

FOUR WOMEN WERE LURES IN LIFE OF SLAIN BANK RUNNER FOUND MUTILATED IN WOODS

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Oct. 23.—David S. Paul, elderly Camden bank messenger, who disappeared on Oct. 5 with a sum now declared to be more than $4,000 in cash and $20,000 in checks and whose mutilated body was found buried in a pine forest nineteen miles from here last Saturday, was slain after he had been lured from the straight path by one of four women.

Three of these women—two of whom live in Philadelphia and one in Camden—are under surveillance. The arrest is momentarily expected.

The mysterious fourth woman with whom Paul had been friendly and who is regarded by investigators as the most promising key to the puzzling events surrounding the bank runner's death, is being widely sought by the Philadelphia police.

Two Camden men, whose names were not disclosed, were questioned today by Prosecutor Wolverton. He said that there was no charge against them, but that they had intimate knowledge of Paul's affairs with various women. One of Paul's amazing secret relations with women the solution of the murder hinges, in the opinion of Mr. Wolverton and County Detective Parker.

Lured to Former Theft. Another development today was that when Paul robbed the mails, twenty years ago, and served one year, he did it at the result of the lure of an attractive woman, with whom he had eloped, at least he was married. This was told to a reporter for the World by a member of the family.

Apparently, Paul's women acquaintances were not of the usual money-seeking women of loose morals. They belonged to the middle class and were, comely, well dressed and many years younger than he.

Prosecutor Wolverton now believes Paul was slain after a terrific struggle. This is indicated by the fact, he said, that in addition to a four-inch gash on the top of his head, probably caused by the axe Paul's body was also found to contain two skull-crushing blows on the forehead from a blunt instrument, possibly the dull head of an axe.

The day's investigation eliminated the theory that the murderers were three young men in a yellow touring car, seen near the grave Friday afternoon, when the autopsy indicated the burial was made.

The men in the car, all residents of Haddonfield, N. J., on reading in the paper that they were sought, explained to the authorities that they had been in the

ADAMS TO SPEAK AND GLEE CLUB TO SING AT EAST RANGER BAPTIST

H. H. Adams, well known oil geologist of Ranger, will deliver a lecture in the East Ranger Baptist church tonight on the "History of Sacred Songs." Mr. Adams will discuss the author, the age and spirit of the songs and other interesting features.

The Ranger Glee club will render six selections. A full membership will be present and the service promises to be a happy one.

"Rock of Ages," "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and other well known sacred songs will be discussed by Mr. Adams and then sung by the Glee club.

All are cordially invited to attend the service.

BAPTISTS HOLD SERVICES TODAY IN NEW CHURCH

The new Baptist church will be formally opened today. The edifice is not yet completed and for that reason no program has been prepared other than the regular Sunday services.

Dr. W. T. Johnson will occupy the pulpit, and everyone is invited to attend.

The new church is two stories and will cost $100,000 exclusive of fixtures. It has twenty-six rooms, and spaces for choir practice and dressing rooms.

Construction is of brick with stone columns and trimmings. The main floor and the balcony are so constructed that practically all the space can be converted into the auditorium, giving what is said to be the largest seating capacity of any church west of Fort Worth.

The Rev. Mr. Johnson, stated recently that the courtesies extended to various organizations and gatherings in the past will be extended when the new building is finished.

The Baptist church has been instrumental in building a tabernacle for negroes of the city, and has also built two tabernacles for white people. One is located in Byron-Riddle addition and the other in Burger addition.

RHEUMATISM BOTHER YOU? EVER TRIED THIS?

This is not a patent medicine advertisement BUT—

Have you pains in your back? Are you suffering from sharp, shooting twangs of excruciating misery?

Do you limp from rheumatic joints when you attempt to walk?

In a word, do you suffer from any of the "every picture tells a story" stuff?

If you do just look yourself up a nice oil well with a well-filled slush pit nearby. Then peep over your shoulders in all directions to make sure that no one is looking, strip off your clothes—if you are rich enough to wear such things now—and take a running jump into the slush pit.

After three or four mud baths in the oily mush of the slush pit you will be cured of the most stubborn case of rheumatism.

Despite the fact that this simple means of curing rheumatism is known to virtually every drifter and tool dresser in the business, few other people know of its efficiency.

For years oil field workers, who are susceptible to this ailment because they are exposed in all sorts of weather to cold and dampness, have been taking ad-

Records of Players in West Texas League, 1920

Manager Jim Galloway of Ranger was the real leader of the willow wielders in the West Texas circuit last season, according to the averages announced by the league secretary.

In fielding, Carter tops the pitchers with 1,000 though his perfect record is tied by Hitt of Mineral Wells.

Manager Jim led the way in total bases with 200. His nearest competitor was Taylor of Sweetwater with 186.

WAR LORD NOW PRIVATE IN BAVARIAN GUARD

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—General Erich von Ludendorff, Germany's noted military strategist and for years practically the commander in chief of more than 7,000,000 officers and men, composing Germany's army, now is a private. He holds that rank in the Bavarian Einwohnerwehr or home guard.

General Ludendorff recently moved from Berlin to one of the suburbs of Munich, where he applied for admission as a private in the local company of the home guard and was accepted.

Should disorders take place the former head of the German may have to shoulder a rifle and patrol the streets side by side with an ordinary householder.

The Einwohnerwehr has served notice on the Allies that the organization will not give up its army despite treaty provisions and demands recently made. Major Echeherick, commander of the Bavarian home guard, recently told General Malcolm, head of the British section of the inter-allied commission for the disarmament of Germany, that, although the Allies "might stand on their heads," the guardsmen would not surrender their arms.

NOBBY SUIT FOR SCHOOL OR WORK

The suit is always the first consideration of the school and business miss, for she finds it the most convenient costume for all occasions and weather. Most women have more than one suit. They have the general utility suit, which in spring and summer is invariably a wool jersey, and then they have a dressy suit of some of the more expensive materials. In fact some women wear suits to the exclusion of other costumes.

HALF-LENEO BENCH AS A TENT IN WOODS. KANSAS CITY, Oct. 23.—Andie Galloway, thirteen-year-old adopted daughter of E. S. Galloway, had been returned to her home after an absence of three days and four nights.

Last night the barking of his dog led Galloway's father to investigate under a bench in the back yard. He found the girl asleep. A bundle of clothing served as a pillow and an extra coat as a covering. Beside her was a loaf of bread, a box of cookies and another box of food.

She explained she had spent the time from the disappearance in the "woods," a wooded section near Forty-fifth street and Gilham road, using a bench for a tent at night. Galloway said today he adopted the child, who is a half blood Indian, seven years ago at Lawton, Okla. He attributed her actions to "Indian instincts."

Hunting Bargains in Ranger

Bargains discovered in trips through Ranger shops and department stores are here presented briefly, for the benefit of Times readers.

I. A pretty dress of all wool navy tricotine at the J. M. White company has several attractive features besides the 25 per cent reduction in price. The waist is cut as most waists are this season with round neck and three-quarter sleeves.

II. Cohn's Millinery announces a reduction on all hats next week. A wide brim hat of silver cloth is trimmed with a combination of fur, black lace and silk flowers. Hats with veils to match sell readily this season. A roll brim model of henna velvet is draped with a big square veil from two corners of which dangle tassels of henna chenille.

III. Some new winter hats arrived at the Juliana Shop today just in time for the cold weather. For a clever tam, antique lace, brown maline and pretty flowers were chosen and combined in a most stylish way. Another model that looks very wintry and new has its crown made of soft gray velvet and the roll brim, cut in at each side, of silver lace. A long silver tassel at the left side is the trimming. The Juliana Shop offers a line of waists for Monday and Tuesday specially priced at $8.50, and another at $12.50.

IV. The Richardson-Brown company has a very special price on reorgettes for Monday. The $2.50 quality for $1.48 and the $2.50 grade of crepe de chine shirting for $1.69.

V. CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—The 5-cent ice cream soda is going to stage a "comeback," according to ice cream manufacturers here.

With sugar prices slowly tumbling and a drop in milk values expected, manufacturers say there is bound to be a return to the days when the American girl's "favorite dish" sold for a nickel.

Nathan Lowenstein, secretary of the National Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, believes sodas and sundaes will return to pre-war prices. "The price will drop in proportion to the slump in the cost of labor, sugar and milk," said Lowenstein. "Because of the rise in these essentials, the outlook is favorable to the ice cream industry."

LEARNS BRIDE HAS BALD SON AS OLD AS HIMSELF, SUES

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Married by a widow with "a small son in th West"—then meets said son and finding him more than thirty and bald headed.

That was Dr. Charles R. Hancock's surprise—one of his surprises and griefs in marriage as he sets forth in his complaint filed yesterday in the Supreme Court in bringing suit for annulment of his marriage on June 1, 1919, to Eugenia C. Hancock, also a practicing physician.

Dr. Hancock, (female) said last night that she had seen the complaint, but would leave her attorney, William M. Sullivan, to speak for her. She lives at the Hotel Le Marquis.

The plaintiff states that before marriage the defendant represented herself to be of about his age, thirty-one, and said that she had obtained a divorce in Montana from her former husband, Harry Thomas, and was the mother of a young child in the West.

After marriage, Dr. Hancock (Charles R.) says he was told that his wife's first husband had divorced her on June 23, 1908, and that she was by law prevented from re-marrying at the time she was married to him in New York. Also he learned that his wife's "young child" was as old as himself and bald-headed.

The plaintiff says that she did not consider these complaints to himself, but soread them profusely among his patients, with the result of injuring his professional practice.

Two hundred British girls are on their way to New Zealand, where they expect to secure husbands.

CHILE DECRIES CHARGE SHE ATTEMPTS TO THROTTLE PERU BY CUTTING OFF WAY TO SEA

(By Mail.) SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 23.—Chile desires peace and tranquility on the South American continent and has earnestly tried to obtain a friendly solution of her questions with Peru and Bolivia, Senator Eliodoro Yanez, one of the nation's leading statesmen, told the Associated Press correspondent today. The dispute between Chile and Peru over Tacna and Arica and Bolivia's aspirations for an outlet to the sea has been widely debated by the public and in the press here since the military revolt at La Paz, Bolivia, in July, when a political party, said to be hostile to Chile, assumed power. Speaking of the controversy with Peru, Senator Yanez said: "To push her policy of hostility and repeal of international good faith, Peru has entered into a great program of armaments and believes she can count on the support of the United States and the league of nations. "Chile on several occasions has tried to reach an agreement for holding the plebiscite and, with the exception of the unratified agreement of 1912, Peru always has resisted an understanding, proposing clauses or expressing exigencies unacceptable or denigrating to Chile." Referring to the Bolivian question, Senator Yanez said: "The relations between Chile and Bolivia are regulated by the treaty of 1904 under which the latter ceded definitely to Chile the province of Antofagasta, lost by Bolivia in the Pacific war. Until recently, cordial relations had been maintained between the two countries. In July, a military revolution broke out in La Paz; President Gutierrez Guerra was deposed and banished and a Junta de Gobierno was organized. This new order raised as a slogan the non-recognition of the treaty of 1904 and the reclamation of the territories which by this pact were recognized as Chile's. They were annexed forty years ago and a great Chilean population is in them. "Chile has manifested more than once her purpose of adopting an economic policy in agreement with Bolivia to meet that country's desire for a port. Peru's resistance to the plebiscite and her support of Bolivian aspirations have hindered or retarded this agreement and the Bolivian revolt has made it impossible for the moment." The provinces of Tacna and Arica are governed by Chile as territories under the direction of the foreign department with no representation in parliament. Leap Year Hint. INDIANA MINISTER DOESN'T RELISH JAIL LIKE HE THOUGHT

GOSHEN, Ind., Oct. 23.—Judge James S. Drake, of the Elkhart circuit court, today reserved decision on the petition of Rev. Albert S. Menaugh, minister of the Brethren church, who seeks to withdraw his plea of guilty to a charge of having embezzled $12,200 of trust funds. Menaugh had requested the deputy prosecutor that he be sentenced to prison for life. He was sentenced to Michigan city prison for from one to five years. Now he has concluded he does not even desire to serve one year. His bondsmen, who, if he is imprisoned, will be compelled to pay the $12,200, particularly are anxious for him to void his plea of guilty and settle with them. The petition seeking a withdrawal of his plea is based on the fact that no formal demand was ever made upon the defendant for the money he confessed he had lost in gambling. Menaugh's counsel indicates that if the court denies the petition they will appeal to the Indiana supreme court, declaring that the prisoner could not be guilty of embezzlement until after formal demand had been made upon him for the funds, or until such trust funds became due in court and are not paid. PAPAL SECRETARY LIKES U. S.; "WORTHY, THO' DRY" ROME, Oct. 23.—Mgr. Cerretti, papal under secretary of state and former representative of the vatican in Washington, at a banquet given for him by 300 American Knights of Columbus here, said he longed to return to the United States the worthiest country in which to live "although it has gone dry."

O Henry Star—A Family Group—Star In a Year—A Splendid Hazard—Dead Men Tell No Tales

Agnes Ayres will shortly appear in "Forbidden Fruit." Miss Ayres, in her experience before the camera, has been seen in many important roles. At one time, with Edward Earle, she appeared in twenty-five of the O. Henry stories two reels which were admirable screen translations of the famous short story writer's best efforts. She has also appeared with James O'Neill and Marjorie Ransome, and was recently one of the featured players in "Held by the Enemy," later she was an important member in "The Furnace." The charm of manner which is a part of her attractiveness on the screen is inherent with Miss Ayres. She has magnetic personal charm; acting ability and beauty that is quite unusual even in a world where beauty is a common word.

H. B. Warner, his wife and daughter Jean. Mrs. Warner was Rita Stanwood of both stage and screen. Mr. Warner was born at St. Johns Woods, London

England. His stage career includes parts with Sir Charles Wyndham, Sir Herbert Tree and Marie Tempest. He came to America in 1905 to play opposite Eleanor Robson. His screen career is a long one and includes "The Ghost Breaker," "The Vagabond Prince," "God's Man," "Man Who turned White," "Pagan God," "For a Woman's Honor," "Grey Wolf's Ghost," "Fugitive From Matrimony," "House of a Thousand Candles," "The White Dove," "One Hour Before Dawn."

Zena Keefe. Zena Keefe has appeared on the stage and in many pictures, but has never been starred until this year.

Miss Keefe is a Westerner. She was born in San Francisco and attended a convent there. Later she completed her education in New York. She appeared on the vaudeville stage at a very early age and later went on a tour with a stock company. She started her screen career with ingenue parts.

Henry B. Walthall "A Splendid Hazard" recently received one of the most unique tributes ever paid a motion picture by a member of national prominence, when W. H. Moran, chief of the government secret service bureau called it the most accurate portrayal of secret service work he had ever witnessed. Henry B. Walthall, in the role of Karl Brietman, an ambitious descendant of Napoleon Bonaparte, heads the cast.

Percy Marmont. It is through no accident that Percy Marmont has attained the rank of the featured player in the forthcoming production, "Dead Men Tell No Tales," by E. W. Hornung.

After a rich career on the stage in England and the Colonies, which included visits to a studio led to his engagement for motion pictures. He has played the lead in several tours at the head of his own company, Marmont was en route home opposite Elsie Ferguson, Alice Brady, Corinne Griffith, Alice Joyce—his record of four consecutive productions with her is unique film history—Billie Burke and Norma Talmadge. Each film characterization was perfection in its artistry, sincerity and forcefulness—therein lies the open secret to the continuous growth of Marmont's popularity and explains his elevation to featuredom.

Helen Darling. Helen Darling is another attractive member of the Christie Film Follies.

BIG ELECTRIC PLANT STARTS NOVEMBER 1ST

The big turbines of the Oil Cities Electric company, at its plant on the Conellie lease, just south of Ranger, will begin to whirl Nov. 1, according to announcement of the company officials. This means that the 10,000 horsepower plant of the company which has been under construction for some time will be in actual operation and electric current to spare will be at the service of Ranger and other communities in the oil fields.

Second only in importance to water as a factor in building the commercial and manufacturing greatness of the city, this power signals the advent of a new era in oil production. The pumping of oil by electricity while not a new thing in oil-dom, will at least in this territory receive its first advantageous opportunity to prove its effectiveness on a large scale.

At the present time in the field round about Ranger a considerable number of wells are on the electric pump and the results shown from the use of power in this connection are gratifying to the operators who have taken advantage of its adequacy and readiness to hand. Just what advantage will be taken of the access to new current by Ranger for lighting and other of the more personal purposes, it is not determined, but certainly the closeness of the power plants to the south of town will do much to give stability to the claims of this city in point of being the superior city of the North Central Texas oil fields as an industrial and commercial center. In the way of attractions the city in the future can point to the proximity of the power plant, which, according to engineers, can easily be added to, unit by unit, and turbine by turbine, as time goes on and the need for such expansion makes itself apparent. It is the belief of civic spirits that this power plant and the fact that it can be depended upon for even more power than its present capacity will do much to attract to this city industries and factories.

A fact in this connection seldom realized by the layman is that the new power plant enjoys access to cheap fuel, which makes it possible for it to generate power at a considerably lower price, once the initial investment is taken care of, than any other power plant in the country, excepting only the hydro-electric plants whose original power is found in water-fall.

The first time since Harvard university was founded, 284 years ago, women were admitted this year to the regular opening to a department of the new graduate school of education.

Woman Relates Her Experiences as Polish Soldier

By Associated Press
WARSAW, Oct. 23.—A Polish woman soldier who took part in driving back the Bolsheviks from Warsaw writing to a Polish newspaper, says she went 10 days without taking off her clothes and that frequently the numbers of her detachment went five and six days without having opportunity to take down their hair. During one march, in keeping pace with the retreating red forces, the women were on the go fourteen hours, thirteen of which were without food or water.

The letter says: "At 11 o'clock at night we were ordered to be in readiness. Our detachment, all women, at this time, had been ordered out for patrol duty. Our pack consists of a coat, rifle, ammunition and other articles in all weighing 60 pounds. After four hours of marching and when I felt that I couldn't go a step further we received orders to return to our former post, several miles away. I scarcely remember how I reached our destination. I was so tired. I dropped onto a pile of straw and slept for an hour.

Plums for Officers. "When I was awakened I had gone away without me, to take part in a movement to surround a force of Bolsheviks hidden in a clump of woods. After six miles of good roadway, I encountered sand which made walking so difficult that my feet pained me at every step. I was covered with dust, and hadn't had a drink of water for hours. After walking fifteen miles I reached my comrades who were resting under trees, in the shade from a hot sun. A peasant boy brought a bucket of plums, but we privates only got a look at them, the plums all went to the officers, who were women too. And then the march started again, through a forest.

"Now and then, as we advanced, I saw some of the women faint, and I heard others crying 'mores' and I thought I heard cuss words which must have come from the men on our right. This march has continued fourteen hours. For thirteen hours we had neither food nor water. When we reached a series of trenches, we were promised something hot to eat. But the food never came, and then the fighting began. Oh, how I longed for a drink—longed for sleep, away from the roar of battle. But above everything there was a feeling of satisfaction—a feeling of undreamed-of happiness—despite the suffering from hunger, from lack of water and the misery due to cold at night and heat during the day when I thought and was thrilled as we fought that I, a woman, was a soldier of Poland."

FANCY CHICKENS REPLACE DOGS AS STYLISH PETS; ACTRESS STARTS FAD

Miss Louise Glaum and her imported Minorca chicken.

The bluest blooded poultry with the most brilliant plumage may supplant the pedigreed poodle, monkey, parrot, baby lion or bear which have so long held sway as the fashionable pets for milady. Miss Louise Glaum, the well known movie actress, started the fad at Petaluma, California, and it has already been eagerly taken up. She is shown here with a handsome black Minorca chicken which was sent to her by a French costumer. Miss Glaum leads her chicken with a green silk ribbon, attached to a collar about its neck on which the owner's name is embroidered. Rhode Island Reds and White Leghorns are also popular as pets.

SAN ANGELO FAIR WILL OPEN TUESDAY

By Associated Press
SAN ANGELO, Texas, Oct. 23.—Preparations for San Angelo's twelfth annual fall fair and carnival, to be held from Oct. 26-30, inclusive, virtually are completed. With the best physical condition prevalent since 1914, so far as livestock the range, and crops, are concerned, prospects are that this year's fair will eclipse all others in attendance and the number and quality of the exhibits.

The San Angelo fair is held at the center of the livestock industry of the southwest and is the fast surviving Texas fair to offer horse racing, the runners which contest here going to Juarez and Tia Juana.

The railroads this year have granted rates of 1-2 fares for the round trip to the San Angelo fair, return trips being limited to Oct. 31.

The "tenderfoot" is offered real western sports, goat roping, bronco busting and steer riding. The wildest mustangs from the Pecos river have been obtained for the bronco busting and a matched goat roping contest for a purse of $1,000 a side is in prospect between Louis Jones of Christoval, state champion, and Allen Holder of Garden City, contender for the title.

An automobile show and the usual carnival attractions will be features of the fair.

All traces of the drouth which blighted West Texas in 1916, 1917 and 1918 have been effaced and 1920 fair, the promoters say, will demonstrate the wonderful recuperative powers and agricultural and livestock resources and possibilities of the southwest.

OPERA HOUSE

"Tenshun"
The "Overseas Revue," is here. A battalion of beauties in the chorus is just one of its many features. It will play tonight at the Opera House theatre. It is one of the most pretentious and spectacular productions ever shown in vaudeville with a cast of New York favorites, special scenic settings and music. The essence of the original show which played on Broadway as a $3 musical show has been condensed into the forty-minute vaudeville version. It combines none of the scenes over there that need to be forgotten—only those which will recall the happy memories of hours well spent—the humorous side of days when the doughboys gave the French something to think about and amazed their allies by the good humor with which they accepted hardships.

MAJESTIC

Six acts of vaudeville, headed by Diana Bonnar, formerly of the Chicago Grand opera company, will hold the boards at the Majestic tonight. Miss Bonnar is said to possess a wonderful voice and a wardrobe seldom seen on any stage. Her repertoire ranges from old time melodies to grand opera and she has personality as well as ability.

Liletta and her Hawaiian Sereaders are one of the very few troupes of natives direct from Hawaii appearing in vaudeville today. Their singing, dancing and instrumental act is presented in a manner possible only to true natives.

Other acts include Griff, the British Nut, a pantomime comedian warranted to be a seafarmer; Challis and Lambert, two clever entertainers, Jack Koshier and his dog, Muff, and the three Melvin brothers, gymnasts.

OPERA HOUSE

A spectacular production, "The Courage of Marge O'Doone," from the famous story by James Oliver Curwood, will be shown at Opera House theatre three days. It is one of the most thrilling and instructive productions ever shown at Opera House theatre. An all-star act of well-known popular players, under the direction of David Smith, make the feature during a raging blizzard in the Rocky mountains. These players fought their way over the snow covered peaks, braving dangers and hardships in order to get into a territory as yet unexplored by man. For weeks they lived like the primitive beings found in the great open spaces.

These players, for art's sake, voluntarily denied themselves the luxuries of modern civilization in order to preserve an adequate and reliable record of life in the wilderness. They had their misfortunes, too. One of their number, James O'Neill, sustained injuries while miles from civilization. The dog sleds used in the production were brought in to use, and O'Neill, weak and exhausted was transported miles over the snow capped peaks of the mountains to the nearest settlement.

A bear fight, into which brave Pauline Starke, as Marge O'Doone, has the courage to rush in an effort to separate the struggling animals, is one of the big scenes in the production. It took real courage to perform this act, and it is registered in the film.

The scenic beauty of the picture is unusual. It is a travelogue, presenting one of the most picturesque spots in North America at seasons when it is the most beautiful. It lays bare a territory into which few human beings have ventured, a land where romance and adventure are part of the daily routine.

The photography is unusually clear cut and developed in rich velvety tones that emphasize the beauties of the landscape. It is one of the few film masterpieces of today, a picture that will be recalled many times and cited as an example of the acme of modern photoplay production.

PROFS. USE PHOTOGRAPHS TO IDENTIFY STUDENTS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—More than 300 students in Princeton University, mostly juniors who have enrolled in the economics course, will have their photographs taken to be used in a card index by professors in the department of economics.

To help identify the students, each instructor will bring to the recitation rooms a small box bearing cards, on which will be the name, seat number and photograph of a student.

Professor Frank A. Fetter, head of the department of economics said the teacher has been handicapped by not knowing each pupil by name wherever he meets him and that the proposed scheme should enable an instructor to get acquainted with all in his class within a few days.

This plan was used here with marked success in the student army training courses during the world war.

FORMER SCHOOL TEACHER SELLS FIRST WHEAT CHOP FOR $8,000

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 23.—P. M. Whitehead, who was defeated for state superintendent, two years ago, after an honorable career as an educator, gave up the teaching business in disgust and went to farming. He had saved up enough money to buy only in the cheap land district of Southwest Nebraska, and when he told friends he had put up $4,000 for a quarter section they commiserated him.

Whitehead has just disposed of his first wheat crop, the Kamred variety, much desired right now because it has been found to be rust resisting as well as caring little for drouth, for $8,000.

Courses of printing have been added to the curriculum of scholastic training in the United States army.

Dry Officers told Diplomat Is Free to Bring in Liquor

Searching of Baggage Would Be Breach of International Courtesy.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Prohibition enforcement agents will not be permitted to search the baggage or other property of diplomatic officers or members of diplomatic households for intoxicating liquors.

From time immemorial the baggage and other property of diplomatic officers has been immune from search or seizure. It is still immune in every civilized country in the world.

Despite this fact, some officials of the prohibition commissioner's office a day or two ago issued a ruling to the effect that the baggage of Ambassadors, Ministers and diplomatic attaches would be pried into for liquor. Then the state department issued this statement:

To Retain Former Practice
"The department presumes that the practice which has prevailed in the past will not be discontinued at this time, that there will be no interference with property in the possession of a diplomatic officer or a member of his household. The department, of course, assumes that no official of the government would attempt to pry into the baggage of a foreign diplomatic officer."

State department officials pointed out that serious consequences might follow any attempt by prohibition agents to pry into the baggage or other property of diplomatic officers. For example, the baggage of American diplomats is immune from search or seizure abroad. It is only fair to assume that if agents of the United States government should pry into diplomatic property coming into the United States, foreign governments would promptly insist upon the right to go through the baggage of American diplomatic officers. While the latter would not be transporting liquor, they quite frequently have in their possession valuable papers of a highly confidential nature.

Right to Import Liquor.
Foreign diplomats have a right to bring liquor into the United States in person or to have it shipped in. If they have it shipped in they are required to get a permit.

CARRIES COSTUMES OF FORTY-FIVE CHORUS GIRLS IN SUIT CASE

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 23.—An ordinary suitcase was all Sergeant-at-Arms David Brown of the district court needed yesterday to carry away the stage costumes of 45 girls in the chorus of "The Temptations of Eve," in serving an attachment of a New York shoe concern against the company staging the show at the Globe theatre on the board walk.

Brown went to the theatre with two large moving vans to seize the costumes. He told the manager he would wait until the performance had finished.

When the girls had changed to street attire and left the theatre, Brown went into the dressing room. There was the pile of diaphanous garments.

"Attach away," said the manager. "There are the costumes—count 'em."

Brown borrowed a suit case and dismissed the vans.

"From the quantity of attire these girls wore the show should have been called 'The Temptations of Adam,'" commented the court attaché.

USES SERUM, NOT KNIFE, FOR APPENDICITIS CURE

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Treatment of appendicitis by an anti-gangrenous serum instead of by operation has been tested with such satisfactory results that it is likely these operations soon will be abandoned, Prof. Pierre Delbet said in a paper read today before the Congress of Surgery.

The tests have extended over a period of thirteen years.

MOTHER'S SEARCH FOR SON KIDNAPPED THREE YEARS AGO RESULTS IN HAPPY REUNION

Arthur McSorley, Twelve Years Old, Who Disappeared From His Home in New York, Is Finally Located.

International News Service.
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—A search lasting almost three years ended when detectives of District Attorney Martin's office in the Bronx located Arthur McSorley, 12 years old, who on Dec. 3, 1917, according to information furnished to the police, was kidnaped by his father on his way to attend Ursuline Academy. He was taken to Newark, N. J., where he was found by the detectives and restored to his mother, Mrs. Teresa McSorley of 2767 Marion avenue, the Bronx.

Shortly after the boy's disappearance the mother received information by telephone that he was with his father. She immediately went to the Bronx detective bureau and reported the matter to Acting Captain Wines.

Later, on advice of friends, she went to District Attorney Martin's office. Investigation by members of the staff led to many clues in different states.

Several days ago Mr. Martin received information that caused him to send detectives to New Jersey, and upon searching the public school lists they came to the name of Arthur McSorley, address 249 Clifton avenue. Mrs. McSorley was notified and joined the detectives in Newark. They went to the Summer avenue school and saw Arthur arrive with his books. There was an affectionate reunion between mother and son and the two returned to the Bronx, going to the home of Mr. McSorley's sister, Mrs. Margaret Sause, at 499 East Two Hundred and Sixth street.

"At last I can be happy again," said Mrs. McSorley. "Ever since Arthur was taken away from me I have never been happy. I made up my mind that I would never rest until I had him back again, and through the aid rendered me by Mr. Martin I have my darling boy back again, never to leave my sight until he is able to take care of himself."

"Although I had been separated from my husband Arthur for nearly two years prior to my boy's disappearance, I never dreamed that he would take him away. After my husband had made two unsuccessful attempts to divorce me in Reno he evidently decided he would have an easier time getting the decree by taking the boy away from me and breaking me down, but he has failed in that purpose."

Miss Marie Majerva, an authoress, of Czecho-Slovakia, who has been appointed as superintendent of the Czecho-Slovak National theatre at Prague, is also the first female of the Committee of the States of Bohemia.

Washwoman, Auto and Husky Fireman Missing

Lady's Husband, Sixty-two, Says He's Through With Women.

International News Service.
ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Oct. 23.—Women of St. Johnsbury's first families received a severe shock when they learned that their favorite washwoman, Mrs. David R. Corbett, aged 32, had disappeared in her new automobile, and that her chauffeur, Frank Douse, was also missing.

Mrs. Corbett had taken her daughter, Arvilla, aged 11, with her, leaving her husband, David R. Corbett, 62, and their other two children.

The Corbetts sold their farm about a year ago and had $1,800 in the bank. Mrs. Corbett got the automobile craze. Her husband bought her a new $1,350 machine and, after taking many lessons, decided he was not capable of driving a car; so he turned his job over to Frank Douse, a husky young member of the local fire department.

The advent of the Corbetts to motoring circles did not disturb Mrs. Corbett's activities at the washbasin, for she continued to do from eighteen to thirty washings a week for the elite of St. Johnsbury.

She said she liked the exercise and it afforded her so much more money for gasoline. After her morning exercise at the tubs she was often seen in the afternoon with her chauffeur, Douse, motoring in the White Mountains or taking tours across the northern border into Canada.

One morning Corbett's young wife bade him goodbye as he left for his work at a local factory. When he came home at noon his oldest daughter told him her mother had departed with two suitcases, the automobile and the chauffeur. Mrs. Corbett had also drawn $533 from the Citizens' savings bank, where the dwindling Corbett fortune was kept in her name.

An added mystery to the disappearance is the fact that Miss Lillian La France, a petite blonde, who came here a few weeks ago from Morrisville, and who was known to be friendly with Douse, is also missing. She told friends she was going to New York and might not be back. "I'm done with women," was the aged Mr. Corbett's declaration today. "My wife and I got along fine until we bought an automobile. Since then things have gone from bad to worse. I never want to see her again, and I don't want anything to do with any other woman."

RAILROAD SUES FOR PERMISSION TO QUIT

By Associated Press.
AUSTIN, Oct. 23.—The Timpson & Henderson Railway company has filed in the Texas supreme court an application for permission to file a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the attorney general to approve an amendment to the charter of the railroad which proposes to terminate the life of the corporation on Nov. 1.

The attorney general states that he refused to approve the amendment on the grounds that no corporation can terminate its corporate existence while liabilities are outstanding.

TEXAS "AID TO INJURED" LAW ATTACKED IN COURT

By Associated Press.
AUSTIN, Oct. 23.—The validity of the Texas law which makes it a felony for the driver of a motor vehicle to fail to stop and render aid to a person struck by him is attacked in the appeal of Ed Mosier, who was given a three-year penitentiary sentence for alleged commission of this offense in Tarrant county. Mosier contends that the portion of the bill exempting the law fails to express the subject of the law and that the bill contains more than one subject.

The most heavily insured woman in the United States is said to be Mrs. James J. Brown of Newport, R. I.

MADE IN GERMANY FETISH STILL HAS HEART OF WILHELM

AMERONGEN, Oct. 23.—The "Made in Germany" sign is still a fetish to the former German emperor. Though he is reported to feel that his country treated him shamefully, nevertheless he continues to buy for himself and his little court at Doorn German goods, sent direct from Berlin when possible, notwithstanding the fact that he has been in Holland nearly two years. This was most recently demonstrated when, in furnishing the little house that William has built here as a memorial of his stay in Amerongen, he had practically every stick of furniture and other equipment sent from Berlin.

tradesmen with whom the exile has to deal at Doorn, and also the workmen whom he has to engage from time to time, charge him all that the traffic will bear.

In parts of England and Scotland there exists an ancient custom for which reason is hard to find by which part of the wedding cake is broken over the head of the bride and the guests scramble for the pieces.

MAY GENTLEMAN EVER TELL A LADY TO "GO TO HELL?"

White Plains Jury Wrestles in Vain With Problem, While Town Crowds Court to Hear of Row Between Wealthy Neighbors.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Under what circumstances, if any, may a perfect gentleman tell a perfect lady to go to hell?

Tough question? That's what a jury decided up in White Plains. So tough, indeed, that the jurymen gave it up and failed to reach an agreement.

George C. Beresford, millionaire toy-maker with offices in this city and a home in White Plains, was defendant in the case. Mrs. Sidney Ward, also wealthy and his next neighbor, made the complaint. Because of their social position and what-not, there was almost as much interest in the trial as in an unbrisked world's series, and great was the disappointment of their respective friends when the case ended without a verdict for one or the other.

Both went to Judge Holden's court in limousines, and the machines of the spectators lined the street for a block. Servants of both houses watched the proceedings from rear seats.

According to the testimony, Mrs. Ward lighted a big fire of leaves and brush on her property, close to where it adjoins Beresford's, last Labor Day. That point was conceded, but the toy manufacturer, when he got to the stand, asserted it was about the fifteenth fire she had lighted there, and she always waited until the wind was blowing in his direction.

Beresford went angrily to the blaze, Mrs. Ward testified, and said to her:

"You and your fire are both old devils! If you insist upon smoke, I'll give you hell!"

Mrs. Ward's reply, according to her testimony, was voiced mildly. She merely told him to go back into his house, whereupon he replied: "You go to hell!" Thereupon she had him arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Beresford, upon the stand, declared Mrs. Ward's remarks to him were anything but mild. Her exact language, he declared, was:

"Go back in the house, you drunken bum."

"I admit, your honor, that when she made that remark I forgot for the moment I was a gentleman and I did tell her to go to hell, but I was under great provocation," said the defendant.

"It is up to you gentlemen of the jury," advised Judge Holden, "to decide whether Mr. Beresford made the alleged remarks, and you must also decide whether, if he did make them, he committed a crime in so doing."

The jurymen did their best. They struggled along for two hours, some contending that a perfect gentleman might, under stress, tell a perfect lady to go to hell, and others arguing that no lady should ever be thus treated. Then confessing that the question was beyond their unanimous accord, they reported to the Judge and were discharged.

RELIEF WORKER ARRIVES FROM POLAND WHERE SHE SERVED THROUGH RED SIEGE

Mrs. W. Palmer Fuller, as inspector for the American relief administration in the Warsaw district, served eighteen months in the war-torn country, remaining on duty through the recent siege of the Bolsheviks. She has just returned to the U. S. with her husband, Lieut. Fuller of San Francisco. He was Herbert Hoover's chief agent in Poland.

he was seen riding with a young woman on Sept. 3. The day after it was taken away from Fourth street and Washington avenue. He got it, he said, from a man named Adams, and sold it to an East St. Louis saloon keeper for a commission.

As it now turns out, nobody vitally concerned was misled by the notice. Mrs. Phelps did not see it, and kept on looking for her husband. The police saw it, but didn't believe it, and they also kept on looking. The young woman who was riding in the automobile with Phelps the day after it was stolen saw it, but it appears that she had inside information. When the police arrested Phelps Saturday night she was with him. When his wife found him today he was in a cell. She took him some lunch. Phelps said that although he had lost his liberty, he was glad to have found his wife and also was thankful for the lunch.

GOAT WASN'T DRUNK, BUT SURE HILARIOUS

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 23.—After four men had been thrown from an automobile which skidded and turned over at Nineteenth and Howard streets at 1 p. m. yesterday they refused to go to the city hospital unless a goat which had been with them in the machine were taken along.

At the hospital all except the goat were ordered held on a charge of being drunk on the street. At the clamorous insistence of the prisoners, the goat was taken into the hospital. There it got loose and scampered through hallways until doctors and nurses captured it. Later it was taken to a police station.

The men arrested were all hucksters who said they took a day off and went to East St. Louis, where they obtained whisky. One of the men said he bought the goat when the party was returning to St. Louis and he intended to fatten it and resell it.

LOVELY PANTS TO BE WORN BY LONDON WOMEN

International News Service
LONDON, Oct. 23.—The classic "Perils of Pauline" were not more involved in complications than have been the advance discussions on the fall and winter styles.

As in the classic P. of P., each day has brought forth some new entanglement. Those experts who scout and purvey to the faithful the "straight dope" have put their fingers on the mystery and said: "Behold! These are the winter styles."

This they have done time and again, day after day. And always with a different "these" under their finger. There has been no "straight dope." Nobody knows.

But now, perhaps we have it. A woman can wear practically what she likes, so long as she looks nice—

And—

Some of them are going to wear pants. This is no idle talk. Nor is it a rehash of the war garb of womankind, land girls and what-not.

This is straight from the well-known feedback. Pants for women are to be fashionable.

At Lucille's up in the hundred-guinea West End fashion-making or Paris-copied district, one may refer to the innovation as a "trouser effect." But, after all, politically and financially, women are wearing the pants. Why balk at the short and uglier word just because Lucille's is a dove-colored, soft-voiced emporium of the very rich and presumably cultured. "Our Special Representative," writing in the Evening Standard, is a learned scout for the fashion followers. The testimony follows:

"Just as the ordinary person really had begun to feel that he or she had quite a clear notion of the right kind of clothes, along came gowns with real trousers—none of your make-believe substitutes—and skirts that look like a succession of minarets."

And of one such, this intimate description:

"Real chic can be achieved in a skirt of green and silver brocade that finishes its career from the knee downward in a pair of tight-fitting breeches known as 'joghypurs.'"

"Even more effective is scarlet velvet, similarly treated as to extremities, bound with green velvet and draped with spangled purple chiffon."

"But don't run away with the notion that trousers are compulsory, or wide hips either, for that matter. Bewish also the fear that if your ankles are not as good as they might be they must be exhibited to the critical gaze of an unsympathetic world."

Lucille sanctions gowns that sweep the floor and cling so affectionately to the figure that one wonders how the wearer moves. Movement would, in fact, be almost impossible if it were not for convenient slits affording enchanting glimpses of foundations of chiffon and gold lace and similar loveliness."

"So you see, wear anything you like, including pants."

Girl government clerks employed in Washington are now compelled to pay $50.50 a month for board and lodging at the dormitories for women employees, erected with such speed during the war.

Death Notice Ruse Fails to Save Men From Theft Charge

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 23.—Bret Harte and other men have discovered that the heathen Chinese is peculiar—But he has competition. Witness the death notice below and the denouncements that come after it:

PHELPS—Entered into rest, suddenly, on Saturday, Sept. 18, 1920, at 10:25 a. m., Arril C. Phelps of 1514 North Sixteenth street, in his twenty-sixth year beloved brother of the late Brady Phelps, beloved husband of Mary Phelps (nee Basile), and our dear father.

Burial at Mount Pisgah, Ill. Deceased was a member of Marine Engineers, Local No. 474.

The fact is, however, that Phelps instead of being in the cemetery at Mount Pisgah, is in the holdover, charged with stealing an automobile. It is also a fact that when the foregoing death notice was inserted in the local paper, Sept. 19, the police were seeking Phelps on the theft charge, and his wife, from whom he was separated, was trying to find him to effect a reconciliation.

Phelps says he did not insert the notice, and declared that he doesn't know who did. He also declares that he does not know who stole the automobile of Luke Lamb, 8070 Page avenue, in which

HAUGHTY SPANISH DONS FIRST TO FIND OIL—GREASY SLIME USED BY INDIANS AS MEDICINE

In a region, enshrouded with tradition and rich in romance, where years ago the nomadic Spaniards wandered through its virgin forests blazing the great southwest trail, the scene of perhaps the most romantic chapter in the history of oildom, had its setting.

Staged among the "Mesas of the Mesquite," where the only sign of life was at that time the stalking prairie wolf and the loping jackrabbit, this drama with its preserving principals drew the curtain long ago. Every now and then it would be re-enacted for a short time, only to be still further trammelled under the maddening rush to other theaters of operations. The little wells of Eastland county, many of them very near to the Ranger camp, from which the city of Ranger got its name, were probably the first drilled west of the Father of Waters.

L. T. Welling of Crystal Falls, who is writing a history of the oil fields of North Central Texas from the earliest days to the present time, when the industry throughout the state is at the peak of its importance, has made a collection of data which will be incorporated in a book to be preserved among the archives of the state university.

It was only the increasing price of petroleum," according to Welling, "that gave the Ranger 'Rip Van Winkle' field a touch of life, so that soon the sound of the drill and the hum of derrick cables competed with the singing of the birds in disturbing the quiet of the West Texas plains."

Because of the many years that had elapsed since the first trace of oil was found in the Ranger district, according to Mr. Welling, the obtaining of information concerning the early developments of the territory proved quite a severe task upon the memories of some of the older citizens who were once familiar with the history of the adjacent country. In consequence of this several accounts differ somewhat in detail, but generally, Mr. Welling declared, the narrative is the same.

Stories handed down from one generation to another recount times back to the latter part of the eighteenth century and early part of the nineteenth, according to Mr. Welling, when Texas was under Spanish control and this part of the state was one of the routes northward and westward for the Spanish military.

"These resolute old adventurers," Mr. Welling declared, "after making the long and trying trip westward from Natchitoches, Louisiana, would find their oxen lame and sore and their heavy wooden wheeled wagons sorely in need of axle lubricants. Somewhere in this territory, it is not known exactly where, would, according to legend, stop at a spring and partake of its cool and refreshing waters. This spring was known as the Oil spring. Here man and animal would rest before taking up the rigorous trip onward. Besides its thirst quenching value this little spring became widely known for its oil content, then regarded quite properly as an effective curative.

"Near this little spring a formation had gathered on the ground resembling very much paraffin. This black substance was frequently scooped up by the travelers and smearred on the sores and bodies of the insect ridden oxen. More of it was applied to the axles of the heavy wooden wagons and carried along in cakes for future use."

It is said that the fresher grease was refined in a crude way and used medicinally as our present day white oil is used. It also was applied for skin afflictions and even the dainty Spanish señoritas were said to have gained remarkable complexions from its use in much the same manner her Egyptian predecessors did with the precious oils of her ancient time. This oil was kept on hand in all the wagon trains and wayside barricades of the Spanish adventurers and was used by the soldiery of the dauntless adventurers. Some times it was, according to legend, used by the Indians as fuel. Numerous points where oil seepage was considerable were frequented by Indians who used the greasy black stuff in numerous ways," Mr. Welling continued.

From the data in possession of the investigator, no variation occurred from the above mentioned customs of the inhabitants of the territory from the earliest known times up to the period just prior to the civil war. The Spaniards and Indians were driven from their virgin haunts to the forests, hills and swamps to the east of the state by the steady inroads of the whites when Texas secured its independence. It is at about this time, according to Mr. Welling, that the recollections of old timers is most valuable in recalling information germane to the period at hand.

According to some of these reports, he said, a water well was dug a few yards from the oil spring and, because a considerable trace of petroleum was found, it was refilled and abandoned to prevent pollution of the water. According to pioneers, near whose lands the well was dug, according to Mr. Welling, parties often would go to the old abandoned well at night and gather some of the oily slime nearby and build a fire. By the light of this fire they would then hunt the then abundant game in the thickets of mesquite trees and along the banks of a little creek nearby. The location of this spring, according to Mr. Welling, probably was about two or three miles north of the present site of the city of Ranger.

The older folks, according to the legends, would frequently shoot rabbids, wild turkey and sometimes deer, attracted to the vicinity by the glare of the fire. This meat often would be cooked over the burning oil fire, so the story goes.

Mr. Welling, himself, has grown wealthy through oil interests in North Central Texas, has retired and intends to spend the next few years in completing his history of the Ranger and other oil fields of the state. He has adopted this form of spending his spare time as a hobby and will continue to collect data until a full and authoritative history of the industry from its earliest stages to the present time is published in coherent and compact form.

AMERICAN HOLDS LARGE PART OF WORLD SEA TRADE

LONDON, Oct. 23.—There has been a big drop in freights during the past few months, a shipping authority has informed the Liverpool Post. Taking the market all round he said, freights have fallen by about 50 per cent since the beginning of the year. This situation is attributed to the increase in the world's shipping tonnage and the general scarcity of goods for export. Ships are leaving London and other United Kingdom ports with part cargoes.

"Before the war the United Kingdom was the carrier for half the goods of the world," said the shipping man. "Our share is now about one-third. The United States, which before the war owned a nominal amount of tonnage, is now our chief competitor and swallows much freight that would otherwise be carried in British holds. Operating costs are tremendously high, the coal item being one of the biggest factors.

FISHING ALONG GULF COAST BEST IN YEARS

By Associated Press
PORT LAVACA, Texas, Oct. 23.—De- votes of the sport of deep water fishing have bagged record catches along the gulf reefs and oodles this year. Fishing has been excellent for the entire 1920 season, both as to size and quantity.

Game fish playing has been more in evidence this year than ever before, south Texas anglers assert, and the hauls of trout, fighting redfish and kingfish have increased in proportion. Trout and redfish have been taken in larger numbers than usual, both along the shel reefs of the bay shore and at the jetties. Plounders have not been as plentiful as last year, but veteran "ziggers" report good catches from a number of the known fields. Shrimps and crabs, however, have been plentiful the entire season, except during the latter part of July when, for no known reason, fishermen returned without their customary large bags of these delicacies.

Spanish mackerel, which were scarce in early season, descended on the south Texas coast in great numbers during the latter part of August and the whole of September. The Spanish mackerel run is declared by veteran gulf fishermen to have been the greatest in years. Along with the exceptionally good mackerel fishing, great numbers of Kingfish—known as the gamest and speediest of the finny tribe—were taken at the jetties and the reefs.

During the entire season fishermen who utilized yachts or bay steamers in going to particularly good fishing grounds, seldom returned with less than two hundred pounds as a day's catch.

'THIN WINTER FOR RUBE' SAID MARQUARD'S WIFE AS DIVORCE IS GRANTED

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—"It looks like a thin winter for Rube Marquard," said his former wife, Blossom Seely, vaudeville star, as she stepped from the witness stand in Judge Joseph Sabath's court just after she had been granted a divorce from the big league baseball pitcher.

"He lost his job last week, lost his wife today, and now his earning power on the stage is gone," said Blossom. Marquard was released by the Brooklyn National League baseball club during the world's series when he was arrested in Cleveland on a charge of ticket scalping. Desertion was the grounds given by the actress for the divorce. When Miss Seely took the witness stand Judge Sabath asked:

"Did you get any tickets for the world's series?"

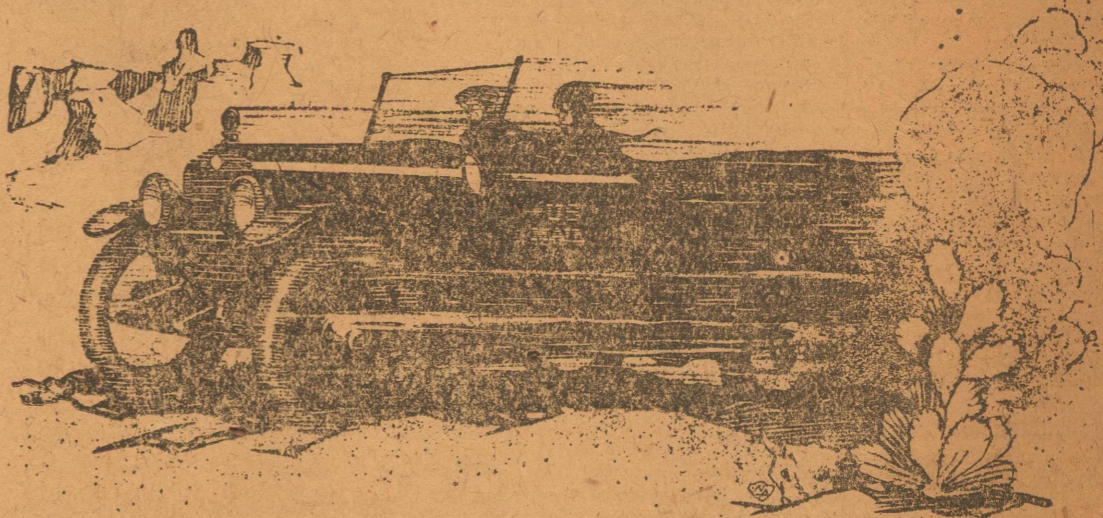

"You can bet I didn't," she answered. Miss Seely explained she did not ask custody of the child, 5 years of age, did not want her name changed, nor did she want alimony.

"As a baseball player Rube was a poor supporter of a family," she told the Judge. "I was in Memphis on my vaudeville tour in 1918 when I received a wire from my husband telling me to hurry back to New York. I cancelled my engagements and went to New York. I found our apartment bare. The furniture had been sold. I couldn't find Rube."

English women coming to the United States to complete their education outnumber the men by a large majority.

Race Issue Drives White Republicans into Democratic Ranks; Tide Swings to Cox

Harding Has Made Vote-Losing Breaks on All of His Speaking Trips; Democrats Claim Senate Also.

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS.
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The Democratic National Committee today firmly believes that James M. Cox has won his fight and will be elected president a week from Sunday. There is more optimism around the Democratic headquarters in the Grand Central Palace than in any place in the United States.

With money pouring in from every section of the nation, nearly always accompanied by letters from men and women who tell how near the League of Nations as a war preventive is to their hearts, with every mail bringing letters and contributions from former Republicans and explanations that they cannot support Harding, it is little wonder that Chairman George White and all of his assistants are in high glee.

Republicans Switch.
There is a constant stream of telegraph messenger boys filing into headquarters here. Generally they bring telegrams from state managers and other workers telling how the drift toward Cox in their state is increasing, very often the telegrams are from former Republicans anxious to go on the stump for Cox.

The Democratic candidate himself reached the nation's metropolis today closing his first week's campaign in the East. Everywhere he has gone in the East, which had been considered enemy territory, Cox has been given marvelous receptions, but it remained for the nation's metropolis itself to furnish the milkiest crowd that has yet greeted the Democratic nominee. Governor James M. Cox today has been given one continuous ovation. If cheers can be translated into votes, New York state will give its 45 votes to Cox and Roosevelt ten days hence.

When Governor Cox arrived here today he was told that every mail for a week had brought in campaign contributions. These have averaged from $20.00 to $35.00 a day. The average contribution has ranked 50 cents to $2.

Governor Cox was also told that the list of business men, educators, clergy men, professional men and others who heretofore have been Republicans but have decided to support the Ohio governor has grown to unbelievable proportions. It is doubtful if the Republican leaders themselves realize the seriousness of this defection from Harding.

G. O. P. Admits Drift.
G. O. P. managers admit that the drift is toward Cox, but they say he was too far behind when it began for him to catch up in the short time remaining. Chairman Hays, back from the East, admitted his claim of Harding's main election, but his tones were less optimistic than a week ago. Democrats merely whistling to keep up their courage and that he must realize that the tide has definitely set against Harding.

One of the most sensational of the Democratic recruits this week was Mrs. Timmons Blaine, daughter-in-law of the late James G. Blaine. Mrs. Blaine is a sister of Senator Medill McCormick, of Illinois, League irreconcilable. Senator McCormick is also Republican National Committeeman from Illinois and a Republican leader. Mrs. Blaine said she believed the League of Nations the only method of preventing war. Her accession was hailed by Democratic leaders as proof that the women of the nation are for the league and will swing the election to Cox next week.

Reports from West Virginia, Indiana, Illinois, Maryland and Kentucky said that the aggressiveness of negroes in the Republican campaign is solidifying the white vote behind Governor Cox. In all these states negroes are demanding recognition. In Louisville negroes are bitterly attacking the Democrats, declaring that party leaders are attempting to keep negro women from voting.

Race Issue Bobs Up.
Democrats deplore the race issue, despite the fact that it is aiding their cause in the border states. From Louisville comes reports that the action of Governor Harding in going to a reception by negro women when white Republican leaders were waiting for him, caused the loss of thousands of white Republican votes in Kentucky.

It is Ohio, the home state of both the candidates, however, that the race issue has been injected into the campaign through the insistence of the negro leaders that the negroes show a solid front for the G. O. P. state and national tickets this fall and then in the event of Republican victory to demand the enactment of a law similar to the Beatty bill which failed at the last session of the legislature.

Would Force "Equality."
The Beatty bill provides severe penalties upon those discriminating against colored people seeking admission to hotels, theatres, places of amusement, ice cream parlors, bath houses, barber shops, public libraries, hospitals, pool and billiard rooms, schools, colleges and universities, picture shows and public conveyances.

In furtherance of their plans to pass the Beatty law, negroes have entered six candidates for the legislature and will attempt to elect them all. They believe the six negroes would hold a balance of power and could receive the Beatty bill in a trade of their votes for bills which the white members want.

This circular is being distributed broadcast through Ohio to prospective negro voters:

"Americanize America.
"Let us all stand together and make victory sure by electing Harding and Coolidge.
"Colored voters, which have the balance of power in all northern states considered doubtful, with the aid of the colored ladies, will assure for the colored race social and political equality."
There are 50,000 new negro voters in Ohio and their demands are worrying white Republican leaders.
Democratic leaders were somewhat interested in the poll made by allied move-

DARING ESCAPE OF PRISONERS STIRS SING SING OFFICIALS

A—Key room. B—Warden's room. 1—Death house. 2—The Mortuary. 3—New York Central railroad tracks entering tunnel under grounds. 4—One of many towers in which machine guns may be placed. 5—Foundation of new classification building. 6—Warden's residence. Entrance to prison is through (B) warden's offices.

The recent daring escape from the world-famous Sing Sing prison of two prisoners and the failure of attaches and police officials of the surrounding country to capture them has stirred prison and New York state officials. George Stivers, serving twenty years for murdering a policeman, and Marcus Bassett, side the prison walls, made their escape. They stole a nearby auto and when that machine gave out stole another. They obtained civilian clothes by holding up a party of autoists on the road. As a result of their escape prison officials plan a shakeup in the force and additions to the protective measures about the prison, such as machine guns in the wall towers.

much better to have stayed on the front porch as he intended doing until Governor Cox drove him into campaign touring. Baltimore speech, where he said he had no plan whatever as to a substitute for ing picture theatres, in Ohio, the most pretentious straw vote yet taken in the Buckeye state, which showed Cox leading Harding. The vote showed an overwhelming lead for Cox in Dayton and Toledo. Harding was shown to have a slight lead in Cleveland and Cincinnati.

All of the Democratic leaders believe Governor Cox is certain to carry Ohio. But they say the straw vote means little. In fact both Democratic and Republicans declare that the most unreliable barometer known to politics is the straw vote. It shows anything the poll taker wishes it to show usually and even when it is undertaken on a large non-partisan basis, it doesn't show anything. As a usual thing American citizens do their voting on election day. If a straw ballot which means nothing they vote factiously as often as sincerely.

Both Democrats and Republicans say that Senator Harding has been extremely unfortunate in his utterances on the stump and that he would have done the League of Nations, his Des Moines speech where he declared he was seeking not reservations, but rejection, or his GreenCastle speech where he said "France has sent her spokesmen to me informally, asking America, in its new realization of the new situations, to lead the way for an association of nations" has proven the biggest mistake.

Senator Harding, pressed by President Wilson and faced with the French foreign office denial that such a representative had been sent, admitted that it was merely a French citizen, without any authority from the government. Boiled down, this neutrality meant no more than if Senator Borah or some other opponent of the League had gone to some private citizen in France and asked that France withdraw from the present League.

Democratic leaders said today that the fight for control of the Senate is won and that the effort henceforth will be concentrated to win the House of Representatives and the Presidency. The Democrats expect to hold on the seats contested and believe they are certain to elect Democratic successors to Brandagee of Connecticut, Watson of Indiana, Moses of New Hampshire and Spencer of Missouri, and have better than an even chance to defeat Smoot of Utah, and Cummins of Iowa. In Illinois, they say, Waller, Democrat, has a good chance to defeat McKinley, Republican, as successor to Senator Sherman, who is not a candidate for re-election.

OIL

TESTS MADE AT RANGER REVEAL ENORMOUS LOSS OF GASOLINE BY PREVENTABLE EVAPORATION

Three Billion Gallons of Most Volatile Gas Wasted Annually.

While engineers, chemists and automobile men throughout the country have been bending their best efforts toward developing some new fuel as a substitute for gasoline to meet the ever increasing demands of the fast growing automobile industry in the United States, the Bureau of Mines of the Federal Government comes forward with the declaration that the entirely preventable losses in the evaporation of gasoline from crude petroleum from the time it leaves the wells until the time it arrives at the consumer reaches a total of more than 3,000,000,000 gallons each year, or sufficient to keep 1,200,000 automobiles in commission a year if each uses 250 gallons of gasoline.

The worst feature of this condition is that the gasoline wasted is the most volatile and consequently the most valuable in point of power production obtainable. It follows, according to oil authorities, that the prevention of this loss, which is economically possible, would not only increase the gasoline supply materially but also increase the general standard of the gasoline.

Government Will Aid. According to information received here, the Bureau will shortly issue careful directions to the oil men as to how this deplorable situation can be remedied. It is estimated by the Bureau that 60,000,000 gallons of gasoline lost through evaporation each year is worth a national asset of about $150,000,000. J. O. Lewis, petroleum technologist of the bureau, in a statement on these losses says: "At a time when there exists so much apprehension in regard to the gasoline situation, it is comforting to learn of any ways in which the supply can be increased. In an intensive effort to find ways of increasing and improving the quality of gasoline, the bureau of mines has made an investigation of losses of gasoline by evaporation from crude oil in the field. Extensive experiments and investigations in the principle fields has disclosed the fact that large and expensive quantities of gasoline have been lost through evaporation from crude oil in the field. This can be conservatively estimated at about 20 per cent of the gasoline in the crude oil. Furthermore, probably half of this, at least, can be economically recovered, and this will not only increase our supply of gasoline, but improve the quality somewhat."

BRITISH MINERS' WIVES PROTEST STRIKE IN VAIN

Miners' wives, bearing banners, going to protest meeting at Hyde Park, England, and a group of miners, typical of those now on strike.

Knowing the cost and where the blow would hit hardest, the wives of the 1,000,000 British miners made every effort to prevent the strike which has practically halted coal production in the British Isles. Their efforts failed, however. Thousands of the wives attended a protest meeting in Hyde Park just before the strike was finally called by the leaders.

The wives attended a protest meeting in Hyde Park just before the strike was finally called by the leaders.

DISCRIMINATION IS CAUSE OF LOW PRICE OF CRUDE

The fact that crude oil from Ranger and Stephens county sources is bringing only $2.50 a barrel is a vital question deserving of the interest, not only of every producer in the territory concerned, but every royalty owner in the field, according to oil men here. It is held that oil from this territory should bring $5 a barrel readily, when it is compared with the prices being paid for oil from other fields where discrimination does not exist. The present oil shortage, according to these oil men, is causing keen competition among buyers and when it is taken into consideration that storage reserves are estimated at several million barrels behind last year's figures, with little prospect for a change for the better, it is surprising that crude has advanced but 33.13 per cent in that length of time while low grade or heavy production has practically doubled in the same period of time.

An example is shown in the Caddo heavy crudes in the Louisiana fields, which went begging for from seventy-five cents to $1 a year ago and which today are commanding about twice that sum, it is understood. While in the Burnett field premiums run from forty-five to sixty-five cents and in the Homer fields from fifty to eighty cents.

To bolster up their arguments for high prices for Texas crude the oil authorities advance figures to show that the United States produces 63 per cent of the world's petroleum supply and consumes 73 per cent. Although there has been an increased production in this country during the last year, they say it does not begin to compare with the expanded demand. The fact that the United States consumes more than it produces means that this country must import during the present year from 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 barrels to prevent a slowing down of the industries dependent upon oil for power. This condition alone should result in a better price and would so result were it not for discrimination detrimental to North Central Texas production, it is claimed.

Whole Families Must Live in One Room in Saloniki

SALONIKI, Greece, Sept. 29.—Americans who think they are suffering severely from bad housing and living conditions and high rents should get a glimpse of this congested and benighted Oriental city with its narrow, dark streets, cobble pavements, tumble-down buildings, cellar-like homes, and other concomitants of poverty. There are only enough houses to shelter one-half of the population of 175,000. The rest of the people live in tents, in huts, in the fields, or among the charred ruins of their former homes which were desolated by a great fire that leveled the city to ashes in August, 1917.

Only the wealthiest can afford anything like a fully furnished house. Whole flats or apartments are unknown; a family must be content with a single room. Rents have increased greatly and are quite on a par with those prevailing in American cities. Tenants have no such legal protection against landlords as those enjoyed by New York residents. So great is the need for space that the municipality has turned over a number of Turkish mosques in which to shelter the people. In one of these ancient shrines 500 people live as in one great family. They sleep on the stone floor and live a primitive community life. Saloniki is strikingly like the devastated areas of Northern France. Everywhere are ruined homes, tangled wreckage, and piles of dirt and debris. The government has done little toward relieving the city since the great fire which left 75,000 persons homeless and entailed $50,000,000 property damage. The housing authorities have put up several temporary structures, containing four to eight rooms, each room housing a whole family of eight or ten. Sleeping, eating and washing are done in the same room. The Jewish Community also has erected a small number of houses, but they are wholly inadequate to take care of the large number of persons without homes and the constant stream of refugees from Macedonia.

under a ruling from the department of justice, held that a diplomat violates the Volstead act when he transports intoxicating liquors across United States territory in a common carrier or other public conveyance. "Waage" Carries Held Guilty. If he should take a jug of whiskey on a foreign ship and bring it by hand or private motor car, to his office at Washington, he is within the law. But if he is brought here in an American-owned automobile or is driven by an American citizen, then the owner of the machine or the American driver is guilty and will be prosecuted.

The internal revenue commission with report diplomats who have violated the dry laws to the state department. He admits that he has no authority to arrest them. Attorney General Palmer denied today that he knew anything about the alleged withdrawal of liquor in bond for the entertainment of delegates to the Democratic convention at San Francisco. He sent this telegram to Acting Mayor Ralph McLean of San Francisco: Telegram to Mayor. "My attention has just been called to a dispatch from San Francisco that forty barrels of whiskey and gin were with drawn from bond on order of Dr. William C. Hassler, City Health Officer, ostensibly for use of San Francisco Municipal hospital but actually for entertainment of delegates to the Democratic National Convention according to facts revealed by grand jury investigation. The dispatch further states as follows: "Acting Mayor Ralph McLean declared that Attorney General Palmer, who was attending the convention as a delegate, knew all about the transaction, if you have been correctly quoted, I call upon you either to produce the proof of your statement or publicly retract it. "I know nothing about any liquor being withdrawn in San Francisco for any purpose. If my name was used by any persons withdrawing liquor it was entirely without my knowledge or authority. If you have any facts or information upon which your statement was based you should furnish them immediately to the United States Attorney, whom I have directed to make full and complete investigation of this matter."

AUTO IGNITES 'GAS POCKET'; MAN IS DEAD WIFE IN HOSPITAL. OKMULGEE, Okla., Oct. 23.—Gayle Reese, 18, is dead here from burns received near Beegs, Okla., last week. Reese and his wife were driving near Beegs and ran through what is termed in the oil fields a "gas pocket." The gas became ignited when the motor car passed through, and the couple were enveloped in flames. They leaped from the car, their clothing ablaze, and extinguished the flames by rolling in the grass. Mrs. Reese now is in a hospital where it is said her condition is serious. The car was destroyed.
