

COOPER SCHOOL PARENT-TEACHERS MEET.

The Parent-Teachers association of the Cooper school met Thursday afternoon at the school building. Quite an interesting program was rendered. Miss McQuery, the first grade teacher, demonstrated a very interesting reading lesson of first grade pupils by reviewing them on the words they have already had.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. C. O. Jensen; first vice-president, Mrs. Neff; second vice-president, Mrs. E. V. Mills; secretary and treasurer, Miss Pansy Garber; corresponding secretary and press reporter, Miss Annie Cooper.

The association decided to meet every first and second Thursday afternoon of each month, the first Thursday to be a social meeting, the third Thursday to be a business meeting, at the school building.

The next meeting will be at 3 o'clock next Thursday. All the parents are urged to be present.

MANY SUITS SHOW THIS LOOSE PANEL EFFECT IN BACK

By ELOISE.

From one extreme to the other go the suits that Paris is creating this season. Either they are tailored with the utmost simplicity and severity of line or they are provided with belts and pockets, fur bands and buttons, all put together with a charm that keeps them far from the class popularly known as gingerbread. It takes the French to do these things with suits without destroying their natural dignity. Somehow a Parisian designer can add extraneous trimmings to a garment of simple character and still keep it simple. In truth many are their ways of successes in this matter of feminine clothes.

Many of the new fall suits of American designers show some of these Parisian touches. Here is one which features fur and embroidery. These two in combination are often seen ornamenting the fall suits. Another feature which is popular this year is the loose back which is sometimes made in a panel effect. Here the loose back panel has a deep band of embroidery trimming it. The front is belted and trimmed with large tabs of mole. A choker collar of the mole completes the costume.

MUSIC CLUB ORGANIZED.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Episcopal Women's Auxiliary was held Friday afternoon. About thirty ladies were present and after the business meeting a social hour was held. During this time three of Ranger's first musicians delightfully entertained. Mrs. McCoy and Mrs. Reid sang in a most charming manner and Mrs. Wakefield played splendidly.

After hearing the good music it was decided to ask these ladies to help the auxiliary form a music club, which has been so badly needed in Ranger. The auxiliary had worked out plans and called a music council of the following members: Mrs. Wakefield, chairman; Mrs. Roy Smith, Mrs. Robert McCoy, and Mrs. E. B. Reid, which promptly went to work with the organization and decided the first twenty-five members would be charter members. These were quickly obtained.

The club is open to membership to all ladies of Ranger. Further information can be obtained by writing to Mrs. Wakefield, 1103 Young street, or Mrs. E. B. Reid, "Hillcrest."

MEETING AT WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

The Ladies' Aid of the First Presbyterian church met at the Women's Exchange Friday afternoon with Miss Katy Van Doren and Mrs. B. B. Liles in charge. Plans for the exchange formed the principal business topics. Twelve members were present.

BOON-CARROLL.

Mr. S. P. Boon, of this city, and Miss Lena Carroll of Panhandle, Texas, were married at the home of the bride Thursday, Oct. 14. Mr. and Mrs. Boon will be at home in Ranger after Nov. 1st.

MR. AND MRS. FINNEY GIVE BRIDGE PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellen D. Finney entertained with a bridge party Friday evening at their home in Burger Addition. Those playing besides the host and hostess were Dr. and Mrs. Lauderdale, Mrs. Felt, Mrs. G. W. Boham, Mr. Winfor and Mrs. Finney's brother, Mr. Smith, of Baltimore.

JAMES GARBER WHITE CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY.

At four o'clock Saturday afternoon the little friends of James Garber White met at his home in Young addition to celebrate his ninth birthday.

The guests were met at the door by the little host who relieved them of their remembrances. They were then refreshed with iced grape juice.

After much fun and frolic, cream cones were served to the following: Edgar Barker, Russell Keller, Lowell and Dorothy Tennant, Bobby and Jack Sandford, Marie Hudson, Grace Kellog, Mary and Frances McNeill, Pauline Lome, Sara Williams, Raymond Taylor, Virginia Lucker, Marjorie Maddox, Archie Mills, Louis and John Baker, George and Marjorie Taggart, Tom Stockman, Mead McCall, Wilburn June McFarland, Elizabeth Garber, Bobby and James Garber White.

At 6 o'clock the guests departed, each being given a tiny hand painted paper basket filled with candy, grapes and gum.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Speaking at a military reunion dinner, Brigadier-General H. M. Lord, chief of finances of the United States army, said his department in Washington has 4,000 Liberty Bonds representing $375,000 which belong to soldiers who cannot be found. The bonds have been held two years, and carry coupons representing $30,000 in interest.

The department, he said, had been unable to reach the owners at the addresses they had given, and has appealed to the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus and other war organizations to help locate them.

Lord also said his department is seeking 3,000 discharge certificates of soldiers who also cannot be found.

Customs Men Find Many Strange Dens In Battle of Wits With Drug Smugglers

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—Suppose you were approaching the American shore from the Orient intending to smuggle a fortune in illicit drugs through the United States Customs line—where would you hide it aboard ship to baffle the searching officers?
If you know ships and contemplate the problem for a moment, you can comprehend the dangerous and ceaseless game of hide-and-seek played by "dope" runners, crookedest of crooks, and Uncle Sam's shrewdest detectives.

A little packet of opium, valued at maybe $50,000—to be concealed in a ship as big and complex as a block of city homes and offices! Thousands try. Very few succeed.

The game is played on nearly every ship arriving on the Pacific Coast from the Orient. The stake is quick wealth—or arrest, for prices on narcotics have soared to a fabulous figure, and the United States custom men, with years of experience, are more than a match for the keenest smugglers. From bow to stern the customs officers know every inch of every ship putting into San Francisco, as you know your own home.

With the docking of a ship they swarm over the side, complete the baggage examination and start their hunt. Every screw, every panel is examined; every cushion and mattress probed; every bundle and package opened, every corner ransacked and every dark crevice lighted, for the slightest evidence of tampering.

Secret Panels.

The smugglers they face are seldom amateurs. Screws are carefully withdrawn, panels taken out and the valuable narcotics hidden from sight in the most unlikely places, after which the place is again painted and varnished.

The job is never done. Upon her next arrival the ship is as carefully searched, the crew as thoroughly examined. But while the drugs are nearly always found, the smuggler is seldom caught. Among hundreds in the crew it is impossible to single out the one who hid the morphine under 20 tons of bunker coal, or who put the opium behind the sounding board of the deck piano.

And the smugglers, lured by the slim prospect of wealth, never quit, never lose hope. Each trip new hiding places are devised, maybe among decorations of the dining room ceiling, or in hollowed legs of the dining tables.

Night Battles.

Often at night, small boats creep alongside Oriental ships, and small packages are thrown out. But capture usually follows quickly, sometimes after desperate battles in which customs officers are wounded.

The force is seriously handicapped by lack of men. Colonel John S. Irby, surveyor of the Port of San Francisco, has requested an additional number to successfully carry on his work. For with the rapidly spreading use of narcotics in America, the smuggler is becoming even more daring and desperate.

Need More Men

At present only from three to six men can be spared to cope with the hundreds of Orientals on each ship. Last year they seized $150,000 worth of narcotics, which, when sold to the addicts, of which it is estimated there are 1,500,000 in the United States, would value perhaps two or three million dollars.

Some narcotics get through, but the quantity is negligible. And the man who gets it through coast ports can say with criminal pride that he outguessed men who are seldom outguessed—Uncle Sam's customs detective squad.

Catherine Calvert

Miriam Cooper

Stage Star on Screen—This Star a Painter, Ran Away From Home—Heroine of Bride 13—"The Penalty"—A Texas Beauty.

Miss Calvert will soon appear in a spectacular all-star presentation of "Dead Men Tell No Tales," a screen version of the famous novel of the same name by E. W. Hornung, author of "Raffles," and other well known stories of intrigue and adventure.

Miss Calvert's stage career has consisted of one success tripping on the heels of the last. To mention just a few of her stage hits, she played leading roles in "Romance of the Underworld," and "The Escape." From the stage, her entrance into the silent drama was to be expected and her remarkable triumph on the screen more than fulfilled expectations aroused by her previous work.

Miriam Cooper, one of film's best players. According to Miss Cooper, many girls with screen aspirations have failed to get the coveted opportunity they sought because they did not comb their hair properly; and many others who have succeeded in getting to the "extra" and "bit" stage in the picture world have failed to climb to the top for the same reason.

Some directors claim that unless a girl has a coiffure that will screen well, her opportunities for film fame are greatly curtailed. So as a consequence, it is very essential that in addition to genuine historic ability, a feminine photoplayer must also have a coiffure.

peare repertoire at the Alcazar theatre in that city with Lewis Morrison and W. E. Morrison, appearing opposite Maude Adams, who was the ingenue in the company. In 1904 Mr. Bosworth was forced to go to Arizona for his health and during his sojourn there took up landscape painting. Regaining his strength he became director of the stock company at the Belasco theatre in Los Angeles, a position which he held for three years. It was in 1909 that he made his first screen appearance and since that time he has appeared as a star and in important roles in hundreds of films, has written ninety odd plays and has directed more than a hundred.

Marguerite Clayton, leading woman in "Bride 13" is a combination of widely divergent qualities. Like the blonde heroines of the Icelandic Sagas, she is equally fitted to make the home of peace and contentment and to defend it with courage and deeds of valor. "Beware of blue eyes and yellow locks when the battle is on!" When the pirate crew took over the job of abducting the thirteenth bride they found their hands full.

Marguerite Clayton can hardly remember herself as too young to dive and swim like a duck and to ride with the freedom of a wild west cowgirl. On cattle ranges she rode in the round-up, and among the redwoods she camped and grew expert with the rifle. Always life in the open filled her with the greatest satisfaction.

Officers and men of the United States navy are enthusiastic picture patrons. Therefore the appearance of the company in at Newport to begin "shooting" the serial "Bride 13" with the cordial co-operation of the navy was a welcome interlude for the sea fighters.

Hope Hampton, the young Texas beauty, first came into prominence as the winner of a state-wide newspaper beauty contest. Immediately she was besieged with contracts for stage and screen work, which she wisely refused to sign until she had taken further training in those lines. "A Modern Salome," one of her best productions is based on the famous dramatic poem "Salome," by Oscar Wilde. Her last play is "The Tiger Lady."

"The Penalty." "Art and science fail to agree in this scene from 'The Penalty,' by Gouverneur Morris. Young Doctor Wilmot (Kenneth Harlan), trying to prevail upon Barbara (Claire Adams), to give up her artistic effort and become his wife. But art is not so easily set aside and Barbara has a will of her own so many things must happen before the doctor has his way. And they do happen with startling speed in this tale of the San Francisco underworld. The story is marked by a succession of surprises."

Nazimova's Beautiful Home. The brilliant Russian star is the mistress of a beautiful estate several miles out of Los Angeles, nestled among the foothills. Her residence is a handsome stucco and Spanish tile building of two stories; more roomy than the justly famed California bungalow. Ivy and other clinging vines have worked a deft pattern green on the stucco walls.

BALKAN STATES NO LONGER NEED RELIEF WORK

By Associated Press BERLIN, Oct. 16.—"The American Relief Administration will need $10,000,000 to feed the hungry children of Europe and to maintain its warehousing work this winter," W. L. Brown, who is in charge of the European relief said on the eve of a conference of twenty men who are managing the association's offices in Germany, Poland, Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and the free state of Danzig.

but he declared that the Russo-Polish war had doubled the demands on the Relief administration in Poland where at least 900,000 children and thousands of adults are facing starvation.

Plans are being prepared to open warehouses and feeding stations in central and southern Poland which was devastated by the Bolsheviks. The relief may also be extended eastward in north Poland to the inhabitants who were rendered destitute by the Russian invasion which virtually disrupted the arrangements for feeding a half a million Polish children.

The conditions in Hungary and Jugoslavia also necessitate the expenditure of sums aggregating the amounts which were expended last winter and the situation in Germany, Mr. Brown said, was such that there could be no thought of abandoning the distribution of food packages.

"White Collars" Hard Hit. A new phase of the relief work has been disclosed by the reports from workers that the direct distress prevails among the "white collar class" in all war stricken countries. "Some of the

Max Allison

Two little tales about Max Allison reached our desk which will surely interest her followers. The first one is an agricultural note which says that Miss Allison, Metro star, has turned gardener. She is taking a personal interest in the beautifying of the grounds surrounding her new home in Beverly Hills and a Japanese garden is one of the features she is solely responsible for. It is further reported that the fair lady also aspires to be a huntress and has arranged for a gun invasion of the Big Bear territory in southwestern California. The second note is scandalous, or nearly so. I shall give it to you as it was written to me:

"Residents of Hollywood, Cal., are bemoaning the fact that they were not up early one morning last week, as they thereby missed seeing a startling reproduction of Lady Godiva's famed ride by Max Allison as one scene in Metro's screen version of 'The Marriage of William Ashe.' The horse upon which Miss Allison rode became excited by the lights and clicking cameras in the studio and bolted through an archway down through the streets of Hollywood. A chauffeur captured the fleeing animal after three blocks and brought it and the blushing star back to the studio. 'I'm glad it was three o'clock in the morning,' Miss Allison is reported to have said."

Gossipy Bits. According to reports, George Walsh is to quit the Fox banner and become a producer "on his own."

Ben Turpin, whose eyes assert a various message in Mack Sennett comedy concoctions, celebrates this month the fifty-third anniversary of his birth.

Madge Bellamy, who supported William Gillette in "Dear Brutus," will be leading woman for Douglas MacLean in "One a Minute."

More than a thousand movie players attended a memorial service in one of the Los Angeles studios for Olive Thomas, Robert Harron, Clarine Seymour, Ormer Locklear and Frank Elliott.

Harrison Ford has become a wholesale leading man. He has signed to appear in plays with both Norma and Constance Talmadge.

Louise Lorraine is having the time of her cinema career acting as leading lady for Elmo Lincoln in his Universal serial, "The Flaming Disk."

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 16.—The girls of Kansas City and St. Louis are too fast and they are afraid to take a dip into the matrimonial sea with a man who is only yearning $30 a week. SISTER THROWS PEPPER IN EYES OF SUMMER BOARDER FROM CITY TO 'SAVE' BROTHER FROM 'HARM'

It Would Appear It's Not Proper in New Jersey for Married Woman to Talk to Young 25-Year-Old Man.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A strange story comes out of a tiny town in New Jersey, and falls even more strangely on the ears of New York. In the city the most liberal views of personal freedom are held. Yet in villages only a few hours distant the rigid rules of early New England still bind in their relentless grip.

The tongues of the village of Jamesburg have wagged with gossip of the choicest sort—the suggestion that one of the village's most acceptable men was decidedly attentive to a young matron among the city summer visitors at a boarding house. The result was the near blinding of the city woman with a handful of red pepper thrown in her face by the young man's angry sister, the arrest of the thrower Tuesday night and her release on $200 bail.

Mrs. John Jennings, the sister, is the wife of a Jamesburg commission merchant, who is assistant chief of the village fire department. Mrs. Herbert P. Thomas, wife of an insurance broker of the firm of McCrae & Thomas, was the victim. "Forgot the Consequences." Yesterday Mrs. Jennings, young and comely, with brown hair and flashing eyes, said: "Yes, I threw the pepper into that woman's face because I did not want my brother to become too well acquainted

TWO WOMEN'S VIEWS OF RED PEPPER AS A MORAL WEAPON

Here are explanations given on each side of the Jamesburg, N. J., affair, in which an angry sister, Mrs. John Jennings, a native of the village, threw red pepper into the face of Mrs. Herbert P. Thomas, a summer visitor. Said Mrs. Jones, mother of the young woman who threw the pepper: "The village may be narrow, I grant. But if city people watched one another's conduct a little more closely, as village people do, it would have a wholesome effect."

"I understand the rigid lines of convent and small town. But this thing is so amazingly unforesighted I couldn't understand it. It apparently is the result of unreasonable jealousy, fanned into flame by village gossip."

with her on long walks. "My mother has been in a frightfully nervous state all summer because of her, and so have I. When I saw Mrs. Thomas as talking to my brother in front of our house I forgot all about the consequences, rushed into the house, got the pepper and threw it at her."

Chatted When They Met. Mrs. Thomas was found in a house not far away, minding her four children, each of whom had a separate demand for every moment. The eldest is not yet 8 years. The youngest lay tossing her things from the baby carriage and demanding that they be restored to her. There is soon to be a fifth. Of the whole affair Mrs. Thomas said: "It is apparently the result of an unreasonable jealousy, fanned to flame by village gossip."

EASTSIDE

"I sometimes met Mr. Jones when I was marketing and stopped to chat with him for a moment on the street. My regard for the boy was of the most evident impersonal nature. "One day about two weeks ago my husband had a letter from Mrs. Jennings asking him to watch the conduct of his wife and relating stories of gossip that had reached her. As the letter was sent to his office in New York he immediately rushed home to see what was the matter. Of course he was indignant. We agreed that in view of the gossip it would be best not to speak to the young men in future."

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 16.—A stranger stopped Edward C. Webster of 4934 Washington boulevard, near Twenty-second and Market streets, admired a raincoat he wore, asked him where he bought it and finally said he would give him $28.50 for it. That being a few more dollars than Webster paid for the coat, he agreed.

Webster waited outside for half an hour before he investigated further and learned the man was not known at the address and had walked through a hall, out the rear way and escaped by an alley. TRADE OF ALL OIL FIELDS IS CENTERED HERE

New Advertising and Boosting Campaign to Follow the Trade Carnival.

So successful has been the trade carnival of the Ranger Retail Merchants' association that another similar campaign advertising Ranger as the "hub of the oil fields" will be inaugurated close in the wake of the one now under way and due to end Nov. 1.

The initial carnival has convinced merchants of the benefits accruing from such effort, according to leaders in the movement, and there will be no slackening of effort until Ranger's leadership in North Central Texas as a trade center is indelibly impressed on the minds of purchasers and potential purchasers in every tributary town, city and community.

Indicative of the pulling power of the carnival's publicity campaign is the story of an oil operator in Stephens county, distant from Ranger, who brought his driller into Ranger to outfit him with fall winter apparel when the latter brought in a well above the expectations of the operator in production.

From Carbon the other day a number of buyers came to Ranger and bought considerable quantities of different sorts of articles. The significance of this is only understood when it is realized that Carbon, lying between Cisco and Eastland, is particularly difficult to reach from Ranger and vice versa. The buyer who comes to Ranger to make purchases must first go to Cisco on the Katy and there transfer to the Texas & Pacific for Ranger. That even such obstacles did not prevent purchasers from making the buying pilgrimage is the cause of gratification to merchants here who have learned of the incident.

It is also known among merchants here that among some of those four miles north of Breckenridge, send their purchasing agents to Ranger to get supplies. The improvement in railroad transportation service has had much to do with the success of the carnival, merchants say. When buyers know they can reach Ranger, make their purchases and return to their businesses or homes on a fixed schedule, their willingness to take advantage of larger varieties of merchandise and lower prices here, is unqualified.

JAPANESE CHARGED WITH PLOT TO KILL MILLIONAIRE'S WIDOW WITH BAMBOO SPLINTS IN FOOD

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—A state-wide investigation, in which Senator James D. Phelan, the department of justice and other agencies are assisting, is under way as the result of what is believed to be an attempt on the part of the Japanese servants to kill Mrs. Anita Baldwin at her ranch at Anoka, near Pasadena. The effort was made, it is believed, by bamboo splinters imbedded in food served to the wealthy woman, daughter of the late "Lucky" Baldwin.

The investigation has been further amplified by information placed in Phelan's hands by Mrs. Baldwin to the effect that there is in Sierra Madre a Japanese vegetable grower who acts as a midwife for Japanese women in that section. The authorities are running down birth records and other data in this connection to determine if Japanese births are being reported.

The circumstances have become known through letters written by Mrs. Baldwin to Governor William D. Stephens and Senator Phelan. According to the letters, Mrs. Baldwin was served with food on her ranch. Several hours afterward she experienced the sensation of a lump in her stomach. She called her physician at Pasadena on the telephone and he prescribed an emetic, asking that the contents of the stomach be sent to him for analysis.

Jar Emptied.

Mrs. Baldwin followed directions, placing the stomach content in a sealed jar. She gave the jar and letter addressed to the physician to a Japanese servant and ordered him to mail it. The jar reached the physician empty and the letter had been opened and read. When the physician made an examination of the inside of the jar a tiny bamboo splinter was found clinging to the side of the glass.

The attempt to kill Mrs. Baldwin is believed to be the outgrowth of her attitude toward Japanese labor.

Cunning Manifest.

The depth of cunning manifested in the plot to kill Mrs. Baldwin is shown by the fact that the bamboo is impervious to the action of water and to stomach digestive juices. The concealed splinters of this kind in food is an old Japanese trick, well known in earlier days. The splinters are so tiny that they do not pierce the flesh when they are swallowed, but once in the stomach produce violent inflammation and eventually death. When Mrs. Baldwin realized that an attempt had been made on her life, she immediately wrote to Governor Stephens and Senator Phelan, fearing that because of their activity against the Japanese invasion, similar attempts might be made on their lives. The letters have started a wholesale investigation into the Japanese employed on the Baldwin ranch at the time of the occurrence.

Mrs. Baldwin is one of the best known women in the United States. The late F. J. (Lucky) Baldwin was a famous California pioneer. During the war Mrs. Baldwin was made honorary colonel for her war work.

MURPHY NOMINEE FOR CONGRESS, IS NEWSBOY

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Who is Murphy? This is the question asked by Democrats in the primaries of Sept. 15 when one William Murphy was nominated on the Democratic ticket for Congressman-at-large.

Murphy has been found. He is the newsboy who has been selling papers on Madison and Wells streets for 15 years. He is also a real estate dealer. "The name Murphy did it," he grinned.

"Sure they don't know me," said Murphy. "But I know them. I know the town from top to bottom, and I'm not tied up with anybody. I'm Willie Murphy, clean and with hands wide open. Nothing in my sleeve."

"Politics? Say, I've seen them come and go tumbling out of one news headline into another. I've sat in on their secret palavers, and I'm next, see.

"If I get into Washington, I'll act like I'm acting now. I don't belong to any slate or clique. When Willie Murphy votes, he votes like he wants to vote. That's his platform."

"The people voted for me in the primary because of my name, 'Willie Murphy.' The bosses don't know me. But some 50,000 faces float by here, and they know me, or a lot of them do."

Confederate Vets' Commander Binds Old South With New

General Van Zandt Remembers the Days of Texas Republic.

By Associated Press
FORT WORTH, Oct. 16.—General K. M. Van Zandt of Fort Worth, who has been re-elected commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans for the third successive time, is perhaps the last great connecting link between the Texas of independence days and the Texas of the present. His election to head the fast dwindling ranks of the Confederate Veterans at Houston last week, was brought about by his friends over his protest that the "honor should be passed around." He was elected unanimously.

General Van Zandt's father, Isaac Van Zandt, negotiated the treaty under which Texas as a republic ceased to exist and its annexation to the United States was effected. The son, although born in Tennessee, spent many years under the Texas flag and recalls acquaintance with such distinguished pioneers and soldiers as General Rusk, General Houston, General Johnson and others, well known in the state's history.

Active at 84.
General Van Zandt is 84 years old. He still is active president of the Fort Worth National bank, is prominent in local civic movements and an ardent Sunday school worker. His years of service with the Confederate armies included campaigns in Tennessee and Mississippi, his capture at Fort Donaldson, imprisonment on an island near Buffalo, and subsequent exchange and resumption of fighting in Tennessee. He took part in the Battle of Chicamauga and other noted battles of the war between the states. Toward the close of the war he was ordered by army surgeons to return to his home in Texas because of ill health and was recuperating at the time of the surrender of Appomattox.

Although a frail little woman, the great work of Nellie Lowell Howard, wife of Fred A. Howard, the noted chemist of South Easton, Mass., has been almost as important as that of her husband. Mrs. Howard is a western woman, the daughter of James Lowell, a first cousin to James Russell Lowell, the poet.

The Van Zandt family history is entwined with that of Texas since 1836 when the members first came to Texas from Tennessee and settled near Marshall. They moved to Fort Worth some years later and have taken part in practically all activities of consequence in the city ever since.

HELD UP TOO OFTEN; SHERIFF LOOKS OVER CAR--FINDS OUT WHY

NEWCASTLE, Wyo., Oct. 16.—Because road agents attempted to hold up M. Sorenson and Sorenson reported the matter to the sheriff the latter is in possession of an automobile load of Canadian whisky and an automobile and is awaiting the return of Sorenson to claim one or both, in which event there will be an arrest, but not of a road agent, Sorenson being the person the sheriff desires to associate with the service of a warrant.

Sorenson arrived in Newcastle from the north and reported to the sheriff that an attempt to hold him up had been made near Coyle ranch. He then departed for Lusk but returned in a brief period to report that he again had encountered the road agents south of the city, but had turned his car back and escaped by flight. The car and contents then were left at the Charles Barnes place here and Sorenson continued his journey to Lusk by other means.

Sheriff Howell investigated the contents of the car left here and discovered it to be eight sacks filled with bottles of Canadian whisky. He seized the liquor and the car and now patiently is awaiting the re-appearance of Sorenson. The latter's story of attempted holdups is not doubted, but it now is believed that the road agents had knowledge of the character of the cargo of Sorenson's machine and were attempting needed new clothing.

After the neighborhood stores had been scoured for ready-made clothing without success Peter Hughes, a six-foot, 240-pound fireman with Engine Company No. 90, across the street from the Bronx quarters of the society, volunteered with a pair of trousers which, with the legs rolled up, covered Gustave adequately.
The boy's parents, Jacob and Fannie Blazer, have been separated about a year, according to Officer Abraham Michaels, and the mother has kept the boy at home fearing the father would take him if he went out to school. The warrant, issued by Justice Ryan of the Children's court, directed the mother to appear in the court today.

Meyer, bride of a few months.
H. W. Meyer, aviator, became acquainted with Miss Johnson while flying at Pueblo, Colo. They were married and came to San Francisco.

a warrant was issued for desertion.
The judge was more familiar with geography and after a lesson in that subject dismissed the charge and the Meyers went their way rejoicing.

TURPENTINE AND ROSIN PRODUCTION IN TEXAS LARGE

Staff Special.
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Texas produced 17,000 casks of turpentine and 62,500 barrels of rosin during the 1919-20 season, the department of agriculture today announced. The Lone Star state's production of gum turpentine was 4.7 per cent of the nation's total. Eight states produce gum turpentine and rosin. In rank of output, they stand in the following order: Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, South Carolina and North Carolina.

A cask of turpentine contains 50 gallons and rosin is 500 pounds gross weight to the barrel. The entire eight states last year produced 386,000 casks of turpentine and 1,237,000 barrels of rosin. The department reports that the 1919-20 was less as compared with 1918-19 in Alabama, Mississippi, Texas, North and South Carolina and was greater in Florida, Georgia and Louisiana.

YOU CAN TELL A MAN BY THE WAY HE WATCHES HIS HAT, IS WAITRESS' TIP

"If a man watches his hat all the time he's in a restaurant he's a nervous, fussy old bird around home." This is the observation of a New York waitress.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—"Hat watchers," observed Hebe Sweet, "are fussy, nervous men and hard for a waitress to please. If you wish a first clue on a man's nature, watch him hang up his hat when he enters a busy lunch room. Hebe Sweet is not her real name. Maybe she is of old-fashioned name like Prudence or Thankful. Maybe she is a Flossie or a Lillie. Possibly she is Cleopatra or Blossom or Marjorie.

Hebe's last name, also bestowed upon her by her whimsical clients, is a tribute to her personal charms, especially her invariable good nature. Hence, Hebe Sweet.

Hebe was dealing 'em deftly off the arm in a Park Row bench lunch room when a middle-aged man of thoughtful appearance arose from an adjoining table, picked his hat from a rack and went away.

"Did you notice him?" remarked Hebe. "He worried about his hat more than he did about his food, and he was bothered enough about that. It must be awful to be so suspicious. I notice that I can size up a customer's disposition and nerves merely by watching him hang up his hat.

"A man who saunters in, places his hat on the nearest rack, sits down and doesn't bother to glance up at his hat again is an easy customer. He isn't thinking all the time that somebody is going to get his hat by intention or by mistake. He has an easygoing mind. He sleeps well nights. If he is married he is kind to the wife and kids. If he is single he is a good fellow to know. He orders his food without scowling. He doesn't fret if it isn't put before him in a second. He eats as though he enjoyed it and he remembers the poor hard working waitress. Yes, that's what I mean. A bit of a tip.

"But when I see a man hang up his hat, then frown, take down the hat, pick out another place for it, glance around suspiciously at his neighboring patrons and continually look up at his hat after he is seated, then I say: 'Watch out, girlie, he's a nervous one.'"

"You see he is thinking of his hat, he wonders if it will be there when he gets up. Every time another man goes to take a hat near his he watches like a cat for a mouse. He keeps tag on the hat all the time he eats. He might as well be eating the hat as his food. No wonder he doesn't like his lunch. Does he leave me a tip? He hasn't time to think of it. He's anxious to get his hat and put it on his head before somebody takes it away from him. He'd worry about his head, too, if it wasn't fastened to him.

"The hat watcher is particularly wild in straw hat season, because so many straws look alike. If I were a man I wouldn't worry so about a little thing like a hat. What would I worry about? Well, if I were some young man I would worry if I wasn't too pett sometimes, trying to kid a waitress to death and thinking I was getting away with it which you ain't."

DIPLOMAT'S SISTER ENGAGED TO MARRY

Mrs. Teresa Long.

Boaz Long, U. S. minister to Cuba, has announced the engagement of his sister, Mrs. Teresa Long, to Howard Reed Schulze of San Francisco. The wedding is to take place at the legation in Havana, October 23.

'THIS IS URGENT,' SAYS AD OF MAN WHO WANTS GREEN PANTS RETURNED

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 16.—An S. O. S. for help and relief in the form of an appeal for the return of a pair of pants appeared in the lost and found column of a local newspaper. The kick was contained in the three words that concluded the ad: "This is urgent."

The ad read: "Lost—Will the lady please return the pair of man's green trousers that were picked up by mistake in a local clothes shop on the square. This is urgent."

The impression is given that the customer settled down in the shop to be settled with, but this is not the case. The plea of urgency is due merely to the fact that fortunate indeed is the man whose wardrobe boasts more than two pairs of the necessary garments.

While the owner of the pants is not waiting at the shop for their return, the suspense of having one's modesty suspended by the narrow margin of one pair is very trying. The catastrophe occurred when a woman shopper gathered up all of the visible packages in the shop as rightfully belonging to her, and among them were the pair of green pants.

The Hudson Super-Six Cabriolet

Hudson Alone Can Use the Super-Six Motor

It is true that approach to perfection in the mechanism of a car, tends to obliterate reminders of its presence.

That is why so many speak of the forgetfulness of mechanism which is permitted the driver of a Hudson Super-Six.

They note how silently it asserts its mastery. How, without seeming haste, it travels fast, because there is no fret or fuss. And only the traffic and roadway slipping back to mark the swift pace.

Sometimes we have thought there is a penalty in this distance of the mechanism from the thought of the driver. For we do not desire forgetfulness of the Super-Six motor.

Yet what difference if the driver does not know why the Super-Six principle develops 72% greater power, so long as he knows his Hudson meets every task with the ease of abundant power? What matter if he does not know it adds 80% to efficiency, so long as every comparison—in acceleration speed or hill-climbing—proclaims the clear-cut supremacy of Hudson?

CHANCE BLAZE MAY OBLITERATE BRECKENRIDGE; OIL AND GAS FIRE MENACE TO CITY IS CONSTANT

Staff Special.
BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 16.—With the city constantly menaced by devastation from flames which may burst forth at any moment from any one of almost countless rigs and oil wells in the city limits, Lee Elizey and J. P. Straughn, deputies of the oil division of the state railroad commission, now are intensifying their efforts to lessen the hazards by rigidly enforcing the division's regulations with respect to burning gas mains, pipe lines and other carriers of inflammable or explosive stuffs.

Gas Hangs Over City.
Chief among the menaces to the city are the heavy blankets of gas which frequently lay over the entire townsite, almost always of sufficient density to explode upon contact with flame. Almost every day large quantities of gas from the heavy producers east of town float over and, if the wind is not high, hang like a pall over the whole city.

Added impetus was given to the efforts of the two deputies by the fire at the Carter No. 1 well, five blocks south of the courthouse about 1 o'clock last Friday morning. It is declared that only wind conditions saved the city from being caught in a maelstrom of flames by the fire which jumped from an ignited leak of a city gas feed line to the rig of the well and burned it to the ground. If the well had been producing in accordance with the showings of other wells in the immediate neighborhood or had storage or flow tanks been located nearby, nothing could have saved the city from being swept by flames, it is declared. The well had not drilled in at the time of the fire. What ignited the leak in the gas main is not known. A number of residences abutting the Carter well were saved from destruction by hurried efforts on the part of volunteer fire fighters.

Explosives Stored Nearby.
Nearby in the warehouse of a torpedo company, quantities of explosives sufficient to blow the entire city to bits were stored. This is cited as another hazard constantly confronting the city.

Following the disastrous fire at the Cleve Johnson well in the Hanks addition, in which three men lost their lives Oct. 5, Clarence Gilmore of the railroad commission visited the city and assigned the two deputies here to eliminate insofar as possible the fire menace.

Immediately following their assignment here the two deputies began energetically to enforce the regulations of the commission in regard to the burying of oil and gas lines. This enforcement now has been extended to residence and industrial gas mains which form a network throughout the city. A great many of these mains are exposed above the surface of the ground. Not a few of them leak sufficiently to dissipate gas fumes for a block in all directions. It is at the present time impossible to walk three blocks without hearing the hiss of escaping gas or seeing its odor.

Pools of Oil Frequent.
Another grave menace to the city now receiving the attention of the deputies is the frequency of pools of waste oil in low places about the city. In the creek at the lower end of town large pools of oil, only awaiting accidental igniting to start a conflagration of dimensions sufficient to wipe out the city in a few minutes, have formed. The two deputies have ordered and are enforcing the work of placing all gas mains in dirt trenches and also eliminating the pools of oil about the city.

The multiplicity of companies and individuals operating gas lines and serving patrons in the city has made intricate the work of the deputies who are forced to search out the operators of a large number of gas main lines.

Save for a few substantial fire-proof buildings the city is at the mercy of a chance fire. The major proportion of structures here are of flimsy and improvised construction and would fall prey to

He had been detained in connection with the case following a statement made by an operator of a cold drink stand here that he knew the hi-jacking was an "inside job."

BOGUS COLLECTORS GET 'STREET IMPROVEMENT' FUNDS FROM MERCHANTS

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 16.—A considerable number of complaints have been received by police here concerning the activity of bogus collectors who solicit contributions from householders and merchants for the oil of streets in front of their homes and places of business. The work of sprinkling streets here with crude oil is done by a local firm which depends on such contributions for its profit. It is the belief of police that some excessively enterprising crook has hit upon this means of mulcting the public. A large number of contributions have been made away with by the fake solicitor, it is understood.

Seventeen religious faiths and twenty nationalities are represented among the membership of the recently organized Young Women's Christian Association in Rio de Janeiro.

BRIDGE NEAR DEPOT IS STICKUPS' DELIGHT AND PEDESTRIANS' MENACE

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 18.—It is certain that some means of removing the menace to safety imposed on the city by the presence of the deep gully at the Conzulus creek at the lower end of Main street just opposite the Hamon-Kell depot, soon will be undertaken, according to officials here. The frequency of hi-jacking and other lawlessness at the bridge, and in the gully of late has actuated the movement.

The bridge over the creek gully has been closed for repairs and vehicles now are forced to drive down the side of the bridge and cross the deep gully to reach the depot. It was on this bridge several weeks ago that a hi-jacker robbed twenty people before an alarm could be sounded. He escaped. Since that time there have been a number of similar stick-ups, according to police.

The bridge is closed in an unlighted section of the city and is the center of much foot travel by persons going to and from the station.

The bridge itself is regarded as a menace to life because of the fact that many holes, some of them several feet across, exist in its flooring. The work of repairing the bridge has been arrested and now pedestrians are forced to walk across the rickety flooring. Pedestrians without searchlights are forced to wait for more lucky walkers in order to reach the other end of the structure.

NEW MASONIC BUILDING WILL BE THREE STORIES

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 16.—Work on a new Masonic building will begin in the near future. It is estimated that the structure, to be three stories high and of fire-proof construction, will cost at least $75,000. One-third of this sum already has been raised among the members of the order in Stephens county.

Twenty-four American girls have sailed for Belgium where they will study the silk industry in order to return and take charge of a large silk factory now being erected in Virginia.

CISCO & NORTHEASTERN MAKES FIRST RUN ON TIME

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 16.—The first train of the Cisco & Northwestern railroad entered Breckenridge precisely on time early Thursday morning. It consisted of three passenger coaches and one combination car. The station of this road already had been completed here and freight service was begun the moment tracks to the Breckenridge station were laid.

France Short on Change.
PARIS, Oct. 16.—The small change crisis still remains very acute in France despite the issue of fifty-centime and one and two franc notes and it has been definitely decided to issue bronze tokens, the first of which will be placed on the market in October.

The Paris chamber of commerce has issued 40,000,000 francs worth of small notes but many have become soiled and torn and a large amount of the issue has found its way into the provinces, where technically, it has no value. Silver change has disappeared.

EVIDENCE OF BURNING BOAT TRAGEDY ON LAKE VANISHES UNDER WAVES; NO SURVIVORS

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Life guards and police along the lake shore from South Chicago to Milwaukee searched incessantly yesterday for clues to the identity of a yawling party reported lost in a burst of fire a half mile off Evanston shortly after midnight yesterday.

A dozen Evanston families grouped on the lake shore declare they saw the burning boat. They told life guards and the police they heard the shrieks of women, saw them running frantically to and fro along the tiny dock of the launch.

A rescue party put out. Not even a spray of wreckage was found. There was nothing to determine whether the spectacle was a tragedy or a hoax. The witnesses are inclined to believe the entire party on the launch lost their lives in a gasoline explosion; that launch and passengers were burned and sank without trace.

Many Saw Blazing Boat.
The vessel was sighted ablaze half a mile off Evanston, according to Ralph Nichols of Winholt & Co., W. J. Gunthorp of Gunthorp & Warren, loop printers; Thomas J. Lynch, Walter G. Blake, 419 Kennedy street, Evanston, and many others.

They had heard the cries of women, they say, and had hurried to the shore. The cries came from over the waves—from a point where a few lights twinkled, evidently the lights of a launch.

Suddenly there was a pillar of flame. It burst out of the dark like a rocket, it spread. It revealed a fiery picture—the outlines of a launch and the figures of men and women, Mr. Nichols said.

"It's the Northwestern boys celebrating the football game and having some fun," said someone.

Hear Cries for Help.
"No," said another. Listen to those screams! Somebody go to them, quick. This is real. People are dying before our eyes. Burning to death!"

Vernon M. Hunt, 421 Keeney street, ran to the phone and called the coast guard station. The lookout had already discovered the blaze from his post two miles north.

A party of men started for the blazing launch in Gunthorp's launch, while those who remained on the beach shouted encouragement. For twenty minutes the spectators say that the cries for help continued.

Only a Smouldering Blur.
The pillar of fire had changed to a smouldering blur. The figures of the men and women on board were blotted out. The blur became a luminous haze, a smudge, and then faded into the blackness all about.

The men in the Gunthorp craft went fast but the light on the waters died out before they were half the distance to it. When they arrived at about the point where they saw the launch, there was nothing.

The coast guard boat got there at about the same time. The searchlight played on the black waters. There was no object floating anywhere, not a life belt, nor any part of a ship.

"Sunk Without Trace."
If a boat had been there, it had "sunk without trace."

Daylight didn't help the searchers, either, nor telegrams to cities along the coast. No launch was missing, so far as found along the shore; no craft had been could be learned; no wreckage had been seen upon the waters that would give any clue.

But the coast guard and the people who were on the beach and saw the fire and heard the screams are positive that a boat was destroyed by fire half a mile or so off the Evanston coast and that all on board were burned to death or drowned.

HIS CORRESPONDENCE COURSE RESTORED LIFE TO OLEANDER, SUPER COW

BERKELEY, Oct. 16.—Oleander, a dead orphan cow, has been brought back to life through the medium of a correspondence course in the University of California. The authorities are now conducting a test to see if she gives "spirit" milk.

The cow belonged to a young farmer enrolled in the agricultural course. She was a sterling producer of cream, milk curds, whey and butter. Several days ago she halted her factory, turned over on one side and declared herself officially dead. The owner gave her all the regular tests. He tried a pin a mirror and a hatchet, and the cow showed no resentment.

Heartbroken, the young farmer went in the house and got his notes on cow resuscitation, included in the university's correspondence course. They told him a lot of things to do to cows to restore their interest in contemporaneous history, from building bonfires under them to tickling them with the tail feather of the wild osprey. So the student set to work.

Within fifteen minutes she sighed, turned over, and sat up and said, "where am I?"

The student was so enthused over the matter he filed a report with Dean Walter Mulford of the agricultural division, and overnight Oleander became a famous bovine.

Fill Your Blood With Iron If You Want To Be Strong WITH PLENTY OF ENERGY AND POWER
Says Physician—Explains How Organic Iron Like Nuxated Iron Often Increases the Strength of Weak, Nervous, Run-down People in Two Weeks' Time.
You cannot expect to forge ahead in life with plenty of energy and power if your blood is thin and watery any more than you can hope to run an automobile on water instead of gasoline. It takes pure, red blood—rich in iron—to keep the human machine working right. Without iron your every action lacks power, your red blood corpuscles die by millions, the strength goes from your body and you drop among the weaklings and failures.
"But when such men and women supply the right kind of iron to their blood, a most surprising change often takes place," says Dr. John J. Van Horne, formerly Medical Inspector and Clinical Physician on the Board of Health of New York City. "The weak, colorless blood which had been moving sluggishly in the veins becomes rich and red and courses through the body, building healthy tissue, giving renewed force and increased strength. Without this rich, red blood with plenty of iron in it, there can be no physical perfection or force to carry on one's work. Yet to take the wrong kind of iron may prove worse than useless just as the wrong sort of food will often fail to give the proper nourishment. Organic iron—Nuxated Iron—by enriching the blood and creating new blood cells, strengthens the nerves, rebuilds the muscles and helps instill the whole system with fresh vigor and endurance whether the person be young or old. I strongly advise every man or woman who is fagged out by worry, worry and other strains to build up strength, and health by taking organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for I consider it one of the foremost blood and body-builders, the best to which I have ever had recourse."
Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital says: "I have strongly emphasized the great necessity of physicians making blood examinations of their weak, anemic, run-down patients. Thousands of persons go on year after year suffering from physical weakness and a highly nervous condition due to lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpuscles. To supply this iron deficiency and to help build strong, healthier men and women, better able physically to meet the problems of everyday life, I believe physicians should at every opportunity prescribe organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for in my experience it is one of the best tonic and red blood builders known to medical science."
If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day for two weeks, then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.
Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron, which is recommended above, is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated and does not irritate the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. Each tablet of genuine Nuxated Iron is stamped as follows:  and the words Nuxated Iron are stamped into each bottle, so that the public may not be led into accepting inferior substitutes. The manufacturer guarantees successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.
