Although main headquarters in San Francisco deputed that the transfer of the men from mail barracks and recruiting duty in all parts of the Pacific coast region had no particular significance, the unusual concentration gave rise to reports that an expeditionary force soon may be dispatched to China from here.

Democrats Seek to Cut Taxes

M'ADOO ROMPS ON NULLIFIERS OF PROHIBITION

Observers Say Former Cabinet Officer Bids For 1928 Nomination

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The third democratic tax reduction move in the senate this week failed today when vice president, Daves, ruled out on a point of order the proposed amendment to the deficiency bill of Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, for a cut in the corporation tax rate from 13 1/2 to 11 per cent.

Senator Warren, republican, Wyoming, chairman of the appropriations committee raised the point of order that the Harrison amendment provided general legislation in an appropriation measure, despite Harrison's appeal that the question be submitted to the senate.

McAdoo's Speech. The senate today passed the deficiency appropriation bill carrying $185,000,000 of which $175,000,000 is for paying tax refunds made by the treasury department.

In his speech, McAdoo charged that there was unabashed and active campaign in favor of nullification of the existence of the Volstead act.

McAdoo said the remedy in states refusing to aid enforcement of the dry law by statutes of their own was for the president to inform congress of the situation and "to request the necessary appropriations and measures to enable him to enforce the Constitution and laws of the United States in such nullification or recalcitrant state." He charged Maryland with nullification by refusing to adopt an enforcement law.

Referendums on the Volstead Act, submitted at the last election, McAdoo said, are a part of a campaign to amend the act to permit the sale of alcoholic liquor and to bring about the repeal of state enforcement acts.

Under the Constitution, McAdoo asserted, there is no possibility of enacting valid legislation permitting wine and beer.

A repeal of the Volstead act by Congress would be illegal, he contended. Likewise, he said, repeal of a state enforcement law, unaccompanied by substitution of a new act for it is illegal. He said that "there has been a flagrant and notorious refusal on part of certain states of the Union to perform their duties under the prohibition amendment."

The inspector recovered $2400 in currency, corresponding in description and denomination to that taken during the mail robbery.

REED CHARGES RICH FAVORED IN TAX REFUND

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Wealthy men "wine and dine" tax officials of the treasury and then negotiate with them for refunds, Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, has charged in the senate, opening the fight for a 10 per cent refund on taxes payable this year.

"These officials," Reed said, "are wine and dine, and thereupon hearings are held and negotiations carried on with these individuals."

Reed said William Boyce Thompson, prominent republican leader, "had a hearing before a clerk and when these two men had come out of the room, Thompson's tax had been cut $520,000."

CONWAYS SELL PART ROYALTY FOR $50,000

For a consideration of approximately $50,000 Conway Bros., of Ranger, today sold two-fifths of their royalty in the Duffer tract, five miles east of Ranger, to parties in Iola, Kansas.

The royalty was bought for these parties by Chas. Pettitt.

This is one of several big royalty deals aggregating approximately $150,000 that have been consummated since the Duffer No. 1, in the Gholson pool, came roaring in on the night of December 28, 1926.

The brisk trading in leases and royalty indicates that the Gholson pool, which was unproven until the Duffer No. 1 came in so unexpectedly, will be the scene of a strenuous drilling campaign this spring.

McAllister Well Near Carbon Settles Down To 525 Barrels Daily

The Pratt field, north of Ranger, which yesterday announced the coming in of one of its largest producers, may have a neighboring producer tonight, as the Chastain & Donley, on the New Hope Church lot, across the road from the Pratt lease is to be shot this afternoon. Pratt No. 7 is drilling at 465 feet and today a location was made by the discovery company, the Texas Fidelity Oil corporation, for their No. 8, which will be 500 feet east of Pratt No. 7.

Triplehorn Bros., on the Nannie Walker, in the same area are setting the casing at 6520 feet, preparatory to drilling in. This well is being watched with much interest, as this company went back to the "old

FROM THE HOLY WRIT

PAY YOUR POLL TAX.

Taxes and death are sure things, and since they are sure, why delay in paying your taxes? The average man demands efficiency and economy in government. The average man is forever kicking about how the government is run. The remedy for most of the evils is the payment of taxes. If the average man would promptly pay his taxes then more could be expected from the servants of the people, the officials of the state, county and town, even the nation.

The state, the county and the town have obligations to meet. The only way they can meet them is by collecting the taxes and when taxes are promptly collected then obligations can be promptly met. Good credit is valuable to a state, county and city. The county and city that meet the payment of interest and principal on bonds promptly when due usually find a ready sale for their securities when placed on the market at a premium; while the municipality that is slow pay, is like the slow paying individual, usually finds it hard to find a customer for securities and then when one is found they barely sell for par.

Prompt payment of taxes insures efficiency in government. When an office seeker knows that he will get his salary promptly and will not have to discount his voucher at a bank, he will render service. A laborer is worthy of his hire when service is delivered.

When taxes are paid promptly it is much easier to get civic improvements, because the officials of the county or city know just how much money they will have on hand at all times to spend for improvements.

It's a matter of business economy to pay your taxes promptly. You know you have them to pay, and if they are not paid promptly and allowed to lapse you will have to pay the penalty and interest which mounts up to high figures.

The government is a business and businesses that are run on a cash basis or where the securities are always in demand usually declare dividends. State, county and city governments can be made to declare dividends if the average man would pay his taxes promptly. Large corporations usually are the first to pay taxes. They know the value of prompt payments. The large individual property owner is usually the one who delays, and sometimes tries to get a reduction or compromise. Sometimes he is successful and sometimes he is not, but the principle is wrong. If you don't pay your taxes promptly you need not expect that efficiency that you demand in public servants.

WEST TEXAN ON COMMISSION.

R. H. Henderson of San Angelo, a successful business man, has been made a member of the highway commission, giving that body three men who will reflect credit on the state and themselves and insure a square deal for every one and that the state will get 100 per cent value in work for every dollar that is spent.

It is nothing but just and right that West Texas should have a member of the board. The great empire of West Texas that is just beginning to develop needs a representative on the board.

East and North Texas are represented by Hon. Cone Johnson, while South and Southwest Texas have a representative in Mr. Sterling.

Homer D. Wade is responsible for a West Texan being appointed. Homer is always on the job representing that great organization, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, to see that his section is taken care of.

West Texas needs roads, and more paved highways. West Texas may be assured getting her portion now. But for co-operative work, such as was put forth through the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, West Texas might not have been represented.

ST. VALENTINE'S APPROACH SOUNDED; BRIDGE LUNCHEON

The approach of St. Valentine, the day dear alike to young and old, was sounded at a bridge-luncheon given by Mrs. Charlie Conley, at her home in the Cooper addition, Thursday afternoon to the members of the Young Matrons Bridge club.

Employing blood red hearts, and emphasizing the Cupid season in a number of clever ways, the hostess staged one of the prettiest club meetings of the year.

Guests found their places at the luncheon tables, which were centered with red candle holders bearing red candles, by heart place cards. Heart shaped boxes filled with salted nuts were favors and the red of the Valentine season was brought out in the menu of the two-course luncheon served to Mrs. Mmes. Frank Brahaney, W. R. Bowden, E. G. Crawford, B. H. Barnett, Chas. Milliken, J. T. Gullahorn, Walt. Burden, John D. Gholson, Harry Legsdon, Boyd Davenport, E. J. Wiss and Paul Lacy.

A pair of silver candle holders, bearing long green tapers was the high score prize and went to Mrs. B. H. Barnett, a club guest. Mrs. John D. Gholson received the low score prize, a pair of blue luster vases. The next meeting will be with Mrs. C. C. Craig on February 11.

FEW WOMEN ON HONOR ROLL AT STATE.

AUSTIN, Jan. 27.—Of the 1,740 women students enrolled in the University of Texas this year, a little more than 11 percent were on the fall term honor roll of the college of arts and sciences which was recently announced, according to Miss Lulu Bewley, assistant to the dean of women. That percentage is higher than usual, and is regarded as an excellent representation, Miss Bewley stated.

WOMEN'S CLUB IS HOME LIKE.

The club has been in existence for some time, and is making rapid progress in the various activities it undertakes. A clubhouse is maintained by the organization for its members where those desiring to do so may live. The house is a lovely old Austin residence which speaks of the southern courtesy which these university women still extend. The club offers its members the privilege of entertaining in its parlors. Like similar organizations of the larger cities, the University Women's club is becoming well known over the country.

Doctor Fatally Hurt Diagnosis His Own Injury

LONDON.—Knocked down and run over by his own car, Dr. Sidney Wood, aged 62, physician and surgeon, waved away those who went to assist him, and carefully examined himself.

"Don't trouble to move me to the hospital," he said at length. "Leave me here because I know that I shall be dead soon. I cannot move my legs; my spine is fractured." He had cranked his car when it was in gear after attending a patient in Bottisham, near Cambridge. An ambulance was called and before being lifted into it, Dr. Wood shook hands with those around him and asked them to say good-bye for him to his friends and his neighbors.

His diagnosis proved correct. He died the next day.

Mussolini Seeks Larger Supply of Pulp For Paper

By THOMAS R. MORGAN (United Press Staff Correspondent) Rome.—Mussolini is now out to solve the problem of Italy's wood pulp supply. The Duce intends to increase the growth of popular trees to furnish the raw material for newsprint. A campaign to encourage intensive cultivation of popular trees has been launched, and money premiums with gold, silver, and bronze medals will be presented to growers who within the next two years plant a certain number of popular trees. As the popular trees is of rapid growth, a sufficient number of trees are expected to be available in a few years to greatly relieve Italy's present dependency on Sweden, Germany and Austria for its supply of newsprint. The development and increased circulation of Italian newspapers during the past few years has raised the demand for newsprint to enormous proportions. The high cost of importation has forced the government to create a domestic paper industry.

"The Best Town On Earth"

Stories?

Miss Florence Cochrane, 19, indignantly denies she told improper stories to the young pupils in her school at Indianola, Ia. She lost her job after that charge was made against her, but she has appealed to state school officials, claiming she was fired because she spurned the attentions of the son of a school board official. Meanwhile, her school is closed.

The importation of paper contributes much to Italy's unfavorable trade balance. An idea of the amount of newsprint consumed may be had in the fact that there are nearly 4,500 newspapers and periodicals published regularly in Italy. The "Corriere della Sera," a Milan newspaper, alone has a circulation of 600,000 copies. The encouragement of tree plantation is not the only factor in the solving of the wood pulp problem. Another economic measure, undertaken by Mussolini is the reduction of newspapers to six pages for each edition, and the imposition of heavy duties on finished newsprint in order to protect Italian paper manufacturers from foreign competition until the industry has gotten on its feet.

Royal Air Force Death Toll Is Growing Heavy

LONDON.—British public opinion is much aroused over the mounting death toll of the Royal Air Force which in the first eleven months of last year cost 81 lives in 51 accidents. Fifteen of these lives occurred in three accidents. In addition many more pilots were seriously injured in 250 crashes in which all the machines were so badly wrecked as to be beyond repair. In a written reply to criticism of the air force, Sir Samuel Hoare, secretary for air stated: "In spite of continuous and careful scrutiny of every individual accident, no general cause can be assigned. Many accidents are the result of a combination of causes. A mechanical failure containing no element of danger in itself, but necessitating a bad landing, may be followed by a crash due to bad ground or an error in judgement. "Every endeavor is being made to evolve more controllable machines and mechanical devices designed to increase the safety of flying. Parachutes have been generally introduced and have saved several lives this year. But it should also be remembered that aircraft are constantly improving in performance and every addition to speed and power tends to make the result of an accident more serious."

Russia To Build City To House 20,000 Power Employees

MOSCOW.—Building a city of 20,000 people is the first step in the reconstruction of Russia's greatest hydroelectric project on the Dnieper river, destined when finished to electrify the rich Ukrainian agricultural district. Most of the preparatory work for the huge $60,000,000 undertaking was put through by Trotsky before he lost his place of importance on account of political position to the policies of the Communists majority. The electrification of Russia was regarded by Lenin as the one requirement for a successful Socialist state. Communities to be benefitted have contributed more than $1,000,000 toward the undertaking, while the state is providing the rest.

Imperial Riding Academy Roof Still a Mystery

MOSCOW.—Russia's "house of cards" still holds its secret. The magic construction of the old Imperial Riding Academy's roof, which doesn't have a beam, brace or pillar, has again baffled inquisitive architects and engineers who tried to find out how it was put together. The roof of this huge old building apparently is carefully built up of small pieces of wood, each not more than one square foot in size, fitted and woven together to make a plant, unsupported roof of great size and strength which has successfully withstood the weight of scores of Russian snowstorm and which still shows no sign of deterioration. From the tanbark floor of the great riding hall to the under-surface of the slightly arched flexible roof, no beams, no braces, no supports of any kind, break the fine line of the building's interior. It is the only construction of its kind in existence. It was built long ago by a clever Russian engineer who died without divulging the secret of interlocking the small pieces of wood which make the roof. Now once again architects have examined the construction in an effort to discover the magic combination but they have learned nothing. They cannot even discover where the key-stone lies, the last brick inserted by the artful builder years ago which holds the entire surface together, nor can they learn the exact shape of the separate pieces.

They dare not cut into the roof to take out one of the bits of wood for examinations, lest the removal of a single piece should cause the entire roof to slide and tumble down like a house of cards. The building is now used as a garage for government automobiles but it will again be used as a riding hall and stable as it is feared the vibration of automobiles may injure the roof.

Russian Flag Has Been Planted On Gerald Isle

LENINGRAD.—The red flag of soviet Russia has been planted by an expedition party on Gerald island, in the Arctic, near Bering Straits, and the soviet government has informed the world of its claim to sovereignty there. The expedition reported finding flags of other nations planted on the island. Gerald island, which lies close to American and Canadian soil, was claimed a few years ago by various nations and became an object of considerable international bickering. In 1924 the soviet government sent notes to all nations, by which it laid claim to islands and other land extending north from Siberia into the Arctic ocean. So far as has been discovered, Gerald is valuable now chiefly as a possible military and naval base in case of hostilities. It might, however, become again a bone of contention between nations if investigations, which will probably be undertaken soon, should disclose valuable mineral deposits.

New Era Dawns Cathedral Building In United States

By United Press. BEDFORD, Ind.—A new day has dawned in cathedral and temple building, with America assuming unquestioned leadership, according to officials of the Indiana Limestone company. "The present period finds this country with more than two score churches whose architecture surpasses that of any other religious buildings of modern construction," a statement of the concern says. "Among the outstanding church buildings of present-day American architecture is the great Cathedral of St. John the Divine, which cost more than $15,000,000; the National cathedral at Washington, D. C., not yet completed but estimated to cost $10,000,000 when done; the cathedral of St. Francis De Sales at Toledo, Ohio; the St. Mary's cathedral group at Wichita, Kan.; and the Chicago Methodist temple, which embodies a new design in religious architecture." A stadium is to be constructed at Bologna, Italy, to seat 50,000 people.

Condemned Stray Animals Feasted Before Execution

By United Press.
 MEXICO CITY.—Hundreds of dogs, burros, mules, cats and other strays, recently attended a great animal feast given by the National Humane society of the day before execution of the animals by order of the health authorities.
 Senor A. T. Ishkanian, president of the society, was in the United States when he heard of the death order. He hurried to Mexico, called a meeting of the members of the organization and raised a large sum with which to buy meat, milk, bread and forage. Stray cats and dogs were caught in the streets and carried in motor vans to the scene of the picnic. Burros and mules were herded to the party.
 The spread of rabies among the dogs and the sale of the meat of stray burros and mules by unscrupulous butchers caused issuance of the death order.

 Quite a bit of interest is being manifested in the contest and prizes of two five dollar gold pieces will be awarded to the high school and junior college respectively. The prizes are given by the Ranger Building Loan association.

Talking Movies Put on Screen Next in Dallas

By United Press.
 DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 28.—A distinct step forward in the evolution of motion picture development is a chief topic of discussion among devotees of the silent drama here, with the announcement that Dallas is to soon have a permanent theatre in which films, dialogue and musical score will be run off simultaneously, theatre patrons are freely expressing their anticipation of a "new thrill" in the way of a movie.
 At a cost of $30,000 the Circle theatre here is installing equipment necessary to the projection of the three mediums that combine to make up the new form of entertainment. The premier announced for the opening of the new "Vitaphone" theatre is John Barrymore's Don Juan. A musical score to the picture played by the New York Philharmonic orchestra under the direction of William Mengelberg has been adapted to the screen version of the famous love story.
 Prior to the showing of the film a presentation in which Al Johnson, George Jessel, Elsie Janis, Giovanni Martinelli, Lucrezia Bori and other celebrated variety and musical artists are heard and seen on the screen in their shadow selves.
 The Vitaphone machine consists of a large phonograph record placed on a turn table driven by the same motor that operates the motion picture projection machine. Intricate adjustment devices make it possible to time the projection and the sound. The sound produced by the record is carried by radio equipment to loud speakers placed near the screen, where the electro-magnetic waves are transformed into sound.
 Experts in the motion picture field have predicted freely that the sound and synchronization is the coming development in entertainment and every large film company has affiliated with one or more of the several inventions on the market.
 Dallas will be the second city in Texas to boast a theatre of this type, the other being at San Antonio.

"CANYON OF LIGHT" MIX FILM BASED ON MAGAZINE THRILLER
 "The Canyon of Light," Fox Films' latest thriller starring Tom Mix, is based on Kenneth Perkins' story of the same name published recently in one of the nation's largest magazines.
 Ben Stoloff, creator of nineteen other Fox Films successes, directed the production from a scenario by John Stone, who has written most of Mix' western dramas. It will show at the Liberty theatre Friday and Saturday.
 Stone accompanied Stoloff to Yellowstone National Park, where scenes for the production were made. Later they toured the "Ghost Cities" of the west as the deserted mining towns are now called to determine just the proper settings for the final scenes.
 A national appeal is being made in England to raise $15,000 to cover the expense of a team of 10 British golf professionals to defend the Ryder Cup in the United States. The Britishers will also plan to compete in the American open championship.
 The Eastern Bowling League, a new association in process of formation, will be represented by teams in New York, Brooklyn, Buffalo, Philadelphia, Syracuse, Rochester, Newark and Utica.

For Wales

These grapefruit, fresh from the trees at Corpus Christi, Texas, are now en route to England, where they will go to the breakfast table of the Prince of Wales. Miss Mary Graeff, who is holding them, says one reason they are extra-fine grapefruit is that they have a short wave length. Wales' vest, therefore, will not suffer when he eats them.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

The signing of Rogers Hornsby by New York and Eddie Collins by Philadelphia make it appear as if those two clubs were looking into the future.

John McGraw, as manager of the Giants, and Connie Mack, as leader of the Athletics, cannot go on forever. There must be an end and in both cases it doesn't appear far distant.

Whenever these two master managers see fit to retire, both clubs will have in their lineup a man capable of taking over the leadership and maintaining the high standard set by the two veterans.

Hornsby won a pennant and a world championship for St. Louis in his second year, while Eddie Collins, during his tenure at Chicago, proved a leader of exceptional merit.

TIME CHANGES ALL THINGS

It is rather interesting that McGraw at one time had a chance to get Collins for nothing and once could have made a more profitable deal than he finally did for Hornsby.

Collins gained his first fame as a ball player at Columbia University, which is located in New York. Several times the modest Collins sought to show his wares to McGraw, but he made no impression.

That was 20 years ago. In those days Connie Mack was about the only big league manager who had any use for collegians. So, despite his desire to be a Giant, Collins hired himself to Philadelphia and was immediately signed by Mack.

New Collins comes back to Mack as his understudy, should Connie suddenly make up his mind to retire.

Two years ago McGraw could have made an even-up trade with St. Louis for Hornsby by turning 7 over Frankie Frisch, then having his biggest year, but McGraw said nay. Now he passes over Frisch, Pitcher Jimmy Ring and considerable cash to boot.

TWO LIKELY LEADERS

I am inclined to think that in the future the big league magnates will hesitate before naming some star player at the top of his game, as manager.

The experiences of the magnates in naming outstanding stars as managers have been none too successful. In most cases there has been a reaction to the additional burdens that has seriously handicapped the play of the stars.

When a star has passed the peak of his game, is slipping, no great harm can come from giving him a whirl as manager. He may prove to be just the man for the job.

Eddie Collins, therefore, looms up as an ideal managerial possibility and Hornsby soon will be in that class, for there must come a time when he will start to slow up in his play.

Last season he slumped badly at the bat, and it is possible the woes of a manager had much to do with it.

WOES OF PLAYER LEADER

Incidentally, the fact that a man is a star player, keen of mind, is no indication that he will make a good manager.

It is a gift to be able to impart one's knowledge of the game to others to be able to correct the faults of one's players without incurring their wrath and enmity. That is the true test of managerial ability, leadership.

Also a great many stars are unable to get on a level with their players, many of whom are just mediocre. It was Ty Cobb's chief fault. He could do all things in baseball with such ease, it was hard for him to condone the faults of others.

The era of the star player as manager is over for the time being at least.

The game of billiards has more actual participants than any other sport in the United States.

Silver King, Movie Horse, Gets Boy Scout Honorary Membership

Scout Executive Fred Letten Presents Certificate to Marvél-Horse

Perhaps the only instance on record of an animal receiving a genuine honorary membership in the Boy Scouts of America organization is the recent award to Silver King, white mount of Fred Thomson, the F. B. O. Western film star, of a diploma certifying his standing as an Honorary Boy Scout. The award was made by Fred Letten of the Los Angeles council, with local Scouts attending, and was based on Silver King's excellent work in "A Regular Scout," the motion picture Thomson made dedicated to the Boy Scouts.

Corsican Bandit Ruled Kingdom All His Own

By JOHN O'BRIEN, United Press Staff Correspondent.

AJACCIO, Corsica—Nonce Romanetti, the "king of the Corsican bandits," who was killed last April in an ambush after he had laughed at the police for 20 years, considered himself a real monarch, according to testimony at the hearing of an appeal by seven of his alleged lieutenants sentenced for complicity in his misdeeds.

He had a general staff, a business manager, a fleet of fishing boats and motor craft, with two admirals, a ministerial council, a special police force and a transport system. The evidence shows Romanetti in a different light from the legendary stories of Corsican chivalry, disinterestedness and big heartedness which grew up around the bandit.

Jules Leca was Romanetti's chief of transport. He directed an automobile service between Ajaccio, Calogio and Lopina. Romanetti had an account in an Ajaccio bank in Leca's name. Pascal Livrelli was manager of the "estate" of Romanetti. His vineyards were profitable. Livrelli also directed the cheese manufactures of the bandit at Bostelliacca and Col de Pruno.

The Mancini family, a member of which was Romanetti's sweetheart, held thousands of cattle for him in the rich valleys between the Leva and the Lisioa where he lived most of the time.

In the gulf of Leva Romanetti's fishing fleet brought him many thousands of francs a year. The biggest motor boat was called the Marie Maxalon, the name of his sweetheart. "Admirals" Moresco and Battesti were in charge.

His police force consisted for the most part of sentinels posted on the heights around his principal hiding places to give him word of the approach of the real police, incessantly on the watch for the bandit. He had been condemned to death by default several times and many an aspiring police inspector took his life in his hands hoping to gain promotion and honors capturing the brigand.

The signals of the bandit's police were given by green and red lanterns at night and the woffen served to give the regular police false information about the bandit's movements putting them on a false trail when he was about to make a descent in force on a peaceful village for pillage.

Municipal golf courses are now operated by nearly 100 cities in the United States, with fees ranging from 10 to 15 cents a round in some places to as high as $1 a round in New York, Los Angeles, Detroit, Cincinnati and several other cities.

Tharpe Moves Brin Building On Main Street

Ranger's oldest furniture house, the Tharpe Furniture Company, is to move between suns and will open up in their new location on Main street, in the new Brin building, for business Saturday morning as usual.

The history of this firm dates back to 1918, when they opened up their first store in Ranger in a small frame building on the site of the present Ranger Garage. Later they moved across the street and until two years ago occupied the building now occupied by Joe Dennis. Their next move was to the Brin building on the north side of Main street, which they went into two years ago this month.

Each move has been necessitated by expanding business and the urge for more room.

The company was formerly known as "The Wright Furniture Company."

Bulldogs Play Cisco Crucial Game Tonight

Ranger Bulldogs go to Cisco tonight for the most crucial basketball game of the season—for the results of tonight's game decides the county championship.

The Bulldogs will be accompanied to Cisco by a number of fans, the pep squad and the band.

All members of the band are asked to meet at Ranger Chamber of Commerce this afternoon at 6:30—and to be in uniform.

The game tonight is the most important one of the season. Monroe Sweeney will referee the same.

Ranger High School Now Has A Civic League

Ranger high school has a Civic League. Rupert Murphy is chairman of the Civic League committee, which intends to clean the high school from top to bottom, inside and out.

The League will be operated like a real civic organization, except it will be composed of students. Their work will be the high school building and its grounds. The problem of the disposition of the old white building on the campus ground, formerly used as a primary school will be considered as will various outhouses on the campus.

The lobby of the high school building will be done over so as to look inviting and like somebody "lived there"—even a trophy case for athletic awards is dreamed of.

Reports of the committees will be made Monday and various committees assigned their territory.

New South Wales Adds to Amount Booze Consumed

By United Press.

SYDNEY.—According to figures issued by the government statistician here, the 2,000,000 inhabitants of the State of New South Wales drank, on an average liquor valued at $27.50 per capita from July 1, 1925, to June 30, 1926. The total liquor bill was over $63,000,000 an increase of nearly $5,000,000, or $1.25 per capita more than the preceding years.

The increase is attributed by the statistician to the larger consumption of Australian beer, and the higher prices charged for imported whisky, following an increase of $1 per gallon customs duty during the year. Figures show that in ten years the drink bill for the state has almost doubled.

J. S. Mayford, Ralph T. Steward, associate professors, and M. B. Sturgess, instructor of Agronomy, conducted the contest.

Canada is planning to send a strong delegation to compete in the women's events in the next Olympic games. Miss Rosa Grosse, of Toronto, is credited with being one of the best girl sprinters in the world. Another member of the Canadian team will be Miss Catherwood, of Saskatchewan, who is a marvel in the high jump.

THIN, NERVOUS Virginia Lady Tells of Taking Cardui and Says She Has Since Recovered Perfect Health.

Lynchburg, Va.—"I have taken Cardui several times for a run-down condition and have found it perfectly splendid," says Mrs. Leo T. Marsh, 716 First Street, this city.

"About ten years ago," she explains, "I became so weak I could not go about. I looked like a skeleton and . . . was dreadfully worried about myself. A friend suggested Cardui and I decided to try it. . . ."

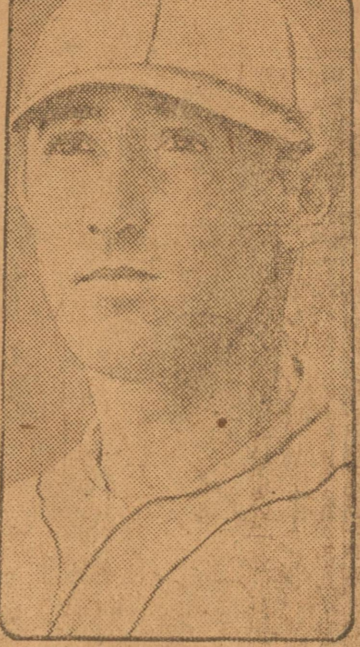

"I kept up the medicine until I had taken six bottles. It regulated and built me up. I improved greatly. . . ."

"Last year we drove up here through the country from Florida. I was exposed to the weather and must have taken cold, for I became ill. . . . I got run-down, lost flesh, . . . could not sleep and had no appetite at all. I was so nervous that I did not know what to do. . . ."

"I thought of Cardui. I began to take it regularly and it was not long before I began to feel better. I took six bottles, one after another, and at the finish of the last one was perfectly well again. Since then I have continued gaining in weight and all winter have been in perfect health." Juniors Defeat Big Randolphers By Handy Score

Using a bewildering passing game in the last half gave the Ranger Junior college a victory over Randolph college on the Ranger High school gym court Thursday, score 32 to 24.

It was a nip and tuck game during the first half with Ranger barely holding its own against a team of much taller men, however, when the whistle sounded at the end of the half, the score was 18 Ranger and 12 Randolph. This score made Rangerites mad and then Hamblen, Harvey, Foote and a few others got angry and began playing a game that bewildered their opponents.

Ranger was frequently penalized for holding, and although the Randolph boys were about as rough the referee failed to see it. It was one of the fastest games ever played by the Junior collegians.

Davenport at center was missed, but his substitute was there more ways than a farmer can whip a mule.

Johnny Weismuller, of the Illinois A. C., has a record of covering 100 yards in 49 4-5 seconds, considered one of the "impossible" feats of swimming.

A mammoth arena is planned in Brooklyn, N. Y., to cost between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000, and will have a seating capacity of between 26,000 and 30,000. The building will be devoted to all sorts of sports.

Every public building in Boston has its cat, says a Boston newspaper. Nothing remarkable about that.

OFFICE WORKERS AVOID DULLNESS

Stenographers, clerks and other inside workers often complain of sluggishness that gets up with them in the morning and clings like a plague through the day. But there is a remedy. Comet Rice is one of the most easily digested of all foods. If it is eaten for breakfast, the whole system is refreshed for the day's work instead of being overtaxed in the performance of its duty.

Comet Rice abounds in protein, fat, carbohydrates and minerals—those elements that develop strength and build up resistance. Because it is so thoroughly cleaned, Comet Rice does not need a preliminary washing. Therefore you are sure of getting the full value of its precious food elements.

Several methods of preparing it have just been assembled in a new booklet. Send a two-cent stamp to Comet Rice Company 57 Light Street, Department 219-B, New York, for your copy.

PREVENTION AND CONTROL OF CONTAGIOUS DISEASES EMPHASIZED BY DOCTORS

By CARL H. WINTSCH, M. D.
Member Gorgas Institute
By United Press.

CHICAGO.—In the enlightenment of each new medical discovery with a bearing upon contagious diseases, the added possibilities of prevention are emphasized as an infinite part of the doctor's work.

To develop these preventive possibilities is of great importance, yet with extensive educational campaigns it has been found difficult to obtain acceptance of preventive methods. The public in general may be convinced of the merits of prevention but if success is to be achieved with contagious diseases it must be through compulsory methods.

It is known that vaccination can practically obliterate smallpox. The public is aware of this fact, yet adopting vaccination as a compulsory practice is obstructed by some people who contend that their personal rights are infringed.

The work of prevention of diphtheria and scarlet fever has been proven efficacious through the Schick and Dick tests.

Scarlet Fever.
Scarlet fever and diphtheria are most prevalent among children, particularly those under ten years of age. If prevention is resorted to at an early age, by the administration of toxin-antitoxin, the mortality rate of diphtheria would be materially reduced. Nothing can be done to reduce the death rate of diphtheria if dependence is placed upon home diagnosis of a child's complaint by well meaning but misguided parents. The Schick test indicates the susceptibility or non-susceptibility of the patient to diphtheria. If the test shows that it is possible for the child to "catch" the disease, then the toxin-antitoxin should be administered to prevent such an occurrence.

Prevention and control of scarlet fever are the properties of the Dick test. Susceptibility or non-susceptibility is indicated by the test and subsequent use of the anti-toxin gives the desired immunization.

With the use of these preventive measures there is no good reason why disastrous epidemics of diphtheria and scarlet fever should occur. In itself that should be sufficient justification for the adoption of these preventive since it is better for the health and happiness of the human race that disastrous conditions be forestalled rather than awaited.

Care
For the care of contagious diseases there is no substitute for hospitalization. The immediate family or neighborhood is not jeopardized, quarantine is more rigidly enforced, under ideal sanitary conditions and the patients condition can be guarded against interference that might be detrimental.

Constant watch can be kept for symptoms of complications. Everything possible is done for the comfort of the patient.

It is unfortunate but nevertheless that every contagious disease carries to a greater or less extent various complications which are often more dangerous than the disease itself. Constant attention is necessary for the early detection of complications of the heart and kidneys, which may arise. In the hospital they are more readily cared for.

The trained staffs and superior facilities naturally afford the sick one skill of a kind it is impossible to provide in the home with in promptu nursing.

Mexico Plans Big Projects In Reclamation

By A. W. FOLGER,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
MEXICO CITY.—Mexico's irrigation and land reclamation program is rapidly materializing and the development constitutes one of the biggest achievements of the Calles administration. Three projects are already under construction and 18 or 20 sites are being investigated by engineers.

The government's extensive scheme for development of agricultural resources is based largely on the plans of the United States reclamation service. The purpose is to settle the people on their own lands, giving them homes and a livelihood, to increase the productivity of the soil for the general benefit of the nation and to instruct the peasant class in improved agricultural methods.

Construction work has already started at Guatimape, Durango, where the existing dam is being strengthened and raised. Canal construction will begin shortly.
On the Santiago river, about 30 kilometers from the city of Aguascalientes, work is under full headway, with approximately 700 men being employed. Construction camps have been established and a 12-mile truck road from the station of Fabellon to the main dam site is nearing completion.

The Santiago river project will develop between 50,000 and 75,000 acres of land and should be of immediate benefit to the section which has had some severe crop failures in recent years.

On the Salado river in Nuevo Leon, construction has begun on what is known as the Don Martin project. Located about 75 miles from Laredo, Texas, the dam will irrigate between 125,000 and 150,000 acres. A huge earthen dam, some hundred feet in height will be built. The dam will store about 35,000,000 cubic feet of water. The land in the section is similar to that on the American side of the Rio Grande river near Laredo.

Austrian Women Want Tax Levied On Bachelors

By United Press.
VIENNA.—Mussolini's tax on bachelors has had an echo here. Within a short time after the Italian parliament passed the tax law the "Austrian Alliance for Women's Rights" demanded through the press that Austria should use this method of increasing marriages.

At once the Austrian men formed an "Alliance for Men's Rights." A battle started with statistics as the principle bullets.
The women assert that there are now half a million unmarried men of marriageable age in Austria who are preventing an equal number of women from making a home by shirking their duty to marry.
A tax on unmarried men, graduated from $5 to $100 per year according to income, is advocated by the women.

The men have retorted that the last census recorded only 300,000 unmarried men in Austria above the age of thirty, of which number approximately 120,000 have tried marriage and are now enjoying freedom through divorce separation or death of their mates. That these men do not remarry is sufficient indication that marriage is not what is claimed for it, the men assert.

TOURIST RESTRICTIONS ARE REMOVED BY GREECE

By United Press.
ATHENS.—The government is making a strong bid for tourist travel in Greece by making the movements of tourists as free as possible from customs and passport regulations.
The control of passports will be greatly simplified. Taxes by tourists are to be removed. Foreign exchange bureaus will be opened in customs houses for the convenience of tourists and better communications will be established.

Bermuda Golf Tournament is Called for Feb. 1-15

By United Press.
HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 26.—Invitations for the annual Bermuda amateur golf championship tournament, which will be held on the course of the Mid-Ocean club at Tucker's Town, Bermuda, Feb. 1 to 15, have been sent by the Bermuda Golf association to a list of prominent players.

The Mid-Ocean club has placed its 18-hole course at the disposal of the Bermuda Golf association for the tournament. This course was designed by Charles B. Macdonald and the late Seth J. Raynor, and has been pronounced one of the finest four in the western hemisphere.

An attractive group of prizes, including medals and cups, will be offered to the winner of the qualifying round, the winner and runner-up of each 16, the winner of each beaten eight, the first contestant who equals par (71), and the winner of an 18-hole handicap against par.

One hundred and seventy-six world champions lost their crowns during last year. Seventy-one titles were successfully defended in 30 branches of amateur and professional sports.

A Simple Formula Women Are Using

More than fifty years ago, it was found that such roots and herbs as Blessed Thistle, Blue Cohosh Root, Squaw Vine, Life Root Plant, Helonias Root, Star Grass, Cramp Bark, etc., had peculiar properties in building up and strengthening women.

As the use of these roots and herbs for this purpose became more general, there was a demand for them in a more convenient form, and they were combined in a purely vegetable compound under the name of St. Joseph's G. F. P.

How well satisfied women everywhere are with this compound is best shown by the words of praise which thousands of them, like Mrs. Barham, are now showering on it.
Mrs. H. J. Barham, who lives at 1426 W. Terrell Ave., in Fort Worth, Texas, says, "I think G. F. P. is simply wonderful. Now I am on my sixth bottle of it, I feel just as strong as I did when I was a girl."

Women have used St. Joseph's G.F.P. for over 50 years!

Rheumatism can't be rubbed away

Are you one of those unfortunate who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?
You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.
"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried most everything. Went to Hot Springs and finally I decided to try S. S. S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I also had a breaking out on my hands for years that nothing would heal, but now this has disappeared, and I am sure that it was S. S. S. which removed the cause. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S. S. S. is the best." Carl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.
S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.
S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.
To the home of Prof and Mollie Elwell in Camdensville, Ind., one night in October, 1898, comes a nurse, bearing a woman who has fainted on a train.

Elwell is an artist. He has a son, Jim, aged 5. Late that night the woman bears twin girls and dies without revealing her name.

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins, now growing to beautiful womanhood, have been adopted and named Margaret and Elizabeth. They are called Rusty and Betty.

Jim enlists in the world war. He then discovers one of the twins loves him. Put in charge of a machine gun unit, he is shell-shocked at Sedan and, through a mixup, is registered as John Powell. He is removed to an American hospital and reported dead.

It is discovered that the father of the twins is dead and that they are the nieces and heirs of John Clayton, wealthy retired banker. While the twins are visiting Clayton's home the Elwells get word that Jim is alive and in a New York hospital and their grief is turned to joy.

While they are on their way to New York the story goes back to introduce a new character, Mike Hennegan, who has an important part to play.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY.
CHAPTER XXIV.

Mike Hennegan one morning was wandering through City Hall park, New York. When he drew close to the old fountain he stopped. The old dried-up fountain which was still running dry, for the big stone image of Bolivar Brutus, which someone with a fine and sardonic sense of humor later christened Civic Virtue, had not yet been erected.

Mike stopped, however, not to admire the fountain but because he had seen something else. It came tripping toward him, from across the park and it wore a uniform. Not the uniform of a soldier, for Mike hardly would have looked at that, but of a nurse.

And a remarkably pretty nurse, too, with a very petite figure. Had she been of the heavy tank pattern Mike would have looked the other way. But Mike liked them young and slim and he had an eye for a high-arched instep and a slender ankle.

The little nurse seemed to know him for she rushed right over with the glad hand and a welcoming smile.

"Why, Mike Hennegan?" she exclaimed joyfully. "I certainly am glad to see you again! And you're looking so healthy and good!"

She added that when he had left the hospital over in France he had had her worried. "You didn't look very pert. What are you doing now?"

Mike grinned a whimsical grin, a grin so wide that the ends of his mouth came very near to touching his ear lobes.

"Well," he made answer, "I'll tell you, Nellie, darlin'—or Downing, I mean—I'm just hangin' around. And the hangin' is pretty good around this park. The mayor gave orders to the police last week to let ex-service men sleep on the grass—if we'd keep the snow shoveled off. An' we get all the icicles we want to eat free of cost.
They drop from the eaves of the municipal building."

That, Mike went on to explain, was why he was looking so fine and fat.

"Icicles are great for gas-bombed soldiers with a little salt on 'em—salt on the icicles, not the soldiers; they don't need any salt—we've been fed up on salt—salt bull, salt horse, salt everything."

"Of course," he went on, his gaze resting speculatively on a hobo at ease on a nearby bench, "it's understood that ex-soldiers have gotta keep away from the city lodgin' houses an' jails. They're well filled all the time with cash customers—moll'buzzers, stickuns an' cannons. When didja get back from France, an' where yuh got in' now?"

The laughing mouth of the little nurse straightened and a serious look came into her eyes.

"I returned yesterday on a steamer from Cherbourg," she told him. "And

"Behave yourself, Mike, or I'll call the guard."

oh, Mike," she went on quickly, "seeing you made me forget for a moment, but I'm on a very sad assignment. In connection with a young soldier, one of my patients over in France. He was shell-shocked at Sedan and his brain is wrecked.

"He's now in No. 3 hospital on Long Island and there has been a terrible mixup in his identity. We supposed from letters and pictures of an elderly woman and a girl found sewed up in his coat when he was brought to the hospital at Metz that he was a John Powell of Newark. But when Mrs. Powell and the girl came to visit him on Long Island they said they had never seen him before."

How those pictures and letters came to be found in his coat, Nellie Downing went on, was a mystery.

"The war office was notified and finally communicated with the hospital authorities in Metz, but everything was topsy-turvy in France and is yet."

This young soldier belonged to a machine gun unit of six, four of which were blown to pieces by a German shell. Part of another body was found near the shell holes and buried with hundreds of others.

"All those bodies have been taken up and are now being prepared for shipment back to this country. So you see how impossible it was to straighten out matters over there.

I'm hoping to get some kind of clew, but I'm afraid I won't." She shook her head and looked across the park, a worried expression on her face.
After a moment she turned back again to the man in khaki.

"Don't you want to go over with me, Mike?" she asked, a little plaintively. "We'll take a surface car over to Brooklyn and then get a taxi out to the hospital. Don't you want to go?"

Mike Hennegan allowed himself to look at her—quite a long look. Then he scratched his ear meditatively and stroked his chin where a three-day's growth of beard glinted warmly in the rays of the April sun. Again his mouth took on a whimsical twist as he glanced down sideways at the good-looking nurse.

"Well," he made answer slowly,
"it's just like this, Miss Downing. I'd like to go, all right, but I'm, I'm not exactly what you'd call blistered with jack."

"Jack?" she repeated.
"You know, dough. You see, I haven't got a card yet in the Pan-handlers' union, so they won't let me work on the Big Stem. I was thinkin' of joinin' a subway mob, but the cannons say my hands are too big for liftin' pokes out of tight hip pockets.

That's why these whiskers are so—"
"I understand, Mike," cut in Nellie Downing, nodding wisely, for she had been bred in New York and knew fairly well what he was talking about.
"I think I can fix up all right so you can go with me. Just turn around and look up at the dome on the World building for half a minute."

Mike turned and looked up as he was told to do, the while his grin spread alarmingly. He was a good guesser, Mike was, and, as they happened to be standing in front of a hedge, he guessed at once that a Red Cross private bank was going to be raided for his especial benefit.

But Mike wasn't too thin-skinned and it didn't make any difference to him right where it came from just so he got it.

"Here, take this," he heard the voice of Nellie Downing saying. He looked around again and the voice went on: "Go over to that restaurant on the corner and get a good meal.
Then get shaved and come right back here. I'll be waiting for you on one of these benches."

Mike accepted the bill that was being shoved at him. It was nice and yellow and had the figure 20 on it.
He smoothed it out with a loving touch. Then he reached out his right hand

"Shake, little partner," he said;

"What have I ever done that has made this world better?" Ask yourself that. We did! We can answer.
We have never sold tough, stringy, tainted meat, to cause a housewife to worry, the husband to lose his religion nor the dog indigestion. People always feel better after eating our meats.
THE JAMESONS
Meat is the main article of diet. Choose it, then build your meal around it.

"Broken Threads"

"you're the right sort, all right, through an' through, I knew that, o' course, over in France, th' way you looked after us gassed birds. But — holy Pat!" he added with a chuckle, "if I'da had this last night what I couldn't have done to that crap game in the mallin' room of the Planet! Wow!"

The "right sort" held up an admonishing finger and eyed him severely. "You listen to me, Mike Hennegan," was her stern command, "you get yourself a week's meal ticket and a room with the balance of that 20 and keep out of crap games. Now, do as I told you and hurry back."

"You said it, Captain," Mike Hennegan jerked his heels together and saluted. "Orders from headquarters. Attention, company. Forward march!"

The "company" marched. It marched straight to the nearest restaurant, filled up on four orders of ham and eggs, washed it down with three cups of coffee and then, feeling considerably strengthened, marched into a barber shop, called for a shave and shine, got them and marched out again.

Half an hour after he had left his superior officer, Mike Hennegan was facing her again in City Hall park.

"I brought back the shave, Captain," he stated, his chest thrown out and his shoulders back, "the last one in the commissary. I'll snag a meal later. All I had time for was a few eggs and a little ham. That'll carry any soldier until it's time for mess. So lead on, Captain. The detail is all ready an' rearin' to go. Next stop No. 3 hospital, Long Island. Under orders to make myself useful to Nurse Downing."

"Behave yourself, Mike," interrupted the "captain," rising and facing about, "or I'll call the guard and you'll get 10 days on short rations. Now come along."

But the irrefragable and irresponsible Mike had got something stronger than toilet water when he left the barber shop and was not to be suppressed.

Hence his former nurse, on the way to the hospital in Long Island, was kept in a state of mind fluctuating between a desire to scream and to curl him soundly.

She managed, however, to hold herself in check and so they reached their destination without any casualties.

Nellie Downing, Red Cross nurse, presented her assignment papers to the hospital superintendent, who looked them over with interest.

"The patient referred to here," he stated when he had finished reading and had looked the nurse over, too, "is tagged John Doe No. 2. There is another here whose condition is similar to his. Both their identities have been lost or misplaced. Number 2, upon his arrival, was in a terrible shape, as you are aware."

"During the months since then he has recovered the use of his limbs and can walk around the corridors by himself, although a careful watch is kept on him at all times. He can even feed himself in a more or less clumsy way with a spoon."

"But his every action," went on the superintendent, "is instinctive, governed in nowise by any thought. He is very much like an animal that has been taught to do simple tricks. But he hasn't even an animal's powers of initiative. And he won't pester you any with his talk, as the only thing he can say is 'ug-ug,' and that is involuntary."

My Home Town Contest Awards Scholarships

STAMFORD, Jan. 28.—With "My Home Town" the subject, booster boys and girls of West Texas are slated to compete for several hundred dollars in cash prizes and scholarship awards to be made in connection with the yearly convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The competition will be in the form of a "Home Town Contest" for high school students similar to the one sponsored by the regional organization at its annual convention last year.

Rules of the 1927 contest which will be held at Wichita Falls May 16 and 17 will be the same as those which governed the competition at the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Amarillo last year. Judges will be appointed from the floor during the Wichita meeting. Further announcement of the contest will be made later.

Col. C. C. Walsh, former president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and Leon L. Shield, vice president, have made offers of $100 awards to contestants. Texas Tech and other schools will offer scholarships to winners.

RUSSIAN MUSIC CONTESTS.

By United Press.

MOSCOW.—The all-Russian accordion championship, just concluded, was such a sensational success that similar contests have been arranged for players of the guitar, mandolin and balalaika. Like the accordion, these are national instruments of Russia which have not yet been recognized by musical authorities, although the Russian villages abound with players of great skill.
