

BANDITS MAKE BIG HAUL AT LOS ANGELES

LINDBERGH AT FORT WORTH AFTER TWO HOUR STOP ABILENE

IS WELCOMED AT ABILENE BY 60,000 PEOPLE

Introduced By Wife Of Governor Moody Talks Ten Minutes

By United Press.
FORT WORTH, Sept. 26.—Col. Charles Lindbergh arrived over Fort Worth in the Spirit of St. Louis at 1:40 p. m. and circled the city several times before heading for Meacham field, where he landed.

Lindbergh left Abilene for Fort Worth at 11:30 a. m., after a two hours visit.

The famous flyer was welcomed at Abilene by a crowd estimated at 60,000. Delegations from every city of West Texas were there for the occasion.

Lindbergh landed on Kinsolving field and headed a parade through flag-bedecked streets to the business section, three miles distant. The parade concluded at the federal building, where an official reception was held. He delivered a 10-minute speech on the purpose of his tour.

Mayors, newspaper editors and young lady sponsors from nearly every town in that section of West Texas were on the reception committee.

Mrs. Dan Moody, wife of Governor Moody, introduced Lindbergh. The crowd assembled was the largest in the history of West Texas. There were 71 mayors, 55 editors, 27 commercial secretaries and 73 young ladies from West Texas towns on the reception committee.

As Lindbergh left he circled the grounds of the West Texas fair, which opened today and disappeared in the east.

MANY DISAPPOINTED IN NOT SEEING FLYER

Many residents in towns along the route of the Texas & Pacific railroad between Abilene and Fort Worth were disappointed Monday in not getting a glimpse at the ace of all air-men, Colonel Lindbergh, as he winged his way eastward. It had been thought he would follow the railroad fairly closely but few had the opportunity of seeing him.

At Ranger it was said the flyer passed about two and a half miles to the north while hundreds of sky-gazers in the city craned their necks for a look at him.

MISSED EASTLAND ON WAY TO FORT WORTH

Colonel Lindbergh, flying his Spirit of St. Louis, seemingly passed around Eastland on his flight from Abilene to Fort Worth. At 1:30 his plane had not been sighted, although his advance plane passed over at 12 to 14.

Crowds thronged the streets and the tops of the Exchange National bank and the Texas State bank buildings.

It was rumored that he was sighted over Carbon, to the southwest of Eastland, but that could not be verified.

Short and compact in stature; long and compact in business success—that is Dwight W. Morrow, chosen as new U. S. ambassador to Mexico. This recent photo of him was taken on shipboard.

Cooking School Opens With Big First Day Crowd

Mrs. Ida Chitwood, nationally known culinary expert, opened Eastland's third annual free cooking school, at the Eastland city hall this afternoon at 2 o'clock. This school, like the others Mrs. Chitwood has conducted in Eastland, is being given under the auspices of the Eastland Telegram, which extends an invitation to the citizens of Eastland and Eastland county—especially women—to attend the school. Lectures and demonstrations on the art of cooking and serving foods will be given from 2 to 4 o'clock each afternoon during the school, which closes next Friday.

Judging from the number of ladies present at the opening of the school today, it will be more largely attended than any of the schools previously conducted in the city by Mrs. Chitwood.

Mrs. Chitwood's lecture this afternoon was on the subject of "Home Economics." She also gave demonstrations on making pies, the new, flaky individual kind; coffee soufflé; frozen parfite, etc.

Among the firms cooperating with the Telegram and Mrs. Chitwood in the free cooking school, which is put on for the benefit of the housewives of this section, are the following: Walker-Smith Wholesale Grocery company, Ranger, who furnish White Crust flour, Pecan Valley Coffee and Crisco.

Calumet baking powder, Gebhart's Chili Products, Eastland Creamery, which furnishes milk, butter, etc.

Texas Electric Service corporation is furnishing the Frigidaire.

Satterwhite Hardware company is furnishing the Detroit-Jewell range.

Barrow Furniture company is furnishing a Seller's Kitchen cabinet and the City Grocery and Market is furnishing groceries.

Gas for the school is being supplied by the Eastland Gas company.

Officers Seek Aid Former Husband Of Dead Girl

By United Press.
FREDERICKSBURG, Sept. 26. Bessie Owens today revealed that her dead sister, Billy, "the grave girl," had been married early in the spring and that the marriage was later annulled.

Officers are hunting the husband as an aid in their investigation.

Uncut Diamonds Valued at $125,000 Taken by Robbers

By United Press.

ELECTROCUTED FOR DEATH OF NEGRO POLICEMAN

By United Press.
BELLEFONTE, Pa., Sept. 26.—Carl Nolly, slayer of a negro policeman, Charles Gay in Philadelphia two years ago, was electrocuted by the state today at Rockview penitentiary.

Nolly was pronounced dead at 7:05 a. m.

Walking calmly to his doom the only words Nolly spoke were "good morning, gentlemen," addressing the guards as he walked into the death chamber.

Crusader Against Vice Shot While Enroute to Office

By United Press.
MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 26.—Howard Guilford, editor of a week end publication dedicated to the cause of "gambling and other vice conditions" was shot through the abdomen by two men while driving to his office here today.

Guilford was unable to reach a gun he carried in his overcoat pocket before he was struck by one of four bullets fired at him. His condition is considered serious.

MEMPHIS FIRES TOTAL OF 39 OF POLICE FORCE

Claim Made That Many Names Found in Bootlegger's "Pay-Off" Book.

By United Press.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 26.—The number of officers suspended from the Memphis police force had reached 39 today with the discharge of Captain Will Lee, for 20 years a member of the department.

The police shake-up followed exposure of a bootlegger's "pay off" book in which names of policemen were listed.

Although Lee's name did not appear in the grab book, he was asked to resign at the time 38 others were suspended last week. He refused and fought for his place on the force. However, Police Commissioner Allen ruled he must go.

Lee has indicated that he will join the others in requesting a public trial by the police trial board.

Wayne B. Wheeler Was Resourceful If Nothing Else

By RODNET DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.
WASHINGTON.—A fast train pulled up to an unaccustomed stop at a small station in Ohio. Railroad regulations allowed it to stop there for two passengers, but never for one.

A small, mild-looking man scampered up onto a platform with his bag.

"Got wires here to stop from a fellow named Wheeler and a fellow named Owens," he said. "What's your name?"

"Where's Wayne?"

"That's me, too—Wayne Wheeler." And, as you may have guessed by this time, so it was. The czar of the Anti-Saloon league was due to make a prohibition speech in a big city and the train had been his only chance to get there. The story is told by Wheeler's friends as illustrating the late dry leader's humor and resourcefulness.

In his early Ohio days, during which he attracted the attention to himself which caused his elevation to leadership, Wheeler wanted to attend a brewer's convention downtown, which was not open to the public. He boarded a train at Cleveland, quite uncertain as to whether he would get in when he had arrived at the convention city.

The man beside him seemed worried and Wheeler, always affable and something of a "good mixer," opened the conversation. The stranger confided that he had to make a 15-minute speech at a convention that afternoon, was flabbergasted for the lack of ideas and couldn't possibly get out of it. Wheeler allowed that he was something of a lecturer and perhaps he could help. Well, of course it was the brewer's convention and the stranger was a brewer.

Wheeler pulled out his inevitable pad of paper and wrote the speech—it was a good one, too.

The brewer offered compensation, but Wheeler wouldn't take it. Nevertheless, he had to kill some time after leaving the train and he'd sort of like to hear the man make the speech. The brewer was delighted. Wheeler went into the convention hall and took voluminous notes.

Suddenly the chairman interrupted a speaker and announced: "I have just heard that a representative of the Anti-Saloon league is present. We will suspend everything until the intruder is found and removed."

"What a nerve that fellow must have to come in here," remarked Wheeler to his new friend as three innocent bartenders were thrown out of the hall.

That was one of Wheeler's favorite stories.

SHERIFFS TWO COUNTIES IN CONTROVERSY

Moody May Withdraw Reward Offered in "Grave Girl" Mystery.

By United Press.
AUSTIN, Sept. 26.—The sheriff of Kerr county is entitled to keep his suspect in the Fredericksburg grave mystery in his custody as opposed to that of the Gillespie county sheriff, assistant attorney general, Chandler ruled today.

He notified Sheriff Klaerner of Gillespie county that the Kerr county sheriff has the right to hold his prisoner unless a bench warrant is issued for delivery or release.

Sheriff Klaerner had wired for an opinion following refusal of the sheriff of Kerr county to give up a man held in jail there. It is considered possible that Governor Moody may withdraw the $240 reward he offered Saturday for the solution of the mystery.

Takes Real Money To Buy Animals For Zoo Gardens

DALLAS, Sept. 26.—To be a purchasing agent for a zoo one must know how to buy snakes by the foot and elephants by their disposition, says Foster Jacoby, director of Dallas parks, who performs these duties.

When the zoo keeper goes shopping for animals he must have in mind that all wild animals are graded for value on the basis of their age, size, rarity and temperament. Most of them cost more than the average person would think, Jacoby says.

A rhinoceros with a full set of teeth, a good record for behavior and big enough to be marketed at is quoted as high as $10,000.

Elephants more than 100 years old range in price from $2,500 to $10,000.

Polar bears are quoted up to $600 each, tapirs are worth $700 a pair, zebras are quoted on the market from $600 to $1,000 and a chimpanzee sometimes sells for $300.

A large snake ranch at Laredo ships thousands of reptiles, selling them by the foot or pound.

FRESH EGGS

By United Press.
SAN BENITO, Sept. 26.—Charles Dorsett, San Benito highway contractor, likes his eggs every morning—and likes them fresh, and has solved the problem of how to get them away from the conveniences of home.

One of the features of the Dorsett construction camp is a portable hen house. Wherever the grading crew goes also goes the hen house. Dorsett, superintendent of the work and checks up on his cacklers.

The portable henhouse has a capacity of 12 chickens. The chickens grow fat on the country air and the regular diet given them, Dorsett says. They supply the table with the compliment of "ham and."

STATE IS READY FOR TRIAL OF ARSON CHARGE

State's Announcement of Ready Comes as Surprise to Defense.

By United Press.
GEORGETOWN, Texas, Sept. 26. The state announced ready this morning for the trial of Rebecca Bradley Rogers, charged with arson.

Her counsel asked time to consult before an announcement. Court adjourned until 1:15 when they will report.

Mrs. Rogers was in court, apparently as cheerful as when called into court at San Marcos last July to face charges of robbing the National bank of Buda.

This time she is encouraged by the presence of her husband, Otis Rogers, who has recovered from attacks which confined him to a sanitarium at Carlsbad.

The announcement of ready by State's Attorney Harry Dolan came as somewhat of a surprise.

It was generally thought he would wait for Mrs. Rogers' trial on the bank robbery charge before pushing the arson case.

Judge Cooper Samson this afternoon overruled a motion for continuance of Rebecca Bradley Rogers' case and examination of veniemen was begun.

NICE, France, Sept. 26.—Police were investigating today three separate attempts to bring disaster to a special express train carrying 250 American legionnaires including E. E. Spafford, commander-in-chief of the Legion, to the Riviera.

A bomb exploded two miles from Juan Les Pins, tearing up one rail for several feet. The Nice midnight express passed over the spot before there was time to warn it but in spite of the gap in the rail the train remained on the tracks.

Experts said the bomb contained a heavy charge of dynamite and had been lighted by a fuse. It took repair men seven hours to repair the tracks.

The second attempt to wreck the train was discovered shortly thereafter. Large rocks rolled on the track were found by track walkers a few minutes before the train passed over the spot.

The third attempt occurred at La Brocca. An unexploded bomb was found on the tracks a few minutes before the legion special was due to pass.

Police believed that all three of the attempts had been aimed at the legion special.

Dispatch Says 5,000 Persons Killed by Wave

By United Press.
LONDON, Sept. 26.—The Exchange Telegraph reported today that advices just received from Hongkong said that 5,000 persons were killed last Thursday by a tidal wave at Youngkong, 150 miles southwest of Hongkong. More than 20,000 homes were destroyed and much shipping was lost, the dispatch said.

The United Press had no confirmation of the above dispatch. Youngkong is not shown in any reliable reference books. The Youngkong river is given as 150 miles northwest of Hongkong, also a coastal town by the name of Ungkong, 20 miles northeast of Hongkong.

TAKE $80,000 FROM MEN AT WATER BUREAU

Holdups Staged Near Police Station When Offices Are Opened

By United Press.
LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 26. Operating within a stone's throw of central police station, two bandits today held up the officers of the bureau of water and power and escaped with between $80,000 and $100,000 bureau officials said.

When Employees entered at 8 a. m., the bandits were sitting at the desks of two officials.

They forced two men employed in the cashier's office to turn over the contents of the safe and money boxes, and escaped before police reached the scene.

Committee Asks Public to Help In Home-Coming

The general committee of Ranger's Home-Coming Oil Jubilee wants and needs the support of every individual in order to make it the success that it deserves to be. They need money to carry on and it is not practicable for them to make a general solicitation of funds or house to house canvass.

Still the plans are to entertain every guest that appears in Ranger's jubilee. Some of them will be guests whose names you have sent in. You'll want to feel that you have had a part in entertaining them, and for that reason the coupon is inserted on page one so that you can mail it in with whatever amount you feel you can spare for the purpose.

If you can't send but a dollar or a dime, send it in and sign your name so that the members of the committee may know that you are with them—even if you are nearly broke. That's no disgrace.

Unless you have talked to some of the committee you have no idea of the magnanimity of the task nor conception of the co-operation, both in work and money that will be necessary to make it go over in big style.

There will be a free barbecue and free dances and free entertainments of various kinds. The committee wants the visitors to feel that we have invited them here to help celebrate and not just to get their money, and that's right and fair and just.

The finance committee has been at work and has raised quite a sum of money around town from business men and oil men and they are doing their part right along, but, knowing what good sports the general run of Ranger people are, they have thought it nothing but right that every one be asked to contribute something even if it's only a dollar.

If you have conscientious scruples about spending money on free dances or any other free thing you can put that condition on your donation and your money will be used to buy postage stamps or stationery. There's no way you can avoid the responsibility of giving something if you are really at heart with the committee and want to see the jubilee a big success.

Now, come on before you forget it, and sign up the little coupon and mail it in and let the committee know for sure that you are with it and for it and want to see Ranger go on record as being the most hospitable town in the world.

HALL WALKER, Treasurer

He said that as a trip it was well worth the time and expense and that he and Shorty Houghton and Frank Roberts and Jimmie Gibbs saw a lot of Chicago, but that the fight was a fizzle, the preliminaries were the bunk, all except one, which was better than the main bout of the evening.

His opinion is that Tunney was knocked flat in the seventh and if the referee had not lost four seconds herding Jack into the proper corner before the count started that the fight would have been different. Still he is firm in the opinion that if the tenth round had lasted a few seconds longer Jack would have been knocked for a goal.

Writer Praises Jack Quinn As Credit To Game

By BILLIE EVANS
"Ty Cobb, I will admit, is the world's greatest ball player. Walter Johnson the premier pitcher and Babe Ruth baseball's outstanding slugger, as you have often proclaimed in your writings. However, in passing out words of praise, I feel you have overlooked a most deserving athlete.
"I have reference to Pitcher Jack Quinn of the Philadelphia Athletics, who, by the excellent care he has taken of himself on and off the ball field, is still, at 42 years of age, a twirler able to baffie the best batsman in the game.
"I am sure Jack Quinn's remarkable record is deserving of praise. It stands to reason he cannot go on for many years more, so slip the fans some kind words about this great veteran when he is still hitting on all six."
While a bitter rivalry exists between Washington and Philadelphia, that is the gist of a letter I recently received from a Washington fan relative to the veteran twirler.
Caused Internal Scrap
Thanks for the suggestion, Mr. Washington, even though the idea isn't exactly new, for at various times I, as well as other writers, have sung the praises of Jack Quinn as a pitcher. While it isn't generally known, Jack Quinn was the innocent cause of internal dissension in the American League, that ultimately resulted in the passing of the National Commission and in a sense undermined the power of President Bar Johnson.
List us go back 10 years to get the atmosphere of the war days and its relation to the status of baseball. Since many of the younger stars were summoned to war, baseball had to fall back upon the old timers.

A majority of the minor leagues suspended, even the majors one year cut the season short. Among the minors to suspend early in 1918 was the Pacific Coast League.
Jack Quinn was a member of the Vernon club of that league. The Chicago White Sox (in need of pitchers, received permission of the Vernon club to use Quinn, who was then nearly 34 years of age.
During the final month of the 1918 season, Quinn pitched great ball, winning five out of six games and Chicago thought it had closed for his services.
Yankees Given Hurler
The New York Yankees at that time had a working agreement with the Vernon club, whereby players were sent to that team, giving New York first choice in the stars of the club for the following year.
Quinn's fine work caused New York to select him as part payment in a certain deal. In the meantime, Chicago figured it had closed for the player. Both filed claims but Quinn was awarded to New York.
This caused Owner Comiskey of Chicago to feel that he was being discriminated against, even though all three members of the National Commission voted in favor of New York, as I understand it.
A fight on the National Commission that was later waged by the National League, also had the backing of the Chicago club in the American, which in the end caused a new form of baseball government to arise.
Thus, Jack Quinn unconsciously was responsible for the biggest up-

take ENOUGH ice
—It pays for itself in the food it saves.
SOUTHERN ICE AND UTILITIES CO.

heval in baseball, since his good pitching caused two clubs to fight for his services, making the losing club sore.
Is Credit to Game
Getting back to Jack Quinn, the individual; he's a fine pitcher and a real gentleman, a credit to the game.
Quinn, born July 5, 1885, is now 42 years of age and has been pitching professionally 25 years. This is his fifteenth season in the majors. He has at various times been in the American, National and Federal leagues, 12 years of it in the first named. He's the oldest regular in the game.
It was a rather interesting coincidence that Quinn, on his 42nd birthday anniversary this year shut out the Washington club, 3-0, allowing only seven hits.
Quinn is one of the few spitball pitchers still in the game, but he could probably pitch just as effectively if forced to discard it.
While Jack refuses to affirm or deny the statement, it has been reported that he can see no reason why he shouldn't stick around in the biz show until he is 50. More power to him.
The French government decorated Mayor Walker of New York. And him so able to decorate himself!

DO YOU ADMIRE A PIMPLY FACE?
People today look upon an unsightly skin as an evidence of carelessness and neglect, and the person who goes around with a face covered in pimples, or other displeasing skin irritations, is apt to lose friends rather than make them.
If you want a clear, healthy skin ask your druggist for Black and White Ointment and use it according to directions. It is pleasant to use, highly beneficial and scientifically safe.
For best results use Black and White Skin Soap with Black and White Ointment. All dealers sell them at small cost.

Texas Notables Are in Panther City To Greet Lindbergh

By United Press.
FORT WORTH, Sept. 26.—Notables from all Texas were here today to greet Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh when he arrived from Abilene about 2 p. m. in Spirit of St. Louis. Thousands of automobiles have already gathered at Meacham field. After his arrival here he will lead a parade of 30,000 automobiles to Panther baseball park where he will speak to school children. Only children will be admitted to the park, until they are all seat, before adults will be admitted. At 6:30 p. m. he will be entertained at a banquet.
Borah has recommended an increase in the tariff on onions. Washington theatres must be that way, too.

How I make Cakes—perfect every time!

Success depends on following the recipe and method carefully. So be sure to read your recipe and method through to the end before you start to work. Then start your oven, get out all the utensils you will need and grease your pans.
When you grease them with Crisco, you do not need to flour them. Crisco contains no moisture to cause your cakes to stick to the pans and scorch. Therefore, your cakes will come out whole, with no unsightly breaks, and an even brown all over.
Measurements must be accurate
Here is a way I have found to measure shortening accurately. To measure, for example, 3/4 of a cup of Crisco, I take a measuring cup, put in 1/4 cup of cold water, then add enough Crisco to bring the water to the top of the cup, pour it off, and I have an exact 3/4 cup of Crisco.
The importance of the right shortening
I used to make all my cakes with butter. After I began to make my cakes with Crisco, using no butter at all, I found that they were perfectly delicious and my reputation as a cake-maker was just as high as ever. When my Crisco cakes are compared with cakes made with butter, no one can tell the difference.
If you are one of those who simply find it unbelievable that you can use all Crisco in cakes, try half butter and half Crisco at first. Then next time, perhaps, three-fourths Crisco and one-fourth butter. I am sure you will be so pleased with the results, that before you know it you will be using all Crisco for all your cakes.
Importance of creaming shortening and sugar
Not everyone realizes the importance of creaming the shortening and sugar together. The purpose is to soften the grains of sugar, and this is done by beating the sugar with the shortening until the mixture is soft and fluffy, and does not feel grainy to the spoon.
To have your layers even and of uniform thickness, divide your batter in equal parts and spread evenly over the bottom of the pans.
Correct baking temperature important
Up-to-date recipes give you correct temperature. If you are an experienced cake-maker and have never used a thermometer, you, of course, have your favorite way of testing your oven for the proper heat. If not, I advise you to buy an inexpensive oven thermometer. It will be a great help to you.
If you have your own favorite cake recipes, simply use Crisco in the place of the shortening your recipe calls for, adding 1 teaspoon of salt to every cup of Crisco used.

Standard Layer Cake
This recipe can be used as a standard for a variety of layer cakes. It will make a large 3-layer cake, and also six cup cakes. Or, instead of making the cup cakes, you can make four layers, making two cakes of two layers each.
3/4 cup Crisco 2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt 2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups milk 4 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla 3 cups pastry flour
Cream Crisco and sugar together thoroughly. Add egg yolks, well beaten. Beat in the milk, a little at a time. Then add 3/4 cup flour and beat until smooth. Sift rest of flour with baking powder and salt. Add to mixture and mix thoroughly. Add vanilla. Last fold in well-beaten egg whites. Divide batter into three well-Criscoed layer cake pans and six cup cakes. Bake in hot oven (375° F.), about 15 minutes. When partly cool, turn out on towel. When quite cold, spread filling between and on top of the layers.

Prune Cake
2 cups pastry flour 1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 cup Crisco 1 cup stewed and mashed prunes
1 teaspoon soda 1 cup sugar
2 eggs (separated) 1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon 1/2 cup sweet milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
Cream Crisco and sugar thoroughly. Add egg yolks well beaten. Then stir in prunes. Sift together, soda, spices, salt and flour and add alternately with milk. Last fold in beaten egg whites. Bake in loaf pan, one hour in moderate oven (325° F.).
Be sure prunes are thoroughly drained of all juice.

Featherweight White Cake
1/2 cup Crisco 2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup sugar 1/2 cup milk
3 egg whites 1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt
Cream Crisco with sugar. Stir in alternately milk and sifted dry ingredients. Fold in thoroughly stiffly beaten egg whites. Add vanilla and turn batter into two greased layer pans. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.).
Ice with Seven Minute Icing.

An Astonishing Blindfold Test
SEE if this doesn't give you the greatest surprise of your whole cooking experience!
Put a little Crisco on the tip of one spoon. On the tip of another place a little of the fat you are now using; have someone blindfold you, and give you first one, then the other fat to taste.
Now, did you ever imagine there could be such a striking difference in the taste of raw cooking fats? Think what an improvement Crisco's sweetness and freshness will make in your own cakes, pies, biscuits and fried foods.

To test your cooking fat—taste it raw.
Crisco's superiority will astonish you.

There were 5874 arrests for drunkenness in Washington, D. C., in the last fiscal year. Maybe that's why Secretary Lowman thinks prohibition is so hard to enforce in New York state.

With all these shakeups of the prohibition forces you'd think they'd get their drinks mixed now and then.

A monument is to be erected at Kearney, Mo., honoring Jesse James. A little fund to help along the work should be taken up among the taxicab drivers.

Every Interested Person Takes One of Three Different Views of Game.

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles on the activities and policies of the interscholastic league of the University of Texas and its relation to high schools of the state by Roy B. Henderson, athletic director of the interscholastic league bureau.)

By ROY B. HENDERSON, Athletic Director, Interscholastic League.

At this, the beginning of another school year and the opening of the football season, it is well for us to pause just a little while, take stock, and find out where we are going.

Why high school football anyway? Are we making any progress in one use of this activity as a factor in education?

In a few short articles I shall attempt to answer these questions, to discuss the importance of eligibility rules and to point out some of the values of a state championship as we have seen them develop.

Before trying to answer the question stated above, I wish to mention three classifications or groups in one of which each reader should be able to place himself:

1. Those who see no good at all in high school football and who would abolish the sport.
2. Those who see football as an end in itself, or who would exploit the sport for various reasons.
3. Those who see in properly controlled football an educational force of real value.

There may be another group but since it is neutral or non-active it will not be discussed here.

Game Improved.
To many of those in the first class we are indebted for criticism which has resulted in improved conditions. I would not "muzzle" one of this class or quarrel with him, but on the other hand, would encourage him to continue his bombardment until the enemy evils of high school football have been routed. If football as conducted under the interscholastic league's auspices cannot endure criticism, if it cannot progress, if it cannot be made to serve the cause of education increasingly each year, then it should be abolished.

Many of these critics would have us believe that the younger generation is going to the "bow-wows" because it is more interested in football than in "books", scientific lectures and the more serious things of life. These folks see the abuse but fail to appreciate the use of football. They seem to think if football is taken away the students will take more interest in the languages, mathematics and parts of speech. This does not necessarily follow at all. They might spend that time in something a great deal worse than watching a football game or talking about it.

In the second class we have a large percentage of students, many "fans" and some coaches and teachers. Their sole idea is to win and it makes little difference to them how this is accomplished. It is this group that must accept the responsibility for the abuses and evils that still exist to a certain extent but which are diminishing each year because of the reason that more school men are recognizing the importance of giving personal supervision to this extracurricular activity.

I place a large percentage of the students in this class, because, in the mind of the average student, football occupies a position of great importance. Although this is a criticism that is frequently made, it does not appear serious to me, and I am surprised at the importance attached to this phase of the question by many of our students. Suppose the student does get a false idea of the importance of football. It is not more important than English, history or science—we know that. As we grow older our ideas involving the relative importance of things change. It is the most serious thing in the world to the little girl of 2 when she drops her China doll on the cement sidewalk, but no one is foolish enough to say that little girls should not play with dolls because they may get a false idea of the importance of dolls. As a little girl grows older the dolls are put away and more serious things of life are given attention. The same thing is true with football and the student body. In a few years some of the students of today may remain in this class but most of them, if they have had the proper leadership, will graduate into the third class.

The educator need not be alarmed or the censor of the first class feel that he has a clinching argument because many "fans", perhaps the average "fan", will fall in group two. The average fan is engaged in the important business of making a living. His main interests are along other lines. He looks upon football as a means of recreation. He goes to a game to be entertained; to be thrilled; to allow his emotions to be played upon; to see the home boys win. He sees nothing in the sport but a "game"; just a little fun, just a little idle play. With this attitude of mind he cannot see why so much fuss should be made about eligibility and he thinks that the man who makes a protest is a poor sport and a bad loser. Since he has no conception of the educational values of high school football, he cannot be expected to be enthusiastic about enforcing eligibility rules. The matter is trivial to him; therefore, what's the harm of violating one of these silly rules if you can do it without getting caught? If a boy is going to school, no matter if he is 14 or 40, why shouldn't he be allowed to play?

We know now what summer was waiting for—the end of the straw-hat season.

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON.—The Rev. Arthur James Barton of Atlanta can succeed Wayne B. Wheeler as legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league if he wants the job.

Dr. Barton is known in the south as "the Baptist pope." He is chairman of the league's executive committee and of the social service commission of the Southern Baptist church.

He is one of the most important figures in the movement in the south on the parts of drays and Protestants to defeat the presidential hopes of Governor Al Smith of New York. Inasmuch as the anti-Smith campaign is regarded by the Anti-Saloon league as the biggest imminent problem, Barton is in an excellent position to take up the anti-Smith work which Wheeler carried on so vigorously until his death.

Barton has a reputation as an organizer and was one of the most influential of the lobbyists for the eighteenth amendment. He helped frame most of the national prohibition legislation in conjunction with Wheeler and others. At the age of 50, he is still active, capable and shrewd.

Primarily a churchman, Barton is a strong bond between the church and the league. He is widely known among church members, though not to the rank and file of the country.

For all his religion, he is regarded as a fighter. He is of the heavy-set, bulldog type in appearance, and he fights the same way, with tenacity, his admirers say. Like Wheeler, he makes friends easily. He has done most of his work—except for Washington forays—in Arkansas, Texas, Tennessee, Missouri and Louisiana.

The question is, according to leaders of the league, whether or not Barton will accept Wheeler's job with all its troubles and responsibilities. Unless he declines or sentiment changes, he will be elected to it in December. His sentiments are not now known. He has never been an employe of the league and it may be that he does not enjoy rough-and-tumble fighting as Wheeler did.

The league is talking over its other timber, of course—but always one hears the pious question arise as to whether such and such a man would accept. Most of the league's workers are men with moral urge and sacrificial temperament; personal ambitions are not necessarily predominant in them. An example was Wheeler, who worked for $6,000 a

Ranger Legion Plans Big Game With Atz's Cats

On Thursday afternoon Sept. 20, the American Legion base ball team will meet the 1927 Fort Worth Panthers at Lillard Park. This game gives promise of being a better game than the one played here a few days ago when the barnstorming ex-cats, led by Tiny Goodbred invaded the park and after a hard game barely won from the Legion boys.

The American Legion team will be considerably strengthened by the addition of Coleman at third base. Coleman, formerly with the Eastland team in the Oilbelt league, had a very successful year at the "hot corner" with Oklahoma City in the western association this year. The box will be Pat Carraway, property of the Cleveland Indians who was farmed out to Terra Haute in the Three I league this year. Carraway is a crafty boxman who uses his head as well as his arm and the Panthers will have to have their batting clothes on to beat him. Behind the bat will be Vaughn, with Peacock at first, Harbinson at second, Jarrett, who smacked out a triple against the ex-Cats will be at short while the outfield will be patrolled by Collum, Robinson and either Harvey or Davis. This will be the game of the season.

Thursday night the dancing season will open in Ranger at the new Legion hall over the city hall. Considerable money has been spent to make the floor second to none in West Texas. Bob Dean, formerly with Jack Gardner's orchestra will furnish the music while dance lovers have a real treat.

year—before he was raised—when he could have had $25,000 or $50,000, perhaps more, as a lobbyist for one of the trusts.

F. Scott McBride, who has been doing some of Wheeler's work, is regarded as a likely second choice. As general superintendent of the league he has been found a shrewd political manipulator.

Wichita Falls Is Winner In Dixie Gets Four in Row

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26.—Once again the Dixie series championship is won by a Texas town, this time the Spudders of Wichita Falls winning the baseball championship of the south, Sunday afternoon at New Orleans, when they defeated the Pelicans 4 to 2 in the last game of the 1927 series.

The Spudders in addition to winning the Dixie series broke all records by taking four straight games from the New Orleans Pelicans, champions of the Southern association, a feat never before accomplished in this series.

The Wichita Falls fans seated behind the players' dugout, went wild after the game. Their band paraded the infield, players were grabbed, hugged and had to fight to get away from friendly embraces and to their waiting motors and the New Orleans fans showed their sportsmanship by cheering the victors and demanding, "Why not the Spudders play the Yankees?"

Many times during the game the Pelicans started rallies only to see them swallowed up by some sparkling play by the Spudder infield. The very last play of the game was quite a neat bit of work. Turgeon made a snappy play on Morgan's bouncer with the bases filled and two out and tossed to Benton to second to force the runner from first and end the series with the invaders from Texas.

Benton stuck the ball in his pocket and raced for the bench. The fans from Wichita Falls boiled out on the playing field, their hand tooting its loudest. Larry Gilbert, the Pelis' pilot, found Carl Williams, Spuds' boss, in the good-natured riot, and congratulated him and Larry, who three times has been forced to congratulate Texas league managers again said "Best team wins."

For a while it looked as though the Pelis were going to win the fourth game of the series. The Spuds never saw first base during the first five innings. It was three up, three down. In the sixth Steengraff got the first hit for the Spudders, but the last of the sixth New Orleans scored again. And then the Spudders broke loose savagely in the first of the seventh for straight runs.

A double by Benton, singles by Jenkins, Swenson, sacrifice fly by Fitzgerald, put over three runs and the ball game and the Dixie series was won.

Take the TRAIL WITH NORFLEET

Starting Friday in this paper Frank Norfleet, intrepid little West Texas rancher, takes the trail of the most desperate gang of swindlers that ever preyed on the American public. Daily, for eight weeks, he will reveal the secrets of the underworld, match wits with its leaders, tell how death dogged his trail; how he was first laughed at, then double-crossed then marked for death; and finally feared by all crookdom.

Never has such a story been told by such a man. Truth blazes from every line dimming the brightest light of any lurid fiction.

You will marvel at the man. Insignificant looking, innocent of the world, trusting all men, he starts out on the greatest detective adventure of all time. First, you'll laugh at him. What chance has the little country "hick" to catch the smooth city crooks? Then your admiration will grow as he sticks to the trail with grim determination. You'll fear for him as he walks into the taps of death. You'll grow cold with indignation when police officers double-cross him and help the crooks get away. And finally, you'll cheer for him as he begins to overtake the swindlers, outwit them, destroy them one by one.

Never have you read such a story of such gripping, stirring adventure. In Friday's paper comes the first installment of—

Mom'n Pop

The PENNY PRINCESS

COPYRIGHT 1927 by NEA Service by anne austin

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Vera Cameron, plain business girl, allows herself to be transformed into a beauty by Jerry Macklyn, her boss, advertising manager for Peach Bloom Cosmetics Co. Jerry falls in love with Vera, also known as Vee-Vee, and his love persists even after he learns she consents to the transformation only because the man she falls in love with, Schuyler Smythe, ignores her.

Vera spends her vacation at Lake Minnetonka because Smythe is there. He, and other guests, mistake her for Vivian Crandall, ex-princess, who after a Paris divorce, is in hiding. Vera repeatedly asserts her true identity but is not believed.

The Crandalls, learning of their supposed daughter's whereabouts, send detectives to the Minnetonka. They arrive at night. Vera and Smythe flee in a stolen car. Smythe asserts his love and insists they be married at once. Vera tells him the truth, substantiating her identity with Jerry's letter. Smythe is furious revealing himself as a fortune-hunter.

They are stopped by two masked men who take Vera with them. She is whisked away in an airplane to a shack in the mountains where Vivian's ex-husband Prince Ivan, awaits her. Vera and the prince are horrified when the men announce that they will hold them for a ransom from the Crandalls. Vera convinces the prince, who is furious at the discovery of her identity, that they must play the part, otherwise the men will discover her inability to draw a ransom and murder them.

Meantime Jerry Macklyn in New York City reads of the kidnapping. A stenographer brings him the news she has seen Vera that morning, her old plain, spectacled self again. The girl tells of having given Vera one of the booklets with her pictures in it.

Jerry gets a phone call and requests to come to a certain address at once. He goes and finds the real Vivian Crandall awaiting him. She tells Jerry she will help find Vera. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVIII

When Vee-Vee refreshed by the breakfast which she had taken a delicious pleasure in watching the Russian prince prepare, entered the second of the two rooms of the mountain shack in which she was being held a prisoner, she was no longer too tired to look about her with lively curiosity.

There was one small window, roughly boarded over with solid-looking strips of weather-stained pine. She dragged a stool, the only sort of chair that the room offered, to the wall in which the window was set, and, standing on it, pounded against the boards with her fists. As she had expected, they yielded not at all, and any effort to force an opening by banging upon them with the stool would, of course, instantly bring the guard, the moon-faced kidnaper who was called "Happy." There was a door, but she knew that it had been made fast with a padlock before "Satan" had left to arrange the mysterious details of his ransom-collecting.

She next turned her attention to the door which led into the front room. Vee-Vee had already noted that it swung, lockless and latchless, like a swinging door between a kitchen and butler's pantry. There was no way at all by which it could be made fast, to serve as a protection for her against either the kidnappers or the prince, if they should desire to violate her privacy.

Her heart lunged sickeningly with fear, but she quickly conquered it, telling herself that she was not the villain-menaed heroine in a western movie. The prince had not intentionally abducted her. His desires were centered on the woman who had been his wife, the woman he had thought he was abducting. Understandably enough, he was angry with her—Vee-Vee, and probably would be as glad as she when the ransom was paid and they were released or taken within a reasonable distance of New York, however the kidnappers might arrange the details of the ransom. It was silly to be afraid, she told herself scornfully.

Along one wall were two bunks, built one above the other, as in the front room. Both were neatly made up, with new sheets, and with new brown army blankets. Curiously she turned back the sheets to discover what sort of mattresses the abandoned old cabin had offered its guests and found that they were not mattresses at all, but the cushions of an automobile. So the prince had a car somewhere near, unless the kidnaper, "Satan" had confiscated it. It had not occurred to her before to wonder how the prince had arranged his own part of the mad adventure, but it was fairly evident that he had either rented or bought a car for the trip. On the folded-back blanket of the top bunk lay a pair of pale blue silk pajamas, as neatly arranged as if the prince's valet had laid them out for him.

When she had taken off her evening dress earlier in the morning and dressed herself in more suitable clothes, she had left her suitcase on the floor, and had hung her dresses on big, rusty nails in the wall opposite the bunks. Although it was broad daylight outside, the room was in semi-darkness, because of the boarded-up window, but her eyes were becoming accustomed to the lack of light and she had no difficulty in finding the prince's suitcase, a huge, brown leather affair, almost covered with foreign hotel and ship labels. He had pushed it out of sight beneath the lower bunk, as if he had the instincts of a meticulous house-keeper. Vee-Vee dragged it out, lifted it, found it to be heavy, and then dragged it across the floor to the swinging door. She paused only to pick up the prince's silk pajamas, which she stuffed under the lid of the case without examining its contents, then she pushed open the door and called out, in a matter-of-fact but imperious voice: "Here is your dressing case, Ivan."

The prince, who was sulkily returning packages of food to the small wall cupboard beside the fireplace, while the kidnaper "Happy" looked on, grinning with amusement, whirled to face her.

"Leave it in there," he commanded her in a crisp clipped voice.

"I am sure you will find it more convenient to have it here where you will sleep and dress," Vee-Vee told him evenly.

Before he could reply she had dumped the suitcase upon the floor and returned to the back room. She stood just inside the door, her hand on her heart, her ears straining for his footstep. But he had evidently concluded not to press the point—so early in the morning.

She did not undress—could not bring herself to do so, with that door likely to swing open any minute—but lay down in the lower bunk smoothing her skirt carefully to avoid wrinkling it, and drawing the sheet over her slim body. There was no pillow, but she thought she could not have slept, even if there had been a cushion of down under her tired head. An hour ago she could have slept standing, but coffee and food had revived her body and stimulated her brain.

hot sword. Her whole body quivered with shame for him and for herself. How easily she had been taken in! A pair of sultry, brooding dark eyes, a handsome face, a tall, lean body—it had taken no more than these to turn the head of an efficient business woman like Vera Victoria Cameron, to make her forget everything else and follow a stranger into a Sunday supplement series of wild adventures. What a fool she had been, what a silly, romantic blind little fool!

She could have saved herself the soul-searing humiliation which Schuyler had brought upon her, could have extricated herself from the whole, foolish situation, if she had only heeded Jerry's pleas in the letter which he had armed her with. What must Jerry be thinking of her now? Was his love, which she had done nothing to hold and which she had valued so lightly because her dreams were fixed upon another man, strong enough to follow her into the peril which she had brought upon herself?

Then a sudden thought jerked her up in the narrow bed. Her arms went about her knees and she rocked herself in an agony of remorse and pain—not for herself but for Jerry. For the first time it occurred to her that she had dragged Jerry over the precipice with her. If the Crandalls paid the ransom and then discovered that the girl they had rescued was not their daughter, no power on earth could keep the whole miserable story out of the paper.

Jerry had told her all about the red-headed, freckle-faced little fighting "fisher" that he had been, had boasted a little, because her eyes had been kind and sympathetic, of the seven-league-boots strides he had made toward the top of his profession. He had told her of his hard-working, big-hearted, adoring mother had shown her that mother's picture and she had wanted to lay her head on that broad bosom and feel the warmth of the heart that was still now forever. And now she—she, an idiotic, vain girl who had not had

A Cadillac touring car, model 61, stolen Sunday night while the owner, Sam Kelley, vice contractor of Ranger, was attending the Liberty theatre, was found Monday morning, about nine miles north of Strawn, in a pasture off the highway, stripped of casings and battery. The car was parked in front of the Busy Bee confectionery on Rusk street, and an employe of the confectionery saw a man in shirt sleeves drive off in it, but thought it was Mr. Kelly, as he also was in his shirt sleeves. The police were notified at once and the car was found early today.

Fire Does Heavy Damage to Farm Near Eastland

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the chicken ranch structures and buildings belonging to R. E. Starr, South Bassett street, Eastland, Sunday night about 10 o'clock. Mr. Starr woke up to find the buildings in flames and only a quick run and fast work by the Eastland fire department saved the home and store, which adjoined the burned buildings, from being destroyed. The loss suffered by Mr. Starr was heavy. Three fine milk cows could not be extricated from the burning barn and were burned to death, and Rhode Island Red hens. Between 1000 and 1500 bales of hay were in the large barn and were destroyed. The fire is believed to have originated in the barn where the hay and cattle were and quickly spread to the grain mill which contained all of Mr. Starr's feed and grain, all of which was destroyed along with the mill equipment. All the fences and chicken houses were burned to the ground. Mr. Starr stated this morning that his loss would run about $2000 or $2500 with no insurance.

Five Hundred More Calumet Kids At Ranger Stores

Five hundred more Calumet kids are homeless in Ranger and are just waiting for some potential little father or mother to adopt them into their own parents' homes. One thousand cans of Calumet baking powder were sold Saturday and therefore 1,000 Calumet kids found 1,000 happy homes. Twenty-three Ranger merchants and their employes served the thousand kiddies and their mothers Saturday when the former came to claim a Calumet kid balloon and the latter to purchase a pound of Calumet. These clever balloons appeal to all and at least 500 more kiddies can still be made happy by the possession of one, if they call on their grocer right away.

District Firemen To Meet Wednesday Night at Cisco

The twenty-seventh district of the Texas Volunteer Fire Departments will be entertained with a chicken barbecue at Cisco on Wednesday night, Sept. 28. The event will be held at Strickland lake and will begin at 7:30 o'clock. After the barbecue a business session will be held and then the Cisco firemen and the visitors will adjourn to Avenue D and Sixth street where a water display will be given. Mayor Thurman and some members of the city commission, Fire Chief Murphy and Mrs. Murphy and several others who are eligible are planning to go from Ranger.

DEAN GOES TO SHRINE FESTIVITIES TUESDAY

F. O. Dean, aide-to-the-potentate from Ranger, will leave early Tuesday morning for Fort Worth to attend the sides meeting, at which time plans for the Shrine coronation on Nov. 18 will be completed. Mr. Dean will also attend the entertainment at the casino Tuesday night, given by Mosiah temple to all nobles. The amusements of the casino have been purchased for tomorrow night by the Fort Worth Shriners for the entertainment of visiting nobles and their ladies.

Rev. G. D. Robison, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Ranger, has tendered his resignation, effective Nov. 1, to accept the position of field secretary of the Amarillo and Abilene Presbytery under the board of national missions. Rev. Mr. Robison's successor has not yet been named.

Nearly four years ago Rev. Mr. Robison and his family came to Ranger from Chappell Hill, Tenn., bought a home in Ranger and cast their lot with Ranger citizens, and have won a warm place in the hearts of Ranger people. Until the end of the school term at least, the family will remain here, but it is possible that later on Abilene will be their home, on account of its more central location as far as his work in the mission is concerned.

Eight Cars Parked Near Fire Plug Taken to Police

Eight cars were pulled into the Ranger police station Saturday night by Fire Chief Murphy and his assistants, on account of being parked at fire plugs. Mr. Murphy stated Monday that persons missing cars after they had left them parked at a fire plug might locate them at the police station, as the fire plugs were going to be kept in the clear. On Saturday night, Sept. 17, a fire alarm sounded and the department had to pull a car away from a fire plug before a connection could be made. The time lost in clearing the plug had there really been a fire, might have caused loss of life and loss of property, Mr. Murphy stated. The fire chief further explained that the fire plug parking law was not only enforced in Ranger but all over the United States and that cars parked in front of any of them here would from now on be hauled to the police station.

Church Attendance Grows in Ranger Ministers Say

Reports from two churches of Ranger Monday morning show that the congregations are gaining and that a number of strangers were in the audiences.

A report from the Central Baptist church states that 213 were registered in the Sunday school, making a gain of 21 over the previous Sunday and a splendid congregation was present at both morning and evening services and two additions were made to the church at the evening service. This church will have a week of prayer each afternoon through Wednesday, which is being conducted by the Women's Missionary union of the church.

At the Methodist church, Rev. George W. Shearer, pastor, stated that he talked to one of the best congregations that has greeted him since he came here and that a large number of strangers were present. He also reported fine music at both services, and a good Sunday school and league meeting.
