complaints of Governor Allen of Kansas that the slump was caused by speculators. He declares that speculators forced the price of wheat down six cents in one day and a day later attempted to begin the "farmers' boycott" on selling.

This program will give one outlet to the north in all kinds of weather, and three under normal conditions—Marston street, Austin street and Commerce—and it was felt that the loop should be built first. Rusk street will be paved, however, between Walnut and Cherry.

SLUMP IN WHEAT LAID TO BROKER'S MISTAKE

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—The great drop in wheat that brought the cry of manipulation from the farmers' organizations of four states, was largely caused by a green young trader, recently employed in the pit by the Rosenbaum Grain company, one of the largest handlers of grain. Its order to this trader was to sell 100,000 bushels of December wheat. He had instead, "sell 1,000,000 bushels of December wheat."

He sold and sold and kept selling. The price broke from $1.99 to $1.93, and still he was selling. The pit traders heard of it and jumped in and sold. At the close the Rosenbaum company discovered they were "short" 900,000 bushels. Then the farmers started a concerted plea to President Wilson to suppress the activities of the board of trade until Congress meets.

The Rosenbaum company began buying back the short wheat. The market ran up to $1.98 and closed there. The company lost about $35,000 and the big and little traders were hit badly. Canadian wheat is also blamed for the fall in prices. The high for December since the food commission gave up control was $2.76, the low $1.86. It is now down to about 80 cents a bushel.

Pollard was shot on Ranger last fall. He was brought out that up to the young man without provocation.

L. C. GORDON SENTENCE IS AFFIRMED

Killer of Rowe Pollard on Ranger Street Must Serve Out His Term.

By Associated Press. AUSTIN, Oct. 20.—Judgments of the lower courts in the cases of L. C. Gordon, from Eastland county, giving a twenty-five-year sentence for the killing of Rowe Pollard in Ranger, and of Joe Henderson, under a twenty-nine-year sentence for the murder of Robert Killingsworth, both affirmed by the court of criminal appeals today.

The ninety-nine-year sentence against G. I. Rasberry in Ruston for the murder of Ethel P. reversed and remanded because of a defective charge to the jury judgment against Tom E. fenced in Coryell county five years for murder, was also affirmed because of an excuse before the trial was completed.

Sylvia Pankhurst was arrested Tuesday and is being held in the county jail.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The daughter of Mrs. M. Pankhurst was arrested Tuesday and is being held in the county jail.

MINSTREL'S NEPHEW, OIL OPERATOR, HERE

One of the celebrities to visit the Ranger field this week was Al G. Fields, nephew of the famous black-face minstrel who has been laugh-maker to his majesty the Every Day American, for more than two decades. Young Fields is here from Burk Burnett in the interest of the Soldier Boys Pipe Line Construction company.

He plans a survey to the Stephens and a part of Young county, where, he says, this pipe line equipment is likely to be added to within the next short while.

LAMB.

Hairpin Drops From Waitress' Hair and Sullivan Gets Busy at Once.

A dinner party at a fashionable hotel gave C. Gardner Sullivan the idea for the theme and plot of "Hairpins," the latest Ince-Paramount-Artcraft photoplay starring Enid Bennett, which will be shown at the Lamb theater two days beginning today.

The dinner, at which Mr. Sullivan was a guest, was being served by waitresses. During the progress of the meal a hairpin dropped from the head of one of the young women onto the table. She carelessly picked it up, muttered an apology and replaced it in her hair.

But Mr. Sullivan had his idea. He began to wonder what sort of wife this woman would make to some man. He wondered if he, as the husband of a woman so careless and untidy, would be contented. For several days he pondered. And then he set to work on his story, and "Hairpins," one of the most appealing stories Mr. Sullivan has ever written, was the result.

"Hairpins" is a story of an old-fashioned wife, who, through her failure to keep up her personal appearance, failed to hold the interest of her husband. When she realizes her mistakes she sets about to live differently. Fred Niblo directed "Hairpins" under the personal supervision of Thomas H. Ince; George Barnes was cameraman.

TEMPLE.

Elsie Ferguson plays three roles in her new picture, "Lady Rose's Daughter," which opened a two-days' run at the Temple theater today. The story is of the high-bred type in which Miss Ferguson fits so well. It was adapted from the late Mrs. Humphrey Ward's novel of the same name.

Three different periods are occupied by the picture—1800, 1800 and modern times—and Miss Ferguson's performance is much more than a nice differentiation in costuming. She portrays a grandmother, a daughter, and finally granddaughter, and to each role she imparts a rare sympathy and understanding.

In the main story, Miss Ferguson is Julie Le Breton, companion to her distant relative, Lady Henry Delafield. She falls herself in love with Captain Warkworth, an army officer. Because Julie will not abandon Warkworth, Lady Delafield banishes her from her home. She goes to Warkworth's apartment and while there learns of an affair which he is carrying on with another woman. She attempts to destroy herself and is taken to a hospital where she encounters Jacob Delafield, her guardian's nephew, who has long wanted to marry her, and they are made happy.

David Powell and Holmes E. Herbert are included in the cast that supports Miss Ferguson. Hugh Ford was the director and the picture is a recent Paramount release.

PAY POLL TAXES BY TOMORROW AT CITY OFFICES

Two days remain in which voters may pay poll taxes which will give them voting privileges until Jan. 1, 1921.

Fred Drienhofer, city tax collector and assessor, has been appointed a deputy assessor and will receive payments in his office in the Marston building. Everyone, men and women, or otherwise qualified, may pay their poll taxes during the next two days and participate in the November elections.

Drienhofer has not been supplied with actual receipt for the tax but receipts for the price and the date they are properly placed on the list will be able to vote.

ENROPE IS CRIMINALS' HAVEN

Associated Press
Oct. 20.—Professor Rusk, famous criminologist of the University of Pennsylvania, has told the Associated Press that the United States has been in a "crime-ridden" country of Europe many times their pre-war crime rate. In his report he said that the crime rate in Europe has been increasing steadily, and that the United States is becoming more and more of a "crime-ridden" country. ## CLOTHING NOW SELLING BELOW COST OF MAKING

Local merchants corroborate the statement recently issued by the president of the National Association of Clothiers, that clothing prices have dropped considerably, although manufacturing costs have not.

These reductions, says Jelks F. Castellaw, have been brought about by dealers forecasting the coming drop and endeavoring to "get out from under" with as little loss as possible. This has resulted in many cancellations of orders, and while the manufacturers' prices have not receded, the cancellations have thrown "spot" clothing, or clothing already in the jobbers' hands, on the market at reductions of about 15 per cent. This in turn has resulted in the retailer lowering prices on any stock he may have on hand and taking the necessary loss in order to compete with other merchants who have been able to buy "spot" clothing made available by cancellation of orders, at a lower price.

Clothing in Ranger is selling in many instances at 20 to 33 per cent less than last year's levels, said Mr. Castellaw.

The statement of President Strouse, which is vouched for as an unbiased review of present conditions, follows:

"The public is now buying clothing at prices far lower than the cost of manufacturing warrants," said Eli Strouse yesterday in a statement issued as president of the National Association of Clothiers, composed of manufacturers of men's ready-to-wear clothing.

"The fall goods were made," continued Mr. Strouse, "during the last six months, when materials and labor were higher than ever. But to help bring down prices more quickly, most clothiers are foregoing profits and selling at prices which would not be justified until next spring. They feel that national conditions demand that buying be kept going and labor be kept employed."

During the war the price of wool went up from three to four times the pre-war figures, and trimmings and accessory materials went up still higher. Labor's wages is now three times as high as it was before the war. From May, 1918 to January, 1920 alone the United States department of labor statistics official figures show that clothing workers received a far greater increase than those in any other industry.

"There is no doubt that the turning point of high clothing prices has been reached. But the costs which enter into clothing prices are responding very slowly to this tendency. The woolen mills have announced a cut of 20 to 25 per cent for spring goods—a cut from peak prices this fall, not those of last spring.

"Lower wages are not in sight—not until living costs go down materially.

The public should remember that wages cannot go back to the 1914 level, nor will there ever be a return to the old 'horrible sweatshop system.' In those days the public was profiting at the expense of labor.

The best posted observers agree that no violent slump in prices will be permitted. Reductions, they say, will be very gradual. Present prices were built up during six years and they cannot be broken over night. Manufacturers and retailers will take losses, but pre-war prices are far away, if ever they return."

AMERICAN POLES TO BUY STEAMSHIP

Liner Polonia Bought With Savings, Will Bring Immigrants.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—One magic word represents to hundreds of families in Poland the open sesame to America. This word is "Polonia" and when they say it they visualize an American Polish liner with crimson and white-angled flag of Poland and the Stars and Stripes floating jointly over the masthead, manned by sailors with the banner of the newest republic and that of the greatest republic embroidered on each shoulder of their uniforms. It is a ship with one class only—no distinctions of first and second class cabins and staterooms. And above all the ship is co-owned and bought with the savings of thousands of Polish-American workers in mines, factories and shipyards.

If the plan of the Polish Navigation company materialize, the Polonia, for which negotiations are now under way, will become a factor the latter part of the month. It will ply between Danzig and New York, carrying immigrants and freight, and will initiate the first maritime enterprise of the Polish race in modern times. And when Polonia becomes a fact the Poles from all over the United States who have tossed their savings books over the table at mass meetings or abstracted their nesteggs from the more natural stocking in order to subscribe to the cost of Polonia, will be at the dock to celebrate, when the ship gets its christening bath.

Suggested by Ship Workers.

A group of Polish shipyard workers in Wilmington, Del., suggested the initiation of the Polish navy, according to K. S. Pomerleski, vice president and secretary of the company. They contributed their bank accounts and asked M. A. Szymanski, the president, and Jan K. Strzelecki, the present treasurer, to take charge and form a corporation. So it began in a $25 a month office in Wilmington.

We have now organized stockholders among the Poles in hundreds of localities in the United States," continued Mr. Pomerleski, "and some in Canada. In each district the stockholders have elected a committee of four, the most prominent Poles there, to represent their interests in every way, including attendance at general meetings in New York. There are more than eighty such committees in the United States and Canada now."

So great has been the demand for women for enrollment at Cornell University that the college authorities have been compelled to set the limit at 1,000

THREATEN RAILROAD STRIKERS WITH DEATH UNDER ENGINE WHEELS

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Oct. 20.—The authorities of Lorenzo Marquez, Portuguese East Africa, have given warning that if they attempt to dynamite trains, as threatened, the ringleaders will be bound with ropes and put on a truck in front of locomotives, says the Central News.

Lorenzo Marquez has been almost cut off from communication with the hinterland for several days, owing to the strike. Martial law has been proclaimed and the railroad brigade, which is composed of ordinary workers, has been ordered out of service. It is reported, however, that the majority of the men ignored this order. Work at the port has been at a standstill.

PRO GRID TEAMS GATHER STARS FOR ANOTHER BIG YEAR

With the world's series written down in history football now holds undisputed possession of the limelight. With the formation of the American Professional Football Association a short time ago professional football has been put on a much firmer basis and will branch out into new fields this year. Heretofore Ohio has had the bulk of the teams. Now more western cities are getting into the sport. The Akron team, one of the pioneer outfits in the pro game, is in the field again with a team of college stars which looks formidable. The pictures above show a few of the team's stars. Charlie Copley, University of Missouri star, is captain of the eleven.

DOMESTICATING RANGER.

That domesticity is settling over Ranger is revealed by a casual perusal of the marriage licenses issued by the county clerk. Last week, of twenty-three licenses issued, eleven were to Ranger parties. That is typical of the returns. It indicates not only that nearly one-half of the population of the county is centered in Ranger, but that shortly there is going to be a demand for more homes and better homes here.

Single individuals can live in one-room apartments, since their dining room is the restaurant and their parlor is the picture show, but families cannot. The successful family obtains a large part of its pleasure as well as material necessities in the home, and when they expand the business of living larger quarters must be provided.

INSULTING SYMPATHY.

Many Americans have given up their lives enforcing order in Haiti, Harding bleats. Perhaps they have. But why make them martyrs? Crocodile tears for soldier dead, especially soldiers of the type who joined the marines because the service promised action, must cause derisive grins in sea-soldier heaven.

What the mass of civilians can never understand is that to many men there is a glorious exuberance to be derived in facing death and undergoing physical trials. They join up for service because the thrills of danger and hardship appeal more to their nature than does the orderly and monotonous processes of the workaday world. They may be killed, but they waste no anti-mortum thoughts on that. Death is merely the penalty for those who lose in the game. If it comes, well and good, the fighting man has long overbalanced his fate by the thrill he has received from service arduous and fraught with peril. If he escapes, there'll come another time, and each escape with the resulting concomitant ardor of combat, is that much more to the credit of the world.

Admiration can be freely tendered to the marines who have died in Haiti, but not sympathy. They need it not, nor do they desire it. They have lived the life of Reilly in the manner they thought most fitting, and death is an old acquaintance of whom they have no fear.

Haiti without the marines would have been a blot on civilization, and the casualties the marines have suffered have been slight in comparison with what the death toll which would have been had the islanders been permitted to go their way unmolested.

True, the marines are Americans, and the death of an upstanding son of Uncle Sam is always to be regretted, but in words of Theodore Roosevelt, "Only the fittest live who are not afraid to die." The American boys have proven they are not afraid to die in defense of order, not only in America, but in all honor to them, but sympathy and sympathy—is an insult.

One's idea of dressing with style is brushing off his pants and showing the Ohio State University particularly dressy Kaubers to prepare for a social gathering by transferring his pencil from an inside pocket in his shirt to his pocket in his pants.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

Memorabilia.

"Just in time," was the greeting the Woman received the other afternoon when she dropped in for a chat with a friend. "We're opening the trunk." Then noting the Woman's blankness of expression, she went on. "Oh, I thought I'd told you. When we moved here five years ago from Milwaukee, we hadn't room in our apartment for everything, so a number of crates were left unopened in the basement. Just a few months ago I thought it well to look over them, and lo, one crate disclosed a trunk marked with a strange name.

"I wrote to the Milwaukee warehouse, where our goods had been in storage, and learned that they had once had a customer of that name, but could not trace her. Nor had any claim ever been put in for the missing trunk. Of course we had to know whether the contents were valuable enough to warrant pursuing the matter further, so here we are just taking out the first treasure."

She handed the Woman a pasteboard box, yellow with age. No, it did not contain a string of yellowed pearls, but a set of doll's brushes of the careful workmanship of the toys of an earlier generation. The hostess made another dive into the trunk of mystery to bring out a neat roll of cloth with a label in a cramped, old-fashioned hand. "These of my Dresses Saved by My Mother." There they were, scraps of French print, a square of challis-delaire, a bit of fine orandy a silken plaid. The Woman could not help seeing a little maid in the blue figured French print demurely working on her samples at her mother's knee.

"Your turn to fish," invited the hostess generously. And the Woman drew out a book. It was no Arthur Rackham fairy book to tempt wandering from the sober paths of cross-stitch realism. It was the thickest of volumes, not more than two inches square. "From Mother, 1830," the fly-leaf informed them, and the title page announced this juvenile literature to be "A History of the Bible."

The old trunk yielded up relic after relic dear to that unknown person, who had been a little girl in 1830. The civil war had evidently touched her closely, for there were many mementos, most gruesome of all a little box of withered human bones. Yet there was nothing to mark to establish the identity of this ghost of the past.

A workman's blunder, the Woman reflected, and the life story that this woman had planned to have her grandchildren and great-grandchildren read through the old relics had been opened up to the gaze of strangers.

The Dears!

They are a pair of college freshmen, sister and brother, and only eleven months apart in age. Their mother died when the brother was a week old and this had made the girl a little maternal in her attitude toward her brother as soon as she was old enough to realize his loss. She has worried over his infant injuries and later over his Latin and the success of his baseball team. When he took his college entrance exams she regarded them more soberly than her own. But each was safe in his respective college when last the Woman talked with her.

"Tommy seems to be getting on all right," she explained. "I write him twice a week so that he won't get lonesome or confused by the strangeness of college life. Boys need a mother even if they won't admit it, and I'm Tommy's mother and sister too."

More to Be Pitted Than Scorned.

The country lady who had married a New York man and the sister who had married a country man were sitting in front of the Woman in Box No. 3. Up the avenue, past stores and churches, out of the business section into the residential section clattered the bus. And on and on chattered the New Yorker as she pointed out places of interest to her sister. It was at Sixty-sixth street that the sister first spoke, just after she had been to first spoke, just after she had been informed that that was the Astor house.

TINKER BOB

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

O POSSUM HEARS FROM LADY DUCK

O Possum was on his way to see Tinker Bob the King of the Forest. He hadn't gone very far till someone overtook him—or, rather, crossed his path. It was Chief Porky, the Chief of the Forest. You see, Major Pole Cat can run faster than Chief Porky, so it was decided between them that Major should go to the Palace, while Chief Porky went to find which way O Possum was traveling and if possible to hold him up a little while till Major had time enough to see the King.

If You Keep Going So Fast You'll Lose Your Trail.

"Now," said he, "the King has heard a terrible story about what you have done to Lady Duck, and he is not feeling good toward you."

"But who told him the story?" asked O Possum angrily.

"It was the Saucy Jay Bird, of course. You know he always tells everything he hears or sees, and he has told all of the Forest Dwellers that you have killed Lady Duck and that you are going to try to make the King believe she is lost. What do you think of that?"

O Possum was getting a little of his own kind of treatment back again, but he didn't know how to take it. "If I ever catch that Jay Bird I will make him eat glass so it will kill him," he cried.

Then Jack the Wood Rat came along. Said he, "I saw Lady Duck, or else it was her spirit, last night at midnight." Then O Possum began to be afraid.

Tomorrow—Lady Duck Appears.

JOHN-A-DREAMS

CLXIX. DREAMS OF SAND (1).

With graving pencil and with steady hand, The wind writes stories in the shifting sand.

And as for dreams, prophecies of things that will mean much in your life are written in the stretches of sand that appear in your night visions.

You must mark well whether the sand waste you see is surrounded by trees or mountains or whether your entire horizon is filled with the gray or yellow grains, without relief. For in the first case, the dream will come true within the month; in the second, not until almost a year has elapsed.

In a general way, visions of sand mean long periods of toil. If the sun shines or if you walk lightly, your labors will find reward and your heart will sing while your hands are at work.

But if the days are dark, or if your feet sink in the sand, or if you feel very tired, then there will be little solace for you, little that will lighten your burden and brighten your day.

If the sand sprays you, reaching your eyes, or mouth, you will rebel against fate and finally try to change the routine of your life.

When it appears to you that you are sinking into sand, above your ankles, or deeper still, you will not succeed in bettering your condition. But when it seems that you are about to reach the end of the sandy stretch, all will be well again in a little while.

Should sand be running through your fingers, know that you will idle your time away—or will at least be inclined to do so. So rouse yourself, make up your mind that you must change your way of doing, and you will be happier for denying yourself what you may think a well deserved rest period, but what is really inexcusable lack of interest in the things you ought to accomplish.

I will tell you more of Dreams of Sand in the next chapter.

RIPPLING RHYMES

POTS AND KETTLES.

There is no change on earth, alack! Old customs with us linger; the pot still calls the kettle black, and points a scornful finger. This metaphor of course is wrong, for pots can do no pointing; but let the purists come along, availing and arointing. But men can point, and point they do, with righteous indignation, at all the profiteering crew, of high or humble station. The grocer buys a Sunday suit, and when he's made the payment, he says the government should shoot the maker of that raiment. The tailor to the grocer wends, to buy a few molasses, and then his treasured beard he rents. "The price all reason passes!" The butcher stands beside his block, and butches with a cleaver; he bought some capsules from the doc, to cure his chills and fever. And now he says, "It was a shame, the way that sawbones taxed me; he played a low-down, sinful game; he soaked me and he waxed me." The doctor to the butcher goes, to buy a pound of mutton; and says on leaving, "Heaven knows this meat man is a glutton! My father used to buy a sheep for what this fragment cost me; this butcher's charges, fierce and steep, confound me and exhaust me!" The pots about the kettle wail; the kettles get excited and say the pots should be in jail if public wrongs were righted.

FELIX DIAZ CAPTURE WAS FARCE COMEDY

By LOUIS P. KIRBY,
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 19.—The "capture" of Col. Felix Diaz at the El Jobo hacienda near Tlapacoyan, Vera Cruz, was an affair that was staged as carefully as a Broadway musical comedy. The many conflicting reports as to what had become of Diaz were sent out in preparation for the chief scene in the comedy.

The purpose of the "capture," it is said, was to cool the resentment of the followers of Diaz because of his desertion of them. These men, who made tremendous sacrifices for their leader, have now been left to shift for themselves. Some are merely peons who have followed Diaz for years, giving such signal proofs of their loyalty that they were included in the bodyguard which surrounded him while he was reaching out for a way of escape. Others are men who were property owners but were willing to sacrifice everything in support of Diaz.

Had Diaz made terms with the new government and surrendered, it is asserted here, some of his indignant and outraged followers would have killed him.

It is said that Diaz could have left his great in the state of Santa Cruz long before he had not been for this fear of violence at the hands of followers, who would resent his desertion of them. This made his great problem that of getting safely away from his loyal band and not that of making terms with the Mexican government.

Diaz knew weeks ago, it is asserted, that President de la Huerta would give him pardon, help and protection.

The flood of confusing stories coming from Vera Cruz concerning Diaz during the past few weeks are now believed to have been sent out in an effort to make it easier for Diaz to stage the comedy of his "capture."

Comic Opera Capture.
General Guadalupe Sanchez, it is said, marched his troops to the El Jobo hacienda, knowing that Diaz would be waiting for him there.

It was perfectly understood that Diaz would be liberated and sent out of the country.

Like Villa, it is said, Diaz is to receive a donation from the Mexican treasury. Some persons say he is to get 500,000 pesos, or $250,000. Others say he is to get 2,000,000 pesos, or $1,000,000.

His "capture" will result in the scattering of a band which he has held together for about ten years and which was devoted to him as were the followers of a feudal lord.

Diaz, a master of stage-craft as applied to the affairs of life, was until his capture the idol of the peons in Santa Cruz and other sections of Mexico.

It was his custom to attend their fiestas mounted on a prancing horse, with bridle and saddle profusely ornamented with highly polished silver and gold. He would wear a wide sombrero, and his coat and riding breeches would be ornamented with jingling gold coins. Hundreds of gold coins were used in making this gala-day suit.

Barry Nalls Murder Trial May Be Postponed

Special to the Times.

EASTLAND, Oct. 20.—The case of the state of Texas vs. Barry Nalls was called in court yesterday and set for trial next Friday. In this case the defendant is charged with the murder of E. W. Richburg in Dec., 1918. In Jan., 1919, the case was tried and a jury found the defendant guilty of manslaughter and gave the defendant three years in the state penitentiary.

The case was reversed by the court of criminal appeals on an error made in the charge of the lower court to the jury. John Blosson and Barry Nalls were state rangers at the time of the homicide. The cases have attracted a great deal of attention locally.

Blosson was also indicted, tried and convicted and his case reversed, and on a second trial at Abilene, to which place his case was transferred on change of venue, there was a mistrial, the jury having failed to agree on a verdict.

The district court began this morning a very long civil case which will probably continue over the remainder of this week, so that a new setting of the Nalls case will in all probability have to be made.

SAW IT IN DIFFERENT LIGHT.
Mr. Billus (greatly bored by the "lav" Maria, that fellow is positively the worst stick I ever saw on the stage. He makes love to that pretty little countess like a hippopotamus trying to court an angel.

Mrs. Billus (much interested): He does, John, he does. But how vividly it seems to recall the days of our courtship, John!—Philadelphia Ledger.

Huddleston Fined on Disorderly House Charge; Will Appeal

A verdict of guilty was rendered against T. S. Huddleston yesterday afternoon on a complaint charging that he maintained a disorderly house and habitually associated with the female inmates of a disorderly house. A jury composed of W. R. Chatham, E. P. Mills, O. C. Hammonds, A. L. Taft, C. W. Cleveland and J. M. White, decided that the defendant was guilty and Judge L. H. Flewellen assessed the punishment at $25 and court costs. Huddleston's attorney, C. R. Fields and Ove Overson, appealed the case to the county court.

Huddleston was arrested several days ago at the Kansas City hotel on North Marston street, and testified at the trial that he was in charge of the place during the absence of its landlady, who is in Kansas City.

Beverly S. Dudley, city attorney, placed John H. Moore and Jim Hunt of the police force on the stand, who testified that the place bore a bad reputation, that its landlady had told them that the place harbored immoral women.

W. H. Stowe, sanitary inspector, also said under oath that the hotel had a bad reputation. Rose Gordon and Helen Bryant, two women who live in the neighborhood, on being questioned on the witness stand, said they had paid fines for being vagrants and that women met men at the Kansas City rooms. They also said that Huddleston ran the drink stand maintained by the house.

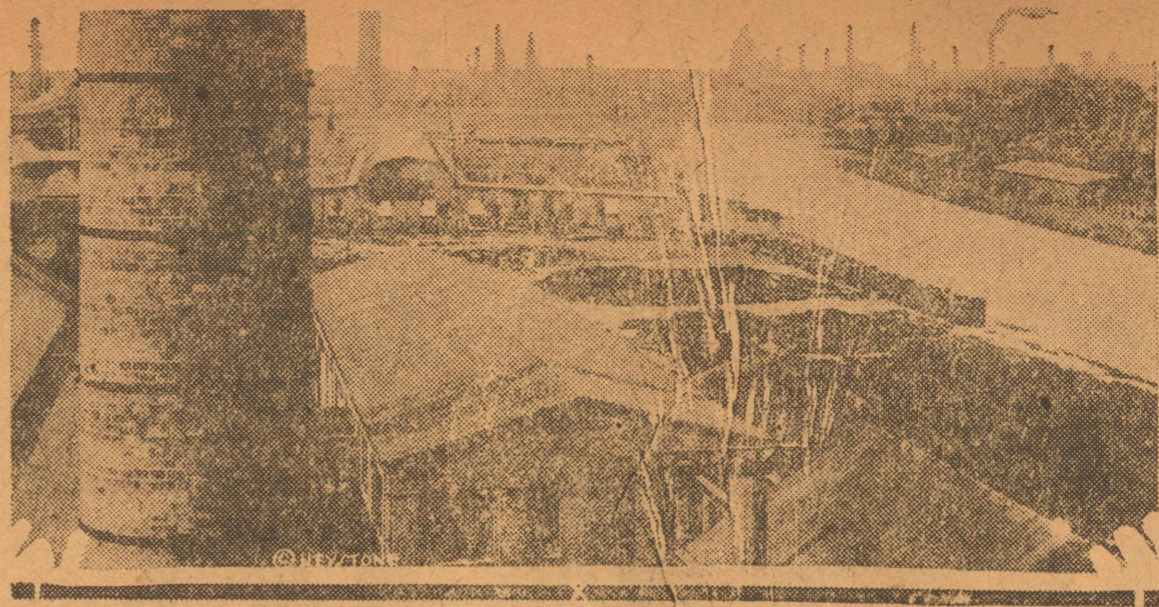

This fact the defendant admitted when placed on the stand. He denied all the charges made against him and said if immoral women lived at the hotel he did not know it. He declared he had known Mrs. Hill for twenty-five years and came to Ranger from Belton to care for her property while she was away. Huddleston testified that he was a mining engineer with a university degree and was at present engaged in exploiting a mineral bed at Belton.

For three years, he said, he was a contractor in Ranger.

No direct evidence connected him with harboring women since he had been in charge of the hotel.

During the world war 400,000 American negroes saw service in the United States army. Only half of them were sent abroad.

BERLIN MUNITIONS PLANT NOW PRODUCES PEACE MACHINERY

General view of the Spandau works. The great munition plants in Germany which, under the Hohenzollern reign, turned out munitions to make possible the Kaiser's dream of conquering the world, are now turning out machinery to help Germany get back on its feet industrially. The picture shows one of the mammoth plants which have been altered to produce farm and manufacturing equipment.

NEW UNIFORMS ORDERED FOR CITY POLICE

The police department will blossom out shortly in new uniforms and caps of a design suggested by Chief of Police George T. Cooper. Measurements were made yesterday and the order given.

Both suits and caps will be blue in color, and gold braid on the sleeves will denote the rank of the officers.

Chief Cooper has been working for this move since he took office several weeks ago. It is his belief that neat uniforms for the police department tends to greater efficiency as well as creating a greater respect in the minds of residents for officers of the law.

This is only one move which has been suggested by the present chief for the improvement of the service. Rules have been established at the station which among other things keeps headquarters in direct touch with the men of the force every hour of the day and night.

Several other regulations have been inaugurated which have improved the service.

- CANTON, Oct. 20.—Metal streetcar tickets have been introduced on the canton and Massillon street car lines, replacing all paper tickets formerly in use. The change was made by the Northern Ohio Traction company because of the paper shortage.
- It is urged that if many other concerns now using paper would just substitute a bit of metal the paper shortage would be relieved.

GIANT BULL MOOSE STOPS RAILROAD TRAIN

International News Service. LENOX, Mass., Oct. 19.—The "Millionaires Special" bound from Pittsfield to New York with several members of the local colony aboard, was held up just outside the Lenox station.

A giant bull moose from the estate of William C. Whitney, one of a herd of sixteen which gathered near the tracks, got in front of the engine and prepared to charge the train. It looked as though either the moose or the engine was about to suffer considerable damage when Conductor Fred Scott, cornetist and going to the rear platform, began tooting "Yankee Doodle."

At the sound of the sweet strains the moose backed up and then started on a run for the back of the train. The minute he got out of the engine's path Engineer Bert Shepard started full speed ahead.

H. F. SINCLAIR AND PARTY IN RANGER FIELD

Says Development Will Be Augmented on Return of Normal Finances.

Ranger and North Central Texas fields generally will play an important part for many years in supplying the petroleum needs of the nation, according to Harry F. Sinclair, president of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, who, in company with Patrick T. Powers, former owner of the New York Giants and of Madison Square Garden, and nationally known as a sportsman, visited the Ranger field in the interest of the Carteret company, in which both men are interested. While here Mr. Sinclair will inspect some of his other holdings in the Ranger-Stephens county area.

With the return of normal conditions in the money market there will come an influx of eastern money in the oil fields of North Central Texas, according to Mr. Sinclair. Such investments will be made on a large scale and will result in augmented operations throughout the field and added prosperity to every resident in this section of the country, he added.

Surface Hardly Scratched. When queried with regard to the longevity of the oil fields of this district and the world generally, and asked for a statement of his beliefs concerning the possible exhaustion of oil, Mr. Sinclair stated that "the surface of the earth has hardly been scratched" and added that historical reports concerning the failure of the oil industry are baseless.

"At present better methods of surveying prevail than were known in the past," he continued, "but it would be absurd to say that anything like a comprehensive search for oil generally has been made. Nor could one be made quickly. A really careful examination of the world for oil would require years. Our own company has had 100 geologists at work in Panama and Costa Rica for eighteen months and we know how slow such work is."

"The United States already has been searched for oil with measurable competence. In a way, the geological formation of almost every part of the country is understood, but there are vast areas outside the United States which are not understood at all. Africa, for instance, remains a 'Dark Continent' with regard to oil as well as many other things. South America is not much better known. Amazing things await there to be discovered."

Wasteful Methods Going. Mr. Sinclair added that the wasteful methods of production, transportation, refining and distribution, now retarding the industry, are gradually being eliminated and more rapid progress along these lines appears to be imminent.

Powers, who is interested with Mr. Sinclair in the oil business, formerly was manager of the Newark Federal league, club when Sinclair owned it. Others in the party were J. H. McBirney, president of the First National Bank of Tulsa; Charles Benson, president of the National Bank of Commerce, Fort Worth; Paul Konz, James Kierman, T. John Hanson, Judge Frank J. Higgins, Louis Schuman, the latter five all being from Jersey City, N. J.

MONTROSE ALLEN MAY OPEN NEW TERRITORY

Staff Special. ELIASVILLE, Oct. 20.—New hope for the Eliasville oil district is vastly increased by the completion of the Montrose company Allen No. 1, on Section 1645. This well makes a vast extension to the Stephens county field and proves up a vast deal of territory heretofore unworked. The well is making about 2,000 barrels, according to conservative reports. The well is about twelve miles northeast of Breckenridge.

A 200 barrel well in this territory would have been a large find, according to oil men, as it is north of the hiatus thought to exist between Breckenridge and the Ivan and Eliasville district. The well is about three miles south and west of Ivan.

It is the hope of operators interested in the district brought into the petroleum limelight by the Allen that the existence of a gap between production of this place and that at Breckenridge will be disproven and that the prejudice against the territory will be ended.

Walker Perkins Makes 10,000 When Drilled Deeper

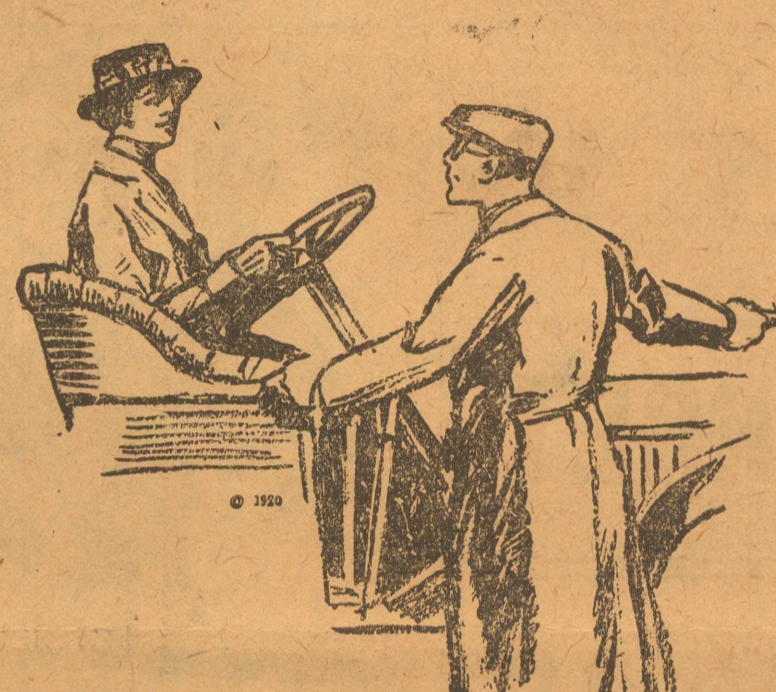

Initial Production Was 6,000 Fell to 1,500; Bass Co. Now the Owners.

Staff Special. BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 20.—A thing almost unprecedented in the history of oil has been accomplished by the Bass company on its Walker-Perkins No. 1, which has shown a production estimated at 10,000 barrels nearly six months after it was brought in for 6,000 barrels. At one time the well fell to 1,500 barrels. At this time it was disposed of by the Walker-Perkins interests to the Bass people for a million dollars. The well is located immediately north of the townsite.

The tools were run into the hole again recently and agitation began. Hardly had the tools reached the bottom of the hole before a tremendous gas and oil pressure was experienced. On Saturday the tools were again put in the hole and went about five feet in the sand. Immediately the superfluous flow, now extant, began. The tools were blown out of the hole.

What a lot of argument there used to be about a woman driving an automobile

TODAY she can "make a train" or fix a tire as well as anybody. As soon as a luxury becomes a necessity the point of view changes. Two or three years ago you would have listened to more varying opinions about tires than you could shake a stick at. Mileages, construction, treads and whatnot. It's different now. Tire users are working towards a unanimous feeling. You express it one way—the man down the street another. But sifted down it amounts to this: That the only way to settle your tire problem is to get a tire of known value and stick to it. We recommend and sell U. S. Tires because their value is known. There's no guess about it. It was the U. S. quality policy which led to the perfection of the straight-side automobile tire, the pneumatic truck tire—two of the greatest additions to tire value that have ever been made. As representatives of the oldest and largest rubber concern in the world, we are in a position to tell you something about tire values. Come in some day and talk to us.

Three Sets of Officials Clash Over Custody of Seized Liquor; Owners Have Mandamus, but No Joy Water

DAYTON, Ohio, Oct. 20.—Unable to locate H. E. Meyers, safety director, J. N. Allaback, police chief, or other officials of the police department, Sheriff William C. Oldt and a party of deputies, who had surrounded headquarters in a futile vigil, late this afternoon broke into cell block at central police station, Sixth street, and removed 600 quarts of bottled-in-bond whiskey that officers had confiscated yesterday morning when they had intercepted two automobiles entering the city. W. A. Burdoo, police judge, on the arraignment of five men said to have been in charge of the automobiles, today declared that the new prohibition ordinance was a "joke" and that police were powerless to make seizures without warrants. The court consequently ordered the liquor to be returned to the men and imposed fines of $100 on each defendant for having had whiskey in his possession. The police officials immediately disappeared from headquarters and attorneys and men clamored in vain for the liquor. Events moved in rapid succession, and when it was apparent that police authorities were not disposed to obey the municipal court, attorneys appealed to Judge R. C. Patterson of the common pleas court.

Chicago, have yielded such excellent results that the government has decided to make the language a part of the curricula of all schools.

Heretofore the dominating language of the Serbians, apart from their native tongue, has been German. ACUTE INDIGESTION SOON RELIEVED

Arkansas Lady Says She Was In a Serious Condition, But Promptly Recovered After Taking Theodor's Black-Draught.

Peach Orchard, Ark. — Mrs. Etta Cox, of this place, says: "Some time ago I had a spell of acute indigestion, and was in a bad fix. I knew I must have a laxative, and tried Black-Draught. It relieved me, and I soon was all right."

"I can't say enough for Theodor's Black-Draught, and the great good it did for me."

"It is fine for stomach and liver trouble, and I keep it for this. A few doses soon make me feel as good as new. I am glad to tell others the good it did."

Acute indigestion is a serious matter and needs prompt treatment or dangerous results may ensue. A physician's help may be needed, but a good dose of Theodor's Black-Draught will be of benefit by relieving the system from the undigested food which is the cause of the trouble.

Theodor's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, not disagreeable to take and acts in a prompt and natural way.

So many thousands of persons have been benefited by the use of Theodor's Black-Draught, you should have no hesitancy in trying this valuable, old well-established remedy, for most liver and stomach disorders.
