Breckenridge Mexicans Ask Consul's Protection From Violence of Hijackers

SEVENTH ATTACK IN FEW WEEKS

Much Money on Person Said to Be Reason For Assaults.

Staff Special. BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 19.—Mexican workers in this district have appealed to Roberto Garcia, Mexican consul at Dallas, for protection from violence. This action was taken Monday by leaders of the Mexican colony following a series of holdups and beatings administered Mexicans, which culminated Sunday night in the robbery of Guadalupe Perez, a laborer, accompanied by an assault which has placed him in a precarious condition. Perez's nose is broken and he was otherwise severely injured by being kicked and clubbed. He lost $250. The assault was made by two men on Railroad street, about half a mile from the courthouse.

The assault on Perez was about the seventh perpetrated on Mexicans in this district in the last three or four weeks. The exact number cannot be ascertained, as the sons of the sister republic are loath to impart information of such occurrences to the peace officers.

Carry Savings. The frequency of assaults on these people is said to be due to their known habit of carrying their savings on their persons. They seem not to trust the banks, and the result is that after a few pay days have passed a considerable sum is at the mercy of any hijackers strong enough to take it.

The reticence of Mexicans concerning these occurrences is said to hamper the peace officers, but in view of the present boldness of the highwaymen, and the lack of clues as to their identity, it is doubtful if any steps could be taken to prevent the occurrences. Favorable action on the appeal by the consul would give an international aspect to oil field violence, but it is not believed the federal government could intervene.

Tool Dresser Robbed. Olen Olsen, a tool dresser, was relieved of $40 and a silver watch Saturday night near the Christian church on Baylor street, within a short distance of the crowds on Main street. The section of the street where he was robbed is normally a crowded thoroughfare, but was empty when Olsen was robbed. He offered resistance and was clubbed over the head with a gun with sufficient force to put him in the hospital.

ASKS TREASURY CERTIFICATES TO AID FARMERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Issuance of treasury certificates of indebtedness to the amount of at least $250,000,000 for the purpose of facilitating loans to farmers is advocated today by George Hampton, national managing director of the Farmers' National Council, who, it is said, had written President Wilson, seeking co-operation.

BELGIAN PRINCE MAY SUCCEED GREEK KING

ATHENS, Oct. 19.—King Alexander whose condition has been most grave, appeared worse today owing to congestion of the lungs. Newsman's here speculate on a successor should illness terminate fatal. A number of foreign princes have been suggested for the throne, but it seems that Prince Charles of Belgium, youngest son of King Albert and Queen Elizabeth is the favorite.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY SMALL BUT PEPFUL

Rain Stops Mass Meeting at Cisco, but Banquet Was a Success.

The heavy rain which fell throughout the county cast a damper over the Democratic rally at Cisco last night. The downpour began a few minutes before the time scheduled for the banquet which preceded the speech-making. The banquet, attended by about seventy persons, many of whom were women, was held at the Savoy cafe, and the rain having delayed the crowd expected for the mass meeting set for the city hall, the addresses were delivered in regular banquet style around the table.

Perhaps the most important address of the evening was by Miss Hallie Jameson of Austin, in support of the educational amendment which will be voted upon at the coming election. Miss Jameson made a clean cut, well balanced argument for the amendment. She pointed out that it has twice been defeated, and that since that time the state has been forced to appropriate millions of dollars for the relief of rural schools. This is a condition that the more populous communities, which are paying for their own schools and also contributing indirectly to the support of those in other communities, will not continue to endure, said Miss Jameson. The proposed amendment is strictly for the relief of the rural schools. It does not in itself increase taxes, as many rural inhabitants seem to think, it merely removes the present arbitrary limit of 50 cents on school taxes, something which has already been done in the cities, and gives each school district an opportunity to set higher taxes if they so desire. Educators see no other hope for the rural schools, Miss Jameson asserted, and their salvation depends upon the passage of this amendment.

W. J. Barnes, chairman of the county finance committee, spoke on the county campaign, and stressed the fact that Eastland county has pledged $1,000 toward the national campaign. This contribution is being raised by personal solicitation in his part of the county, he said, and he urged precinct chairmen to obtain their quota in short order.

Claude C. Wild of Cisco spoke on "Ex-Servicemen" and reiterated the confidence the ex-soldiers have in the League of Nations and their belief that the United States should join in the compact. Nothing is complete when first promulgated, said Mr. Wild, the Constitution of the United States was not perfect, that being proven by the nineteenth amendment, now in effect. He argued that the league should have the same chance to perfect itself.

Dr. Sandefer, president of Simmons college at Abilene, delivered the longest and best received address of the evening. His talk ranged from humorous anecdotes of his early lessons in the horrors of republicanism, gained from his Confederate father, on until he approached the question of religion in politics, which fired the speaker. Dr. Sandefer made it clear that he believed in the severance of religion and politics, but remarked that a little religion in politics would be for the well being of the social order. He cited several former officers of the state whom he did not approve.

Rev. L. N. Stuckey, pastor of the Cisco Methodist church, acted as toastmaster. He lauded Pat Neff as "the greatest governor Texas will have had since Jim Hogg and drew a faint ripple of applause. A reference to Woodrow Wilson as one of the four great statesmen who have held the presidency drew a much greater demonstration.

Mayor Williamson of Cisco welcomed the visitors to the city and District Judge E. A. Hill responded.

May Oust Five Clubs From Game

Ban Johnson's Coterie Must Sign New Agreement or Be Thrown Out.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Owners of five American league clubs, those of Philadelphia, St. Louis, Washington, Detroit and Cleveland, men who have supported President Johnson in several controversies this season and past seasons, will have until Nov. 1 the opportunity of joining the other three club owners of the league and the entire eight of the National league in reorganization of baseball or face the prospect of being ousted from the major league play.

Representatives of all National league baseball clubs and three American league clubs, New York, Chicago and Boston, are today on record as favoring abrogation of the national agreement between professional leagues with national commission abolished and its replacement by a civilian tribunal of men not financially interested in baseball which will have complete control of the clubs and players.

FITZGERALD'S DEATH AFFECTS HUNGER STRIKERS

CORK, Oct. 19.—The condition of the Irish hunger strikers in the Cork jail became much worse as a result of the depression caused by the death Sunday of Michael Fitzgerald, the first of the eleven hunger strikers to succumb. Joseph Murphy, who was very low Monday, was rallied as the result of medical treatment but his case is still regarded as the most critical.

Severe collapses were suffered by two other strikers, Donovan and Kenny, early today. Sean, Hennessy, Reilly and Upton are also in a critical condition.

NEW HEAD FOR HAMON-KELL RY. NOW IN RANGER

J. H. Fraser Here; Comes from Southeastern Railroad; No Other Changes.

As assistant to its president, Jake L. Hamon, J. H. Fraser of Pensacola, Fla. is permanently located in Ranger and has direct charge of the entire Hamon-Kell line.

Mr. Fraser has had many years experience with railroads and to accept his present position he resigned as general manager of the Gulf, Florida & Alabama railroad. Mr. Fraser's appointment has not brought any change in the personnel of the officials of the road.

Indorses Farm Reorganization.

In discussing the policy of the road its new head in Ranger displayed sincere interest in the plan of the Chamber of Commerce to reorganize the farms of Eastland county and promised that everything his road could do to help would be done. In lieu of an industrial department he also promised the full co-operation of every department of the line.

In the move, if it is successful, Mr. Fraser sees much new business for Ranger as well as for his new company.

The south end of the Hamon-Kell road passes through the best part of the farming district of Eastland county and much of this district has become depopulated through the oil activities.

MANY RURAL SCHOOLS CANNOT FIND TEACHERS

AUSTIN, Oct. 19.—A number of schools in Texas are unable to open because they have no teachers, according to information given by the state department of education. Reports from county superintendents show 180 vacancies in the state schools. Officials of the department said that these vacancies were practically confined to the rural districts.

The average salary for rural teachers is $75 a month and the schools average six months to the term.

French Deny Harding Was Approached

Flat Denial by France That It Sought New League.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Assurances have been given the state department by Count DeBarne, French charge d'affaires here, that the French government has not given anyone authority to approach Senator Warren G. Harding with suggestions that the Republican presidential nominee take the lead in forming a new world association.

Calling attention to the official denial issued yesterday by the French foreign office, Count DeBarne told Undersecretary of State Davis he was assured that the French government had delegated no spokesman to act for it in negotiations with Harding, either formally, informally, or officially.

Mr. DeBarne declared that "no tax itself should interfere with the accumulation of wealth or the development of the industrial life of the nation. "Any tax system which discourages savings, which discounts accumulation of capital, is to be deplored," he said, "for all capital is used and enjoyed primarily by society at large and not particularly by one in whose legal title its ownership rests."

Mr. DeBarne said that the French government had delegated no spokesman to act for it in negotiations with Harding, either formally, informally, or officially.

MINERS' STRIKE MAY DISRUPT MEX. INDUSTRY

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 19.—The strike of 12,000 coal miners in the state of Coahuila has assumed such grave aspects that Provisional President de la Huerta is making determined efforts to effect a speedy compromise.

Unless an agreement is reached by Wednesday it is reported that many smelters and other industries will close down because of lack of fuel. This would throw more than 100,000 men out of work.

The strikers are demanding a large wage increase and better working conditions.

FORCED INTO AUTO AT POINT OF PISTOL ON DOWNTOWN STREET

Girl Released Unharmed After Being Shown Booze and Hearing Threats Against Father and Self.

Special Leased Wire. FORT WORTH, Oct. 19.—Miss Mildred Clark, pretty 20-year-old daughter of Sheriff Sterling P. Clark, was kidnaped Monday morning on a downtown street, forced at the point of a pistol to enter an automobile and ride around while she listened to threats made against herself and her father, who for the past year has waged a relentless war on gamblers and illicit liquor dealers. After being subjected to threats and shown a large quantity of liquor in the car, evidently in a spirit of bravado, she was released on Fifth street.

According to her story, Miss Clark left her home Monday morning shortly after 8 o'clock to do some errands and then go to work at the Fort Worth Tribune, where she is employed as a reporter. As she left the house, 514 Broadway, she saw an automobile coming north on May street, which terminates at Broadway. She paid no attention and started west on Broadway to Jennings avenue to board a street car. Just as she reached the sidewalk she heard an automobile horn and looked back over her shoulder.

The automobile was turning east on Broadway and Miss Clark noticed a man on the back seat leaning far out, tipping his hat and bowing. She paid no attention, merely thinking that she had been mistaken for someone else. She alighted from the car at Eighth street and after attending to her errands went on Houston to Sixth street where she usually gets off to go to work. Miss Clark's story, as told to a Record reporter at her home last night, follows:

"I was going down the south side of Sixth street as usual," she said "and had my hat in my hand swinging it. I was not paying much attention to anything and when about half way along the side of the main store I felt my hat stop in its upward swing. I looked up and saw a man standing in front of me. He said, 'Here, little one, where're you goin'?' I said, 'Oh! I beg your pardon,' and he said, 'That's not necessary.' I said to him, 'Will you kindly let me pass!'"

Forced Into Auto.

"No, You're goin' ridin' with me," was his answer and I told him, 'Indeed, I'm not.' He said rather slowly, 'Oh, yes, I guess you will' and as he said it he pulled his right hand out of his pocket and in it was one of those tiny automatic pistols. As he opened his hand he asked me, 'Do you see this?' and I told him 'Yes.'

"Well, we are not going to hurt you, but we have some things we want to tell you," and as he said it, he shoved the pistol against my side. He held it there and took hold of my elbow and pushed me into the car.

The man in the front seat did not say anything. "The man with me started to talk again. 'Now,' he said, 'I am going to tell you some things. That father of yours, damn him, has cost me more money than anybody in this town. You tell him that if he doesn't let up on me, we'll not only do away with him, but we'll take you for a longer ride next time and make you chief entertainer in our gambling house.'

"He stopped talking to me then and said to the driver, 'Hey, Rube, wouldn't she make a keen one?'"

Gun at Her Side.

"All the time he was talking he kept the gun in my side and I watched where we were going. We went south two blocks on Cherry and turned west two blocks on a little side street that daddy afterwards told me is Tenth street, to Florence street and then to Seventh street and back to Burnett street then up to Fifth street. As the car went up Burnett this man told me, 'Miss Clark, I know where you work. You work at that devil's paper, the Tribune.' Then as the car stopped he told me, 'You go south, as we are going north.' When we got out I went around in front of the car to see if it had a number plate, then the driver said, 'You're smart, kid, but I'm just a little sharper. There isn't any front number.' The man then said, 'Now, I told you go south and you go.'

The two men, as described by Miss Clark to her father, were both aged. The man who stopped me was 5 feet, 9 inches tall, well weighing about 165 to 170 pounds, has dark brown hair, and heavy bushy eyebrows.

The driver is described as being 19 or 11 inches tall, well built, with a very sallow complexion, very effeminate with wavy hair.

Was Caught.

The car, she said, looked like it had an age.

Sheriff Clark was assigned to the car.

PRICE DECLINE BRINGS LOSS OF BILLIONS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Shrinkage in the value of farm products so far this season will result in the American farmers receiving $2,500,000,000 less than would have been secured on 1919 basis of prices, Secretary of Agriculture Merredith said today in addressing the convention of the American Bankers' association. He classified the situation "as one which demands best the thought and sympathetic consideration of the bankers of America and all the people of the country."

Who that is at all familiar with motion pictures has not heard of Roscoe Arbuttle? Who has not enjoyed his good natured comedy, his likable personality...

Now the public is to see a new Arbuttle. Just as good natured, just as human, just as likable—but this time in a really legitimate role, one combining comedy with serious acting—the stellar role of George Melford's production of "The Round Up," that of the fat sheriff named by inversion "Slim" Hoover.

By arrangement with Joseph Schenck Roscoe Arbuttle was specially engaged to play the star part in the big Paramount picture of the famous stage drama of the West by Edmund Dav, the scenario of which was written by Tom Forman.

Girl Keeps Lone Vigil as Lookout for Forest Fires

DENVER, Oct. 19.—Following two successful seasons, during which Miss Helen Dove, pretty Denver girl, in her capacity of forest fire lookout, has discovered more than a score of incipient blazes. National forest service officials are convinced that women are equally as efficient as men in the art of chasing down the tiny wisps of smoke that sometimes lead to serious conflagrations in the thickly wooded districts of the Rocky mountains.

Miss Dove is the only member of her sex in the United States who holds the position of forest fire lookout, but scores of applications from women for similar positions are on file with forest service officials here, and it is expected the record achieved by Miss Dove may lead to the appointment of many more of the fair sex to this rather hazardous occupation.

From June until late October Miss Dove lives on the summit of Devil's Head peak, 9,300 feet above sea level—sixty-five miles southwest of Denver.

From sunrise to sunset she scans the horizon, sweeping the thousands of acres of forest lands beneath her with powerful field glasses, constantly alert for the least sign of smoke, which often means the birth of the terror of the timber country—the forest fire.

While it is a lonely vigil that Miss Dove keeps, forest service officials declare the work has advantages and compensations that no other employment affords. From her lofty station, Miss Dove has a remarkable view of the grandeur of the Rockies with its highly-colored vistas on a clear day; she can even see the dome of the state capitol in Denver, and by night the myriads of brilliant lights of the city are in plain sight.

Strenuous Work.

It is no summer vacation that Miss Dove enjoys, however; witness some of her strenuous duties.

She must arise before the sun every morning; she must make observations periodically until darkness.

There are no Sundays or holidays "off." Occasionally, immediately after a heavy downpour of rain, or when clouds obscure the earth below, she gets a brief respite.

Going to the fire lookout station early in summer, Miss Dove must cook her own meals; perform all the work necessary to keep her cabin and lookout station in repair; she must chop her own firewood; she must carry her own water, and oftentimes during the dry season it must be conveyed in water bags for a long distance up the mountainside.

In 1919 Miss Dove discovered sixteen incipient forest fires in the Pike national forest. This vigilance enabled forest rangers to extinguish blazes before they get fairly started on their path of destruction.

This year she had discovered seven fires before the first of July. Since that time summer rains have prevented fires from gaining any headway, but during October Miss Dove's work will require great diligence, as careless campers, leaving after the summer season, often start fires to burn rubbish that quickly spread to the timber.

Telephones Alarms.

Through an extensive system of communication established by the national forest service, Miss Dove is enabled to immediately communicate by telephone to forest rangers the location of a blaze. Instantly they are off to fight the fire before it can get well started.

Twice this summer Miss Dove has painted the lookout station where she is on duty, a feat that requires steady nerve and extreme daring, as the cabin is perched on the very edge of a dizzy cliff at the mountain-top.

Previous to assuming her duties as forest fire lookout, Miss Dove was a Denver newspaper woman.

Famous Toreadors in Mexico City for Bull Fight Season

International News Service.
MEXICO CITY, Oct. 19.—Preparations are being made for the most spectacular bull-fighting season Mexico City has seen in a decade. Famous toreadors and picadors are arriving from Spain to take part in the pageants of the bull ring and fighting bulls are being sent from the haciendas which make a specialty of raising bulls for the arena. The events will begin this month and continue through the winter.

Both the bull-fighters and the bulls are extremely interesting to the Mexicans, who delight in these contests. It is said that the strength, size and fighting qualities of some of the bulls trained for the arena will test the mettle of the toreadors coming with laurels gathered in the rings of Madrid and Seville.

Some of the Spanish bull-fighters are to be paid as highly as famous opera singers. It is said that the celebrated toreador Sr. Sanchez Mejias has been promised about 10,000 pesos for each appearance in the ring. This is about $5,000. The number of his appearances here will depend upon the enthusiasm with which he is greeted and the size of the crowds that will be attracted by his fame. Other celebrities of the bull ring will be equally highly paid.

The old warship's armor plate is 18 inches thick. Her protection nearly equals that of present day warships. The ship will be anchored off shore at a range of three miles from the bombarding battery.

ELECTION COMPLICATIONS.

It is amazing at times, to discover what complexities enter into the politics and elections of the United States.

Other countries, seemingly, are able to vote on clean-cut issues, without complications, and with the man of importance as the presidential electors for whom we will vote in November.

COINCIDENCE.

The long arm of conscience reaches out and achieves the impossible, seemingly by accident, accomplishes combinations of happenings of which could possibly not be made to occur in ages of effort toward that end.

Coincidences, the causes of their being living unnoticed hours and miles in the past, which would be averted by the change of any one of a million conditions.

What is true in this instance, is true in practically all accidents. A fleeting fraction of time, distance or direction, and the result would be vastly different.

As the Woman was trying to decide between a purple ship that wouldn't float and a red duck that would, a very perspiring and distressed young man stepped up to the toy shop counter.

"Show me—a toy I could buy for—er, well—a 1-year-old child." With every sputter he turned a shade redder under his sunburn.

"What sort of child?" inquired the clerk with much snavity. "How do I know?" exploded the vague young man. "I never saw her. But she's my niece and lives in Montana and next week's her birthday, and I've only got five minutes left on my noon hour. Now, what ya got?"

The Eldest Son of the Large Family is just beginning to go out in society where the Woman has no doubt he is a shining light, because of his cheerful disposition and penchant for comedy, even if the comedy is sometimes of the slapstick variety.

"I stuck a couple of those little coffee spoons in my pocket and when I got into the subway and pulled out my handkerchief one of those damned little things dropped on the floor. Did I blush like the debutante? Oh, boy! But that was pie a la mode to what suffered next day when I had to take the measly little things back to the girl. If it had been Betty O'Connor, now, I wouldn't have cared. She can see a joke without the help of a dictionary and atlas. But this skirt—one of those high-brow queens that doesn't think it's nice to laugh at the movies. Well, anyway, it won't break my heart to have to cut her off my calling list."

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

An Ancient Test. The Very Modern Girl is availing a brand new solitaire and the Woman wondered how she had finally managed to decide between Walter and Fred.

"I choose the boy," laughed the Girl. "I suppose Walter doesn't know to this day why I turned to Fred at the last minute after he—Walter—had been hitting so high, so to speak. But it happened this way. The three of us were together one Saturday walking along the Palisades and finally we sat down on a big rock on the edge of the cliff about a quarter of a mile away from the ferry landing. We were telling an amusing anecdote but he was constantly being interrupted by the blowing of a whistle. We saw some work men below, but didn't realize what they were there for and why they were blowing the whistle until a second or so later when we heard a mighty blast. The ground began to shake, and before we knew what was happening our perch gave a terrible lurch. I heard someone cry out—it was Walter—but Fred grabbed me and was running for all he was worth across the field."

"Where was Walter?" the Woman asked. "Oh, he had looked out for himself. You see one never knows what a person is going to do in a crisis—and whatever he does shows the real person, they say. Walter wouldn't have run at all if he had been able to think. Fred instinctively tried to save me—and that's how I found out which of the two was the man I wanted to marry."

Exhibiting His Wounds. It was a glorious morning of sparkling sunshine and cool little breezes, and as the Woman hurried down the avenue to keep an appointment she felt again that joy of life in a big city, with its bustling throngs intent on problems of the new day. The steady stream of traffic halted her as she reached the crossing, and while waiting for the signal to proceed she glanced with interest at her neighbors. Close by two small boys of about 12 years of age stood balancing themselves on the edge of the pavement, hands thrust in pockets, caps pushed back, allowing the sun and wind free play over their eager little faces. The Woman smiled as she caught sight of the new school books tucked under their arms, and she listened shamelessly to the one-sided conversation that was going on.

"I got Miss Davis as my teacher this year," the freckled boy was saying, boastfully. "Oh, man! she's some teacher! The best I've ever had in all my life. But it's tough on a fellow—just look at us. All we do now is get up in the morning; go to school; come back from school; eat lunch; go to school again; come back home; homework, homework, homework." His voice rose in disgust. "Go to bed; get up in the morning, and do it all over again. 'O Death! Where is thy sting?'"

Just then the whistle blew and as the Woman darted across the other side she chuckled at the tragedy of youth.

The Woman is sometimes privileged to "see" in the pleasant surroundings of a Long Island country club, and on one of these occasions recently was resting under a gay tent after a strenuous morning of following the cup contestants in a popular "gallery" over eighteen holes of up hill and down dale. The tent position commanded a good view of the eighteenth hole, and while idly waiting to see the contestants and the match the Woman observed her neighbors. One demure little lady, undisturbed by the mighty struggle before her, was calmly buttoning a lunchbox set and chatting to an elderly, plainly bored companion. "What does this 'up mean, anyway? They keep talking about one being 'two up and another being 'two down.'"

"Don't ask me," said her bored neighbor. "I don't know a thing about the game either, but I never let on. I even pretend to John I like it. Dear me, I used to think how wonderful it would be when John never had to go to business again and now he has retired and he just drags me to one golf match after another and I never get time to do a thing I want. I don't like to hurt his feelings and refuse but my dear if I could he would go back to business for a few days each week."

The Ever Present Help in Trouble. As the Woman was trying to decide between a purple ship that wouldn't float and a red duck that would, a very perspiring and distressed young man stepped up to the toy shop counter.

"Show me—a toy I could buy for—er, well—a 1-year-old child." With every sputter he turned a shade redder under his sunburn.

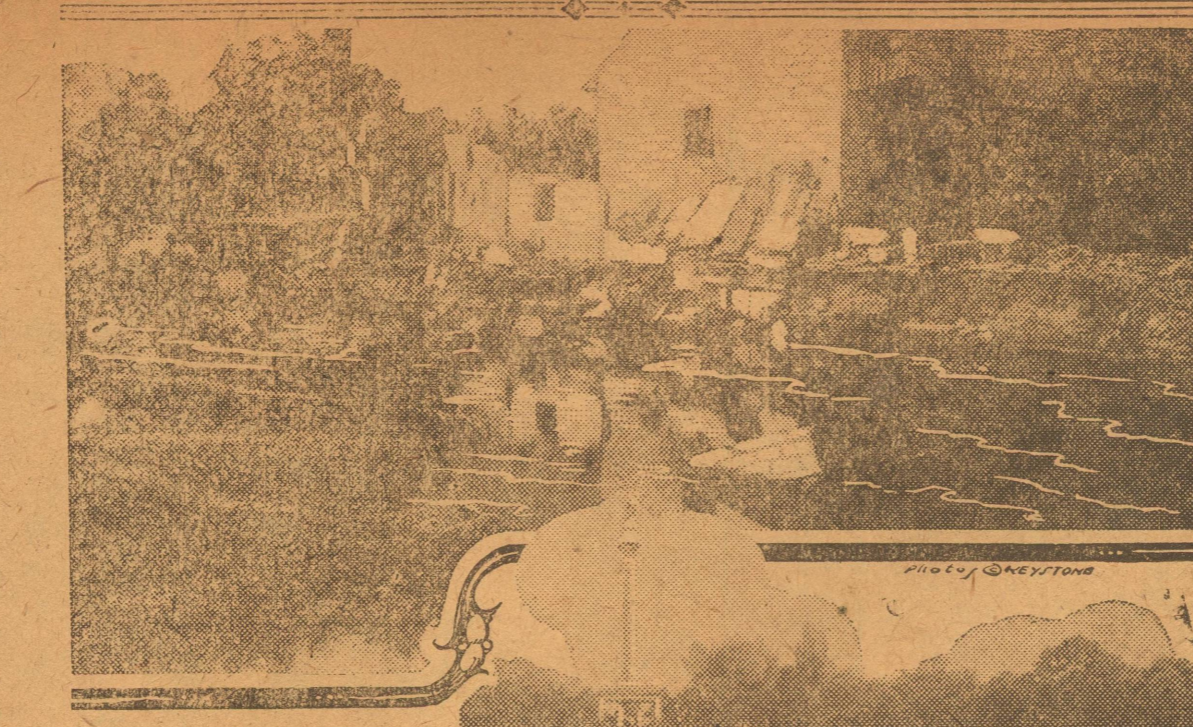

"What sort of child?" inquired the clerk with much snavity. "How do I know?" exploded the vague young man. "I never saw her. But she's my niece and lives in Montana and next week's her birthday, and I've only got five minutes left on my noon hour. Now, what ya got?"

The French newspapers say the American nation, as represented by its government and Congress, has shown itself to be far more generous than the American bankers, as no demand has yet been made for one cent of interest on the state loans advanced to France by the United States during the war.

With the return recently of Peter Cooper Hewitt, noted inventor, from Europe sprung up the report that he may take an active part in the presidential campaign.

FLOODS CAUSE HEAVY DAMAGE IN BAVARIA

Scene along one of the rivers in Bavaria during the floods and, below, memorial celebration in Munich.

These pictures show recent scenes in Bavaria. Floods, which raised many rivers over their banks, have caused great damage. Parts of villages have been destroyed. In Munich a great memorial celebration was staged in memory of the 13,000 men of that city who died in the war. In the background can be seen some of the flags carried by veterans of the war of 1870.

TINKER BOB

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMBE

O POSSUM CRIES FOR LADY DUCK.

Tinker Bob took Lady Duck to the Palace. Of course, it was now impossible for her to think of flying to the Southland for O Possum had pulled so many of her feathers out that she could hardly fly at all. Said the King:

"We will not worry about a little thing like that, for the Creature of my Desire told me that I could do anything I wanted to, and I will see to it that you can ride with me in the great basket. It will not be long till we shall see O Possum running about looking for you, and then he'll be sorry for what he did."

The King was right, for the moment O Possum saw that the fight between Chief Porky and Major Pole Cat was over he returned to his house. But when he got there he found his house just like the cupboard of Old Mother Hubbard—it was empty. Lady Duck was gone.

He examined the sticks that he had placed at the door, but not one of them was disturbed. Said he to himself: "How can it be not as stick has been moved but Lady Duck is gone? Maybe the Great Spirit has taken her away." He looked about but could not even see a track.

To be sure, Major Pole Cat and Chief Porky were watching him to see what he would do first, and the first thing he did was to sit down and cry. And he cried so loudly that Jerry the Jay heard him and came to see what the matter might be.

"Chief, Chief, what is the trouble, Mr. O Possum?" cried Jerry. "What makes you so sad?" "O, Lady Duck has gone and I know not where she is. The sticks have not been touched at the door so she did not get out that way, and there is no other way for her to get out—so where could she be?"

That was just enough for Jerry and away he went to tell it to himself: "Forest, for he was not worrying much about how O Possum felt in the matter—all he cared about was that he had something to interest in."

The first thing he did was to sit down and cry.

Now when Chief Porky and Major Pole Cat heard of it they started again by another way so that they might again see the King first and tell him that O Possum was on his way. They had only started when they heard Jerry the saucy Jay telling another story. It was something about O Possum killing Lady Duck and pulling all her feathers out. But tomorrow we shall see what happens when O Possum meets the King.

Tomorrow—O Possum Hears from Lady Duck.

RIPLING RHYMES

IDLE TALK. I hear poor Hicks talk polities from dawn until the gloaming, and cold and cool, I groom my mule, her fetlocks are rye-corn-bloom. Oh, I might talk around the block with every passing neighbor, I might devote to Harding's goat the time I spend in labor, but I'm inclined to keep in mind the fact that winter's coming, when storms will whoop around my coop, and blizzards will be humming. I do my chores while all outdoors is full of idle yawping, for still the Hicks talk polities, and keep the welkin popping. I thrash my beans and other greens, my prune trees wisely guarding; my boosts or knocks won't hinder Cox, or put a crimp in Harding. Whoever wins you'll see my bins well filled with spuds and carrots; my crops I raise while other jays talk bunk like loosed war-bots. Sometimes at night, by candle light when all my work is ended, I spiel a while of campaign guile, in language high and splendid. And people list in awe, I wist as though to some lawgiver, to plans I've planned, this weary hand from bondage to deliver. But in the day I toil away, the lean earth amply larding, and leave no rocks at Jimmie Cox, and leave no bricks at Harding.

JOHN-A-DREAMS

With their tobacco trunks and their waving friends, palms appear in your night visions. What do they mean, these children of the tropics, as they shadow your dreams with their many-fingered leaves?

Evotic as are palms themselves, so are the things which they fertilize. To find yourself waiting along an avenue set with these stately trees is a prophecy of a ramble through the wonderland of happy marriage. And if a married woman has such a dream it means that though she may have loved her husband as her life's mate, nevertheless she will love him still more from that day on.

It does not matter whether you walk alone, in the company of a man or in that of a woman. The meaning is always the same. And the love I mean is outdistant, because it is not the ordinary form of devotion, but a sinking of self into self, an emotion far deeper than you thought yourself capable of.

To sit under a palm tells you that you will have ease and luxury beyond your fondest dreams, but not in the city where you now live, but far away. So when the opportunity comes for you to leave your home, follow the beacon light of hope and go.

If you dream that you hold a palm leaf in your hand, you will be envied by all your girl and women friends. But if you tear or break one, you may prepare yourself for a poignant heart-grief.

Palms in your home are the signs of an elopement. Nor will you suddenly be one the bride of one you may have chosen in more hesitantly hours. This will be a sudden infatuation, and you will obey its call.

A withering palm means that your lover will abandon you in some inexplicable way, or, if you are married, that your husband will turn from you and give his heart to another woman.

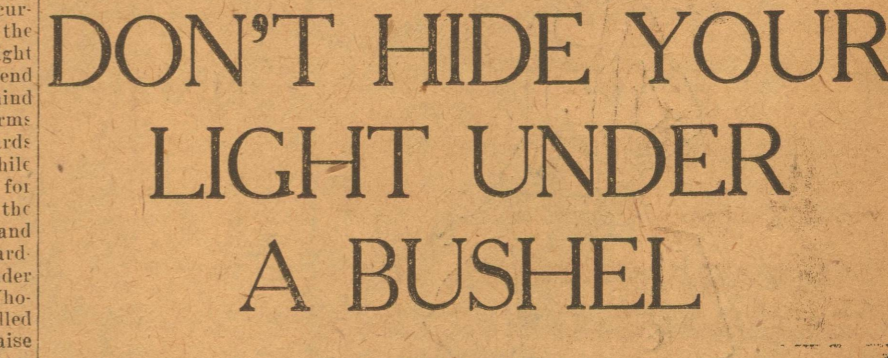

If you dream that there is a fallen palm on the ground, and you stumble over it, you will have a short year of delight with one to whom you have always looked up, to be followed by many years of loneliness.

Let me know when you dream of palms; and, in doing so, write me something about yourself. I may be able to tell you something that will thrill your soul.

The next chapter will deal with dreams of Sand.

Italy's Income for Year Far Below Expenditures

International News Service.
MILAN, Oct. 19.—The budget of the Italian government for the present fiscal year shows a total revenue of 11,000,000,000 lire against a total expenditure of 25,000,000,000, but the financial future of Italy, one of the keenest sufferers from the war, is not discouraging.

Such is the view of Professor Arnaldo Agnelli, under secretary of state for the treasury, stated in an interview. The view strikes a note of optimism in Europe's financial discord, because Italy has been considered the weak link in the entente chain, and the nation most threatened by bolshevistic tendencies.

"For the present year," Agnelli said, "we can calculate an increase in revenue of 4,000,000,000 lire over the previous year. The greatest impulse to the revenue is due to the firm hand and determined will of the present government. The Giolitti cabinet has decided that all war excess profits should be confiscated by the state.

Must Improve Exchange.
"Therefore, we can look forward with full confidence of faith. On the whole the situation is very far from discouraging. There is urgent need for activity in every field of our economic life. We must favor by every means to improve our exchange with American, British and French currency. Our export trade is already on the increase."

Italy is convinced that trade with Russia is a necessity in the campaign of post-war revival.

"I have been authorized by Signor Giolitti," said Professor Agnelli, "to accept three conditions put forward by the Italian co-operative representatives. These are: That regular fortnightly communication be established between the Black sea ports and the Italian ports. The Soviet representatives in Italy to be fully assisted by the government officials and the experts belonging to private enterprises.

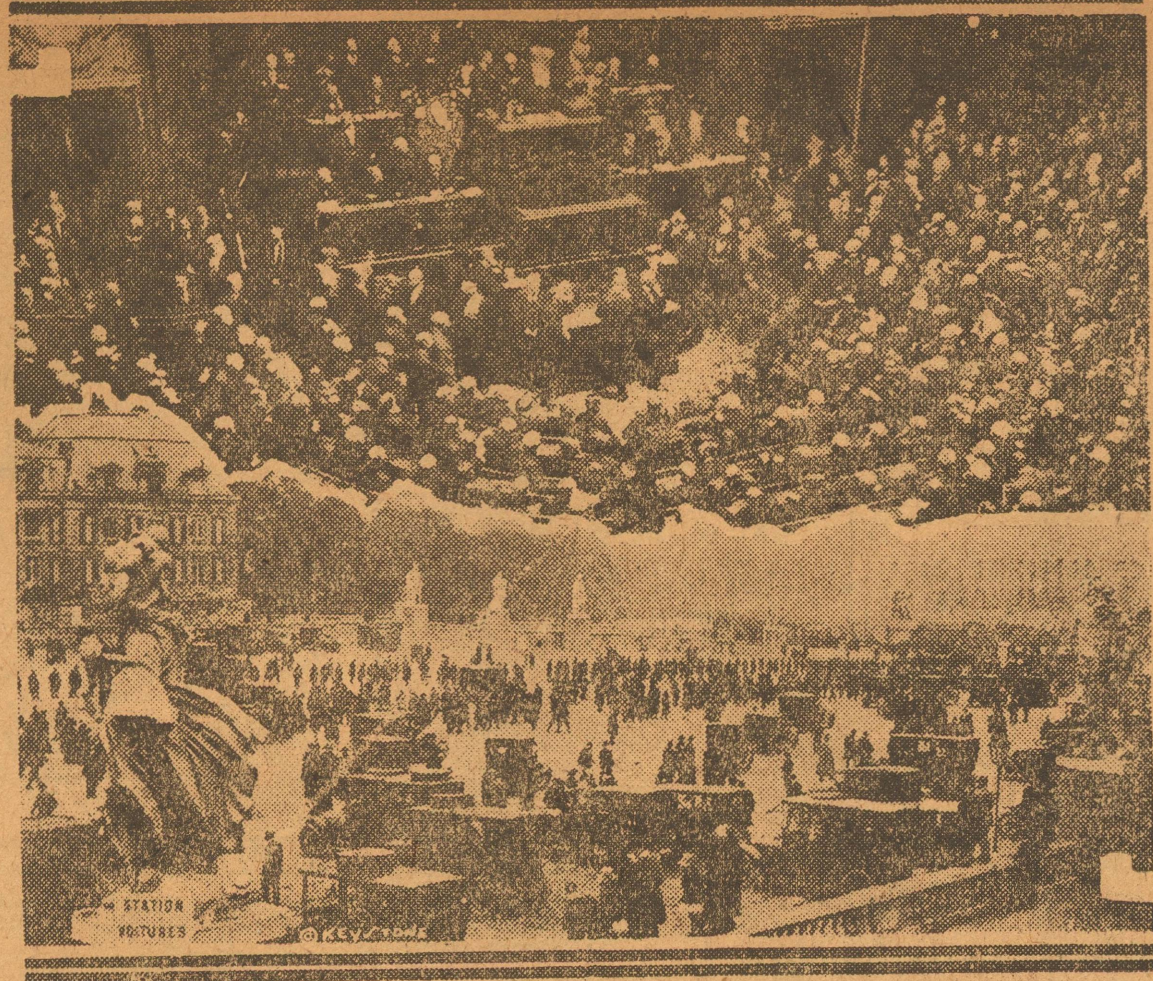

"Telegraphic and postal services to be guaranteed at once by the ministry concerned."

FRENCH FINANCES RAPIDLY RETURNING TO NORMAL CONDITION

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Important changes in the attitude of the French people generally, resulting in a very rapid return to the economic stability which was one of their chief characteristics before the war, is noted by Charles H. Sabin, president of the Guaranty Trust company, who has just returned from a trip to Europe, as one of the most important developments of the European situation.

In giving some of the results of his observations there, Mr. Sabin stated: "The most significant reaction I noted in Europe during my brief visit there was the rapid return of the French people to their normal life and relations. The general let-down in national morale which followed the ending of the war which characterized France, as well as other belligerent countries, seems to have been completely overcome, and in every important respect, national and individual, France is on her way back. Her new tax program promises to produce a sufficient volume of revenue to care for the national budget. Her new government is a solid and sane one, which is functioning most intelligently in the emergency. Her people have returned to their old habits of thrift and productive effort, which promise a rapid restoration of economic stability. An increasing percentage of exports and a lower percentage of imports mark the change.

"I think it may be safely assured that France has turned the corner of her problem and, while of course there are many grave questions left unsolved before her, she will be able to meet them.

"Superficial judgments drawn from the more or less sensational discussions of current happenings in the newspapers in either England or France do not give a real picture of the fundamental soundness of their situation and the manner in which they are working back to normal."

CANADIAN PROVINCES VOTE ON PROHIBITION

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 19.—A referendum is to be held in the province of Nova Scotia, Alberta, Ontario, Saskatchewan and Manitoba on October 25 to decide whether the importation of intoxicating liquor into these provinces shall be forbidden by law. All of these provinces now have local prohibition in force. They are permitted under the British North America Act to prohibit the sale of liquor within each province but at present cannot prevent its importation into the province as interprovincial trade is under the control of the Dominion of Canada.

The Dominion parliament however, has decided that control of liquor shipments into a province shall be abrogated wherever the province has so voted. The purpose of this is to confer upon each province the right to completely carry out the will of the people regarding control of the sale of liquor. This is a concession made by Parliament as an alterative to national prohibition. It the vote in either of these provinces on October 25 is in favor of taking over full control of the liquor business within the province, the importation of liquor will be prohibited.

COUPLE ARE REUNITED AFTER 13TH SEPARATION

International News Service.
CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—John and Frances Ebron recently decided to forgive and forget and begin their married life all over again.

Many estranged couples have gone through the experience, but a close tally of the marital adventures of John and Frances discloses that this is the thirteenth reconciliation.

But John and Frances are optimistic. "We understand each other now," said Mr. Ebron. "You see, all our troubles came because John is so handsome—and so irritable. It annoyed him when I found out about other women."

Three-piece Suit Is Smartest Mode

By ELOISE.

If you can tear yourself away from the pretty frocks and wraps and take a look at blouses you will find some very enchanting models which seem to be new in ideas both as to design and material. If you have bought one of the new fashion suits you will be sure to want to look about the blouse shops for the suit is not complete until a costume blouse accompanies it. The overblouse, as is plainly evident, is the most popular style and it is presented in many more variations than one expects.

Here is one of the most unusual styles seen this season. It is an overblouse of white georgette trimmed with red velvet. A very striking combination to wear with a blue suit. The darts are stitched in white and form the cuffs, an unusual collar and front panel and the belt. Long white fringe finishes the front panel. The georgette is stitched in red. The pleats, except for the tab in front is plain and slightly gathered. Worn with the suit coat this blouse makes a very attractive and distinctive vest effect.

RUSS BARBARITIES IN POLISH INVASION SEEN AT FIRST HAND BY AMERICAN MANUFACTURER

(Note)—The following letter is given textually as received from Warsaw as the simple but graphic report of an American eye-witness' visit to the battle-front and his statement as to extreme cruelties against Polish troops. The letter is accompanied by photographs showing the Polish victims of these atrocities. The letter is written on the letterhead of the Polish Mechanics Co., Inc., having branches in New York, Chicago and Detroit, and was signed by the president of the company.

By Associated Press
WARSAW, Sept. 23.—We left good United States under the impression that most of what has been written about bolsheviks was full of lies. Stories of Polish soldiers describing cases of the most refined cruelties practiced upon captured Polish commissioned and non-commissioned officers and soldiers could not change our point of view.

On August 25 we had an opportunity to be convinced by "touching and seeing" the deeds of the red knights.

Our Ford truck, loaded with bread, underwear, sweets, cigarettes and soap left Warsaw with decision to reach the fighting columns. We passed through Jablonna and Serock and stopped in Pultusk, where a crowd of women policemen surrounded a spy, disguised as a woman. In the middle of the market we found grave of Bolshevick chief, who captured Pultusk, but was killed at the end of the battle.

Next day we approached the battle-line in Chorzele. We met the first killed man by the road, red army soldiers, lying on his back with eyes looking toward Warsaw. He wore coat of Polish soldier, but was robbed of everything else by his own comrades.

Barbarous Murders.
A few yards further we found four Polish soldiers, captured by red army, undressed and then murdered in the most heastly manner. One thousand Polish infantrymen were fighting for fourteen hours 8,000 Russians. When finally the Polish line was broken, Russians began to yell, "Comrades, stop fighting, you are surrounded." A group of forty-five Polish soldiers were captured, undressed and everyone of them murdered in a most horrible way with sabres.

In Chorzele we met a group of bolshevik prisoners. Fifteen per cent of them were barefooted and poorly dressed, many of them in Polish uniforms and sick of fighting. Every one of them claimed that he was forced to fight by communists and there was one among them, who brought with him thirty Polish prisoners.

Large groups of Russians, usually commanded by commissaries, fight very well, but small bands and single soldiers throw down their arms and surrender. They were brought into Poland under promises that there will be universal uprising of workers and peasants and easy capture of Warsaw. Bolshevick commanders promised their men seven days of freedom in Warsaw, so that everybody would have a chance to rob and plunder "unlimited treasures," stored in the Polish capital.

Large Red Losses.
The attack upon Warsaw cost bolsheviks 700,000 men in killed and wounded, 100,000 captured, 80,000 disabled by Prussians. The war is not over. Siberian army was rushed against tired, but enthusiastic and victorious Polish legions and another supreme effort of heroic nation will be needed to protect democracy and liberty.

Polish citizens condemned Jewish attitude, but have shown no desire to do them any harm. From our point of view the population and the government are too careless and too lenient with criminals, acting against the government, and country, which gave them shelter and unlimited privileges.

CAMEL CITY—U. S. A. (or, Winston-Salem, N. C. according to the map)

GREETINGS, PETE!

Here I am tonight in Winston-Salem where more tobacco is manufactured than in any other place on the face of the earth!

When I knocked off for the day, I buzzed around like a hungry bee in a buckwheat field—up and down long streets of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. factories!

As the Reynolds enterprise proved out more and more gigantic and I talked with more men about it, I got the real and true answer as to why Camels are so good and so entirely different from any other cigarette! I'll spin it for you, old top—listen:

Every man I talked with made the one big point that the officials and the more than 350 Reynolds foremen have an inborn knowledge of the tobacco business; that (putting it into a North Carolina expression) they were virtually "born and raised in a tobacco patch"; that they know tobacco; how to grade it, blend it, and how to manufacture and sell it!

And, what's most important of all, Pete, these Reynolds folks sure give men what they want—the best that can be produced! Why—Peter, it took months to perfect Camels Turkish and Domestic blend—and that refreshing flavor—and wonderful mild, mellow body!

Tomorrow, I'm going to meet some of the Reynolds folks. Got to see inside of those factories!

And, you know me!

Manual Opposes Monarchist Move by Portuguese

LISBON, Oct. 19.—Portuguese monarchists have been notified that the former King Manuel of Portugal, who is now in England is opposed at present to any steps toward restoration of the monarchy in this country. This is made public in a letter by the Young Conservative Monarchists issued by Councillor Ayres d'Ornelas, who is official representative here of the exiled king. The letter was written in a hospital where the royalist statesman is recovering from an operation under surveillance until he can be returned to prison where he has been for nearly two years since the last monarchist uprising.

The Councillor says that he believes former King Manuel regards the economic distress now prevalent in Portugal "to forbid all genuine Portuguese from taking part in any kind of revolutionary movement." The Councillor advises the Young Monarchists instead, to support social order which he says is now attacked in so many ways. He adds: "We must maintain our national integrity afterward we will see to the political form of government under which it is to live." In the meantime he suggests that the monarchists take legal steps to organize their forces.

This letter was evidently written in answer to questions addressed to Councillor d'Ornelas as the royalist leader in Portugal because a group of monarchists who have abandoned their allegiance to the former King Manuel are undertaking to select as their pretender to the throne a young son of another branch of the House of Braganza. This group sent a delegation to Duke Michel de Braganza, head of the Austrian branch of the family, asking permission to name his youngest son, Prince Nuno Duarte, as their heir to the throne of Portugal if a monarchy should be restored.

Prince Nuno Duarte is only 13 years old. The choice fell upon him because Prince Miguel, the eldest son of Duke Michel is held to be debarred from royal rights because he married Anita Stewart, an American woman, and because the Duke's second son was killed in the war while fighting with the Austrian army. Owing to the youth of Prince Nuno this monarchist group proposes to name his aunt, the Princess Aldegundes de Braganza Bourbon, Countess de Bardi, widow of Prince Henry de Bourbon de Parma, as regent until he shall become of age.

PARISIAN GIRLIES FORSAKE MILLINERY FOR TYPEWRITING

PARIS, Oct. 19.—The French "midnettes" is disappearing and young French girls are throwing aside the needle for the typewriter, according to the large fashion houses of Paris. The apprentice who used to be glad to enter a modiste's or costumer's establishment as midnette, at first earning nothing but her keep, is now learning typewriting with perhaps a suspicion of shorthand, and can command a fair salary as soon as her course of instruction is completed.

Experienced modistes and dressmakers vainly point out the folly of this course, which they say, leads many girls into a blind alley occupation instead of providing them with a trade at which they can eventually earn a living running into many hundreds of dollars a year, as a premiere in a big fashion house receives a salary varying between $3,000 and $3,500.

There is a great shortage of help in the large dressmaking houses of Paris. Balleau Wood Chapter of the American Legion is composed of 308 women who enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserves during the world war.

Wilhelm Expected 'Second Punic War' to Overwhelm England; His Remarks on Peace Terms Led to Own Downfall

By Associated Press
BERLIN, Oct. 19.—The former German Emperor Wilhelm confidently expected to emerge victoriously from the world war and then marshal his continental armies against England in what he termed "the second punic war," says Matthias Erzberger, in his volume of recollections just published at Stuttgart. The emperor evidently used the term "punic" in the sense of a conflict for world supremacy between two great nations.

Erzberger, who was formerly minister of finances, but now has temporarily retired from public and political activities, set forth in detail the meeting between the then Emperor William and the Reichstag leaders, after the fall of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, and following the adoption of the peace resolution in July, 1917.

He says the emperor became enthusiastic over the phrase "peace or compromise" which he assumed was what the Reichstag majority demanded.

"Compromise meant conquest. 'Excellent word compromise,' William stated. 'It means,' he said, 'that we take the money, raw products, cotton, oil and ores out of the pockets of our enemies and transfer them to our own.'"

The parliamentary leaders, Herr Erzberger says, were astonished by this display of imperial mentality and felt that they were being made the victims of his mockery. The emperor's further remarks were in the same channel, he declares.

William asserted that the United States and England had entered into an alliance for the purpose of reckoning with Japan after the war. He was also reliably informed that Russia would join Japan in warding off the Anglo-Saxon blow. He admitted that England would not emerge from the war defeated, but said that the final accounting would come when he led his continental armies against her in the "second punic war."

The amazement of the parliamentarians grew as the kaiser continued. Erzberger reports. The monarch asserted that "a complete understanding would be reached with France when the war was over." Referring to a battle in Galicia, which had occurred only a few days previous, the kaiser claimed the Prussian Guard under the command of his son Fritz had "brushed the democratic dust off the vests of the Russians."

"Wherever the guards appear there is no longer any democracy left," he exclaimed.

"Rumanians Got Just Deserts." The Rumanians got their just deserts, the warlord told Erzberger when the latter suggested that the poor Rumanians had probably lost everything but their shirts.

Erzberger adds that the whole meeting between the kaiser and the parliamentary leaders was not only a grave misfortune but it proved the "deepest cut with the spade that ultimately resulted in the overthrow of the prevailing regime."

He concludes the chapter with the statement that the Reichstag veterans, who up to that time were opposed to the parliamentary system, that very night avowed that the old system would inevitably plunge Germany into disaster.

BEST MAN BECOMES TOTALLY BLIND DURING WEDDING CEREMONY

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Oct. 19.—Stricken suddenly blind while acting as best man at a wedding, William Allison concealed the fact and calmly went through with his part of the ceremony.

He collapsed when it was over and was treated by eye specialists, who stated he was totally blind and would probably not regain his sight.

Allison was acting as best man to Robert Williams, who was married to Miss Ada Caston.

The ceremony was performed at the Congdon Street Baptist church. Allison is a graduate of Pawtucket high school and was well known as a football player. He is 24 years old.

RECORDS CITED OF OTHER LONG DISTANCE HUNGER STRIKERS

PARIS, Oct. 19.—The long hunger strike of Mayor MacSwiney of Cork has caused much discussion here as to how long it is possible for a man to fast. Dr. Socquet has told the Paris Midi that the record is sixty-three days, set by William Granier in 1831.

"Granier had been sentenced to death and was confined in the prison of Toulouse," said Dr. Socquet. "He had a horror of the guillotine and to save himself from death by that instrument determined to starve, which he did after sixty-three days."

"Many hunger strikers have lived longer than could have been expected," went on. "There are the cases of P. Over and Succi and Merlati, the latter of whom starved for forty-eight days while he lost one-quarter of his weight."

Lavior tells of the case of a worker who was imprisoned in a mine for sixty days without food. He lived three days after he was rescued and died as the result of being excessively fed. Many lunatics have refused to take food for twenty, thirty, or forty days.

"No rule can be established as to length of time a man can fast. His endurance will depend upon his previous health, his constitution and also upon his spiritual condition, which is very important. It is well known that a starving man may increase his endurance a great deal by drinking water."

BERLIN, Oct. 19.—Berlin's rapidly growing telephone service has just opened accompanied by generous newspaper publicity, two new telephone exchanges. The Belgian government officially complains that the switchboards in the new offices were stolen from Brussels during the war and there is every indication that the new exchanges will be promptly closed, accompanied by more publicity. The telephone officials admit that the apparatus was taken in Belgium during the war for military purposes. Under the peace treaty it must be returned to the owners.

IRISH EMIGRATION CONTINUES DESPITE SINN FEIN RULING

DUBLIN, Oct. 19.—The proclamation of Dail Eireann prohibiting emigration has only had a slight effect and the American consulate is daily dealing with applications for passports. On a landing of the consul's office the Dail decree is displayed forbidding the 18th men of military age and all citizens of the Irish Republic without the consent of Dail Eireann.

Intending emigrants are supposed to apply to the local Sinn Fein justices, giving their reasons for leaving Ireland and full explanations must be forwarded to the republican minister of home affairs. Nevertheless the applications to the American consul continue, most of them, however, from women. From 100 to 150 is the daily average. Third-class passages to New York are said to be booked for months ahead.

CURB BOLSHEVISM BY VOTING FOR EDUCATION AMENDMENT--LOONEY

AUSTIN, Oct. 19.—Hon. B. F. Looney, for six years attorney general of Texas, has made the following statement concerning the proposed educational amendment to be voted upon Nov. 2, 1920. "I am heartily in favor of the adoption of this amendment. In my opinion it would be a tragedy and criminal for the amendment to fail. Our rural school system has all but collapsed; it must be reconstituted. The remedy is simple—more money in our school enterprise. The profession of teaching must be established on an enduring basis, or else we will never have the schools we must have in order to do justice to the children of Texas whom God has committed to us as guardians.

"Our democratic form of government, in which each individual exercises a part of the sovereign power, will falter and ultimately fail unless the individual units, or a controlling majority, are enlightened so as to be equipped mentally and morally to properly exercise this form of government.

"Ignorance is the poisonous atmosphere in which anarchy, bolshevism and all other 'isms' antagonistic to our government, germinate and flourish. The ignorant and un-enlightened mind is utterly helpless to defend itself against the preachment of those who would utterly destroy our form of government, and who are continually, thru their propaganda, disturbing the peace of our country. I am heart and soul for the amendment, and shall do everything within my power to put my county over in good shape."

PRODUCTION FOR YEAR SHOWS STEADY GAIN

Special to the Times. EASTLAND, Texas, Oct. 19.-In the presence of R. L. Fowler, general manager of the Pipe Line Department of the Pierce Oil Company; his assistant, E. Burr Cooley, field manager, W. H. Owsley; Chief Driller H. D. Shawbill, and a crowd of Baird people, the McGowen well, two miles southeast of here, which had been drilled to a depth of 4,025 feet was shot Saturday night. Two shots were exploded at a depth of 3,930 and 3,980 feet respectively. A two-hundred and fifty-foot bridge was formed and this morning they began cleaning out the hole. When the bridge had been penetrated to the depth of 75 feet the baler came up half filled with oil of good quality, and this showing has been repeated every time the baler comes to the top. The hole will be cleaned out to the bottom of the well, and it will be shot again.

Stocks of petroleum held in pipe line and other marketing companies continued to increase in June and for August a net gain of more than 800,000 barrels is reported, despite a decrease of almost 1,000,000 barrels in California.

Arrest Blasts Preacher's Dream of Fame as Financial Wizard

International News Service
DENVER, Oct. 19.—The dream of fortune of the Rev. Robert E. Jenkinson, 24-year-old preacher and oil shale stock salesman, who aspired to the dizzy heights of financial power that he might become America's foremost philanthropist, has been blasted and the youthful clergyman will be returned to Omaha, Neb.,
where he is accused of fraudulently securing large sums of money in connection with an oil shale stock promotion scheme.

Jenkinson was taken into custody by Denver police while he was with his bride of twelve days, and, upon advice of counsel, will not fight extradition to the Nebraska city, despite the fact that he stoutly maintains his innocence of any wrongdoing, declaring that his transactions have been entirely honest.

Entangled in a web of love, high finance and religion, the Rev. Jenkinson, who is a former pastor of Presbyterian churches in Chicago, Cayuga, Ind., and Brush, Colo., smilingly "tells the world" that his jail experience here is a real treat, "though the benches are hard," and says that his conscience is absolutely clear.

"Oil Shale Ponzi."
Besides a novel scheme to build an annual income of close to half a million dollars, the clergyman, who has been termed by officers here as "Oil Shale Ponzi," was working on an invention that he declared promised "gasoline as cheap as water."

Jenkinson was divorced by his first wife in Denver on Aug. 20 on the ground of "mental and physical cruelty." Mrs.
Jenkinson, who is the daughter of a prominent Bush, Colo., family, charged among other things that the minister "ran around with women."

He was married for the second time within three weeks of the granting of the final decree of divorce from his first wife,
to Miss Martha Peterson of Havelock, Neb. Officials question the legality of the marriage.

Denies Infidelity.
In his cell at the city jail Jenkinson hotly denied charges of infidelity against him.

"When I walk along the streets I thank God that no woman can point to me and say that she had the wrong kind of a love affair with me," he said.
"Listen, brother, and I'll tell you," smiled Jenkinson, in referring to his first wife. "When I think of my first wife I recall that popular song: 'I Laugh
When I Think How I Cried About You.'
My first wife wanted to be a social butterfly, and it was while she was still my wife that I got the idea of making money instead of just preaching."

"My business transactions are entirely honest," Jenkinson said, discussing these money-making ideas that led to his arrest. "I am not selling stock in my company, the United Shale Oil company—I
'm giving it away. Eventually my plan would have netted me an annual income of $480,000."

Explains His Scheme.
Explaining his scheme Jenkinson said
he maintained a boys' home in Omaha where nearly 100 boys live. "I ask them," he said, "how much it costs them to live, invariably the reply names a figure from $25 to $100 per month. I give them room, board and laundry for $25 per month and make them a present of some stock in my oil shale company as a bonus. In my working boys' home I can feed the lads very good for $25 per month. I planned a home that would accommodate 1,000 boys.
My arrangement would result in a profit of $40 per month from each of the 1,000 boys—$40,000 per month or $480,000 per year."

"And the best of it is that I am doing the boys a favor. I cannot be prosecuted under the blue sky law, or any other kind of law, because my company is all right.
If I'm wrong on shale, then Governor
Shoup, Sir John Calman, Lord Foster and scores of others are wrong in their conception of the value of shale oil."

"However, I dislike the idea of selling stock, so in the last month I've bought back several thousand dollars' worth of stock that I had previously sold."

"I like to preach," Jenkinson said. "I still preach to the boys in my home, and when I make my fortune I'm going to build a great fine place for boys."

thing that can be said of me, because it is opposed to me principles, I firmly believe in a single standard of morality."

His invention to make cheap gasoline, Jenkinson said, involved the "mixing of the crudest kerosene and an oxidizing agent with water. It will make the highest-test gasoline in the land."

Jenkinson said he was "enjoying great experience" in jail. "I've been working too hard and needed a vacation," he said,
"and I'll remain in jail until I get before accepting bail and surrendering one of my convictions."

MEXICAN JOY JOINT RAIDED BY POLICE

For the second time in the week a Mexican cabaret on Rusk street has been raided by members of the police department and its inmates arrested. Last night seven arrests followed the second raid. One of the Mexicans was found with a pistol on his person. His price of liberty was placed at $50.70. Fines of $11.70 were entered against the reminder of those arrested.

CAN'T IMITATE AIRPLANE ON CITY BOULEVARDS

It is unlawful in this city to imitate an airplane with an automobile, on the downtown streets at least. This advice Patrolman John H. Moore gave a motorist this morning after he had pleaded guilty to the charge of speeding, and paid a fine of $15.70.

According to Mr. Moore, the autoist was going north on Marston street at a rate of speed that would have been a credit to an airplane. The driver himself admitted that he was letting no grass grow under his wheels.

that America would see changes in industrial society similar to those undertaken in some other countries.

"With a prospective decrease in prices and increase in the disposition of industrial and labor leaders to recognize their mutual obligations and duties, both to each other and the public, there is no basis for the prediction of radical industrial changes."

Production Shows Increase.
Declaring that production in the country is now somewhat above the pre-war level and showing indications of improvement, Mr. Hawes said the real difficulty has been in unbalanced production. The diversion of productive forces into certain restricted channels demanded by the war still is having its effect, he continued, and the nation has not yet been able to re-align these forces so that the supply and demand of goods are normally uniform.

"Increased production," Mr. Hawes went on to say, "is not nearly so much the cause for concern as is more economical consumption. The orgy of foolish extravagance, the speculative consumption which has prevailed in the United States and is yet too largely evident, must cease
if we are to obtain a permanently strong position in world trade."

In recommending the encouragement and development of agriculture, Mr.
Hawes declared that all the bankers and business men should know that less than thirty cents of every $100 spent by the government last year was expended for the development of agriculture.

"It is the banker's duty as a citizen and financier to realize and encourage this source of wealth; to lend counsel and assistance and to regard the farm in

JIMKURN LINK OF RANGER ROAD
READY NOV. 15

Construction of the ten miles of Ham-on-Kell road between Breckenridge and its terminus, Jimkurn, will begin tomorrow, according to J. H. Fraser, new head of the line, and it is planned to have trains running to this point by Nov.
1.

The road has also received two additional engines and three passenger coaches and will put two new trains in operation between Ranger and Breckenridge next Sunday. This move has become necessary because of the heavy passenger traffic between the two cities.

Mr. Fraser declared that the business of this road continued on the increase and that his company were becoming better equipped each day to handle it efficiently.

Joins Northern Extension.
The construction which starts tomorrow to build the extension to Jimkurn will be the terminus of the Hamon-Kell line. At this point it will probably be joined by a road being built by Fran-kell from Newcastle. It is reported that the Newcastle extension was under construction but this information could not be verified by Mr. Fraser.

No one doubts, however, that the connecting link will be built that will connect Ranger directly by rail with Wichita Falls. Once the connection is made it will open a vast new trade territory for this city.

its true importance to our economic existence."

Stressing the importance of the nation's foreign trade, Mr. Hawes said that without hampering the requirements of American industry and business, the bankers must find a means of extending liberal credit for foreign trade without further inflating the American credit structure.
He suggested that this be done by interesting the investing public in securities properly protected.

"Our future foreign trade possibilities lie largely with the saving America," he said.

Of the operation of the federal reserve system, Mr. Hawes said: "Steadily the process of pushing out war paper and substituting commercial paper is going on and shortly we may expect that the new circulation will be placed as intended, on live commercial paper and gold."

Professor Irving Fisher's plan to stabilize the dollar by diminishing or increasing the gold behind the dollar as prices fall or rise was adversely reported upon by the currency commission of the association. After a year's study, the commission found that the plan contained "grave dangers" and it recommended against memorializing Congress in favor of changes in the monetary system suggested by the Yale economist.

"It is our conclusion," the commission reported, "that Dr. Fisher's plan, though fascinatingly and ably worked out, is wholly impractical and would involve grave dangers to the stability of our financial and monetary system. It would lead to foreign drafts on our gold in any period of crisis since the plan calls for lightening the gold behind the dollar when prices fall and foreigners, foreseeing this, would draw down their balance and sell dollars short before the government could make the change."
